In dialogue, the subject is handled from an anti-sterilization viewpoint, and very much in accordance with the tenets of the Catholic Church. On the other hand, the action serves to demonstrate the scientific benefits of sterilization, with no regard for moral law or personal wishes.

Thus the picture resolves itself into a controversial educational, rather than ordinary screen entertainment. The showmanship is apparent, presenting it as a dramatic exposition of sterilization, creating public pro and anti discussion; using hypothetical or actual cases as vivid illustrations—such as "should a Dillinger be permitted to produce his own kind?" as startlers.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced by Bryan Foy. Original story by Wallace Thurman. Screen play by Wallace Thurman and Crane Wilbur. Directed by Crane Wilbur. Running time, 70 minutes as seen on Coast. Release to be announced.

CAST

Dr. Brooks ..... Don Douglas
Dr. Crosby ..... John Preston
Dr. McIntyre ..... W. Messenger Bellis
Alice Mason ..... Diane Sinclair
Jim Baker ..... Carlyle Moore, Jr.
Spike ..... Hiram Hoover
Nurse ..... Constance Kent
Jeff ..... Lewis Gambart
Father O'Brien ..... Crane Wilbur
Dr. Dorsy ..... Sterling Holloway
Mr. Mason ..... Arthur Wanser
Mrs. Mason ..... Sarah Padden

In Love With Life

(Chesterfield)

Drama

If the title of this independently-produced screen drama were to read "And a Little Child Shall Lead Them" it would most aptly and completely convey the basic theme of the story, in which a small boy is the means of reconciling a father and daughter and at the same time is more than a contributing factor in consummation of a romance which takes its slow and bashful way through the length of the picture.

It is, on the whole, what may be described as midweek screen material, lacking considerably in punch and action, yet conveying the tear-jerking complications especially adaptable to the feminine contingent. The selling, in consequence, might better be pointed in the feminine direction, stressing the idea implied in the suggested subtitle. There is little that would seem to lend itself to an appeal to men. Sell the women and rely on their arrival with the men in tow.

There are two child sequences, featuring the Meglin Kiddies group. The rest of the picture opens the way for selling which includes the family in the invitation. Help along these lines comes from the fact that Dickie Moore, wholly charming child star, is the "child who leads them." The cast is not otherwise particularly strong for marquee purposes, featuring Onslow Stevens, Lila Lee and Claude Gillingwater. As far as performance is concerned, and because of the story, the acting leans heavily in the direction of obvious theatric.

Stevens, inhibited young professor, loses his college job, and in the park accidentally meets Miss Lee, looking worn and hopeless, and her son, Dickie. Stevens obtains a post with Gillingwater, stern, embittered old man of considerable wealth, and learns he has been hired as tutor and companion to the boy, Gillingwater's grandson. The mother, estranged daughter of Gillingwater, is given the ultimatum of never seeing her child again, or taking him with her to a highly uncertain future and impoverished care. The boy's father, it is understood, deserted Miss Lee shortly after they were married against Gillingwater's wishes.

Gillingwater gives the boy everything he can possibly desire, but that fails to cause the boy to forget his mother. Stevens, all his latent sympathy aroused, acts virtually as go-between for mother and child, and succeeds in finding a job for Miss Lee at the wealthy children's restaurant where the youngsters are surrounded by the atmosphere and decoration of a child's playland. In the happy atmosphere of the place and the strict circumstances of the wealthy home, romance buds and flowers for the professor, the mother is given a tearful consolation in the sight of her child, and the grandfather slowly is softened by the youngster. Eventually, when Gillingwater's wealth goes in the 1929 debacle, and he falls ill, a general four-cornered reconciliation takes place at the bedside.—Aaronson, New York.

An Invincible picture. Distributed by Chesterfield. Directed by Frank R. Strayer. Story and adaptation by Robert Ellis. Photographed by M. A. Anderson. Film editor, Roland Reed. Release date, April 1, 1934. Running time, 68 minutes.

CAST

Sharon ..... Lila Lee
John Applegate ..... Onslow Stevens
Laury ..... Dickie Moore
Morley ..... Claude Gillingwater
Marie ..... Betty Kendig
Barlow ..... Clarence Geldert
Bookstore proprietor ..... Tom Ricketts
Broquet ..... Rosita Marstini
Mrs. Goots ..... Milla Davenport
Townsend ..... William Arnold
Stevens ..... James T. Mack
Forbes ..... Lloyd Ingraham

Passing Shadows

(Fox-British)

Melodrama

A family resemblance to that old "it was only a dream" finish is to be found in the climax of this story of a science student who kills a train thief and vacillates between confession and concealment of the crime until he has estranged his fiancee and plunged his mother and father into distress. Ultimately, he is arrested and it is then revealed that the real murderer is the train thief, who, having killed his man and thrown his body on the line, has forced a fight with the hero in order that suspicion shall fall on him.

The retrospective effect of this type of denouement is to reduce the dramatic value of the story proper, which is concerned with the courageous efforts of the "murderer's" old father and mother to save their son, the loyalty of his fiancee in face of his inexplicable behavior, and the efforts of the police to unravel the crime.

There is performance value in the work of Edmund Gwenn as the father and in the comedy by Walter Patch as an incompetent policeman who thinks he can solve the mystery. The "reconstruction" scene, however, questionable it may be in a dramatic sense, is well staged.

Jim Lawrence, a student returning to his provincial home from a London visit, gets into a fight with a thief who tries to pick his pocket on the train and, apparently, kills him and throws his body on the line. At home he confesses his "crime" to his father, who tries to persuade him to go to the police, but his mother's pleas decide him to cover things up. Though he goes out of his way to antagonize his fiancee, she sticks to him. All the time the probability of detection overhangs the scene, there is police activity and an atmosphere of suspense. It is dispelled by the revelation that the murder was planted on Jim by the real culprit.

This can scarcely be sold as a mystery melodrama, for the final explanation is of a problem of which the audience has not been advised. The problem aspects raised by the father's attempts to shield his son from the law perhaps provide the best angle, though they cannot be taken too seriously in view of the film's conclusion.—Allan, London.

Produced by British Lion Film Corporation, Ltd., at Beaconsfield and distributed by [illegible]. Directed by Leslie Hiscott. Screen story by Michael Barringer. Photographed by Alex Bryce and Harry Rose.

CAST

David Lawrence ..... Edmund Gwenn
Jim Lawrence ..... Barry Mackay
Mary Willett ..... Aileen Marson
The Stranger ..... D. A. Clarke-Smith
Mrs. Willett ..... Viola Lyel
Mrs. Lawrence ..... Barbara Everest
The Sergeant ..... Wally Patch
Inspector Goodall ..... John Turnbull
Det. Serg. Moore ..... Barry O'Neill
Mr. Willett ..... Philip Newland

Money Means Nothing

(Monogram)

Drama

The title is the theme of this picture, as developed in rather prosaic fashion in an unpretentious motion picture, which has its selling possibilities. The fact that the story to an extent concerns the hijacking and outright theft of shipments of automobile tires may afford an opportunity for the exhibitor to tie up with automobile accessory stores or tire dealers.

Outside of that feature, the selling of necessity will follow straight copy lines, making whatever use possible of the story's theme. That a spoiled young child of wealth, married to an equally young and quite penniless clerk, is able to stick with him through adversity, is the idea to be conveyed in seeking to draw the younger patrons (not children) into the theatre.

The leading players are Wallace Ford and Gloria Shea. Edgar Kennedy, with Maidel Turner, supplies what is occasionally quite amusing comedy. There would appear to be no definite necessity for the story development whereunder the young wife suddenly finds herself about to have a child. Neither plot nor picture would suffer were that element left out.

Ford, working for an automobile company, is in charge of several trucks which are hijacked and at the same time meets Miss Shea, who followed the hijackers from a night club, merely to see what it was all about. She is spoiled, craves excitement and is of a wealthy family. When she is laughed at for her friendship with the tire store clerk, she practically sells Ford the idea of marrying her, and he succumbs, not at all unwillingly. Their small apartment domestic bliss is crashed wide open by the neighborly spirit of Miss Turner and her husband, Kennedy, who not only are next-door pests of the first water, but an insolvable problem, since Kennedy is Ford's boss.

When Kennedy feels himself insulted by Miss Shea's relatives, who have come to visit the young couple, he has Ford fired by spreading the suspicion that he is in league with hijackers. Out of a job and unable to find one, he is about to leave his wife, permitting her to go back to her family, but she insists on sticking by him. He lands what appears to be a good job, driving a truck for a tire dealer who turns out to be a tire thief on a large scale. At the point of a gun Ford is forced to assist in the theft of a carload of tires, but halts the trucks in time to permit a roundup of the gang by the police. His reward is the return of his job and happiness for himself and his wife.

The picture is perhaps most suitable to a midweek position.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Monogram. Supervised by Ben Verschleiser. Directed by Christy Cabanne. Adapted by Frances Hyland from the stage play, "Cost of Living," by William Anthony McGuire. Release date, June 15, 1934. Running time, 70 minutes.

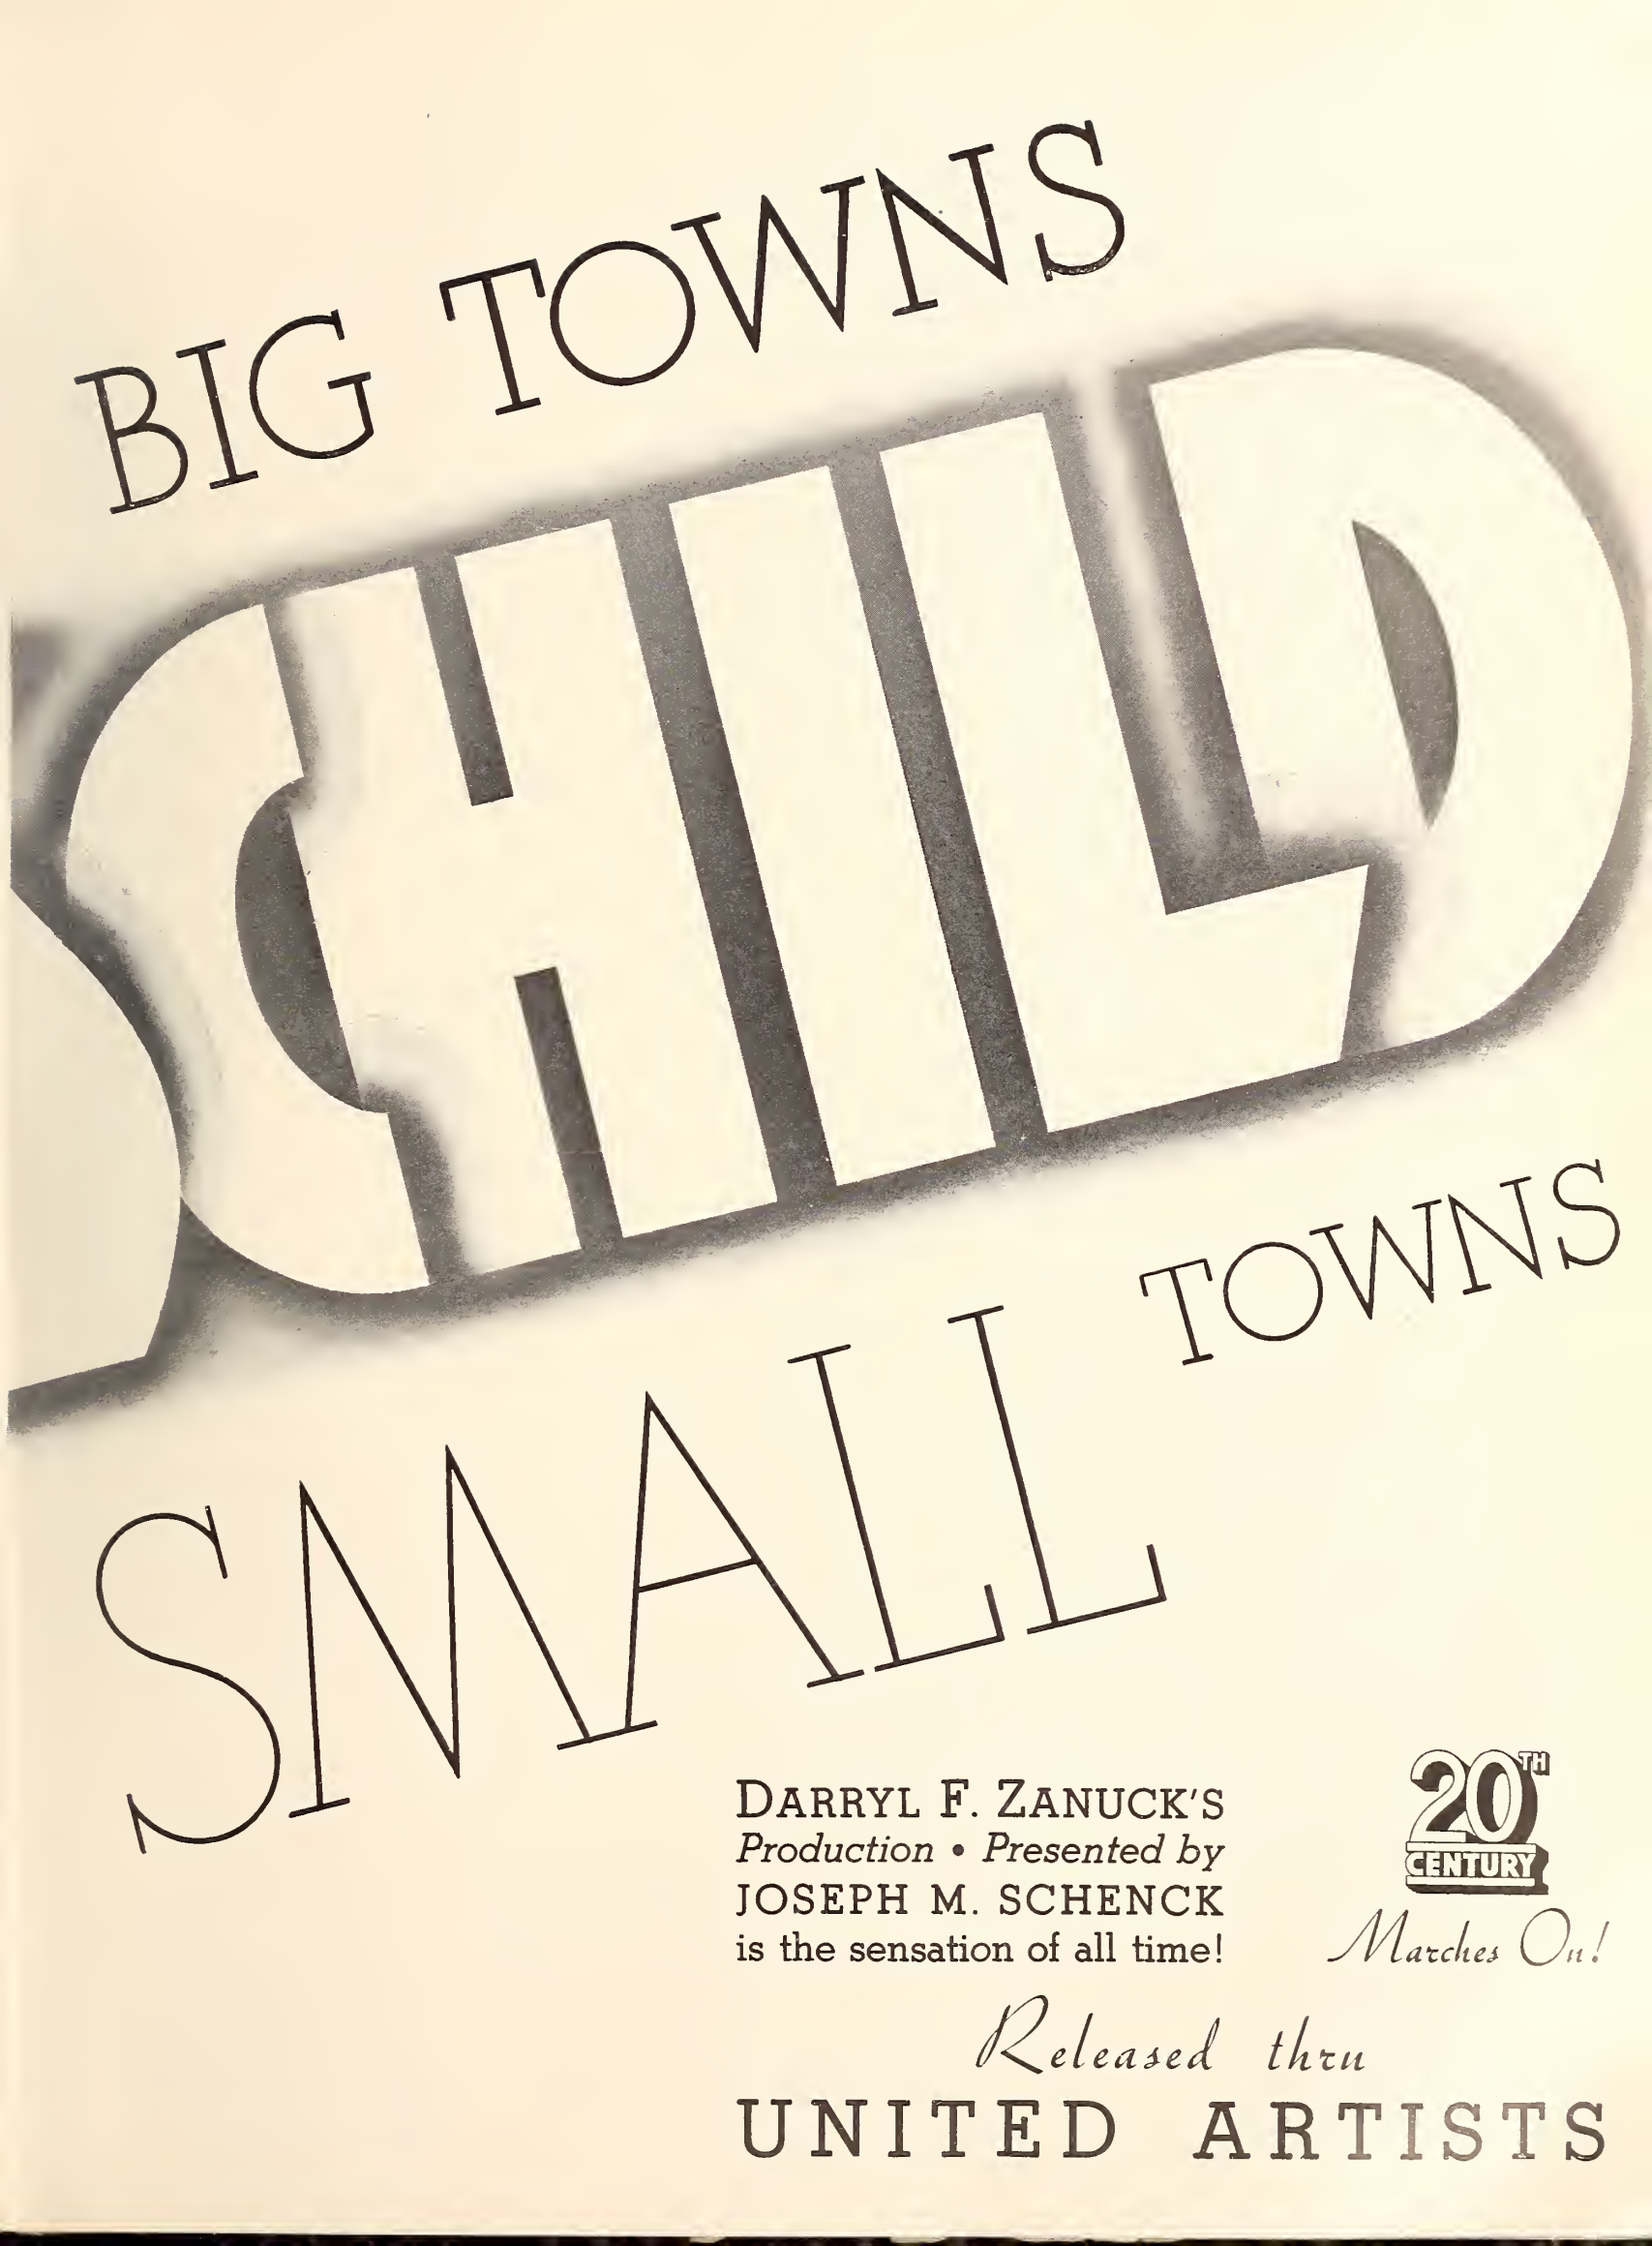
CAST

Kenneth ..... Wallace Ford
Julio ..... Gloria Shea
Green ..... Edgar Kennedy
Mrs. Green ..... Maidel Turner
Mrs. Ferris ..... Betty Blythe
Robby ..... Eddie Tamblyn
Helen ..... Vivian Oakland
George ..... Richard Tucker
Silverman ..... Tenen Holtz
Mrs. Silverman ..... Ann Brody
Butler ..... Olaf Hytten

Cheaters

(Liberty)

Drama



A story of a big-time crook who couldn't stay crooked when he met the right kind of a girl, this results in rather tame melodrama, which is more completely concerned with the development and culmination of a romance than with the activities of the clever confidence man, who finds an ace henchwoman, then ruins his own setup by falling in love with her himself.

Spotted with fair comedy, the picture has a reasonable amount of entertainment for the not too discriminating. Let the selling take the line of the story, building copy material around

BIG IN THE

JUST AS BIG IN THE

DARRYL F. ZANUCK'S
Production • Presented by JOSEPH M. SCHENCK is the sensation of all time!

20TH CENTURY
Marches On!

Released thru
UNITED ARTISTS

the title and the idea of the cheater who cheated himself and his partners, but found at the same time that cheating may not pay.

The cast contains substantial names. The attractive personality of Bill Boyd heads the players, supported by June Collyer, Dorothy Mackaill and William Collier, Sr. Collier, as Boyd's not too scrupulous and hardly soft-spoken partner in the fine art of separating the wealthy from their resources, handles the comedy, aided to an extent by Miss Mackaill as his wife.

The settings have been well handled, often verging on the elaborate, with a touch of polo and Long Island villas featuring the background.

Boyd, confidence man with a reputation and plenty of money from his last job, leaves prison at the same time as Miss Collyer, who "took the rap" for an erring brother. Boyd befriends her, and when later he finds that the chief foil in his little game of duping the wealthy has deserted him, he takes a chance on Miss Collyer. It is all a straight business proposition. Miss Collyer is to cause wealthy Alan Mowbray to marry her, then the divorce settlement is to be split among the partners, Boyd, Miss Mackaill, Collier and Miss Collyer.

Everything goes swimmingly, with Miss Collyer a not too willing but considerably expert foil, and Collier, Sr., troubled with a bad case of itching fingers when he glimpses the Mowbray family emeralds, trotted out on display. Instead of being happy at the prospect of Miss Colyer completing the job with her marriage to Mowbray, Boyd is anything but pleased. He has fallen for the girl on his own account, and the girl apparently has done likewise in his direction. When Boyd refuses to let her go through with it, Collier makes a last attempt to get the jewels. He is successful, but Boyd tries to take them back when a detective takes over the situation. Miss Collyer decides she would rather marry a reformed confidence man than a millionaire, and Mowbray refuses to prosecute.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Liberty Pictures. Directed by Phil Rosen. Story, continuity and dialogue by Adele Buffington. Suggested by "The Peacock Screen" by Fanny Heaslip Lea. Release date not set. Running time, 68 minutes.

CAST

Steve Morris	Bill Boyd
Kay Murray	Jue Collyer
Mabel	Dorothy Mackaill
"K. C." Kelly	William Collier, Sr.
Paul Southern	Alan Mowbray
Detective Sweeney	Gwuinn Williams
Lily	Louise Beaver

Adieu Les Beaux Jours

(Ufa)

Drama

Where, probably in the large metropolitan centers, French motion pictures may be played to advantage by the exhibitor, this production has the values of a neat blend of comedy, romance, drama, clever crook activity and scenic background effects.

A somewhat different device has been used in this instance to permit of more ready understanding of plot movement by those without a knowledge of the language. Instead of the now common super-imposed subtitle translations of dialogue, this production occasionally halts the action to flash on the screen a complete English subtitle which briefly outlines what has gone before. It is an able and inconspicuous device which serves its purpose effectively.

The film, which is of unusual length, may be used in school tieups by the exhibitor whose previous experience has indicated success with foreign language product, or as a special showing of some nature. It is an unconscious tribute to the production values of the film that the length, one hour and one-half, seems but average. The story, set in Europe, makes full and happy use of the unusually beautiful panoramic scenic effects afforded. The Pyrennees Mountains, bordering France and Spain; Biarritz, beautiful seaside resort; Cadiz, in Spain, follow the opening sequence in Paris. The cast is, of course, unknown in this country.

Olga, feminine crook, dupes a jeweler and a famous doctor, working them against each other in a clever maneuver which results in her getting away with an expensive necklace. At the same time that she sets off for Spain in her fast roadster, after conferring with Alexandre, leader of the gang of international crooks, Pierre, automobile engineer, starts for Spain on a trip to popularize his new small automobile. A description of the girl, her accomplices and the car she is driving, is flashed to the Spanish police, and she is trapped in the mountains, pursued up winding mountain trails by two motorcycle policemen. When her car breaks down, she rolls it over a cliff. Detectives trail her to Biarritz, where she has gone with Pierre, who has picked her up on the mountain road.

Trapped again there, she makes good an escape, sails with Pierre to the Spanish shore, and there disappears. The gang leader is arrested, but two friends, disguised as detectives, release him. The girl meets Pierre again and during two days in Spain they fall in love. She plans to break from the gang. With Pierre she goes to a carnival, there is arrested, and thus loses both love and liberty.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced by UFA-Pfeifer Supervision. Distributed by L'Alliance Cinematographique Europeenne, Paris. In New York, by Ufa Films, Inc. Directed by Johannes Meyer. Story and screen play by Peter Francke and Walter Wasserman. French aadptation by Andre Beucler. Photographed by Friedel Behn-Grund. Release date, April 21, 1934. Running time, 100 minutes.

CAST

Olga	Brigitte Helm
Pierre	Jean Gabin
Alexandre	Henry Bosc
Fred	Carette
Jeweler Dergan	Lucian Dayle
Professor Ronnay	Henry Vilbert
Detective Domprel	Thomy Bourdelle
Detective Marle	Andre Nicolle
Father Gaston	Paul Fromet
Marietta	Ginette Leclerc

Romance in Budapest

(Du World)

Romance with Music

There is a gay and tuneful liveliness about this foreign language film which, lacking the chorus activity almost necessary to merit the musical comedy description, is nonetheless "with music."

Occasional subtitles describing the movement of the plot structure make for ready under understanding on the part of the patron lacking a knowledge of the Hungarian language, and in several situations the exhibitor decidedly has something to sell. In other spots, however, though he may sell sprightly, melodious romance, the exhibitor has an obstacle in the highly unfamiliar language, except in the large metropolitan center, and the theatre which makes a practice of showing foreign product.

If the reactions of an understanding audience at a New York theatre be any criterion, the dialogue is smart and fully equipped with laughs. The situations are conducive to entertainment, as well. The cast, though thoroughly capable, especially in regard to the leading feminine players, is completely unknown here.

The production and direction is by Geza von Bolvary, credited with being the creater of "Two Hearts in Waltz Time," that bright musical affair which some time ago took New York, if not a considerable portion of the country, more or less by storm. That credit line might well be effectually utilized in the selling of the film.

Eve, daughter of wealth landowners, who are interested in her non-existent marriage prospects, obtains their permission to attend the wedding of her best friend in Budapest. There she discovers the temperamental bridegroom-to-be has postponed the wedding, and decides to go to his hotel to remonstrate. Mistaken identity causes her to confront a famous young concert pianist, whom she mistakes for the fiance of her friend. She slaps his face and causes a lobby scandal. When she meets the real fiance she returns to the hotel to apologize. She finds the musician is at a reception, and going there is refused admittance, the hostess fearing another scandal. The pianist, Moray, accompanies her home and they fall in love, Moray believing her to be a girl he once knew.

When Moray learns the girl is not the old flame she pretended to be, he is resentful and stages a surprise for her, in turn pretending to talk about an old love of his. Again she slaps his face and walks out. Home, her listlessness is relieved when Stangl, who supplies the comedy as Moray's manager, comes to her, admits he framed the idea, and Moray follows to insist again that he loves her.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced by Hunnia Film Company, Budapest. Distributed in United States by DuWorld Pictures. Supervision and direction by Geza von Bolvary. From a play by Aladar Laszlo and Sandor Farago. Screen play by Carl Noti. Cameraman, Steve Hiben. Sound engineer, Frank Lehr. Film Editor, Stephen Szekely. Release date, April 18, 1934. Running time, 93 minutes.

CAST

Eve Balogh	Franziska Gaal
Paul Moray	Paul Horbiger
Tini	Mici Erdelyi
Stangl	Szoeke Szakall
Mogyorossy	Puffi Huszar
Mr. Balogh	Julius Gozon
Mrs. Balogh	Lilina Berky
Director Rolland	Gabor Kertesz

The Lash

(Radio-British)

Drama

Cyril's Champion's stage play, already very dated, was a heavily underlined exposé of "modern youth." Its advocacy of the principle of paternal discipline, even when vindicated by means of a cattle whip, is in no danger of being taken too seriously by today's audiences. The theme appeal is in fact to the older and more old-fashioned section of any community. Dramatic interest is fairly well maintained and there are possibilities of controversial exploitation aimed at the women and young folk.

The big scene is that in which Bronson Haughton, millionaire father of a spoiled son who has specialized in sexual blackgardism, takes the advice and proffered stock whip of an old Australian friend and lashes the young cub into a sense of his shortcomings and, apparently, into a sincere resolve to behave like a gentleman in the future. The moral seems to be that a flogging 20 years in arrears is better than no flogging at all, but there is a certain amount of theatrical effectiveness in the scene.

Bronson Haughton, an Australian mining millionaire retired in England, has lost control of his only son, Arthur, whose main interests are night clubs and girl adventure. Arthur has contracted a force marriage with Mary Charles, a working class girl, but deserts her and starts an intrigue with Dora, wife of Colonel Bush. Mary tells her story to the elder Haughton.

Arthur continues to neglect Mary and pursue Dora, and his father ultimately ships him to Australia and takes Mary into his own home. Arthur leaves the boat at the first port and, in the absence of the Colonel in a nursing home, speeds up his affair with Dora. Haughton learns of his return and with the stock whip goes to Dora's flat. The whipping scene follows, interrupted by the return of the Colonel, who has been warned of the presence of his wife's lover. He fires at and wounds Arthur and the double shock brings the boy to his senses.

While controversy for and against "strict" upbringing could be stimulated, "The Lash" will remain old-fashioned in form and appeal; what is true of the story applies also to the acting.—ALLAN, London.

CAST

Produced in London by Julius Hagen and distributed by Radio. Stage play by Cyril Champion. Screen adaptation by Vera Allison and H. Fowler Mear. Directed by Henry Edwards. Cameraman, William Lu. Art director, James Carter.

Bronson Haughton	Lyn Harding
Arthur Haughton	John Mills
Dora Bush	Joan Maude
Colonel Bush	Aubrey Mather
Alec Larkin	Leslie Perrins
Mr. Charles	D. J. Williams
Steve	Roy Emerton
Jake	S. Victor Stanley
Margaret Haughton	Mary Jerrold
Mary	Peggy Blythe

(Continued on page 74, column 2)

Creator of STYLES! Mistress of CHIC!

What Shirley Temple wears today, the whole world will wear tomorrow. Women follow with envious regard every fashion whim that moves La Temple in her quest for glamour.

FOX

TRAVELERS . . .

MADELEINE CARROLL, Gaumont-British star who has just completed "The World Moves On," for Fox, sailed for England from New York.

CRESSON E. SMITH, western and southern division sales manager for RKO Radio, is on a 10-day trip to Chicago and Oklahoma City.

SOL A. ROSENBLATT, NRA Division Administrator, has advised the Code Authority he will go to Hollywood the latter part of June further to investigate Code operation on the Coast.

HUBERT T. MARSH, chairman and managing director of British & Dominions Film Corp., Ltd., and HERBERT WILCOX, director of productions, will arrive in New York May 31.

DARRYL F. ZANUCK, vice-president of 20th Century; GENE MARKEY and his wife, JOAN BENNETT, and HAL WALLIS and his wife, LOUISE FAZENDA, sailed from New York for Europe.

COL. CECIL E. VOGEL, city manager for Loew in Memphis, is vacationing in New York.

MARCELLA BENNETT, secretary to DAVID O. SELZNICK, arrived in New York for a vacation.

JEAN HERSHOLT and LEO CARRILLO arrived in New York from the Coast.

CLAUDETTE COLBERT will be in New York the end of this month.

E. L. McEVOY, eastern and Canadian sales manager for RKO, left New York for a tour of his territory.

"LAUDY" LAWRENCE, MGM general European manager, arrived in New York from Paris.

E. I. SPONABLE, chief sound engineer for Fox, is in New York.

BINNIE BARNES, British star under contract to Universal, sailed from Southampton for New York.

NED E. DEPINET arrived in Hollywood for conferences with J. R. McDONOUGH and B. B. KAHANE on RKO Radio new season product.

VINCENTE PADULA, Argentine actor, arrived in New York to play in the CARLOS GARDEL picture being made for Paramount in Astoria.

JOSEPH H. HAZEN of the Warner legal department returned to New York from a five-month business trip to England.

ETIENNE PALOS, London Films sales manager, arrived in New York from England for conferences with United Artists officials on the new season lineup.

ELIZABETH ALLAN arrived in Hollywood from New York.

COL. E. A. SCHILLER left New York for a Hawaiian vacation.

IRWIN ROSENBAUM, impartial member of the Cincinnati grievance board, is in New York for conferences with SOL A. ROSENBLATT.

WILLIAM D. SHAPIRO, vice-president of Majestic, and Boston franchise holder, is in New York.

HAROLD RODNER returned to New York from a nine-day trip to Hollywood, where he established a Warner Club.

WILLIAM E. ATKINSON, president and receiver for Fox Theatres Corp., left New York for Denver.

JOHN D. CLARK, Fox general sales manager, left New York for Hollywood.

GEORGE DEMBOW returned to New York from Hollywood.

PATRICIA ELLIS left Hollywood for Detroit to start a brief personal appearance tour.

FELIX FERRY, theatrical producer, and LILLIAN ELLIS, Viennese actress, arrived in New York from Europe en route to Hollywood.

HARRY SCHENCK, producer and director of "Beyond Bengal," arrived in New York from Columbus and Cincinnati for the opening of his picture.

SYDNEY HOWARD, star comedian of British & Dominions, and no relation to SYDNEY HOWARD, the American playwright, will arrive in New York May 31 en route to the United Artists lot.

Showmen's Reviews

(Continued from page 72)

Hello Prosperity
(Educational)
Amusing

Andy Clyde provides a goodly portion of amusement in this comedy, which is at the same time tunefully entertaining. Andy, small town cobbler, is still in love with the girl of his young days, who is now the owner of a large wine distillery. Receiving a letter, he closes his shop and goes back to the old town, where a wedding is about to begin. He thinks it is for him and the woman of his dreams, until he discovers she is about to marry the manager of the place. After something in the nature of slapstick, the manager is revealed as a crook, and Andy gets his "girl."—Running time, 20 minutes.

Gulliver Mickey
(United Artists)
Good Cartoon

Walt Disney has made a highly enjoyable and novel cartoon of Mickey's adventures as the hero of the land of the Lilliputians. Telling his noisy nephews a story of his shipwreck, with a standing lamp and window shade for sound effects, he relates his landing in the land of the Lilliputs. Their cannons bounce projectiles about him until they turn and flee from a huge spider. As Mickey does triumphal battle with the intruder, the scene returns to the story telling, where one nephew frightens Mickey badly with a toy spider. The youngsters should be especially entertained.—Running time, 9 minutes.

Beauty and the Beast
(Vitaphone)
Good Cartoon

Done in color, with the Cinecolor process, this subject should be found cleverly entertaining by both the adults and the youngsters. The little girl eats too much and too widely before going to sleep and has a disturbing nightmare, landing in a toyland where the wooden soldiers march. She is pursued by the great spider, and is being triumphantly rescued by the captain of the soldiers when she wakes up with a bump. Smart and well executed.—Running time, 7 minutes.

The First Paradise
(Monogram)
Of Interest

One of the Port o' Call series, produced by Deane Dickason, and for which he renders the accompanying explanatary dialogue, this tells pictorially something of the life and habits of the inhabitants of the Island of Ceylon, called the "first paradise," because tradition has it that it was on a portion of this island that Adam and Eve dwelt in their Garden of Eden. Well photographed, this ranks well among travel subjects, and should be found generally interesting. —Running time, 10 minutes.

Very Close Veins
(Vitaphone)
Fair Comedy

Ben Blue is featured in this comedy, as the man with the unusual jumping vein in his leg, who is warned by the doctor to seek a cold climate. He goes to Alaska, and the saloon talk of an unusual vein, which he misunderstands, results in a miniature gold rush. Blue, with his "dead pan" expression and oversized feet, combining thereby the Keaton and Chaplin technique, is fairly amusing as a comedian, which is approximately the rating of this subject.—Running time, 20 minutes.

SIGNED . . .

Columbia

Lambert Hillyer to direct Jack Holt in "Mud Turtle." . . . Tim McCoy to make "Railroad Detective." . . . Max Scheck engaged to supervise negro ceremonial dances in "Black Moon."

▽

Fox

Contracts of Claire Trevor and Herbert Mundin renewed. . . . Alan Dinehart added to "Baby Take a Bow." . . . Director David Butler's contract renewed. . . . Lew Ayres replaced Kent Taylor in "She Learned About Sailors." . . . Contract to Jack Yellen, song writer. . . .

▽

Invincible

Margaret Dumont, John Elliott, Eddie Boland and Harry C. Bradley assigned to "Fifteen Wives," Frank Strayer directing. . . .

▽

MGM

Cortland Fitzsimmons to prepare adaptation of his novel, "Death on the Diamond." . . . Herbert Marshall in "Painted Veil." . . . George Brent opposite Myrna Loy in "The Stamboul Quest." . . . Clarence Brown will direct Joan Crawford and Clark Gable in "Sacred and Profane Love." . . . Charles Butterworth, Evelyn Laye, Joan Crawford and Jimmy Durante given new contracts. . . .

▽

Monogram

Sign Christie Cabanne to direct "Jane Eyre." . . . Vera Hillie opposite John Wayne in "The Star Packer" (Lone Star). . . . Alberta Vaughn in "Randy Rides Again." . . .

▽

Paramount

Lee Tracy's first will be "A Son Comes Home." . . . Carole Lombard opposite Gary Cooper in "You Belong to Me." . . . Jessica Dragonette given contract. . . . Patricia Ellis in "Here Comes the Groom" (Rogers). . . . Director Charles Vidor's contract renewed. . . .

▽

RKO Radio

John Beal given contract. . . . John Barrymore in "Hat, Coat and Glove," with Barbara Robbins. . . . William Gaxton and Bruce Cabot additions to "Afterwards." . . . Helen Vinson awarded role in "The Life of Vergie Winters."

▽

United Artists

Elissa Landi and Louis Calhern added to "The Count of Monte Cristo" (Reliance). . . . Ethel Merman joins "The Treasure Hunt" (Goldwyn), Roy Del Ruth to direct. . . . Addison Richards and Barbara Pepper in "Our Daily Bread." . . .

▽

Universal

Frank Lawton engaged for "The River" and "The Mystery of Edwin Drood." . . . Lois Wilson and Elizabeth Young sign for "There's Always Tomorrow." . . . Contracts to Edmund Lowe, Boris Karloff and Douglas Fowley. . . . Jacques Devel to adapt "Angel." . . .

▽

Warner - First National

Aline MacMahon and Guy Kibbee given leads in "Big Hearted Herbert." . . . Mary McCall, Jr., adapting own story, "A Lady Surrenders." . . . William Gargan engaged for "British Agent." . . . Robert Armstrong added to "Kansas City Princess." . . . Joseph Cawthorne signed for "Housewife." . . . Josephine Hutchinson to make two pictures. . . . Lawrence Hazard to do adaptation of Maxwell Anderson's "Saturday's Children." . . .

Genius of Make-up!

Even the veteran stars of Hollywood envy the supreme artistry of Shirley Temple in adding those subtle touches which make her characterizations unforgettable.

FOX

THE CODE QUESTION BOX

By JAMES P. CUNNINGHAM

26—THE CODE AND OPERATORS' WAGES IN SMALL TOWNS

QUESTION—Does the motion picture code affect theatres in towns having a population of 2,500 inhabitants? If so, what is the salary scale of projectionist?—VIRGINIA.

ANSWER—The motion picture code does affect theatres in towns having a population of 2,500.

The code does not specify what actual wages shall be paid to operators, but it does say the minimum wages under the code shall be the same as the minimum wages which were in effect in a place on August 23, 1933.

▽ ▽ ▽

27—CANCELLATION RELIEF FROM FEATURES AND SHORTS OVERBOUGHT

QUESTION—Suppose an exhibitor is up-to-date on his feature bookings, but is in arrears on his short subjects with any one company; will the latter fact—being in arrears on short subjects—prevent him from canceling 10 per cent of his features?

Can an exhibitor cancel 10 per cent of his entire feature contract, or only 10 per cent of his features released after December 7?

Can one cancel any part of his short subjects when the entire output has been contracted for?

Does the code provide any relief for an exhibitor in a non-competitive situation who has so overbought that he cannot play all his pictures in a reasonable length of time? Both features and shorts will run into 1935, when the subjects will be so old his business will be detrimentally affected.

Do you think the Local Grievance Board would likely give an exhibitor relief from a situation as described above?

In order to get the right kind of pictures for this town—the features must have a certain special appeal—I had to buy more pictures than I can possibly use this season, and, of course, to get the features I was compelled to buy the short subjects and, as a result, I have more pictures than I know what to do with.—VIRGINIA.

ANSWER—The fact that a short subject contract is not up-to-date does not interfere with the right of an exhibitor under the code to cancel 10 per cent of his feature pictures released after December 7, provided, however, that the feature contract is in good standing.

An exhibitor can only cancel 10 per cent of the feature pictures released after December 7.

One can not cancel any of his short subjects even though the entire output has been contracted for. The 10 per cent cancellation privilege in the code does not mention short subject cancellations in any way.

The code does not provide relief for an exhibitor in a non-competitive situation who has so overbought that he cannot play all of his pictures in a reasonable length of time, because it is the exhibitor's own fault for having so overbought in order to select only a few pictures from a group of pictures. The Local Grievance Board can not give an exhibitor relief from a situation as above described.

While a certain code clause specifies that a distributor shall not force upon an exhibitor, as a condition of a feature sale, more short subjects than he can use in proportion to the number of features booked, the code does not prevent an exhibitor from "loading up" both on features and shorts, as in the situation described above, except that no exhibitor shall overbuy product with the intent and effect of depriving a competitive theatre from acquiring such product that is overbought.

▽ ▽ ▽

28—DISCRIMINATION BY PAPER IN PLACEMENT OF THEATRE ADS

QUESTION—When I first started advertising in a local newspaper, the paper cooperated 100 per cent, and classified my theatre ad with my competitor's ad, as per my instructions, until the nearby division headquarters of my circuit competitor complained to the newspaper people, stating they did not want my ad to appear on the same page with their ad.

Since then I have not been allowed to classify my theatre ad with my competitor's, unless I overtop the other ad, which is unnecessary, too expensive, and a waste of money.

My claim is that this is unfair business policy, and that the newspaper is discriminating, and catering to my competitor. This is hurting my business, making my advertising practically worthless, and forcing me to operate under a serious handicap.

My opposition also has a five-and-ten-cent bargain day, which I cannot compete with on account of the minimum admission regulation.

Please advise if the code can assist me in clearing up this situation to such an extent that I will have an even break on advertising position in the local newspaper, and force my competitor to adhere to the 10-cent minimum admission.—MISSOURI.

ANSWER—There is no clause in the motion picture code affecting the newspaper advertising situation described above. However, the code for the newspaper industry might contain a clause controlling such alleged unfair discrimination of advertising accounts. An exhibitor might write to the NRA at Washington and ask them whether this advertising "discrimination" is a violation of the newspaper code by the local newspaper.

The five-cent bargain day matinee staged by the competitor is a violation of Section 1, Part 3, Article V-E, which says that an exhibitor must not fail at all times to maintain the minimum price of admission specified in contracts, and such minimum admission is 10 cents. A complaint against the competitor may be filed with the Local Grievance Board, located in Kansas City, Mo., in Suite 907, Davidson Building.

▽ ▽ ▽

29—OVERTIME FOR THEATRE PROJECTIONISTS

QUESTION—We operate about 43 to 45 hours per week. We have been hiring an extra projectionist for one day each week who has to come from another town 12 miles away. There is not another projectionist here in town that we can get.

Now, the extra man that we have been using has secured another position. There are one or two operators in his town that we could get, but none are reliable and we do not want to turn the responsibility of our projection over to either of them.

Please advise if we could use our regular man and pay him overtime for the few extra hours. This plan meets with his approval.—SOUTH CAROLINA.

ANSWER—The code specifically says that the working schedule for projectionists shall not exceed 40 hours weekly.

In order to be technically clear, the exhibitor should bring the matter before the Local Regional Labor Board in his territory, securing its address from the National Labor Board of the NRA at Washington. The situation should be stated in detail to the Regional Labor Board and its permission asked to place the plan in effect. The Labor Board might grant such permission.

Immediate reply is being made direct to the many letters which Motion Picture Herald is receiving from exhibitors and distributors in the field, and from others, in which various questions are asked concerning certain doubtful phases of the Motion Picture Code. In addition, such code questions and the answers submitted are published as a regular service for all readers. They contain many explanatory points pertinent to the business as its conduct is prescribed by the Code.

For obvious reasons, the letters will appear anonymously. However, the originals will remain on file.

Answers to questions about the Code are submitted only after consultation with authorities familiar with the technicalities of the document.

This service is available to everyone. Send questions to the Code Editor, Motion Picture Herald, 1790 Broadway, New York City.

Ohio Firm Sues Warner For $369,315 Claimed Due

The Seitz Theatre Company, Sandusky, Ohio, has filed suit in the local common pleas court against Warner Brothers, for $369,315 alleged due in defaulted rent on a 15-year lease on the State theatre in Sandusky. The amount asked is alleged to represent a 10-year period, the unexpired term of a lease written in 1928.

General Theatres Company assumed the obligations of the original tenant, Schine Chain Theatres, the petition contends, and having defaulted in three months' rent, was evicted in July, 1933. Now it is claimed the defendant has defaulted on the remaining 10 years of the lease, and that $369,315 is due. Warner Brothers is noted as the parent company of General Theatres, and it is claimed the assets of its subsidiary are insufficient to meet the amount of the claim.

General Register Files Suit

General Register Corporation, 1540 Broadway, New York, and Brooklyn, manufacturer of ticket registers, has filed a suit charging infringement of certain patents against Reuben H. Helsel, Charles J. Wolfe and Fred J. Faust, named as members of the Silent American Ticket Machine Company.

Engel with Fox

Joe Engel, pioneer production executive, formerly with MGM and later with Fox, has joined Sol Wurtzel and John Stone in an executive capacity at the Western Avenue studio, Hollywood.

Empress of a Thousand Moods

As the shimmering surface of a woodland lake reflects the passing of each fleeting breeze, so the face of the great Temple (we all call her Shirley) mirrors the joys, the passions and the eternal sorrow of a world bowed down. Hot Cha! That's telling 'em, Shirley!

FOX

TECHNOLOGICAL

The BLUEBOOK School

By F. H. RICHARDSON

BLUEBOOK SCHOOL QUESTION NO. 224.—(A) How are matched lenses usually selected? (B) If you broke one lens of a projection lens, what would you do? (C) In ordering replacement of a single lens element of a projection lens, what must be done? (D) Why is it necessary to send the broken lens along with the unbroken ones when ordering a single element replacement?

Answer to Question No. 218

Bluebook School Question No. 218 was: (A) In measuring the focal length of a simple lens, in what way must the light rays reach the lens? (B) How would you proceed to measure the focal length of a bi-convex lens? (C) What two focal lengths are of importance to the projectionist, and why are they important? (D) What do you understand "working distance" to mean, as applied to projection lenses?

The following made good: C. Rau and S. Evans; D. Danielson; G. E. Doe; D. Ferguson; J. Wentworth; R. De Totto; T. Van Vaulkenburg; H. Edwards; A. F. Sprafke; R. J. Arntson; G. Thompson; B. R. Walker; L. J. O'Melia; J. R. Walker; D. L. Sinklow; L. R. Doty; Nic Granby; L. B. and D. H. Palmer; L. Klar and F. G. Klar; D. Goldberg and L. Hutch; M. Spencer and D. T. Arlen; L. Grant and R. Geddings; G. Johnson and L. R. Spooner; C. B. and L. N. Traxler; G. Lathrope and N. L. Tomlinson; R. Schuler and M. R. Davidson; L. C. Northup; R. and K. Wells; L. E. Gregeson; K. L. Hess; T. Granger and T. Wythe; J. H. Rathburn and D. Little; J. J. Richmond; M. F. Clark; O. L. Daris and F. Simms; G. Sargent; D. L. Lode, K. Y. Spencer, B. H. Sanders and J. Jensen; W. Broadbent; F. L. Granby; J. Turner; D. U. Granger; F. H., S. and P. Dalbey; D. D. Davis and L. Thomas; P. Itt; J. Williams and O. Allbright; D. Breaston and D. Haber; B. R. Hansen; H. R. Baldwin; F. L. Lyons and G. Squires; U. L. Danielson; T. H. Norton; C. Haugan and J. Turner; M. U. Sampson; F. L. Benton and A. L. Dodson; B. W. Williams, L. H. Daniels and B. T. Carter; J. J. Richmond; L. N. Haynes and A. Richardson; R. D. Oberleigh and J. Lansing; P. R. Ingram, J. W. Holmes and C. L. Cerbi; D. L. Monehan and L. B. Bryant; L. Jones and B. L. Banning; D. Sanders; R. S. Fielder; B. H. Thaler and S. Spanner; T. V. King and R. S. Gonzalez; J. R. Carr; A. Brown; R. S. Chamberlain; C. L. Bagby.

J. Regan Walker of the Mecca theatre, Thurber, Texas, starts his first letter as follows: "For two months past I have been borrowing the HERALD and would of course have been late with answers to Bluebook School questions, did I attempt to answer them. I am now a subscriber and would very much like to join the 'school.' As this is my first letter to that splendid department, please forgive me if I am using a wrong method of contacting you. I am very eager to learn everything possible pertaining to the projection of sound motion pictures."

Because of his friendly opening note I will print the answer of Friend Walker to Section A: "In measuring the focal length of a simple lens, as for example a bi-convex, the light rays must enter the lens at precisely right angles to its surface. In optical language, the rays must be perpendicular to the surface of the lens."

And now to show Friend Walker, as well as some others, how careful one must be, the words "precisely" and "surface" are incorrect. The terms should have been closely approximately and plane. You see, even the rays of the sun are not precisely parallel, and in measuring a bi-convex you must, in one measurement, have the convex surface toward the light. The plane means a line at right angles to the optical axis of the lens.

D. Ferguson puts it thus: "The light rays must be parallel to the principal axis of the lens." De Totto says, "Directly parallel." Evans and Rau, G. E. Doe, D. Danielson and many others say, in different words, "The focal length of a simple lens is the distance from its optical center at which parallel rays will be focused to an image, hence the rays must reach the lens in essentially parallel lines." Which is entirely correct.

(B) There were too many correct answers to select any one for publication. The answer is, focus the image of some distant object as sharply as possible upon a screen (a sheet of paper, wall or what have you) and measure the distance from center of lens to screen.

(C) In this many made the error of saying, "the back focus," which is not correct. There is a difference between working distance and back focus. The difference is slight, but it nevertheless exists. Rau and Evans say, "The two focal lengths with which projectionists are mostly concerned are back focus (more correctly termed the working distance) and the equivalent focus. Working distance is the distance from the object (in projection, the film or slide emulsion) to the first surface of the projection lens when the image is in sharp focus on the screen. Working distance is of importance for the reason that it directly affects necessary lens diameter. Equivalent focus (E. F.), as used in projection work, is the distance from optical center of the lens combination to surface of the screen when the screen image is in sharp focus. It is of importance to projectionists for the reason that it is the item used to calculate dimensions of screen image a lens will project at any certain distance."

(D) H. Edwards says, "Working distance is distance from film or slide photographic emulsion to first surface of rear element of the projection lens when screen image is in sharpest possible focus.

In giving the answer to Question No. 217 in the May 12 issue, I explained that the answer to Section B would be given at another time. Here it is.

I was under the impression that there were still reasons why a lens no larger than sufficient to admit the beam, was best from an optical standpoint. I took the matter up with the Bausch & Lomb Scientific Bureau, which has answered thus:

"It is self-evident that it will cost more money to make a given lens five inches in diameter than it would be to make it 2½ inches in diameter. Projection lens barrels cannot be made larger than the size made as standard for standard projection machines, and due to this fact the arc lamps have been designed to give only a rather narrow cone of light such as can all be transmitted through the projector.

"The chief reason for not using a larger projection lens than is necessary to transmit the whole light beam is that it adds to the cost of the lens and serves no useful purpose, because the outer zone of the lens diameter is not illuminated and is, therefore, of no use in adding to the illumination on the screen."

Building Her New Home in Beverly Hills

The world may know Temple only as the exotic queen of emotion, the smart sophisticate of the screen. But at times even Shirley (as the studio gang call her among themselves) must have quiet and relief from public clamor. Here the camera has caught her building a little nest far up in the hills.

FOX

THEATRE RECEIPTS

The total of theatre receipts for the calendar week ended May 12, 1934, from 110 houses in 19 major cities of the country, reached $1,107,452, an increase of $18,221 over the total for the previous calendar week, ended May 5, when 110 theatres in 19 cities reported an aggregate gross of $1,089,231.

(Copyright, 1934: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to MOTION PICTURE HERALD expressly forbidden)

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Boston			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Boston	2,900	25c-50c	"No Greater Glory" (Col.) and.... "Sisters Under the Skin" (Col.)	19,000	"The Crime Doctor" (Radio) and.. "Finishing School" (Radio)	19,000	High 1-13-34 "Fog"	23,500
							Low 3-11 "Topaze"	11,000
Fenway	1,800	30c-50c	"Merry Wives of Reno" (W.B.) .. and "Double Door" (Para.)	9,500	"As the Earth Turns" (W. B.) and "Three on a Honeymoon" (Fox)	9,000	High 1-14 "Island of Lost Souls" and "Billion Dollar Scandal"	15,000
							Low 7-29 "She Had to Say Yes" and "Arizona to Broadway"	6,000
Keith's	3,500	30c-50c	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox).....	20,000	"Catherine the Great" (U. A.)....	20,000	High 12-2 "Little Women"	28,000
							Low 3-11 "When Strangers Marry"....	12,000
Loew's State ...	3,700	35c-50c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM)	21,000	"Sorrell and Son" (U. A.).....	19,500	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	23,000
							Low 3-11 "Men Must Fight".....	11,000
Metropolitan	4,350	30c-65c	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F.N.)..	33,000	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.)....	34,000	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	44,500
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	26,500
Paramount	1,800	30c-50c	"Merry Wives of Reno" (W.B.).. and "Double Door" (Para.)	9,500	"As the Earth Turns" (W. B.) and "Three on a Honeymoon" (Fox)	9,500	High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "Deception"	17,000
							Low 8-12 "Mary Stevens, M.D." and "Flying Devils"	8,000
Buffalo
Buffalo	3,500	30c-55c	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM).	16,800	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.)....	17,100	High 12-9 "Dancing Lady"	31,000
							Low 3-25 "Our Betters"	9,800
Century	3,000	25c	"Journal of a Crime" (F.N.) and.. "You're Telling Me" (Para.)	5,500	"Harold Teen" (W. B.) and..... "Lazy River" (MGM)	6,800	High 4-21-34 "The Lost Patrol" and "Three on a Honeymoon"	8,100
							Low 12-16 "Solitaire Man" and "Day of Reckoning"	3,500
Hippodrome	2,100	25c-40c	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox).....	9,400	"Tarzan and His Mate" (MGM)..	9,200	High 6-24 "Gold Diggers of 1933".....	16,100
							Low 8-26 "Moonlight and Pretzels"....	5,100
Hollywood	300	25c-40c	"The Road to Ruin" (First Div.).. (5th week-4 days)	200	"The Road to Ruin" (First Div.).. (4th week)	600	High 1-7 "Goona Goona"	2,600
							Low 11-25 "Night and Day".....	400
Lafayette	3,300	25c	"The Crosby Case" (U.) and..... "In the Money" (Chesterfield)	5,800	"No Greater Glory" (Col.) and.... "Charming Deceiver" (Majestic)	6,500	High 3-10-34 "It Happened One Night" and "Before Midnight"	16,700
							Low 12-23 "Myrt and Marge"	4,800
Chicago
Chicago	4,000	35c-68c	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.)..	30,000	"Bottoms Up" (Fox)	34,000	High 9-2 "Goodbye Again"	75,000
							Low 4-29 "Central Airport"	22,000
McVicker's	2,284	30c-60c	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox).....	11,000	"Tarzan and His Mate" (MGM).. (2nd week)	5,000	High 4-14-34 "Wonder Bar"	23,000
							Low 7-1 "The Woman I Stole"	5,000
Oriental	3,940	25c-40c	"Lazy River" (MGM).....	13,000	"Let's Be Ritzy" (U.)	15,000	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel"	50,000
							Low 12-16 "A Man's Castle"	10,000
Palace	2,509	35c-75c	"Twentieth Century" (Col.)	22,000	"Sisters Under the Skin" (Col.)..	17,000	High 9-9 "Morning Glory"	37,000
							Low 4-28-34 "Glamour".....	11,500
Roosevelt	1,591	25c-50c	"Mystery of Mr. X" (MGM).....	8,000	"Six of a Kind" (Para.).....	7,000	High 10-14 "Penthouse"	16,000
							Low 3-4 "Luxury Liner"	6,200
State-Lake	2,776	20c-35c	"Countess of Monte Cristo" (U.)..	14,000	"Keep 'Em Rolling" (Radio).....	13,500	High 1-13-34 "Goodbye Love".....	18,000
							Low 2-18 "Lucky Devils"	4,500
United Artists ..	1,700	30c-60c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (2nd week)	17,500	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (1st week)	30,000	High 5-5-34 "The House of Rothschild"	30,000
							Low 3-18 "Perfect Understanding"	6,800
Cleveland
Allen	3,300	25c-35c	"Countess of Monte Cristo" (U.)..	2,000	"Sorrell and Son" (U.A.).....	2,700	High 11-11 "Private Life of Henry VIII"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "Infernal Machine" and "Exposure"	1,800
Hippodrome	3,800	30c-44c	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox)....	9,000	"As the Earth Turns" (W. B.)..	4,000	High 10-21 "East of Fifth Avenue"....	30,000
							Low 6-10 "Circus Queen Murder".....	2,900
RKO Palace	3,100	30c-75c	"Twentieth Century" (Col.)..... (30c-44c)	8,000	"Glamour" (U.)	14,500	High 3-3-34 "It Happened One Night"..	28,000
							Low 8-19 "No Marriage Ties"	4,200
State	3,400	30c-44c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.)	15,000	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.)....	14,000	High 8-19 "Tughoat Annie"	26,000
							Low 6-24 "The Eagle and the Hawk"	5,000
Stillman	1,900	25c-35c	"Melody in Spring" (Para.) and.. "Fighting Ranger" (Col.)	3,000	"Good Dame" (Para.) and..... "The Thundering Herd" (Para.)	4,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel".....	9,000
							Low 11-18 "Stage Mother" and "Hell and High Water"	2,500
Warner's Lake...	800	30c-40c	"Murder in Trinidad" (Fox) and.. "Stolen Sweets" (Chesterfield)	1,800	"Jimmy the Gent" (W. B.) and.. "Taming the Jungle" (Ind.)	2,800	High 10-28 "Footlight Parade".....	10,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Easy to Love"	1,500
Denver
Aladdin	1,500	25c-40c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (2nd week)	6,000	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (1st week) (25c-50c)	9,000	High 2-25 "Cavalcade"	10,000
Denham	1,500	25c-40c	"The Witching Hour" (Para.)....	4,000	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.).... (8 days)	7,000	Low 4-28-34 "Registered Nurse".....	2,500
							High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	16,000
Denver	2,500	25c-50c	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox).....	6,000	"Tarzan and His Mate" (MGM)	7,000	Low 6-3 "Mussolini Speaks," "Night of Terror" and "Soldiers of the Storm"	1,950
							High 1-13-34 "Roman Scandals"	17,500
Orpheum	2,600	25c-55c	"A Very Honorable Guy" (F.N.)..	7,000	"This Man Is Mine" (Radio).....	7,500	Low 12-16 "The World Changes"	3,000
							High 2-17-34 "Hi, Nellie!"	19,500
Paramount	2,000	25c-40c	"Laughing Boy" (MGM) ..... (3 days)	600	"Lazy River" (MGM) ..... (3 days)	900	Low 6-10 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,750
							High 4-1 "The Kid From Spain"	7,000
			"Three on a Honeymoon" (Fox).. (4 days)	1,400	"The Show-Off" (MGM) ..... (4 days)	1,100	Low 4-7-34 "Ever Since Eve" and "Son of Kong"	1,500
Detroit
Downtown	2,750	15c-40c	"All Quiet on the Western Front" (U.) (2 days) "Murder in Trinidad" (Fox) and "Finishing School" (Radio) (5 days)	5,200	"No Greater Glory" (Col.).....	4,100	High 10-14 "No Marriage Ties"	16,500
							Low 6-10 "The Woman I Stole"	3,700
Fisher	2,700	15c-40c	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F.N.)..	5,300	"Harold Teen" (W.B.)..... (15c-50c)	4,300	High 1-28 "Silver Dollar"	15,400
							Low 3-18 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	3,100
Fox	5,100	15c-50c	"Twentieth Century" (Col.).....	22,100	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox)....	18,400	High 9-16 "Sing, Sinner, Sing"	32,300
							Low 5-15 "After the Ball" and "Afraid to Talk"	5,400
Michigan	4,000	15c-50c	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.)....	21,200	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.)	18,300	High 4-7-34 "Mystery of Mr. X".....	31,400
							Low 7-1 "College Humor"	7,300
United Artists...	2,000	15c-50c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (25c-50c)	17,600	"Men in White" (MGM)..... (2nd week)	10,200	High 5-12-34 "The House of Rothschild"	17,600
							Low 3-25 "The Sign of the Cross"	4,100

TEMPLE BREAKS SILENCE; GRANTS PRESS INTERVIEW

HOLLYWOOD, May 18.— Cornered by reporters here today, Shirley Temple broke the silence which she has maintained about her future plans. "I am going to appear next," she said, "in the Fox picture 'Baby Take a Bow' with Jimmy Dunn and Claire Trevor." Declining to discuss rumors of her engagement to the Prince of Wales, La Temple rushed to the studio restaurant for an ice cream cone.

FOX

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	50c-$1.65	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (5th week)	16,460	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (4th week)	18,741	High 9-9 "Dinner at Eight"	36,656
							Low 4-1 "King Kong"	14,600
W.B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-55c	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F.N.)..	15,000	"Gambling Lady" (W. B.).....	12,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	26,000
							Low 1-27-34 "The Big Shakedown"....	7,000
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	20c-40c	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox).....	3,000	"Three on a Match" (F. N.).....	2,000	High 2-18 "State Fair"	7,000
							Low 5-5-34 "Three on a Match".....	2,000
Circle	2,800	20c-40c	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.).... (2nd week-5 days)	2,500	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.).... (1st week)	6,000	High 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes".....	12,000
							Low 3-4 "The Sign of the Cross"..... (2nd run)	2,500
Indiana	3,100	20c-40c	"Crime Doctor" (Radio) and..... "Massacre" (F. N.)	2,500	"His Double Life" (Para.) and.... "Come On, Marines" (Para.)	3,000	High 3-25 "Parachute Jumper"	15,000
							Low 5-12-34 "Crime Doctor" and "Massacre"	2,500
Lyric	2,000	20c-40c	"A Very Honorable Guy" (F. N.)	7,500	"Glamour" (U.)	6,000	High 7-22 "College Humor"	9,500
							Low 11-11 "Saturday's Millions"	3,000
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.)	6,000	"Tarzan and His Mate" (MGM)..	4,000	High 2-3-34 "Sons of the Desert"	12,500
							Low 12-16 "Women in His Life"	3,500
Kansas City
Mainstreet	3,049	25c-40c	"Journal of a Crime" (F. N.).... (7 days and Sat. late show) (25c-50c)	10,000	"The Lost Patrol" (Radio) and.... "Sing and Like It" (Radio)	4,800	High 10-28 "Ace of Aces"	21,000
							Low 5-20 "Sweepings"	4,000
Midland	4,000	25c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM) ..... (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	16,700	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	15,800	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	30,000
							Low 4-15 "Perfect Understanding" ...	4,900
Newman	1,800	25c	"Melody in Spring" (Para.) and.. "Women in His Life" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. late show)	4,500	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.) and "You Can't Buy Everything" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. late show)	8,500	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	20,000
							Low 5-27 "Picture Snatcher"	2,800
Royal	900	25c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (2nd week downtown run) (25c-40c)	2,000	"Narcotic" (S.R.) ..... (2nd week-9 days)	1,800	High 3-17-34 "Elysia, Valley of the Nude"	6,500
							Low 3-3-34 "The Ghoul"	2,000
Tower	2,200	25c	"Success at Any Price" (Radio).. (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	4,500	"Let's Fall in Love" (Col.)..... (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	4,000	.....
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox).....	4,900	"Three on a Honeymoon" (Fox)..	2,600	High 1-6-34 "Mr. Skitch"	8,500
							Low 7-1 "Lilly Turner"	1,600
Los Angeles
Filmarte	800	40c-50c	"Through the Centuries" (Beacon)	500	"The Constant Nymph" (Fox).... (2nd week)	1,600	High 4-14-34 "Moon Over Morocco"	7,600
							Low 5-12-34 "Through the Centuries"	500
Loew's State	2,416	30c-55c	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox)....	10,550	"All Men Are Enemies" (Fox).. (5 days)	3,250	High 4-7-34 "Riptide"	28,500
							Low 2-24-34 "Coming Out Party"	4,870
Paramount	3,596	30c-55c	"Double Door" (Para.)	21,000	"She Made Her Bed" (Para.)....	21,784	High 1-7 "No Man of Her Own"	30,000
							Low 3-18 "King of the Jungle"	10,000
RKO	2,700	25c-40c	"Where Sinners Meet" (Radio)....	3,100	"Spitfire" (Radio)	4,900	High 3-31-34 "Little Women"	15,500
							Low 9-30 "Brief Moment"	1,700
United Artists	2,100	30c-55c	"Sorrell and Son" (U.A.)..... (5 days)	2,500	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.).... (2nd week-4 days)	4,200	High 10-21 "The Bowery"	21,000
							Low 1-28 "Hello, Everybody"	3,900
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-55c	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.)..	12,000	"Gambling Lady" (W. B.).....	10,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	19,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Easy to Love"	7,000
Minneapolis
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"Come On, Marines" (Para.).....	1,500	"Lazy River" (MGM)	1,500	High 4-1 "20,000 Years in Sing Sing"..	3,000
							Low 11-11 "I Loved a Woman"	1,000
Minnesota	4,000	25c-40c	"Men in White" (MGM).....	7,500	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.)....	8,000	High 11-11 "I'm No Angel"	10,000
							Low 2-3-34 "Eskimo"	7,000
RKO Orpheum	2,900	25c-50c	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.)	5,500	"Glamour" (U.)	6,000	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	14,000
							Low 3-11 "Cynara"	3,000
State	2,300	25c-40c	"You're Telling Me" (Para.).....	5,500	"Mystery of Mr. X" (MGM)....	5,500	High 4-29 "Cavalcade"	8,000
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	3,500
World	400	25c-75c	"Private Life of Henry VIII".... (U. A.) (6th week)	3,000	"Private Life of Henry VIII".. (U. A.) (5th week)	4,000	High 5-5-34 "Private Life of Henry VIII" (5th week)	4,300
							Low 11-25 "Vi Som Gar Koksvagen"..	1,000
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-60c	"Riptide" (MGM) and ..... "Hold That Girl" (Fox) (2nd week)	8,500	"Riptide" (MGM) and ..... "Hold That Girl" (Fox) (1st week)	11,000	High 2-24-34 "Queen Christina"	13,500
							Low 12-23 "Havana Widows and "Ever in My Heart"	7,500
Loew's	3,115	25c-75c	"Madame Spy" (U.)	10,000	"From Headquarters" (W. B.)....	10,000	High 1-21 "The Mask of Fu Manchu"..	14,500
							Low 9-30 "Turn Back the Clock" and "Emergency Call"	7,500
Palace	2,600	25c-75c	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox) and "Murder in Trinidad" (Fox)	11,000	"Wild Cargo" (Radio) and ..... "Sing and Like It" (Radio)	9,000	High 2-18 "The Sign of the Cross"...	15,500
							Low 4-14-34 "Melody in Spring" and "Wharf Angel"	8,500
Princess	2,272	25c-65c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) and "Chance at Heaven" (Radio) (2nd week)	8,500	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) and "Chance at Heaven" (Radio) (1st week)	10,000	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain" and "Speed Demon"	12,000
							Low 12-23 "Sing, Sinner, Sing" and "The Chief"	5,000
New York
Astor	1,012	55c-$2.20	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (8th week)	18,000	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (7th week)	19,600	High 4-14-34 "The House of Rothschild" (4th week)	23,730
							Low 3-25 "The White Sister"	14,559
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM)..	54,450	"Tarzan and His Mate" (MGM).. (2nd week)	25,482	High 4-7-34 "Riptide"	63,373
							Low 2-10-34 "You Can't Buy Everything"	15,500
Mayfair	2,300	35c-85c	"Hitler's Reign of Terror" (Jewel) (2nd week-3 days)	1,750	"Hitler's Reign of Terror" (Jewel) (1st week)	12,500	High 1-7 "The Half Naked Truth"....	24,750
							Low 6-3 "When Strangers Marry"	4,900
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox)....	11,800	"As the Earth Turns" (W. B.).... (1 day) "The Trumpet Blows" (Para.) (6 days)	10,100	High 2-4 "Animal Kingdom"	16,150
							Low 4-15 "Parole Girl"	4,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"Double Door" (Para.)	17,500	"Witching Hour" (Para.)	22,000	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	83,450
							Low 2-4 "Hello, Everybody"	15,600
Rialto	2,200	25c-65c	"Success at Any Price" (Radio)..	7,700	"She Made Her Bed" (Para.)....	8,000	High 4-7-34 "The Lost Patrol"	32,800
							Low 4-15 "Destination Unknown" and "The Fighting President"	5,800
Rivoli	2,200	35c-99c	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.).... (2nd week)	19,400	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.).... (1st week)	28,440	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	48,000
							Low 8-5 "The Rebel"	7,200
RKO Center	3,700	25c-55c	"This Man Is Mine" (Radio)..... (4 days) "The Trumpet Blows" (Para.) (3 days)	5,800	"The Lost Patrol" (Radio)..... (4 days) "Bottoms Up" (Fox) (3 days)	6,200	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	71,267
							Low 3-17-34 "Fashion Frolics of 1934" and "Let Fall in Love"	4,800
RKO Music Hall	5,945	35c-$1.65	"Twentieth Century" (Col.).....	75,000	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox)..... (2nd week)	61,800	High 11-25 "Little Women"	109,000
							Low 6-17 "Ann Carver's Profession"....	44,938
Roxy	6,200	25c-65c	"No Greater Glory" (Col.)	17,500	"Journal of a Crime" (F. N.)....	19,100	High 11-25 "The Invisible Man"	42,000
							Low 1-28 "Air Hostess"	9,100
Strand	3,000	25c-$1.10	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F.N.).. (2nd week)	15,342	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F.N.).. (1st week)	23,084	High 10-14 "Footlight Parade"	55,190
							Low 12 23 "Sin of Nora Moran"	6,850

So-o-o-

"BABY, TAKE A BOW"

with

SHIRLEY TEMPLE

JAMES DUNN

CLAIRE TREVOR

ALAN DINEHART

Produced by JOHN STONE

Directed by HARRY LACHMAN

Boys: Be sure to get this one!

S. R. KENT

FOX

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"Laughing Boy" (MGM)	1,800	"The Right to Romance" (Radio)	2,200	High 1-6-34 "Going Hollywood"	4,100
							Low 3-11 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,350
Criterion	1,700	10c-56c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM)	6,000	"Mystery of Mr. X" (MGM)	3,600	High 11-18 "College Coach"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "Clear All Wires"	1,800
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	"Upper World" (W. B.) (4 days)	1,600	"Murder in Trinidad" (Fox) (4 days)	800	High 9-2 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	3,900
			"The Ninth Guest" (Col.) (3 days)	1,500	"Let's Be Ritzy" (U.) (3 days)	600	Low 3-18 "The Death Kiss" and "The Fourth Horseman"	1,100
Midwest	1,500	10c-56c	"The House of Rothschild" (U. A.)	5,000	"Bottoms Up" (Fox)	2,500	High 2-25 "State Fair"	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Employees' Entrance"	1,400
Warner	1,900	15c-76c	"One Is Guilty" (Col.) (1 day)	4,000	"I'll Tell the World" (U.)	11,000	High 5-5-34 "I'll Tell the World"	11,000
							Low 3-10-34 "I've Got Your Number" (6 days)	6,400
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	25c-35c	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.) and "A Very Honorable Guy" (F. N.) (8 days)	4,750	"The Lost Patrol" (Radio) and "Journal of a Crime" (F. N.) (6 days)	3,500	High 11-18 "One Man's Journey"	10,750
							Low 12-30 "The World Changes" and "Havana Widows"	3,500
Orpheum	3,000	25c-40c	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox) and "Murder in Trinidad" (Fox)	5,750	"The Trumpet Blows" (Para.) and "Registered Nurse" (F. N.)	6,000	High 3-10-34 "Easy to Love"	17,250
							Low 4-29 "Sweepings"	5,000
Paramount	2,900	25c-40c	"The House of Rothschild" (U. A.)	7,000	"Tarzan and His Mate" (MGM)	7,000	High 7-22 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	13,250
							Low 2-24-34 "Six of a Kind" and "Good Dame"	5,250
World	2,500	25c-35c	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.) and "She Made Her Bed" (Para.)	3,750	"Looking for Trouble" (U. A.) and "Midnight" (U.)	4,000	High 6-3 "Peg O' My Heart" and "Perfect Understanding"	7,500
							Low 5-12-34 "Dark Hazard" and "She Made Her Bed"	3,750
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	40c-65c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (2nd week-6 days)	10,000	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (1st week-6 days)	23,000	High 5-5-34 "The House of Rothschild"	23,000
							Low 9-30 "Bitter Sweet"	4,800
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	"The Show-Off" (MGM) (6 days)	1,700	"George White's Scandals" (Fox) (6 days)	1,700	High 1-6-34 "Duck Soup" (7 days)	6,500
							Low 5-27 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,500
Boyd	2,400	40c-65c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM) (8 days)	13,000	"Melody in Spring" (Para.) (6 days)	9,500	High 1-6-34 "Little Women"	30,000
							Low 12-23 "Right to Romance"	8,000
Earle	2,000	40c-65c	"Upper World" (W. B.) (6 days)	13,500	"Success at Any Price" (Radio) (6 days)	14,000	High 4-7-34 "Harold Teen"	40,000
							Low 10-21 "Saturday's Millions"	10,000
Fox	3,000	30c-60c	"Now I'll Tell" (Fox) (6 days)	15,500	"Such Women Are Dangerous" (Fox) (6 days)	15,500	High 4-22 "Cavalcade"	29,000
							Low 8-5 "F. P. 1"	13,000
Karlton	1,000	30c-50c	"Let's Be Ritzy" (U.) (6 days)	2,800	"Countess of Monte Cristo" (U.) (6 days)	3,000	High 4-8 "42nd Street"	7,700
							Low 8-12 "Ann Carver's Profession"	2,500
Stanley	3,700	40c-65c	"Tarzan and His Mate" (MGM) (6 days)	10,000	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F.N.) (2nd week-3 days)	4,500	High 11-25 "I'm No Angel"	32,500
							Low 6-10 "The Silver Cord"	9,000
Stanton	1,700	30c-55c	"I'll Tell the World" (U.) (6 days)	5,700	"The Trumpet Blows" (Para.) (7 days)	7,000	High 6-3 "The Little Giant"	10,000
							Low 7-14 "I Love That Man"	4,000
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"Come On, Marines" (Para.) and "Countess of Monte Cristo" (U.)	5,000	"Death Takes a Holiday" (Para.)	5,000	High 4-7-34 "Wonder Bar"	13,000
							Low 3-11 "What! No Beer?"	3,500
Music Box	3,000	25c-40c	"Wild Cargo" (Radio) (8 days)	5,800	"Gambling Lady" (W. B.)	5,000	High 12-9 "Little Women"	14,000
							Low 5-13 "No More Orchids"	1,600
Oriental	2,040	25c	"Nana" (U. A.)	2,000	"Let's Be Ritzy" (U.) and "Wharf Angel" (Para.)	2,000	High 10-14 "Rafter Romance"	14,000
							Low 11-18 "College Coach"	1,600
Pantages	1,700	15c-25c	"Manhattan Love Song" (Monogram)	1,900	"One Year Later" (Allied)	2,000	High 11-4 "Lady for a Day"	10,200
							Low 4-21-34 "Laughing at Life"	1,500
Paramount	3,008	25c-40c	"Double Door" (Para.) and "Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox)	5,000	"The Trumpet Blows" (Para.)	4,000	High 11-18 "The Way to Love"	12,000
							Low 12-2 "Walls of Gold"	3,500
United Artists	945	25c-40c	"The House of Rothschild" (U. A.) (3rd week)	5,000	"The House of Rothschild" (U. A.) (2nd week)	6,000	High 4-28-34 "The House of Rothschild"	9,800
							Low 3-11 "Madame Butterfly"	1,600
San Francisco
Fox	4,600	10c-35c	"Cheaters" (Liberty) and "The Quitter" (Chesterfield)	9,000	"Whirlpool" (Col.) and "Secret Sinners" (Mayfair)	9,000	High 4-8 "Should a Woman Tell?" and "Speed Demon"	15,500
							Low 9-9 "Important Witness" and "Sensation Hunters"	7,000
Geary	1,516	55c-$1.65	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (3rd week)	9,300	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A) (2nd week)	10,500	.....
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-40c	"I'll Tell the World" (U.)	11,000	"This Man Is Mine" (Radio)	10,700	High 2-11 "The Mummy"	25,500
							Low 10-21 "My Woman"	8,000
Orpheum	3,000	15c-50c	"Half a Sinner" (U.)	10,000	"Success at Any Price" (Radio)	10,000	High 10-14 "Ladies Must Love"	15,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Search for Beauty" and "From Headquarters"	5,000
Paramount	2,670	15c-65c	"Such Women Are Dangerous" (Fox) and "Smarty" (W. B.)	10,500	"Mystery of Mr. X" (MGM) and "Harold Teen" (W. B.)	12,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	40,000
							Low 12-23 "Sitting Pretty"	7,000
St. Francis	1,400	15c-40c	"A Very Honorable Guy" (F.N.) and "The Witching Hour" (Para.)	6,000	"Journal of a Crime" (F. N.) and "Laughing Boy" (MGM)	4,000	High 3-25 "What! No Beer?" and "Broadway Bad"	13,500
							Low 4-14-34 "Registered Nurse" and "Murder in Trinidad"	3,500
United Artists	1,200	25c-50c	"Sorrell and Son" (U. A.)	6,000	"Catherine the Great" (U. A.) (2nd week)	6,000	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	17,000
							Low 8-26 "The Wrecker"	4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-90c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM)	22,000	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.)	21,000	High 1-6-34 "Dancing Lady"	26,000
							Low 5-27 "Story of Temple Drake"	10,000
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-35c	"Crime Doctor" (Radio) and "Finishing School" (Radio)	3,250	"Heat Lightning" (W. B.) and "Finishing School" (Radio)	3,000	High 12-9 "Little Women"	8,500
							Low 8-19 "The Rebel"	2,500
Fifth Avenue	2,750	25c-55c	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.)	5,500	"Tarzan and His Mate" (MGM)	5,000	High 8-5 "Tugboat Annie"	19,250
							Low 5-5-34 "Tarzan and His Mate"	5,000
Liberty	2,000	15c-35c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (11th week)	2,500	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (10th week)	2,500	High 3-3-34 "It Happened One Night"	7,000
							Low 6-24 "Uptown New York"	3,000
Music Box	950	25c-50c	"Catherine the Great" (U.A.) (2nd week-5 days)	2,750	"Catherine the Great" (U. A.) (1st week)	4,000	High 11-11 "Footlight Parade"	8,000
							Low 12-23 "If I Were Free"	3,250
Music Hall	2,275	25c-55c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.)	9,500	.....		.....
Paramount	3,050	25c-35c	"Laughing Boy" (MGM)	5,250	"Bottoms Up" (Fox)	6,250	High 1-7 "A Farewell to Arms"	9,500
							Low 1-13-34 "Dancing Lady" (2nd run)	4,000

Kirchwey Defends Films from Charge of Abetting Crime

Dr. George W. Kirchwey, head of the National Board of Review and former warden of Sing Sing Prison, on Monday night contradicted the arguments of Dr. Bernard Sachs, president of the New York Academy of Medicine and authority on child psychology, who had said the motion picture is "the best school of crime that ever existed."

The occasion was a round table discussion at the New York Museum of Science and Industry on "The Influence of Motion Pictures on Crime Prevention."

"By showing in dramatic, succinct form the details of how crimes are committed," Dr. Sachs said, "the gangster type of film actually teaches the young child how to go about committing acts of violence. If I had my way, I would not permit motion pictures of crime to be shown to children, or, for that matter, even to adults."

Dr. Kirchwey declared that the influence of the motion picture on crime is a delusion, and that to attribute to the films any share in the making of criminals is a conclusion based on ignorance.

The National Board head said he recently had refused to write a magazine article analyzing the Henry James Forman book, "Our Movie Made Children," because he deprecated any book which lays at the door of the motion picture industry the responsibility for juvenile crime and delinquency.

Publix Drops Houses In Ohio and Colorado

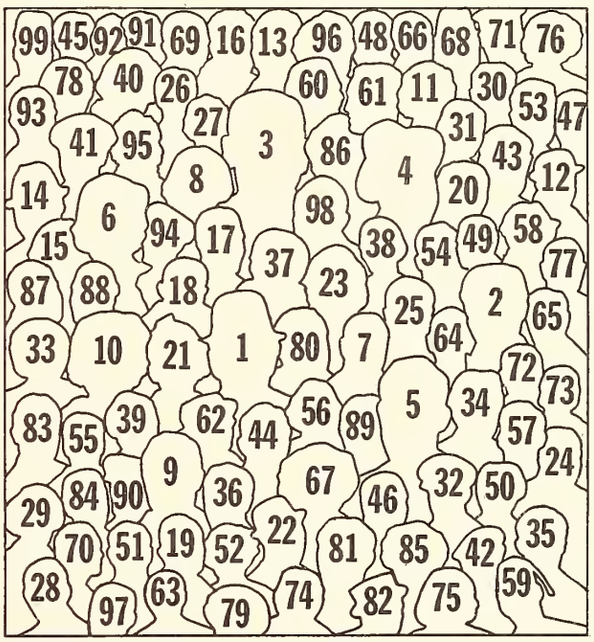
Publix has relinquished control of the Ohio and Cort theatres at Cambridge, Ohio, to the Guernsey Theatre Corporation, which was operated by Publix-Shea, and at Marietta, where Publix-Marietta has released the Strand and Auditorium to Washington Theatres, Inc.

Also in Ohio the Stanley, Sciotoville, has been taken over by Kenneth Carter from C. D. Rowland. The Virginia, at North Baltimore, has been taken by H. Walter. Publix has turned back the Rex at Greeley, Col., and the Mesa at Grand Junction, Col., to the Greeley Theatre Company, and the Rex Amusement Company. Both companies are owned by Harry Nolan, Denver supply dealer.

Wallerstein Has Additional Duties

Edward Wallerstein, manager of record sales, has been placed in charge of all Victor record and RCA Victor Photophone film recording activities, in addition to his other duties. Mr. Wallerstein will now supervise the licensing of Photophone High Fidelity sound-on-film recording, and the electrical transcription department activities.

Curran Rejoins Warner



Charles Curran has rejoined the Warner home office advertising and publicity department, after a short time with the United Detroit Theatres Corporation.

Here's the answer to the questions on pages 4 and 5 . . . There are

99 STARS IN VITAPHONE SHORTS

Each and every one a definite name draw from stage, radio or screen! Check this list with the photographs on pages 4 and 5 and see how many you identified correctly.

1	Ben Blue	34	Robert Barrat	67	Dawn O'Day
2	George Jessel	35	Gordon Westcott	68	E. M. Newman
3	Leon Errol	36	Hobart Cavanaugh	69	Harry Warren
4	Joe Penner	37	Janet Reade	70	Roy Turl
5	Hal LeRoy	38	Molly Picon	71	Walter Donaldson
6	Mitzi Mayfair	39	Lillian Roth	72, 73	Minor & Root
7	Hugh Herbert	40	Inez Courtney	74	George Blackwood
8	Patricia Ellis	41	George Givot	75	Dorothy Dare
9	Frank McHugh	42	Charles Judels	76	Gypsy Nina
10	Dorothy Stone	43	Borrah Minnevitch	77	Jack Fulton
11	Gertrude Niesen	44	Eddie Duchin	78	Vera Van
12	Roscoe Ails	45	Phil Spitalny	79	Lulu McConnell
13	Jack Haley	46	Vincent Lopez	80	Harry Gribbon
14, 15	Block and Sully	47	Abe Lyman	81	Lionel Stander
16	Ethel Waters	48	B. A. Rolfe	82	Shemp Howard
17	Gus Shy	49	Edgar Bergen	83	Claude Hopkins
18	Allen Jenkins	50	Jean Sargeant	84	J. Harold Murray
19	Tom Patricola	51	Isham Jones	85	Florence Lake
20	Jane Froman	52	Jeanne Aubert	86	Dorothy Lee
21	Queenie Smith	53	Stanley Smith	87, 88	Morton and Arthur Havel
22	Bill Robinson	54	Arthur Lake	89	Teddy Joyce
23	Ruth Etting	55	Dave Apollon	90	George Houston
24	"Fatty" Arbuckle	56	Sylvia Froos	91	Dudley Clements
25	Dave Rubinoff	57	Dr. Rockwell	92	Janet Rathbun
26, 27	Easy Aces	58	Olive Borden	93	George Meyer
28	Donald Novis	59	Fuzzy Knight	94	Charlie Nelson
29	Ruth Donnelly	60, 61	Mitchell and Durant	95	Kitty Kelly
30, 31	Ramon & Rosita	62	Norman Terris	96	Cora Witherspoon
32	Jack Denny	63	Georges Metaxa	97	Patsy Flick
33	Bernice Claire	64	Sigmund Spaeth	98	Roy Cummings
		65	Ben Pollock	99	Dewey Robinson
		66	Don Tomkins

WABASH AVENUE

CHICAGO

Clyde Eckhardt, temporary chairman in connection with the forming of a Variety club here, has named the following committee—housing and quartering: James E. Coston, Edward Grossman, Alan Usher, Edwin Silverman; constitution and bylaws; Morrie Leonard, Felix Mendelsohn, Walter Immerman, William Gehring, Irving Mandel; publicity: Herb Elisburg, Jack Osserman; ways and means: Henry Herbel, Barney Balaban, Aaron Jones, Jules Rubens, Jack Miller and Aaron Saperstein.

▽

The election last week of George J. Schaefer to the post of vice-president and general manager of Paramount brought promotion in its wake to two Paramounteers well known locally. Neil Agnew, the new general sales manager, was at one time district manager here. Charles Reagan steps from the post of local district manager to western division manager. Reagan will make his future headquarters in New York.

▽

A persistent rumor that another distributing company will take over Master Art Products is emphatically denied in a communication received by Harry Phillips, local manager, from E. Schwartz, president and general manager of Master Art.

▽

Offices of the Independent Theatre Owners Association will be opened shortly at 1018 S. Wabash Avenue, according to Eddie Brunnell and R. Christianson.

▽

In Chicago territory a final checkup of code assents reveals 448 assents received out of 915 theatres.

▽

Bob Templar, who has been managing the Courshon neighborhood theatres, will manage the Princess theatre in the loop when remodeling is completed. It is understood Sam Krimstein will succeed Templar with the Courshon houses.

▽

Ben Judell's office is "pointing with pride" to the fact that "Jack and the Beanstalk," first of the ComiColor cartoons, is set to play the Palace.

▽

The latest move in the loop first-run scramble is announcement of a cut in matinee prices by Jones, Linick & Schaefer at the State-Lake theatre, advertised as "lower summer prices."

▽

Irving Mack is considering sending his car to a nudist camp since it was stolen and subsequently recovered appropriately "stripped."

▽

Jack Goldhar, United Artists district manager, is in town over the weekend for conference with Sam Horowitz, local manager.

▽

Barney Balaban left Sunday for a trip to New York.

▽

The Leo Spitz whose name is frequently seen on local sport pages in connection with operation of the bobtail track at Aurora is none other than the same Leo Spitz who rode a high horse with Paramount during the Sam Katz regime and is now a member of the Illinois Racing Commission.

▽

Vita theatre at Galesburg, Ill., has been opened by Miles & Schippig.

▽

Earl Carroll breezed into town with a print of "Murder at the Vanities," which was screened at the Balaban & Katz projection room for press and company officials.

▽

Ed Fontaine, who succeeds Charles Reagan as local district manager for Paramount, will spend several days in town next week before officially assuming his new post, which will be around June 1.

HOLQUIST

ONCE to EVERY BACHELOR

with

MARIAN NIXON

NEIL HAMILTON

Aileen Pringle — William Austin

Raymond Hatton — Bradley Page

"Well spiced comedy-drama of a madcap honeymoon, with a hired bride and a millionaire bridegroom the central figures. William Nigh directed this laughter-and-tears story, suggested by Eleanor Gates' 'Search for the Spring.' A tonic for any box-office."

1934 LIBERTY PICTURES 1935

Joan Blondell Named Best Wampas Star Since 1931

Joan Blondell, Warner star, was voted the winner of the C. W. Nash Wampas achievement trophy at a dinner dance at the Elks Club, in Hollywood last week. The cup was donated for the best accomplishment of any Wampas baby star since 1931. Since the original selection Miss Blondell has appeared in numerous pictures. She is currently at work in "Dames," with Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler.

Paramount Ending Film Deal with Rivoli Theatre

Paramount will conclude a three-picture arrangement with the United Artists Rivoli theatre in New York with the booking of "Murder at the Vanities" at the house following "Sorrell and Son," a United Artists release. Previous Paramount pictures playing the Rivoli have been "Duck Soup" and "We're Not Dressing," currently playing there.

Warner Signs Connolly

Bobby Connolly, dance director and producer of musical shows, has been signed by Warner to a long term contract. He is expected to direct straight comedy features as well as musicals.

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of May 12

ASTOR
- Playful ..... United Artists

MAYFAIR
- A Mad House ..... Educational
- When Disaster Strikes ..... Fox
- The Pest ..... Universal

PARAMOUNT
- Paramount Pictorial—No. 10. Paramount

RKO MUSIC HALL
- The Land of Bengal ..... Fox
- Even as You and I ..... Roland Milton
- Strange As It Seems—No. 37. Universal

RIALTO
- New Deal Rhythm ..... Paramount
- Paramount Pictorial—No. 10. Paramount
- Can You Take It? ..... Paramount

RIVOLI
- A Journey in Flanders ..... Fox
- Mr. W's Little Game ..... Paramount
- Funny Little Bunnies ..... United Artists

ROXY
- Bugs in Love ..... United Artists
- Managed Money ..... Educational

STRAND
- Very Close Veins ..... Vitaphone
- Beauty and the Beast ..... Vitaphone

Two San Francisco Exchanges in New Quarters

Far West Exchanges, formerly located at 125 Hyde street, San Francisco, has moved to 221 Golden Gate avenue and E. Bruce Johnson has been made general manager, with Harry Carney continuing as sales manager.

Offices have been opened in the city by British Gaumont Pictures Corporation and by the General Register Corporation. The latter is in charge of Eric Muelberger.

Lang Moves Coast Transcription Studios

Freeman Lang has moved his transcription activities on the Coast from Larchmont Boulevard to 1343 North Gordon street, Hollywood, where additional space is available. The studios will include an audition room, stage unit, two studios with organ, pianos and necessary equipment. The west cost office of Radio Transcription Company of America will be quartered in the new building, with Ben Crose remaining in charge.

Film on Russia Arrives

The first of a series of films on Russia, produced by American Group, Inc., operating under a Soviet franchise, has arrived in this country, with others to follow. A new camera crew leaves shortly for Russia to produce a third of the series. No distribution arrangements have been completed as yet.

Cullman Term Expires June 15

The present term of Howard S. Cullman as receiver for the Roxy theatre in New York, expires June 15. Mr. Cullman is up for reappointment.

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

IN this, the exhibitors' own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me
MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway, New York

Columbia

ABOVE THE CLOUDS: Richard Cromwell, Dorothy Armstrong—Adventures of a news cameraman. Good enough. Played May 1-2.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

ABOVE THE CLOUDS: Robert Armstrong, Dorothy Wilson—A very good picture that pleased our patrons. Clean, wholesome, interest-holding entertainment. Running time, 67 minutes. Played Apr. 9-10.—E. D. Massey, Texas Theatre, Killeen, Texas. Small town patronage.

FIGHTING CODE, THE: Buck Jones—Better than the usual western. Some thought it the best Jones western yet. Played Apr. 27-28.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

FIGHTING CODE, THE: Buck Jones, Diane Sinclair—One of the best Buck Jones westerns we have played. Pleased our regular Saturday customers. Running time, 65 minutes. Played Apr. 27-28.—E. D. Massey, Texas Theatre, Killeen, Texas. Small town patronage.

FIGHTING RANGER, THE: Buck Jones, Dorothy Revier—Good action, western atmosphere. Picture for Saturday. Played May 5.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

FOG: Mary Brian, Donald Cook—Did not see this one, but operator told me that it was a fine picture of action type, but one of the worst prints he had run. Box-office okay on double bill. Running time, 69 minutes. Played Apr. 27-28.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

LET'S FALL IN LOVE: Ann Sothern, Edmund Lowe—While the two above named are billed as the leading characters, I believe the top honors should go to Gregory Ratoff. I note several exhibitors criticized this picture adversely, but to one of my depraved taste, it was really an entertaining little picture. One of the exhibitors stated Miss Sothern could neither sing nor act. If this is so, I must be color blind in both ears. I thought she could sing and I thought she could act, and she did both to the satisfaction of 80 per cent of my audience. One of the critics hails from my own state (though it is not really my state)—Miss Fordyce of Selma, La. I don't like to contradict a lady, but what you goin' to do, I ask you? One of us is wrong and it ain't me. Played Apr. 15.—Peter Bylsma, Victory Theatre, Napoleonville, La. Small town patronage.

SHADOWS OF SING SING: Cruce Cabot, Mary Brian—A good program picture. Did not draw extra business but seemed to please our regular customers. Running time, 65 minutes. Played Apr. 6-7.—E. D. Massey, Texas Theatre, Killeen, Texas. Small town patronage.

THRILL HUNTER, THE: Buck Jones—Buck is the best Friday bet I have.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

VOICE IN THE NIGHT: Tim McCoy, Billie Seward—A very good action picture for Saturday. We have found the Tim McCoy action pictures to be good and they draw as well as good westerns. Running time, 59 minutes. Played Apr. 20-21.—E. D. Massey, Texas Theatre, Killeen, Texas. Small town patronage.

Empire

MY WIFE'S MOTHER: Gene Gerrard—A bedroom society comedy suitable for grownups rather than the younger class of patron. It is a real good comedy, keeps the audience in good humor. Running time, 64 minutes. Played Apr. 27-28.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

First National

DARK HAZARD: Edward G. Robinson—Can't say much for this one. Sure thought that this was a waste of my customers' time to sit this out. Did fair business. Running time, 72 minutes.—E. M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis. General patronage.

FASHIONS OF 1934: William Powell, Bette Davis, Frank McHugh—This one puts another star in the crown for Warners. They certainly give us the shows. Here is one of the greatest pictures ever produced. It is different from the usual type of musical. It has more story value and a good love twist. Full of everything you could want in a picture and is sure to please the entire audience. The gorgeous gowns and costumes in the picture are the most superb, elaborate ever put in pictures. Full of romance, comedy and beautiful girls. This is A-1 entertainment from start to finish but for some reason it was a flop here for business. Probably the title was responsible. However, if you advertise it and get the cooperation of your local merchants, you should do a tremendous business on it. You can bet your patrons will like it. Running time, 78 minutes. Played Apr. 30-May 1.—J. I. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, N. C. General patronage.

FASHIONS OF 1934: William Powell, Bette Davis—About the poorest picture for a special I have run in over a year. Did very poor business. Running time, 77 minutes.—E. M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis. General patronage.

FASHIONS OF 1934: William Powell, Bette Davis—Wonderful production. Cannot fail to satisfy. Lots of new entertainment angles.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

FEMALE: Ruth Chatterton—A very good picture of which every inch is as modern as it can be. Miss Chatterton turns in an excellent performance and gets more than splendid support from George Brent. Played May 1-2.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

I LOVED A WOMAN: Edward G. Robinson, Kay Francis—Good. Goes back to the "Gay Nineties" but holds the interest right through to the last reel. Kay Francis is very good. My Family Night patrons all liked this one. Running time, 90 minutes. Played Apr. 4-5.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

MASSACRE: Richard Barthelmess, Ann Dvorak—A good picture to run on your action day. Ran this on a Friday and Saturday and did good business. Running time, 69 minutes.—E. M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis. General patronage.

SHE HAD TO SAY YES: Loretta Young—Good show which pleased the women.—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Racine, Ideal Theatre, Burns, Ore. Small town patronage.

SON OF A SAILOR: Joe E. Brown—Advertise this one to the sky. Joe in his best picture. Just a laugh riot, which is what they want. Excellent shots on the battleship. They all liked this one. Running time, 73 minutes. Played Apr. 18-19.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

SON OF A SAILOR: Joe E. Brown—Like all Joe E. Brown's picture, it pleased everyone. Joe always gives us good clean fun.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

YOU SAID A MOUTHFUL: Joe E. Brown—Old but refreshing, as it had no connection with the depressing, disgusting best sellers now being made into pictures, much to the pain of the folk hereabout, who still venture to buy tickets. Play this, boys, 'ere they junk the prints.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

WORLD CHANGES, THE: Paul Muni—A great picture, especially if you have had the luck to play "Scarface" ahead of this, for that was a great boost for this star. We had "Scarface" cancelled by the censor, so failed to get the publicity it takes to put him over. The title doesn't mean a thing but it is a wonderful picture. Go out for it. Running time, 90 minutes. Played Apr. 23-24.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

Fox

BOTTOMS UP: Spencer Tracy, John Boles, "Pat" Patterson—Excellent entertainment. More like this, Mr. Producer, and the exhibitors will be smiling. It's clean. Pat Patterson did not have the opportunity to sing, if she can sing. She sings once but under unfavorable conditions. Boles sings three times and it was good to hear him again. Played May 3-4.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

DEVIL TIGER: Kane Richmond—And the villain still pursued her. Comes now a bold explorer, the misunderstood hero, the sweet young thing in knee panties, a mascot about eight years old, now the trek through the far flung jungles of Hollywood. Ferocious fights between the animals and the referee pronounced them all a draw. Curses, the villain wants the girls, she slaps him down and flees to the hero. What is this? Hero in the coils of a rubber python, dead shot sweeties to the rescue, bang, and another python bites the dust. Eight year old mascot swimming like Johnny Weissmuller ahead of the crocodile. In an animal picture, must they always have some one in jeopardy from the crocodile? The largest slice of ham production that has passed our screen for some time. And they stopped Ingagai.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

DR. BULL: Will Rogers, Marian Nixon—The usual excellent picture we always expect from Rogers. Rogers can certainly portray the small town character. Beautiful scenes. Liked by 100 per cent. Running time, 77 minutes. Played Mar. 28-29.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

FRONTIER MARSHAL: George O'Brien—Good western. Plenty of comedy and action. Did good business. Running time, 66 minutes.—E. M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis. General patronage.

GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS: Cliff Edwards, Jimmy Durante, Alice Faye—This musical is the best we have had in two years. The critics have panned it for some unknown reason, perhaps because White is new to pictures. Every word they have said is untrue. It is much better than the musicals they raved about. Play it and step on it with all you have and it will deliver. The regulars might hire White to give them lessons and White should make us more shows. We need this man in Hollywood permanently. Alice Faye is a potential star and I am prejudiced against blondes at that. Aside from his voice Vallee is so poor he is good.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatre, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

HOOPLA: Clara Bow—Personally, I thought this a poor picture without a single redeeming sequence but my patrons all seemed to like it so I must be a poor judge. Got a lot of poor prints and had to eliminate one reel entirely. Running time, 78 minutes. Played Apr. 11-12.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

I AM SUZANNE: Lilian Harvey, Gene Raymond—Some of our people thought it had too much of the puppet shows in it but it's different at least. A good picture from Fox again. Play it. Played May 5-6.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

I AM SUZANNE!: Lilian Harvey, Gene Raymond—This had been recommended so highly by other exhibitors that I was disappointed in it. The marionettes are great but it was too long. Pleased the kiddies and most of the women but the men thought it tiresome.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

I AM SUZANNE!: Lilian Harvey—A very good picture. Good for family trade and did a nice business. Running time, 100 minutes.—E. M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis. General patronage.

MAD GAME, THE: Spencer Tracy, Claire Trevor—Did not draw. Men liked this but the story seemed very weak to us. Cast not good.—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Racine, Ideal Theatre, Burns, Ore. Small town patronage.

MR. SKITCH: Will Rogers, Zasu Pitts—Will Rogers always brings them in and "Mr. Skitch" will please them. Played Sun.-Mon.—Henry Sparks, Grand Theatre, Cooper, Texas. Small town and rural patronage.

MR. SKITCH: Will Rogers, Zasu Pitts—Will Rogers and Zasu Pitts make a very good team. It is entertaining all the way through and there is some very beautiful scenery in it. It will do very good business and will please almost every one. Played Apr. 24-25.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

MR. SKITCH: Will Rogers, Zazu Pitts—We thought this one of Rogers' best but not enough Rogers in it. Pleased 100 per cent. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Apr. 29-30.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

MY LIPS BETRAY: Lilian Harvey, John Boles—Cute, clever, musical, classy and built up on third day. Harvey okay in this town. Running time, 79 minutes. Played Apr. 22-23-24.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

MY WEAKNESS: Lilian Harvey, Lew Ayres—A good show that surprised us. Our patrons liked this and went out of their way to tell us so. The audience laughed nearly all the time, which is always a good sign.—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Racine, Ideal Theatre, Burns, Ore. Small town patronage.

POWER AND THE GLORY, THE: Spencer Tracy, Colleen Moore—This was a flop here. Did not draw and people did not like it. The story was too disjointed to be interesting. Introduces a new system of story telling which our patrons most thoroughly disliked.—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Racine, Ideal Theatre, Burns, Ore. Small town patronage.

SLEEPERS EAST: Wynne Gibson, Preston Foster—This is the kind of entertainment that keeps me interested. I call it a swell show. Was as much interested the fourth time I saw it as the first. This is unusual. The public must not have thought so much of it, however, because the business was poor. It followed "The Cat and the Fiddle" and I can only expect one good night per week. Running time, 69 minutes. Played Apr. 25.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

SMOKY: Victor Jory, Irene Bentley—Did not see this one but reports and box-office records say okay. Running time, 69 minutes. Played Apr. 27-28.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

SMOKY: Victor Jory, Irene Bentley—If they gave this horse the leading roles in some of our dramas it would improve them. Equine connoisseurs (how do you spell connoisseurs?) ate this up. Very lucrative and highly eulogized by patrons of local little theatre movement.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatre, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

WALLS OF GOLD: Sally Eilers, Norman Foster—Drew well and pleased.—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Racine, Ideal Theatre, Burns, Ore. Small town patronage.

MGM

BEAUTY FOR SALE: Otto Kruger, Alice Brady—Otto Kruger and Alice Brady did the principal acting. Picture was fair, while box-office $10.80, so everyone is happy. Both picture and exhibitor deserved better patronage, but I don't want to start an argument. "The customer is always right," even when he stays "right" at home. Played Apr. 11.—Peter Bylsma, Victory Theatre, Napoleonville, La. Small town patronage.

CAT AND THE FIDDLE, THE: Jeanette MacDonald, Ramon Novarro—Picture too slow and too long. Do not think that these two team up so well. Novarro's voice is low and MacDonald's is so high that in a few spots in the picture the sound is not so hot. Did better than average. Running time, 87 minutes.—E. M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis. General patronage.

DINNER AT EIGHT: All Star—Too highbrow or something for a small town. People watched for this show for weeks and then were disappointed when they saw it. It failed to click with the average person. They like shows with an absorbing story, which this most certainly is not. The acting and cast are perfect, but the ending is too abrupt and leaves an unsatisfied feeling. Nevertheless we believe every theatre should run this. Your patrons will wonder if you don't since it is so highly advertised. They will surely get their money's worth and they won't miss seeing it since they have heard so much about it.—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Racine, Ideal Theatre, Burns, Ore. Small town patronage.

FUGITIVE LOVERS: Robert Montgomery, Madge Evans—This is honey for the small town. An entirely new locale, a cross country bus. Packed with thrills, comedy and romance. Montgomery's best for a long time, and don't forget Nat Pendleton as the heavy villain. An all around good program picture. Pleased 100 per cent. Played Apr. 7-8.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

GOING HOLLYWOOD: Marion Davies, Bing Crosby—Another from Leo. Good story, good music, good song hits and good photography. The dancing is especially good. Running time, 79 minutes. Played Apr. 21-22.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

GOING HOLLYWOOD: Bing Crosby, Marion Davies—Very satisfactory all around. Misnamed, as they usually go very much further in Hollywood. However, it was liked and did a satisfactory business in the local swamp.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

ANOTHER QUARTET JOINS REPORTERS

Four more exhibitors who this week join the army of reporters on product they have shown, in "What the Picture Did for Me," are:

Earle D. Massey, Texas Theatre, Killeen, Texas;

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Racine, Ideal Theatre, Burns, Oregon;

L. D. Brown, Queen Theatre, Brownwood, Texas;

Erma L. Raeburn, Arcade Theatre, Newell, South Dakota.

Read their reports in this issue.

GOING HOLLYWOOD: Marion Davies, Bing Crosby—A good picture. Not big but will give satisfaction. The best Davies picture in a long time. Running time, 78 minutes. E. M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis. General patronage.

HELL BELOW: Robert Montgomery—A marvelous picture. Our patrons praised it highly. Did not draw as we expected, due perhaps to the fact that it was so old when we ran it.—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Racine, Ideal Theatre, Burns, Ore. Small town patronage.

HER SWEETHEART (CHRISTOPHER BEAN): Marie Dressler—This is a good one. Marie's best work since "Tugboat Annie." A good story and well directed. Business poor on account of weather. Should be a good draw anywhere. Running time, 87 minutes. Played Apr. 30-May 1.—L. D. Brown, Queen Theatre, Brownwood, Texas. General patronage.

HOLD YOUR MAN: Jean Harlow, Clark Gable—Good picture. Old, but my patrons liked it fine and said so.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

LAUGHING BOY: Ramon Novarro, Lupe Velez—Why was the picture ever allowed to be shown anywhere. Lupe is an educated Indian, a prostitute, from beginning to end. This picture killed her here and I hope I'll never have her on the screen again. Why any woman would take such a part is beyond me. Played May 6-7.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

PRIZEFIGHTER AND THE LADY, THE: Max Baer, Myrna Loy—Went over in a big way. Pleased all the men and most of the women. I don't like prizefights and I don't like Max Baer, but if it is what my patrons want, it is O. K. with me. No complaints about this one. Running time, 102 minutes. Played Apr. 14-15.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

QUEEN CHRISTINA: Greta Garbo—Our public has always been divided on the subject of Garbo but not in this picture. Magnificently produced. Garbo right at the peak of her ability all the way through the picture. Great in sets, great in drama, splendid picture, all in all. It's a great sweep through the historical time that it was based upon. Gilbert is the one weak spot in the picture. His voice is no better than it was and he is showing his age. With his failure at the box-office in previous pictures, I did not mention him as in support for that reason.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

QUEEN CHRISTINA: Greta Garbo—A class picture well acted and produced. Thought it the best talking picture Garbo has made. Failed to do the business expected. Running time, 98 minutes.—E. M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis. General patronage.

RIPTIDE: Norma Shearer, Robert Montgomery, Herbert Marshall—Good but not as good as some of her former pictures. Played Apr. 29-30.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

SHOULD LADIES BEHAVE?: Lionel Barrymore—This may be O. K. for Broadway, but it is the bunk for Main Street in a country town. Alice Brady's Tennyson's Brook tongue was amusing the first eight minutes but decidedly tiresome the next 70. Barrymore is good, but the other characters are weak and the story did not click. Don't think this one pleased anyone. Running time, 78 minutes. Played Mar. 31-Apr. 1.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

SHOULD LADIES BEHAVE?: Lionel Barrymore, Alice Brady—Good entertainment with lots of laughs. A little drawn out in spots but pleased our patrons. Good enough for any theatre.—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Racine, Ideal Theatre, Burns, Ore. Small town patronage.

STAGE MOTHER: Alice Brady, Maureen O'Sullivan—Great entertainment. Has what it takes to make a good picture. Everyone liked it here, all stars good. Has music and stage settings too that appeal to the patrons. Running time, 84 minutes. Played Apr. 25-26.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

YOU CAN'T BUY EVERYTHING: May Robson—One of the best program pictures I have ever played on a Sunday and sorry to say it did the poorest Sunday I have had in over a year. Running time, 83 minutes.—E. M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis. General patronage.

YOU CAN'T BUY EVERYTHING: May Robson, Jean Parker—This makes four Metro pictures in a row to lose money for me. May Robson means nothing in this town's life. No business.—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

YOU CAN'T BUY EVERYTHING: May Robson, Lewis Stone, Jean Parker—Here is one of the sweetest pictures of all time, but will not draw any business. If you are successful in getting them in, you can rest assured that they will be pleased. This is the type of story for Marie Dressler and if she starred it probably would have been another box-office natural. Acting wonderful and pleased all that saw it. Played one day to poor business. Running time, 85 minutes. Played Apr. 19.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

Monogram

DEVIL'S MATE: Preston Foster, Peggy Shannon—A very good murder mystery picture, which pleased almost every one. Some thought it too good to run on Serial Night. Miss Shannon and Foster very good. Played Apr. 26.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

SAGEBRUSH TRAIL: John Wayne—A western with plenty of thrills, and John Wayne is capable of this picture and lots better ones, too. Box-office took a jump on this and did better than average last three days of week.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

SKYWAY: Ray Walker, Kathryn Crawford—A very good picture which seemed to please the majority. It has plenty of action and wisecracks and is very entertaining. Played May 3.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

Paramount

BOLERO: George Raft, Carole Lombard—A pretty good and well made picture, with Raft as a dance team man in Paris. Later in the trenches and then back to Paris dance halls for a rather sad ending. Some beautiful music. Sally Rand's fan dance quite innocent on the screen, at least. Running time, 80 minutes. Played Apr. 29-30.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

CRADLE SONG: Dorothea Wieck—Pleased women and Catholics especially. Men as a rule didn't like it. Your campaign should emphasize the mother love angle as this will appeal to women who will naturally make up the majority of your crowd.—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Racine, Ideal Theatre, Burns, Ore. Small town patronage.

COME ON, MARINES: Richard Arlen, Ida Lupino—This is a very good comedy drama with plenty of thrills and action. The story of love and adventure with plenty of romance and good comedy. An ideal type of Saturday show for the small town where westerns usually run. The excellent supporting cast practically puts the show over and adds much to the entertainment value. Played on Saturday (one day) to good business and pleased all. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Apr. 28.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

DESIGN FOR LIVING: Miriam Hopkins, Fredric March, Gary Cooper—Finding a couple of old brackets lying around loose, I utilized them to insert a very appropriate word in the title, "Design for (Immoral) Living," the author, Mr. Coward, must have overlooked. Now this particular author, according to reports, is quite an intellectual person, but I strongly suspect he used his second run intellect when he authored this one. If I were the grand jury, I would return a wholesale indictment against the following: The author, the Paramount Corporation, the director and the leading characters, who, incidentally, seemed to forget there was any such thing as a "character." Fredric March, Miriam Hopkins and Gary Cooper formed a triangle (let us hope not eternal), gaily and brazenly violated every moral law in their dealings with each other, while Edward Everett Horton, who tried to be decent, only succeeded in being silly. Each transgression being regarded as a huge joke, but lotta wisecracks lose much of their humor on the way from the author to the ultimate consumer. Oh, well, let's call it a class picture. No, brothers, it does not belong in the bible class. If some unknown author had written this story, he would still be an unknown quantity. And that's that. Played Apr. 22.—Pete Bylsma, Victory Theatre, Napoleonville, La. Small town patronage.

DUCK SOUP: Four Marx Brothers—Pleased the Marx Brothers' fans but the rest of the people thought it was silly. We thought it their best picture to date. Had more walkouts on this picture than any other we have run for months. It seems they have played themselves out, especially with the small town audience.—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Racine, Ideal Theatre, Burns, Ore. Small town patronage.

DUCK SOUP: Four Marx Brothers—Did a little less business than other Marx Brothers' pictures. Thought the picture about the same as the others. Running time, 70 minutes.—E. M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis. General patronage.

DUCK SOUP: Four Marx Brothers—Sunday matinee and night crowd ate this up but the jaded Monday night crowd hardly gave it a laugh, which shows that this picture will be just as good from an entertainment standpoint as your crowd makes it. The boys work hard and it is a great production. What is better still, they have plenty of box-office pull. Four Marx Brothers, don't quit making pictures.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

EIGHT GIRLS IN A BOAT: Dorothy Wilson, Kay Johnson—A woman's picture. Fine story, perfect cast and really good acting. Some men walked out but women and young people were high in their praise. This boy, Douglass Montgomery, has personality. Our patrons like him.—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Racine, Ideal Theatre, Burns, Ore. Small town patronage.

EIGHT GIRLS IN A BOAT: Kay Johnson, Dorothy Wilson—"I'm going to have a baby" in the second reel. These remarks are very unpopular here and a few more pictures of this kind will be enough to start the blue noses trying to close me Sundays. Running time, 78 minutes. Played Apr. 25-26.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre. Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

FOUR FRIGHTENED PEOPLE: Claudette Colbert, Herbert Marshall—Absolutely nothing to it. No excuse for making it. Tramping through swamps and canebreaks for an hour and a half. No entertainment to it. Played May 5.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

FOUR FRIGHTENED PEOPLE: Claudette Colbert, Herbert Marshall—Another surprise package. Many exhibitors reported bad business with this one. We had better than average business and put it on cold last three days of the week. The thing is very unusual and makes interesting screen entertainment.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

HELL AND HIGH WATER: Richard Arlen—Good entertainment with lots of laughs. Arlen is well liked here. His acting is natural.—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Racine, Ideal Theatre, Burns, Ore. Small town patronage.

I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West, Cary Grant—Drew a lot of extra business as we expected it would from reports. This deserves all the praise it has been given. Mae West is fine and surely knows how to get the laughs! Pleased practically all, but naturally got a few complaints which can only be attributed to jealousy. Of course, these were from women. This star's landslide popularity must be deserved.—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Racine, Ideal Theatre, Burns, Ore. Small town patronage.

LAST ROUND-UP, THE: Randolph Scott—Another good western with music included in the theme song, the "Last Roundup" or "Get Along Little Dogie Git Along." We did better with this on a weekend than for some weeks previous. Running time, 62 minutes. Played Apr. 27-28.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

LAST ROUND-UP, THE: Randolph Scott—Fair picture that did the best Sunday business I have done this year. The song is only worked into the picture once. Running time, 61 minutes.—E. M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis. General patronage.

SHE MADE HER BED: Sally Eilers, Richard Arlen—Paramount has made better but it is rather a good picture. It has some clever wise-cracks and Sally Eilers is good in her role. One scene could have been left out, where Armstrong puts the baby up against the tiger cage, which naturally terrified it and which an audience does not want, if I know my public.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

SITTING PRETTY: Jack Haley, Jack Oakie, Ginger Rogers—This one does not rank up with the better class musicals that have been released this year before this. While cast with excellent players, somehow the thing just wears you out to sit through it, and if I felt that way, what do you think the paying customers thought about it? I opened to good Sunday matinee to less than average Sunday night. Paramount, don't try to load so much on Jack Oakie again. He is good but not that good.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

SIX OF A KIND: Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland, W. C. Fields—Now this is an example of what gag men will do if there is nobody to restrain them. Let it prove a lesson. Even at that the financiers worked in the customary crooks and just a hint of smut. Ah, Hollywood! Hollywood! How can you. No dice on this'n.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

SUNSET PASS: Randolph Scott, Tom Keene—Kathleen Burke made a very acceptable feminine lead. Paramount does not make many westerns, but those they do produce are both interesting and instructive. Played Apr. 14.—Peter Bylsma, Victory Theatre, Napoleonville, La. Small town patronage.

TAKE A CHANCE: James Dunn, June Knight—Fair entertainment. Why do the studios engage expensive talent and then try to make these people try

A Short You Can't BUY!

ATLAS FILMS

Presents

(AT NO COST TO YOU)

Chicago's 1934 Century of Progress

(a complete sound film)

NARRATED BY JEAN PAUL KING

100% Entertainment~No Advertising

A FEW OF THE HIGHLIGHTS:

1. Outstanding new and old attractions of the Fair.
2. Wayne King and his Band playing at the famous Aragon Ballroom.
3. The Chicago Cubs in action.
4. Thrilling shots at Chicago's famous race tracks.
5. Informal shots of Edward Kelly, Mayor of Chicago, and General Rufus Dawes, President of A Century of Progress.
6. Michigan Avenue, world famous boulevard. Scenes along Chicago's lake front and its beautiful park systems.

The millions who are planning to visit the 1934 Century of Progress will welcome this advanced information of what to expect. Therefore, you owe it to your patrons to show this fascinating travelogue at the earliest possible date.

HOW TO GET IT

Write immediately for particulars giving three optional dates upon which you want print.

Apply to

ATLAS EDUCATIONAL FILM COMPANY

1111 SOUTH BOULEVARD OAK PARK, ILLINOIS

(Suburb of Chicago)

to do other things that they can't do so well? June Knight is noted for her dancing. She didn't dance in this show but tried to sing, which was fair, and tried to act, which was worse. Charles (Buddy) Rogers is noted for his ability to play musical instruments. He didn't play an instrument. He just barely got by trying to sing and any acting he tries to do is laughable.—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Racine, Ideal Theatre, Burns, Ore. Small town patronage.

TAKE A CHANCE: James Dunn, June Knight—Personally, considered this an excellent picture. However, it failed to click at the box-office. Perhaps we played it too late. We received considerable praise from the small crowd that came to see it. Running time, 80 minutes. Played Apr. 15-16.—E. D. Massey, Texas Theatre, Killeen, Texas. Small town patronage.

TOO MUCH HARMONY: Bing Crosby—One of the finest musicals yet. Far better than "Forty-Second Street" in our estimation. Better songs and acting and a much better story. Judith Allen is one of the most attractive girls on the screen. Our patrons went for this in a big way. Crosby gets better with every picture. Good enough for your very best nights.—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Racine, Ideal Theatre, Burns, Ore. Small town patronage.

TRUMPET BLOWS, THE: George Raft, Adolphe Menjou, Frances Drake—This might be suitable for third or fourth rate house in the city, but certainly not for the small town. Not much to it to begin with, and am fed up with the hero and heroine becoming intimate. Why the producers have to put this in so many pictures is beyond me. Played Apr. 26-27.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

WAY TO LOVE, THE: Maurice Chevalier, Ann Dvorak—Good show that pleased nearly all who saw it, which wasn't many. Chevalier's drawing power is practically nothing here.—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Racine, Ideal Theatre, Burns, Ore. Small town patronage.

WAY TO LOVE, THE: Maurice Chevalier, Ann Dvorak—Very entertaining picture and pleased the few that came to see it. We have not been able to put this star over in our town. Did not gross film rental. Running time, 84 minutes. Played Apr. 22-23.—E. D. Massey, Texas Theatre, Killeen, Texas. Small town patronage.

RKO

ACE OF ACES: Richard Dix—The young fellows seemed to like this picture very much. The burning and wrecking planes were quite thrilling, but somehow the picture as a whole did not impress me as the somewhat similar picture, "Central Airport." Dix is not as convincing as Barthelmess, and the heroine—who was she? Oh, yes, Elizabeth Allen—her acting leaves a confused blur in my mind, while I cannot forget Sally Eilers' convincing vitality in the latter picture.—Erma L. Raeburn, Arcade Theatre, Newell, S. D. General patronage.

ANN VICKERS: Irene Dunne, Walter Huston—I didn't like this picture. I could feel my face burning with embarrasment as I watched it. It was too immoral to appeal to the better class of patrons, and too slow to appeal to the younger set. I could hear a vague restlessness in the theatre as the picture was shown, which meant folks were bored. Irene Dunne was beautiful but that is all I can say for the picture. I did not live the picture, but felt as though I was looking at some folks in a picture book and hearing a lot of talking going on at the same time. If all Irene Dunne pictures are like that, we never wish to show another one.—Erma L. Raeburn, Arcade Theatre, Newell, S. D. General patronage.

AGGIE APPLEBY, MAKER OF MEN: Wynne Gibson, Charles Farrell—Just a fair comedy. It seemed to make fun of being virtuous and the moral for young people was pointing the wrong way, it seemed to me. For instance, Wyne Gibson runs around in her scanties before the shocked Charles Farrell, and remarks as she jumps in his bed that people "don't think anything of that any more."—Erma L. Raeburn, Arcade Theatre, Newell, S. D. General patronage.

CHANCE AT HEAVEN: Joel McCrea, Ginger Rogers—Had plenty of compliments on this "homey" little picture. It struck just the right chord to please all.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

CHANCE AT HEAVEN: Joel McCrea, Ginger Rogers—Some thought this a terrible picture, immoral and all that, but our folks enjoyed the hominess and humor of it. The sprightly wit of Ginger Rogers is most refreshing in this picture. Joel McCrea in his eager boyishness and Marian Nixon as a pretty little spoiled pet of a dominating mother seems perfectly human and understandable. There is nothing in the picture that one could term suggestive.—Erma L. Raeburn, Arcade Theatre, Newell, S. D. General patronage.

FLAMING GOLD: Bill Boyd—We got a few extras in on this because of the story at the oil fields, as we are just on the edge of the Michigan oil belt. Pretty short for a feature. Our ladies didn't care for it. Played May 3-4.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

HIPS, HIPS, HOORAY!: Wheeler and Woolsey—Another KRO special that I did not make expenses on. Had been shown all around here ahead of me but do not think it would have gone over anyway. Good music, and the auto race is rather exciting, but not a special. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Apr. 28-29.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

IF I WERE FREE!: Irene Dunne, Nils Asther, Clive Brook—RKO has had a lot of "mine" run pictures and a few good ones. Nobody could have really planned this one. It is just an unfortunate happening. Did not please even on a double bill. Running time, 66 minutes. Played May 4-5.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore, Dorothy Jordan—A very fine picture, one that you can be proud to show. This picture appealed to young and old, ignorant and sophisticated. The only reason it was not as good as "Lady for a Day" was because it did not have Guy Kibbee in it.—Erma L. Raeburn, Arcade Theatre, Newell, S. D. General patronage.

RAFTER ROMANCE: Ginger Rogers, Norman Foster—This picture drew well and many seemed to enjoy it. It is advertised as a "Laughter Romance" and our crowd seems to like light comedies as well as westerns. Ginger Rogers is attractive in this picture, but not cast with as many wisecracks as in "Chance at Heaven."—Erma L. Raeburn, Arcade Theatre, Newell, S. D. General patronage.

RIGHT TO ROMANCE, THE: Ann Harding—Good. Harding's best so far as my patrons are concerned.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

SING AND LIKE IT: Zasu Pitts, Edward Everett Horton—Pretty good comedy drama of the gangster chieftain, who falls for Zasu's voice, even if it is a terrible one, and uses unique methods to get her a featured spot for her mother song. Ned Sparks, as the gangster's lieutenant, drew much laughter. Pleased Friday and Saturday patrons. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Apr. 27-28.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

SON OF KONG: Robert Armstrong, Helen Mack—The children liked it, but just so much wasted film for the grownups. Played on a double program and it got by. Running time, 70 minutes. Played May 4-5.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

SON OF KONG: Robert Armstrong and Helen Mack—Not much to this. No drawing card at the box-office. Running time, 72 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

SON OF KONG: Robert Armstrong—Not nearly as good as "King Kong" but will please the Saturday night crowd. Quite exciting.—Harold Smith, Dreamland Theatre, Carson, Iowa. Rural patronage.

SPITFIRE: Katharine Hepburn, Ralph Bellamy—Drew and pleased extra business. Miss Hepburn does splendid work. Running time, 88 minutes. Played Apr. 22-23.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

DON'T TRUST TO LUCK

Be Prepared When That Unsuspected Breakdown Arrives

Richardson's Handbooks on Projection are assurance of ready remedies and quick repairs.

All phases of projection and sound are minutely explained in the three volumes.

Volumes 1 and 2..$ 6.20
Volume 3..... 5.10
Combination.... 10.20

Remittance must accompany order unless you order shipment C.O.D.

QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP

1790 Broadway
New York, N. Y.

State Rights

GUILTY PARENTS: This is the best sex picture we have ever shown and pleased the audience better. Recording was also good. Will please the men mostly. Played May 2-3.—L. D. Brown, Queen Theatre, Brownwood, Texas. General patronage.

Universal

BELOVED: John Boles, Gloria Stuart—I thought this a very good picture, but the younger generation don't care for what they call "those old fashioned costumes." There seems to be a widespread demand for modern settings and happy endings. This, however, was not too sad. But deliver me from those pictures that wind up by the leading man or woman doing to the electric chair. In this one Karl died happy (if that is possible). Played Apr. 29.—Peter Bylsma, Victory Theatre, Napoleonville, La. Small town patronage.

BOMBAY MAIL: Edmund Lowe, Onslow Stevens—A two way mystery: Who killed Cock Robin? And where were people hibernating? Our people, I mean. Ah, I have it, it was Friday the 13th. Anyhow, it's a fairly good picture. Played Apr. 13.—Peter Bylsma, Victory Theatre, Napoleonville, La. Small town patronage.

BY CANDLELIGHT: Elissa Landi, Paul Lukas—A clever comedy, but ruined by a name that served to keep people away rather than bring them in. Universal pictures are good but they certainly have some titles that mean absolutely nothing. Running time, 80 minutes. Played May 2-3.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

INVISIBLE MAN, THE: Claude Rains—A wonderful picture but did not draw any business for us. It is of the horror type and one of the best of its kind ever put on the market. It is entirely new and different from anything we have seen before. This was a special on our contract and it broke all house records for poor business for any show—special or others. Too bad such a picture as this should be a business flop. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Apr. 26-27.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

INVISIBLE MAN, THE: Claude Rains—This is a wonderful picture. Cannot be classed as a cheap mystery. I call it a very remarkable production—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

LOVE BIRDS, THE: Slim Summerville, Zasu Pitts—Good Saturday entertainment. Clean, lots of laughs. Played Apr. 28.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

LOVE BIRDS, THE: Slim Summerville, Zasu Pitts—A fair comedy that will please. Running time, 62 minutes.—E. M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis.

MADAME SPY: Fay Wray, Nils Asther—Clean, entertaining tale of spy activities of foreign nations during World War. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Apr. 20-21.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

SATURDAY'S MILLIONS: Robert Young, Leila Hyams—A very good football picture. Played this as a benefit program one day and drew good attendance. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Apr. 26.—E. D. Massey, Texas Theatre, Killeen, Texas.

TERROR TRAIL: Tom Mix—This was a very good western. Tom Mix was better than usual. Seemed to please the audience. Running time, 56 minutes. Played Apr. 27-28.—L. D. Brown, Queen Theatre, Brownwood, Texas. General patronage.

UNCERTAIN LADY: Edward Everett Horton, Genevieve Tobin—Sophisticated slush dialogued to death. Too many of the same sort and when you want a little action in your pictures, you have to revert to westerns. I wish they would take some of them out of doors again instead of these one-set pictures. The picture is clever enough but who the hell wants all talk today.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

Warner

COLLEGE COACH: Dick Powell, Pat O'Brien, Ann Dvorak—Lively from start to finish, as college football generally is. Incidentally, it is a sort of expose of the methods sometimes employed by colleges to retain good football material for physical reasons. Even though this material is intellectually weak, brain and brawn do not always travel the same road or inhabit the same body or head. Some of the best football players are on prison teams, not that they are in prison for this reason. It seems to be a well established fact, however, that inmates of some of our leading pens are very athletic. But all this has nothing to do with the picture above mentioned, which was indeed excellent. Played May 2.—Peter Bylsma, Victory Theatre, Napoleonville, La. Small town patronage.

HI, NELLIE!: Paul Muni—One of the best all around audience pictures made this season, with good comedy spots here and there. Business average. Running time, 75 minutes.—E. M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis. General patronage.

I'VE GOT YOUR NUMBER: Joan Blondell, Pat O'Brien—Good program picture with plenty of action and comedy. Picture will interest telephone workers. Running time, 68 minutes.—E. M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis. General patronage.

NARROW CORNER, THE: Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.—Drew well and pleased nearly all. Story seemed to us to be rather morbid and weak but as long as the public liked it we were satisfied. Why isn't young Doug put in some really good shows? He has been placed in some of the silliest situations on the screen, but his acting ability and exceptional charm have carried him through with flying colors. He is worthy of the best. He is much better liked here than many of the supposedly top-notch stars.—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Racine, Ideal Theatre, Burns, Ore. Small town patronage.

SOMEWHERE IN SONORA: John Wayne—While this is very entertaining and the people in this town like John Wayne, it did not draw in the afternoon, but did a big business at night. Running time, 56 minutes. Played Apr. 28.—L. D. Brown, Queen Theatre, Brownwood, Texas. General patronage.

Short Features

Columbia

CAMPING OUT: Scrappy Cartoons—Not so good. Running time, one reel.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

Educational

BEANSTALK JACK: Terry-Toons—Good cartoon. Best we have had from Educational. Running time, eight minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

DOCTOR, THE: Song Hit Stories—Very good, but not termed as entertainment. Running time, one reel.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

FROZEN ASSETS: Andy Clyde Comedies—Good two-reel comedy. A lot of laughs and unusually clean. Running time, 19 minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

GYPSY FIDDLER, A: Terry-Toons—Fair cartoon. Film in bad shape. Running time, six minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

HOOKS AND JABS: Harry Langdon—Here is the best comedy we have shown in Baldwin for a long time. Play it.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

STAGE HAND, THE: Harry Langdon—Fair comedy. Recording seemed to be scratchy. Running time, two reels.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

THREE BEARS, THE: Terry-Toon Cartoon—Extra good.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

MGM

CALL HER SAUSAGE: Taxi Boys—How many more of these awful shorts will MGM wish off on the long suffering public? No one could be as dumb as they are, unless it is the exhibitor who bought them. Rotten!—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

CARETAKER'S DAUGHTER: All-Star Comedies—Better than some, not as good as others. Will get by. Running time, two reels.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

DAY IN VENICE: FitzPatrick Traveltalks—This is a very interesting and educational one-reeler showing many beautiful and historic scenes in the city of Venice. The Grand Canal with its many gondolas and overhead bridges affords the main topic of discussion. Running time, ten minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

BLOCKS AND TACKLES: Sport Champions—A good one about football.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

BRITISH GUIANA: FitzPatrick Travel Talks—Very entertaining. Fills a spot worthy of note on any bill. Appeals to young and old alike. Running time, nine minutes.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

GOOFY MOVIES (No. 1): Very good entertainment and comedy. The explanatory remarks by Smith furnish the comedy and he is good. Running time, eight minutes.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

HIS SILENT RACKET: Charley Chase—I couldn't see much entertainment in this one but it got quite a few laughs. Running time, two reels.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

ME AND MY PAL: Laurel and Hardy—Laurel and Hardy are popular here and got the usual laughs. Running time, two reels.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

ME AND MY PAL: Laurel and Hardy—Fair.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

OLIVER THE EIGHTH: Laurel and Hardy—Not the best these two nuts have made, but it's good for a lot of laughs. Running time, 26 minutes.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

TRICK GOLF: Oddities—Very interesting to golfers. Running time, one reel.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

TWIN SCREWS: All Star Series—A very good comedy of the slapstick variety. This is the first of this series for us and they seem much better than the Taxi Boys series which they replaced. Here's hoping they continue good shorts that will please the patrons. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

Paramount

BOO, BOO, THEME SONG: Screen Songs—Here is a very good cartoon comedy and musical number of the Screen Song Series. The cartoon is of the ghost variety and would be great for a midnight showing. Very entertaining and will please the majority of patrons. Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE (No. 8): Poor—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

LET'S GO CRABBING: Paramount Pictorial (No. 7)—One of the most interesting numbers in this series showing different kinds of queer fish. What can be done with liquid air and featuring Lanny Ross in three songs. Running time, 10 minutes.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

SHE WRONGED HIM RIGHT: Betty Boop Cartoon minus the usual good musical score. Running time, seven minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

SHE WRONGED HIM RIGHT: Betty Boop—This is a good cartoon comedy with many laughs and will please both the kids and adults. This issue is not as good as many of the others but will be liked just the same. This entire series is good and very entertaining for both young and old. Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

STATION T. O. T.: Headliners—Splendid. By all means play it. Running time, 10 minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

TUNE UP AND SING: Screen Song—Excellent with any feature, especially your best feature nights. Lanny Ross has an excellent voice.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

UP AND DOWN: Franklin Pangborn—Above the average two-reel comedy. Slapstick type. Our patrons got several good laughs. Running time, two reels.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

WILD ELEPHINKS: Popeye the Sailor—All Popeyes go to the head of the class.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

RKO

INDIAN WHOOPEE: Cubby, the Bear Cartoons—A good cartoon, spoiled by a poor print, full o patches and smeared with oil.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and smal town patronage.

KICKING THE CROWN AROUND: Clark and McCullough—Audience seemed to think this one okay Running time, two reels.—Mrs. P. J. Zorn, Hippodrome Theatre, Julesburg, Co. Small town patronage

LION TAMER, THE: Amos "N" Andy Cartoon—This one is better than the first one, "The Rasslin' Match." This has a number of laughs. Running time, 10 minutes.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage

United Artists

MICKEY SHANGHAIED: Mickey Mouse—Another good Walt Disney that goes over as good as ever. Young and old get a kick out of these. Running time, seven minutes.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

Universal

SHE DONE HIM RIGHT: Pooch Cartoons—These Universal cartoons are coming to the front. "Minnie the Moocher" music in this one is good. Running time, seven minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

Warner Vitaphone

HERE COMES FLOSSIE: Big V Comedies—This one is rather questionable as to entertainment value. Running time, two reels.—Mrs. P. J. Zorn, Hippodrome Theatre, Julesburg, Col. Small town patronage.

HONEYMOON HOTEL: Merrie Melodies—Done entirely in color. This is an exceptionally fine short subject. Running time, 10 minutes.—Mrs. P. J. Zorn, Hippodrome Theatre, Julesburg, Col. Small town patronage.

JACK BENNY AND HIS BAND: Melody Masters—Another exceptionally good number of the Melody Masters series. Had several to say it was better than most features. Running time, 10 minutes.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

MILD WEST, THE: Broadway Brevities—This is another issue of the Broadway Brevity series with good music, pretty girls and everything you could expect of a musical comedy. There are several good dance numbers and this is good entertainment for any type of audience. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

OPERATOR'S OPERA: Broadway Brevity—This is a very good musical comedy featuring Donald Novis, Dawn O'Day and the Eton Boys. Plenty of good music, pretty girls and some good dance numbers. The tap dancing number is marvelous and worth the price of the short. Vitagraph, let's have more. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C.

PLANE CRAZY: Broadway Brevities—Another good Broadway Brevity with clever dancing and good music. Running time, 22 minutes.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

TUNE DETECTIVE, THE: Pepper Pot Series—Contrasting the stately dancing and music of years ago with the present-day style, this Pepper Pot made an ideal selection for us which brought forth several good comments. Running time, nine minutes.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

Serials

Mascot

FIGHTING WITH KIT CARSON: Johnny Mack Brown, Noah Beery—Good enough story to this one but the entire first reel of chapter seven was a rehash of preceding events. I don't know a thing about making serials but I sure hate to see the same picture run over, week after week. Running time, two reels each chapter.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

J. C. Jenkins--His Colyum

Neligh, Nebraska

Dear Herald:

AN OPEN LETTER TO CHARLES (CHIC) SALE

Dear Chic:

When we saw you play in "Dangerous Cross Roads" recently we were inclined to write Columbia and congratulate them for their judgment in selecting you to play the part of the old Down East Yankee. Then we had another inclination, and that was not to write them because we thought, Oh, well, what's the use, they don't know who we are and a letter from us won't amount to anything anyhow, so we didn't write to them. You know, Chic, one has to amount to something before these producers will pay any attention to him, and we are just one of the common herd.

We wouldn't want to say that "Dangerous Cross Roads" is the best picture ever made because that wouldn't be true. But we will say that, from the laughter we heard all over the house when you were doing your stuff, there wasn't anyone in the audience who wanted to go out and shoot the manager for booking the picture (there have been times when we wanted to shoot him ourself).

We don't know what the critics will say about the picture, and we don't know what they have already said, but it don't make any difference to us, we liked it and so did the audience, and that's all that counts, critics or no critics.

As we watched you act in that picture we were reminded of the two lovely visits we had at your home in Hollywood two years ago and the very warm welcome we received. Maybe those visits helped us to enjoy the picture, maybe they did because we were reminded of you so strongly, but anyone who tells us that "Dangerous Cross Roads" isn't a mighty good "meller drammer" will be listed in our catalogue as not knowing much about pictures. We hope to see you in many more equally as good.

▽

Couldn't Blame the Pets

We heard a crooner recently on the radio crooning a love song. We couldn't tell whether he was crooning or crying, as there isn't much difference, but after he got to going right good our wife's Mexican poodle jumped up and hopped onto our Persian tommy and the fight was on. We got up and turned the damthing off and the fight stopped. We couldn't blame either one of them.

▽

We see every day in the press that a plane has been wrecked and several people killed, and yet they tell us that traveling by plane is the safest way to travel. Well, maybe it is, but walking still appeals to us because we've got both feet upon the ground.

▽

Arthur Brisbane says that as soon as congress has adjourned the President is going to take a "rest cure" and let the country "run itself." Well, that might be all right. There are 120,000,000 of us who are willing to try anything once.

▽

Luella O. Parsons says, "One of the surest ways of finding happiness in Hollywood is for the wife to divorce her husband." Well, if that is true what's the sense of going to the trouble and expense of getting married? Why not try 'em a while and if you don't like 'em ditch 'em?

▽

Boy! Page a Buzzsaw

Did you ever feel when you walked along the street or in the house like you were liable to fall over to the right or left, you were so dizzy, and you wanted to grab hold of something to keep you from falling, and you felt like you did that time when you were out with the boys and you sang "Sweet Adeline." Well, that isn't so nice. And then on top of that did you ever have the lumbago in your back and abdomen and you wanted to holler every time you drew a long breath? Didja? Well, that isn't so nice either. Don't get that way, for if you do you will want to fight a buzzsaw and there may not be any buzzsaw handy.

▽

As this is being written, word comes via radio from South Dakota that the worst sandstorm is raging up there that they have ever had in the history of the state. If this is true it must be a bad one, for they recently had one that ruined the small grain and pastures in a large section of the state and the soil was drifted so badly in places that only the tops of the fence posts stuck out.

This report don't sound so good for the theatre boys up there, but outside of western Kansas, there is no place in the world where optimism grabs hold of people and shakes their breeches off like it does up there. Some places they will say, "Oh no, we haven't had a crop in four years but we are going to have a good one next year." It looks like there would be no necessity for a presidential editor to curtail wheat production. We don't know much about it, but when they assume to know more about curtailment of wheat production than the Lord, they are assuming aplenty. Some people do. They always have and they always will.

▽

Mr. D. E. Fitton of the Lyric theatre at Harrison, Arkansas, in reporting on "Carolina," among other sensible things says: "Dad Jenkins reports Janet Gaynor as taking the part of the widow. I thought Dad had quit drinking since he has been laid up, but he must have broken over on his first night out. I would suggest that he keep sober if he is going to report on pictures."

That's a good suggestion, Ezra, that's a good suggestion, but the fact is we haven't been that way since the two of us painted the town of Harrison so long ago that we have forgotten it, an we presume you have also. Regardless of what our good friend Fitton says about it, we still contend that Janet played the part of the widow of the deceased tenant on Linnel's farm when Young made love to her (just as he ought to have done) and we are willing to go on record again as saying that "Carolina" is a cracking good picture just as our friend Fitton says it is, regardless of what anyone else thinks about it. We always like to hear an exhibitor tell the truth, even though it is quite a shock.

[Sorry, Jaysee, but Fitton wins. The youngsters in "Carolina" are Janet's brother and sister.—Ed.]

▽

We wish to compliment Mr. Fred Larkin, manager of the Paramount theatre at St. Cloud, Minnesota, for his very splendid article on the "Pass Evil," which appears in the Round Table department of the HERALD. As we see it, passes to the theatre, unless they are given for some service rendered, is the greatest evil that confronts the theatreman, and we can see no reason for giving passes to the show any more than a merchant should give some of his customers the right to pick out a pair of socks or handkerchief gratis.

Usually the man or woman who has a pass hollers the loudest about the inferior service he or she is receiving. Regardless of our connection with the business, we always felt like an egg-sucking pot hound every time we went into a theatre without offering to pay, for the manager was furnishing us something for which we were entitled to pay, and which he seldom allowed us to do.

We've got a whole lot more we'd like to say on this subject, and it would be pretty hot stuff, too, but Ernie wouldn't stand for it, so you will have to guess at it.

COLONEL J. C. JENKINS
The HERALD's Vagabond Colyumnist

"MAGIC-WEATHER"
REG. U. S. PATENT OFFICE
• FANS
• AIR-WASHERS
• COOLING EQUIPMENT
SCOTT BALLANTYNE CO.
TELEPHONE ATLANTIC 3345
219 NORTH 16th ST., OMAHA, NEBR.

Kann Dined at Levy's

The party held in honor of "Red" Kann, editor of MOTION PICTURE DAILY during his recent trip to the Coast, was held at Levy's restaurant in Hollywood. In a recent issue of MOTION PICTURE HERALD it was reported Mr. Kann was dined at the RKO Radio studio.

General Motors Signs Bands

General Motors Corporation has closed a deal with the Music Corporation of America, Chicago, to furnish 60 orchestras in 60 cities in connection with the automobile company's national exhibits to be held in key cities during the week of June 2.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

WILL DARROW HELP?

The local code boards will no doubt be asked to perform everything but miracles in settling the grievances of producers and exhibitors to the satisfaction of everyone. Already the machinery is functioning and decisions have been made. But nothing has been done—and it looks as though no one in authority aims to do anything—to obtain a fair shake for the many managers who are still being slapped around in direct violation of the code. Too many managers working from seventy-five to eighty hours are not even receiving the $35 salary to which they are entitled under the code regulations.

So, what to do? The theatreman so affected is supposed to have recourse to his local grievance board. But will he take it? Not unless he has a rich father-in-law or another job waiting. As far as concerns the manager's hours and wages, the code offers little satisfaction and less actual protection against chiseling exhibitors.

Clarence Darrow's entrance upon the NRA scene may mean a ray of hope for the neglected and dispirited theatreman. The venerable champion of the oppressed can do a good day's job by working a little of his magic for the manager's benefit.

▽ ▽ ▽

PURGING THE FILMS

Very sound advice and a worthy working plan of cooperation does Paul Kunze present on a succeeding page to aid showmen in dealing with local forces intent (if necessary, over the manager's dead body) on purging the screen, a wide-open mark for the eager fists of every reformer, amateur and professional.

Paul sounds the alarm in no uncertain fashion by stating the screen reform movement has reached dangerous proportions, and that it behooves every manager not to antagonize these strong forces but to cooperate with them.

With which we agree and therefore recommend a careful study of this member's article for the information of every manager beset with similar difficulties.

▽ ▽ ▽

CONTINUOUS PERFORMANCES

From all over the industry has come spontaneous approval of Mr. Martin Quigley's views on the subject of continuous performances in his recent article, "The Public Be Damned." Undoubtedly, something must be done, and the immediate reaction from the field is sufficient proof that this is uppermost in many executive minds.

Too often good pictures are unjustly penalized at the box office by patrons who arrive in the midst of their screening, and to quote W. Ward Marsh, motion picture editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer—"that is a practice which ruins more pictures than does Hollywood in its most careless mood."

We are pleased to see such representative Round Tablers as J. M. Blanchard, Jack Fink and Don C. Malloy making known their opinions and what they are doing to educate patrons in this respect. Many other showmen are sparing no ammunition in shooting consistently at the same target.

Cooperation of newspapers and local institutional advertising by all theatres have also been suggested as other means of audience education and while these or other plans cannot be presented as universal panaceas, and while no admission is to be scorned whatever time it is offered, managers should realize the box office benefits of impressing upon their patrons the advantages of seeing a feature from the beginning.

▽ ▽ ▽

THE HONORS PILE UP

Secretary Stephen A. Early, Governor Comstock of Michigan, Governor Ross of Idaho, Mayor Marcus of Salt Lake City, and now Governor Sholtz of Florida and Mayor Alsop of Jacksonville—three State Executives, a Presidential Secretary and two City Heads—have participated enthusiastically in the presentations of the Quigley Awards. Little wonder then that this project has taken hold among theatre managers, and not at all surprising is their hearty cooperation, stronger and more widespread with each succeeding month.

Truly have the Awards brought recognition to theatremen who have been hiding their light under the proverbial bushel, and overnight have the winners grown in the esteem and admiration of their superiors and brother showmen.

The Quigley Awards have more than fulfilled every promise, every expectation. Daily are they confirming the importance of the manager.

▽ ▽ ▽

He goes along quietly putting over national campaigns and generally boosting the cause of exploitation and exploiteers. Never slowing down, whipping over one great idea after another, working harder than any of his men, leading them to broader horizons.

That's Billy Ferguson, M-G-M exploitation head, AMPA president, and a right, right guy, a sentiment echoed by as many friends as he has practical exploitation angles—and "he's got a millyun of 'em."

A. Mike Vogel

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS!

Two Ace "Managers' Week" Campaigns

A number of well executed Managers' Weeks were put over recently by the members of Ralph Crabill's district in Lou Lazar's Warner Theatres division, and below are outlined what was done by Managers Lester W. Sparks, Diana Theatre, Medina, N. Y., and Nick Kaufman, Haven Theatre, Olean, N. Y.

Sparks designated his event as "Managers' Opportunity Week," running special trailers asking for support, and describing the attractions to be played during that time. This was also carried out in a lobby poster, Lester further plugging the idea in person from the stage. The trailer thought was elaborated further in a series of personal letters, signed by Sparks, appearing in local and surrounding newspapers, and the Mayor cooperated by designating the Week officially, proclamation breaking all papers.

Sparks promoted two full co-op pages for different programs, all copy plugging the event, paper further cooperating with editorial plug and endorsement letter. Bulletins were placed in schools and announcements made by teachers in all class rooms.

Special nights were designated for various fraternal and civic organizations, endorsement letters from the heads to Sparks carried by the papers and the originals shown in lobby. Florist tieups were made and amateur stage show promoted, which with three extra kiddie shows aided Sparks in piling up the gross high above his average.

Nick Kaufman's Campaign

In addition to trailers and lobby posters, Nick also ran type display ads and carried out the appeal angle in heralds distributed house to house. Prominent downtown windows were also spotted, with announcements of Week's activities. A professional stage show was promoted on the opening day, followed by amateur talent shows during the rest of the week.

For street bally, Kaufman put out a circus float tying the Week into his showing of "Wild Cargo," and also carried this out in his lobby display. A flashy front in many colors attracted attention, the top center piece being indirectly lighted in shades of blue.

Others managers of Crabill's division have also put on these profitable "weeks" which are to be encouraged in other spots.

Work For a Quigley Award!

LONDON GOES BOWERY. An English parade of "Bowery" characters as a street bally on the picture at the New Gallery Theatre. These folks paraded the West End of London and attracted the curious.

Rosenthal Sells Paper "Palooka" Cartoon Idea

Morris Rosenthal, Majestic, Bridgeport, Conn., sold his paper the idea of sponsoring a newspaper herald, using the "Palooka" cartoons as the background and selling their other cartoons at the same time.

They printed up 15,000 of these heralds at no expense to the theatre and gave Morris the back page and a line on their "Palooka" cartoon. Bannered trucks carried direct tie-up with the picture and on opening day several thousand heralds were distributed at high and public schools. Kids stormed the theatre, trying to get copies.

Recently he started a morning show of educational shorts, tying up with the Parent-Teachers Association. Through this he netted an editorial.

This last angle is reported by Morris to be unusually effective both as an extra ticket seller and good will builder. It is being used effectively by many managers.

Hendricks Does Ace Job on 'Wonder Bar'

Bill Hendricks' campaign on "Wonder Bar" at the Warner, Memphis, was undoubtedly one of the most comprehensive put over in many a moon, and listed here are the outlines of some of the highlights.

A gigantic Western Union telegram, an exact replica of a congratulatory message from the stars, was painted on a special banner which covered the entire theatre front, the cost borne by the telegraph company. It was delivered to the theatre by uniformed messengers. Girls phoned all numbers in a prominent window suitably posted.

The giant congratulatory post card addressed to the stars which patrons signed was another street stunt and imprinted memo pads were distributed to stores and offices. Picture was advertised in leading ballrooms, and as many fan magazines carried "Wonder Bar" ads, Bill was able to plant stickers on their covers at all news stands giving page of the plug.

Trick heralds and roto heralds were distributed at fight clubs by magazine boys who paraded to the theatre carrying large cutout title letters. Imprinted gummed labels were used by all kinds of stores to wrap packages, as were milk bottle hangers by leading dairy.

His front and lobby were standouts. Four girls in costume, reclining on a specially constructed turntable above the box office (see photo) stopped traffic all day long, as did a girl on the marquee pedalling a bike to which was attached a revolving panel with the names of the stars. Inside, Bill rigged up a bar, with star cutouts.

Ace Railroad Tieup

Newspaper contests hit hard, as did special railroad round trip excursion via "Wonder Bar Special," picture of this with banners breaking the papers. An elaborate street float with girls in costume also clicked, girls giving out small imprinted memo books. A portable projection machine on a truck was another smart street gag, and an artist in store window painting picture of Francis was a crowd stopper.

Stocking parade of models in store window again drew the curious, and a broadcast from a plane had them talking. Guest tickets from Del Rio to handsomest members of lunch clubs also broke papers, and a legion of other fine ideas were whipped across by Hendricks in this grand campaign which won him "First Mention."

Hendricks' Box Office Turntable

WALTER L. GOLDEN

Sig Breaks Records With "Cargo" Drive

Among the many ideas put over by Manager Sig Solomon, Capitol Theatre, Wheeling, W. Va., in his Quigley campaign on "Wild Cargo," two were especially noteworthy in selling the jungle angle of the picture and tying it in locally to insure a record breaking attendance.

The adult slant was an elaborate lobby display of stuffed jungle denizens and skins of those actually shot by Wheeling residents during tours in Africa. These borrowed exhibits were suitably mounted with credit cards giving names of the contributors.

The kid angle was put over through the medium of a dog show, over 200 youngsters bringing in canines of all sizes, shapes and breeds. To each dog and its owner, a number was given and the contest was held in the lobby with local newspaper folk and leading citizens acting as judges for the prizes given to the most intelligent, largest, smallest, prettiest and ugliest dogs. Sig put over a smart slant by giving each entrant a giant size pass measuring 27 inches by 20, which he signed personally. These carried plenty of theatre copy.

An amateur critic's stunt also brought results, passes being given to selected children in all schools and also to adults who saw the picture and gave their criticisms. This was put over in cooperation with the newspapers which gave generous space to it. Many of the criticisms were posted in the lobby.

Especially to be commented upon was the fine publicity that Sig secured in his local and nearby newspapers. Series of articles on the characteristics and habits of the animals shown in the picture were run as were a number of stories by Buck on the dangers he encountered in making his captures. These were profusely illustrated with two and three column cuts.

Book store, magazine, hotel windows were spotted in prominent locations, a good classified tieup, broadcasts and a host of other practical slants were put across to, Sig reports, exceptionally record breaking business. His efforts, as noted in last week's issue, were voted a deserved First Mention.

GOLDEN HONORED BY FLORIDA'S GOVERNOR

April Plaque Winner Receives Award from Governor Sholtz; Mayor Alsop Participates in Jacksonville Presentation

The fourth Quigley Award was to be presented to Manager Walter L. Golden, Riverside Theatre, Jacksonville, Fla., on Wednesday night, by Governor David Sholtz, according to word from Managing Director M. C. Moore, head of the arrangement committee, as this department goes to press.

Mayor John T. Alsop of Jacksonville, also was to take a leading part in the ceremonies, attended by prominent United States naval officers, heads of civic organizations and other leading citizens.

Full details and photo of presentation will be carried in issue of May 26.

Work For a Quigley Award!

McManus Plants Story On "Villa" in Papers

It isn't often that one of our members goes into a rave, but that's what Johnny McManus, Loew's Midland, Kansas City, Mo., did when he sent in his campaign on "Viva Villa."

John ran a special article in the Sunday paper on the authenticity of the pix and actual life of Villa. A special broadcast in the morning sponsored by a department store gave the whole fifteen minutes to Viva. In addition there were ten daily broadcasts and the records were played constantly.

Fifty 24 sheets were sniped in various locations throughout the business district, department, drug, food, dress, jewelry and other stores were tied up for window displays. Lobby dressed for week in advance with large cut-outs and the silent trailer was used for two weeks before opening with regular trailer the week previous.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Fields Speaks at Lunch Club on "Wonder Bar"

Jules Fields, now skippering the DeWitt, Bayonne, N. J., did a bit of personal promotion on his showing of "Wonder Bar" by appearing at luncheons of Rotary and Kiwanis, where he spoke on some of the interesting production phases of the picture. A 24 was mounted on curtain closing in shows and another was pasted to floor of lobby. Ushers wore medallions in advance, heralds distributed house to house, and many window displays arranged.

Jules' newspaper campaign included an endorsement from the Mayor, and a page of co-op ads. A sound truck was another of the ideas used in his campaign which Fields reports brought in a very gratifying gross.

Award Campaign Covers All Angles

Excellent coverage was secured by Walter Golden on his "Nana" campaign, at the Riverside, Jacksonville, Fla., outstanding being the serialization of the story in one of the newspapers, which he reports to the best of his knowledge as being the first time this was put over locally. The fact that Golden's theatre is an independent adds weight to this promotion. Newsboy cooperation was secured from another paper with the paper venders wearing theatre aprons (see photo) in advance and during the run.

Best store tieup was a hookin with department store cooking school prizes given in an Anna Sten cake baking contest, store going for large ads, special heralds and displays, with Walter showing contest ingredients in theatre lobby. Papers ran stories and cuts.

Plane pulling 300 foot banner circled city and county during Fair Week, pilot blowing siren to attract more attention. Sidewalk stencils, giant street banners, bumper cards were planted extensively, and sound truck was also used. Silk-o-lene bannerettes with picture of star and copy "This Is Anna Sten" were hung in ace locations, and also tied in to chain drug store hookup on a sundae named after star, in which passes were given clerks selling most "star" ice creams.

Telephone, door and milk bottle hangers, standees in doctors' and dentists' offices, laundry bag inserts and stickers on grocery bags helped to spread the word, as did jumbo telegrams, imprinted napkins, and "Nana" love secret heralds.

Prize fights and wrestling bouts were covered with heralds, mounted theatre banners being placed over stadium box offices. Banners were also hung in auditorium, and Golden furnished portable p. a. systems, theatre and fight announcements were made.

Hotel key boxes were stuffed, broadcasts promoted, search and flood lights played on theatre front and swept the skies, book marks distributed in public and rental libraries were other angles the winner put over

Golden's "Kid' Bally

MOTION PICTURE COUNCILS

Round Tabler Describes How He Is Cooperating With His Local Women's Clubs to Tilt Grosses

By PAUL W. KUNZE
Manager, Old Colony and Plymouth
Plymouth, Mass.

Very little has been published in the Club columns regarding activity in connection with the Motion Picture Councils. Since the importance of these groups is fast becoming a factor in our business, perhaps our experience in Plymouth with the situation would be of interest to Club readers.

PAUL W. KUNZE

Without going into the whys and wherefores of so-called "unclean pictures" and the smut and suggestiveness which frequently creeps into pictures, there is no denying that organizations, educators and the churches are increasingly "motion picture conscious" and are making a concerted and widespread effort to purge the films. This same effort arises periodically in our business mainly from publicity-seeking reformers and usually passes on without creating more than a ripple. This time, the movement has reached such proportions as to make it vital for every manager not to antagonize, but to cooperate to the fullest extent with any local forces that may be working toward this end. From our own experience I know that this cooperation will work distinctly to the advantage of the theatre even to the point of paying dividends in box office admissions.

Works With Local Unit

The most familiar and accessible of these local forces are the Motion Picture Councils of the Women's Clubs. Already some 3,000 councils in as many localities have been formed and are working diligently for the promulgation of their ideals and aims anent the screen. Representing over two million women presumably of the better type, they are an important factor in any man's language. Unlike similar forces what they hope to accomplish is not through censorship, but rather through friendly cooperation with the theatre manager. Their ideals and aims, such as educating the public to appreciate the better type of films, promotion of the family type of program and children's shows, etc., if accomplished could in no way be detrimental to our theatres or our business. Rather would we benefit by it by attracting a wider circle of patrons to include the higher type of intellectuals who are now but infrequent patrons.

Here in Plymouth the Women's Club has a membership of some 300 with a very active Motion Picture Council. We have had very happy and cooperative associations with the council because of the fact that we "moved right in" at the start, expressed our willingness to cooperate and have since maintained a complete contact with their activities. Mrs. Kunze, herself an officer of the Club and active on numerous committees, has done much to further our connection.

Attached you will note a tear sheet showing the council's weekly feature published in the papers. The purpose naturally is to interest the public in their efforts to better the films and stimulate a bigger box office at the showing of their endorsed pictures. At the same time they include the ratings of the releases and also their classification—either adults, family or adults and young people, etc., with a brief note as to the general theme, without divulging too much of the story. Comment is brief and avoids discussion of the entertainment values of the picture except in cases of outstanding ones when such comment will help to further the interest in it. Advance bookings are given the Council and only such films as we intend to play are given publicity this way. This feature has been a helpful one to us.

Successful Children Show

We have inaugurated Saturday morning shows for the children and found them entirely successful and not interfering especially with the matinee business since to a great extent a different class of child is attracted. Programs consist of cartoons, comedies and such appropriate features as "Skippy," "Little Orphan Annie," etc. The plan was started with nothing but short reels on the program with a subsequent loss of interest on the part of the kids, but the addition of the feature worked out well. The Saturday morning programs are sponsored by the Women's Club and have the endorsement of the School Department to an extent which permits us to distribute advertising for the shows right in the classrooms. We have been fortunate in this move to get widespread cooperation in town from many sources and have shown a profit weekly on the shows. Further it served to quiet any objection there might be to either of the two current pictures playing on Saturday as the parents could send children to the morning show if they felt the afternoon program held any objectionable feature. With the inauguration of Saturday morning shows, the total children attendance on all day Saturday increased about 40 per cent. I question whether the morning shows can be maintained through the summer but we intend to resume in the fall.

This friendly attitude toward the Council has given us a really valuable exploitation medium when the endorsed or higher grade of picture comes along, since they are really inclined to go out and work for the success of it. The local Council maintains a telephone committee which acquaints members of the engagement, school and library cooperation is assured and publicity is given at the meetings and through the Club's monthly house organ. Many times this helps considerably to put over an attraction which otherwise might just be so so.

Builds Good Will

We have accomplished all of this through an attitude of friendly cooperation rather than antagonism, the feeling of many managers for what they term "interference." We have gathered for ourselves a great deal of good will and valuable publicity and from our angle no harm is being done through the efforts of the Council. In return for this assistance given us, although we cannot actually operate the "family night" as a special event, we are wholehearted in our efforts to arrange the family type of bookings on the weekends wherever practical.

The Council appreciates our problems in bookings and fully realizes that this is not consistently possible.

Judging from my own experience, I feel confident in saying that regardless of personal feelings in the matter, it is much more beneficial right at the moment to meet the situation halfway with intelligent cooperation, thereby creating a friendly feeling throughout the community for the theatre rather than have the results of ruthless antagonism. . . . And, it will pay!

MOTION PICTURE COUNCIL of the Plymouth Woman's Club

PREVIEWS

Saturday morning at 10. April 21.
HAROLD TEEN with comedies, newsreel and short subjects.

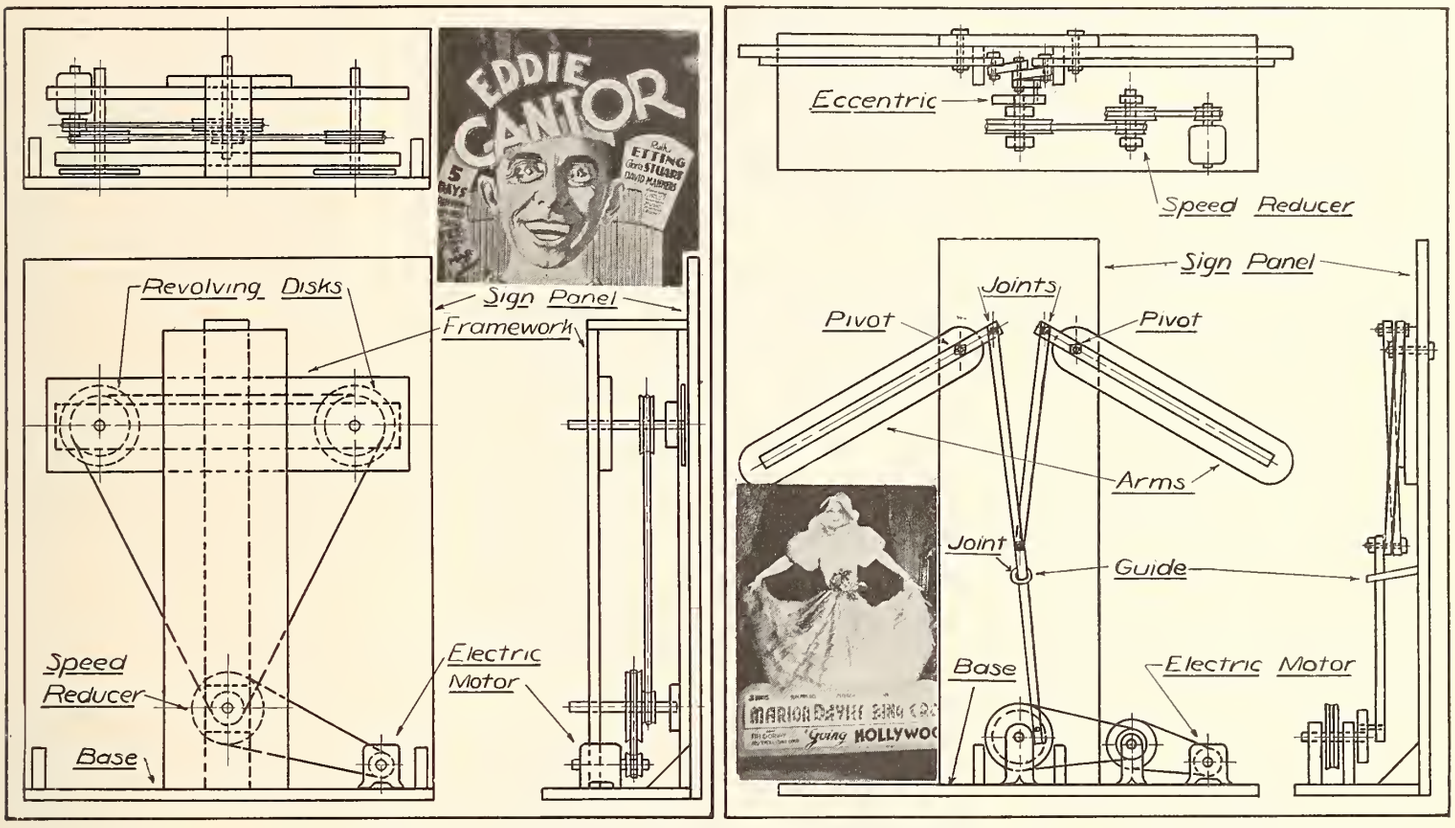
April 22-23:
THE TRUMPET BLOWS — a story of Old Mexico.—Adults.
THE MEANEST GAL IN TOWN —Zasu Pitts, Skeets Gallagher, a traveling salesman, and a show girl manicurist.—Adults.

April 24, 25, 26:
A better than average program.
GALLANT LADY — with Ann Harding and Clive Brooke—Adults and Young People.
WILD CARGO—a Frank Buck animal picture—Adults and Young People.

April 27, 28:
LOOKING FOR TROUBLE, a high speed melodrama of two "telephone trouble men."—Adults and Young People.
COUNTESS OF MONTE CRISTO—a fanciful comedy with a Cinderella touch; implausible but amusing and clean.—Adults and Young People.

April 29, 30:
MOULIN ROUGE—gorgeous dance ensembles and delightful music.—Adults.
LOST PATROL—One of the year's finest pictures. A powerful, beautifully done, high calibre picture.—Adults and Young People.

May 1, 2, 3:
WE'RE NOT DRESSING—Fog, merriment and Bing Crosby in a musical comedy. Photographed inside and outside of a truly amazing yacht which was built in the studio shops, and really moves on a small lake within the studio walls.—Adults and Young People.
SUCCESS AT ANY PRICE—Adults.



May 4, 5:
Katherine Hepburn in SPITFIRE—marvelous photography—leaves an indelible impression of sincerity and depth.—Adults and Young People.

Runs Weekly in Kunze's Papers

AN IMPORTANT AFFILIATION

Paul Kunze is well fitted to detail to the membership his ways and means of working with his Motion Picture Council which functions so well in Plymouth. With Mrs. Kunze, also a member of the Club, Paul has for many years worked amicably and profitably with women's clubs. How he goes about it is enlightening and interesting. He knows whereof he speaks.—MIKE.

ADDITIONAL ANIMATIONS BY LOUIS ORLOVE

Above are working plans and photos of Eddie Cantor and Marion Davies animations, used effectively for lobby display by Manager Louis Orlove, Uptown Theatre, Milwaukee, Wis. The Cantor flash details the construction of a poster which causes the star's eyes to revolve and for this purpose Orlove illustrates in his plan, the birdseye, front and side views with necessary apparatus. To right, is explained the workings of Marion Davies' arms to lift and lower her skirt.

"House of Rothschild" Gets Strong Plugs

From all over the country come reports from showmen who are doing a smart job of selling "Rothschild," and below are listed some of the ideas put over in situations:

In Philadelphia—

Manager Charles Perry, of the Aldine Theatre, planted the serialization three weeks in advance, each instalment carrying credit lines. Papers' delivery wagons all carried posters calling attention to the serial and the picture. Two big stores made the book hookup, using window displays and stuffing all packages with book marks. Circulating libraries did likewise. Bakery tie-up netted inserts in every break package, and further publicity was obtained in Jewish newspapers via letters to editors.

And In Lakewood, N. J.—

Manager Barney Ferber, at the Strand Theatre, tied in with local bus companies for special round trip rate from nearby territory. Representative window displays were secured and extra billings spotted.

In Wilmington, Del.—

Manager George A. Jones, of Loew's, planted the picture synopsis on a 15-minute broadcast, and tied in with his General Electric Refrigerator dealer for mention of picture and date in all dealer ads.

Then to Baltimore, Md.—

Where Bill Saxton and exploiteer Morgan planted serialization in leading Jewish daily, and put over unique stunt by having carrier pigeon fly invitation to attend picture from Mayor to Governor, this securing breaks in all papers. Western Union jumbo blanks, numerous windows and fan magazine tieups secured additional citywide publicity. Incidentally, the pigeon gag is the first one of this kind reported.

ATTENTION-GETTER. This is a shot of the flash front at the Gem, Rigby, Idaho, created by Manager H. D. Jorgensen. Material used was from 24s, 3s and stills, entire cost $25. Very well done for a town of 1200.

Brient and Deering Keep Up Fast Pace

Manager Elmer Brient, Loew's Theatre, made Cinema Shop tieup, obtaining prominent store windows in addition on this angle. Elmer also made Western Union jumbo hookin and planted over 200 window strips in all units of local grocery chain.

And to Memphis, Tenn.—

Where Manager Francis Deering, of Loew's State, and City Manager Cecil Vogel highlighted campaign with serialization in Jewish weekly and effected hoop hookup over prominent station on synopsis. A 15-minute sketch was broadcast on another station; taxi streamers and magazine stuffers were also utilized to build up campaign.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Here It Is, Harry

On page 70, issue of May 5, there was story detailing, and a photo illustrating the well done lobby standee created by Art Bourdeau for Manager Harry F. Botto's Palace Theatre, Bradenton, Fla. Inadvertently the theatre and town were omitted in our account, and we hasten to correct this omission. Sorry.

Daransoll's Costless "Dinner" Front

Talk of ingenuity, take a look (see photo) at the front gotten out by George Daransoll, Cameraphone Theatre, Pittsburgh, Pa., on "Dinner at 8." He tells us that it didn't cost him a red cent, entire front was built of discarded materials and was painted by himself. The entire campaign, including stills, trailers, newspaper ad and art, down to smallest detail, stood him $15. The shadow-box over box office was well lighted, displaying two and a-half feet cutout letters.

Window cards, house to house distribution of heralds and tie-up with shoe, dress, millinery and shirt stores to share cost of heralds and window display was also effected. Heralds were slipped into all customers' packages. George, incidentally, took opportunity to sell balance of his show and to plug his kiddies serial.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Tony Stern Dresses Up House Staff as M.D.'s

Showing what a service staff can do when put to it, Tony Stern, Court Theatre, Wheeling, W. Va., sends us his latest gag (see photo) when he played "Men in White."

Dressing them up as medicos and nurses, he stationed them beside a blow-up of Dr. Gable. And Tony further adds that the picture played during a considerable warm spell, so that the uniforms carried through to perfection his idea of the "coolness" of his house.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Brennan's Cooking School a Success

Cooking schools are always worth while, but E. R. Brennan, Fox Theatre, Marinette, Wis., has a thriving one, to be sure.

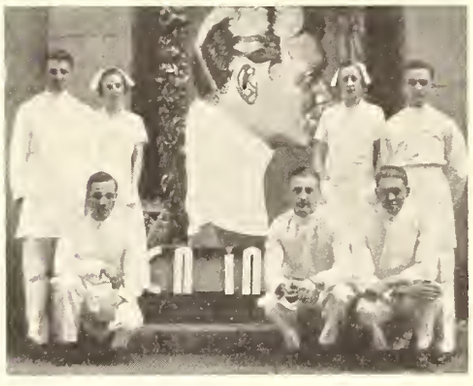
He promoted over 1,200 prizes from local merchants (see photo) in return for advertising at the theatre during the school. Total value of prizes exceeding $800. School itself is conducted by two demonstrators, whose services were secured gratis through local light and power company once a week for a period of four weeks.

Trailer announcing school was used three weeks in advance and during the term. Day before opening women made house-to-house canvass informing women about the school and prizes.

Brennan says the box-office receipts increased $145 over previous week's, and additional newspaper breaks were secured three days before and four weeks while the school was in session.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Sid Grauman Engineers Men's Clothing Tie-up



Once more Sid Grauman, Chinese Theatre, Los Angeles, gives his all in putting over "The House of Rothschild" with the aid of Harry Brand and Milt Howe.

Tying up one of the department stores, a window display of men's clothes was engineered. The theme of the display was the clothes used in the Rothschild days and today. Two costumes worn in the picture were shown in the window.

The transportation company, through a tieup with Ridgeway Tea, used 1,200 car cards. Max Factor make-up boxes were shown in drug and department store windows. A popular edition of the book was the means of getting displays in other windows with streamers reading "Read House of Rothschild and then see it at the Chinese Theatre now." Grauman also "cracked" his bank for a tie-up which of course is a logical hook-in to the theme of the picture.

George Says It's "No Cost"

Stern's Staff Goes "M.D."

Brennan's Cooking School Prizes

Schoeppel's "Wonder Bar" Front

Schoeppel's "Wonder Bar" Gets Coverage

If Oklahoma Cityites were unaware of the showing of "Wonder Bar," J. Schoeppel, manager of the Midwest, was not responsible.

First thing he did was to construct what he claims was one of the most extensive fronts ever shown in his city (see photo) and his newspaper campaign embraced publications of surrounding towns as well as local dailies. Colorful jumbo-sized cards were tacked on front and rear of every local car and bus, in addition to interurbans. Ten billboards covered the business district, popular residential sections and all arterial highways leading to the city. Boards were plastered in each of the neighboring towns.

Radio time was contracted to include 27 announcements between chain broadcasts and eight five-minute periods featuring record transcription of the song hits. Local dance-hall and hotel orchestras were given arrangements of hit songs. Tie-ups with music stores and 5 and 10 stores to display sheet music was also effected. Additional tie-ups with jewelry stores, apparel shops, etc., for window space plugged attraction.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Arliss Drawing Lands In Many Papers

Hal Horne had one of his artists sketch a pen and ink drawing of George Arliss in his role of "Rothschild" especially for one of the New York papers. Other managers playing the picture liked it well enough to request copies, cuts of which have been used in theatre ads, drama pages and also for merchant tieups.

Manager Howard Jaudon, Tampa Thetre, Tampa, Fla., used the sketch in an excellent tieup with one of his local banks, that netted a 40-inch institutional ad in which the bankers called attention to the excellent local theatres and their attraction.

Howard also suceeded in planting the drawing as the cover of a weekly theatre news, promoted milk bottle hangars with dairy company, did likewise with a laundry for shirt board imprints and secured further advertising on the press book Ridgway Tea tieup.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Prytz Puts Over High School Tie-up

Tying in with the local high school, Roy O. Prytz, Granada, Duluth, Minn., hung a twenty-four sheet in front of stage in auditorium to plug "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi." He also put up a six sheet in the school lobby and one sheets at various advantageously placed spots, spotting arrows all over school leading to auditorium where details were posted on play dates, etc.

All students sold tickets for small cut. Truck toured streets with one of the students singing chorus of "Sweethearts." Local radio station played tunes and high school band outside theatre and on stage each evening was an added attraction at no cost.

In view of school hook-up, papers were generous with free space. School has annunciator system that reaches every room and student at one time, and this was used to good advantage on behalf of the run.

Grimes Steps Out On "Wonder Bar"

Many good tieups were attempted and many were put over by Manager Kenneth Grimes, Warner Theatre, Morgantown, W. Va., on "Wonder Bar," two contests attracting more than passing attention. The first was the press book idea of guessing the stars, and the second a tieup with high school art classes for best idea for theatre front on picture.

Three weeks ahead, Ken planted auto stickers throughout district and also placed large block letters spelling title on lobby floor. Date was further tied in with lobby display of modern furniture. A week in advance, Plymouth dealer furnished new models which were bannered, bumper cards distributed and tire covers placed on all taxis in employees' cars. Street car company was promoted to place large banners on both sides of all local cars.

Giant post card, addressed to stars of picture, was carried around town (see photo), which locals were invited to sign, this being used also as a lobby flash. Newsboys carried theatre signs on their backs a week ahead, and on opening day Boy Scouts participated in a parade to the theatre.

Work For a Quigley Award!

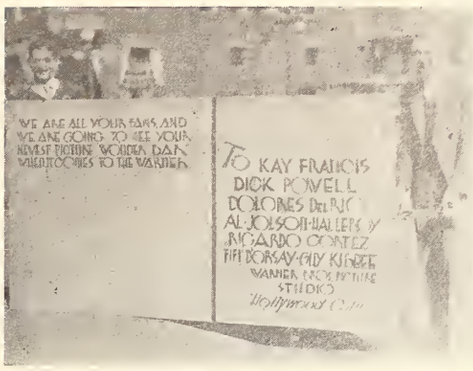
Rosenfield Ties In With United Churches

One of the last things that Joe Rosenfield, Music Hall, Seattle, Wash., did before he left the Paramount in Omaha, was his campaign on "Love Birds." The picture played his house during Holy Week and Joe cooperated with the United Churches for Lenten Services.

Slim Summerville stars in the picture and while Joe says Slim is no fashion plate, with the help of his ad artist he was able to make a nice tie-up with a leading men's store. Gag was that all children bringing in an old hat were giving a free ticket. Store paid full price for tickets.

Radio dealers gave picture space in their ads for six days prior to opening in return for which theatre displayed two radios in lobby. Good luck in the new job, Joe.

Work For a Quigley Award!



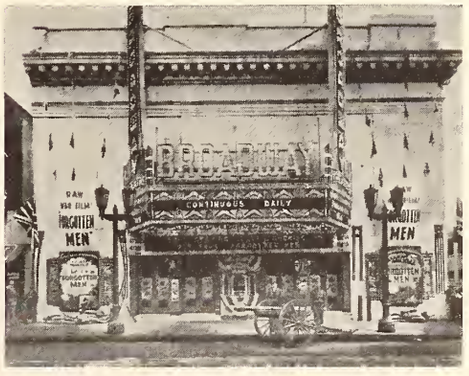
Ties Up National Guard for Showing

Just what he is being instructed in, we don't know, but G. L. Ruch, Broadway, Camden, N. J., tells us the Army is "learning" him (see photo) during his engagement of "Forgotten Men." The gentleman in "civies" is "G. L."

Staging a parade of veterans with the State Championship band assisted by forty uniformed men wearing distinguished crosses and badges marched to the theatre followed by ladies' auxiliaries in uniform. On arrival at the house, a drill formation and concert was held in front. They then entered the house and gave a ritual on the stage with lights out. At the break of show, another drill was given that was so impressive Ruch tells us the police reserves were called out.

Letters were mailed to Boards of Education inviting school classes to attend in bodies. Three schools responded with large turnouts and marched to theatre, each group buying regular almission tickets. Local radio station broadcast daily with veterans' tieup, who told of their experiences. Legions attended by teams, and held a parade carrying float with picture copy, playdates, etc.

Window displays at bus terminals, newsboys parade to the theatre, where they were guests of management and tie-up with National Guard for a 75 large cannon with shells and two guards in uniform patrolling front of theatre during entire engagement, were but a few of the many highlights.



Grimes' Giant Postal Stunt

Blanchard's Flash, Day and Night

Louie Says "Howdy" to Tom

Ruch's "Forgotten Men" Front

Blanchard Obtains Help From Clergy on "Death"

Smart showmen rarely pass up an opportunity to obtain the active cooperation of their local clergymen on pictures rating that support and Manager J. M. Blanchard, Strand, Sunbury, Pa., worked this angle effectively on "Death Takes a Holiday." He previewed the picture especially for one of his leading ministers, who used the theme as a sermon. Blanchard secured notice of this in the newspaper church columns, and advertised it in the theatre ads and on his screen.

Blanchard built the idea up still further by notifying Fredric March, and received a letter from the star expressing his interest and thanks. This was carried as a newspaper story and also was planted in the lobby.

On "Cat and Fiddle," "J. M." ran a series of two column teaser ads starting with the copy "A Merger That Will Startle Sunbury" lettered across a drawing of a cat and a fiddle. The second day a halftone of the stars was included, followed by the rest of the picture copy.

Very well done was a unique display (see photo) planted across the face of a downtown building, and at night the flash was lit up by cellophane shadow boxes with narrow slits, giving a neon effect. The letters and figures were 14 inches thick, and the arrow was illuminated by red, white and blue bulbs on chaser and flasher. Newspapers ran stories praising Walter Fuge, Strand art head, for his smart creation.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Nathan Sleypan Goes In for Novel Fronts

Nathan Slepyan, Sheridan Theatre, Chicago, Ill., old-time member whom we haven't heard from in lo these many months comes to the fore with his recent activities.

For "Duck Soup," one week before opening, his artist painted the heads of the Marx Brothers on the doors in bright colors. On "Damaged Lives" he constructed a 24 sheet board over his marquee with pertinent copy, stressing particularly the ladies' matinees. Nathan has as many novel fronts as possible, says his customers go for them and that's all that counts these days.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Atmospheric Lobby Used by Charninsky

Louis Charninsky, Capitol, Dallas, Tex., renewed acquaintance with Tom Mix (see photo) when latter played Dallas recently. Louis recalled the days when Tom had played the Charninsky theatre out in Kansas City. Incidentally, the star presented him with a ten gallon hat appropriately autographed which our Round Tabler proudly wears.

Opening "Lost Patrol" he constructed an atmospheric lobby with a desert scene, sand, tent, cut-outs, palm trees, guns, etc. Tie-up with three five and ten cent stores resulted in large hanging signs in all departments. Newspaper publicity included a biography of McLaglen including fact he was provost-marshal of Bagdad during War, story to effect picture was all male cast. Radio daily broadcasts and announcements at wrestling matches and fights. He also tied-up with Better Films Bureau.

'THE PRODUCERS SHOULD WAKE UP'

Says Quality of Posters Must Be Improved

Dear Mike:

A lot of folks have come in at the gate since I last wrote the Round Table Club. But you know we boys out in the sticks who are classed as "executives" and consequently have most of the work to do haven't much time for letter writing. We read the Herald from front to back and enjoy every line of it and often use ideas from the Round Table members who do write.

Your recent editorial "Attention Detractors" certainly moved me to add my squawk. In this day of percentage it certainly should be to the point if the producers should wake up to the fact that most of their paper is simply not there. Not only is it filled with the names of authors, producers, directors and what have you that mean nothing, but the general artistic makeup is a drawback. We have had all sorts of lobby material as well as outside paper that is so cluttered up with artistic lettering that it is simply impossible to read its message. It is true the first thing of a successful ad is to attract attention. But, the next thing is to create a favorable impression, and how can this be accomplished when it cannot be read.

In this respect I might mention one that is the biggest in the business and the worst offender with "Attention Detractors," Metro. On the other hand, at one time I was so impressed with the fine work on a Paramount picture we were billing, I wrote complimenting them on it and received a very nice reply. Not only was it laid out so nicely, but there was simply a good picture of the star in characteristic attitude with her name, title of the picture and name of producer.

Two more faults that might be remedied include the practice of 24 sheets being laid out the most convenient for the lithographer, but as a Chinese puzzle for the billposter; and then the poor quality of the stock itself. With respect to the latter, some of it is like so much tissue paper and is a mess as soon as it strikes the paste. It will not "work" into place without tearing and this is especially true in a high wind.

I am glad to see the Club is still keeping up its excellent work and know it will continue to for many years to come.

Kindest regards.

Frank C. Goldquist
Web Theatre
Savanna, Ill.

▽ ▽ ▽

Blames Fan Magazines For Loss of Business

Dear Mike:

I have often wondered where some of my customers were going on Saturday nights and just discovered the big secret. There it was on page 81, in the May issue of Photoplay. A full-page radio ad by the Bordens Cheese Co. announcing with pride that one million Americans listened in on their program on Saturday nights, and invited others to follow suit. Thus, when one million Americans are listening to a radio program on Saturday night, they are not at the theatres.

But the thing that gets me is why in the devil the Photoplay magazine would run such copy. They depend on the industry for their support, yet they are publishing copy that would tend to keep people away from the theatres.

I may be all hot and bothered about this thing, but radio is a big enough competitor with the show business without movie fan magazines having to start running copy that will keep people away from the theatres. It looks to me that the Herald should try and do something about this; don't you think so?

Earle Holden
Capitol Theatre
Atlanta, Ga.

▽ ▽ ▽

April Winner Extends Award Appreciation

Dear Mike:

Can you imagine my surprise this morning when I received your telegram informing me that my campaign had won the April competition?

I honestly believe it was the proudest moment of my life, for I have never received anything that I value so highly.

I went right out and had the photo taken and as I was so excited and in such a hurry there is small wonder that the picture turned out so sour.

I want to thank you and every one concerned for the consideration you gave me in this, but I am sure that there were more deserving campaigns submitted.

However, I am delighted with the results, more so than I can set down in writing, and you can count on me to come right back after another one as soon as we get a picture that will warrant a campaign.

Wishing you greatest success in the following competition and with kindest personal regards.

Walter L. Golden
Riverside Theatre
Jacksonville, Fla.

▽ ▽ ▽

Nevin McCord Makes Club Application

Dear Mr. Vogel:

A series of things has kept me from writing this letter as soon as I should have liked to, but I am taking the time right now to tell you how very much I appreciate the way in which I have been honored by the Motion Picture Herald and every one connected with the presentation of the Quigley Award for March.

First, I have a confession to make. The Herald has always been a most valuable guide to me in my work. I have followed its suggestions from my first days as a theatre usher in Boise, through my four years at the State-Lake in Chicago and at the RKO Palace in Rockford, Ill., and for the past three years at this theatre. My confession is that during that time I have never joined the Round Table nor submitted suggestions to it, yet have benefited by the suggestions of those managers who did send in their ideas that others might use them.

I want to correct that situation right now by making my application for membership in the Round Table Club and in the future I am going to forward such ideas as might be of value to other managers. I won't have that feeling of taking without giving when I have done that.

I really believe that in this way I can best express my appreciation of the honor that has been given me. I wish it were possible to thank you, the judges, the employees of this circuit, and my many friends in show business personally for the interest they have shown.

In the months to come, I am going to make every effort to execute campaigns that will merit the same recognition as that given the March contest entry. At least I want them to be not only beneficial to this theatre, but to other theatres as well.

Nevin McCord
Granada Theatre
Boise, Idaho.

▽ ▽ ▽

First Mention Winner Thanks Staff for Help

Dear Mike:

This Quigley Award idea put new pep in a body and mind that was growing a bit stale—by a happy blending of the sure-fire tonics of incentive and competition. Yes—and hundreds of other boys are in the same boat.

Only a slacker will hold back from a fair comparison with the other fellow, and competition spells extra effort which starts the cycle of increased theatre grosses, decreased expenditures, better returns for the distribution and production of pictures, BETTER pictures, recognition and a fair share of the net results. In addition, the Quigley Award encourages the "all for one and one for all" principle on which our Managers' Round Table was organized.

In submitting my campaign on "Wild Cargo," I wish to express my gratitude and appreciation for the cooperation received from my Chief of Service, and the rest of the staff consisting of two full-time and three part-time boys; same goes for our sign artist, who single-handed turned out a swell job, although he had to take care of our three other theatres in addition. Without their help it would have been physically impossible to follow through so thoroughly as results indicate.

S. S. Solomon
Capitol Theatre
Wheeling, W. Va.

STRIKING. For advance lobby ad on "House of Rothschild," H. M. Addison, Loew Cleveland zone chief, arranged above striking flash for outer foyer. Star, title, cast, romance and drama are all well sold.

• personalities

J. H. THOMPSON has acquired the Princess Theatre, Perry, Ga.

▽

G. F. McCORMICK has taken over the helm of the Globe Theatre, Clarksville, Miss.

▽

WARREN USS
is the new owner of the Bayport Theatre, Bayport, Minn., succeeding MRS. FLORENCE McGOON.

▽

H. H. GERBER
has taken over the helm of the Roxy Theatre, Hazelton, N. D.

▽

ART BLUCK
of the Plaza, Denver, has gone to Ft. Morgan, Colo., where he will be publicity manager for the U. S. A. and Cover Theatres.

▽

FLOYD FITZSIMMONS
can now be found in Freeport, L. I., where he manages the Grove Theatre.

▽

HARRY GANZ
of Warners Philadelphia zone has been transferred to the Pittsburgh district where he had been made manager of the Warner theatre succeeding GEORGE ROBERTS.

▽

A. BLANCO
has opened the Blanco Cinema at Mountain View, Cal.

▽

G. W. TAYLOR
is reopening the Folsom Theatre, Folsom, Cal., after house is renovated.

▽

CHARLES WUERZ AND
CHARLES PINCUS
had been put in charge of the Orpheum, San Francisco, Cal., with advertising and publicity in charge of the latter.

▽

CHARLES CABELLERO
former manager will join the theatre department of Fanchon and Marco.

▽

W. B. COOK
is managing the Vida Theatre, Cripple Creek, Colo.

▽

M. ROBIN
is the new manager at the Palm, Alamosa, Colo., succeeding CHARLES ERNST who goes to Denver to do the booking of three Goodstein theatres in Colo.

▽

A. J. KALBERER
has been made manager of the National, Louisville, Ky.

▽

EVERETT STEINBUCH
takes over ROSCOE DRISSELL'S job as manager of the Fox in Washington, D. C. Drissell has been promoted to relief for all Loew houses in vicinity and will act as assistant to ANGIE RATTO, Palace manager.

POSTER ART WORK FOR THE THEATRE

Two more posters from Don Andorfer, Whitewater, Wis., the above of "Dark Hazard" has the head done in yellow; name in purple; title in yellow and the background in black. The lower one of "Hips, Hips, Hooray" sounds mighty attractive; Wheeler was done in light red; Woolsey in deep yellow. The names were light magenta; title yellow with black shades and the star design white with a black background.

LEW SCHNEIDER
has disposed of his Lyric and Yuma Theatres, Yuma, Ariz.

HARRY KENDRICK
takes over the management of the Enright, East Liberty, Pittsburgh, Pa., suceeding TED THOMAS who has been transferred by Warners to the Capitol, Wheeling, West Va.

▽

LOUIS E. MAYER
will manage the RKO Majestic, Columbus, Ohio, succeeding EDGAR HART. Mayer was formerly at the Mainstreet, Kansas City.

▽

J. FRANCIS STEIN
has been appointed manager of the Windsor, Canton, Ohio.

▽

A. ALEX
is the new manager of the American Theatre, East Liverpool, Ohio.

▽

BOB GARY
has taken over SAM RUBIN'S work as assistant director of publicity for Detroit United Theatres.

▽

HAL NEIDES
has resigned as Fox West Coast city manager.

▽

JACK FITZWATER
is now managing the Plaza, St. Petersburg, Fla., succeeding VERNON WOOTEN. Let's hear from you, Jack.

▽

WILLIAM HART
has been appointed manager of the Arcade, Ft. Myers, Fla., succeeding CHARLES KIRKCONNEL transferred to the Park, Tampa.

▽

BURGESS WALTMAN
has been transferred to the Orpheum Theatre, Fulton, Ky.

▽

S. L. WORKMAN
will soon open his New Cinema Theatre at Woodruff, S. C.

▽

L. A. HARLEY
has recently opened the new Royston Theatre, Royston, Ga.

▽

MR. AND MRS. C. A. CASTLEREIGH have opened the Rialto Theatre at Jacksonville, Tex. GEORGE WILEY will assist in the management with FORREST WHITE.

▽

A. V. WADE
Gainesville, Tex., has closed a partnership deal with Griffith Amusement Company whereby Griffith bought part interest in the Majestic and Lyric Theatres. Griffith owns the Texas Theatre here. Wade will be city manager of all the houses.

▽

C. T. THOMPSON has sold his Alladin Theatre, Longview, Tex., to East Texas Theatres Co.

NOW'S THE TIME FOR ALL GOOD MEN—

HOWARD G. SWEET
We take pride and pleasure in introducing this new member, who joined back a little while ago, but whom we have just gotten around to extending this formal welcome to. Howard, as everybody is doubtless aware by this time, was the winner of the February Quigley Award and at the time of joining promised to become an active member. We didn't realize how active he'd be at the time, but more power to him. Sweet was born in Chicago and has been around theatres for the past fourteen years, the last nine of which were with the Butterfield Theatres. He has a war record and is married, the one, of course, having no bearing on the other, and is the proud daddy of a two-year-old boy.

▽

CALVIN A. LIEBERMAN
is out in Reading, Penna., where he manages the Astor Theatre for Warners. Many's the reports we have received from the Astor from your predecessor, Calvin, and we're hopeful that you will continue the good work of keeping us posted on what's what in your fair city. Remember us to our host of friends there and let's hear from you.

▽

DWIGHT "RED" HAWKINS
is the owner-manager of the State Theatre in Tempe, Arizona. Red tells us that "between doing the projection work, printing, booking, reading Motion Picture Herald and trying to manage this joint in my spare time, leaves little time to sleep." Well, you sure have your hands full, but at that you send along a contribution with your application for membership, so we're hopeful that we'll hear lots more from you.

▽

JACK GROSS
manages the RKO Hillstreet Theatre in Los Angeles, Cal., and all you members doubtless recall that we've had plenty of stories from that theatre when Dick Moss was there. Well, we've decided already that Jack's no slouch either, and just because Dick doesn't live there any more, is no reason why we shan't hear from the Hillstreet. He's already passed on a few which will appear in early issues.

▽

ERNEST GUTNER
is the assistant manager of the Uptown Theatre, New York City nabe house. Ernie tells us he has worked for Lee Ochs for the past three years and each one of the men he has worked under are ardent Round Tablers. Here's a bet you can't help but become imbued with the Club spirit. Remember us to Don and when you're in the neighborhood stop in and say hello.

BOYDELL J. EDWARDS
assists his superior at the Olney Theatre, in Olney, Texas. Seems as though all Texas is joining the Club lately and we bid them all welcome. You know as soon as you attain a managerial job, you're entitled to one of our framed certificates of membership, so you'd better let us know as soon as the good break comes. In the meantime, keep us posted.

▽

GEORGE J. MILLER
who manages the Whalley Theatre, in New Haven, Conn., is an excellent example of what hard work can do. George started in showbusiness two years ago as doorman in the Whalley Theatre; that was in February, 1932, and now he manages the house. That's one of the quickest "forger-aheaders" we've heard of and certainly should prove encouraging to lots of other boys who are trying to arrive. Hope to meet you personally, soon, George. So I'll say s'long for the time being.

▽

EDWARD PENN
who manages the Redlands Theatre in Redlands, Cal., is a far piece from home. Ed was born in New York City, went to Colby Academy in Jersey and attended Harvard Law, which ought to prepare a man for the best of jobs. He used to travel through the East for Skouras on inspection tours, making recommendations for theatres. Later was transferred to the Coast in the same capacity and then given house to manage. Sounds like you ought to know pretty much all there is to know about theatre operation. How about it?

APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Please enroll me in the Club and send me my framed certificate.

Name .....

Position .....

Theatre .....

Address .....

City .....

State .....

(Mail to Managers' Round Table Club, 1790 Broadway, New York)

JAMES E. SPENCER
is a newcomer from the Illinois Theatre, which he manages in Metropolis, Ill. Jimmy tells us he entered showbusiness at the request of the owner of his house, started as operator and then manager of the Pictureland and Illinois theatres for the Collins Theatres, Inc. Let's hear from you soon, you know you've signed up to be an active member.

▽

CARL ROGERS
is the assistant manager of the Granada Theatre, a Loew house in Cleveland, Ohio. A. H. Buehrig, one of our good members, and an ace showman, is his superior, and with him to teach you the ropes, Carl, you ought to be on your way to go places and do things. Remember us to the "A. H." and let's hear from you, too.

▽

MERTON HARRINGTON
is the assistant manager of Schine's State Theatre, up in Cortland, N. Y., working under H. A. Albright, another Round Tabler. Merton started in as usher for the Bloom Amusement Company seven years ago, then went with Schine's as head usher at the State and was promoted to assistant manager. Lots of luck to you, boy, and thanks for the nice words you say.

▽

JOSEPH SHANAHAN
is the proprietor of the Princess Theatre in Mohawk, New York. Joe's father before him traveled with shows and so he thinks taking up showbusiness as a profession was in the blood, so to speak. He certainly had an eventful career, having run away from home at the tender age of thirteen to join Uncle Tom's Cabin. He joins the Club and subscribes at the same time, showing his good judgment.

▽

MICHAEL J. DALY
manages and owns the Rialto in New Britain, and the Liberty theatre in Hartford, Conn. We've got lots of friends and members in your fair city, Mike, as you are doubtless aware, judging by the success of our Connecticut party. We seem to have your State tied up just about 100 per cent Round-Tabler speaking and since the competition is as keen as it is, you'd better get busy and let us see some examples of what you are doing up your way.

▽

BERT RHONHEIMER
is the assistant manager of the Electra Theatre, in Brooklyn, N. Y., where he aids and abets Clifford Reed. He joins the Club and sends for his pin at the same time, wanting to be sure that he is sewed up 100 per cent as a Round Tabler. You're not so far from the office, Bert, why don't you stop in and say hello on one of your "off" days?

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features now in work or completed for release later than the date of this issue are listed under "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the companies. Asterisk indicates running time as made known by West Coast studio before announcement by home office in New York. Variations also may be due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1934, unless otherwise specified.

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
City Park	Sally Blane-Henry B. Walthall-Matty Kemp	May 1	70
Murder on the Campus	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey	Dec. 27,'33	73	Feb. 17
Quitter, The	Emma Dunn-Charley Grapewin-Barbara Weeks - Wm. Bakewell	Feb. 5	65	Mar. 24
Rainbow Over Broadway	Joan Marsh-Frank Albertson	Dec. 1,'33	70
Stolen Sweets	Sally Blane-Charles Starrett	Mar. 15	75

Coming Attractions

Title	Star
Green Eyes	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Before Midnight	June Collyer-Ralph Bellamy	Nov. 18,'33	63	Jan. 20
Crime of Helen Stanley, The	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey	Apr. 20	58
Fighting Code, The	Buck Jones-Diane Sinclair	Dec. 30,'33	65
Fighting Ranger, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier	Mar. 17	62	Apr. 12
Fog	Mary Brian - Donald Cook - Reginald Denny	Nov. 22,'33	69	Jan. 13
Hell Bent for Love	Tim McCoy-Lilian Bond	May 20	58
It Happened One Night	Clark Gable-Claudette Colbert	Feb. 23	105	Mar. 3
King of the Wild Horses	Wm. Janney-Dorothy Appleby	Nov. 10,'33	66
Let's Fall in Love	Ann Sothern-Edmund Lowe	Dec. 26,'33	64	Jan. 13
Line-Up, The	William Gargan-Marian Nixon	Mar. 17	65	May 5
Man Trailer, The	Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker	Mar. 24	58
Man's Castle, A	Loretta Young-Spencer Tracy	Nov. 4,'33	75	Jan. 6
Most Precious Thing in Life	Jean Arthur - Donald Cook - Richard Cromwell	May 19
(See "In the Cutting Room," Apr. 28.)
Ninth Guest, The	Donald Cook-Genevieve Tobin	Jan. 31	69	Mar. 10
No Greater Glory	Frankie Darro - Lois Wilson - George Breakston	Apr. 20	78	Mar. 10
Once to Every Woman	Fay Wray - Walter Connolly - Ralph Bellamy	Jan. 15	70	Mar. 31
One Is Guilty	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey	Mar. 31	64
Party's Over, The	Stuart Erwin-Ann Sothern	May 15	65
(See "In the Cutting Room," Apr. 14.)
Shadows of Sing Sing	Bruce Cabot - Mary Brian	Dec. 3,'33	65	Mar. 3
Sisters Under the Skin	Elissa Landi-Joseph Schildkraut-Frank Morgan	Apr. 15	70	Apr. 14
Social Register	Colleen Moore-Alexander Kirkland	Mar. 10	74
Speed Wings	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Feb. 5	60	Apr. 7
Straightaway	Tim McCoy-Sue Carol	Dec. 22,'33	60	Jan. 27
Twentieth Century	John Barrymore - C. Lombard - Walter Connolly	May 11	91	Apr. 21
Voice in the Night	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward	Apr. 6	59
Whirlpool	Jack Holt-Lila Lee-Jean Arthur	Apr. 10	74	Apr. 21

Coming Attractions

Title	Star
Black Moon	Jack Holt-Fay Wray
Defense Rests, The	Jack Holt-Jean Arthur
Hell Cat, The	Robt. Armstrong-Ann Sothern
(See "In the Cutting Room," May 12.)
Lady Is Willing, The	Leslie Howard-Binnie Barnes. 76 Feb. 10
Man's Game, A	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp
One Night of Love	Grace Moore-Tullio Carminati
Song You Gave Me, The	Bebe Daniels-Victor Varconi. 84 Oct. 21,'33
Special Agent	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey
Whom the Gods Destroy	Walter Connolly-Robert Young

DU WORLD PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beast of Borneo	John Preston - May Stuart - Borneo Joe	Apr. 14	70
Death Over Shanghai	Else Elster-Ralf Osterman	Dec. 15,'33	62
Fantomas	Jean Galland	Feb. 15	59	Apr. 14
Girl in the Case	Jimmy Savo - Eddie Lambert - Dorothy Darling	Mar. 15	60
Hollywood, City of Dreams	Jose Bohr	Mar. 30	68
Queen of the Underworld	Hans Albers - Charlotte Susa - Wera Engels	Jan. 5	65
Romance in Budapest	Franciska Gaal	Apr. 18	93
Shame of a Nation	Gustaf Diessl	Apr. 10	75	May 5

FIRST DIVISION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dassan		Dec. 22,'33	36	Dec. 30,'33
Eat 'Em Alive		Nov. 3,'33	56	Nov. 18,'33
Forgotten Men	War Film	Apr. 1	84	May 27,'33
He, King of Virtue	Fernandel-Collette Darfeuil	Dec. 20,'33	58
Road to Ruin	Helen Foster-Paul Page	May 15	58	Feb. 24
Throne of the Gods		Dec. 22,'33	55	Dec. 30,'33

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bedside	Warren William	Jan. 27	65	Mar. 17
Big Shakedown, The	Bette Davis - Charles Farrell - Ricardo Cortez	Jan. 6	64	Feb. 17
Convention City	Joan Blondell - Dick Powell - Adolphe Menjou-Mary Astor	Dec. 30,'33	69	Dec. 9,'33
Dark Hazard	Edward G. Robinson	Feb. 3	72	Nov. 25,'33
Fashions of 1934	William Powell-Bette Davis	Feb. 17	78	Jan. 13
Female	Ruth Chatterton	Nov. 11,'33	60	Oct. 21,'33
Havana Widows	Joan Blondell - Glenda Farrell - Lyle Talbot	Nov. 18,'33	62	Dec. 2,'33
Journal of a Crime	Ruth Chatterton	Mar. 10	65	May 5
Mandalay	Kay Francis-Ricardo Cortez	Feb. 10	65	Feb. 24
Massacre	R. Barthelmess-Ann Dvorak	Jan. 20	69	Jan. 27
Registered Nurse	Bebe Daniels-Lyle Talbot	Apr. 7	62
Son of a Sailor	Joe E. Brown - Johnny Mack Brown	Dec. 23,'33	73	Dec. 9,'33
Very Honorable Guy, A	Joe E. Brown-Alice White	May 5	62	Mar. 24
Wonder Bar	Al Jolson-Dick Powell-Ricardo Cortez-Dolores Del Rio - Kay Francis	Mar. 31	84	Feb. 17
World Changes, The	Paul Muni	Nov. 25,'33	93	Nov. 4,'33

Coming Attractions

Title	Star
British Agent	Leslie Howard - Kay Francis
Circus Clown, The	Joe E. Brown
(See "In the Cutting Room," Apr. 28.)
Fog Over Frisco	Donald Woods-Bette Davis-Lyle Talbot-Margaret Lindsay
Kansas City Princess	Joan Blondell - Glenda Farrell - Robert Armstrong
Man with Two Faces, The	Edward G. Robinson - Mary Astor-Ricardo Cortez
Merry Frinks, The	Aline MacMahon
Midnight Alibi	Richard Barthelmess - Ann Dvorak
Return of the Terror	Lyle Talbot-Mary Astor
Side Streets	Aline MacMahon - Paul Kelly - Ann Dvorak
(See "A Woman in Her Thirties," "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 17.)
Twenty Million Sweethearts	Dick Powell - Ginger Rogers - Pat O'Brien
(Reviewed under the title "Rhythm in the Air")

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
All Men Are Enemies	Hugh Williams - Helen Twelvetrees	Apr. 20	79	Apr. 7
As Husbands Go	Warner Baxter-Helen Vinson	Dec. 29,'33	80	Nov. 18,'33
Berkeley Square	Leslie Howard-Heather Angel	Nov. 3,'33	87	July 22,'33
Bottoms Up	"Pat" Paterson-Spencer Tracy-John Boles	Mar. 30	84	Mar. 10
Carolina	Janet Gaynor-Lionel Barrymore-Robert Young-Henrietta Crosman	Feb. 2	82	Feb. 3
Change of Heart	Janet Gaynor-Charles Farrell-Ginger Rogers-James Dunn	May 18	76	May 12
Coming Out Party	Frances Dee-Gene Raymond	Mar. 9	79	Jan. 27
Constant Nymph, The	Victoria Hopper-Brian Aherne	Mar. 23	84	Apr. 14
David Harum	Will Rogers-Evelyn Venable	Mar. 2	83	Mar. 3
Devil Tiger	Kane Richmond-Marion Burns	Feb. 16	60	Feb. 17
Ever Since Eve	George O'Brien-Mary Brian	Feb. 9	72	Apr. 7
Frontier Marshal	George O'Brien-Irene Bentley	Jan. 19	66	Feb. 18
George White's Scandals	Rudy Valle - George White - Alice Faye-Jimmy Durante	Mar. 16	78	Mar. 17
Heart Song	Lilian Harvey-Charles Boyer	Apr. 27	95	Aug. 12,'33
Hold That Girl	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Feb. 16	65	Mar. 31
Hoopla	Clara Bow-Preston Foster	Nov. 30,'33	78	Dec. 9,'33
I Am Suzanne!	Lilian Harvey-Gene Raymond	Jan. 5	98	Jan. 27
I Believed in You	Victory Jory - John Boles - Rosemary Ames	Feb. 23	65	Feb. 17
I Was a Spy	Herbert Marshall - Madeleine Carroll - Conrad Veidt	Dec. 15,'33	85	Sept. 23,'33
Jimmy and Sally	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Nov. 24,'33	68	Dec. 23,'33
Mr. Skitch	Will Rogers - ZaSu Pitts	Dec. 22,'33	69	Dec. 16,'33
Murder in Trinidad	Heather Angel - Victor Jory - Nigel Bruce	Apr. 6	74
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 3.)
My Lips Betray	Lilian Harvey-John Boles	Nov. 10,'33	79	Nov. 11,'33
Now I'll Tell	Spencer Tracy-Alice Faye-Helen Twelvetrees	May 11	87	Apr. 28
Olsen's Big Moment	El Brendel	Nov. 17,'33	66	Oct. 28,'33
Orient Express	Heather Angel-Norman Foster	Jan. 12	72	Mar. 10
Sleepers East	Wynne Gibson-Preston Foster	Jan. 26	69
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30,'33.)
Smoky	Victor Jory-Irene Bentley	Dec. 8,'33	69	Dec. 9,'33
Stand Up and Cheer	(All Star Musical)	May 4	80	Apr. 28
Such Women Are Dangerous	Warner Baxter-Rosemary Ames	May. 4
(See "Too Many Women," "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 31.)
Three on a Honeymoon	Sally Eilers-Johnny Mack Brown	Mar. 23	65
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 3.)

Coming Attractions

Title	Star
Baby Take a Bow	James Dunn - Claire Trevor - Shirley Temple
Call It Luck	"Pat" Paterson-Charles Starrett
Caravan	Charles Boyer-Loretta Young
Cats-Paw, The	Harold Lloyd-Una Merkel
(See "In the Cutting Room," May 12.)
Charlie Chan's Courage	Warner Oland
Grand Canary	Warner Baxter-Madge Evans
Handy Andy	Will Rogers-Peggy Wood
She Learned About Sailors	Lew Ayres-Alice Faye
She Was a Lady	Helen Twelvetrees
Springtime for Henry	Otto Kruger - Nancy Carroll - Heather Angel
Wanted	Hugh Williams-Claire Trevor
Wild Gold	John Boles-Claire Trevor
World Moves On, The	Madeleine Carroll - Franchot Tone

FREULER FILM ASSOCIATES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Love Past Thirty	Aileen Pringle - Theodore Von Eltz	Jan. 27	73
Marriage on Approval	Donald Dillaway-Barbara Kent-Phyllis Barry	Nov. 22,'33	78	Mar. 17
War of the Range	Tom Tyler	Sept. 22,'33	60

GAUMONT-BRITISH

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baroud (See "Love in Morocco")
Britannia of Billingsgate	Violet Loraine-Gordon Harker		78	Oct. 7,'33
Channel Crossing	Constance Cummings - Matheson Lang	May 1	69	Apr. 7
Dick Turpin	Victor McLaglen	May 15	70
Falling for You	J. Hulbert-Cicely Courtneidge		70	Sept. 30,'33
Fire Raisers, The	Leslie Banks
Friday the 13th	Jessie Matthews
Ghost Train, The	Jack Hulbert	Dec. 1,'33	71	Feb. 25,'33
Ghoul, The	Boris Karloff	Feb. 15	75	Oct. 28,'33
It's a Boy	Edward Everett Horton - Leslie Hensen		80	Sept. 30,'33
Just Smith	Tom Walls		69	May 5
King of the Ritz	Stanley Lupino-Gina Malo		88
Love in Morocco	Rex Ingram	Dec. 1,'33	73	Oct. 15,'32
(Reviewed under the title "Baroud")
Love on Wheels	Jack Hulbert-Gordon Harker		91
Lucky Number, The	Clifford Mollison - Joan Wyndham		72½	Sept. 9,'33
Man from Toronto, The	Jessie Matthews - Ian Hunter - Fred Kerr		77

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Marry Me	Renate Muller-Harry Green		85.	Apr. 22,'33
Night and Day	Jack Hulbert-Winifred Shotter	Dec. 1,'33	77.	June 10,'33
Night of the Party, The	Leslie Banks		62.	Mar. 10
Orders Is Orders	Charlotte Greenwood - James Gleason	Apr. 15	87.	Aug. 19,'33
Prince of Wales, The
Sleeping Car	Ivor Novello-Madeleine Carroll		83.	July 8,'33
There Goes the Bride	Jessie Matthews	Dec. 1,'33	79.	Mar. 11,'33
Turkey Time	Tom Walls-Ralph Lynn		71.	Mar. 24
Woman in Command, The	Cicely Courtneidge - Edward Everett Horton		80.

GOLDSMITH PRODUCTIONS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Carnival Lady	Boots Mallory-Allen Vincent	Sept. 15,'33	69.	Feb. 17
I Hate Women	Wallace Ford-June Clyde	Apr. 15	72.	Apr. 14
Woman Unafraid	Lucille Gleason - Richard "Skeets" Gallagher	Feb. 15	68.

Coming Attractions

Born to Hang	All Star Cast	June 15

INVINCIBLE PICTURES

[Distributed through Chesterfield]

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cross Streets	John Mack Brown - Claire Windsor - Anita Louise - Kenneth Thomson	Jan. 22	67.
Dance, Girl, Dance	Alan Dinehart-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 1,'33	70.	Nov. 11,'33
Fifteen Wives	Conway Tearle-Noel Francis	May 15
In Love with Life	Onslow Stevens-Lila Lee-Dickie Moore	Apr. 1	68.
In the Money	"Skeets" Gallagher - Lois Wilson - Warren Hymer	Nov. 7,'33	62.	Jan. 13
Twin Husbands	John Miljan - Shirley Grey - Monroe Owsley	Feb. 25	62.

LIBERTY PICTURES

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheaters	"Bill" Boyd-Dorothy Mackaill-June Collyer		68.
No Ransom	Leila Hyams-Phillips Holmes
Once to Every Bachelor	Marian Nixon-Neil Hamilton		*70.
School for Girls
Take the Stand	Jack LaRue-Thelma Todd		78.
Two Heads on a Pillow	Neil Hamilton-Miriam Jordan
When Strangers Meet	Richard Cromwell-Arline Judge		74.
Without Children

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Charming Deceiver, The (Reviewed under the title, "Heads We Go")	Constance Cummings	Dec. 8,'33	87.	Sept. 16,'33
Curtain at Eight	Dorothy Mackaill - C. Aubrey Smith - Paul Cavanagh	Oct. 1,'33	74.	Feb. 17
Morning After, The (Reviewed under the title, "I Spy")	Ben Lyon-Sally Eilers	Jan. 1	63.	Oct. 28,'33
Sin of Nora Moran, The	Zita Johann-John Miljan	Dec. 13,'33	65.	Dec. 30,'33
Unknown Blonde	Edward Arnold - John Miljan - Barbara Barondess - Dorothy Revier	Apr. 23	67.	May 5
You Made Me Love You	Thelma Todd-Stanley Lupino	Nov. 24,'33	74.	Oct. 14,'33

MAYFAIR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Badge of Honor	"Buster" Crabbe-Ruth Hall	Apr. 15	68
Fighting Rookie, The	Jack LaRue-Ada Ince	May 15
Her Forgotten Past	Monte Blue - Barbara Kent - Henry B. Walthall	Sept. 1,'33	69.
Secret Sinners	Sue Carol-Nick Stuart	Oct. 20,'33	70.
What's Your Racket?	Regis Toomey-Noel Francis	Dec. 1,'33	70.	Mar. 10

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cat and the Fiddle, The	Jeanette MacDonald-Ramon Novarro	Feb. 16	78.	Feb. 24
Chief, The	Ed Wynn-D. Mackaill	Nov. 3,'33	66.	Dec. 9,'33
Dancing Lady	Joan Crawford-Clark Gable	Nov. 24,'33	94.	Nov. 25,'33
Dinner at Eight	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore - Jean Harlow - Madge Evans - Karen Morley - Edmund Lowe - Lee Tracy - Jean Hersholt	Jan. 12	113.	June 10,'33
Eskimo	Native Cast	Jan. 19	117.	Nov. 18,'33
Fugitive Lovers	Robt. Montgomery-Madge Evans	Jan. 5	78.	Dec. 30,'33
Going Hollywood	Marion Davies-Bing Crosby	Dec. 22,'33	79.	Dec. 16,'33
Her Sweetheart (Reviewed under the title, "Christopher Bean")	Marie Dressler-L. Barrymore	Nov. 17,'33	87.	Nov. 18,'33
Laughing Boy	Ramon Novarro-Lupe Velez	Apr. 13	79.
Lazy River	Jean Parker-Robert Young	Mar. 16	77.	Mar. 10
Manhattan Melodrama	Clark Gable-Myrna Loy-William Powell	May 4	95.	Apr. 28
Men in White	Clark Gable-Myrna Loy	Apr. 6	75.	Feb. 17
Mystery of Mr. X	Robert Montgomery - Elizabeth Allan	Feb. 23	85.	Mar. 3
Prizefighter and the Lady, The	Max Baer-Myrna Loy-Dempsey-Carnera-Walter Huston	Nov. 10,'33	102.	Oct. 28,'33
Queen Christina	Greta Garbo-John Gilbert	Feb. 9	103.	Dec. 30,'33
Riptide	Norma Shearer - Robert Montgomery - Herbert Marshall	Mar. 30	90.	Mar. 31
Sadie McKee	Joan Crawford-Franchot Tone	May 11	*88.	May 12
Should Ladies Behave? (Reviewed under the title, "The Vinegar Tree")	Alice Brady-Lionel Barrymore-Conway Tearle	Dec. 1,'33	78.	Nov. 11,'33
Show-Off, The	Spencer Tracy-Madge Evans	Mar. 9	80.	Mar. 3
Sons of the Desert	Laurel and Hardy	Dec. 29,'33	68.	Jan. 20
Tarzan and His Mate	J. Weissmuller-M. O'Sullivan	Aor. 20	116.	Apr. 28
This Side of Heaven	Lionel Barrymore-Fay Bainter	Feb. 2	76.	Jan. 27
Women in His Life, The	Otto Kruger-Isabel Jewell-Ben Lyon	Dec. 8,'33	76.	Feb. 3
You Can't Buy Everything	May Robson-Jean Parker	Jan. 26	85.	Feb. 10

Coming Attractions

Barretts of Wimpole Street	Norma Shearer-Charles Laughton - Fredric March
Green Hat, The	Constance Bennett - Herbert Marshall - Hugh Williams
Hollywood Party	(All Star Musical)	June 1	72.
Merry Widow, The	Maurice Chevalier - Jeanette MacDonald
One Hundred Percent Pure	Jean Harlow-Franchot Tone	July 13
Operator Thirteen	Marion Davies-Gary Cooper	June 8
Rear Car	Charles Ruggles-Una Merkel	June 22
Thin Man, The	William Powell-Myrna Loy	May 25	*95.
Treasure Island	Wallace Beery - Jackie Cooper-Lionel Barrymore-Otto Kruger
Viva Villa!	Wallace Beery-Fay Wray		115.	Apr. 7

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beggars in Ermine	Lionel Atwill	Feb. 22	72.	Feb. 24
Blue Steel	John Wayne	May 10	54.	May 12
Broken Dreams	Randolph Scott-Martha Sleeper	Oct. 20,'33	68.	Nov. 4,'33
City Limits	Ray Walker-Sally Blane-Frank Craven	Apr. 15	67.
He Couldn't Take It	Ray Walker-Virginia Cherrill	Dec. 15,'33	63.	Mar. 24
House of Mystery, The	Verna Hillie-Ed Lowry	Mar. 30	62.
Lucky Texan, The	John Wayne	Jan. 22	56.	Jan. 27
Manhattan Love Song	Dixie Lee-Robt. Armstrong	Apr. 30	72.	Mar. 31
Monte Carlo Nights	Mary Brian-John Darrow	May 20	62.
Mystery Liner	Noah Beery - Astrid Allyn - Cornelius Keefe	Mar. 15	62.	Mar. 31
Riders of Destiny	John Wayne-Cecilia Parker	Oct. 10,'33	58.	Jan. 27
Sagebrush Trail	John Wayne	Dec. 15,'33	56.	Dec. 23,'33
Sixteen Fathoms Deep	Sally O'Neil-Creighton Chaney	Jan. 1	57.	Feb. 10
West of the Divide	John Wayne-Virginia B. Faire	Feb. 15	55.	Jan. 20
Woman's Man	John Halliday-Marguerite de la Motte-Wallace Ford	Feb. 7	64.	Jan. 27

Coming Attractions

Derby Day
Jane Eyre
Loudspeaker, The	Ray Walker-Jacqueline Wells	June 1	67.	May 12
Man from Utah, The	John Wayne	May 25
Money Means Nothing	Wallace Ford-Gloria Shea	June 15	70.
Randy Rides Again	John Wayne
Star Packer, The	John Wayne

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Alice in Wonderland	Charlotte Henry	Dec. 22,'33	75.	Dec. 16,'33
All of Me	Fredric March-Miriam Hopkins-George Raft	Jan. 19	71.	Jan. 13
Bolero	George Raft-Carole Lombard	Feb. 23	80.	Feb. 17
Come On, Marines	Richard Arlen-Ida Lupino	Mar. 23	68.	Mar. 10
Cradle Song	Dorothea Wieck-Kent Taylor	Nov. 17,'33	77.	Nov. 4,'33
Death Takes a Holiday (Reviewed under the title, "Strange Holiday")	Fredric March - Evelyn Venable	Mar. 30	78.	Jan. 20
Design for Living	Miriam Hopkins-Fredric March-Gary Cooper	Dec. 29,'33	88.	Nov. 25,'33
Double Door	Evelyn Venable-Kent Taylor	May 4	75.	Apr. 28
Duck Soup	Four Marx Bros.	Nov. 17,'33	80.	Nov. 11,'33
Eight Girls in a Boat	Kay Johnson - Dorothy Wilson - Doug. Montgomery	Jan. 5	78.	Dec. 30,'33
Four Frightened People	C. Colbert - H. Marshall - Wm. Gargan - M. Boland	Jan. 26	95.	Feb. 3
Girl Without a Room	M. Churchill-Charles Farrell	Dec. 8,'33	75.	Dec. 9,'33
Good Dame	Sylvia Sidney-Fredric March	Feb. 16	72.	Feb. 10
His Double Life	Roland Young-Lillian Gish	Jan. 12	68.	Dec. 30,'33
Last Round-Up, The	Randolph Scott-Barbara Fritchie	Jan. 26	65.	Jan. 6
Lone Cowboy	Jackie Cooper	Dec. 1,'33	68.	Nov. 25,'33
Melody in Spring	Charlie Ruggles-Mary Boland-Lanny Ross-Ann Sothern	Apr. 20	76.	Mar. 24
Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen	Dorothea Wieck-Baby Le Roy	Jan. 12	68.	Dec. 23,'33
No More Women	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen	Feb. 23	72.	Feb. 17
Private Scandal	Mary Brian-Phillips Holmes	May 11	65.	May 5
Search for Beauty	Larry ("Buster") Crabbe - Ida Lupino	Feb. 2	75.	Jan. 20
She Made Her Bed	Sally Eilers-Richard Arlen	Mar. 9	78.	Feb. 24
Sitting Pretty	Jack Haley-Jack Oakie-Ginger Rogers	Nov. 24,'33	80.	Dec. 2,'33
Six of a Kind	C. Ruggles-M. Boland-W. C. Fields - A. Skipworth - Burns and Allen	Feb. 9	65.	Jan. 27
Thirty Day Princess	Sylvia Sidney-Cary Grant	May 18	*73.	May 5
Thundering Herd, The	Randolph Scott-Judith Allen	Nov. 24,'33	58½.
Trumpet Blows, The	George Raft - Adolphe Menjou-Frances Drake	Apr. 13	72.	Apr. 7
We're Not Dressing	Bing Crosby - Carole Lombard - Ethel Merman-Leon Errol	Apr. 27	74.	May 5
Wharf Angel	Victor McLaglen-Dorothy Dell-Preston Foster	Mar. 16	62½.	Apr. 28
White Woman	Carole Lombard-Chas. Laughton-Chas. Bickford	Nov. 3,'33	73.	Oct. 28,'33
Witchino Hour, The	Judith Allen-Tom Brown	Apr. 27	64.	Apr. 28
You're Telling Me	W. C. Fields-Joan Marsh-Larry ("Buster") Crabbe	Apr. 6	70.	Mar. 31

Coming Attractions

Cleopatra	Claudette Colbert - Henry Wilcoxon - Warren William
Great Flirtation, The	Elissa Landi-Adolphe Menjou-David Manners	June 15
Here Comes the Groom	Jack Haley	June 22
It Ain't No Sin (See "In the Cutting Room," May 12.)	Mae West	June 29
Kiss and Make Up (See "In the Cutting Room," May 12.)	Cary Grant Genevieve Tobin
Little Miss Marker	Adolphe Menjou-Dorothy Dell	June 1	*80.	May 5
Many Happy Returns	Burns and Allen	June 8	*65.	May 12
Murder at the Vanities	Carl Brisson - Kitty Carlisle - Victor McLaglen-Jack Oakie	May 25		May 12
Old-Fashioned Way, The	W. C. Fields
Scarlet Empress, The	Marlene Dietrich-John Lodge		*100.	Apr. 28
She Loves Me Not	Bing Crosby-Miriam Hopkins
Shoot the Works	Jack Oakie-Dorothy Dell	June 29

PINNACLE PRODUCTIONS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Chloe	Olive Borden-Reed Howes	Aor. 1	64.
Hired Wife	Greta Nissen-Weldon Heyburn	Mar. 1	65.	Mar. 24
Playthings of Desire	Linda Watkins-James Kirkwood	Mar. 15	58.

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running TIme Minutes	Reviewed
Ferocious Pal, The	Kazan - Ruth Sullivan - Robert Manning	Feb. 2	55.
Fighting to Live	Captain-Lady-Marion Shilling-Gaylord Pendleton	May 6
Jaws of Justice	Kazan-Teddy and Richard Terry	Dec. 4,'33	58.
Russia Today		Nov. 8,'33	42.	Oct. 28,'33
Thunder Over Mexico	Native Cast	Nov. 15,'33	70.	May 20,'33

Coming Attractions

Little Damozel	Anna Neagle-James Rennie
Peck's Bad Boy	Jackie Cooper

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
After Tonight	Constance Bennett - Gilbert Roland	Nov. 10,'33	71.	Oct. 28,'33
Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men	Wynne Gibson-Charles Farrell	Nov. 3,'33	73.	Oct. 28,'33
Crime Doctor	Otto Kruger-Karen Morley	Apr. 27	74.	Mar. 17
Finishing School	Ginger Rogers - Frances Dee - Bruce Cabot	May 4	73.	Apr. 7
Flying Down to Rio	Dolores Del Rio - Gene Raymond - Raul Roulien	Dec. 29,'33	89.	Dec. 16,'33
Goodbye Love	Charles Ruggles	Nov. 10,'33	67½.
Hips, Hips, Hooray!	Wheeler and Woolsey	Feb. 2	68.	Jan. 27

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
If I Were Free!	Irene Dunne-Nils Asther-Clive Brook	Dec.	1,'33	66. Dec. 23,'33
Keep 'Em Rolling	Walter Huston-Frances Dee	Mar.	2	69½. Feb. 10
Little Women	K. Hepburn - Joan Bennett - Frances Dee - Paul Lukas	Nov.	24,'33	115. Nov. 11,'33
Long Lost Father	John Barrymore-Helen Chandler	Jan.	19	63. Feb. 24
Lost Patrol, The	McLaglen-Karloff	Feb.	16	75. Feb. 3
Man of Two Worlds	Francis Lederer-Elissa Landi	Feb.	9	96½. Jan. 20
Meanest Gal in Town, The	ZaSu Pitts - Pert Kelton - El Brendel - James Gleason - "Skeets" Gallagher	Jan.	12	67. Mar. 10
Right to Romance, The	Ann Harding-Nils Asther	Nov.	17,'33	70. Nov. 25,'33
Sing and Like It	ZaSu Pitts - Pert Kelton - Edward Everett Horton	Apr.	20	72. Apr. 21
Son of Kong	Robert Armstrong-Helen Mack	Dec.	22,'33	69½. Jan. 6
Spitfire	Katharine Hepburn	Mar.	30	88. Feb. 24
Strictly Dynamite	Jimmy Durante - Lupe Velez - Norman Foster-Wm. Gargan-Marian Nixon	May	11	*67. May 5
Success at Any Price	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.-Colleen Moore-Genevieve Tobin	Mar.	16	77. May 12
This Man Is Mine	Irene Dunne-Ralph Bellamy	Apr.	13	76. Apr. 21
Two Alone	Jean Parker-Tom Brown	Jan.	26	74. Jan. 20
Where Sinners Meet	Clive Brook-Diana Wynyard	May	18	72½. Apr. 28
Wild Cargo	Frank Buck	Apr.	6	96. Mar. 31

Coming Attractions

Afterwards	ZaSu Pitts-Slim Summerville-Wm. Gaxton-Bruce Cabot
Bachelor Bait	Pert Kelton-Stuart Erwin
Cockeyed Cavaliers (See "In the Cutting Room," May 5.)	Wheeler and Woolsey
Down to Their Last Yacht	Sidney Blackmer - Sidney Fox
Family Man (See "In the Cutting Room," May 5.)	Richard Dix-Barbara Kent
Green Mansions	Dolores Del Rio-Joel McCrea
Murder on the Blackboard	James Gleason-Edna May Oliver
Of Human Bondage (See "In the Cutting Room," Apr. 14.)	Leslie Howard-Bette Davis	June	1
Sour Grapes	Diana Wynyard-Clive Brook
Stingaree	Irene Dunne-Richard Dix	May	25	76½. May 12
Vergie Winters (See "In the Cutting Room," May 12.)	Ann Harding-John Boles
We're Rich Again	Marian Nixon - Billie Burke - Reginald Denny - Buster Crabbe

SHOWMENS PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beyond Bengal	Harry Schenck	May	2	65. Apr. 28
Big Race, The	Boots Mallory-John Darrow	Dec.	1,'33	71
Moth, The	Sally D'Neil-Paul Page	Jan.	15	63
Public Stenographer	Lola Lane-Wm. Collier, Jr.	Nov.	1,'33	62. Feb. 10
St. Louis Woman	John Mack Brown-Jeanette Loff	Apr.	15	68

Coming Attractions

Golden Head
Souls in Pawn
Special Duty
Unlimited
Within the Rock

STATE RIGHTS

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ariane	Elizabeth Bergner-Percy Marmont	Blue Ribbon Photoplays	Mar.	6	69. Apr. 7
Big Time or Bust	Regis Toomey-Gloria Shea	Tower	Nov.	10,'33	62. Mar. 10
Criminal at Large	Evelyn Williams - Cathleen Nesbitt	Helber Prods.	Dec.	15,'33	67. Jan. 6
Cougar, the King Killer	Edwin C. Hill - Jay Bruce	Master Art	Nov.	1,'33	60
Death Parade, The	(War Film)	Henry Zapp			77. Feb. 3
Enlighten Thy Daughter	Beth Barton-Miriam Battista	Exploitation Picts.	Jan.	15	80. Dec. 30,'33
Farewell to Love	Jan Kiepura-Heather Angel	Madison Picts.	Nov.	24,'33	60. Dec. 2,'33
Film Parade		General Picts.	Jan.	12	55
Found Alive	Barbara Bedford	Ideal	Feb.	10	56. Feb. 24
Get That Venus	Ernest Truex - Jean Arthur	Regent Picts.
Gow		Film Exchange	Nov.	29,'33	65. Dec. 9,'33
Hell on Earth	All Star	Aeolian Picts.	Jan.	27	70. Feb. 10
Her Splendid Folly	Lilian Bond - T. Von Eltz	Progressive	Oct.	7,'33	59. Nov. 4,'33
Hitler's Reign of Terror		Jewel Prods.	Apr.	30	67. May 12
Le Gong (Dance of the Virgins)		Bennett Picts.			55. Jan. 20
Lost Jungle, The	Clyde Beatty	Mascot	May	1	7 rls.
No Funny Business	Gertrude Lawrence - Laurence Olivier	Ferrone Prods.	Mar.	7	60
Sweden, Land of the Vikings		Associated Cinemas	Jan.	3	70. Jan. 13
Through the Centuries		Beacon Films	Dec.	1,'33	70. Dec. 16,'33
Wine, Women and Song	Lilyan Tashman-Lew Cody	I. E. Chadwick			70. Dec. 23,'33

UNITED ARTISTS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Advice to the Lovelorn	Lee Tracy-Sally Blane	Dec.	1,'33	62. Dec. 9,'33
Blood Money	George Bancroft-Frances Dee-Chick Chandler-Judith Anderson	Nov.	17,'33	65. Nov. 18,'33
Born to Be Bad	Loretta Young-Cary Grant	May	18
Catherine the Great	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. - Elizabeth Bergner	Apr.	13	93. Feb. 10
Gallant Lady	Ann Harding-Clive Brook	Jan.	5	82. Dec. 9,'33
House of Rothschild, The	George Arliss	Apr.	6	86. Mar. 10
Looking for Trouble	Spencer Tracy - Jack Oakie - Constance Cummings	Mar.	9	77. Feb. 3
Moulin Rouge	Constance Bennett - Franchot Tone - T. Carminati	Jan.	19	70. Dec. 23,'33
Nana	Anna Sten-Lionel Atwill-Phillips Holmes	Mar.	2	88. Jan. 13
Palooka	Jimmy Durante-Stuart Erwin-Lupe Velez	Feb.	16	86. Jan. 27
Private Life of Henry. VIII, The	Charles Laughton	Nov.	3,'33	93. Sept. 23,'33
Roman Scandals	Eddie Cantor - Gloria Stuart - David Manners-Ruth Etting	Dec.	29,'33	91. Dec. 9,'33
Sorrell and Son	H. B. Warner	Apr.	20	85. Jan. 6

Coming Attractions

Affairs of Cellini, The (Reviewed under the title "The Firebrand")	Fredric March-Constance Bennett-Frank Morgan-Fay Wray		*85	Apr. 21
Barbary Coast	Anna Sten-Gary Cooper
Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back (See "In the Cutting Room," May 5.)	Ronald Colman-Loretta Young		*80
Count of Monte Cristo, The	Robert Donat-Elissa Landi
Last Gentleman, The	George Arliss		*80	May 12
Nell Gwynn	Anna Neagle-Cedric Hardwicke
Our Daily Bread	Karen Morley-Tom Keene
Private Life of Don Juan, The	Douglas Fairbanks, Sr.
Resurrection	Anna Sten-Fredric March
Treasure Hunt, The (Tent.)	Eddie Cantor - Ann Sothern - Ethel Merman

UNIVERSAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Affairs of a Gentleman	Paul Lukas - Leila Hyams - Patricia Ellis	May	14	*60. May 12
All Quiet on the Western Front. (Reissue)	Lew Ayres	Apr.	2	84. Apr. 26,'30
Beloved	John Boles-Gloria Stuart	Jan.	22	82. Dec. 23,'33
Black Cat, The	Boris Karloff-Bela Lugosi-David Manners	May	7	65
Bombay Mail	Edmund Lowe-Onslow Stevens-Shirley Grey	Jan.	1	68. Jan. 13
By Candlelight	Elissa Landi-Paul Lukas	Dec.	18,'33	70. Dec. 23,'33
Countess of Monte Cristo	Fay Wray-Paul Lukas	Mar.	19	78. Mar. 3
Crosby Case, The	Wynne Gibson-Onslow Stevens-Alan Dinehart	Mar.	5	60. Apr. 7
Cross Country Cruise	Lew Ayres - Alice White - June Knight	Jan.	15	77. Jan. 27
Counsellor-at-Law	John Barrymore-Bebe Daniels	Dec.	25,'33	78. Nov. 25,'33
Glamour	Constance Cummings - Paul Lukas	Apr.	9	74. Apr. 7
Gun Justice	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Dec.	11,'33	60. Mar. 31
Half a Sinner	Joel McCrea-Sally Blane	Apr.	30	78½. Apr. 28
Honor of the Range	Ken Maynard	Apr.	16	61. May 5
Horse Play	Slim Summerville-Andy Devine-Leila Hyams	Nov.	27,'33	70. Mar. 17
I Like It That Way	Gloria Stuart-Roger Pryor	Feb.	12	67. Apr. 28
I'll Tell the World	Lee Tracy-Gloria Stuart	Apr.	16	76. Apr. 14
Invisible Man, The	Claude Rains-Gloria Stuart - Wm. Harrigan	Nov.	13,'33	70. Nov. 4,'33
Let's Be Ritzy	Lew Ayres-Patricia Ellis	Mar.	26	68. Mar. 17
Love Birds, The	Summerville-Pitts	Mar.	12	62. Apr. 21
Love Captive, The	Nils Asther-Gloria Stuart	May	21
Madame Spy	Fay Wray-Nils Asther	Jan.	8	70. Jan. 6
Midnight	D. P. Heggie-Sidney Fox	Jan.	29	80. Mar. 17
Myrt and Marge	Myrtle Dale - Donna Damerell - Ted Healy	Dec.	4,'33	68. Sept. 9,'33
Only Yesterday	John Boles-Margaret Sullavan-Benita Hume-Billie Burke	Nov.	6,'33	105. Nov. 25,'33
Poor Rich, The	Edna May Oliver-Edward Everett Horton	Feb.	26	65. Jan. 6
Uncertain Lady (See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 17.)	Genevieve Tobin-Edward Everett Horton	Apr.	23	65
Wheels of Destiny	Ken Maynard	Feb.	19	64. Apr. 14

Coming Attractions

Embarrassing Moments	Chester Morris-Marian Nixon	June	25
I Give My Love	Wynne Gibson-Paul Lukas	June	11
Let's Talk It Over	Chester Morris - Mae Clarke	June	4
Little Man, What Now?	Margaret Sullavan - Douglass Montgomery	May	28
One More River	Diana Wynyard - Colin Clive - Frank Lawton - Mary Astor - Reginald Denny
Smoking Guns (Reviewed under the title "Doomed to Die.")	Ken Maynard-Gloria Shea	June	11	65. Apr. 21
There's Always Tomorrow (T.)	Frank Morgan-Elizabeth Young

WARNER BROS.

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
As the Earth Turns	Jean Muir-Donald Woods	Apr.	14	73. Feb. 10
College Coach	Dick Powell-Pat D'Brien-Ann Dvorak - Lyle Talbot	Nov.	4,'33	75. Nov. 18,'33
Disraeli (Reissue)	George Arliss	Dec.	16,'33	88. Dec. 14,'29
Easy to Love	Adolphe Menjou - Mary Astor - Genevieve Tobin	Jan.	13	61. Jan. 20
Ever in My Heart	Barbara Stanwyck	Oct.	28,'33	68. Oct. 21,'33
Footlight Parade	James Cagney - Joan Blondell - Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Guy Kibbee	Oct.	21,'33	101. Oct. 7,'33
From Headquarters	Geo. Brent-Margaret Lindsay	Dec.	2,'33	63. Dec. 2,'33
Gambling Lady	Barbara Stanwyck	Mar.	31	66. Mar. 10
Harold Teen	Hal LeRoy - Rochelle Hudson - Patricia Ellis	Apr.	7	66. Feb. 24
Heat Lightning	Aline MacMahon-Preston Foster-Ann Dvorak-Lyle Talbot	Mar.	3	63. Mar. 17
Hi, Nellie!	Paul Muni	Jan.	20	75. Feb. 3
House on 56th Street, The	Kay Francis - Ricardo Cortez - Gene Raymond	Dec.	23,'33	68. Dec. 9,'33
I've Got Your Number	Joan Blondell-Pat D'Brien	Feb.	24	68. Feb. 10
Jimmy the Gent	James Cagney-Bette Davis	Mar.	17	67. Mar. 31
Kennel Murder Case	William Powell-Mary Astor	Oct.	28,'33	73. Nov. 4,'33
Lady Killer	James Cagney	Dec.	9,'33	76. Dec. 2,'33
Merry Wives of Reno	Glenda Farrell-Margaret Lindsay - Donald Woods	May	12	64
Modern Hero, A	Richard Barthelmess	Apr.	21	71. Apr. 28
Smarty	Joan Blondell-Warren William	May	19	64
Upper World	Warren William - Mary Astor - Ginger Rogers	Apr.	28	72. Apr. 7

Coming Attractions

Dames	Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Joan Blondell
Dr. Monica (See "In the Cutting Room," Apr. 28.)	Kay Francis-Warren William	June	23
Dragon Murder Case, The	Warren William
Friends of Mr. Sweeney (See "In the Cutting Room," May 5.)	Charlie Ruggles-Ann Dvorak	July	7
He Was Her Man (See "In the Cutting Room," Apr. 28.)	James Cagney-Joan Blondell	June	16	70
Hey, Sailor!	James Cagney - Pat D'Brien - Gloria Stuart
Housewife	George Brent-Bette Davis
Key, The (See "Isle of Fury," "In the Cutting Room," Apr. 14.)	Edna Best - William Powell - Colin Clive	June	9
Madame Du Barry	Dolores Del Rio-Victory Jory
Personality Kid, The	Pat D'Brien-Glenda Farrell

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Adieu Les Beaux Jours	Brigitte Helm - Jean Gabin	Ufa	Apr.	21	100
Autumn Crocus	Ivor Novello-Fay Compton	Associated Talking Pictures			Apr. 14
End of the World, The	Victor Francen-Collette Darfeuil	Harold Auten	Apr.	12	54. Apr. 28
Girl from Maxim's, The	Frances Day	London Film			Oct. 14,'33
Mam'zelle Nitouche	Janie Marese-Raimu	Protex	Nov.	18,'33	90. Dec. 2,'33
Passion of Joan of Arc, The	Maria Falconnetti	Capital	Sept.	7,'33	57. Sept. 16,'33
Petterson and Bendel	Adolf Jahr-Sammy Scandinavian Friedmann	Talking Picts.	Jan.	1	148. Mar. 10
Pledge, The	Line Noro - Jean Galland	Protex	Mar.	13	96. Mar. 24
Prince of Arcadia	Carl Brisson	Gaumont-British			80. Oct. 28,'33
Red Wagon	Charles Bickford - Raquel Torres - Greta Nissen	British Int'l
Saint Anthony of Padua	Carlo Pinzauti	Integrity Film	Feb.	8	90. Feb. 17
This Week of Grace	Gracie Fields	Radio			92. Oct. 28,'33
Two Orphans, The	Yvette Guilbert - Rosine Derean - Renee Saint-Cyr	Blue Ribbon Photoplays	Feb.	6	92. Feb. 24
Volga Volga	H. A. Shilletton	Kinematrade	Dec.	14,'33	76. Jan. 6
Wandering Jew, The	Jacob Ben-Ami	JAFA	Oct.	20,'33	90. Oct. 28,'33

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1934 unless otherwise stated]

CELEBRITY PROD'TIONS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
COMICOLOR CARTOONS
Jack and the Beanstalk	Dec. 23,'33	8
The Little Red Hen	Feb. 16	7
The Brave Tin Soldier	Apr. 7	7
Puss in Boots	May 17	1 rl.
The Queen of Hearts	June 25	1 rl.
Aladdin	July 30	1 rl.

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BROADWAY COMEDIES
Elmer Steps Out. Walter Catlett	Feb. 28	20
Fishing for Trouble	May 4	2 rls.
Get Along Little Hubby		2 rls.
Hold Your Temper. Leon Errol	Dec. 15,'33	20
Hot Daze. Smith and Dale	Oct. 20,'33	2 rls.
Radio-dough. Sidney and Murray	Feb. 5	2 rls.
Stable Mates	Apr. 6	2 rls.
When Do We Eat?	Mar. 19	2 rls.
Ten Baby Fingers. Sidney and Murray	Jan. 26	2 rls.
KRAZY KAT KARTOONS
Autograph Hunter	Jan. 5	1 rl.
Bill Poster, The	Nov. 24,'33	1 rl.
Bird Man May
Busy Bus	Apr. 20	1 rl.
Bowery Daze	Mar. 30	1 rl.
Cinder Alley	Mar. 9	1 rl.
Curio Shop, The	Dec. 15,'33	7
Krazy Spooks	Oct. 13,'33	1 rl.
Masquerade Party		1 rl.
Southern Exposure	Feb. 5	1 rl.
Stage Krazy	Nov. 13,'33	1 rl.
Tom Thumb	Feb. 16	1 rl.
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY
2—In the Orient	Oct. 25,'33	10
3—In South America	Dec. 22,'33	1 rl.
4—Among the Nordics	Feb. 20	1 rl.
5—In India	Apr. 20	1 rl.
MARCH OF THE YEARS
No. 2—	Oct. 6,'33	1 rl.
No. 3—Famous Crippen Case	Oct. 20,'33	10
No. 4—Commander Perry Opens Japan	Nov. 3,'33	11
No. 5—	Jan. 24	1 rl.
No. 6—	Jan. 24	1 rl.
MICKEY McGUIRE COMEDIES
1—Mickey's Touchdown	Oct. 14,'33	18
2—Mickey's Tent Show	Oct. 27,'33	18
3—Mickey's Covered Wagon	Nov. 30,'33	18
4—Mickey's Minstrels	Jan. 11	18
5—Mickey's Rescue	Mar. 23	2 rls.
6—Mickey's Medicine Man	May 18	2 rls.
MINUTE MYSTERIES
No. 1—Death Attends a Party	Oct. 6,'33	9
No. 2—Fast Fangs	Oct. 13,'33	1 rl.
No. 3—The Clown Dies	Dec. 14,'33	1 rl.
No. 4—When the Lights Went Out	Dec. 15,'33	1 rl.
No. 5—The Missing Clue	Jan. 22	1 rl.
MUSICALS
No. 1—Roamin' Through the Roses. Art Jarrett	Nov. 16,'33	2 rls.
No. 2—Um-Pa. Jack Osterman	Nov. 24,'33	2 rls.
No. 3—School for Romance. Lou Holtz	Jan. 31	2 rls.
No. 4—Love Detective. Frank Albertson	Feb. 28	2 rls.
No. 5—Women Haters	May 5	2 rls.
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
Auto Show	Dec. 8,'33	1 rl.
Aw, Nurse	Mar. 9	7
Hollywood Babes	Nov. 10,'33	1 rl.
Sandman Tales	Oct. 6,'33	1 rl.
Scrappy's Art Gallery	Jan. 12	1 rl.
Scrappy's Dog Show	May 18	1 rl.
Scrappy's Television	Jan. 29	1 rl.
Scrappy's Toy Shop	Apr. 13	1 rl.
SCREEN SNAPSHOTS
No. 1	Nov. 30,'33	1 rl.
No. 2	Dec. 14,'33	1 rl.
No. 3	Jan. 18	1 rl.
No. 4	Feb. 7	1 rl.
No. 5	Feb. 18	1 rl.
No. 6	Mar. 16	1 rl.
No. 7	Apr. 24	1 rl.
No. 8	May 18	1 rl.
WORLD OF SPORT
Dumb Champs	Apr. 20	1 rl.
It's Sport in Any Language	Dec. 30,'33	1 rl.
We Want a Touchdown	Oct. 23,'33	1 rl.
What the Scotch Started	Oct. 6,'33	1 rl.
Winter Thrills	Feb. 4	1 rl.

DU WORLD PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
SEMI-FEATURES AND SHORTS
Bride of Samoa	Mar. 1	26
Dawn to Dawn. Julie Hayden-O. M. Ness	Dec. 25,'33	35
Frankie and Johnny. Charles Laughton	Apr. 15	8
Lot in Sodom. Frederic Haak	Dec. 25,'33	26
No Woman's Land. (Travelogue)	Apr. 15	34

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ANDY CLYDE COMEDIES
An Old Gypsy Custom	Jan. 12	18
Frozen Assets	Nov. 17,'33	19
Half Baked Relations	May 25	2 rls.
Hello Prosperity	Apr. 20	18
His Weak Moment	Oct. 13,'33	19
Super Snooper, The	Feb. 9	20
BABY BURLESKS
Gimme My Quarterback	Jan. 26	9
Kid 'N Africa	Oct. 6,'33	8
BATTLE FOR LIFE
Born to Die	Mar. 16	8
City of Wax	Feb. 9	9
CORONET COMEDIES
Git Along Little Wife	Nov. 3,'33	19
Good Bad Man, The	Dec. 8,'33	22
Hotel Anchovy	Apr. 13	18
Inventors, The	Feb. 2	20
North of Zero	Jan. 19	17
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Educating Papa	May 4	2 rls.
Managed Money	Feb. 23	20
Merrily Yours	Oct. 6,'33	21
Pardon My Pups	Jan. 26	19
What's to Do	Nov. 24,'33	18
MERMAID COMEDIES (Harry Langdon)
Leave It to Dad	Oct. 20,'33	19
No Sleep on the Deep	Apr. 6	21
Pop's Pal	Dec. 29,'33	18
Trimmed in Furs	Jan. 5	18
MORAN AND MACK COMEDIES
Farmers' Fatal Folly	Sept. 15,'33	19
Freeze-Out, The	Dec. 22,'33	19
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Going Spanish	Mar. 2	21
Million Dollar Melody	Oct. 27,'33	21
Poppin' the Cork	Dec. 15,'33	25
ROMANTIC JOURNEYS
Across the Sea	Oct. 20,'33	11
Canyon of Romance	Dec. 8,'33	10
Lost Race, The	Apr. 13	8
Mediterranean Blues	Feb. 23	9
Paradise of the Pacific	June 1	1 rl.
SONG HIT STORIES
Doctor, The	Feb. 23	8
Last Dogie, The	Nov. 17,'33	11
Manhattan Lullaby. Helen Morgan	Nov. 24,'33	9
Trav'lling the Road. Alexander Gray	Feb. 9	9
STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
Allez Oop	June 29	2 rls.
Expectant Father, The	Feb. 16	21
Gold Ghost, The	Mar. 16	21
Mr. Adam	Nov. 17,'33	19
TERRY-TOONS
Beanstalk Jack	Oct. 20,'33	6
Busted Blossoms	Aug. 10	1 rl.
Gypsy Fiddler, A	Oct. 6,'33	6
Holland Days	Jan. 12	6
In Venice	Dec. 15,'33	6
Irish Sweepstakes	July 27	1 rl.
Joe's Lunchwagon	Apr. 6	6
Just a Clown	Apr. 20	6
King's Daughter, The	May 4	6
Last Straw, The	Feb. 23	6
Lion's Friend, The	May 18	6
Little Boy Blue	Nov. 30,'33	6
Mad House, A	Mar. 23	6
My Lady's Garden	July 13	1 rl.
Owl and the Pussycat, The	Mar. 9	6
Pandora	June 1	6
Rip Van Winkle	Feb. 9	6
Robinson Crusoe	Nov. 17,'33	6
See the World	June 29	1 rl.
Shipwrecked Brothers	Nov. 17,'33	6
Slow But Sure	June 15	6
Sunny South, The	Dec. 29,'33	6
Three Bears, The	Jan. 26	6
Village Blacksmith, The	Nov. 6,'33	6
TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
Big Meow, The	Mar. 9	19
Divorce Sweets	Nov. 30,'33	18
Good Scout, A	Apr. 27	18
TREASURE CHEST
Air Maniacs	Dec. 15,'33	11
Bosom Friends	Mar. 30	8
Day Dreams	Dec. 8,'33	11
Hula Honeymoon	Mar. 2	7
Pagliacci	Apr. 6	11
Shorts	Nov. 10,'33	10
Song of Vienna	Nov. 3,'33	10
What Does 1934 Hold?	Dec. 22,'33	11

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Scouring the Seven Seas!	Oct. 20,'33	9
Filming the Fashions	Nov. 10,'33	9
Conquest of the Air!	Nov. 30,'33	9
Answering the Riot Call!	Dec. 22,'33	9
Outdoing the Daredevils	Mar. 2	9
With the Navies of the World	Mar. 23	9
On Western Trails	Apr. 13	9
Chasing the Champions	May 18	9
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
Playground of Pan	Oct. 13,'33	9
Elephant Trails	Oct. 27,'33	10
The Island of Malta	Nov. 3,'33	10
A Day in Tokyo	Nov. 10,'33	9
Byways in Bangkok	Nov. 24,'33	9
Around the Acropolis	Nov. 30,'34	9
Gem of the Sea	Dec. 15,'33	9
Rural England	Dec. 22,'33	9
London Medley	Dec. 29,'33	9
Flemish Folk	Jan. 5	9
Tunisian Travels	Jan. 19	9
Sentinels of the Sea	Jan. 26	9
Roaming the Netherlands	Feb. 9	9
Under Moroccan Skies	Feb. 16	9
A Journey in Flanders	Feb. 23	9
Fortunate Isles	Apr. 13	9
In Java Sea	Apr. 27	9
The Land of Bengal	May 11	9
City of the Golden Gate	June 8	9
A Journey to Guatemala	June 22	9
The Rock of Gibraltar		9
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
Twin Dukes and a Duchess	Oct. 6,'33	10
The Great Train Robbery	Oct. 27,'33	10
A Moment of Madness	Nov. 4,'33	10
Helen of the Chorus	Dec. 10,'33	10
The Extravagant Wife	Jan. 5	10
The Girl from the Country	Jan. 19	10
Emma's Dilemma	Feb. 2	10
Love's Old Sweet Song	Feb. 16	10
The Heart of Valeska	Mar. 9	10

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date (Variable)	Min.
HUMAN SIDE OF THE NEWS (EDWIN C. HILL)
1. Roosevelt Family in America		11
2. A Visit to West Point		10
3. Carrie Jacobs Bond		9
MELODY MAKERS
Sammy Fain — With Eton Boys, N. Brokenshire and Evelyn Hoey		7
Cliff Friend — With Peggy Healy, Jack Fulton and Pickens Sisters		9
Benny Davis — With Roy Atwell, Charles Carlile, Martha Ray and Jackie Green		8
Gus Edwards — With Ralph Kirbery, Four Minute Men and John S. Young		9
Stephen Foster—With John Hundley, Nancy McCord and Kelvin Keech		10
Fields and McHugh—With Jack Osterman and Pickens Sisters		9
Carrie Jacobs Bond — With Edwin C. Hill, Ralph Kirbery and Lew White		9
ORGANLOGUES
Songs of the Hills. Radio Rubes		6
Sally. Singin' Sam-Don Wallace		7
Night of Romance. Donald Novis-Ann Leaf-John Young		7
Tongue Twisters. Irving Kaufman-Lew White		7
Ship of Dreams. Ralph Kirbery-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		7
Melody on Parade. Irving Kaufman-Lew White		7
Home Again. Nick Lucas-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		8
Tintypes. Irving Kaufman-Lew White		6
Oriental Phantasy. Charles Carlile-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		8
Organ Festival. Lew White-Ann Leaf-Dick Liebert-Jesse Crawford		9
Melody Tour. Sylvia Froos-Dick Liebert-John S. Young		8
Organlogue-ing the Hits. Nick Lucas-Lew White		8
Melodies of Love. Carlile-Rawlinson-White		8
Songs of the Range. Art Dickinson-Lew White		6
Rhapsody in Black. Gary-Rawlinson-White		1 rl.
Wine, Woman and Song. Tommy McLaughlin-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		1 rl.
Eili Eill. Charles Carlile-Lew White		1 rl.
PET SUPERSTITIONS
1. Spilled Salt. Phyllis Barry-Geo. Lewis-J. Carrol Naish		10
SPECIAL
She Whoops to Conquer. Zasu Pitts-Billy Bevan-Daphne Pollard		2 rls.

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR COMEDIES
Caretaker's Daughter	Mar. 10	10
Mixed Nuts	Feb. 17	19
Movie Daze		19
Mrs. Barnacle Bill	Apr. 21	20
Next Week-End	Feb. 24	16
Twin Screws	Dec. 23,'33	19
CHARLEY CHASE
Another Wild Idea	June 16	19
Cracked Iceman	Jan. 27	19
Four Parts	Mar. 17	19
I'll Take Vanilla	May 5	19
It Happened One Day	July 7	19
Luncheon at Twelve	Dec. 9,'33	21
Midsummer Mush	Oct. 21,'33	21
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
British Guiana	Dec. 16,'33	9
Colorful Ports of Call	Jan. 13	9
Day in Venice	Dec. 2,'33	9
Egypt, Kingdom of the Nile	May 19	1 rl.
Italy, Land of Inspiration	Feb. 24	9
Scotland, the Bonnie	Nov. 25,'33	9
Tibet, Land of Isolation	Mar. 17	9
GOOFY MOVIES
No. 1	Dec. 23,'33	9
No. 2	Feb. 24	10
No. 3	Mar. 24	10
No. 4	May 5	9
LAUREL & HARDY
Busy Bodies	Oct. 7,'33	20
Dirty Work	Nov. 25,'33	20
Oliver the Eighth	Jan. 13	28
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Apples to You	Apr. 7	20
Benny from Panama	May 26	19
Duke for a Day, A	May 12	20
Music in Your Hair	June 2	17
Roamin' Vandals	Apr. 28	19
MUSICAL REVUES
Big Idea, The	May 12	20
Jail Birds of Paradise (Color)	Mar. 10	18
Plane Nuts	Oct. 14,'33	20
Roast Beef and Movies	Dec. 2,'33	17
ODDITIES
Attention, Suckers!	June 9	10
Fine Feathers (Color)	Nov. 18,'33	9
Flying Hunters	May 12	7
Haopy Warriors	Oct. 21,'33	9
Little Feller	May 26	8
Nipuns	Apr. 28	9
Old Shep	June 23	9
Pichianni Troupe		1 rl.
Pro Football		1 rl.
Roping Wild Bears	Feb. 10	9
Trick Golf	Mar. 24	8
Vital Victuals (Color)	Mar. 3	10
OUR GANG
First Roundup, The	May 5	19
For Pete's Sake	Apr. 14	18
Hi, Neighbor	Mar. 3	18
Honky-Donkey	June 2	17
Wild Poses	Oct. 28,'33	19
TODD-KELLY
Air Fright	Dec. 23,'33	19
Babes in the Goods	Feb. 10	19
Backs to Nature	Nov. 14,'33	20
Maid in Hollywood	May 19	20
Soup and Fish	Mar. 31	18
WILLIE WHOPPER
Davy Jones' Locker	Jan. 13	7
Hell's Fire (Color)	Feb. 17	7
Insultin' the Sultan	Apr. 14	8
Play Ball	Oct. 28,'33	7
Reducing Creme	May 19	1 rl.
Robin Hood, Jr. (Color)	Mar. 10	8
Spite Flight	Dec. 2,'33	8
Stratos-Fear	Dec. 16,'33	8

MONOGRAM

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
PORT O' CALL SERIES
1. The Seventh Wonder	Dec. 1,'33	10
2. City of the Sun	Jan. 1	10
3. Love's Memorial	Feb. 1	10
4. Children of the Nile	Mar. 1	10
5. The Peacock Throne	Apr. 1	10
6. Jungle Bound	May 1	10
7. The Last Resort	June 1	10
8. Mother Ganges	July 1	10
9. The First Paradise	Aug. 1	10
10. Oravidian Glamor	Sept. 1	10
11. Adventure Isle	Oct. 1	10
12. Queen of the Indies	Nov. 1	10
13. A Mediterranean Mecca	Dec. 1	10

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BETTY BOOP CARTOONS
Betty Boop Arrested	June 15	7
Betty Boop's Hallowe'en Party	Nov. 3,'33	7
Betty Boop's Life Guard	July 13	1 rl.
Betty Boop's Rise to Fame	May 18	7
Betty in Blunderland	Mar. 2	7
Dancing on the Moon	July 13	1 rl.
Ha! Ha! Ha!	Mar. 2	7
Morning, Noon and Night. Rubinoff	Oct. 6,'33	7
Parade of Wooden Soldiers	Dec. 1,'33	9
Red Hot Mamma	Feb. 2	8
She Wronged Him Right	Jan. 5	7
HEADLINERS
All on Deck	Mar. 30	9
Broadway Knights. Yacht Club Boys	Feb. 23	10
Little Broadcast, The. Donald Novis - Arthur Tracy - Mills Bros. - Vincent Lopez-Roy Atwell	Oct. 27,'33	11
Little Jack Little Revue. Little Jack Little and Orchestra - Gypsy Nina - Do Re Mi Trio	May 11	10
Mr. W's Little Game. Alexander Woollcott	June 8	1 rl.
New Deal Rhythm. "Buddy" Rogers	Apr. 13	8
Radio Roundup, A. Molasses 'n' January - Mary Small - The Peet Prince-Vaughn De Leath-Three X Sisters	Nov. 24,'33	11
Station T.O.T.	Jan. 19	10
Underneath the Broadway Moon. Isham Jones and Orchestra-Eton Boys	June 29	1 rl.
Where's That Tiger? Borrah Minnevitch	Dec. 22,'33	10
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE
No. 3	Oct. 13,'33	11
No. 4	Nov. 10,'33	11
No. 5	Dec. 8,'33	11
No. 6	Jan. 5	11
No. 7	Feb. 2	11
No. 8	Mar. 2	11
No. 9	Mar. 30	11
No. 10	Apr. 27	11
No. 11	May 25	1 rl.
No. 12	June 22	1 rl.
No. 13	July 20	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL
No. 3—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews — September Morn—Harry Armstrong.	Oct. 6,'33	10
No. 4—Let's Go Crabbing — Manhattan Nocturne — Irvin S. Cobb	Nov. 3,'33	11
No. 5 — The Old Mill — Jack Frost, Master Decorator—Song Makers of the Nation	Dec. 1,'33	11
No. 6 — Southward Ho — Trees — Gilda Gray	Dec. 29,'33	10
No. 7—Queer Fish—Liquid Air—Lanny Ross	Jan. 26	10
No. 8—Sponging on Old Nassau — What Next, Ladies?—Song Makers of the Nation, Gordon and Revel	Feb. 23	10
No. 9—Song Makers of the Nation, Lewis and Sherman — Winter — Meshie, Child of a Chimpanzee	Mar. 23	10
No. 10 — Here's How — A House for a Song — Song Makers of the Nation, Con Conrad	Apr. 20	10
No. 11—More or Less—The Eyes of Science — Song Makers of the Nation, Ralph Rainger	May 18	1 rl.
No. 12—	June 15	1 rl.
No. 13—	July 13	1 rl.

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
POPEYE THE SAILOR
Can You Take It	Apr. 27	7
I Eats My Spinach	Nov. 17,'33	7
Let's You and Him Fight	Feb. 16	7
Man on the Flying Trapoze, The	Mar. 30	7
Seasin's Greetinks	Dec. 8,'33	6
Shoein' Horses	June 1	1 rl.
Sock-a-Bye Baby	Jan. 19	7
Strong to the Finich	June 29	1 rl.
Wild Elephinks	Dec. 29,'33	7
SCREEN SONGS
I Like Mountain Music (Eton Boys)	Nov. 10,'33	18
Keeps Rainin' All the Time (Gertrude Niesen)	Jan. 12	10
Lazybones (Borrah Minnevitch)	Apr. 13	7
Let's All Sing Like the Birdies Sing	Feb. 9	8
Sing, Babies, Sing (Baby Rose Marie)	Dec. 15,'33	9
This Little Piggie Went to Market (Singin' Sam)	May 25	1 rl.
Tune Up and Sing (Lanny Ross)	Mar. 9	1 rl.
SCREEN SOUVENIRS
No. 4	Nov. 17,'33	10
No. 5	Dec. 15,'33	10
No. 6	Jan. 12	10
No. 7	Feb. 9	10
No. 8	Mar. 9	10
No. 9	Apr. 6	10
No. 10	May 4	10
No. 11	June 1	10
No. 12	June 29	1 rl.
No. 13	July 27	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Two Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS
No. 5—Kennel Kings	Nov. 24,'33	10
No. 6—Around the Calendar	Dec. 22,'33	10
No. 7—Jumping Giants	Jan. 26	11
No. 8—Horsepower	Feb. 16	11
No. 9—Flying Bodies	Mar. 23	10
No. 10—Animal Antics	Apr. 13	10
No. 11—Marine Marvels	May 11	1 rl.
No. 12—Lucky Anglers	June 8	1 rl.
TWO-REEL COMEDIES
Circus Hoodoo (Harry Langdon)	Feb. 16	21
Cold Turkey (Joseph Cawthorn)	Dec. 1,'33	19
Gold Nuggets (Walter Catlett)	Feb. 2	18
Just an Echo (Bing Crosby)	Jan. 19	20
Making the Rounds (Pallette-Catlett)	July 6	2 rls.
New Dealers, The (Pallette-Catlett)	Apr. 6	20
News Hounds (Pallette-Catlett)	June 1	2 rls.
No More Bridge (Leon Errol)	Mar. 16	21
Oil's Well (Chic Sale)	May 4	2 rls.
Old Bugler, The (Chic Sale)	Jan. 5	20
Petting Preferred	Apr. 27	19
Please (Bing Crosby)	Dec. 15,'33	22
Roaming Romeo, A (Harry Langdon)	Dec. 29,'33	21
Three Little Swigs (Leon Errol)	Nov. 10,'33	21
Up and Down (Franklin Pangborn)	Mar. 2	21

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
City of Contrasts	Nov. 22,'33	19
Kick-Off, The	Oct. 11,'33	27
Newslaugh—No. 2	Dec. 20,'33	9
Wonders of the Tropics	Dec. 13,'33	32
CONFLICTS OF NATURE SERIES
Circle of Life of the Ant Lion, The	Feb. 14	7
Farmer's Friend, The	Oct. 4,'33	7
From Cocoon to Butterfly	Jan. 10	7
Her Majesty, the Queen Bee	Dec. 1,'33	6
Insect Clowns	Mar. 4	7
Queen of the Underworld	Dec. 6,'33	7

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMOS 'N' ANDY CARTOONS
Lion Tamer, The	Feb. 2	9
Rasslin' Match, The	Jan. 5	11
BLONDE and RED HEAD SERIES
Bridal Bail	Feb. 9	21
Rough Necking	Apr. 27	20
Walking Back Home	Dec. 8,'33	19
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SERIES (Reissues)
The Count	Nov. 17,'33	21
The Immigrant	Jan. 19	21
One A.M.	Mar. 23	18
Behind the Screen	May 25	2 rls.
CLARK & McCULLOUGH SERIES
Bedlam of Beards	Apr. 13	18
Hey Nanny, Nanny	Jan. 12	21
In the Devil Dog House	Feb. 2	21
Love and Hisses	June 8	17½
Odor in the Court	Aug. 2	21½
Snug in a Jug	Nov. 2,'33	20
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTOONS
Art for Art's Sake	May 11	1 rl.
Croon Crazy	Dec. 29,'33	7
Cubby's Stratosphere Flight	Apr. 20	7
Galloping Fanny	Dec. 1,'33	6½
Gay Gaucho, The	Nov. 3,'33	7½
Good Knight	Feb. 23	7½
How's Crops	Mar. 23	7½
Sinister Stuff	Jan. 26	6½
GRIBBDN-KENNEDY COMEDIES
Strictly Fresh Yeggs	Apr. 6	21½
Suits to Nuts	Dec. 1,'33	19
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 1—Preferred List	Oct. 6,'33	20
No. 2—Air Tonic	Dec. 22,'33	21
No. 3—On Approval	Jan. 5	17
No. 4—Autobuyography	Mar. 16	20
No. 5—The Old Maid's Mistake	May 11	20
MR. AVERAGE MAN COMEDIES (EDGAR KENNEDY)
Grin and Bear It	Dec. 29,'33	20½
Love on a Ladder	Mar. 2	18
What Fur?	Nov. 3,'33	21
Wrong Direction	May 18	21
MUSICALS
Bubbling Over (Ethel Waters)	Jan. 5	20
Everybody Likes Music	Mar. 9	19½
Henry the Ape (Bert Lahr)	Jan. 26	2 rls.
Hizzoner (Bert Lahr)	Nov. 17,'33	21½
Knite of the Party (Lillian Miles)	Feb. 16	20
No More West (Bert Lahr)	Mar. 30	19
Sea Sore	Apr. 20	2 rls.
Strange Case of Hennessy (Clint Edwards)	Dec. 8,'33	21½
MUSICOMEDIES SERIES (Ruth Etting)
California Weather	Dec. 15,'33	20½
Derby Decade	July 12	22
Torch Tango	Feb. 23	21
MY BRIDGE EXPERIENCES (Ely Culbertson)
What Not to Do in Bridge	Oct. 13,'33	15
Trans-Atlantic Bridge Tricks	Oct. 27,'33	21
Three Knaves and a Queen	Nov. 10,'33	20
PATHE NEWS
Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEW
Released once a month
SOGLDW'S "THE KING" CARTOONS
Jest of Honor	Jan. 19	7
Jolly Good Felons	Feb. 16	7
On the Pan	Nov. 24,'33	7
Pals	Dec. 22,'33	7½
Royal Good Time, A	Apr. 13	7
Sultan Pepper	Mar. 16	7
SPECIALS
Grand National Irish Sweepstake Race, 1934	Apr. 2	10
So This Is Harris	Jan. 19	28
VAGABOND ADVENTURE SERIES
Cuba	Nov. 10,'33	10½
Gibraltar, Guardian of the Mediterranean	May 4	8
Holy Land	Feb. 16	10
Madeira, Land of Wine	Mar. 30	9
Moorish Spain	Jan. 12	10

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
15. Mickey's Gala Premiere	June 30,'33	7
16. Puppy Love	Aug. 14,'33	8
17. Steeple Chase	Sept. 1,'33	7
18. The Pet Shop	Sept. 22,'33	8
(NEW SERIES)
1. Giant Land	Nov. 15,'33	7
2. Mickey Shanghaied	Jan. 15	7
3. Camping Out	Feb. 16	7
4. Playful Pluto	Mar. 16	7
5. Mickey's Steamroller	1 rl.
6. Gulliver Mickey	9
SILLY SYMPHONIES
12. Lullaby Land	Aug. 18,'33	7
13. Pied Piper	Oct. 6,'33	7
(NEW SERIES)
1. The Night Before Christmas	Dec. 15,'33	8
2. The China Shop	Jan. 15	8
3. Grasshopper and the Ant, The	Feb. 23	8
4. Funny Little Bunnies	Mar. 30	9
5. The Big Bad Wolf	Apr. 20	9
6. The Wise Little Hen	1 rl.

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
GODFYTONE NEWS
No. 3	Dec. 25,'33	10
No. 4	Jan. 29	9
No. 5	Mar. 5	8
No. 6	Mar. 19	9
No. 7	Apr. 30	9
OSWALD CARTOONS
Annie Moved Away	May 28	1 rl.
Candy House, The	Jan. 15	9
Chicken Reel	Jan. 1	8½
County Fair	Feb. 5	7
Gingerbread Boy	Apr. 16	1 rl.
Goldilocks and the Three Bears	May 14	1 rl.
In the Zoo	Nov. 6,'33	7
Kings Up	Mar. 12	7
Merry Old Soul	Nov. 27,'33	8
Parking Space	Dec. 18,'33	7
Toy Shoppe, The	Feb. 19	7
William Tell	May 28	1 rl.
Wolf, Wolf	Apr. 2	8
RADIO STAR REELS
Boswell Sisters, The	Dec. 6,'33	21
Nick Kenny—No. 4
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS SERIES
No. 34—Novelty	Nov. 20,'33	9
No. 35—Novelty	Dec. 18,'33	10
No. 36—Novelty	Jan. 22	11
No. 37—Novelty	Feb. 26	10
No. 38—Novelty	Apr. 23	9
No. 39—Novelty	May 21	1 rl.
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES
Beau Bashful (Herbert Corthell)	June 6	2 rls.
Big Casino, The (Mentone No. 4)	Nov. 29,'33	21
Born April First (Sterling Holloway)	Mar. 14	21
Broadway Varieties (Mentone No. 7)	Feb. 14	20
Ceiling Whacks (Henry Armetta	Mar. 28	20
Ed Sullivan's Headliners (Mentone No. 10)	May 2	20
Full Coverage (Henry Armetta	Feb. 28	21
Good Time Henry (Henry Armetta	May 3	20
Heartburn (Sterling Holloway	Apr. 11	20
Meeting Mazie (Sterling Holloway	Dec. 20,'33	20
Mountain Music (Louise Fazenda	Jan. 3	18
Not the Marrying Kind (Sterling Holloway	Nov. 22,'33	20
Out of Gas (Louise Fazenda	Nov. 8,'33	21
Palsie Walsie (Henry Armetta	Jan. 31	20
Pest, The (Mentone No. 9)	Apr. 18	19
Pie for Two (James Gleason	Dec. 13,'33	21
Pleasing Grandma (Sterling Holloway	June 20	2 rls.
Supper at Six (Mentone No. 5)	Dec. 27,'33	18
There Ain't No Justice (Corthell and Hurst	May 23	2 rls.
Trifle Backward, A (Vince Barnett	Jan. 17	19½
Vaudeville Days (Mentone No. 8)	Mar. 21	21
Vaudeville on Parade (Mentone No. 6)	Jan. 24	20
Where's Elmer? (Vince Barnett	Feb. 7	20

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V COMEDIES
No. 4—Turkey in the Raw (Gus Shy	Nov. 4,'33	21
No. 5—In the Dough (Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Nov. 25,'33	22
No. 6—Here Comes Flossie (Ben Blue	Dec. 9,'33	18
No. 7—Tomalio (Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Dec. 30,'33	21
No. 8—How D'Ya Like That? (George Givot-Chas. Judels	Jan. 13	18
No. 9—Nervous Hands (Ben Blue	Feb. 3	21
No. 10—Pugs and Kisses (Charles Judels	Mar. 10	21
No. 11—Mushrooms (Harry Gribbon	Feb. 17	20
No. 12—Foiled Again (Ben Blue	Mar. 24	20
No. 13—Very Close Veins (Ben Blue	Apr. 14	20
No. 14—Corn on the Cop (Harry Gribbon	Apr. 28	20
No. 15—I Scream (Gus Shy	May 19	20
No. 16—Salted Seanuts (Chas. Judels-George Givot	June 2	20
No. 17—The Prize Sap (Ben Blue	June 23	20
No. 18—Art Trouble (Harry Gribbon	June 23	20
No. 19—My Mummy's Arms (Harry Gribbon	July 28	19
No. 20—Daredevil O'Dare (Ben Blue	Aug. 11	19
BRDADWAY BREVITIES
No. 7—Yeast Is Yeast (Tom Patricola	Nov. 11,'33	20
No. 8—The Mild West (Janet Reade-Olive Borden	Nov. 18,'33	23
No. 9—Girl Trouble (Mitchell and Durant	Dec. 2,'33	20
No. 10—Around the Clock (Norma Terris-Four Eton Boys	Jan. 16	21
No. 11—Plane Crazy (Dorothy Lee-Arthur and Morton Havel	Dec. 23,'33	20
No. 12—Kissing Time (Jane Froman-Georges Metaxa	Dec. 16,'33	22
No. 13—A Little Girl With Big Ideas (Molly Picon	Jan. 20	29
No. 14—Not Tonight, Josephine (Frank McHugh-Kitty Kelly (Technicolor)	Jan. 27	21
No. 15—Picture Palace (Hal LeRoy	Feb. 10	21
No. 16—Come to Dinner	Feb. 24	21
No. 17—Business Is a Pleasure (Technicolor)	Mar. 3	17
No. 18—Look for the Silver Lining (Dorothy Stone	Mar. 17	30
No. 19—Let's Play Post Office (Jean Sargent	Mar. 31	21
No. 20—Story Conference (Lillian Roth	Apr. 7	20
No. 21—Morocco Nights (Technicolor)	Apr. 21	18
No. 22—Private Lessons (Hal LeRoy	May 5	22
No. 23—Masks and Memories (Lillian Roth	May 12	30
No 24—Murder in Your Eyes (Leon Errol (Technicolor)	May 26	20
No. 25—Motor o' Mine (Gertrude Niesen	July 28	2 rls.
No. 26—Darling Enemy (Bernice Claire-J. Harold Murray	June 9	2 rls.
No. 27—Who Is That Girl? (Bill Robinson	June 16	2 rls.
No. 28—King for a Day (Ruth Etting	June 30	2 rls.
No. 29—The Song of Fame (Arthur and Florence Lake	July 7	2 rls.
No. 30—The Winnah (Jeanne Aubert	July 21	2 rls.
No. 31—The Mysterious Kiss (Hal LeRoy-Dorothy Dare	Aug. 4	2 rls.
No. 32—Untitled (LODNEY TUNES	Aug. 11	2 rls.
No. 2—Buddy's Beer Garden	Nov. 11,'33	7
No. 3—Buddy's Show Boat	Dec. 9,'33	7
No. 4—Buddy the Gob	Jan. 13	7
No. 5—Buddy and Towser	Feb. 24	7
No. 6—Buddy's Garage	Apr. 14	7
No. 7—Buddy's Trolley Troubles	May 5	7
No. 8—Buddy of the Apes	May 26	7
No. 9—Buddy's Bearcats	June 23	7
MELDDY MASTERS
Eddie Duchin and Band	Nov. 25,'33	10
Borrah Minnevitch and His Harmonica Rascals	Dec. 23,'33	10
Jack Denny and Band	Jan. 20	10
Mills Blue Rhythm Band	Feb. 17	10
Vincent Lopez	Mar. 17	10
A Big City Fantasy (Phil Spitalny	Apr. 14	9
Isham Jones	May 12	10
Tin Hat Harmony (Abe Lyman	1 rl.
A Jolly Good Fellow (B. A. Rolfe	July 9	10
Ben Pollock and Band	Aug. 4	10
MERRIE MELODIES
Sitting on a Back Yard Fence	Dec. 16,'33	7
Pettin' in the Park	Jan. 27	7
Honeymoon Hotel (Cinecolor)	Feb. 17	7
Beauty and the Beast (Cinecolor)	Apr. 14	7
Those Were Wonderful Days	Apr. 26	7
Goin' to Heaven on a Mule	1 rl.
How Do I Know It's Sunday?	June 9	7
Why Do I Dream Those Dreams?	June 30	7
MUSICAL WORLD JOURNEYS E. M. NEWMAN
Heart of Paris	Nov. 11,'33	9
Italy, the Old and the New	Dec. 9,'33	11
Cannibal Islands	Jan. 6	10
Spanish America	Feb. 3	10
Jerusalem, the Holy City	Mar. 3	10
Picturesque Siam	Mar. 31	10
Slackers of the Jungle	Apr. 28	10
East Indies	May 26	10
Central America	June 23	10
Dark Africa	Aug. 11	10
A Visit to the South Sea Islands	July 21	10
JDE PENNER COMEDIES (Reissues)
Gangway	Apr. 14	2 rls.
Making Good	Apr. 21	1 rl.
You Nasty Man (formerly "Here Prince")	Apr. 28	2 rls.
Service Stripes	May 5	1 rl.
Where Men Are Men	May 12	2 rls.
A Stuttering Romance	May 19	1 rl.
Toreador	May 26	2 rls.
PEPPER POT
No. 5—Notre Dame Glee Club	Nov. 4,'33	8
No. 6—Harry Warren	Nov. 18,'33	10
No. 7—Easy Aces	Dec. 2,'33	10
No. 8—Little Miss Mischief	Dec. 6,'33	10
No. 9—Movie Memories	Dec. 30,'33	9
No. 10—The Tune Detective	Jan. 13	9
Sigmund Spaeth
No. 11—Mississippi Suite	Jan. 27	9
No. 12—The Wrong Wrong Trail	Feb. 10	10
Block and Sully
No. 13—Song Hits, with Roy Turk	Feb. 24	11
No. 14—Easy Aces, No. 2	Mar. 10	10
No. 15—Pure Feud (Edgar Bergen	Apr. 21	10
No. 16—A Cabinet Meeting (Radio Ramblers	Apr. 7	10
No. 17—Just Concentrate (Lulu McConnell	June 2	10
No. 18—Those Were the Days	May 5	10
No. 19—Radio Reel No. 1 (Jessel-Van	May 19	10
No. 20—Penny A Peep	June 30	9
No. 21—Hollywood Newsreel	Mar. 24	1 rl.
No. 22—Radio Reel No. 2	June 16	10
No. 23—Dad Minds the Baby	July 14	9
No. 24—Bergen in at the Races	July 21	10
No. 25—The Stolen Melody	July 28	10
No. 26—Camera Speaks	Aug. 11	9

SERIALS

(EACH SERIAL 12 EPISODES OF 2 RLS.)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
FIRST DIVISION
Young Eagles (Boy Scouts)	May 15	2 rls. (each)
MASCOT
Fighting with Kit Carson (Johnny Mack Brown-Noah Beery	July 6,'33	20 (each)
Lost Jungle, The (Clyde Beatty	Apr. 1	20 (each)
Mystery Squadron, The (Bob Steele	Dec. 23,'33	20 (each)
Wolf Dog, The (Rin Tin Tin, Jr.-Frankie Darro-Boots Mallory	Sept. 30,'33	2 rls. (each)
PRINCIPAL
Chandu		2 rls. (each)
Lost World		2 rls. (each)
Tarzan, the Fearless (Buster Crabbe	Aug. 11,'33	20 (each)
UNIVERSAL
Gordon of Ghost City (Buck Jones-Madge Bellamy	Aug. 14,'33	20 (each)
Perils of Pauline (Evelyn Knapp-Robt. Allen	Nov. 6,'33	20 (each)
Pirate Treasure (Richard Talmadge-Lucille Lund	Jan. 29	20 (each)
Red Rider, The (Buck Jones (15 episodes)	July 16	20 (each)
Vanishing Shadow, The (Onslow Stevens-Ada Ince	Apr. 23	20 (each)

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA chairs, Sound Equipment, Moving Picture Machines, Screens, Spotlights, Stereopticons, etc. Projection Machines Repaired. Catalogue H free. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, Ltd., 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

WORLD'S LARGEST CLEARING HOUSE—WRITE for lowdown on Simplex, Peerless, Strong, Brenkert, Forest, Hertner, Operadio. Sacrifice prices. Lists mailed. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

TWO SIMPLEX WITH LAMPS—EXCELLENT. TRISTATE THEATRE SUPPLY, Tulsa, Okla.

BARGAINS RECONDITIONED ARCTIC NU-AIR blowers; noiseless drives; hydraulic variable speed pullies; air washers. Catalogue mailed. SOUTHERN FAN CO., Box 440, Atlanta, Ga.

REAL BARGAIN IN USED LENSES. BOX 396, MOTION PICTURE HERALD, 407 So. Dearborn St., Chicago.

REBUILT HI-LOW AND LOW INTENSITY lamps. Also Simplex projectors and generator sets. We do expert repairing on projection machines. JOE GOLDBERG, INC., 823 S. Wabash Avenue, Chicago.

WANTED TO BUY

SPOT CASH FOR SIMPLEX AND POWERS projectors—mechanisms—reflector arc lamps—generators—Mazda lamphouses and regulators—lenses—rectifiers—portables—All booth equipment. Give all details. BOX 389, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

SIMPLEX PEDESTALS AND LOWER MAGAzines. BOX 397, MOTION PICTURE HERALD, 407 So. Dearborn St., Chicago.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT and theatre advertising. Big opportunities for trained men. Catalog free. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, N. Y.

DISTRIBUTORS WANTED

ON A FRANCHISE BASIS TO HANDLE LOCAL releases of non-theatrical film productions on a percentage basis with churches and schools. Must advance cost of print and post surety bond. Write for details. BOX 349A, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

NEW EQUIPMENT

FREE! FREE! — THEATRE LOOSE LEAF ledger sheets—free! "Old reliable Monarch" carries most complete stock theatre equipment, sound accessories, supplies. Surprising prices. Our central location assures snappy service. New catalog free. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

DO YOU NEED MORE LIGHT ON YOUR screen, if so let us know details of equipment in use. We should be pleased to forward information regarding low operating cost of new A.C. or D.C. equipment. CROWN, 311 W. 44th St., New York.

UNBELIEVABLY BRILLIANT A.C. PROJECTION —only $99.85—our special transformer plus low intensity does it. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

POSITIONS WANTED

COMBINATION PROJECTIONIST, SHOW CARD writer. Small salary. LEMKE, 3843 N. Harding Ave., Chicago.

EXPERIENCED PROJECTIONIST, MANAGER, free trial. Invest if reliable. BOX 400, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

TECHNICAL BOOKS

"RICHARDSON'S HAND BOOKS OF PROJECtion" in three volumes. Universally accredited as the best and most practical. Aaron Nadell's "Projection Sound Pictures." Complete information on sound equipment. Both text books complete for $12.80. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, 1790 Broadway, New York.

REPRESENTATIVES

WANT LIVE-WIRE AGENTS ANYWHERE TO sell nationally advertised sound projection equipment, portable and permanent supplies, parts, etc. BOX 404, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

REPAIR SERVICE

ANY MAKE ARC LAMPS, CARBON JAW REplaced with nickel inserts. Write for prices. BOX 348A, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

LENS BARGAINS: ROSS-SNAPLITE-CINEPHOR —other makes, Series I and II. Trades arranged. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

LARGEST DEALERS OF USED CHAIRS. ALL accessories. Slip covers. Servastone for concrete floors. Leatherette for theatre chairs. ALLIED SEATING CO., 358 W. 44th St., New York.

SOUND EQUIPMENT

"THREE YEARS WITHOUT ANY REPAIRS" says Bruce Yeo, Prince Edward Island, "given complete satisfaction." S. O. S. Wide Fidelity today lower than ever. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

SOUND FUZZY? RESET YOUR OPTICALS with our 9,000 cycle test loop, all instructions, $1.50. If fogged, trade for Wide Range, liberal allowances. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

EQUIPMENT EXCHANGE

IF YOU WANT TO REPLACE ANY TYPE OF equipment with brand new material, we will be glad to make an allowance on your old equipment and a better price on new equipment. Let us know what you need and what you want to exchange and we will send complete details on our proposition. BOX 501A, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

THEATRES WANTED

INTERESTED IN LEASING THEATRE IN TOWN of 3,500 or better. No competition. Wiscon-Minnesota. BOX 402, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

WANTED—TO LEASE THEATRE IN MIDDLE west, Ohio preferred. State population and complete details. BOX 403, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

IN SUMMER COMMUNITY FOR PLAY TRYouts. Small capacity with no competition. Will lease for long term with option to buy after first year. State all in first letter. BOX 500A, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

BRUSHES AND SUPPLIES

LOBBY ARTISTS! SIGN PAINTS! WRITE today for our 80 page free catalog and save 10 to 50 per cent on Brushes and Supplies. DICK BLICK COMPANY, Box 43, Galesburg, Ill.

IMPORTANT

to any picture

ANY picture, made on any film, may prove a hit. But the fact remains that the majority of the big motion picture triumphs are being filmed on Eastman Super-sensitive "Pan" Negative with gray backing. In other words, this film seems to be an important factor in any picture's chances of outstanding success. That fact is vitally important to every cameraman and producer. Eastman Kodak Co., Rochester, N. Y. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors.)

EASTMAN Super-sensitive
Panchromatic Negative

• Coming events cast their shadows before

Paramount Pictures

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

A CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

THE WHOLE STORY OF DARROW REPORT AND NRA REPLIES

VOL. 115, NO. 9 Entered as second-class matter, January 12, 1931, at the Post Office, at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3, 1879. Published Weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1790 Broadway, New York. Subscription, $3.00 a year. Single copies, 25¢.

MAY 26, 1934

READ BETWEEN THE LIONS!

NORMA SHEARER | JOAN CRAWFORD | CLARK GABLE, MYRNA LOY

There is nothing unusual about the

JOHNNY WEISSMULLER | GABLE, WM. POWELL, M. LOY | WALLACE BEERY amazing run of hits that M-G-M is

WILLIAM POWELL, MYRNA LOY | ALL STAR MUSICAL | MARION DAVIES, GARY COOPER

delivering. It has always happened

WALLACE BEERY, JACKIE COOPER | JEAN HARLOW | MYRNA LOY, GEORGE BRENT

and you can always depend on it!

WARNER BROS.' SECOND BIG SUMMER SHOW

"CLICKS"

—says N. Y. Daily Mirror

CAGNEY and BLONDELL in "HE WAS HER MAN"

With Victor Jory, Frank Craven.
Directed by Lloyd Bacon.
Vitagraph, Inc., Distributors.

First —
"20 MILLION SWEETHEARTS"

Now —
"HE WAS HER MAN"

Next —
"DOCTOR MONICA"

Then —
"THE CIRCUS CLOWN"

And then —
"MADAME DUBARRY"

And then —
"DAMES"—"DAMES"—"DAMES"

EVERY WOMAN WHO SEES IT WILL BE A

WALKING ADVERTISEMENT FOR THIS PICTURE

KAY FRANCIS

in

"DR. MONICA"

WARNER BROS. HAVE MADE IT THAT KIND OF SHOW

With Jean Muir, Warren William, Verree Teasdale. Directed by William Keighley. Vitagraph, Inc., Distributors.

THERE'S NO END TO THE HITS ON THE

● With 3 of its great spring releases already bringing joy to showmen . . . FOX extends its Spring Festivities into summer . . . and every picture glitters with those winning FOX Personalities.

JANET GAYNOR and CHARLES FARRELL in CHANGE OF HEART With JAMES DUNN, GINGER ROGERS

●

SPRINGTIME FOR HENRY
With OTTO KRUGER, NANCY CARROLL, NIGEL BRUCE, HEATHER ANGEL, HERBERT MUNDIN

●

CALL IT LUCK
With 'PAT' PATERSON, HERBERT MUNDIN, CHARLES STARRETT, GORDON WESTCOTT

●

WILD GOLD
With JOHN BOLES, CLAIRE TREVOR, HARRY GREEN

●

BABY, TAKE A BOW
With SHIRLEY TEMPLE, JAMES DUNN, CLAIRE TREVOR, ALAN DINEHART

●

CHARLIE CHAN'S COURAGE
With WARNER OLAND, DRUE LEYTON, DONALD WOODS

●

SHE LEARNED ABOUT SAILORS
With LEW AYRES, ALICE FAYE, HARRY GREEN Frank MITCHELL and Jack DURANT

●

WARNER BAXTER in GRAND CANARY
With MADGE EVANS, MARJORIE RAMBEAU, ZITA JOHANN

●

SHE WAS A LADY
With HELEN TWELVETREES, HENRIETTA CROSMAN

●

WILL ROGERS in HANDY ANDY
With PEGGY WOOD, CONCHITA MONTENEGRO MARY CARLISLE, ROBERT TAYLOR, ROGER IMHOF

FOX

MAY 25 1934 ©C1B 226601

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 115, No. 9 May 26, 1934

THE OLD MAESTRO

NO experienced observer ever doubted that there would be endless whooping and hell raising on the subject of the motion picture code. The only question was who could and would do the most of it.

It is getting along toward a year now since the subject first came up to add to the complexities of the industry struggling upward out of the swamps of depression. It was a certainty that even if the code were perfect there would be many who would not like it. It was also a certainty that it would not be perfect, that into the code making would come in some degree the influences of the very and same selfish interests, high and low, which made the code seem a desirable device in the opinion of the adherents of the scheme of planned economy.

But it has been a neat bit of ironic comedy which finds Washington supplying in the person of Mr. Clarence Darrow an official objector. It was in the nature of the inevitable that Mr. Darrow would have many and vociferous objections. That has been Mr. Darrow's business all his life. He is very able at it. He has never disappointed an audience. We may hold differing opinions about him as a code critic, but we must agree he is still the great showman of the bar.

△ △ △

THE CURRENT MIRACLE

THE delicious and perennial naivete of the creative community of the motion picture industry located along the palm lined avenues of We-Know-How County, California, is being displayed by a recurrence of surefire systems of production. This found expression last week in the pages of Motion Picture Herald in an article from Mr. Victor M. Shapiro on one studio's adoption of a plan called "pre-editing." The week before, one of the most top-lofty of the producers sent his friends in the East a specimen outline or synopsis of a picture about to go into work. "This," he said, "guarantees in advance the quality of the production."

Since when, we rise to inquire, have words on paper, no matter how written, by whom, ever guaranteed pictures on the screen?

A few years ago it used to be said of a certain glib but not too successful director: "He talks a good picture."

The same technique applies now—they are merely "writing a good picture."

The motion picture is still made of what happens in front of the camera and no words on paper can carry all the responsibility for that.

Also, just why all this zeal of discovery that it pays to plan and set the plans down for examination? Is this confession that they all this while have been shooting off the cuff?

"Pre-editing" and all its kindred processes are perhaps as important as the function of bookkeeping in business—and about as excitingly novel.

SHIRTS AND SKIRTS

THIS is an editorial to end editorials about "costume" pictures. There's entirely too much pother about the subject in the current press, especially that portion of it written by Mr. Red Kann in Motion Picture Daily. We discover this morning that he discovers that Mr. Winfield Sheehan has discovered that "costumers pay at the ratio of one in forty." That will depend entirely on who picks the forty.

The fact is that the term "costume" has become for the motion picture world an adjective of alibi for any picture not precisely contemporary, which appears to need an alibi.

The original curse fell upon "costume" pictures in the ancient days when the European producers, mainly the French and Italians, flooded the footage buying American market with badly made product. A bad picture is a bad picture no matter what may be the period of the shirts and skirts.

Any picture which does not pertain to the immediate life of the day is necessarily a costume picture. If the motion picture is to confine its expression to entirely contemporary material, the novels and plays of the immediate Now, it will inevitably find itself accepting plenty of half-baked fare.

According to the standards of some of our critics, anything is a costume picture that is not devoted to showing Him, in a Hollywood version of a Weber & Heilbroner Broadway model, pursuing—and overtaking—Her in the Hollywood version of the latest neat little number from Tappe, Fifth Avenue.

And if Hollywood hopes to escape the costume problem by the complete elimination of them, as evidenced by some current musical productions, there'll be more and bigger fuss from the "researchers."

△ △ △

ASSIMILATION

NOW that the sound picture may be said to have found itself as a medium, the process of intermeshing with the art of the stage is accelerating rapidly. A considerable number of important players now hold contracts which divide their time between the theatres of New York and London and the picture stages of Hollywood.

Just now it is announced that Mr. Philip M. Moeller, production director of The Theatre Guild, goes to the RKO Radio studios for cinema service through the summer. The stage names that are also screen names are already numerous and important.

We are a long way from the days when legitimate players who sneaked away from Broadway to work for Biograph left word at their boarding houses that they had "gone to the country."

The stage and its die-hard exponents view the process as one of coalition. If we may be permitted a bit of forecasting, and we may, history will prove that the process is really assimilation. The lady is taking a ride with the tiger.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Incorporating Exhibitor's Herald, founded 1915; Motion Picture News, founded 1913; Moving Picture World, founded 1907; Motography, founded 1909; The Film Index, founded 1906. Published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, 1790 Broadway, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; Chicago Bureau, 407 South Dearborn Street, Edwin S. Clifford, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building, Victor M. Shapiro, manager; London Bureau, Remo House, 310 Regent Street, London W 1, Bruce Allan, cable Quigpubco London; Berlin Bureau, Berlin-Tempelhof, Kaiserin-Augustastrasse 2B, Joachim K. Rutenberg, representative; Paris Bureau, 19, Rue de la Cour-des-Noues, Paris 20e, France, Pierre Autre, representative, cable Autre-Lacifral-20 Paris; Rome Bureau, Viale Gorizia, Rome, Italy, Vittorio, Malpassuti, representative, Italcable, Malpassuti, Rome; Sydney Bureau, 102 Sussex Street, Sydney, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Mexico, James Lockhart, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1934 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Better Theatres, devoted to the construction, equipment and operation of theatres, is published every fourth week as section 2 of Motion Picture Herald. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac, published annually, and The Chicagoan.

THIS WEEK----

FILM BOARD DECISION

Probably to be retained are a few strategically located Film Boards of Trade, it was decided this week following conferences between Charles C. Pettijohn, director of the boards, and sales managers. Elected were Neil Agnew, Al Lichtman, Gradwell Sears, Abe Montague to study a plan of future operation, considered of value in civic contacts. . . .

HEARST REEL IN OCTOBER

On October 1 will be released the first issue of Hearst Metrotone Newsreel, produced by the organization exclusively, following dissolution of the arrangement with Fox Movietone News September 1. Release will continue through MGM. E. B. Hatrick, Hearst film interests head, is sailing for Europe to set foreign bureaus, with 40 cameramen to be spotted throughout the world. . . .

SIGNS BANNED

Signs above theatre marquees in Kansas City are henceforth banned, last week ruled the local building commissioner, giving as his reason a precaution against injury to pedestrians. . . .

TIFFANY WINS SUIT

In a bench decision this week New York Supreme Court Justice Aaron Steuer dismissed the suit of Mae Murray against Tiffany Productions for $300,000 allegedly due her as profit from eight pictures she made from 1921 to 1924. She claimed the settlement by which she accepted $12,000 and signed a release in 1924 was fraudulent. Two minutes after the court decided against Miss Murray, she planted her right hand on the cheek of the defense counsel because he remarked, "That's justice." . . .

CHINESE PRODUCER

To Hollywood, to assist in production of Pearl S. Buck's "Good Earth," has come Ming Yau Lo, of Shanghai, China's foremost sound and silent film producer, owner of 200 theatres. With 90 films made in 1933, he plans 100 this year. With him is Moon Kwan, Chinese poet and scenarist.

RCA GETS VERDICT

Charging infringement of the DeForest "feed back" patents which it controls, RCA this week won a U. S. Supreme Court decision against Radio Engineering Laboratories, Inc. Involved was the question of priority of the DeForest and Armstrong patents, the latter owned by the defendant. . . .

LOEW-POLI OPERATION

Operation by Loew's of the Poli New England theatre circuit became effective last week. Understood part of the deal was Loew's agreement to assume responsibility for paying interest on first mortgage bonds totaling $6,943,100 at five per cent. Circuit headquarters is New Haven. . . .

MIKE SHEA HONORED

Theatres of Buffalo's downtown area were closed until 3 p. m. Sunday, honoring the memory of Mike Shea, who died last week. At the funeral on Saturday of the renowned fighting showman, oldtime theatre friends and former associates massed in tribute, while messages poured in. Into the place of Mike Shea has stepped Vincent R. McFaul, his right-hand man, as head of the large theatre interests. . . .

BILLBOARDS REGULATED

Acting under the provisions of the advertising act, the California state department of public works has begun to pounce upon signboards which violate the law. Thousands, many used by theatres, are scheduled for destruction. The law is chiefly concerned with the safety of the motorist. . . .

In This Issue

Complete text of Darrow Board report on Motion Picture Code — Page 67
Text of replies of Johnson, Richberg and Rosenblatt — Page 75
Film industry made battleground of Blue Eagle issues — Page 9
Comment on continuous shows — Page 22

FEATURES

Editorial — Page 7
The Camera Reports — Page 13
J. C. Jenkins—His Colyum — Page 47
The Hollywood Scene — Page 35
The Cutting Room — Page 32
DeCasseres on plays — Page 37
Asides and Interludes — Page 31

DEPARTMENTS

What the Picture Did for Me — Page 48
Showmen's Reviews — Page 38
Managers' Round Table — Page 55
Technological — Page 65
Short Features on Broadway — Page 53
The Release Chart — Page 91
Box Office Receipts — Page 88
Classified Advertising — Page 96

COLUMBIA IN CHINA

For its own distribution in China, Columbia has organized Columbia Films of China, Ltd., this week chartered at Dover, Del. Recently the company opened its own Shanghai office, after distribution for a long period through Hongkong Amusement Company, native firm. . . .

16-REEL FEATURE

Understood planned by Warner is the release of its screen adaptation of the monumental best seller by Hervey Allen, "Anthony Adverse," in 16 reels, with an approximate running time of three hours. All theatres would use the film thus. . . .

GERMAN THEATRES

Under the direct supervision of Dr. Paul Goebbels, Nazi minister of propaganda and public enlightenment, have passed all German theatres, according to a law last week passed by the cabinet. In Goebbels' hands is power to open, close theatres, ban, order performances, dismiss personnel, run the Prussian state theatre. . . .

METZGER'S B. I. P. FILMS

Under his London deal giving him British International product in this country, Lou B. Metzger, Coast theatre operator, will break the films among American national and state rights distributors. He has options on the next 20 B. I. P. releases, but will not undertake distribution on his own.

BERKELEY WITH WARNER

Now "under exclusive contract to Warner for a period of seven years with no further connection with Samuel Goldwyn or any motion picture producer other than Warner," is Busby Berkeley, dance director, declares Warner, as a result of a California suit over the director's services. . . .

APPEAL DENIED

Last week at Albany the New York appellate division denied Paramount's request to appeal its motion for dismissal of the $150,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Minerva Brown, mother of a girl murder victim of Herkimer County, which crime formed a part of "An American Tragedy," filmed by Paramount. . . .

CHILDREN'S THEATRE

The first professional children's theatre in the United States was established this week in New York, with incorporation of the American Children's Theatre, a non-profit organization to be conducted as state-endowed similar theatres in Europe.

MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY MADE BATTLEGROUND OF BLUE EAGLE ISSUES

With Senator Gerald P. Nye on the floor of the Senate speaking and with all hands and voices of authority of the NRA shouting in the lay press, on Wednesday of this week it became apparent that the motion picture and its code problems was and is by some parties of influence intended to be the field of trial and issue for the Blue Eagle.

While the Darrow report concerned itself officially with many and sundry matters from structural steel to gum shoes, the real subject, comprehensible to legislators, regulators, bureaucrats and the public alike, was "the movies." The details, as complex as this complex industry, appeared, to all the debaters of platform and press, as incomprehensible as the subject was obvious.

That this pointed concern about the motion picture should find such poignant expression at this moment is to be taken as no mere coincidence in its timing with the extra-legal agitations concerning the content and character of motion pictures, including the "League of Decency" and assorted expressions from the Motion Picture Research Council.

Once again, as it has been periodically since 1907, the motion picture is a shining mark.

The large impingement of the motion picture upon the public as the one great industry intimately wrapped into the lives and thoughts of the people appears again to make it a mark of attention.

Meanwhile there were those observers who held that the current excitements and discussions in Washington, on the floor of the Senate and elsewhere were to be taken as merely recrudescences of the ancient issues between the factions of the motion picture industry. The fact, however, remained that the United States and the opponents in a great politico-economic debate of national scope have been invited to the party this time.

—TERRY RAMSAYE

—

Complete text of the Darrow Review Board's report on the Motion Picture Code appears in this issue, starting on page 67.

Full text of replies by General Hugh S. Johnson, administrator; Donald R. Richberg, NRA counsel, and Sol A. Rosenblatt, deputy administrator, starts on page 75.

Additional Code developments on page 10.

Table of Local Boards' headquarters, meeting days and names of secretaries on page 25.

Code Questions and Answers, page 66.

Clarence Darrow's wholesale excoriation of the motion picture code, his "Little Man" Review Board's drastic proposal for complete socialization of business as the only alternative to the NRA, and the Administration's fiery reply of "Communism!" were temporarily resting on the front doorstep of the White House on Wednesday, the most thorny bouquet tossed at the New Deal since President Roosevelt, last summer, asked General Hugh Johnson to "crack down" on American industry as a medium for national recovery.

What appear to be irreconcilable differences of opinion on the drafting, composition and machinery of NRA codes and on the philosophy underlying the Recovery Act were disclosed over the weekend in the report of Mr. Darrow's Review Board investigations into eight of the documents, and the "antidote" which took the form of a reply by General Johnson and his associates, including Sol A. Rosenblatt, who defended himself and the motion picture code.

The fight was carried to the floor of the Senate Wednesday when Senator Gerald P. Nye accused Mr. Rosenblatt of "deliberate falsehood" or ignorance of the industry and the code contents. Nye challenged Rosenblatt's answer to the Darrow Board report, quoted from a letter from Abram F. Myers, Allied States counsel, and charged that General Johnson had maneuvered the blocking of Nye's resolution calling upon the Federal Trade Commission to submit copies of its reports to the NRA.

Congressman Britten of Illinois introduced in the House a resolution calling for a wide investigation of the entire NRA.

"At a time when the movement for world peace seemed to be making headway, the Johnson-Darrow war broke out," as the New York Sun put it, and with it there developed no little speculation in the motion picture industry over the outcome of the drastic revisions asked for by Mr. Darrow's board in the film code.

For one thing, Mr. Rosenblatt will not be "fired" as Division Administrator of the motion picture code. General Johnson is authority for that statement, which answered Mr. Darrow's recommendation that Mr. Rosenblatt be removed because of his alleged leanings toward the socalled "Big Eight" motion picture interests.

The extent to which the film code will be revised to conform to the Darrow proposals is anybody's guess. The industry was anxiously awaiting the next development. No one would venture an opinion of the justification of Mr. Darrow's recommendations, which, if effected, would virtually revolutionize the machinery for merchandising motion pictures. Word from Washington indicated that some of the codes mentioned in the Darrow report might be revised.

Board Disbands May 31

Meanwhile, Mr. Darrow's Review Board was ordered disbanded by Presidential decree, effective May 31. General Johnson had urged its abolition.

The Motion Picture Code recommendations of the Darrow report and the answers made to it by General Johnson, Donald Richberg, NRA counsel, and Mr. Rosenblatt, embraced some 35,000 words; the complete document totaled 100,000, touching also on the codes for coal and ice, steel, mining, rubber footwear, cleaning and dyeing and electrical manufacturing.

Basically, the Darrow Board, besides recommending the dismissal of Mr. Rosenblatt, charged that the code was dictated by the large interests, and urged abolition of the forcing of shorts, designated playdates, high percentages, price fixing, anti-dual provisions, and other forms of present-day sales methods.

Asks "More Equitable Personnel"

Mr. Darrow urged a more equitable personnel for the Code Authority, the Local Grievance and Local Clearance Boards, in order to give the independents greater representation and the Government greater control.

Finding practically nothing to commend, but much to criticize, impugning the motives of the NRA, and, in particular, singling out Mr. Rosenblatt for attack, the Darrow report, which had been signed by all the members of the Board except John Sinclair, entirely ignored the long-established trade practices and court decisions, to recommend changes which would necessitate reorganization of whole industries.

Mr. Sinclair, who later resigned, sharply censured the "lopsided" manner in which the investigations had been conducted by Mr. Darrow, and charged Darrow with seeking merely to substantiate pre-conceived views.

NYE CITES LETTER FROM MYERS

Mr. Rosenblatt replied that it would be easy to disprove Mr. Darrow's charges.

Throughout the report, the Darrow Board charges that the Recovery Administration is fostering "monopoly sustained by Government," and declares that the complaints of small businesses that they cannot meet code wage scales are due to "monopolistic tendencies" in the control of raw materials and markets.

Reviewing the findings of the board, the Recovery Administration pointed out that the report "on one page recommends a return to the law of the jungle and on the next page recommends that business be subjected to more detailed Government control."

This charge is substantiated by statements in the report on the film code, where the board finds first that the clearance and zoning boards are evil instruments, on the next page expresses the opinion that possibly they offer a solution to troublesome questions, then decides that the boards should be retained and finally charges that they are dominated by the "distributor and first-run exhibitor whose interests are the same."

Further, the report charges that the boards are so organized as to give control to the majors and recommends a new set-up under which the independent interests would have at least a six-to-three majority.

Recovery Administration officials are wrathful over the report's findings, declared to be based upon the biased and frequently inaccurate testimony of a mere handful of malcontents, while the codes against which they complain have been accepted by thousands of competitors. In the case of the film code, assents have been filed by 9,039 members of the industry while only 21 witnesses were heard by the board, including 15 out of 7,500 theatre operators. General Johnson replied that the board's findings were based on "flagrant misinterpretations of provisions of the code; bias and prejudice; sympathy for the 'chiseler;' anticipated fears and forebodings actually disproven."

Charge Bias

Outstanding among the features of the film report is the board's refusal to consider the brief filed by seven of the major producer-distributors under an agreement made with counsel for the board that it would be considered in lieu of direct testimony, on the ground that it sought to discredit witnesses.

Following publication of the report, Administration officials expressed confidence that the board's recommendations would receive little or no consideration in thoughtful quarters because of the undeniable bias displayed in the report.

Basically, Mr. Darrow was charged with trying to cover too much ground too quickly. The Administration reacted most vociferously to his proposal for socialized, collective ownership and control of industry followed by a planned use of America's resources.

The report by Mr. Darrow and the replies by Mr. Johnson and his colleagues, all in language quite vitriolic, took on the appearance of a personal feud in the nation's press. The actual recommendations were relegated to the background while these astute gentlemen charged and counter-charged. The score was even at press time, although General Johnson had a slight edge in the White House announcement telling of the abolishment of the Darrow group. But Mr. Darrow commented on Johnson's "excited ejaculations."

SMALL BUSINESS NOW EXEMPT FROM CODES

President Roosevelt, by executive order, has exempted small businesses in towns of less than 2,500 population from compliance with provisions of codes to which they may be subject other than those banning child labor and establishing fair trade practice rules.

At the same time, the President issued an executive order giving complete protection in their jobs to employees who make complaints or give information concerning alleged violations of codes on the part of their employers.

Another "Scorcher" Promised

Mr. Darrow added that within 10 days there will be more. Before bowing out of Washington he will issue another report, he said, which would require all the energies of the NRA "expert evasionists."

Meanwhile, the White House was noncommittal over the sizzling cross-fire over the "success" and "failure" of the NRA, carried on in language never equaled for vigor in state inter-departmental relations.

"Stripped of shadowy verbiage, this (the Darrow report) means the choice of the American people is between Fascism and Communism," said General Johnson.

On the other hand, Mr. Darrow said that "no power under the NRA is showing itself able to protect the small business man," and, furthermore, "monopoly sustained by Government is clearly the trend in the NRA," adding that "one may as well dream of making war lady-like as of making competition fair. All competition is savage, wolfish and relentless."

"Monopolistic practices in the motion picture industry are bold and aggressive, and its small enterprise is cruelly oppressed," Mr. Darrow added, urging virtual rewriting of the motion picture code so that the Government takes the balance of power, through the Federal Trade Commission.

On Tuesday General Johnson announced formation within NRA of an advisory council to review and pass upon all codes, three members each from the labor, consumer and industry advisory boards.

It was a crashing attack on the answer made by division administrator Sol Ariah Rosenblatt to the report of the Darrow Review Board on the film code that was launched in the Senate Wednesday by Senator Nye.

Characterizing the answer an "extravagant self-commendation," Mr. Nye charged Rosenblatt with "deliberate falsehood" or a lack of knowledge of the industry and the code, sarcastically referring to the latter as a "splendid example" of self-regulation of industry.

Under the code, he asserted, there has been "enlargement" of the abuses which it was designed to correct, and "the report shows the extent to which monopoly went to insure continuation of its control."

"I am prepared to agree with the deputy administrator's description of the number and variety of problems involved in preparing the code in this industry," the Senator commented, "but I cannot permit the presumption to arise that because of its long period of consideration the resultant code was a heaven-sent example of perfection."

Challenges Rosenblatt's Attack

Taking up individually the allegations in the NRA reply to the Darrow report, Mr. Nye challenged Mr. Rosenblatt's attack on the Review Board for refusing to consider as testimony the brief filed by seven producer-distributors, declaring that the Board's records show that it was to be considered solely as argument in rebuttal. He also asserted no complaint could be lodged against the failure of the Board to swear witnesses, since no sworn testimony is taken by the Recovery Administration in its hearings.

Instead of the vast majority of code provisions favoring exhibitors, Senator Nye declared that the report demonstrates that not one section favors anyone but the distributors.

During his attack on the NRA Nye disclosed that he had received a letter of protest from Abram F. Myers, general counsel for Allied States, in which a "thoroughgoing and impartial investigation of the entire subject" was urged, "including the manner of the writing of the code, its provisions and the manner in which it is being enforced."

"So far as this Association is concerned," the letter declared, "it has spent many thousands of dollars and much valuable time in an effort to get a fair code. It has cooperated with the NRA in every way consistent with the rights of its members."

Arguments by Mr. Rosenblatt that the "shorts" provision of the code protects exhibitors from "forcing" were challenged by Mr. Nye, who explained that while an exhibitor may not be compelled to take a greater proportion of shorts than of features, block booking practices make it possible for a distributor to overload him on features and, consequently, on shorts.

The Senator dismissed Rosenblatt's argu-

(Continued on page 26)

RUSSIA PLANNING U. S. INVASION WITH NON-PROPAGANDA PICTURES

Vladimar A. Usievich, Chief of Soviet Foreign Film Division, Is in U. S. Seeking Talent for Studios in the U. S. S. R.

The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics is contemplating invasion of the American market with product unadorned with the glorification of Communion which has characterized the majority of Russian films reaching these shores.

Vladimar A. Usievich, chief of the foreign trade division of the United Motion Picture Industry of Soviet Russia, is in the United States to conclude negotiations for importation of American talent and technicians to the Russian studios.

English Versions Planned

English-speaking versions of Russian dramatic subjects and Russian folklore would be made concomitantly with dialogue pictures for their own market, and would be enacted by American and English players under direct supervision of American and Russian directors, Mr. Usievich said.

"Such arrangements are being made with European countries, and I hope to conduct negotiations along this line in this country," M. Usievich said this week at the offices of Amtorg Trading Corporation. "With good-will on both sides, I see no reason why such arrangements should not be successful."

Following diplomatic recognition of the U. S. S. R. effected by President Roosevelt and Maxim Litvinov, Foreign Commissar, American film exporters were looking forward to distribution expansion in that country, yet American foreign executives were more or less skeptical as to the extent to which their agents could depend upon a widening of the Russian market, while hoping that reciprocal industrial trade arrangements might help considerably.

At the time, H. M. Idashkin, acting president of Amkino, official Societ film distributor in this country, declared that while American distributors abroad might not experience appreciable increase immediately, there eventually would be an improvement.

Only One U. S. Film Shown

This year only one American talking picture—Warner's "Cabin in the Cotton"—has been shown to date in the land of the Soviet, but Mr. Usievich said that on his present trip he hoped to arrange for importation of a large number of American pictures during the 1934-35 season.

The chief difficulties surrounding distribution of American films in Russia, Soviet executivcs have maintained, revolved around allegedly exorbitant rentals demanded by American distributors, and inability of either party to arrange satisfactory terms of credit.

Mr. Idashkin, who said in an interview in November that "if the only 'fault' of American motion pictures were the 'capitalist' point of view, your films would be allowed in the Soviet practically without restraint," added that "the only thing we do object to is anything which tends to deride the actual political regime now extant in the U. S. S. R. These films have been very few."

It was indicated this week by several executives of American film foreign departments that credit could now be more "satisfactorily" arranged as a result of official recognition of the Soviet. Prices are considered commensurate with those asked of American exhibitors, and it is the general impression that Soviet distributors are well able to pay a sufficient amount for films to make distribution in that country financially worth-while to American concerns.

Ambitious Production Program

The Soviet is planning to spend on its major features during 1934, Mr. Usievich said, an average of 500,000 rubles—about $485,000—on each, considerably more than the average negative cost in Hollywood. Musical comedies, melodrama and light comedy are planned, a new departure.

Among these the Soviet executive mentioned a musical comedy, "The Shepherd from Abrau," and another musical, "Accordion." Work is being rushed also on the Soviet version of Mickey Mouse cartoons, and the Russian "Mickey" will not be used for propaganda, but to picturize fairy tales and Russian folklore.

He explained that, if his mission succeeds, there would be two acting companies—one Russian and one American—on the lot at the same time. After the shooting of one scene in Russian dialogue, the American actors would take the places of the Russian players and re-enact the same scene in English—a system tried by two or three of the large Hollywood companies.

The Soviet industry will produce a minimum of 100 features this year, M. Usievich said, and most will be made, if possible, in the two language versions.

Silent pictures still enjoy wide popularity in Russia, he declared, the greatest favorites being Charlie Chaplin, Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks—in addition to Mickey Mouse.

Study Technical Progress

The Russian people are interested in American films chiefly from the point of view of sound and photographic achievement, and while the sociological aspects interest them, a picture like "King Kong" stands out in the minds of the Russian student as a triumph of American film making.

M. Usievich said there had been no export of Russian films to Germany recently.

Facilities for exhibition in the U. S. S. R. are adequate, he indicated, with a steady increase in number of theatres and sound installations since 1928. However, only 2,000 of the 32,000 motion picture theatres in the Societ Union are equipped for sound, but the Government is attempting to meet this deficiency by perfection of 16 mm. equipment.

Approximately 100,000,000 meters of raw film was produced in the Soviet in 1933; the Soviet industry still depends on foreign supplies.

$3,037,698 MGM Net for 28 Weeks Is 200% Increase

Further tangible evidence of the extent to which the motion picture's financial structure has been strengthened during recent months appeared over the weekend when Metro-Goldwyn, the Loew pictures subsidiary, reported a net income of $3,037,698 for the 28 weeks ended March 15, 1934, which was a 200 per cent increase over the same period last year, when the net totaled $966,173.

Metro received $16,147,265 in gross film rentals during the last 28-week period, charging off $13,040,088 for sales expenses and amortization of negative and positive costs, and depreciation. Federal taxes of $521,932 were almost paid for by miscellaneous income of $452,453, with the net of $3,037,698 equaling $19.70 a share on 104,173 shares of 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock of $27 par value. This compared with $6.11 a share on 157,913 preferred shares on the net of $966,173 for the 28 weeks ended in March, 1933.

Metro-Goldwyn Pictures Corporation is controlled by Loew's, Inc., through Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Inc., which owns all the Metro-Goldwyn Pictures common stock.

On March 16, this year, Metro-Goldwyn Pictures called for redemption on June 15 of 3,741 shares of its preferred stock at $27.

The profit of $3,037,698 reported by Metro-Goldwyn for the 28 weeks ended March 15, 1934, was more than double the net for the last full fiscal year, which ended August 31, 1933, when the company earned a profit of $1,326,827, and was considerably more than the $2,965,974 profit for the year ended August 31, 1932.

Siegel Joins Consolidated

Henry Siegel has joined the Consolidated Circuit, New York, as assistant to Lawrence Bolognino, president. The circuit, operating 20 theatres in Manhattan and the Bronx, plans expansion. Mr. Siegel resigned as Brooklyn branch manager for Paramount January 1.

Laemmle Names New Aide

Carl Laemmle has engeged Julius Klein, newspaperman and author, as his assistant to handle and develop stories. Mr. Klein will serve in addition to Joe Weil, also one of Mr. Laemmle's assistants.

Variety Club To Meet

The second national meeting of the Variety Club will be held in Columbus May 27. Officers and directors of the parent club, in Pittsburgh, will attend.

IRVING TRUST REPORT NOTES RKO GAINING

First Quarter of 1934 Shows a Profit of $498,131, While Figure for Year Indicates Loss Was Substantially Reduced

The third report of the Irving Trust Company's equity receivership of Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation was filed in New York Tuesday and continued financial improvement throughout the corporation and its subsidiaries was noted. A consolidated profit for the first quarter of 1934, before income taxes, totaled $498,131, comparing with an estimated net loss of $1,098,447 for the same period of 1933, after the elimination of operations of subsidiaries in bankruptcy or receivership.

The results of operations of RKO for the year ended December 31, 1933, on a consolidated basis, the report shows, were losses totaling $4,384,064, compared with a loss of $10,695,503 in 1932. The receivership, the report stated, is likely to continue for at least another six months.

No Reorganization Plans Set

No plans for reorganization have yet been considered. The equity receivership was declared on January 27, 1933. The subsidiaries included 151 corporations, of which 113 were wholly owned within RKO.

The calculations on which the reported profit and loss for the years 1932 and 1933, and the first quarter of 1934, are based have included the full interest accrued on the unsecured indebtedness after January 27, 1933, when the receivership had its inception.

Radio City Music Hall and the RKO Center theatre, the two subsidiary corporations operating these theatres under the lease which became effective September 1, 1933, have received as their share of the profits $58,282. The RKO Service Corporation received $45,000 for management services and substantial payments were made to RKO Radio Pictures, Inc., for films for the two theatres.

Claims Total $35,000,000

Claims filed against RKO amount to $35,413,733. Originally, the report states, there were 85 such claims, of which, however, 17 claims aggregating $2,031,000 have been withdrawn. These claims do not include those of holders of securities representing the funded indebtedness of RKO in the amount of $16,240,000. The holders have been exempt from filing claims subject to further order of the court.

A special master has held hearings on claims aggregating about $24,000,000, but no decision concerning the claims has been rendered. Of the total, the largest item is $29,483,217, based upon contingent claims for rent guarantees and direct leases.

A paragraph in the report of Irving Trust deals with the payment of interest due January 1, 1934, on the secured 6 per cent gold notes of RKO. The principal amount was $1,825,208.

"Failure to make payment of this interest," the report states, "might have constituted a default under the indenture of July 1, 1931, which would have entitled the trustee to sell the collateral pledged by RKO as security therefor. Such an event would have seriously prejudiced the interests of the unsecured creditors, inasmuch as the collateral represented approximately 95 per cent of the total assets of RKO. Accordingly, the receiver submitted a petition to the court for authority to make payment of the interest due January 1, 1934. By an order entered herein January 2, 1934, the court authorized and directed the receiver to make payment of the aforesaid interest, and in accordance therewith, the interest was paid."

Radio Pictures Cuts Losses

The report also contains a list of seven RKO subsidiaries which either are in receivership or bankruptcy and against which Irving Trust Company, as receiver, filed claims.

The combined operations of RKO Radio Pictures and its producing subsidiaries for the year 1933, compared with 1932, were reported as follows:

	1933	1932
Total income	$19,723,830	$20,923,005
Total expenses before financing	20,023,965	25,350,082
Loss	300,134	4,426,177
Financial expense	990,550	954,873
Loss after all charges	1,290,685	5,381,051

Operations for the first quarter of 1934, after all ordinary charges, but before income taxes, resulted in a profit of $308,602 from film distribution, the same period of 1933 showing a loss of $603,293, indicating an improvement of more than $900,000.

A consolidated statement of profit and loss of Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation and subsidiary campanies for the three months ended March 31, 1934, which sets forth a net profit of $423,131, places theatre admissions at $6,123,197 and films rentals and sales at $5,615,690. The largest item of expense was $4,347,189, representing cost of film sales and service.

Radio Films in Music Hall

Irving Trust, receiver, and Donovan, Leisure, Newton & Lumbard, attorneys for the receiver, are asking partial allowances, aggregating $225,000, for their services.

Ned E. Depinet, president of RKO Distributing Corporation, announced this week the closing of a long-term contract for the exhibition of RKO Radio pictures at the Radio City Music Hall. The contracts, which were negotiated between Mr. Depinet and W. G. Van Schmus, provide not only for the exhibition of Radio features, but for short product and Pathe News.

Freuler Wins Title Right

Freuler Film Associates has been awarded the title "Marriage on Approval" by Justice Aaron Steuer in New York supreme court. Michael Kallesser, author of a play of that name produced in 1928, challenged the right of Freuler to use the title. The film was based on a newspaper serial first published October 31, 1927.

Goldsteins Resume Circuit Managing

Management of the GB Circuit, operating in Massachusetts, will be resumed by the former owners, Samuel and Nathan E. Goldstein, as operating partners of Paramount Publix Corporation, following approval by Referee Oscar W. Ehrhorn last week of a plan of reorganization for a $1,050,000 mortgage bond issue of the circuit.

The majority of the mortgage bonds is held by the Goldsteins. Under the plan the mortgage will be foreclosed, and a new company organized to acquire the GB properties, 17 theatres. All capital stock is to be retained by the Goldsteins, while the Class B will be sold to Lares Theatres Corp., wholly-owned Paramount subsidiary.

Paramount will lend $107,500 to Lares Theatres; GB will receive a 10-year Paramount picture franchise and title to a number of Olympia Theatres leaseholds, equipment to be delivered to the new Goldstein company by Lares in return for a release from all claims against Olympia, Paramount and GB by the Goldsteins.

The Paramount Publix trustees in bankruptcy have been authorized to expend up to $150,000 for settlement of the $280,000 of claims against Olympia Theatres, Paramount's principal operating subsidiary in New England, on the basis of 40 cents on the dollar.

Justice Levy this week authorized the Paramount trustees to institute suit against members of the 1930-31 board of directors. The trustees will try to recover up to $12,000,000, voted for repurchase of stock.

Adjustment of outstanding claims on Paramount Publix is expected by the trustees to be completed late in June.

Authorization to settle a patent suit infringement claim filed against Paramount by Artfilm Studios, Inc., for $2,500, has been granted Paramount trustees by Referee Ehrhorn.

MGM in Broadcast Deal

MGM has concluded an arrangement for a weekly Hollywood broadcast of studio chatter from Station KFAC, to be called "Air Pockets." Talks will occupy a half-hour and will concern MGM personalities.

Heads Fox Research

Lance Baxter, former assistant to William Darling of the Fox art department, has been placed in charge of the research department. Frances Richardson, former head, remains on the staff.

Mack Heads U. A. Branch

William A. V. Mack has been named manager of the United Artists Cincinnati branch, succeeding Sam Kramer. Mr. Mack was at one time eastern sales executive for Pathe.

Opens Cleveland Branch

Superior Motion Picture Supply Company has opened a Cleveland branch with L. P. Stewart as branch manager and Ray Cudmore as sales manager. The company handles all theatre equipment.

THE CAMERA REPORTS

PERSONAL. An item announcing the arrival of Frank Buck and Mrs. Buck in Los Angeles, where he was scheduled to make personal appearances with showings of his latest RKO Radio jungle adventure, "Wild Cargo."

SUCCESS. New: Helene McAdoo (above), who began as a Warner stand-in. Continued: Guy Kibbee (below), new contract.

IN AMERICAN PICTURE. Binnie Barnes, who played wife No. 5 in "Private Life of Henry VIII," as she arrived in New York from England, en route to the Universal studio to appear in "There's Always Tomorrow."

GOVERNOR OFFICIATES AT AWARD CEREMONY. As Walter L. Golden, exploitation manager of the Riverside theatre in Jacksonville, Fla., was given the April Quigley Award in proceedings incidental to local military event. Shown are Governor Dave Sholtz of Florida, Mr. Golden, Mayor John T. Alsop, Jr., of Jacksonville, and M. C. Moore, manager of the Riverside.

EXHIBITOR VISITS STUDIO. John Smith of Interstate Theatres of Dallas, Tex., at Burbank during a recent sojourn on the Coast observing production activities. He is shown with Bette Davis,, Warner star, watching shooting of scene for "Housewife."

PROMOTED. Sally Sandlin, once a typist, later a scenario editor, and now helping to write Lilian Harvey's next Fox film.

AS YOU WERE. If you had arrived at adulthood by the year 1905. In garb and pose typical of that ancient day are shown Joan Blondell, Warner star, and her father, as in Warners' "Dames," which will be released shortly.

FATHER AND SON. Whose ties continue in business: A new portrait, recently taken on the Coast, of Edmund Grainger, associate producer, and James R. Grainger, distribution head, Universal.

GONE NATIVE. As we suspect they do in the RKO Radio production, "Down to Their Last Yacht." This is by way of an advance notice on that forthcoming picture, prettily contrived in a tableau with Cynthia Hobart, Peggy Campbell, Virginia Reid and Alice Moore.

YANKEE NETWORK NEWS WINS NEW DECISION OVER NEWSPAPER RIVALS

Broadcasting Service Given Full Press Facilities at Massachusetts State Capitol by Decision of Joint Rules Committee

Backed by an impressive display of support from the public at large, the Yankee Network News Service of Boston vanquished open newspaper opposition to its news broadcasting activities when, on Friday, a unanimous vote of the joint Rules Committee of the Massachusetts House and Senate gave the radio news service full press facilities at the State Capitol.

The Yankee Network, headed by John Shepard, 3d, New England department store executive, formed its own news service on March 1, when broadcasts of news by the Boston Herald, Record, American, Traveler, and other newspapers were terminated by the Radio-Press agreement. It is supplied with national and foreign news by the Transradio Service and has its own city staff and local correspondents throughout New England.

First Open Fight

Also on March 1, in New York, the Press Radio Bureau of the American Newspaper Publishers Association began actual editing of all spot news to be broadcast. The innovation had followed a long quarrel between newspapers and radio advertisers, the publishers claiming flagrantly unfair competition offered by the radio in broadcasting spot news before it could catch morning and evening deadlines. The two major networks, NBC and CBS, subscribed to the plan, as did several independent stations and chains, but the Yankee Network for many weeks has prosecuted its fight to obtain fair play from Boston politicians and conduct its news service unhampered.

With full access through its correspondents and cable services to every important news source in the New England and foreign sectors, the Yankee Network first ran into difficulties in the admittance of its reporters to police station press rooms. After a series of "intimate" exposes by the Yankee editor, Richard Grant, over the key station, WNAC, this obstacle was removed. The network's reporters, however, continued to be barred from the State House Press Room by the well-organized group of newspaper correspondents composing the State House Press Association.

Mr. Grant welcomed this opportunity to make a public issue of his difficulties with the newspapers. Previous opposition from the press, with the exception of the police station situation, had been indirect and hence impossible to fight openly.

Confident that the public was with him, Mr. Grant went on the air, explaining the State House situation and asking for support in breaking down the "enemy's" barriers.

Telephone calls, telegrams, and letters poured into Mr. Grant's office and to members of the State Legislature. They came from merchants, clerks, fishermen at sea, blind persons, shut-ins, farmers and others in every walk of life who depend upon the radio for information of the newest news.

Representative John J. Craven of Boston was the first to respond to the public clamor. He filed a resolution demanding the radio news service receive the same provileges in the State House as any other news service and the joint Rules Committee set May 2 for a public hearing.

Hearings Warmly Attended

The outpouring at the hearing gave further evidence of the loyal following of radio news. Two of the largest hearing rooms in the Capitol were quickly filled, with an overflow of several hundred. A score of State Senators and Representatives spoke in favor of the resolution. Many citizens also expressed their views, including a blind man who asked consideration for himself and others so afflicted.

Most of the support was on the ground that news is public property, and since the Press Room at the State House is supported by the public it should be open to any legitimate news-gathering organization serving the public. Representative Craven pointed out that news broadcasting was begun by newspapers themselves, but that "now the child is so big the parent is afraid of it and is trying the hamper its growth."

Opposition from newspaper men at the hearing was based chiefly on the assertion that it does not take the same type of facilities to gather news for radio as for press, but their argument was not considered impressive.

Support Threatened

In the interim before the decision, it was said at the Yankee Network offices, members of the Committee were approached by State House representatives of the Boston American and Traveler, Hearst papers, and the Springfield Union, with a broad hint that newspaper support or opposition in the next election would be determined by their vote on the radio news matter. Nevertheless the final decision was a clear-cut victory for the radio news broadcasts.

Said Representative Craven:

"Freedom of expression (of the press) is provided and has always been jealously safeguarded.

"But the radio is an even greater force for the public good. It reaches into the most inaccessible localities. It is heard by those who cannot read. It aids the apprehension of criminals. It brings the world to the bedside or lonely shut-ins. It is no longer an experiment or a novelty, but an indispensible part of our life. And now that the Yankee Network is fighting the public's fight for the free and unrestricted dissemination of public information, against all the handicaps placed in its path, I am sure everyone will agree that its radio news service is deserving of public support."

The Press Radio news bureau in New York continues to dole out carefully sifted material already printed in morning and evening editions. The bureau, under the editorship of James W. Barrett, who was city editor of the former New York World, has not made known how many stations in addition to the two major networks have subscribed to the plan, but it is a known fact that several radio stations throughout the country have followed the lead of the Yankee Network in organizing their own news gathering facilities.

Under the present Yankee Network operating schedule, the first news broadcast takes place at 7 a. m., for station WNAC, with network broadcasts at 8 a. m., 1:30 p. m., 6 p. m., and 11 p. m.

ZANUCK FOR FREE CRITICISM

The columns of MOTION PICTURE HERALD recently presented a discussion of Mr. Darryl Zanuck's comment upon a review in terms which indicated that he sought limitation of the inalienable rights of the critic to the disclosure of the nature and content of motion pictures. In this Mr. Zanuck was not accurately represented, in that his objections were based on a point of fact and accuracy of statement. Mr. Zanuck has emphatically declared his conviction that the critic must always be free to deal with motion pictures with entire candor and THE HERALD is happy to convey and restate his declaration of attitude, with, may we add, the hope that it may be of exemplary value to some of his contemporaries in the industry.

—MARTIN QUIGLEY

Ruling Follows Long Fight by Radio Firm for Freedom of News Sources Waged Against Publishers of New England

Authors' League Hits at Richberg Copyright Phrase

In a statement issued Tuesday by Marc Connelly, playwright and president of the Authors' League of America, the writers' group questioned several phrases of Donald R. Richberg's reply to the Darrow Board's attack on the NRA.

Mr. Richberg's reply "contains one curious phrase: 'The code affords great relief from the monopolistic effects of the copyright laws,'" the statement said. "It has been a widespread feeling, especially among people who make money out of producing in one form or another the work of authors, that literary property is not like other property; that when an author has created something out of his own knowledge or imagination, anybody should be entitled to steal it and make money out of it. It is somewhat depressing to see apparent support given to this doctrine by the NRA authorities."

Kalmus Reelected Technicolor President

Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus was reelected president of Technicolor on Tuesday in New York at a directors' meeting. George F. Lewis was elected a vice-president and S. M. Corekin was named treasurer. Members of the executive committee are: A. W. Erickson, chairman; John McHugh, A. W. Hawkes, Eversly Childs, and Dr. Kalmus.

Louis Solomon Dead

Louis Solomon, pioneer in the equipping of projection rooms for trade showings, died late last week after a short illness at his home in New York. He is survived by his wife, three sons and a daughter.

FOX THEATRES PLAN TO BE SET IN JULY

Reorganization Calls for New Company to Supplant Wesco, with Spyros Skouras Heading All Operating Units

The middle of July was set this week as the deadline for completion of reorganization of all Fox theatre units and subsidiary companies affiliated with them. Sidney R. Kent, president of Fox Film Corporation, will, according to present plans, head a new holding company to replace Wesco, with Spyros Skouras heading all operating units, as well as being vice-president and general manager of the companies concerned.

Charles Skouras will be elected president of the reorganized Fox West Coast Theatres, while subsidiary companies like Fox Rocky Mountain and Fox Midwest will continue under current operating personnel.

Bankruptcy Sales About July 10

Subsidiary companies' bankruptcy sales will be scheduled for about July 10, and according to the plan, Chase National Bank and Fox Film, in addition to other large creditors, will be given stock in the new parent company in exchange for their present holdings. About 400 theatres are involved.

It has been established that sale of Fox West Coast's assets at foreclosure will take place prior to July 10, this being disclosed this week at a hearing on a plan of settlement of Paramount Publix claims against Fox Film and FWC before Referee Oscar W. Ehrhorn in New York. Paramount has a claim of approximately $2,000,000 against FWC under an agreement which replaces five defunct leases on five Pacific Coast theatres with new leases. Settlement of this claim was completed last week under a plan which gives FWC new 10-year leases on three Paramount San Francisco houses, with 10-year Paramount picture franchises, and new leases on the Paramount at Oakland and the Paramount at Portland, with Paramount picture franchises for each.

On the three San Francisco houses, Fox is to pay $114,299 back rent to Paramount, covering the period from Dec. 1, 1932 to Feb. 28, 1933. Additional rent from that date to April 30, 1933, is to be adjusted on the basis of the net income of the houses for the period. The new 10-year leases are retroactive to May 1, 1933, and call for an average annual rental of $98,000 for the San Francisco Paramount, $75,000 for the St. Francis, and $41,000 for the California. Paramount, in addition, receives 37½ per cent of net earnings of all downtown San Francisco houses in which FWC has an interest during the period from May 1, 1933, to June 30, 1943.

Metropolitan Playhouses Plan

Fox Film will receive 27,000 shares of common stock in the reorganized Fox Metropolitan Playhouses, and Sidney R. Kent will be one of three voting trustees who, with the president of the new company, will control its board. This would be dependent upon the success of the bondholders' committee bid on the properties at foreclosure.

The 27,000 shares of common in the new company would be issued in return for new rights under existing Fox Metropolitan film contracts with Fox, and would represent about 10 per cent of the maximum new issue of common proposed in the plan of capitalization of the new company. In addition to the stock, there would be issued about 6,880,350 of new secured 5 per cent debentures, due in 1944.

Holding companies of the new Fox Metropolitan organization would subscribe for $650,000 of the new debentures at par and all the remainder, together with the new common stock, will be issued to depositing noteholders, who propose to bid in the company at foreclosure June 20. The noteholders are to receive $500 of the new debentures, 20 shares of common and a warrant for additional shares to be pro-rated later, and $50 in cash for each $1,000 of bonds in the present Fox Metropolitan deposited with the committee.

Financing of the reorganization is expected to be accomplished with $1,430,000 Fox Metropolitan cash now on hand and subject, in the opinion of the reorganization committee, to outstanding mortgages held by it. Provision also will be made from this sum for approximately $200,000 of working capital for the new company.

Net loss of $2,095,226 is shown by Fox Metropolitan for the period from June 4, 1932, to Dec. 31, 1933, during which time the circuit was operating in receivership.

Code Authority Sets Availability

(Continued from page 10)

ment in defense of several provisions, that they gave the exhibitor greater protection than he had before the code, with the statement that "without discussing the question of legality, it is obvious that a code of fair competition should not take within its sheltering arms such protecting provisions as these."

Takes Fling at Johnson, Too

Referring to a resolution he introduced last week and had passed by the Senate, calling upon the Federal Trade Commission to submit copies of its correspondence with and reports to the Recovery Administration, which Senator Harrison of Mississippi later blocked by a motion to reconsider, Nye charged Harrison with entering his motion at "Johnson's orders."

He also referred to the fact that the President had sent the Darrow report to the Federal Trade Commission and Department of Justice for consideration, and threatened that if their reports were not made public promptly he would introduce a resolution calling for them.

Declaring that the NRA has wofully failed to bring about the recovery for which it was designed, Senator Nye declared that the report had shown that monopoly has increased under the protection of codes and that Congress should not adjourn until remedial action was taken.

Establishing Availability

Of vital importance to exhibitors was a decision made by the Motion Picture Code Authority that pictures running a minimum of three consecutive days in a first-run theatre in any given situation establish their general release dates as the final day of the run. All availability dates thereafter fall due subject to clearance schedules in operation in the particular situation or territory, and distributors, following the ruling, consented to post in exchanges the final days of such runs and also to notify code secretaries to post identical notices in their offices in the event exhibitors inquire about them.

The Authority will extend the time for paying assessments in the case of theatres meriting this privilege. Such extensions, however, will be granted only upon recommendation of local Grievance Boards. To date, 4,197 theatres have paid $42,279, with more than 1,000 exhibitors sending in checks the past week. The Authority's finance committee, composed of Sidney R. Kent, Harry M. Warner and Nathan Yamins, is now at work on allocation to producers and distributors of their share of the $180,000 they are to contribute to the code financing.

The Code Authority issued what was virtually an ultimatum to exchange managers serving on boards who had complained that pressure of their own business necessitated putting their code activities in secondary position. Serving the Code Authority is to be considered above all other jobs held by all members of local clearance and zoning and grievance boards, the Authority resolved.

Grievance Board activity saw a total of more than 25 decisions and complaints being handled.

Decision of the Dallas grievance board in upholding Rubin Frels, vice-president of Allied Theatre Owners of Texas, in his complaint that Jefferson Amusement Co. made it impossible for him to get product for his house at Victoria, was hailed in that territory as a significant victory for independents.

Five o'clock is set as the deadline for matinee prices in New Haven, Conn., in a decision handed down by that board this week. A complaint has been filed by the Pequot theatre and, as a result, the Lyric and Garden are put in the 10-cent class because their 10-cent scales run after 5 P.M. Exchanges are ordered not to serve the two houses until 180 days after first run showings.

A new clearance schedule for Texas was drawn by the Dallas board last week. For first run theatres in the four key cities of the State is provided prior run clearance over all other theatres within a radius of 25 miles, provided the picture is played first run within 45 days of release date. Thirty-five-cent suburbans may obtain product 14 to 21 days after first run; 25-cent downtown, 21 to 28 days; 25-cent suburbans, 28 to 42 days; 20-cents, 49 to 63 days; 15-cents, 85 to 99 days, and 10-cent houses, 145 days after first run. These clearances are in effect with the start of the 1934-35 selling season.

A production development was a decision that all extras' problems be handled by a committee of three responsible directly to the Code Authority. The members are Mrs. Mabel E. Kinney, chairman, Larry Steers and Fred Schuessler.

A.M.P.A. Holds Beefsteak Party

Members of the Associated Motion Picture Advertisers and executives of the New York home offices participated in a beefsteak at the New York Motion Picture Club Tuesday night. William R. Ferguson, president, presided. Paul Benjamin of National Screen Service was toastmaster.

Earl Carroll's

"MURDER AT THE VANITIES"

with the

Most Beautiful Girls in the World and Carl Brisson • Victor McLaglen

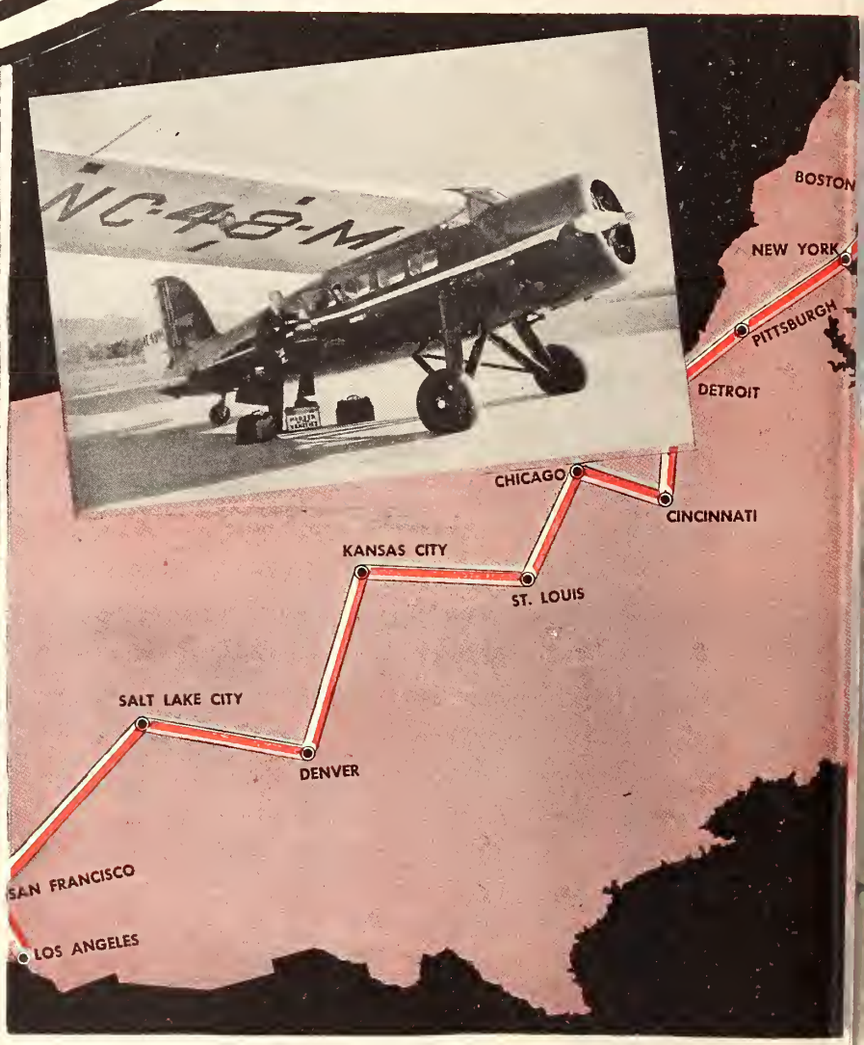
Jack Oakie • Kitty Carlisle and Duke
Ellington and his Famous Orchestra



Directed by Mitchell Leisen

this picture deserves every bit of publicity, advertising and exploitation that Paramount is putting behind it and which the following pages delineate....

Paramount Pictures

Paramount's publicity, advertising and exploitation create a huge ready-made audience for "MU

PUBLICITY • EXPLOITATION

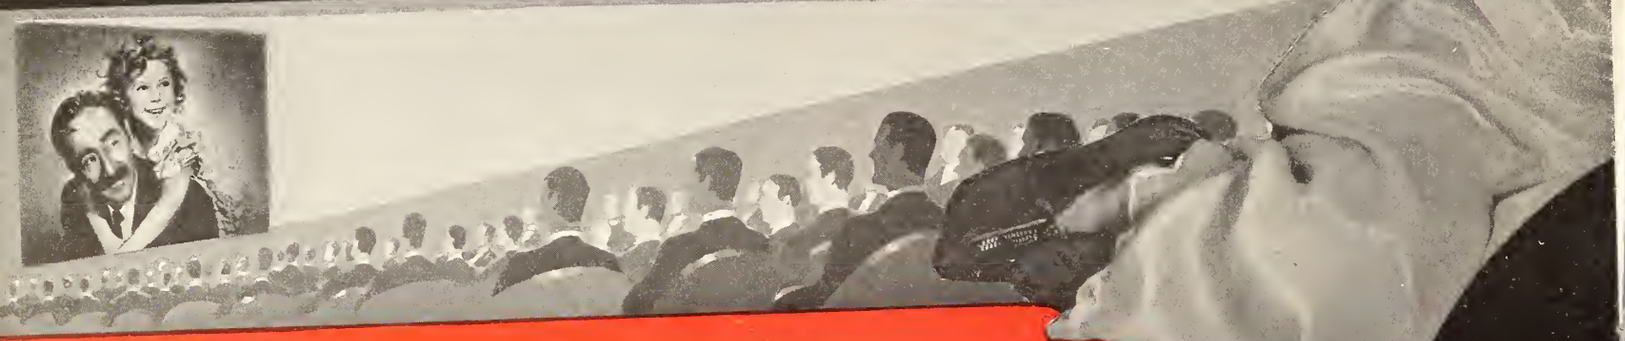
Earl Carroll's name is a great publicity magnet, and syndicated articles, special features, items in news columns on "Murder at the Vanities" have already been read by 50,000,000. Nine leading fan magazines, (circulation over 3,000,000) sensing the public interest in "Murder at the Vanities," have run double spreads on this picture.

Earl Carroll himself goes on a whirlwind tour in a specially chartered plane to leading cities of the country. Carroll himself has shown the picture to the leading newspaper and radio people of these cities and has given radio talks and special interviews that will cover the large population centers of the country.

Earl Carroll's

RDER AT THE VANITIES'

• RADIO • ADVERTISING



The hit songs of "Murder at the Vanities" have been plugged on the air since April 1st. "Cocktails for Two" alone has been plugged on some 900 broadcasts, with the picture mentioned in every instance. Every leading band on the air, including Paul Whiteman, Guy Lombardo, Ben Bernie and Rudy Vallee, have all had special "Vanities" broadcasts.

Paramount has prepared a special national advertising campaign to announce Earl Carroll's "Murder at the Vanities" to the millions waiting for it. Every real showman will use large space to tie in with the publicity and exploitation that has already been done on this picture.

Paramount Pictures

Paramount's

"Little Miss Marker" makes strong men weep

"LIT

At Damon Runyon's screening of "Little Miss Marker", New York's blase sport-writers laughed through their tears.

"A knockout — I'm always a sucker for a kid in trouble. I was laughing with tears in my eyes." —Frank Graham, Evening Sun

"It brought tears—but it also made me laugh. A swell show." —George Dailey, Herald-Tribune

"It's a picture almost anyone would want to see twice." —Al Dayton, Evening Sun

"My hat's off to Damon. It's better even than his 'Lady For A Day'." —Hype Igoe, Journal

"Clean, simple story, full of humor and pathos. It's a sure-fire bet." —Murray Lewin, Daily Mirror

"One of the most enjoyable pictures I've ever seen." —Ed Neale, Associated Press

"It's a honey that even out-entertains Runyon's 'Lady For A Day'." —Marcus Griffin, Enquirer

"You're laughing out loud — when you're not crying softly." —Joe Nichols, N. Y. Times

If it's a PARAMOUNT PICTURE

Paramount's

"Little Miss Marker" steals women's hearts

Adolph Zukor presents

DAMON RUNYON'S

TLE MISS MARKER"

with ADOLPHE MENJOU
DOROTHY DELL, CHARLES
BICKFORD, SHIRLEY TEMPLE
Directed by ALEXANDER HALL
a B. P. SCHULBERG
Production

New York's leading feminine motion picture critics rave about Damon Runyon's new picture, "Little Miss Marker."

"'Little Miss Marker' is one of the most amusing and touching films of the season. It is my advice that you beg, borrow or lift the price of admission to see it." —Wanda Hale, N. Y. Daily News

"'Little Miss Marker' is thoroughly delightful and as funny a picture as you're likely to see for a good many months."
—Eileen Creelman, N. Y. Sun

"'Little Miss Marker', a heart-warming yarn that alternates comedy with sobs and emerges as utterly delightful entertainment."
—Rose Pelswick, N. Y. Journal

"A load of laughter, salted with a tear or two, characterizes the excellent entertainment submitted for nothing less than your enthusiastic approval. This vehicle proves at least as effective a film drama as 'Lady For A Day'."
—Regina Crewe, N. Y. American

Paramount Pictures

it's the Best Show in Town

"PUBLIC DOESN'T WANT TO BE TOLD"

PATRONAGE IGNORES STARTING HOURS

To the Editor of the Herald:

The article on "The Public Be Damned," written by Martin Quigley in a recent issue of Motion Picture Herald, is quite timely, and something for theatre managers to think about. Yet I cannot see how such a problem can be solved to the satisfaction of both patron and exhibitor.

Here at the Indiana we always have a two-hour show, unless, of course, a stage attraction is playing, at which time we publish the change of schedule in the paper. The correct running time on features and shorts is always ascertained in advance of play dates, thus allowing us to book a program that will run the required two hours. The cashier and doorman are always supplied with schedules, in which the starting time of all shorts and features are given. In our ads, we give the starting time of shows. Many of our patrons are educated to this arrangement, and you can always see them coming in at the start of the performance. They have learned to depend on us for a two-hour schedule. Yet there are other patrons who attend just as often; who know the starting time, but still drop in during the middle of the feature. Some have asked me concerning the merits of a certain picture, and though I advised them the best time to see it, they came in at the middle with the excuse that "I didn't have anything else to do, so I thought I'd come now."

I'm afraid that no matter what you do, the problem will always be unsolved. If tickets were sold up to the feature, and then stopped, business would fall off alarmingly, in my opinion. The public doesn't want to be warned or told when they should see a show—they want to see it when they are in the mood.

We have shown mysteries, for which we instructed our ushers to seat no one during the last reel, kindly advising the patron that his enjoyment would be greatly enhanced if he saw the picture from the beginning. Many patrons, however, insisted on seeing the climax, stating they didn't care what was going on, just so they could see the picture. On all pictures, with only a couple of minutes left, patrons have been advised of the almost immediate ending, yet insisted on being seated.

What is there to do? No matter how much your schedule is advertised, or how close you keep to one, there will always be people to come in during the feature. We keep a regular schedule, first, for those patrons who do appreciate a service of this kind; and second, to keep theatre hours the same, without variance.

Exhibitors will do well to keep a schedule posted or advertised, so that the public may see it. Then if they still insist on paying no attention to it, the manager will have done his bit. After all, we must let the public do as they wish, for their patronage is our living, and without it we are lost.—Ralph Cokain, Director of Advertising, Indiana Theatre, Marion, Ind.

SAYS DOUBLE BILLS MULTIPLY PROBLEM

To the Editor of the Herald:

Not only on the matter of "continuous performances," but on several other vital issues, the attitude of the industry has been "The Public Be Damned," and it is just that attitude that is robbing us of millions of potential box-office dollars.

The objectionable features in connection with "continuous performances" are multiplied by two where double bills are the program. I have no way of knowing what percentage of theatres are showing double bills, but I would venture to say that at least 50 per cent of the total number of people who patronize our theatres are forced to "endure" double bills. Except for a minority of gluttons, I don't believe for a moment the public really wants this kind of entertainment any more than they really would relish a meal consisting of a pound and a quarter steak and a half dozen pork chops. Certainly they could not digest such a meal—not for long, anyway—and that is the important thing you struck upon in your editorial.

We, in this business, persist in serving entertainment in such a manner and of such character that it cannot be digested and is consequently not enjoyed.

DOUBLE BILLS = all meat and no side dishes of vegetables;

FILTH IN PICTURES = spoiled, rotten, poisonous food.

What would happen to the restaurant business if they applied the same practices that we apply to ours?

Many of us know about these evils; what to do to correct them is the real important consideration. Why is it that most of us, when we are in club rooms, on the golf course, in a trout stream or at the Pub, can agree that these evils exist and should be corrected, but when a move is started to bring about the correction, some mysterious, invisible, insidious force upsets the apple cart and prevents accomplishment? Is it the Hays organization and are they "so blind they will not see" the road to ruin? Is it one or the other of the exhibitor organizations (certainly there should not be two)? Or is it some individual or group of individuals in one or all of these organizations?

I am frank to admit I do not know the answers to these questions. However, I believe that, as editor and publisher of the leading publication in the motion picture industry, it is your job to find the answers and when you have found them, tear the hair off and print the unvarnished truth regardless of whose toes are stepped on, and regardless of whose goose is cooked.

A limited few, perhaps those who always upset the before-referred-to apple cart, may be the gainers as things are now, but their gains are trifling compared to the possibilities for all if we were going ahead as one united industry.

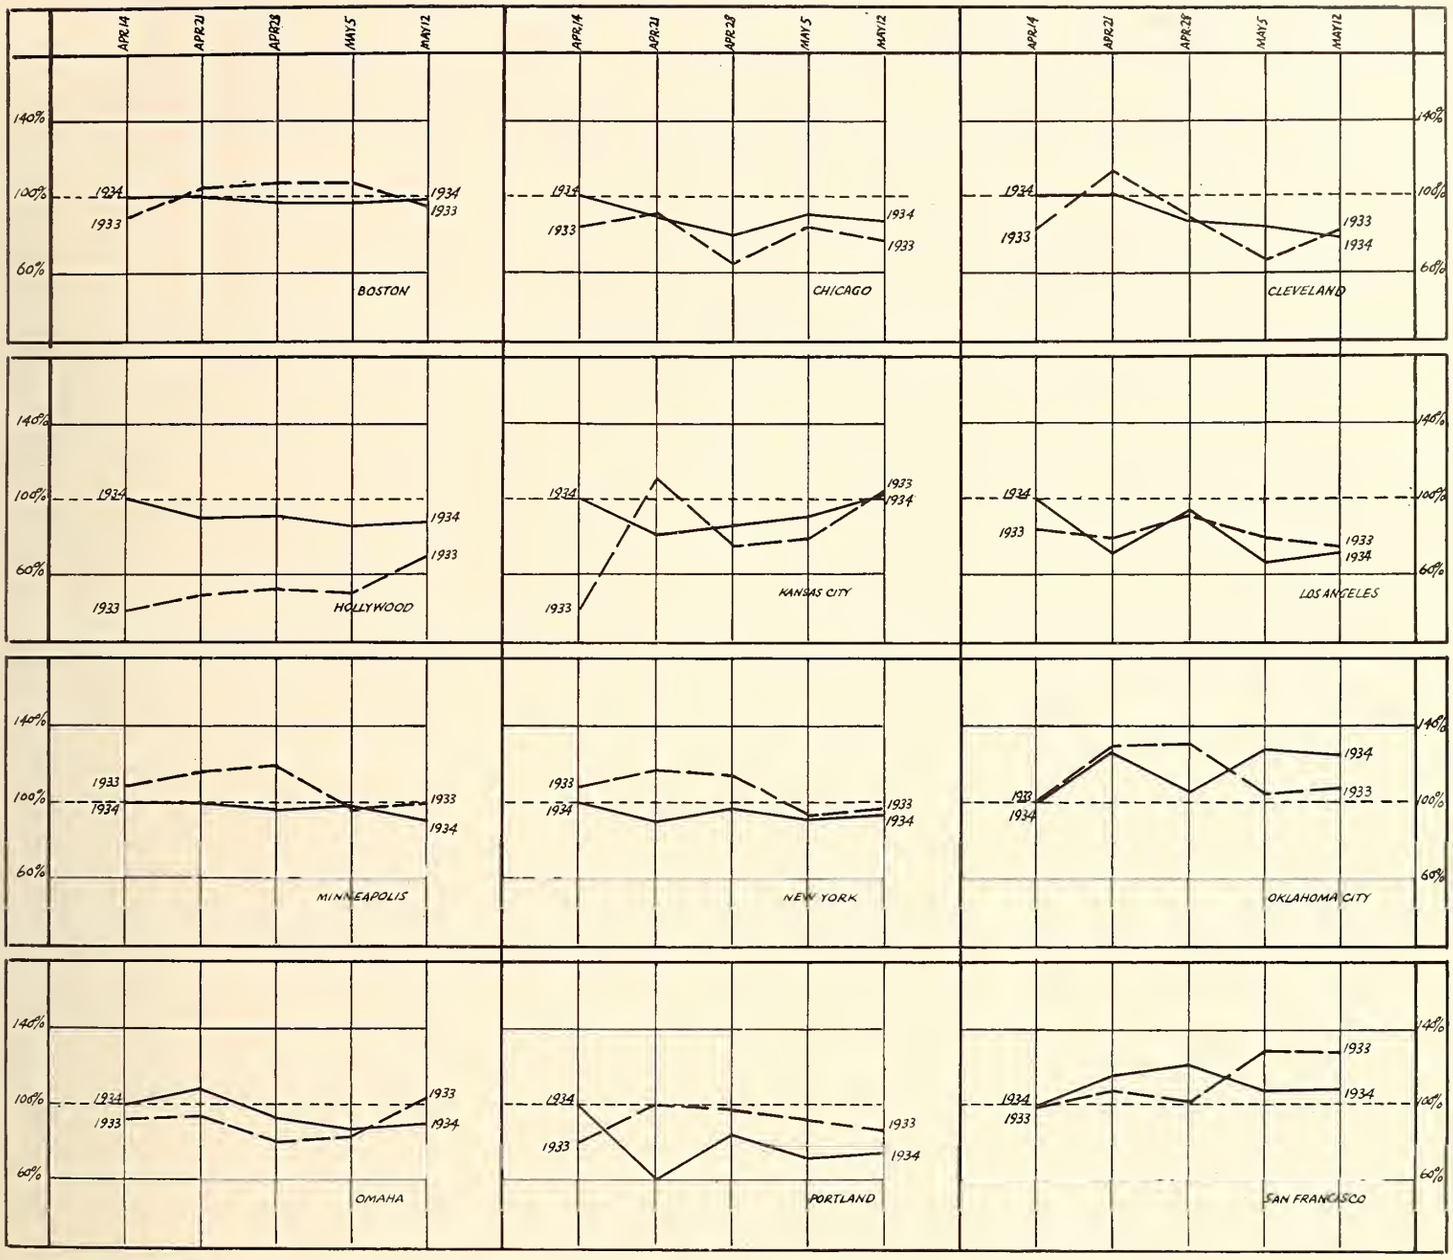
Exhibitors, independent and affiliated, producers and distributors, would welcome—yes, I think they will soon demand—some enlightened leadership. You occupy the logical, unequaled spot to provide this leadership. I believe all the industry wants it, even though the first few beams of light may prove embarrassing to some of our so-called leaders.

Turn on the light and show the way! So great a majority will follow that the few dissenters will be of no consequence.—Allen Johnson, Proprietor, Royal and Our Theatres, Grand Rapids, Mich.

EXHIBITOR CALLS IT "JACKASS DEAL"

To the Editor of the Herald:

Through your valued publication, which comes to us exhibitors each week, I want to ask a question and it is this: Do we exhibitors run our theatres or do the producers do it for us? Do we get the pictures we want or do the producers give us pictures they want us to have? They still make pictures on and on, full of wartime, hardship and crime, suicide and grief. Such pictures are killers to any theatre man's box-office and take all the joy from those you get in your theatre to see them and yet if you buy their product you are forced to play them and pay for them at a loss. And that is not the end to this story. You get your picture patrons dissatisfied, disgusted, and you make them stay away and lots of them will never come back. And now and then there comes a time you get a picture which is known, with stars in it that are known, and then they want a split on this one. And they send their checking man to see just how much money this advertised, well-known picture will sell for at your theatre. And when it is all over Mr. Exhibitor has got the jackass deal. So you see just how we exhibitors operate our own theatres. We own them and pay all the taxes, but the producers are running them their way for us.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss.



Discuss Theatre Product Available in Jersey Town

The Roselle, N. J., business association, in recent session, discussed a proposed ordinance designed to prevent "fly-by-night" concerns from doing business locally in unfair competition with existing firms. Particular attention was given to the alleged inability of the Roslyn theatre to secure first run films.

It was claimed the Park theatre in Roselle Park was preventing the Roslyn from obtaining such product, which condition was called a detriment to Roselle businessmen in the event the Roslyn is forced to close for lack of first run pictures. A discussion leading to an agreement between the two theatres has been projected.

Join Vitaphone Staff

Lloyd French, director; Justin Herman and Royal King Cole, scenario writers; Sanford Green and Jack Manus, song writers, have been added to the production staff of Vitaphone at the Brooklyn, N. Y., studio.

The chart, based on Motion Picture Herald's tabulation of box office grosses, compares the business done in twelve key cities during the five-weeks period from April 14 to May 12, 1934, with the receipts from the same cities during the same period in 1933. In each city, the gross for the week ending April 14, 1934, is taken as 100 per cent.

Patterson Assumes Post In United Detroit Theatres

Willard Patterson, formerly with Warner Theatres in New York, has assumed his new duties as general manager of the United Detroit Theatre Corporation, of which George W. Trendle is president. Other changes include the appointment of William Gary of New York in place of Sam Rubin, who had resigned as second in command of the advertising and publicity department, headed by Howard O. Pierce. C. A. Curran resigned to go to the Strand in New York, and Cy Davidson has resigned as manager of the State.

Mr. Patterson was tendered a farewell luncheon last week in New York by his friends at the Warner home office, held at the Motion Picture Club. Thomas D. Moule, who was replaced by Mr. Patterson, was similarly honored in Detroit after his resignation was announced. Nearly 200 attended a testimonial luncheon at the Book Cadillac Hotel, held under the auspices of the local Variety Club.

Loew's Drops Cleveland House

Loew's has given up the Alhambra theatre in Cleveland, neighborhood house and one of the first of the Loew circuit, reducing the Loew Cleveland holdings to four, which compares with a high of eleven theatres at one time locally operated by the circuit.

Buchanan Theatre Contractor

B. B. Buchanan, formerly with Paramount, has formed B. B. Buchanan, Inc., theatre contracting firm, in Chicago. Ben H. Adler is vice-president. Mr. Buchanan is an official of Ben Adler Signs, Inc., Chicago, manufacturers of changeable sign letters.

DeGribble Goes on South Sea Expedition

LaRue DeGribble, cameraman formerly connected with Fox and Hearst Metrotone, will start for the South Seas this week with Captain Irwin A. Williamson, noted deep-sea explorer and diver, on an expedition to bring back specimens of small fish which have never before been caught.

Arrangements have been made by Universal Newsreel, through Allyn Butterfield, editor, to handle the under-water shots of the expedition in the Universal newsreel.

Producing in British India

Wolff M. Henius, formerly with Paramount at the Joinville studio near Paris, is in British India supervising what is said to be the first sound film produced with Hindustani dialogue. The picture is to be titled "Nuri."

NINE NEW PRODUCTION COMPANIES ORGANIZE

Kuykendall Invites Distributors to Rule Out Double Features with Contract Clause; Exhibitor Units Don't All Agree

Introduction of nine new production companies, and a more heated recurrence of the internal struggle over double featuring were principal highlights during the week in connection with the separate activities of producer-distributors and exhibitors in formulating a product and merchandising structure for the approaching season of 1934-35.

New sources of product for theatre owners were announced by:

Allied States Association, which finally decided to distribute about 18 features next season.

Hiram S. Brown, formerly head of RKO, who returns as head of Fortune Film, backed by the Russell Sage Foundation.

Lester Cowan, formerly secretary of the Academy, who will produce independently through his own Artists Productions, releasing the first two through Fox.

Merian Cooper, who will not continue as production chief for Radio, deciding to make pictures on his own for RKO release.

Lester Brock, also previously linked with RKO, who, too, will make pictures for the same company.

William Saal, known best as former head of Tiffany and KBS, who announced Select Pictures, independent.

Shamrock Pictures will bring out features and shorts, headed by B. C. Fassio.

Dave Thomas announced Major Productions, another independent.

Walter Wanger, resigned from MGM to produce independently.

Ed Kuykendall, president of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America, publicly invited distributors to effect a clause in their contracts prohibiting the showing of their pictures on dual policies.

Exhibitors Again Meet on Policies

The second meeting of exhibitors in protest against higher rentals next season, held in New York last Friday, failed to bring out into the open any definite program. Delegates from two dozen states heard the details of Allied State's plan to produce about 18 features next season, and were asked to guarantee playing time in return for which Allied will agree to place its national strength behind the campaign opposing any sales policies which involve increased percentage playing, designated playing time, fixing of minimum admissions and higher rentals.

The New York meeting was an outgrowth of an invitation issued by the MPTO of Pennsylvania to all exhibitor associations to join in a fight against what they termed to be inequities of distributors' new sales policies. Working with the Pennsylvania group is the New York independent theatre owners' unit, headed by Harry Brandt.

Sidney Samuelson, president of Allied, said that the New York conference, held at the Motion Picture Club, "was represented by 73 per cent of the country's independent buying power." A third session, scheduled this week, was postponed indefinitely.

At the same time, speaking unofficially at Kansas City en route to Hollywood, Adolph Zukor said theatre admissions must be increased next season because their sub-normal level fails to yield a sufficient return to exhibitors, who, in turn, are not able to pay distributors an adequate film rental.

Ed Kuykendall, president of MPTOA, who is conducting an anti-double feature campaign throughout the country, said this week that "we are convinced the distributors can stop doubles through their own license agreements if they want to." Mr. Kuykendall's statement, issued at his headquarters at Columbus, Miss., was in answer to what he called "a determined effort of independent distributors to force double featuring down the throats of theatre owners everywhere."

The Double Situation

Mr. Kuykendall voiced opposition to the "deceptive and cunning slogan" of the independent distributors—"Double features are a matter for individual decision of the exhibitor"—and added that "what this intentionally misleading slogan really says and means is that exhibitors shall be prohibited from cooperating with each other to curb or restrain this sort of unfair cut-throat competition between theatres."

"If the independent producers are honest in wanting to leave it up to the independent exhibitors, why were they so unalterably opposed to that proposition made at the code drafting hearings " asked Mr. Kuykendall.

The MPTOA president said that while he thinks the independent producers should continue in the business, he thinks they should open up a market for quality shorts. "There's a field that requires more ideas than capital. Double featuring is certainly freezing up the short subject market, has already cut production in half, thrown thousands out of work and destroyed some of the oldest and largest producers of shorts in the business."

In defending the right of the large distributors to inject a clause in their contracts prohibiting the double featuring of their features, Mr. Kuykendall said that: "If another company (independent) takes a different view of the matter, or feels their pictures are not worthy of single picture exhibition, why should they try to impose their will on their competitor distributor.

"I am hopeful that we have men in charge of sales policies of the producers who have the courage to take a determined stand and refuse to let their product be shown with any other feature for one admission price."

Advance New Product Schedules

In the field, several exhibitor organizations were going on record. The Independent Theatre Owners of the District of Columbia passed two resolutions, one condemning President Kuykendall's anti-dual activities, the other favoring the practice. On the other hand, the Buffalo MPTO of Western New York was preparing to take a vote, while at Philadelphia, independent exhibitors were considering a test case in federal district court against the right of distributors to include double feature bans in contracts.

Developments in New York executive offices and in studio workshops brought 1934-35 schedules several steps nearer completion, as evidenced by the following activities of both large and small companies:

Allied States Association finally formulated plans for from 18 to 26 features, to be produced in the independent market and to be released by Allied through state right exchanges on a guaranteed playing time arrangement with independent exhibitors, principally Allied affiliates. Allied leaders said some 8,000 accounts eventually will be lined up to play the organization's product, which will include "clean pictures—nothing else but." Sidney Samuelson, New Jersey, is president.

Heading the second new source of independent product is Hiram S. Brown, who formed Fortune Film Company, reputedly backed by the Russell Sage Foundation, work starting in August. Mr. Brown was president of the RKO film and theatre companies, resigning in 1932. He later was identified with Charles Rosenzweig, also an ex-RKO executive, in a new producing company which did not materialize.

First word of new season's developments from Chesterfield Pictures came this week when George R. Batcheller, president, arrived in New York from Hollywood to arrange a feature schedule.

Lester Cowan to Produce for Fox

With product conferences at the home office completed, Harry Cohn, president of Columbia, was preparing to return to the studio in Hollywood. It appeared that two conventions will be held, one in Chicago, the other in Los Angeles. There probably will be 32 features and 16 action pictures.

The third new independent venture which crystalized this week is known as Artists Productions, Inc., and was organized in Hollywood by Lester Cowan, formerly secretary of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, with headquarters at Erpi's western General Service Studios. Mr. Cowan completed arrangements to produce immediately two features for Fox release, the first to be Ernest Hemingway's "The Sun Also Rises," starring Ann Harding, with E. H. Griffith directing. Edward Robinson may star in the second, the two new Cowan pictures bringing to 15 the total of outside pictures to be released in 1934-35 by Fox. While Mr. Cowan has been widely recognized as an authority on technical phases of production, sponsoring numerous scientific studios designed for the advancement of studio practice, his new company is the first venture in actual motion picture making.

Mascot Announces 12 Titles

Mascot Pictures, Nat Levine, president, announced titles of the 12 pictures which will comprise the company's first full feature schedule, and for which it was said some $1,250,000 has been budgeted, an average of $105,000 a picture. Louis Baum, Martin Cohn and Sigmund Neufeld will supervise production, with stories to come from a new staff of 30 writers. The features scheduled are as follows:

"Young and Beautiful" and "Harmony Lane," to be made by Mr. Baum; "Anything Once," "Along Came a Woman," "Man from Headquarters" and "One Frightened Night," for which Mr. Neufeld is scheduled; "Crimson Romance," "Streamline Express," "Confidential" and "Headlines," to be produced by Mr. Cohn. Two others have not been selected, and these, together with four serials, will complete the Mascot schedule. The serials: "Lost Jungle," with Clyde Beatty; "Burn 'Em Up Barnes," with Jack Mulhall and Lola Lane; "Law of the Wild," with Rex, the horse and Rin-Tin-Tin, Jr., and one other.

Master Art Products hereafter will distribute through state right exchanges, eliminating the present method of making sales through company representatives in the field. The company is negotiating long-term franchises with exchanges.

Dave Thomas, nephew of Harry Thomas,

(Continued on page 26)

DIRECTORY OF LOCAL CODE BOARDS

Directory of the Locations, Secretaries and Meeting Days of the Local Grievance and Local Clearance Boards which are the machinery for administering the Motion Picture Code in the field.

Boards	Street, Address	Phone Number	Name of Secretary	Meeting Days of Boards: Grievance	Meeting Days of Boards: Clearance
ALBANY	Suite 910, Nat'l Bank Bldg., 75 State St.	Albany 4-8331	Benjamin Strosberg	2nd and 4th Fridays	1st and 3rd Fridays
ATLANTA	Suite 1525 Wm. Oliver Bldg., Marietta and Peachtree Sts.	Walnut 2350	Love B. Marrell	Mondays	Mondays
BOSTON	Suite 203, Hotel Touraine, Tremont and Boylston Sts.	Hancock 3500	Olive Bursiel	Mondays	Wednesdays
BUFFALO	5th Floor, Byers Bldg., 505 Pearl St.	Cleveland 7521	Jane Holloran	1st and 3rd Mondays	2nd and 4th Mondays
CHARLOTTE	218½ West Fourth Street	3-4591	Mrs. Walter Griffith	Fridays	On Call
CHICAGO	Standard Oil Building, 910 So. Michigan Ave.	Harrison 8364	Emma Ablanalp	Tuesdays	Thursdays
CINCINNATI	Suite 305, Palace Theatre Bldg., 12 East 6th St.	Parkway 0574	Mrs. Alice Juergens	Alternate Mondays (Commercing May 21)	Alternate Mondays (Commencing May 14)
CLEVELAND	Suite 441, Hotel Statler, Euclid Ave. and East 12th St.	Main 3677	Mrs. Georgia Moffett	Mondays	Fridays
DALLAS	Suite 203, Melba Bldg.	.....	Don Douglas	Alternate Tuesdays	Alternate Tuesdays
DENVER	Suite 810, Security Bldg., 650 17th St.	Keystone 7221	Duke Dunbar	1st and 3rd Mondays	2nd and 4th Tuesdays
DES MOINES	Suite 224, Iowa Bldg., 6th Ave. and Locust St.	Dec M.—3-7749	Dallas Day	Mondays	Mondays
DETROIT	Suite 1219, Francis Palms Bldg., 2111 Woodward Ave.	Cadillac 1544	E. S. Kinney	Tuesdays	Mondays
INDIANAPOLIS	Suite 921, Illinois Bldg., 17 West Market St.	Riley 8781	Miriam Yergen	Mondays	Tuesdays
KANSAS CITY	Suite 907, Davidson Bldg., 17th and Main Sts.	Harrison 7672	Grace Cannon	Wednesdays	Tuesdays
LOS ANGELES	Suite 201, Balford Bldg., 634 So. Western Ave.	Exposition 3213	Mrs. Minnie Kopple	Tuesdays, Thursdays, Fridays	Mondays, Fridays, Wednesdays
MEMPHIS	Suite 223, Sterick Bldg.	Memphis 8-5382	Mrs. Alma Walton	1st and 3rd Mondays	2nd and 4th Mondays
MILWAUKEE	Suite 901, 212 W. Wisconsin Ave.	Marquette 0106	Ben Koenig	Indeterminate	Indeterminate
MINNEAPOLIS	Suite 515, Pence Bldg.	Atlantic 5043	Mrs. Mabel Dietz	Indeterminate	Indeterminate
NEW HAVEN	Suite 915, 1st Nat'l Bank Bldg., 42 Church St.	N. H. 7-0602	Harry Lander	Mondays	Tuesdays
NEW ORLEANS	Suite 1211, Maison Blanche Bldg., 901 Canal St.	Raymond 6792	Mona O'Rourke	Indeterminate	Indeterminate
NEW YORK	Suite 1008, Bond Bldg., 1560 Broadway	Bryant 9-5045	Lillian Silver (Grievance) Florence Abramson (Clearance)	Tuesdays	Thursdays (Main Board) Manhattan Advisory, on Mondays; New Jersey Advisory, on Mondays; Brooklyn Advisory, on Wednesdays
OKLAHOMA CITY	Suite 623, Security Bldg., Main and Harvey Sts.	Dial 3-2248	Charles Zears	Indeterminate	Tuesdays
OMAHA	Suite 226, Loyal Hotel, 16th and Capitol Ave.	Atlantic 7039	Regina Molseed	Tuesdays	On Call
PHILADELPHIA	Suite 810, 12 South 12th St.	Lombard 4742	Basil Ziegler	Thursdays	Wednesdays
PITTSBURGH	Suite 727, Grand Bldg., Grant St. and 4th Ave.	Atlantic 0676	Emmaline Fineberg	Fridays	Wednesdays
PORTLAND, (ORE.)	Suite 403, Pantages Bldg., 759 S. W. Broadway	BR. 0726	Ruth Doyle	Mondays	Mondays
ST. LOUIS	Suite 815, Ambassador Bldg.	Central 8354	Lila Schofield	Mondays	Saturdays
SALT LAKE CITY	Suite 914, Kearns Bldg., South Main St.	Washington 2350	Fred Loofbourow	On Call	On Call
SAN FRANCISCO	Suite 300, Golden Gate Bldg., 25 Taylor St.	Tuxedo 3012	Rowena Foley	Tuesdays, Thursdays	Mondays, Wednesdays
SEATTLE	2322 Second Ave.	Maine 0412	Roberta Lynch	Thursdays	Tuesdays, Fridays
WASHINGTON, D. C.	Suite 846, Earle Bldg., 13th and E Sts., N. W.	District 3705	James Fitzgerald	Mondays	On Call

NINE NEW COMPANIES

(Continued from page 24)

head of First Division, and formerly connected with the First Division exchange system, signed Luther Reed to direct "Convention Girl," first of a series of six features which he plans for 1934-35, under the banner of Major Productions, Inc. The story is by George Boyle and production will be in the east, including a newspaper and radio search for four players, the finalists competing at Atlantic City on June 14th.

MGM May Meet at Atlantic City

Reduction of the usual eight Laurel and Hardy-Hal Roach two-reel comedy series to four for 1934-35, and tentative selection of Atlantic City for the eastern sales convention were the principal developments at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

The first of Monogram's four regional sales meetings will get under way at Salt Lake City on Saturday, with Edward Golden, general sales manager, presiding. The meeting will be held at the Utah hotel and will be followed by a second at Cincinnati, on June 2, and a third at New York, June 9. Ray Johnston, president, will preside at the Cincinnati and New York conferences. The franchise holders will be told about a new deal whereby William Cagney, brother of Warners' James Cagney, has been signed to make three for 1934-35.

Paramount was completing its 1933-34 schedule, and progressing on 1934-35 product with 17 features in work in Hollywood.

Several events of importance to the 1934-35 production structure took place at the Radio studio in Hollywood this week, principal of which was the resignation of Merian Cooper as production general and his decision to produce for the company as an independent. Also, Lou Brock, whose contract expires in a month, decided to become an independent, releasing through Radio three musicals next season and an equal number during the following year.

Pandro Berman will be in charge of Radio production, with Mr. Cooper contributing probably two features in 1934-35 and four in 1935-36, the first to be "The Last Days of Pompeii." Mr. Cooper left Hollywood for Honolulu, returning later to visit Europe for atmospheric scenes for "Pompeii."

RKO's home office made the announcement of Mr. Cooper's status, saying he "has elected not to take charge of all production for RKO Radio for the 1934-35 season, preferring to concentrate on two special productions."

B. B. Kahane, president of the studio organization in Hollywood, said: "Mr. Cooper made an excellent record last year as vice-president in charge of production, and now being able to give all his energy and time to these special pictures, we expect him to deliver two outstanding productions" next season.

Meanwhile, RKO will complete its 1933-34 schedule within two weeks, and preparations were under way to launch the 1934-35 product, following Hollywood conferences between Mr. Kahane and Ned Depinet. Mr. Depinet returned to New York this week with Bob Sisk, advertising director.

Bill Saal Has New Company

William Saal, formerly with Tiffany Pictures and KBS, will produce 12 pictures under the name Select Productions, at the Biograph plant, New York, with Burt KeKlly. It is understood that Herbert J. Yates' Consolidated Film Industries, which controls Biograph, is interested in Mr. Saal's new company.

A seventh new independent venture is Shamrock Pictures Corporation, headed by B. C. Fassio, which will start work next month on the first of six features and 52 shorts for 1934-1935.

Universal's new policy of production for 1934-35 calls for four specials, costing $500,000 each, to take the place of one "big" picture, upon which resources had been concentrated in the past. The four scheduled are: "The Great Ziegfeld," "Show Boat," "Sutter's Gold" and "Angel." The new program calls for 36 features and six Buck Jones action pictures. The total is an increase of 10 over 1933-34.

United Artists will hold its annual sales conventions at the Drake hotel, Chicago, June 2.

Walter Wanger Now an Independent

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer agreed to release Walter Wanger from his long-term contract as associate producer, and Mr. Wanger immediately left for New York to arrange for a new independent production company. He will later travel to Europe for stories and players. He will make at least six for 1934-35 as an independent.

Mr. Wanger started in pictures in England, with Granville Barker, and subsequently produced plays for the Theatre Guild and was Paramount producer, a Columbia vice-president and, in 1933, an associate producer for Metro.

Columbia Earns $739,338 for Nine Months

Columbia Pictures' net profit for the nine months ended March 31, 1934, after all charges and provisions for federal taxes, amounted to $739,338, equal to $4.17 on each share of common stock outstanding, after deducting preferred dividends.

This compares with $546,778 for the same period ended in March, 1933, which was equivalent to approximately $3.02 per share on the common.

Consolidated balance sheet as at March 31, 1934, shows total assets of $7,407,358, against which there were total liabiilties of $2,072,417. Earned surplus amounts to $2,685,440. Cash aggregated $712,664.

Total current and working assets were $5,717,580, against total current liabilities of $1,200,450, a ratio of almost 5 to 1.

Independent Supply Dealers Open Convention Saturday

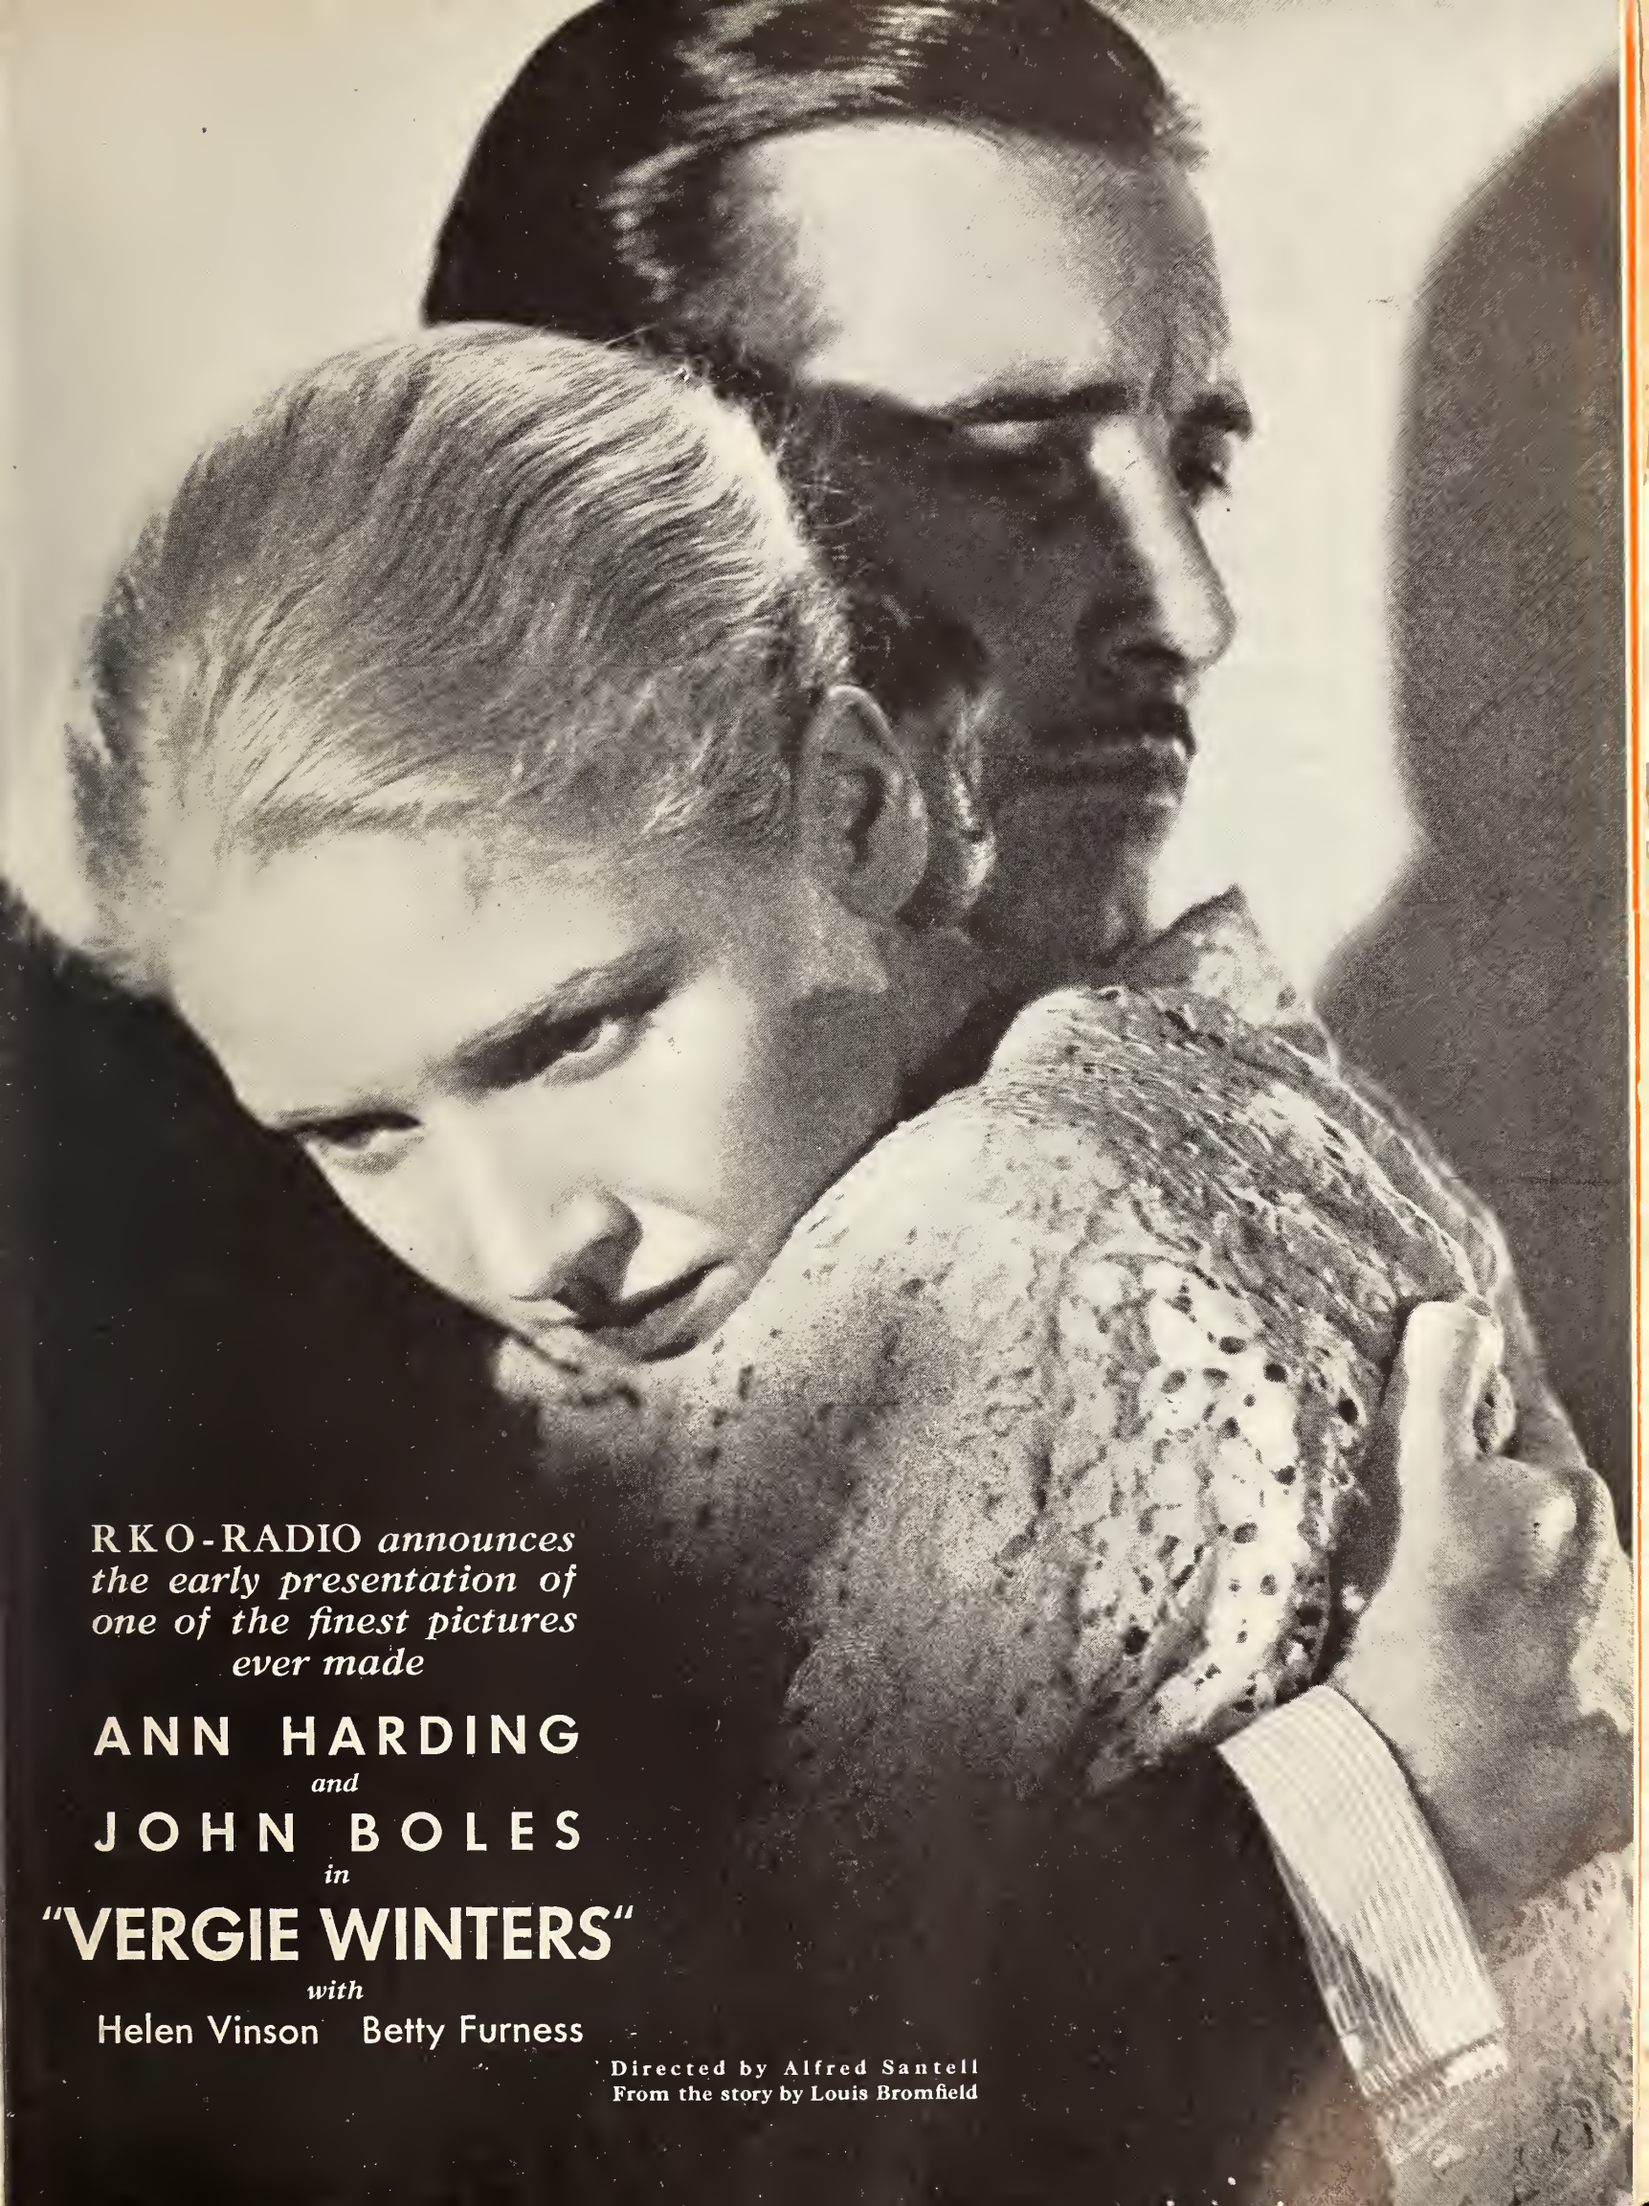
Directors of the Independent Theatre Supply Dealers' Association arrived in Chicago on Wednesday for a series of meetings which started Wednesday evening, preliminary to the annual convention opening at the Edgewater Beach hotel on Saturday.

Those directors in Chicago Wednesday were James Guercio, Chicago; Art Morrone, Pittsburgh; H. C. Dusman, Baltimore; I. H. Moskowitz, I. S. Perse, Joe Robin, New York, and George McArthur, Detroit.

Sleepless Carroll Ends Plane Junket With Film Prints

If Earl Carroll should some time in the near future write a book with the title "Across the Country by Airplane, or Practically No Sleep at All," it will be merely a penned recitation of his flight from Hollywood to New York in a special plane with an armful of prints of Paramount's musical, "Murder at the Vanities," which he produced.

As he, and his party of Paramount folk, flashed across the nation, stops were made to unload, submit to radio, press and newsreel interviews, preview the picture for trade and press, and push off to the next way station.



The itinerary reads like a listing of the country's key cities, and the diary of the travelers is a veritable saga of the rush and hurry of today, with the plane and innumerable motorcycle police escorts cooperating to make that statement strictly accurate.

On Sunday, and the 13th, the group hopped from Los Angeles to San Francisco to prepare for the start, which followed a hotel party, a meeting with press and exhibitors, a preview and a very small portion of sleep. Ten minutes late, at 6:10 a. m. the plane took off. Bucking head winds all the way, the flying print-carriers landed in Salt Lake City at 11:20, still late, were taken in hand by the motorcycle policemen, and went through the buffet luncheon—interviews, air and press—photographs ritual, and flew away. When the motor suddenly stopped in the bumpy air en route to Denver, all hearts were reliably reported to have stopped with it, but pilot Paul Mantz merely switched on another engine, and motor and hearts began thumping again. Denver, dinner clothes, dinner, a lecture at the Colorado Women's College, session with exhibitors and press, preview; all, Mr. Carroll is probably convinced, happened simultaneously. The longest sleep of the trip—12:15 a. m. to 4:45, also a. m., and on again.

Across Kansas and lost an hour on change of time, the voyagers reported, and landed in Kansas City at 10:30. Between that moment and the 2 o'clock departure were Variety Club luncheon, preview, more interviews, plus radio. Next in order came St. Louis and dinner clothes, in which the party left for Chicago at 8 p. m., and the Chicago arrival at 11:15, which found a large press party at the Sherman Hotel awaiting them. Then another preview, bed at 2:30 and up at 4. The sun came up on the approach to Detroit.

Detroit and Cincinnati followed in rapid succession, but the pilot lost his way en route to Pittsburgh. When he located himself they were over Parkersburg, W. Va., and landed in Pittsburgh 45 minutes late. Then came the last hop, to New York, where an 11:15 arrival left time for a midnight show at the Waldorf-Astoria and supper. On Thursday an extra trip to Boston, just a mere couple of hours, and the ritual again performed, was just a small busman's holiday.

As far as could be learned, Mr. Carroll then retired into seclusion for the express purpose of sleeping for weeks—or months.

RKO-RADIO announces the early presentation of one of the finest pictures ever made

ANN HARDING

and

JOHN BOLES

in

"VERGIE WINTERS"

with

Helen Vinson Betty Furness

Directed by Alfred Santell
From the story by Louis Bromfield

The Stars of "Cavalcade" Together Again!

WHERE Jimmers
MEET with BILLIE BURKE
REGINALD OWEN
ALAN MOWBRAY
GILBERT EMERY
FROM THE PLAY, "THE DOVER ROAD" BY A.A. MILNE
DIRECTED BY J. WALTER RUBEN
PANDRO S. BERMAN, EXEC. PRODUCER
RKO RADIO PICTURE
RADIO
CITY
ATTRACTION
STARTING THURSDAY

REWARD!

"STINGAREE"

"STINGAREE"

History's most fascinating scoundrel is loose and out to steal box-office records!

He has taken the public of three cities by storm with his charm and daring and packed houses are rewarding New York, San Francisco and Washington.

●

WARNING!

TO THEATRE MANAGERS

Buckle on your advertising hardware and go after him — the big money is waiting!

●

IRENE DUNNE and RICHARD DIX

co-starred for the first time since "Cimarron" have brought real romance and adventure back to the screen in another great big RKO-Radio Money Show.

ASIDES & INTERLUDES

By JAMES CUNNINGHAM

A story seeps through from Hollywood about Charlie Chaplin's private collection of informal films of himself and his friends, the prize of the lot being a sequence involving a genuine crown prince who some day will be king of a sizable country.

The crown prince, while sightseeing in America, dropped in one morning to see Charlie. His Highness had already consumed his morning "eye-opener"; also his afternoon and evening aperitifs, to say nothing of a number of "pick-me-ups." He was feeling swell.

His Highness sailed out upon a lighted stage. Chaplin approached, thumped the royal anatomy at various strategic points and kicked the royal shins. The cameras clicked off the indignities, which were very funny. Even His Highness thought so. When he returned home he took a copy of the film with him.

Some months later, Chaplin received a letter covered with sealing wax and foreign stamps.

"I showed your picture to the royal household," the letter read. "They thought it very amusing. But, Charlie, I beg of you, never let that film become public."

Chaplin's reply must have had a very sobering effect on His Highness. It said:

"So long as you are a good king, I will keep the film secret. But if you ever become a bad king, I'll give it to the Bolshevists of your country and let them laugh you off your throne."

▽

Capitol Hill newspapermen re-christened Clarence Darrow's "Little Man" Review Board, the "Little Man What Now" Board. Now that the Board is to be dissolved, a more appropriate title might be the "Little Man, So What" Board.

Coincidentally, the long awaited report of the Darrow Board, and the NRA reply, including Sol Rosenblatt's, were mimeographed late last week in a closely guarded office, for publication Monday. All workers were searched on leaving the room, after extremely long shifts, and a "gag" was clamped on all who had access to the statement.

Ironically, there followed a vigorous complaint against the overtime by the NRA section of the Federation of Government Employees who did the mimeographing.

▽

A Western Union telegram sent last weekend to Mr. Bert Sanford, chairman of the Erpi home office golf tournament, at Briarcliff Lodge in the hills of Westchester, asking for verification of a report that the management of the golf club was considering an action against 39 of the 44 entrants for the wages of some 3,708 laborers needed to fill in the deep holes dug on the course by the alleged golfers, failed to bring any response.

▽

Sign on the Bulletin Board of the National Variety Artists clubhouse near Times Square:

Twelve trained pigeons to fly into audience and back onto the stage.
Three girls to do Indian club juggling.
One man to do acrobatic tricks with pants flying in the air.

▽

Emanuel (Manny) Cohen. vice-president of Paramount in charge of all production on the Coast, is supposed to be the only motion picture executive for whom a mountain has been named. Few are aware that Admiral Byrd named "Mount Emanuel Cohen," near the South Pole, for Mr. Zukor's production general. Probably because Mr. Cohen was instrumental in getting Paramount release for the Byrd South Pole motion pictures.

Mark Hellinger swears that this story about Sam Goldwyn is true. It appears that George S. Kaufman was engaged by Mr. Goldwyn to put the finishing touches to the story of "Roman Scandals," Eddie Cantor's most recent musical. Mr. Kaufman finished the script in Hollywood, sent it over to Goldwyn and returned to New York. A few days later he received a letter from the producer and in it, in effect, was the following statement:

"I must tell you the truth, George, because I know you want the truth. The manuscript that you turned out is only 60 per cent of what I expected."

Whereupon Kaufman did a very decent thing, replying to Goldwyn that since he had been busy on other scripts at the time, and since his work had been but 60 per cent satisfactory, Goldwyn need pay him only 60 per cent of the figure agreed upon.

One week later there came a second letter from Goldwyn.

"Dear George," it started. "I must begin by telling you that my secretary made a mistake in my last letter. I said 40 per cent satisfactory—not 60."

▽

Some two weeks ago, an entire section of the west Bronx in New York City was thrown into something resembling a panic. Crowds, mostly children, teemed in the streets, while mothers, wheeling perambulators, scurried toward the center of disturbance. The turmoil went on apace, but no one was injured. Two men and a woman had alighted from an expensive automobile. It was learned later that they had traveled uptown from Times Square to visit for a spell with the paralyzed and bed-ridden son of a theatre owner of their acquaintance. The first of the trio was Mr. James (Schnozzola) Durante; the second was Mrs. Durante. Bringing up the rear was Mr. George Raft.

▽

"The public is rapidly becoming fed up with a succession of films, each a carbon copy of the other," opines Samuel Goldwyn.

Maybe it's just that the public is fed up with carbon copies of films it didn't like in the first place.

▽

Wonder if Sylvia Sidney knows that the old clothes which she so philanthropically sends to relatives at Paterson, N. J., are immediately turned over to a local charity which disposes of them at rummage sales?

▽

Soviet producers last week began work on their first animated cartoon: "Mikki Maus."

▽

The wine card of Lum's Chinese restaurant on Lexington Avenue in New York features these four extra special Chinese cocktails—"best in the house":

Ho-Sai-Gum	35¢
Lum Fong	35¢
Norma Talmadge	35¢
Ruby Keeler	35¢

▽

Sheer luck gave Pathe News exclusive pictures of the rescue at sea of the survivors of the Nantucket Shoals Lightship when the Olympic cut her in two and sent her to the bottom of the ocean off the lower New England Coast. The ship's officers are understood to have warned passengers against taking any pictures, either still or motion. However, a Pathe contact man happened across one J. Deguchi, who had worked fast and well from the Olympic's decks in filming the accident with a nine millimeter camera. Negley Farson, another passenger, and a pioneer newsman on the staff of Chicago's Daily News, supplied a word picture.

Proceeding on the premise that "Wisdom is ofttimes nearer when we stoop than when we soar," the Society of Stoopnocracy, Inc., has set out to enroll members from the fertile heights of motion pictures.

Feeling that what this country needs, besides doilies for manhole covers, master keyholes and striped mirrors for zebras, is "Charity with Hilarity," a number of theatrical, writing and business people have set out to provide funds for distressed "white-collar" workers. A person may join as a Natural-Born Stoop, ($1.00); a Foundling Stoop, ($5.00); a Front Stoop, ($10.00); a Back Stoop, ($25.00): a Veranda, ($50.00), or a Porte Cochere, ($100.00).

Charter Stoops: Sophie Tucker, Irvin S. Cobb, Marion Chase, Heywood Broun, et al.

Privileges: Members may revolve through revolving doors without revolving the door; name their own salary; unveil fire plugs; use ice cubes covered with sandpaper so they won't slip; eliminate the corner that Prosperity is just around.

In Technocracy it's Ergs; in Stoopnocracy it is Irks.

▽

Odd McIntyre was traveling eastward with the Will Hays party. The train arrived at a frontier town early one morning and Mr. McIntyre peeked through a slit of window curtain from his sleeper berth, to listen to station loungers' conversation unobserved. Two were under his window. Said No. 1: "Will Hays, the pitcher feller, is aboard." No. 2: "I seen his wife Helen in a fillum twicet."

▽

Mr. Norman McLeod, Paramount's young feature director, told us during cocktails the other afternoon about the shy young miss who, dressed quite childishly in costume for the name part, appeared on the set for a test for "Alice in Wonderland." Noticing that she was trembling, with what he thought was fear, Norman attempted to comfort her. "Here, now, little girl, don't be afraid," he said encouragingly, "everything is going to be all right."

"Hell, I'm not afraid," cracked back the young lady, "I have a hangover."

▽

The bed now being used on the Paramount lot by Claudette Colbert for "Cleopatra" is so long that Director deMille had to use a telephone to tell Claudette how to fix the pillow—says Paramount.

▽

Says Advertising Age:

A lot of research men insist that the public possesses only an average 11-year-old intelligence. Their most convincing evidence is the remarkable popularity of Joe Penner.

Says Paramount Pictures:

Joe Penner has been signed for "The College Rhythm."

▽

Warner Baxter has been trying for years to start Frank McGrath, his best friend and "stand-in," on a motion picture career of his own. The big moment finally came the other day when McGrath got a part in Jesse Lasky's newest Fox picture. He played the dead man under a sheet in a hospital scene in "The Grand Canary."

▽

Standard Oil of the Rockefellers is putting over a really exciting publicity program featuring wild animals straight from the jungle. It hasn't been announced whether the producers of Frank Buck's "Wild Cargo" are participating in the expense, but RKO will send love and kisses, anyway.

THE CUTTING ROOM

Advance outlines of productions nearing completion as seen by Gus McCarthy of Motion Picture Herald's Hollywood Bureau

THE GREAT FLIRTATION

Paramount - Charles R. Rogers

This is a drama of conflicting ambitions. A different kind of theatrical story, the yarn is an original by Gregory Ratoff. The screen play is by Humphrey Pearson and the production is directed by Ralph Murphy, who directed "70,000 Witnesses," "Song of the Eagle" and "Girl Without a Room."

Elissa Landi and Adolphe Menjou handle the leading roles and are the couple about whom the romantic drama of the production rotates. David Manners is featured and the supporting cast lists several new names, Lynn Overman, Raymond Walburn, Adrian Rosley, currently in "Handy Andy"; Paul Porcasi, George Baxter, Judith Vosselli and Vernon Steele.

Modernly timed, two principal locales, a European capital and New York are utilized. As romance is tinged with drama, illustrating the futility of earthly ambitions, the story concerns itself with a pair of actors. At the height of his Continental fame, Menjou marries Miss Landi. As the scene shifts to New York, the egotistical self-satisfied star quickly hits the skids and is on the way to oblivion. In the meantime, his wife has become a sensational favorite. A human interest twist is worked into the climax as the erstwhile leading man realizes that he is passe and he sacrifices all his hopes to his wife's happiness with another man.

While the story is essentially dramatic, it does not lack comedy moments. Menjou and Miss Landi being particularly fitted to the roles assumed, commercial showmanship stuff is to be found in both story and personnel qualities.

CHARLIE CHAN'S COURAGE

Fox-Wurtzel

This episode in the Charlie Chan mystery detective series was adapted from Earl Derr Biggers' novel, "The Chinese Parrot." The screen play is by Seton I. Miller, previously credited with "Scarface," "The Last Mile," "Eagle and the Hawk" and "Midnight Club." Direction is by George Hadden.

Promising to be one of the most novelly interesting of the Chans, this is localed entirely in America. The Mohave Desert is the predominating background. It deals with Chan's clever efforts to recover a half-million dollar necklace. Primarily and naturally it is surrounded by the sustaining romance, comedy and drama familiar to all the pictures. The elements are supported by mystery, thrill, suspense and both the subdued and hectic action.

Warner Oland, after a brief excursion to appear in "Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back," returns to the role he created. Practically all the other players are new to Chan pictures, as Drue Leyton, currently in "Change Of Heart," and Donald Woods, who has appeared in several Warner pictures, carry the romantic phase. Others who are the good folk whom Chan is trying to protect or the bad, wicked ones he is trying to trap, are Paul Hervey, Murray Kinnell, Reginald Mason, Virginia Hammond, Jerry Jerome and Harvey Clarke.

The fact that quite a bit of Hollywood atmosphere is incorporated in the picture, through the medium of the girl (Miss Trevor), a location scout, suggests a new angle for exploitation purposes.

WE'RE RICH AGAIN

Radio

Up-to-date, zippy comedy, tinged with exciting romance, this story is adapted from an Alden Nash stage play. Keyed to produce merriment, the screen play is by Ray Harriss, adaptor of "Three Cornered Moon" and "He Learned About Women," and the exciting story-telling technique of those pictures has been preserved in this. William Seiter, who has been more than ordinarily successful with comedies, directed.

The colorful yarn is located in Santa Barbara and other California play spots, and some of the atmospheric scenes are Ensenada, Mexico. It deals with the experiences of a once wealthy family. Endeavoring to recoup its fortunes, by marrying a daughter to a financially strong Blue Blood, the comedy setup is accentuated by continued efforts to convince a grandma that her place is in a rocking chair rather than astride a polo pony, and to smother the antics of a wild and woolly Texas girl cousin who has for her life motto "Be Good, Sweet Maid," and "Let Who Will Be Clever."

The cast is composed of players noted for their adaptability to light comedy entertainment. The following principals are featured: Marian Nixon, Joan Marsh, Gloria Shea, Edna May Oliver, Billie Burke, Grant Mitchell, Reginald Denny and Buster Crabbe.

Motivated by a spirit of carefree youth, in which the more adult cast members come under that airy spell, advance indications are that both dialogue and action as well as situations developed by the harum scarum activities of all will result in peppy comedy. As it should appeal to those who are interested in just plain amusement, with no other objective, the showmanship selling medium should concentrate on tricky gag stuff that promises a load of laughs.

BABY TAKE A BOW

Fox-Wurtzel

For most purposes the potential showmanship in this story is Shirley Temple. The little miss who was first seen in the "Baby Burlesque" series, later in "Stand Up and Cheer" and currently in "Little Miss Marker," is starred. The title of the picture having such a personal connection, showmanship of the combination is limited only by ingenuity.

The story, which is being directed by Harry Lachman, was written and scenarized by Edward Paramore and Philip Klein. Basically it's dramatic, tinged with topical comedy, and continually builds towards human interest. Primarily it deals with a crook, who has paid his debt to society, his wife and their child. As an undercurrent of brittle drama prevails, with attention continually focused on the little girl, the struggles and temptation of the ex-crook, inspired by paternal love to go straight, result in modern punchy situations that have their light as well as drab side.

Supporting the child star is a cast of well-known players. James Dunn and Claire Trevor, who have the father and mother roles, have been seen together before. Others who have important parts are Alan Dinehart, Ray Walker, Dorothy Libaire, Ralfe Harolde, James Flavin, Richard Tucker and Olive Tell.

Timed to the present, located in New York, music and lyrics by Bud Green and Sam Stept are introduced to color the motivating dramatic elements. The yarn builds to quick climaxes.

SHE LEARNED ABOUT SAILORS

Fox

As the title indicates, this is a comedy of jack tars, girl trouble and boy trouble, tinged with music and produced against colorful setting. The story is by William Conselman and Henry Johnson, and direction is by George Marshall, a trio that has been teamed consistently in many recent Fox pictures. Music and lyrics are by Richard Whiting and Sidney Clare. Dance routines were directed by Sammy Lee.

Locales are an Asiatic port, the deck of a battleship, a San Pedro cafe and a Los Angeles hotel. While popular romance is the motivating factor, comedy is almost as important, and music, dancing and girl glamour are adapted.

Lew Ayres, who has appeared in many Universal pictures, shares the star honors with Alice Faye, who made her screen debut in George White's "Scandals" and later was seen in "Now I'll Tell." Principal supporting players include Harry Green, Nick Foran, a comparative newcomer in whom the producers have strong confidence, and Frank Mitchell and Jack Durant, erstwhile New York vaudeville, radio and nightclub headliners, who have previously appeared in several Vitaphone shorts and also had a sequence in "Stand Up And Cheer."

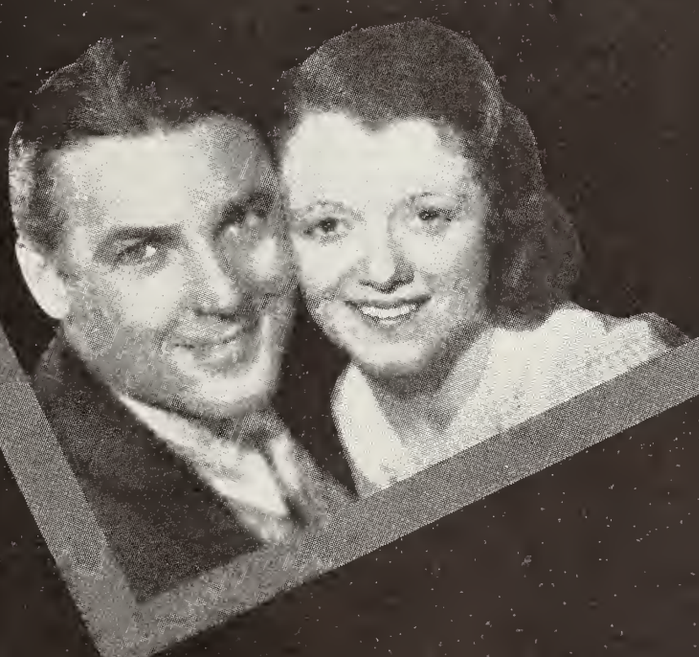
Ayres' part differs radically from any he has had in the past, inasmuch as he combines straight comedy with his romantic inclinations. Miss Faye, who will display more than a dozen different costumes, also will sing several songs. Two of these, "Here's The Key To My Heart" and "She Learned About Sailors," sound catchy.

The story, geared to interest the masses, together with the value of cast names and colorful production settings, suggests topical breezy showmanship that accentuates both the lively romance and exciting comedy.

SHOOT THE WORKS

Paramount

The title is the showmanship tipoff of this story. It's plain unadulterated hokum comedy. The original story is by Ben Hecht and Gene Fowler, the screen play by Howard Green and Claude Binyon. Wesley Ruggles is the director. The music is by Rainger and Revel, lyrics by Robin and Gordon.



Slam-bang action, brittle and witty dialogue, pepped up by catchy music carry the story. It's a carnival yarn, dealing with endurance contest flag pole sitters, flea circuses, embalmed whale exhibitors and all the flim-flam poppycockery of a small time carnival plus a romantic story of a cocky egotistic wise guy and the girl he loved and almost lost.

As Jack Oakie has the real lead, the cast is important from a showmanship viewpoint as Ben Bernie, nationally known radio star, is spotted in one of the principal roles, in support with Dorothy Dell, one of Paramount's new players, previously seen in "Wharf Angel" and currently in "Little Miss Marker," who has the principal feminine part. Others of importance are Arline Judge, Alison Skipworth, Roscoe Karns, William Frawley, Lew Cody and Paul Cavanagh.

At this stage, "Shoot The Works" appears to be not only one of the funniest pictures produced by Paramount in many months, but in addition one that opens the door wide to spot exploitation.

For the first time in 2 years

YOU CAN DATE THEM UP!

Just like seeing good friends after a long absence . . . your audiences will welcome the return of these ever-popular sweethearts! *

* And in a picture that S. R. Kent calls: "The biggest money picture with this team we've had in the last three years." And Variety Daily hails: "A box-office bet from every angle!"

JANET GAYNOR
CHARLES FARRELL
in CHANGE OF HEART

with

JAMES DUNN
GINGER ROGERS

Produced by Winfield Sheehan

Directed by John G. Blystone • Screen play: Sonya Levien and James Gleason • From the novel "Manhattan Love Song" by Kathleen Norris.

FOX

The Hollywood Scene

by VICTOR M. SHAPIRO

MAJOR DONOVAN, COAST CODE SECRETARY
MGM STUDIOS OBSERVE TENTH BIRTHDAY
WILL ROGERS MAKES BOW ON LEGITIMATE
EIGHT FILMS ARE LAUNCHED, FOUR FINISH

THE Code Authority of Hollywood swung into action this week as Major Joseph O. Donovan, duly appointed West Coast secretary, took office space in the Guaranty Building on Hollywood boulevard, and hung out his shingle "Open for Business." The present personnel consists of the Major and two secretaries.

In the Major's first week in office, John C. Flinn, general executive secretary of the Code Authority, notified him that "Race Night," a combination comedy film, with sampler accessories for the public, has been approved by the administrator in Washington.

The Major received word that he was to act in the administrative as well as secretarial capacity on the agents' committee.

Of fifty cases filed concerning extras, all have been reviewed.

Major Donovan, "Dooley," as show business knows him, comes to his new post with a wealth of training and experience in industrial relations. He was born in New York City, educated in the public schools and St. Mary's College of Dayton, Ohio. After clerking in Judge White's court in Dayton, he went on the road with a minstrel troupe. His feature song was "Oh, Mr. Dooley—Oooley-oo," hence his nickname.

War saw him serving with Pershing's crack 26th Infantry, First Division, at Belleau Woods, Cantigny and Mont Blanc. Transferring to 313 Air Squadron, Aviation, he emerged from the service a major and now holds the rank of lieutenant colonel in U. S. A. reserve, being one of the few real Colonels in the film business.

After the Armistice he acted as arbitrator of the Joint Complaint Bureau, in cases affecting vaudeville artists and managers. He studied law at night and passed his Bar examinations with honors.

In the fourteen years of service with the Joint Complaint Committee, forty thousand cases paraded before him, an average of fifty cases a week. Only five were carried to the civil courts, and on these five, court findings were exactly the same as Major's.

Major Donovan is married, has two grown daughters, both in college. His middle name is Orrin. He plays golf. He's an orator and never had his picture taken.

▽

Screen Actors' Frolic

After several weeks of intensive ballyhoo, all local actors' organizations joined forces in making the Screen Actor's Guild first annual Film Stars Frolic a financial success, with a gate reputed at $40,000 for the five shows staged over the weekend.

Because the advertisements emphasized the personal appearance of practically all first, second and third string stars, sharp criticism of the Frolic was projected by local theatre operators.

Besides a colorful pageant, the Guild operated a carnival midway outside the stadium.

Eddie Cantor, advertised as master of ceremonies, led the pageant of stars in a Roman chariot, the one used in "Roman Scandals." Ann Harding made a royal appearance as Queen of the Pageant, with Mary Astor, Miriam Hopkins, Jeannette MacDonald and Elissa Landi succeeding to this position at each of the following shows.

▽

MGM Studios Celebrate

Last week Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios observed the tenth anniversary of the founding of the organization, which started as a consolidation of the Louis B. Mayer, Metro and Goldwyn studios May 16, 1924.

In the ten years MGM has turned out 675 pictures, expanded from 14 stages, many of them revamped glass stages from the old days of sunlight films, to a plant with 25 modern sound stages, more than 125 buildings, an additional "second lot," and personnel increased threefold.

The first picture made under the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer merger was "He Who Gets Slapped," with Norma Shearer, Lon Chaney and John Gilbert, directed by Victor Seastrom. The latest to go into production is "Stamboul Quest," in which Sam Wood is directing Myrna Loy, Lionel Atwill, Douglas Dumbrille, George Brent.

Among the many major productions turned out have been "Ben Hur," "The Big Parade," "The Unholy Three," "His Secretary," "Tell It to the Marines," "The Merry Widow," "The Student Prince," "The Actress," "White Shadows," "Our Dancing Daughters," "The Broadway Melody," "The Pagan," "Madame X," "The Rogue Song," "Anna Christie," "The Big House," "Flesh and the Devil," "Hell Divers," "A Free Soul," "Min and Bill," "Tarzan the Ape Man" and "Red Headed Woman."

Stars developed include Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford, Marie Dressler, Clark Gable, Jean Harlow, Robert Montgomery, Jackie Cooper and others. Constance Bennett played her first screen role at MGM during this time, and now is playing there as a star. Wallace Beery made his screen "comeback" in "The Big House." Helen Hayes was brought from the stage to win Academy honors.

During the ten years the Academy of Arts and Sciences awarded MGM the following honors:

Production—1928-29: "Broadway Melody"; 1931: "Grand Hotel."

Sound Recording—1930: "The Big House."

Performances—1929: Norma Shearer in "The Divorcee." 1930: Marie Dressler in "Min and Bill"; Lionel Barrymore in "A Free Soul." 1931: Helen Hayes in "The Sin of Madelon Claudet." Special award to Wallace Beery for "The Champ."

Title Writing—1927: Joseph Farnham for "Telling the World."

Art Direction—1928: Cedric Gibbons for "The Bridge of San Luis Rey."

Writing—1930: Frances Marion for "The Big House." 1931: Frances Marion for "The Champ."

Camera Work—1928: Clyde DeVinna on "White Shadows of the South Seas."

Ten years ago four thousand stars, directors, officials of State and Nation and plain craftsmen sat down to a banquet at which Mr. Mayer, Irving Thalberg and Harry Rapf were the principal speakers.

Last week the tenth anniversary picnic was called off, as no place big enough was found to accommodate the thousands on thousands who would have had to be invited. Instead, an intimate luncheon was held at MGM.

▽

Rogers Goes Legitimate

Will Rogers made his stage debut here in Eugene O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness" in the role created by George M. Cohan on Broadway. Minus lasso, chewing gum, Ziegfeld charmers or wisecracks, "the sage brush philosopher" went through his first legitimate stage part like a veteran.

Hollywood in top hats, tails, ermine and glitter, turned out enmasse to pay homage to the ex-Mayor of Beverly Hills. The El Capitan theatre was sold out long before the opening night with Winfield Sheehan, who brought Rogers into films, taking more than 400 seats himself.

In this new venture, Rogers revealed drama and pathos with surprising ease, and backstage, after the first performance, Rogers twinkled in his usual style "My next will be 'Hamlet,' followed by 'Romeo and Juliet'."

▽

News Flashes

Because of the success of "Fortune Teller," a Spanish picture featuring Enrico Caruso, Warner has decided to make a

(Continued on following page, column 2)

HEARST'S GUESTS HAVE AN INNING

At the Hearst Ranch, at San Simeon, Cal., where de luxe parties are de luxe, one divertissement afforded by W. R. is the screening of all manner of films.

Guests usually comprise a colorful cross-section of the Hollywood colony. Part of the entertainment consists of impromptu remarks addressed to the flitting shadows, the audience answering back the dialogue of the screen. If the picture projected happens to be a "tomato," the results are riotous.

Service Strike Ends; Dubinsky Wins on Appeal

The strike of service employees in all RKO and Loew theatres in New York, instituted last Thursday by Local 118 of the Theatre and Amusement Employees' Union, closed late Monday night. Charles C. Levey, secretary of the local, said the membership's response to a strike was very small.

"This convinced the executive board of the union that the poll recently conducted by the Department of Labor was fair and represented the feelings of the employees," Mr. Levey said. He denied that early dissolution of the local was in prospect.

53 on Strike of 2,500 Concerned

Last week, after the Department of Labor had revealed through its check-up of the union's membership in Loew and RKO houses that the union had a minority membership, Mr. Levey had said the circuits had intimidated their employees.

A total of 53 struck of a total of 2,500 employed. C. C. Moskowitz, of Loew's, said that of about 525 service employees in Loew theatres only 12 went out.

In Elkhart, Ind., the Theatres Service Employees Union—parent body of the New York local—won a victory with reinstatement of nine ushers by Elkhart Amusement Co., by order of the National Labor Board.

In New York, Motion Picture Operators' Union, Local 306, center of charges of labor racketeering for years, was in a new "clean-up" fight. Members of the newly-organized Progressive Club, claiming 250 projectionist members, called for termination of alleged employer influence and discontinuance of the "request system" of employment. The club charged employer influence by Lester Isaacs and Harry Rubin, chief operators for Loew's State and the Paramount theatres. Harry Apse, Julius Libin, Max Lempkowitz and William Paster, leaders of the Progressive Club, declared the chief operators have been using their positions to help Harry Sherman in the presidency of the union. Sherman succeeded Sam Kaplan in power.

Much unrest also has been caused by a 10 per cent assessment on operators' earnings, to finance organization work.

Dubinsky Wins on Appeal

In St. Louis the Regional Labor Board, in the first decision of its kind and considered by NRA officials as establishing a national precedent, ruled that Dubinsky Brothers are under no obligation to reinstate former union employees found guilty of threatening or committing violence in connection with labor disturbances in St. Joseph, Mo., theatres. The reversal followed decision of the National Labor Board that Dubinsky had not been shown violating President Roosevelt's re-employment agreement or the code.

A temporary injunction had been granted Dubinsky in March, in federal district court at St. Joseph, protecting the theatre from any acts of violence by the operators and stagehands' unions and one member of the musicians' union. Dubinsky had refused to renew the union agreement and demanded there be only one man in a booth. The stagehands' and musicians' unions had acted in sympathy with the operators. In February the Regional Board had ordered him to reinstate the employees and continue two men in a booth pending arbitration.

The National board also found the earlier decision did not indicate Dubinsky had failed to make reasonable efforts to arrive at an agreement.

Lightman Building One House, After Two More

M. A. Lightman, Memphis theatre owner, and former president of the MPTOA, plans construction of a new theatre at Newport, Ark., to replace his present house there, the lease of which expires in December.

He also is negotiating for two houses at Jackson, Tenn., the Hauber, owned by O. C. Hauber, and the Paramount, which he is now operating with Publix. Returning from a recent tour of his Arkansas houses, Mr. Lightman reported business good for this time of year.

Latest News of Hollywood Scene

(Continued from preceding page)

series of Spanish talkers for next season's program.

* * *

Dr. Eugene Franke, husband of Anna Sten, has been signed by Universal to write and direct a Russian story of his own idea.

* * *

The RKO-Hillstreet theatre, one of the larger downtown first-runs, has decided to go double bill June 1. The three remaining first-runs in this sector declared themselves absolutely against duals.

* * *

As a result of a secret indictment handed down by the grand jury against Dave Allen on a morals charge, Mr. Allen has resigned as manager of Central Casting Bureau until he is vindicated. He declares it is a "diabolical frameup."

▽

Eight New Films Launched

Eight new pictures started in Hollywood the past week. Four others were finished. There are 39 pictures currently shooting; 48 are in the cutting rooms.

Of the new pictures, Columbia, Paramount and Monogram each started two; MGM one and Universal one. Paramount finished a pair. Chesterfield and Universal accounted for the other two.

Romantic drama is the predominating flavor of the new crop. Columbia's pair include "Blind Date," in which Ann Sothern and Paul Kelly are starred, and "The Criminal Within," featuring Richard Cromwell, Arline Judge, Rita LaRoy.

Paramount's two are "Ladies First," teaming George Bancroft and Frances Fuller, and "Ladies Should Listen," in which Cary Grant, Gertrude Michael and E. E. Horton are featured.

At Monogram "Jane Eyre" begins, with Virginia Bruce, Colin Clive, Beryl Mercer and Lionel Belmore. "Shock," featuring Ralph Forbes, Gwynllian Gill and Monroe Owsley, also was started.

MGM's contribution is "Stamboul Quest," presenting Myrna Loy, George Brent and Lionel Atwill.

The two completed Paramount pictures are "The Old Fashioned Way," in which W. C. Fields and Baby LeRoy head the cast of funsters, and "Here Comes the Groom," presenting Jack Haley, Patricia Ellis and Mary Boland.

Universal finished "I Give My Love," with Paul Lukas and Wynne Gibson.

The Chesterfield number is "Green Eyes," starring Charles Starrett and Shirley Grey.

Clare Brokaw, of Social Register, is On Code Authority

The second of the United States Government's representatives on the Motion Picture Code Authority—Mrs. Clare Boothe Brokaw—was appointed last week. The third has not yet been appointed; the first is Sol A. Rosenblatt, division administrator for amusements. Abbott Lawrence Lowell, president-emeritus of Harvard University, declined an invitation to serve.

Deputy Administrator William P. Farnsworth, in recommending her appointment to Mr. Rosenblatt, wrote of Mrs. Brokaw:

"She has heretofore displayed great and intelligent interest in public affairs. She has served as the administration member of the Code Authority for the legitimate full length dramatic and musical theatrical industry and rendered excellent service as a member of that authority. She is highly recommended for her ability and integrity. With respect to her service on the motion picture industry code, she has the advantage of experience as administration member of another code, and has the additional advantage of not being affiliated or associated with any group within or without the industry who have determined their policy with respect to controversial issues presently existing concerning the industry."

Clare Boothe Brokaw, Social Registerite, is a New Yorker, born and bred, although a considerable portion of her schooling was acquired in Europe. Until three months ago she had been associated for four years with the magazine, Vanity Fair, three years as managing editor, previously as associate editor.

Mrs. Brokaw has specialized in essays, political dissertations and short story writing. Recently, for Vanity Fair, she wrote a series of articles dealing with Hollywood.

Mrs. Brokaw said she intends making a thorough study of every aspect of the industry's operation before venturing any statement in connection with her new post.

She need not resign her position on the legitimate theatre authority, Mr. Rosenblatt said on Friday. Illness prevented her attendance at Friday's Motion Picture Code Authority session.

Variety Club Holds Dance

The Kansas City Variety Club will hold a dinner-dance May 26, marking the formal opening of the club's quarters in the Muehlbach Hotel. On the committee are Edward Shanberg, Harry Taylor, William Warner and T. A. Cameron.

Named to "Esquire" Staff

Ralph Parker, magazine writer and scenarist, has been named Hollywood editorial representative of Esquire, new magazine, and is contacting Coast contributors.

Sackheim with Universal

Jerry Sackheim, formerly with RKO, has been named story editor on the Coast for Universal, relieving scenario editor Leonard Spigelgass of part of his duties.

"LIMITLESS FOR SCREEN HUMDINGER"

Comments DeCasseres on "Invitation to a Murder"; "Come What May," "Every Thursday"

By BENJAMIN DE CASSERES

INVITATION TO A MURDER

There are limitless possibilities for a screen humdinger in Rufus King's lurid thriller, "Invitation to a Murder" (Ben Stein, producing).

It may be hooey and the essence of bull, but it was done so well, so smartly, so piercingly that the audience, which had apparently come to kid the show to a whisper, remained to gasp, guess and gooseflesh, and finally to pound out their howling pleasure after a rousing spring evening in the theatre.

What the public wants—yelps for—both in pictures and the speaking stage is hooey and bull dressed up to taste like caviar and poundcake (never mind mixed metaphors, ladies and gents, after I've seen a goldarned good murder story!)—and Rufus gives it to 'em in "Invitation to a Murder."

In the picture version there will be scope for opening sequences depicting something that has rarely been seen on the screen—the pirates of the Pacific and their raids on and burial of "treasures" in southern California.

For the Channing fortune of today is built on this "pirate gold." In fact, there are oodles of this mazuma buried somewhere in the walls of Lorinda Channing's old stone house that faces the sea down 'round San Diego way.

Lorinda (Gale Sondergaard) is a strange, goofy woman. She has with her her niece, Estelle Channing, and the latter's two cousins, Walter and Horatio Channing. These prospective heirs are after the Channing gold—naturally.

Lorinda sends for Doctor Linton (played superbly by one of the finest actors on our stage, Walter Abel) and makes this astonishing proposition to him:

After he has given her the same kind of drug that Juliet (Romeo's gal) took, he is to diagnose her sudden illness which results in "death" as ptomaine poisoning. Doc is to come to the family vault, restore her with the antidote, and she will then discover who is plotting against her life. (Incidentally, Lorinda is herself a murderess. She shoots 'em down a trapdoor right in front of you.)

Now the big scene comes on: The Doc discovers on her "corpse" a note telling where the Channing jack is buried. Says he, terhell with bringing back Lorinda!

But, mates (come around close now), Lorinda has foreseen the treachery of Doc and comes back (the butler as confederate), finds out that it is Walter Channing who has tried to poison her, shoots him and fastens the murder on the Doc. One small thing has been overlooked, and when faced with this Lorinda drinks poisoned sherry as Sunny Jim Rolph's State Troopers break in.

How Doc gets out of this thing—that's what grips—and, with the other doings, will mean 80 minutes of profoundly satisfactory screen fare.

Picture value, 100 per cent.

RATINGS OF PLAYS AS SCREEN MATERIAL

Plays of the Broadway stage studied from the standpoint of screen possibilities in this issue by Benjamin DeCasseres, essayist and critic, are given the following percentage ratings by him as film material:

"Invitation to a Murder"—100 per cent.

"Come What May"—70 per cent.

"Every Thursday"—60 per cent.

COME WHAT MAY

Here are the sentiment, the variety, the hike down the years of Noel Coward's "Cavalcade" without the splendor and the inner significance of heroic futility.

"Come What May" is by Richard F. Flournoy (Hal Skelley producing). Leo Bulgakov, who did such a fine job in "One Sunday Afternoon," also directed this saga of a commonplace American couple, and did it with all the finesse of this accomplished play technician.

Hal Skelley himself and Mary Philips are, however, mainly responsible for whatever success this tedious and often nauseatingly ancient piece of homespun shoddy may attain. They are the whole show as Chet and Eve Hayward. Certainly, theirs are grand and recognizable characterizations—probably the best of two U. S. A. nobodies that have been done on the American stage.

There is a lot of picture material in "Come What May," but to yank out full values for the screen an immense lot of off-stage matter will have to be worked up.

The history of Chet and Eve begins in the old Hayward home back in 1896, when Bryan was saving the world from the Coise of Gold.

We open in the garden with Chet, a typesetter, proposing marriage on his new salary of $17.50 per. Chet is the bashful, wholesome, hat-fumbling type and Eve the sweet girl right out of a parlor where there is a Rogers Group, the stereopticon with slides from Yellowstone Park and the family album with the famous Tennysonian line "Kind hearts are more than coronets and simple faith than Norman blood" on the first page.

There ensues a series of scenes in the lives of Chet and Eve that take us right down to 1928. It ends with Chet and Eve, now limping and old, with $10,000 in the bank, sitting on the same bench in the old garden—"no more wars and prosperity is now with us forever, dear" (homely satire, gentlemen).

In these years Chet has gone off to the Spanish-American War, their son has been killed in the World War, Eve's brother has grown up to be a souse, the old doctor has died, and everything has happened in the lives of Chet and Eve—or so they think; but they are standing on the very eve of another world war, and their $10,000 had better be snatched out of the bank pretty quick, for bank failures are looming on the horizon.

The great epical touch of "Cavalcade" is absent. "Come What May" is just pretty and teary-bleary, with quite a few good laughs.

Picture value, 70 per cent.

EVERY THURSDAY

"Every Thursday," by Doty Hobart (Wee & Leventhal producing), is the sort of picture material of which I see faint glimmers on the horizon of a new lachrymose dawn: the sentimental, very every-dayish and wholly unbelievable comedy-dramas of the Dickens period.

Its central character is a slavey whose like on the stage has not been seen since Zangwill's "Merely Mary Ann." But Sadie is a slavey who beats Mary Ann all hollow.

As played by Queenie Smith, one really falls in love with Sadie. Queenie is certainly one of the most fascinating and affection-compelling personalities on the boards, whether she simpers, dances or acts, and she can do all three to the Queenie's taste.

Then she is, in "Every Thursday," supported by about one of the handsomest and most competent male juveniles that I have lately clapped my eyes on, Leon Janney.

This fellow has had, already, a long career in pictures, "Our Gang," "Abie's Irish Rose," "Old English," "Penrod," etc. 'Pon me word, he stalks around with the assurance and mastery of a Barrymore or an Arliss!

It is his first appearance in the Broadway legitimate. Put down Janney for the big lights or skin me for a false prophet.

Sadie comes every Thursday to the middle-class Clark home to do the work. Raymond Clark is a good little wild boy that the heart of Sadie beats pit-a-pattily for.

Raymond is questioned by his father about a late party and a gin-bottle in the family doctor's car.

Up shoots Sadie with a whopping lie for dear old Raymond's sake. She says she was out with the doctor's chauffeur. (This surprises the chauffeur.)

Now, children, both Raymond and Sadie are virges; but—the slavey and the young scion of the house fling their hats over the mill at the second curtain while the family is vacationing.

There is a small towner (a pickpocket to boot) who gets mixed up with Raymond. But Sadie beats her to it after she concocts another lie that sends the other girl away in order to protect Raymond.

Result: Sadie, loving Raymond, is forced to marry the chauffeur. Mates, it's an affecting final curtain!

Picture value, 60 per cent.

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

Smarty

(Warner)

Comedy Romance

An advance look at this picture is suggested, for two reasons; first, in order to realize all its actual valuable entertainment and showmanship assets; secondly, because of its motivating theme and the story telling technique adapted. It's an out-and-out farcical domestic comedy romance. There's fun in almost every line of dialogue, bit of action and every situation that kept the preview audience in glee from beginning to end. It's also smart sophistication done in ultra-modern style. Yet it deals with only one subject, a couple of them in fact, and the same girl is the center of both.

Vicki is a light-headed madcap whose chief interest in life is to tease her husband, Tony. Husbands of bridge-playing wives readily will understand the situation. However, goaded to fury, Tony finally delivers the long promised sock on Vicki's chin. Friend and attorney Vernon, who has long been casting sheep's eyes at Vicki, obtains the divorce and marries her. It's not long before Vicki's modern habits—yens for revealing clothes as well as inviting her ex-husband Tony to dinner—provoke Vernon into belting her.

Then she scurries to Tony's apartment, making it embarrassing for him as he is entertaining, unwillingly to be sure, another lady friend, Bonnie. The affair becomes more complicated as Vernon, who has been scouring the town, arrives with George and Anita. Anyway, Vernon got her a divorce because Tony socked her and now he has done the same thing, so she sends him home with the promise he'll soon be wifeless. The climax has Vicki in Tony's arms and the audience is left with the illusion that she intends to remain permanently in his apartment.

The whole thing is done in a gay, semi-risque manner. This light go-as-you-please atmosphere is continually productive of laughter. Not until the very end is there any evident suggestion of sex. Thus the suggestion of seeing the picture first is made. The preview audience liked it. Nevertheless, personal knowledge will be advantageous in selling the show in ways which will appeal most effectively to local patronage.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Screen play by F. Hugh Herbert and Carl Erickson. Based on a play by F. Hugh Herbert. Dialogue director, Frank McDonald. Photography by George Barnes. Art director, John Hughes. Gowns by Orry-Kelly. Director, Robert Florey. Supervisor, Robert Presnell. Film editor, Jack Killifer. Running time, 64 minutes. Release date, May 19, 1934.

CAST

Vicki.....Joan Blondell
Tony.....William Warren
Vernon.....Edward Everett Horton
George.....Frank McHugh
Anita.....Claire Dodd
Bonnie.....Joan Wheeler
Edna.....Virginia Sale
Tilford.....Leonard Carey

Murder in Trinidad

(Fox-Wurtzel)

Murder Mystery

In a tropical setting, amid swamps and jungles and the sharp contrast of English government officials in their tropical whites and the squalor of hiding criminals in rags, a calm and rotund private investigator, with an insatiable appetite for peanuts and a small monkey on his shoulder, uncovers the core of a diamond smuggling plot and incidentally solves a murder or two with clever calmness. It all has definite entertainment value, with an adventurous background and an unusual setting to make more effective the solution of a mystery. Also there is considerable action, on land and water, and night prowling to impart the suspense element.

There is abundant material for attractive selling. In the setting, on the Island of Trinidad, is afforded an opportunity for lobby display of the tropical sort. The promise of a murder mystery and its clever solution by a man looking every inch not a detective, should provide another tack.

The mystery ring to the title should not be overlooked, nor the fact that the film is an adaptation of a novel by John W. Vandercook, which may be of some selling value. The cast has no outstanding name, but there is room for worthwhile build-up in some concentration on Nigel Bruce, who plays the detective. He handles himself capably, has appeared in several pictures and is acquiring a reputation. In support are Heather Angel, Victor Jory and J. Carrol Naish, the others being more or less unknown.

To Trinidad comes Bruce with his peanuts and his pet monkey, sent from England to get at the root of a diamond smuggling ring on the island. His unprepossessing appearance makes a sad impression on the assembled government officials hopefully awaiting the arrival. In his slow way Bruce goes to work, running first into the murder of his assistant, then encountering the problem of finding the commanding officer of the island and his daughter, Miss Angel, who is the fiancee of Douglas Walton, young nephew of the governor. The boy assists Bruce in his investigation. The murder of the governor at the same time as the disappearance of the commandant throws suspicion in that direction. Figuring in both murders and in two attacks on Bruce's life, is an oddly shaped knife, with which both victims were killed.

Into a criminal hideaway deep in the treacherous, quicksand-covered swamplands Bruce and Walton make their way, there finding Miss Angel and her ill father, under the protection apparently of Naish, leader of the gang of hiding criminals. Bruce and Walton make good their escape, get help and stage an exciting pursuit of Bruce in a speedboat. Jory, government official, shoots Naish against the detective's orders, and Bruce, declaring him wounded, when he is actually dead, stages a hospital visit by the suspects, when he says he will obtain a confession from Naish. Jory's attempt to murder Naish, already dead, brings his arrest and Walton and Miss Angel complete the subordinated romance.—Aaronson, New York.

A Fox release. Produced by Sol M. Wurtzel. Directed by Louis King. From the novel by John W. Vandercook. Screen play by Seton I. Miller. Photographed by Barney McGill. Sound, Bernard Freericks. Settings, Duncan Cramer. Musical director, Samuel Kaylin. Gowns by Royer. Release date, April 6, 1934. Running time, 74 minutes.

CAST

Bertram Lynch.....Nigel Bruce
Joan Cassell.....Heather Angel
Howard Sutter.....Victory Jory
Major Bruce Cassell.....Murray Kinnell
Gregory Bronson.....Douglas Walton
Duval.....J. Carrol Naish
Sir Ellery Bronson.....Claude King
Inspector Henley.....Pat Somerset
Davenant.....Francis Ford

Doctor Monica

(Warner)

Drama

Serious entertainment dealing with a delicate subject, the appeal of this picture necessarily is limited. Besides cast names there is little that is commercially exploitable. Stark realistic drama of an unusual triangle situation motivating, neither anything emotion-stirring nor sympathy-inspiring is utilized to give punch to the story's definite human interest. There is no comedy. Because of the manner in which the yarn is told, suspense is lacking. Women, because of the picture's plot, are the potential audience. There is little to interest men. It is far too deep and heavy for even the more mature adolescents.

Here's the situation. Doctor Monica, successful woman physician, wants but cannot have a baby. A child is about to be born to an unmarried member of her set, Mary. Just before she is to deliver the baby, Doctor Monica learns that the baby's father is John, her own husband. Then comes the conflict between professional duty and wifely rage, in which the duty wins as Anna slaps the doctor into a sense of responsibility. As Doctor Monica plans to go to Europe and divorce her husband, Mary, learning, boards an airplane and flies out to sea to death. The motherless child reunites husband and wife.

Solemn entertainment, such as this, always difficult to sell, puts the interest-creating burden entirely on the cast. Thus names combined with dignified hints of the story, together with a trust that those drawn in will cach the spirit of the picture, appear to be the pegs on which a business-stimulating campaign must be hung. —McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Screen play by Charles Kenyon. Based on Polish play, "Dr. Monica," by Maria Morozowicz Szczepkowska. English adaptation of play by Laura Walker Mayer. Directed by William Keighley. Photography by Sol Polito. Film editor, Wm. Clemens. Supervisor, Henry Blanke. Art director, Anton Grot. Gowns by Orry-Kelly. Running time, 65 minutes. Release date, June 23, 1934.

CAST

Dr. Monica.....Kay Francis
John.....Warren William
Mary.....Jean Muir
Anna.....Verree Teasdale
Burton.....Phillip Reed
Mrs. Monahan.....Emma Dunn
Mr. Pettinghill.....Herbert Bunston
Mrs. Hazlitt.....Ann Shoemaker
Mrs. Chandor.....Virginia Hammond
Dr. Brent.....Hale Hamilton
Louise.....Virginia Pine

Little Man, What Now?

(Universal)

Romantic Drama

This picture mirrors life as most people know life, whether they're rich or poor. It's a simple human story brimming over with heart interest, yet direction is such that there is never a semblance of theatricalism—no artificial stimulation provokes its gripping climaxes. Rather it's the living drama of a poor boy and girl, newly married, struggling for existence and happines. Too, it's the romantic portrayal of a tender love, love that endured every heart-ache.

One of the most valuable pieces of screen merchandise, from a standpoint of prestige building and entertainment, as well as potential showmanship, that has come along in months, it is full of appeal, impressive, without

Comparisons will be made with "The Birth of a Nation" for spectacle and thrill . . . with "Smilin' Through" for tender romance. The talking screen's next BIG achievement is MARION DAVIES, GARY COOPER in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's hit "OPERATOR 13" with JEAN PARKER . . . KATHARINE ALEXANDER . . . TED HEALY . . . THE FOUR MILLS BROTHERS . . . From the stories by Robert W. Chambers . . . Directed by Richard Boleslavsky . . . Produced by Lucien Hubbard . . . A Cosmopolitan Production being ponderous, it is sincere entertainment for young and old of both sexes. It is personally intimate, for as the story of Hans and Lammchen is told there are incidents and situations graphically parellelling experiences of almost everyone.

While it is essentially dramatic romance, it is not lacking in natural comedy. Bits by Alan Hale, Muriel Kirkland, Catherine Doucet (currently in "Party's Over"), Fred Kohler and Alan Mowbray, always accentuating the fundamental drama, serve to lighten the tension and add to punch and color.

Germany is the locale, and the story is told in semi-episodic fashion. About to have a baby, Lammchen and Hans marry. Working as a clerk in Kleinholz's grain store, their zestful youthful happiness is menaced by Kleinholz, who would have Hans marry his daughter, Marie. When he finds out the boy is married, he fires him. Without money, out of a job, the couple go to Berlin and take up residence in Hans' mother's house. As she presides over her gaudy establishment in the manner of a Continental madame, Lammchen's sanctity always is threatened by the Doctor Jekyll-Mr. Hydish Jachman.

Leaving their room, taking up residence in a loft, coming under the beneficent influence of delightfully human Puttbreese, Hans is heartsick that his wife should have to live in such a place, but grimly determined that soon things will be better. Berated by the great movie actor, in sequences tragically comic, Hans loses his job. Almost ready to become a rampant revolutionist, he returns to his hovel. The baby has arrived. No tragedy, no matter how terrifying, can temper the young pair's joy—their will to win. And that triumph is brought about in a logical way, when Heilbutt, the only friend the boy ever had, gives Hans a job that guarantees the future.

There is, in this picture almost everying that showmen need to kindle interest. A fine cast of good names is headed by Margaret Sullavan, making good every promise of her work in "Only Yesterday," and Douglass Montgomery, fully keeping pace. The book on which the show is based had a wide sale. You know the kind of pictures Frank Borzage directs. Sell it with dignified realism.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Universal. Directed by Frank Borzage. From the novel by Hans Fallada. Produced by Frank Borzage. Screenplay and continuity by William Antbony McGuire. Photographed by Norbert Brodine. Art director, Charles D. Hall. Film editor, Milton Carruth. Editorial supervision, Maurice Pivar. Assistant director, Lew Borzage. Sound Supervision, Gilbert Kurland. Release date, June 4, 1934. Running time, 90 minutes.

CAST

Lammchen.....Margaret Sullavan
*Hans Pinneberg.....Douglass Montgomery
Jachman.....Alan Hale
Mia Pinneberg.....Catherine Doucet
Emil Kleinholz.....DeWitt Jennings
Frau Kleinholz.....Bodil Rosing
Marie Kleinholz.....Muriel Kirkland
Kleinbolz, Jr.....Donald Haynes
Shultz.....George Meeker
Lauderback.....Paul Fix
Dr. Sesam.....Carlos de Valdez
Nurse.....Hedda Hopper
Communist.....Fred Kohler
His Wife.....Mae Marsh
Widow Scharrenhofer.....Sarah Padden
Mr. Sesam.....Tom Ricketts
Lehman.....Frank Reicher
Kessler.....Monroe Owsley
Heilbutt.....G. P. Huntley, Jr.
Puttbreese.....Christian Rub
Franz Schluter.....Alan Mowbray
Spannfuss.....Etienne Girardot
Frenchman.....Earle Fox
Chauffeur.....Max Asher

*Also referred to as John and Johannes.

Midnight Alibi

(First National)

Melodrama

There's plenty of novel salable entertainment merchandise in this picture. Basically a gangster theme, it effectively utilizes human interest sentiment and romance of unusual character to lift it completely out of that category into general screen fare. Thrilling, tinged with a hint of menace in which smartly handled suspense plays an important function, it is well presented, convincingly acted, as Barthelmess has one of those parts that fits his talents and character admirably, and Helen Lowell is a pleasing surprise. Short in running time, dialogue and action being aided by illusion, it is entertainment with a general appeal to both big city and small town patrons.

Adapted from a Damon Runyon popular magazine story, it's a modern story of gambling racketeers, romance and the unanticipated part a wealthy, motherly old lady played in a baffling murder Stripped of its gangster atmosphere, here's the story. In love with Joan, sister of Angie the Ox, Manhattan's ace racketeer, Lance hops over a brick wall to escape a hail of bullets. In a luxurious, old fashioned furnished parlor, he meets The Old Doll. Won by her sweet simplicity and lack of fear, he tells the story of his love for Joan and the predicament it has lead him into. Then as time flashes back, Abigail's love story is told in retrospect (Barthelmess in a dual role). The moral of the interlude is that where love is true, no barrier, no matter how personally menacing, should be countenanced. The Old Doll, who has found a girlhood happiness again, starts the long quiet clocks as Lance leaves.

That same night Angie is killed. Lance is charged with the crime. In court, the case is going against him, until as a surprise witness The Old Doll is brought in to furnish an alibi for Lance, in that he had left her house at twelve o'clock, much later than the hour established as to the time Angie got his dose of lead.

There is much that readily can be capitalized upon in a business building way. First, it's a Damon Runyon story, and in view of "Lady For a Day" and "Little Miss Marker" it has definite market value. The title has an intriguing tone, which can be trickily exploited in many ways from teasers on up. In the lead role, Barthelmess contributes a performance that tops any of his most recent appearances. While most of the story and its action rotates around him and Helen Lowell, the others in the cast measure up to the standard set.

The picture combines entertainment elements appealing to the more mature as well as the older young folk. Despite its gangster atmosphere, which actually has been smartly submerged, it has interest for the youngsters if presented with a program of good surrounding shorts, a matter made easy by the short running time.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced by Warner-First National as First National release. Based on story "The Old Doll's House," by Damon Runyon. Director, Alan Crosland. Photography by Wm. Rees. Film editor, Jack Killifer. Screen play by Warren Duff. Supervisor, Robert Presnell. Art director, John Hughes. Gowns by Orry-Kelly. Release date, July 21, 1934. Running time, 60 minutes as seen on coast.

CAST

Lance McGowan.....Richard Barthelmess
Joan.....Ann Dvorak
Abigail.....Helen Chandler
The Old Doll.....Helen Lowell
Ardsley.....Henry O'Neill
Angie.....Robert Barrat
Senator.....Robert McWade
Wilson.....Purnell Pratt
Hughie.....Harry Tyler
Babe.....Paul Hurst
Blind Man.....Arthur Aylesworth
Black Mike.....Vincent Sherman

The Key

(Warner)

Dramatic Romance

Combining an atmospheric story that never has been told before with a dramatic and romantic sacrifice-love story that has been told innumerable times, "The Key" possesses substantial showmanship potentialities because of its peculiar background and the often demonstrated value of its motivating story. That it may be made appealing to the general run of audiences, the importance of the romantic triangle which involves William Powell, Edna Best and Colin Clive should be stressed. Similarly, in localities where people of Irish birth or descent form a strong portion of patronage, the fact that the love story is portrayed against the exciting and dramatic history of the 1920 Irish revolution, the enmity between the Sinn Feiners and the Black and Tans, is worthy of intensive exploitation.

With Dublin the locale, debonnaire and swaggering Capt. Tennant is assigned to The General's contingent. Bits of comedy interluding, he meets an old soldier friend, Andrew Kerr, now working in the Intelligence Section. Likewise he meets Kerr's wife, Norah, a woman with whom he had enjoyed a romantic liaison years before. Tennant endeavors to kindle the flame of his love dream again and Norah strives to quench it. Kerr is ordered to capture the Sinn Fein leader Conlan. He does, but upon his return finds that Tennant has spent the night in his apartment. Driven mad, Kerr goes out on the streets and is captured by Conlan's friends. Emissary O'Duffy offers to exchange prisoners, but a court martial has condemned Conlan. Realizing his folly, Tennant forges a release order and as the revolutionary leader is returned to his people, Kerr is restored to his wife and Tennant sacrifices a glorious career, confesses his treachery, and goes to prison.

Colin Clive and the newcoming Miss Best are particularly impressive in the acting.

It would seem that with the colorful importance of the historical background accentuated, a campaign based on the thought of "a traitor to duty but a martyr to love" would serve best.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Based on play by R. Gore-Browne and J. L. Hardy. Screen play by Laird Doyle. Directed by Michael Curtiz. Photography by Ernest Haller. Film editor, Thomas Richards. Music and lyrics by Allie Wrubel and Mort Dixon. Dialogue director, Frank McDonald. Supervisor, Robert Presnell. Art director, Robert Hass. Gowns by Orry-Kelly. Running time, 70 minutes. Release date, June 9, 1934.

CAST

Captain Tennant.....William Powell
Norah.....Edna Best
Andrew Kerr.....Colin Clive
Homer.....Hobart Cavanaugh
The General.....Halliwell Hobbes
Conlan.....Donald Crisp
O'Duffy.....J. M. Kerrigan
Dan.....Henry O'Neill
Young Irishman.....Phil Regan
Lieut. Merriman.....Arthur Treacher
Pauline.....Maxine Doyle
Kirby.....Arthur Aylesworth
Barmaid.....Gertrude Short
Flower Girl.....Dawn O'Day

Wild Gold

(Fox-Wurtzel)

Dramatic Romance

Essentially a dramatic romance, comedy assumes an important function in making this story both entertaining and salable. The topical atmospheres which motivate the theme, scene and novel production values, are effective in creating a different interest in the basic story. The three things which can be exploited in connection with the picture are the placer gold-mining methods; shots of the new Boulder Dam, and the funny and exciting poker game, which because of its intent—to ship a dead man's body home to Connecticut—gave the picture a popular color. For thrill purposes a flood scene in the anti-climax is worthy of showmanship note.

Modernly timed, located in the West's gold-mining country, with most of the action happening out doors, the story opens in Reno. As Jordan, all-round no-good is run out of town, his wife, Jerry, decides that the time has come for the parting of their ways. As romance already has been suggested between Jerry and Steve, the action moves through a series of automobile misadventures, featuring some daring driving, and the pair wind up in Pop Benson's mining camp. Comes Pushkin with his Golden Girl theatric troup and fun, made menacing as Jordan also enters and plans to steal Pop's gold cache. Conflict is on between the girl and Steve, and Pop is killed defending his treasure. Then comes the poker games that take the body to different points East as card manipulating Pushkin wins, and back to camp as he loses. Jordan, suspected of killing Pop, is run out of town again and the locale moves to Boulder Dam and some thrilling shots as Steve is working to rehabilitate himself. Learning from Jerry that Jordan was the cause of Pop's death, he takes after the man. The girl, in order to prevent another murder, rides to warn her husband, and there follow flood scenes in which Jordan is drowned. The way thus is open for love for Jerry and Steve and a trip to San Francisco where he has a promised job on the New Golden Gate Bridge.

Here is distinctly family type entertainment. There's a romantic love story for the women. There's adventurous action, excitement and thrill for the men. The comedy values, particularly in relation to Harry Green's poker playing, should not be overlooked nor should that which accrues to his showgirls, who land in all kinds of jobs. With John Boles and Claire Trevor heading the cast, name necessities are fairly well provided.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Fox release produced by Sol M. Wurtzel. Directed by George Marshall. Screen play by Lester Cole and Henry Johnson. Story by Dudley Nichols and Lamar Trotti. Photography, Joseph Valentine. Sound, Albert Protzman. Settings, Lewis H. Creber. Costumes, Royer. Music, Jay Gorney. Lyrics, Sidney Clare. Musical director, Samuel Kaylin. Running time, 73 minutes. Release date, June 8, 1934.

CAST

Steve Miller.....John Boles
Jerry Jordan.....Claire Trevor
J. Lorillard Pushkin.....Harry Green
Pop Benson.....Roger Imhof
Dixie Belle.....Ruth Gillette
Walter Jordan.....Monroe Owsley
Eddie Sparks.....Edward Gargan
The Golden Girls.....Suzanne Kaaren, Wini Shaw, Blanca Vischer, Elsie Larson, Gloria Roy, Myra Bratton
Benjamin.....Himself

He Was Her Man

(Warner)

Drama

The inevitably energetic James Cagney, who is perhaps as lively a performer as there is on the screen, supplies again considerable of the pep and punch which puts this otherwise rather drab story on the entertainment side. The expression "drab," it may be noted, has reference only to the content of the story, not to the manner in which it is performed.

It is not the family type of production, but strictly an adult attraction, dealing with the primary factors of life and illicit love, and the self defense and revenge motives which lead modern gunmen to dispose of unpleasant former compatriots by the quickest and surest route.

With Cagney, in a team which is definitely worth top billing, is Joan Blondell, while Victor Jory, Russell Hopton and Sarah Padden render capable support.

The dramatic story revolves around the theme of the girl who finds and gets her man, but can't hold him, chiefly because he is not in a position to be fettered by feminine ties that bind. He does the right thing, steering the girl in the best direction for her own welfare before jumping off the deep end. It would not be entirely misplaced to note in the selling that Miss Blondell takes something of a different type of role in this picture, being called upon for display of dramatic ability to an extent beyond anything required of her recently.

Cagney, a crook, comes out of jail all set to "get" the two men, Bradley Page and Ralfe Harolde, who contrived to put him behind the bars. He agrees to work with them on a little evening "job," and tips off the police. He makes good his own escape, but in the police raid Harolde makes the mistake of killing a policeman and is scheduled to pay with his life. Page offers Harold Huber and Hopton considerable in a financial way to take care of Cagney, who meanwhile has arrived hurriedly in San Francisco, when he learns that Page has escaped the police net.

In Frisco Cagney accidentally meets down-and-out and earnest Miss Blondell, who has a past and an appetite. Cagney helps her out, learns that she is bound south to a small port town, there to marry a fisherman, Jory, who knows but forgives. Cagney rather falls for her, and she, against her will, for him. Cagney, seeing a good hideout, goes with her, and stays in Jory's house, where the mother, Miss Padden, is entertaining. Miss Blondell undergoes the terrific mental struggle of trying to decide between love and uncertainty with Cagney or safe serenity with Jory, and chooses Cagney. But he, with wind of Hopton and Huber on his trail, pulls stakes. Bound out, he hears that the two are at the Jory home, and he returns. He tells the girl flatly he does not want her, makes her promise to marry Jory, and walks out for his last automobile ride.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Directed by Lloyd Bacon. Story by Robert Lord. Screen play by Tom Buckingham and Niven Busch. Photographed by John Barner. Film editor, George Amy. Art director, Anton Grot. Release date, June 16, 1934. Running time, 70 minutes.

CAST

Flicker.....James Cagney
Rose.....Joan Blondell
Nick.....Victor Jory
Pop Sims.....Frank Craven
J. C. Ward.....Harold Huber
Monk.....Russell Hopton
Red Deering.....Ralfe Harolde
Mrs. Gardella.....Sarah Padden
Dutch.....John Qualen
Dan.....Bradley Page
Gassy.....Samuel E. Hines
Waiter.....George Chandler
Whitey.....James Eagles

The Black Cat

(Universal)

Thrill Drama

The combined efforts of Bela Lugosi of the baleful eye and Boris Karloff of the studied frightening mien, serve to impart considerable of what was intended in this "thrill drama" thereby providing something in the way of screen merchandise which the exhibitor may well sell to advantage.

The black cat idea in the title opens the way for obvious exploitation in many different devices. The same idea may well be applied to the lobby and the front of the theatre, with say, the use of a large papier mache cat. The fact also that the story has been based on the famous tale of Edgar Allan Poe is a point not to be neglected.

The thrill and, to a slight extent, the horror elements of the film must be a definite part of the selling, and pre-selling. A teaser campaign along the lines of "The Black Cat Is Coming" might be used to advantage.

Let it be understood that this is not a "Frankenstein" of stalking horror, and that the monster in the case, if such there be, takes human form, that of a sadistic devil-worshiper whose pleasant practice it is to embalm in statuesque pose, and in wall niches, those women who have been so unfortunate as to be loved by him.

Besides the two leading players are David Manners and Jacqueline Wells, providing the romantic interest, she the beautiful young girl who very nearly becomes another of the victims.

The picture has all the atmospheric elements of setting expected—the storm, the fearsome house on the hilltop, the awe-inspiring servants.

On a train somewhere in middle Europe the honeymooners, Miss Wells and Manners, meet Lugosi, doctor bound for a visit to an old "friend." They alight, their bus is wrecked and the doctor takes them to the home of his host, Karloff, whose intensely modernistic laboratory-like dwelling is atop what was once a World War fort, the foundations of the building still, it is understood, heavily mined.

Rapidly it is revealed that Karloff commanded the fort, that he stole the wife and daughter of Lugosi, who spent 15 years in prison; that Lugosi has a maniacal fear of black cats, that Karloff has embalmed and set in wall niches the bodies of Lugosi's wife and others, that he is planning the same fate for the daughter, who lives with him as his wife; that Lugosi has come planning revenge, and that Karloff has similar designs on the young Miss Wells. Lugosi saves Miss Wells from a sacrificial role in ancient rights performed by Karloff, captures Karloff, and prepares to skin him alive. As Miss Wells and Manners make good an escape, Lugosi throws the switch which blows the building to bits—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Universal. Directed by Edgar Ulmer. Screen play by Peter Ruric. Based on the story by Edgar Allan Poe. Photographed by John Mescal. Release date, May 7, 1934. Running time, 65 minutes.

CAST

Poelzig.....Boris Karloff
Dr. Verdegast.....Bela Lugosi
Peter.....David Manners
Joan.....Jacqueline Wells
Karen.....Lucille Lund
Majordomo.....Egon Brecher
Maid.....Anna Duncan
Car Steward.....Herman Bing
Train Conductor.....Andre Cheron
Train Steward.....Luis Alberni
Tramal.....Harry Cording
Bus Driver.....George Davis
Porter.....Alphonse Martell
Border Patrolman.....Tony Marlow
Station Master.....Paul Weigel
Waiter.....Albert Polet
Brakeman.....Rodney Hildebrant

One Is Guilty

(Columbia)

Mystery

More or less routine murder mystery and the solving thereof by the energetic and romantically inclined headquarters police inspector, this film will take the type of selling most common to its type, straight copy work, with the use of the question mark and the challenge to the audience to make their own deductions, testing their deductive powers.

There is little opportunity afforded the exhibitor for unusual exploitation of any nature, the story being an original for the screen, but the suspense is well sustained, and an inkling of the probable guilty party is not apparent to the audience until close to the final sequence. The old man who has it "all figgered out" supplies the comedy contrast, and for the most part the crime and its solution is worked out in a logical manner, with an ample quota of suspects somehow involved in the case.

The title affords the obvious selling tieup of "Which One?" with which the showman may excite the almost perennial interest of most screen patrons in the murder mystery. Of cast names of selling value there is but one, that of the capable Ralph Bellamy as the cool and expert inspector in the case. The setting is somewhat unusual in that the murder and its investigation are confined to a large untenanted apartment house, wherein the elevator flying from top to bottom of the building, affords an opportunity for some merry chasing and suspenseful action, plus a little gunplay.

When the old caretaker of the property, Ralph Remley, who lives in a ground floor apartment with his nephew, a suspicious looking individual, discovers the body of the world's champion lightweight boxer seated in an upper floor apartment, Bellamy takes over the case. He discovers Shirley Grey, who has been living in an empty apartment after having been evicted from her room. Near the body Bellamy finds a woman's glove, and in an ash-tray a cigarette stub, with lipstick on its end. In the girl's bag is discovered a gun, but she is cleared when the ballistics department decides a Belgian gun killed the boxer.

The wife of the owner of the house, Rita La Roy, comes into the case when Bellamy finds her searching for the glove he had found. Her husband, Willard Robertson, is apparently unaware of the affair which Bellamy discovers his wife has been carrying on with the fighter. Involved also are the fighter's manager, J. Carrol Naish, the latter's bodyguard, the caretaker's nephew, Naish's girl, who had been going with the victim, and a burglar found on the premises with the boxer's money. Complications develop more deeply when Naish, from whom Bellamy had expected to extract considerable valuable information, is found murdered, by the same weapon that killed the boxer. A new clue, in the form of a theatre ticket stub, is found by Bellamy, who with that information and the discovery that the occupant of that seat had a wrist watch with one hand missing, leads to his trapping of the murderer, Robertson, who had known of his wife's affair with the murdered man.

Bellamy and Miss Grey strike the completely subordinated romantic note to conclude the film. —AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Columbia. Directed by Lambert Hillyer. Story and screen play by Harold Sbumate. Assistant director, Wilbur McGaugh. Photograpbed by John Stumar. Sound engineer, V. S. Ashdown. Release date, March 31, 1934. Running time, 64 minutes.

CAST

Trent ..... Ralph Bellamy
Sally ..... Shirley Grey
Walters ..... Warren Hymer
Lola Deveroux ..... Rita La Roy
Jack Allan ..... J. Carol Naish
Toledo Eddie ..... Wheeler Oakman
Miss Kane ..... Ruth Abbott
Wells Deveroux ..... Willard Robertson
Pop Dailey ..... Ralph Remley
William Malcolm ..... Vincent Sherman
Danny ..... Harry Todd

Cities of the Desert

(L.M.B. Films British)

Travel with Comment

Recording highlights of the Glover expedition across the Continent of Africa, this three-reeler offers interesting and varied shots of such once legendary cities as Timbuktu and Kano, of the wild life of the desert, and of native tribes and customs, previously unfilmed, we are told. The commentary is more informative than usual and there is a definite appeal to the general love of adventure and of the wild.

The expedition, in which Kathleen Glover, the British woman explorer, shared the risks with her husband, traveled on motor trucks from Senegal on the West of Africa to Somaliland on the East. The difficulties of transport in this trackless country, subject to sudden floods, provide some good scenes, including the improvization of pontoon transport with the aid of three lashed native dug-outs.

Outstanding from an exploitation point of view, however, is the sequence picturing the initiation ceremony followed by one of the tribes. The youths, before they are awarded the dignity of manhood, are submitted to a severe flagellation by elders of the tribe, during which it is obligatory to maintain a fixed smile. He who smiles widest is awarded a white turban of honor.

There are many angles of interest in this production and, with a certain amount of editing for the American market, there's definite opportunity for an appeal to schools, lecture societies and "literary" circles.—ALLAN, London.

Produced and distributed by L. M. B. Films, London. Director and cameraman, T. A. Glover, F.R.G.S., A.R.P.S. Second camera, Kathleen Glover.

Friday the 13th

(Gaumont British)

Comedy Drama

There is considerable entertainment value in this lively picturization of what may and may not happen to a miscellaneous group of people on Friday the 13th. Immediately obvious is the type of exploitation and selling such a film should take, challenging the superstitious and non-superstitious alike.

The film is wholly British, in cast, in setting and in manner. The dialogue is for the most part quite intelligible, despite the heavily accented British speech. The individual showman will be best able to determine exactly what effect that condition will have on his use of the picture. The one name familiar to the American audience is that of Gordon Harker, but his role is a minor one.

The very novelty of the manner in which the theme has been developed is entertaining. Situations and dialogue contain considerable comedy and here and there a touch of irony. Some of the expressions, typically English, probably will fall on unresponsive ears in the regular run American theatre, but there is nothing circumscribed about what happens. With slight variations to allow for geography, they might have happened anywhere, which becomes one of the film's assets.

The film opens with a bus traveling through a heavy rainstorm in a London street just before 12 midnight on Friday the 13th. As the bus swerves to avoid a falling crane and is about to crash through a store front, the film cuts back to discover how it happened that these people were riding the bus at that particular time, what their circumstances are and what is the result on their lives of the bus crash.

In what is virtually several episodes or sections are found the crook who attempts to blackmail a young man and his fiancee because he once knew the young man in prison; the timid husband carrying on with girl in the park, who is in reality a feminine pickpocket; the travel agency clerk who plans a trip for himself and his wife on their wedding anniversary; the wife of the wealthy man who plans a coup on a tip; the young and attractive vaudeville dancer who has a spat with her school teacher fiance; the bus crew; the fast-talking street salesman who is under suspicion for theft of a valuable antique.

The crook takes a check from the young man and boards the bus; the man in the park is frightened off by the girl after she robs him; the agency clerk works late, unaware that his wife has run off with another man; the wealthy man's wife makes a belated effort via bus to deliver a "buy" order to her irate husband's broker; the show girl, angered by her fiance, boards the bus to visit the show's promoter by invitation. The accident saves the wealthy man from considerable loss as the stock falls, the clerk is killed, never learning of his wife's flight, the crook is killed, relieving the couple, and the show girl, injured, is restored to her fiance and happiness. —AARONSON, New York.

Produced by Gainborough in England. Distributed by Gaumont British Corporation of America. Directed by Victor Saville. Story by Sidney Gilliatt and G. H. Moresby-White. Release date, May 1, 1934. Running time, 73 minutes.

CAST

Alf, the Conductor ..... Sonnie Hale
Fred, the Driver ..... Cyril Smith
Miss Twigg ..... Muriel Aked
Johnny ..... Richard Hulton
Blake ..... Emlyn Williams
Frank Parsons ..... Frank Lawton
Mary ..... Belle Chrystall
Clerk ..... O. B. Clarence
Lightfoot ..... Robertson Hare
Agnes, his wife ..... Martita Hunt
Dolly ..... Lenora Corbett
Jackson ..... Eliot Makeham
Eileen, his wife ..... Ursula Jeans
Max ..... D. A. Clarke-Smith
Florist ..... Gibbs McLaughlin
Wakefield ..... Edmund Gwenn
Flora, his wife ..... Mary Jerrold
Hamilton Briggs ..... Gordon Harker
Millie ..... Jessie Matthews
The Schoolmaster ..... Ralph Richardson
Hugh Nicholls ..... Donald Calthrop
Dancing Instructor ..... Ivor McLaren

War's End

(Capital Exchange)

Pictorial Record

Comes to the screen another of those records of the World War, in a lengthy subject which is neither quite a short subject nor nearly a feature. The effort herein appears to be to demonstrate conclusively that the gallant troops of the American Expeditionary Forces did actually win the war.

But the subject most conspicuously lacks what many another of its kind before it has had, that stark, sharp drama of war which these films purport to portray. This particular subject is indicated as an historical document. That it is, but it is little more. The musical score in accompaniment is pulsating and trumpeting, with much use of the cornet's high-pitched call to battle. The accompanying descriptive explanation is woven through with the strong rhythm of pulsating prose, but the film falls far short of the poet's ringing words.

The film was compiled by the late Col. Thomas J. Dickson, senior chaplain, First Division, and no doubt is authentic Signal Corps material. It covers the last three months of the war, and has a few good shots of troops advancing across open fields, but is devoted to a large extent to the activity of the artillery behind the lines. An animated map, shown constantly, indicating the advance of the American troops, causes the film to lean too heavily in the direction of a lecture on military tactics, the entertainment losing thereby. The running time is 35 minutes.—Aaronson, New York.

The Ginger Bread Boy

(Universal)

Amusing

There is amusement, especially for the youngsters, in this Oswald cartoon number, in which the story told over the radio, of the gingerbread boy who led the pursuing cat a merry chase, is reenacted. The baby disturbs Oswald and his brother as they listen to the story, and the subject ends in a gingerbread batter fight. Not unusual, but entertaining.—Running time, 6 minutes.

Mr. W's Little Game

(Paramount)

Novel

There is an element of novelty in this subject, which features the recently widely known raconteur, Alexander Woollcott. It is apparent that his appearance and this subject very likely may appeal only to more sophisticated audiences, since his comments are of the subtle variety. Seated at a night club table, he nurses his glass of brandy, and engages a chance feminine acquaintance in a little game, whereby in the space of one minute, each is to name as many words as possible beginning with a given letter. Finally, the entire club crowd is doing it. Woollcott's unquestioned radio popularity should open the way for his motion picture appearance in this subject.—Running time, 10 minutes.

The Temple of Love

(MGM)

Interesting

An interesting number of the FitzPatrick Travel Talks series, this subject takes the audience of the screen on a visit to three of the major landmarks of India, the deserted city, Delhi and Agrar. Stately ruins in the first; teeming thousands, child-mothers, and the inevitable sacred cows wandering the streets in the third, feature the subject. Built generations ago by an Indian emperor as a memorial to his young bride, the Taj Mahal makes an impressive architectural picture. The number should be found interesting.—Running time, 10 minutes.

Goldielocks and the Three Bears

(Universal)

Entertaining—But

An entertaining cartoon subject, in which is enacted the famed yarn of Goldielocks and the Three Bears. The subject is well done, the reenactment is clever and the youngsters should enjoy it. One very distasteful and objectionable bit, especially in material highly suitable for youngsters, and entirely without justification, is Goldielocks' belching when she tastes of the bears' porridge. It injects a jarring, unpleasant note in what is otherwise entertaining material. —Running time, 8 minutes.

Tec-Art Studio Reopens

The old Tec-Art Studios, in Hollywood, reopened last week after complete alterations, as the Prudential Studios, with Elmer Clifton starting production on a series of shorts for Golden State Productions.

BRITISH EXHIBITORS STAND PAT ON TAXES

Carbon Importers Lose English Market; Sound Record Makers Say Fight on Fees Is Fading; Britons Hear Carl E. Milliken

By BRUCE ALLAN
London Representative

Dispute over the new "prohibitive" duties on carbon imports was waged at great length at the last meeting of the General Council of the Cinematograph Exhibitors Association. The outcome is not very encouraging to those who hope to swing exhibitors as a body behind the move for a reduction in the new duties, which, according to representatives of Siemens-Plania Carbons, Conradty Products, Ltd., and Henrion Carbons, Ltd., have increased protection from 50 per cent to 400 per cent. The Council refused to receive a deputation from carbon importers and adopted a report from its special Carbons Committee which in effect commits it to continue its support of the new duties.

The reason is not far to seek. Like so many of the new taxes recently imposed on imports here, the carbon duties are being justified by the demands of national security. Commercial considerations carry little weight when the Government asserts that it is necessary to stimulate carbon production in peace time in order that, in war time, the demands of the fighting services may be supplied.

British Market Lost

Up against this brick wall, those exhibitors who fear the maintenance or even increase of the present high prices, have to be content with the assurance that official steps are being taken to provide against such a move.

Experience of price movements in other fields, in which Government intervention has eliminated foreign competition, suggests that official action more frequently favors the producer than the consumer and one can understand the anxiety of exhibitors, epitomized by Major A. J. Gale in the phrase: "We have stabilized prices at a peak level."

The truth is that the carbon importers have lost the British market and that probably they will only be able to recover it by building factories here. Which is just what the Government wants.

The Record Charge Dispute

Making the claim that many public performance licenses are being taken up by British cinemas, the gramophone record companies are speeding up their efforts to effect general acceptance of their scale of fees for public renditions of their records.

Legally recognized by a recent court decision, the right of the companies to charge such fees was practically rendered non-effective, so far as cinema theatres are concerned, by prompt organization by Cinematograph Exhibitors Association of an alternative supply of records, for which no playing fees were charged, through the agency of National Screen Services, Ltd.

Dissatisfaction with the quality of these substitute recordings is alleged by the gramophone interests, who again are bringing their scale prominently before the theatre owners. Based on seating value the license cost, annually, is approximately 20 per cent of the receipts of one "capacity" performance; an exhibitor who can take £20 a performance, pays £4 a year and less, proportionately, as his capacity increases.

While it may be true that a certain number of exhibitors have accepted the record companies' claims, it would be unsafe to assume that the fight is by any means over.

For every exhibitor who applies for a gramophone license there are certainly hundreds who have signed for the N. S. S. service and agreed to have nothing to do with any companies making public performance claims.

Rental Dispute Again

Film prices will probably continue to cause distributor-exhibitor friction so long as there is a distributor and an exhibitor in the world. In the U. K. market the inevitable clash of individual interests is heightened by the fact that one of the trade associations tries to make rental scales a matter of collective agreement, based on general principles, while the other adroitly declines to be drawn into any theoretical discussion of maximum or minimum figures.

There is an element of humor in this situation. The retort of the Kinematograph Renters' Society to an attempt on the part of the Cinematograph Exhibitors Association to establish 40% as a maximum percentage was to indict this suggestion as an infringement of the sacred "laws of supply and demand." At the same time, there was a pretty broad hint that if the CEA insisted on talking of maximums, the KRS would begin to think in minimums—and the aforesaid economic laws could, apparently, go hang!

The CEA has a Film Rentals Committee. It has sat since April 18 on a letter from KRS "strongly deprecating" the CEA's "attempts to control film hiring terms" as "a policy which cannot but affect the cooperation which should exist between the KRS and the CEA." It has now decided to reply—suggesting consideration of a graduated scale of film rentals as a first step in practical cooperation.

The Sliding Scale

The strength of the renters heretofore has rested on the fact that so many exhibitor resolutions are just talk.

It is just possible that harder times may have begun to work a cure for this tendency and that CEA members may arrive at a settled policy on prices—and mean it. The latest move, initiated by the Birmingham branch, is to suggest a standard rental of 40 per cent for the full program, with a provision that 50 per cent be paid after a certain figure of receipts is reached.

▽

British Film Institute

Carl E. Milliken, secretary of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, talked uplift alloyed with good trade common sense at the dinner here to inaugurate the British Film Institute. This semi-official body has the object of improving the general level of material in the entertainment film and of advancing the use of films for educational and cultural purposes. It is financed by the Government by means of a levy on the charity percentage of Sunday takings and has influential social, political, and educational representation on its governing body. The representatives of the International Institute of Educational Cinematography, the Instituto National Luce of Italy and other foreign bodies gave the dinner a representative international flavor, with the Duke of Sutherland and Col. John Buchan to speak for England.

The importance of the British Film Institute is that it definitely associates the intellectual element of the British community with motion picture affairs.

Milliken talked sense in suggesting that one couldn't improve public taste too quickly, but he didn't make the mistake of saying or thinking that therefore it was incapable of improvement.

Simon Rowson, lately a director of Gaumont-British, also sees possibility of good to the trade itself in an organization like the Institute. Incidentally, he announced that the British Kinematograph Society (English equivalent of the SMPE) had perfected a method of preserving films which would enable records of historical value to be kept in perpetuity.

The Institute also gave a display of educational films during the week, and demonstrated that England is getting a move on in that department, in which it has been badly behind.

▽

"Communist" U. S. Films

It's a new one on most of us that American films are guilty of "eulogizing the present Bolshevist regime in Russia." The accusation is contained in a question before the House of Commons by Sir Philip Dawson, who asserts that films of this type are being displayed in India, and that they are "detrimental to Western civilization."

The plea with which Sir Philip concludes, for special censorship of films for presentation to Indian audience, is an old one and not without justification, but that "pro-communist" films are being distributed by ordinary trade channels seems rather far-fetched.

▽

Pathe have completed a compilation from their repertory of various films in which King George V appears, and will issue it for release next year at the completion of the 25th year of his reign, the main events of which it will record.

▽

Sir Cedric Hardwicke has been cast for the chief role in an ambitious costume production planned by Herbert Wilcox for production at Elstree with the provision title, "The Hanging Judge." One of the figures of terror of British history, Judge Jeffrys, who presided over the wholesale legal massacres following the Monmouth rebellion, will be portrayed by Hardwicke. Jack Raymond will be the director.

Named by RCA Victor

E. A. Tumulty, formerly assistant to E. O. Heyl, manager of the Photophone division of RCA Victor, has been named special sales representative of Photophone with headquarters in New York.

Trop Closes Deal on Two

J. D. Trop has closed a deal with Nat Cherin, president of Principal Film Exchanges, New York, for release of "White Heat" and "Mating Time" in the metropolitan territory.

Leong Preparing Story

James B. Leong, Chinese author-producer of "Lotus Blossom" silent picture which starred Anna May Wong, is preparing an original, "The Cry of Peace" which will go into production shortly.

TRAVELERS . . .

GUY ROBERTSON will leave New York for the Monogram studios next week. He will also make one picture for Paramount.

SAM BRISKIN, Columbia's production manager, leaves Hollywood for New York shortly for home office conferences.

LOU B. METZGER leaves New York for the Coast in a few days. He was recently appointed in charge of British International Pictures distribution in this country.

CHARLES BEAHAN, Columbia story editor, returned to Hollywood from New York.

FRANCIS MARTIN, writer under contract to Paramount, arrived in New York for a holiday.

SOL EDWARDS, assistant sales manager for Educational, is in Boston on business.

SIDNEY R. KENT left Hollywood for New York.

FRANZ WAXMAN, who is under contract to Fox for musical adaptations, arrived in New York on Tuesday from Europe.

JOHN M. CRINNION, Amity president, returned to New York after a two-week sojourn in the Middle West.

GEORGE C. COOGAN, Fox director, and K. L. C. WISWELL, theatrical agent, sailed from New York for Europe.

ETIENNE PALLOS, general sales manager for London Films who is now in New York, went to Rochester Wednesday to inspect the Eastman Kodak plant.

BILL KEYES, of the Victory theatre in Dayton, Ohio, arrived in New York.

JOHN NOLAN, head of Fox distribution in Australia, and GABE YORKE, Coast advertising director, are due in New York for sales convention.

MARY BOLAND arrived in New York from Califoria.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE is in New York from Hollywood.

BERT WHEELER, RKO comedian, returned to the coast studio.

LAWRENCE WEINGARTEN returned to Metro's Culver City studio.

NED E. DEPINET and ROBERT F. SISK are due back at RKO's home office from Hollywood.

HERMAN WOBBER, Fox western distribution director, is due in New York from Los Angeles.

ROBERT WOLFF, New York exchange manager for Radio, returned from Bermuda.

E. I. SPONABLE, Fox chief sound engineer, arrived in New York from studio conferences.

CLARENCE BROWN, MGM director, arrived in New York from the coast.

HARRY COHN, Columbia president, is due to return this week from New York to Hollywood.

SAM MORRIS, Warner's vice-president, returned to New York from Europe.

PHILIP MOELLER, production director of the Theatre Guild, and BRIAN AHERNE left New York to start work at Radio studios in Hollywood.

JOHN MEEHAN returned to New York after touring the south for Amity.

E. LLOYD SHELDON, Paramount producer, arrived in New York from Hollywood, en route to Europe.

GENEVIEVE TOBIN arrived in New York from the coast and sailed for Europe.

RUTH ETTING left New York for Hollywood.

HAL WALLIS, Warner production executive, sailed for Europe, accompanied by his wife, Louise Fazenda.

LILLIAN ELLIS, new player, left New York to join the Hal Roach company on the coast.

EDWIN CAREWE arrived in New York from Hollywood.

BINNIE BARNES arrived in New York from England and flew to Universal City.

MONROE GREENTHAL, of United Artists' publicity staff, sailed for Europe.

HARRY GRIBBON arrived in New York from the west.

M. GOODMAN, Mascot's sales manager, sailed for Europe.

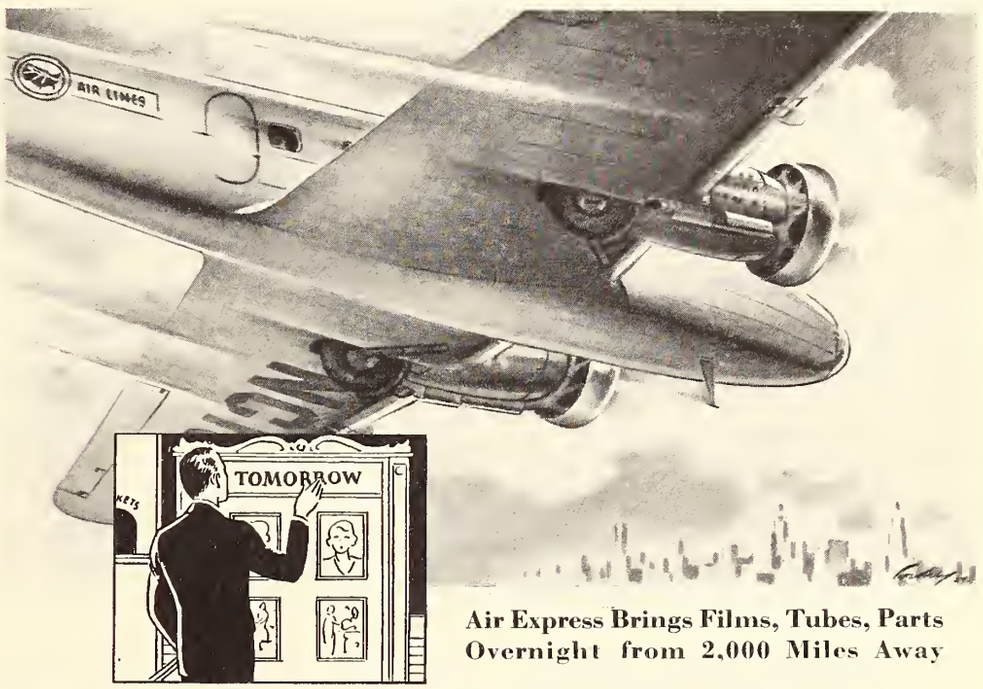
RICHARD ARLEN returned from New York to Hollywood.

HY DAAB sailed from New York for California.

WILLIAM GOETZ, of 20th Century Pictures, left New York for the coast.

OLIVER GARRETT, scenarist, sailed for Europe.

GEORGE K. BATCHELLER, head of Chesterfield, arrived in New York from coast.



United Artists Has New Manager

William A. V. Mack has been appointed branch manager of the United Artists exchange at Cincinnati. Mr. Mack started in the business as manager of Keith's Crescent theatre in Syracuse.

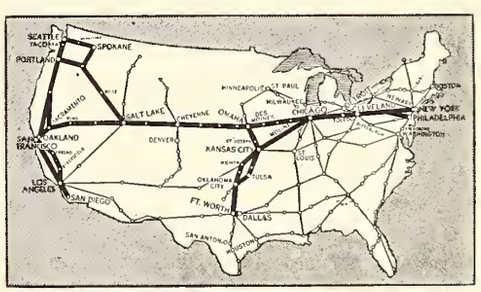
American Actors' Federation Sets Rules for Night Clubs

Regulations governing the employment of actors at night clubs and at private entertainment were formulated last week by the American Federation of Actors, at New York headquarters. Ralph Whitehead, executive secretary, presided.

Among the regulations were a minimum wage, banning of indecent or immoral performances, necessity of artists' representatives being financially responsible, and maintaining suitable offices for use of the artist in transacting business, banning of free performances and free auditions.

Air Express Brings Films, Tubes, Parts Overnight from 2,000 Miles Away

50 Miles an hour Faster
at 1/3 the cost of 3 years ago



More of a necessity—less of an emergency—America's fastest shipping service now gives greater speed with lower costs than ever. Fast, multi-motored passenger planes can make deliveries more than half way across the continent without the loss of business hours—from coast to coast with loss of only half a business day.

The Motion Picture Industry is using United Air Lines Air Express for a constantly growing number of its shipping needs. It saves time between studio and projection room as nothing else can. Carries script, blue prints, props, parts and supplies with equal dependability and in the shortest possible time.

Eighty-five principal cities are linked direct over the country's leading air lines, with fast, coordinated rail schedules extending this high-speed service to more than 23,000 other Railway Express Agency points. This unified service covers the whole of North America.

Pick-up and delivery service without extra charge in principal cities. Rates include liability up to $50.00 on shipments of 100 lbs. or less. Single bill of lading covers both air and air-rail shipments. Packages may be sent C.O.D., collect or prepaid.

United Air Lines Air Express is an established service, as easy to use as your telephone—and almost as prompt! Phone Air Express Division, Railway Express Agency, or any United Air Lines office for rates and schedules. Ask for free booklet, "How to Send Packages by Air Express."

Typical speeds and rates for packages flown on United Air Lines multi-motored passenger-express planes: Los Angeles - New York . . . 21¼ hrs., costs $5.50 (for 5 lbs.); San Francisco - Chicago . . . 13½ hrs.—$4.74; Chicago - New York or Philadelphia . . . 5 hrs.—$2.14.

• • •

AIR EXPRESS Flown on UNITED AIR LINES

MORE PARIS HOUSES SHOW U. S. TALKERS

Additional Theatres Open Each Month to Present American Films in Their Original Versions with French Sub-titles Added

By PIERRE AUTRE
Paris Correspondent

There are now 24 cinemas in Paris showing American talking pictures in original version with French sub-titles. Every month a few more theatres open for this purpose, and several others which before were showing French pictures have changed their kind of exhibition.

These theatres showing American talkers are nearly all the cinemas of the Champs Elysées and some others around and even on the Boulevards and the wealthy districts.

At the time of writing, the biggest hit of American talkers is "Eskimo" at the MGM-Madeleine, followed by "Design for Living" at the Elysée Gaumont, "Duck Soup" at the Studio 28, and "The Invisible Man" at the Agriculteurs-Bonaparte.

▽

Seidelman Confers on Distribution

Joseph H. Seidelman, general foreign manager of Columbia pictures, was in Paris again, considering distribution possibilities with Mr. Zama, head of the French branch. Until now Columbia has released its own product in Paris in the original version in first-run theatres, and afterwards has sold them to local distributors for dubbing and general release. Mr. Seidelman has returned to America.

▽

RKO Radio Considers Change

In the same situation as Columbia is RKO-Radio whose French branch is managed by J. Leasim. It is possible that RKO may open agencies for distribution in Paris and in the main French towns. It has been selling all its production to local distributors. Phil Reisman was recently in Paris to study conditions.

▽

"Roman Scandals" Aids Hospital

The gala premiere of Eddie Cantor's "Roman Scandals" was for the benefit of the American Hospital of Paris under the patronage of the American Ambassador Jesse Straus. All the members of the Paris American Colony attended this performance, which was at the Lord Byron cinema on Champs Elysées. Prices were from 80 to 150 francs ($5.30 to $10) a seat and the house was full. It was at the Lord Byron that "The Private Life of Henry VIII" was shown for 14 successful weeks.

▽

French Paramount Chief Resigns

Resignation of David Souhami, head of the French branch of Paramount, looks like a sequel to the resignations of Ike Blumenthal, former general manager of Paramount on the Continent, and Gar Schwartz, who was the technical chief of Paramount Studios in St. Maurice. The place of Mr. Blumenthal has been taken by Fred Lange, Paramount general manager in South America. Mr. Souhami's post will not be filled. Duties of Henri Klarsfeld, Paramount sales manager for France, Belgium and Switzerland, will be extended.

John W. Hicks, Jr., who made these changes, is now in Berlin, traveling through Europe and studying the Continental market.

BOOK REVIEW

MOTION PICTURES IN EDUCATION IN THE UNITED STATES. By Cline M. Koon. Chicago: University of Chicago Press. Price $1.

It would be at least a novelty if social-minded people could approach the motion picture with a clear recognition of the social factors which determine its character. Their method, of course, is in no wise confined to the motion picture. Be the subject of their attention books, stage plays, art in general—even playground sports—their objective is uplift, their plaint that people are being given what, in the perversity of human nature, they want.

Much of this attitude is only implied in the publication under review, for, after all, it is merely a report on the current state of affairs, not to say dilemma, of visual education in the United States. But implications have a way of growing explicit through repetition of manner, and one has heard so much about the failure of the theatrical motion picture to teach people—and to teach them, especially the young, the "right things."

Who shall determine what the "right things" are is likewise implied, but implied unmistakably. The pastor, the teacher and social-minded persons duly organized! This is to be observed in hopeful references to their schemed selection of pictures which they deem "proper" for public exhibition. In the publication at hand we note, "In general, churches and social work organizations are very restive under the present moral quality of American films, and increasingly are exerting their influence for cleaner and better films."

To respond befittingly to criticism so smug would be to grant Mr. Koon's summary far more space than its importance as a publication warrants. Indeed, if he had confined himself to matters properly in keeping with his title—motion pictures in education—and had not assumed that there could be no worthy interest in the motion picture except his own, we should not have injected the matter into this notice. But in common with others of similar interests, he postulates an educational responsibility in Hollywood which that creative community is not at all supposed to have. The problem of child education, as affected by the motion picture, must be approached from quite another direction.

As a means of enlightening delegates to the International Congress of Educational and Instructional Cinematography at Rome in April on the difficulties of visual education in the United States, the report is otherwise well composed. Mr. Koon has amassed quite a fund of factual information which he interprets sensibly despite his desire to be as optimistic as possible.

The fact is, visual education in the United States grows very slowly. To quote Mr. Koon, less than 10 per cent of the public schools use the motion picture at the present time. In 1931 there were 350,000 non-theatrical projectors with an estimated value of $70,000,000, but many of these were employed by scientific organizations, commercial companies and individuals. Still, there is definite interest ready to respond more energetically when there is a regular production of films for specific educational purposes with socially responsible agencies for their economical distribution.

Importantly augmenting the discussion are a bibliography and a list of the exhibits provided the Rome conclave, which gives the educator and others interested in visual education what would seem to be a remarkably complete compilation of source material.

—G. S.

FRENCH GROUP ASKS BAN ON U. S. FILMS

The executive committee of the French Federated Chamber of the Motion Picture Industry has recommended a complete ban on importation of American films into France for three months, and other drastic measures, in a report submitted to the government last week.

Harold L. Smith, Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America representative in Paris, was quoted as saying that if the report were adopted it would cripple the the Franco-American film trade. The report, the result of secret conferences, also recommends new quotas, obliging distributors to release and owners to show a fixed and increased percentage of French films for five years. The present import duty on negatives would also be raised if the report is adopted. American interests are preparing to launch vigorous protests, fearing even a compromise on the part of the government will add to an already difficult situation.

Majestic Claims Right To Use of "Gold Diggers"

Majestic Pictures, in a statement issued late last week, points out that the recent decision in the Warner suit over the title "Gold Diggers," applied only insofar as concerned the prevention of unfair competition through the use of the title.

Majestic contends it is thereby given the right to use the title "Gold Diggers of Paris," provided it properly indicates on advertising that the film has no connection with Warners' picture and is a production of Majestic not based on Avery Hopwood's play. The original reports said the court had upheld Warners' exclusive right to the title.

J. C. Jenkins--His Colyum

Neligh, Nebraska

DEAR HERALD:

There, on top of the dry weather, the N. R. A.'s, the B. V. D.'s, the P. D. Q.'s, and our lumbago, a new malady has broken out. It's a peculiar disease that baffles medical science and they have been unable to isolate the germ, bug or microbe, or whatever it is.

The disease is said to be not dangerous, neither is it contagious or infectious, and the bug that causes the ailment is very particular in its habits, as it attacks chiefly those operating theatres, and preys upon the mind in various ways. The only remedy which the medical profession has found to date is the use of a pen and paper or a typewriter to occupy the mind of the victim. And in this way he gets rid of the disease. Another peculiar thing about it is that it is not confined to any particular locality; it might break out in New Hampshire or Texas. It has broken out in Ireland, England and Australia already, and as soon as the remedy is applied the patient recovers immediately.

The disease attacked Doc Reynolds of the Strand theatre at Princeton, Minn., and on May 7 he applied the remedy and wrote us a nice long letter, since which time he has fully recovered. The disease evidently worked on Doc's imagination, for he writes us that he took his family for a picnic to Green Lake and he went down on the shore of the lake and saw more than four carloads of fish playing around in the water, some of 'em as long as a rake-handle.

Just think, brother criminal, what that disease would do to H. J. Longaker at Glenwood, Minn., should it strike him. With H. J.'s present imagination, if he should get that ailment, the doctors would have to give him a shot in the after deck and wire for the relatives.

Doc thinks we ought to come up and see him. Well, we ought, and if everything goes right to may do that, for we'll bet our wife's Mexican poodle that Doc is a regular scout and carries a corkscrew with him all the while.

Hancock, Too

Then the bug grabbed A. E. Hancock of the Columbia City theatre of Columbia City, Ind., and hung on to him until he wrote us a letter, but it operated on him differently than it did on the Doc. It worked on Doc's imagination, but it worked on A. E.'s memory, since he starts his letter this way, "Although you were only here once," etc., etc., when the fact is we visited him twice if not three times.

It is only a few minutes' drive on the pavement from Columbia City over to Winchester, and we wish A. E. would drive over there and let some of those bugs bite W. H. Brenner of the Cozy theatre. We used to coon watermelons and eat cove oysters out of the can at Hufty's store at Mt. Ayr with Brenner, but he got most of the melons and oysters.

Columbia City is an important place, since both Ohio and Indiana wanted it (we don't know what for, but they did) and they compromised by cutting the town in two by running the state line through the burg, although Indiana got the biggest half of it, just as she always does. That's the reason why we left the state. If Ohio had known that Columbia City would have as nice a theatre and theatre manager as she has she would have tried to gobble the whole town, and that wouldn't have been fair, for Ohio has plenty of good towns as it is, and Indiana is short, although she still has Kokomo and South Bend and down in the southwest part is where they got "Hell on the Wabash."

▽

As to Picture Themes

With regard to "sex" and "suggestiveness" and "going to have a baby" and other important matters in our present-day film fare, Mr. Barney Glazer is reported to have said that we should blame sex on Adam and Eve and not on the Hollywood producers, presumably because they are the ones who first started the fuss.

Mr. Glazer seems to hold to the view that sex and suggestiveness are necessary to give life and pep to the picture to prevent it from becoming otherwise insipid. We happen to be pretty well familiar with something like eight thousand audiences (not counting the exhibitors), scattered between Pennsylvania and the Rockies, and some between there and the Pacific, who know nothing about Mr. Glazer and his opinions but who are satisfied that colts and pigs are born without having to go into details to prove it. To say that it is necessary to have suggestions in a picture to make it acceptable entertainment is a libel upon the intelligence of the American people. Sex and suggestiveness have been the millstones that have hung around the neck of this industry until the lifesavers have about given up the patient.

If Mr. Glazer wants to inform himself as to the exact attitude of the American people on this subject he should get out of Hollywood and mingle with the common herd who still believe in the sanctity of the American home and are the backbone of this republic. We will no doubt be listed by many as old-fashioned and an old fogy, which will be perfectly O. K. with us, but that's our view just the same, and no charges, which ought to be cheap enough.

▽

AN OPEN LETTER TO MISS LOUISE FAZENDA

Dear Miss Fazenda:

If Warner Bros. had given you more to do in "Wonder Bar" we would have thought more of the picture, notwithstanding it is probably the best musical they have produced, not excepting "42nd Street." This picture will no doubt please a great majority of the people. The excellent shots in this picture are to the benefit of Warner Bros. and the credit of Lloyd Bacon, the director. But that wasn't what we started out to say. We wanted to thank you for coming back and lending your influence to the screen to help the public forget the nauseating scenes that are too often injected into pictures.

We are probably not entitled to any favors from you, but there is one favor we should like for you to grant, and that is to appear some time holding Hal, Jr., the Hollywood prize baby, in your arms, so the public can get to see what Hollywood can produce if she tries to. There's a universal opinion among an ignorant public that Hollywood babies are not natives of the great state of California, and we are glad you have proven to the contrary. Possibly you might have a picture of Hal, Jr., that you could send us to go with our collection of celebrities. Thanks, Miss Fazenda, for your part in the picture, even though it was a small one. We were glad to see you again, and we hope that "Wonder Bar" will bring satisfactory returns to the producers.

▽

There has been a controversy going on between Mr. Howard E. Jameyson, Fox district manager for the Rocky Mountain district, and Mr. Terry Ramsaye, editor of this magazine, relative to the comparative merits of their piscatorial ability. Mr. Jameyson tells of his exploits with trout in the Pike's Peak district and Mr. Ramsaye waxes enthusiastic over his prowess with the vicious muskalonge in various provinces of Canada and other civilized districts. While it is unethical to question the size of the fish (that got away) one can think about it just as he darn pleases without violating any rules.

If these two gentlemen really want the lowdown on fishing, and want some authority that is authority as to where to go and how to catch 'em, and will agree to refrain hereafter from recitations of these wild hallucinations, they will please remember that our permanent address is still Neligh, Neb., U. S. A.

COLONEL J. C. JENKINS
The HERALD's Vagabond Colyumnist

Percy Phillipson Returns

Percy Phillipson, president of General Register Corporation, returned to New York from England last week after a three-week trip during which he completed the reorganization of the company started when he arrived in New York in February.

Mayer's Secretary to China

Betty Gerke, former social secretary to Governor Rolph, of California, and assistant secretary to Louis B. Mayer, of MGM, is in San Francisco, preparing for a trip to Shanghai, where she expects to be stationed in the MGM office.

Warner Exploiteers Move

The exploitation department of Warner Metropolitan Theatres, New York, has moved from the Warner home office to the Strand theatre building. On the staff are Charles Curran, Arthur Jeffries, Irving Windisch and Phil Laufer.

Weissmuller, Mate on Tour

Lupe Velez and Johnny Weismuller, MGM players, have started a personal appearance tour of eastern cities at the Broad theatre, Columbus. Baltimore, Pittsburgh and the Capitol in New York are on the schedule.

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

Allied

INTRUDER, THE: Monte Blue, Lila Lee—Can't say much for this one. A bunch of good actors trying to make something out of nothing. Photography terrible. Lighting worse. So dark that people could not tell what it was all about and they told me so.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

Chesterfield

RAINBOW OVER BROADWAY: Joan Marsh—A good little program picture that pleased. This gal, Grace Hayes, gives a pretty good imitation of Mae West. Joan Marsh and Frank Albertson are both good.—Henry Sparks, Grand Theatre, Cooper, Tex. Small town patronage.

Columbia

ABOVE THE CLOUDS: Robert Armstrong, Richard Cromwell—Same old newsreel story. Running time, 67 minutes. Played Apr. 26-27.—Edw. L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mount Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

BEFORE MIDNIGHT: June Collyer, Ralph Bellamy—This one should have been played "After Midnight" instead of "Before Midnight." My broken arm had a better cast than this one did. Murder mysteries are poison here and it didn't draw anything. Those that it did draw were far from pleased. Played Feb. 2-3.—Edw L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mount Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

FOG: Mary Brian, Donald Cook—There sure was plenty of fog. We could not tell whether the picture was good on account of the dark photography. If you like the melodic strains of a fog horn, this one will be music to your ears. On the way out, people asked to see their quarters as they couldn't see the picture. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Jan. 25-26.—Edw. L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mount Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

IT HAPPENED ONE NIGHT: Clark Gable, Claudette Colbert—What a sweetheart of a picture this one was, from both business and cleanliness. Next to "David Harum" this one did my best business and pleased everybody. Some of my people saw it three times. Pictures of this calibre make the business worthwhile. Expect to return the picture at later date. Played May 1-2-3.—George Biehler, Palace Theatre, Hamburgh, N. Y. General patronage.

LINE-UP, THE: William Gargan, Marian Nixon—Fair underworld play. Story of a band of fur thieves, who framed an innocent checkroom girl. Marian Nixon was the checkroom girl and played her part to perfection. William Gargan was the detective and acted the part well. Running time, 67 minutes. Played May 1-2.—Grand Theatre Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

MAN'S CASTLE, A: Spencer Tracy, Loretta Young—We went to Louisville to see this one. If this is an example of Columbia specials, we are glad that we don't have them under contract. Their specials are batting about 500 now, as they have about two out of four that are in the special class. Running time, 75 minutes.—Edw. L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mt. Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

NINTH GUEST, THE: Donald Cook—This picture tied "Before Midnight" for a new low for the year. Running time, 69 minutes. Played Mar. 29-30.—Edw. L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mount Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

ONCE TO EVERY WOMAN: Ralph Bellamy, Fay Wray—A good program picture, with Bellamy giving an excellent performance. Played Bargain Night to average business. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Apr. 3.—Cle Bratton, Stella Theatre, Council Grove, Kan. Small town patronage. This report appeared in the Apr. 28 issue above the name of Robert Schwall, State Theatre, Ipswich, S. D.

ONE IS GUILTY: Ralph Bellamy, Shirley Grey—Just another murder mystery. The people are getting tired of them. What they want is happiness, not murder mystery. Play very good though. Running time, 65 minutes. Played Apr. 24-25.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

SO THIS IS AFRICA: Wheeler and Woolsey—When will wonders cease to happen in the show game? Having played this a couple of years ago, I decided to trade Columbia a picture I didn't want for this and put it on at a midnight showing and result was receipts equalled those of the entire evening of regular show.—Henry Sparks, Grand Theatre Cooper, Tex. Small town patronage.

NO "PLANTS"

An endeavor to color "What the Picture Did for Me" department by means of a wholesale campaign has flooded the office of Motion Picture Herald with reports which will not be published.

This department is conducted for the free unbiased and unprejudiced expression of exhibitors reporting on product for their mutual benefit.

The exhibitor who lends his name and assistance to efforts to place on these pages reports which are not spontaneous reflections of box office performance is doing both himself and his fellow exhibitors a disservice. Any endeavor by interests concerned in any wise with production or distribution to color these reports and to make them anything but bona fide experience records by exhibitors is not only invading the interests of the exhibitor but also is attacking an important service to the whole industry.

Motion Picture Herald, with the cooperation of some thousands of interested showmen, has built this department into one of the most important expressions in motion picture journalism.

Motion Picture Herald will spare no effort to maintain the integrity of the department and its strict adherence to its announced policies and purposes. The department is by exhibitors for exhibitors.

—TERRY RAMSAYE

STRAIGHTAWAY: Tim McCoy—A fine action picture. Great racing scenes and all good entertainment.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

STRAIGHTAWAY: Tim McCoy, Sue Carol—Average program picture which would have been better if the dialogue had been plainer. However, it seemed to please. Played May 11-12.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

WHITE EAGLE: Buck Jones—Extra good western. Pleased the Saturday crowd. Business average. Played Apr. 5-6.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Small town patronage.

First National

BEDSIDE: Warren William—A fair picture. Will be liked by those that like Warren William. Very poor business on this one. Running time, 65 minutes. Played May 8-9.—L. D. Brown, Queen Theatre, Brownwood, Tex. Small town patronage.

CONVENTION CITY: Joan Blondell; Adolph Menjou, Dick Powell—Full of pep and pleased. First National and Warner Brothers are doing their part and we do our part in giving them a big boost. This picture just a little noisy in parts. I will be glad when they learn that those noisy pictures are not appreciated very much. Comedy is okay, but mix it with drama and it is better. Running time, eight reels.—Walter Odom Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage

DARK HAZARD: Edward G. Robinson—A very weak picture for Robinson. This, coupled with the fact that we cannot sell him even in a good picture in this town, made business below normal. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Apr. 5-6.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Small town patronage.

JOURNAL OF A CRIME: Ruth Chatterton—This picture is well produced but will not please the average small town audience. No comedy whatever to relieve the heavy drama. Business away off. Patrons who came were disappointed. Played Apr. 15-16.—H. M. Johnson Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Small town patronage.

LITTLE GIANT, THE: Edward G. Robinson—Good action entertainment with some good comedy. Our people do not care much for Robinson so business was hardly average. This is one of the best of Robinson's pictures. Running time, 74 minutes. Played Mar. 23-24.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

MANDALAY: Kay Francis—Pleased 100 per cent. Men all came because they like to look at Kay, and fortunately for me, the picture was playing a key situation at the same time; they had given it lots of publicity through daily papers, most especially, gowns worn; so the women all came to see these. Result, everybody went away happy.—Henry Sparks, Grand Theatre, Cooper, Tex. Small town patronage.

MASSACRE: Richard Barthelmess—Played this on Saturday instead of the usual western and satisfied all western fans. Drew quite a lot of folks into the theatre that never go to see a real western. It is truly a good picture and should please all classes.—Henry Sparks, Grand Theatre, Cooper, Tex. Small town patronage.

SON OF A SAILOR: Joe E. Brown—Very satisfactory both in way of entertainment and business. All of Joe E. Brown's pictures are bright and happy. People want something to laugh at and forget their troubles, so this is why a Brown picture is sure for a good crowd. Running time, 73 minutes. Played Mar. 30-31.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock Va. Town and country patronage.

WONDER BAR: Al Jolson, Dick Powell, Kay Francis—Another musical hit from Warner. While I and a number of my patrons were a little disappointed in the picture, it went over well and did a nice business. Picture stood up three days. Running time, 90 minutes. Played May 2-3-4.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Small town patronage.

First Division

FORGOTTEN MEN: Tieup with the American Legion on this; had two fair days and a big dropoff on the third. Anyone contemplating taking up war as a diversion had better see this picture and find that Sherman was right. Played Apr. 24-25-26.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

Fox

BERKELEY SQUARE: Leslie Howard—Not a picture for small towns. Too fanciful. Business low. Running time, 87 minutes. Played Mar. 14-15.—Mrs. R. D. Carter Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Small town and country patronage.

CAROLINA: Janet Gaynor—One of the cleanest and best produced pictures since "Seventh Heaven" and also did my best Gaynor business since that time. Beautifully produced, splendid story and an outstanding cast. My patrons want pictures of this kind. Played Apr. 29-30.—George Biehler, Palace Theatre, Hamburgh, N. Y. General patronage.

DAVID HARUM: Will Rogers—Our best box-office attraction of the year. No other picture of the 1933-34 product thus far played has even come close to the gross on this picture. Paid the largest average of any talking picture ever played in our theatre. And everyone enjoyed it! It appealed alike to young and old, male or female. Play it and cash in! Fox has made some very fine pictures this year. They look like a good buy for 1934-35. Running time, 85 minutes. Played Apr. 10-11.—W. J. Powell, Lonet Theatre, Wellington, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

DAVID HARUM: Will Rogers—A wow. You can step on this one if you are in a small town. Business away above average.—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.

DAVID HARUM: Will Rogers—Give it all the stars you can crowd into it. It is extra good, better than all other Rogers' pictures I have shown.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant Miss. General patronage.

EVER SINCE EVE: George O'Brien—A nice program picture, comedy type. Herbert Mundin should appear in more pictures; he is always good for a laugh. Business and entertainment satisfactory. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Apr. 6-7.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

FRONTIER MARSHAL: George O'Brien—Very good picture and pleased our family trade 100 per cent. Believe it would have done business two days. O'Brien well liked here. Played May 8.—A. J. Simmons, Plaza Theatre, Lamar, Mo. General patronage.

GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS: Rudy Vallee, George White, Alice Fay—The entertainment in this picture is rather spotty. Part of the picture seems to drag and other parts were splendid entertainment. On the whole, it drew fairly well and seemed to please. Very fine recording. Running time, 78 minutes. Played Apr. 17-18.—W. J. Powell, Lonet Theatre, Wellington Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

HOLD THAT GIRL: James Dunn—Just another detective story and I do hope this one will be the last one they will ever compel me to play. Running time, eight reels. Played Mar. 29.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

HOOPLA: Clara Bow—Very poor story for Clara Bow. Business good the first night, proving Clara Bow is still a draw if given the right kind of story. Business off the second night because of type of story. Running time, 79 minutes. Played Mar. 21-22.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

I AM SUZANNE! Lilian Harvey, Gene Raymond —A very good picture but entirely too long. The inferno dance was the best spot in the picture. Very difficult to understand at times. Played May 8-9.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

I BELIEVED IN YOU: John Boles—Good picture. —Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

I BELIEVED IN YOU: John Boles—Just so many reels of film. If you find anyone who likes it, let me know.—C. M. Hartman Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.

JIMMY AND SALLY: James Dunn—Good program picture. Full of laughs. Played May 10.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

JIMMY AND SALLY: James Dunn—Only fair program offering that is something to fill in with. Did little business. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Mar. 26-27.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

MAD GAME, THE: Spencer Tracy, Claire Trevor —Spencer Tracy is a great actor, but he just does not draw for me. He played a wonderful part to perfection. Running time, 65 minutes. Played May 11-12. —A. B. Jefferis, Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Small town patronage.

MR. SKITCH: Will Rogers, Zasu Pitts—Our first Will Rogers picture. It drew better than our average attendance and it appealed to our better class of patronage. Clean comedy and enough action to make a good, interesting feature. Played Apr. 7.—George Lodge, Green Lantern, Claymont Del. Small town patronage.

MY LIPS BETRAY: John Boles—John Boles and Lilian Harvey extra fine. Little slow in parts, but all in all, call it good picture and class it as a two-star picture. Running time, eight reels.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

MY LIPS BETRAY: Lilian Harvey, John Boles—For some reason this picture did not prove to be as good as it should have been with such a cast and production. Too much cheering and band music and not enough of Boles' singing might have been the fault. Anyway, it was disappointing both in business and entertainment. Running time, 79 minutes. Played Apr. 9-10.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

OLSON'S BIG MOMENT: El Brendel—Full of laughs.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

SMOKY: Victor Jory—Good out-of-door entertainment for horse lovers. Our patrons like "Smoky" and it did nice business. Many a fine horse has had just such a life as Smoky. Running time 69 minutes. Played Mar. 16-17.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Tbeatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

Fox (World Wide)

PHANTOM THUNDERBOLT: Ken Maynard—A pretty good western with the usual entertainment Ken Maynard gives. Drew fairly good. Will satisfy the western fans. Running time, 58 minutes. Played May 12.—L. D. Brown, Queen Theatre, Brownwood, Tex. General patronage.

Invincible

FACE ON THE BARROOM FLOOR, THE: Dulcie Cooper, Bramwell Fletcher—Pretty good for a road-show. Has good story and should draw good. Better than the average. Running time, 65 minutes. Played May 14-15.—L. D. Brown, Queen Theatre, Brownwood, Tex. Small town patronage.

MGM

BOMBSHELL: Jean Harlow, Lee Tracy—Here is a very good picture that is 100 per cent talking. Tracy talks all of the time but just the same it is good entertainment. It is a fast moving comedy with spicy dialogue and plenty of laughs. We played this on a midnight show and to a very good business because of the two leading stars and the excellent supporting cast. Metro can make good pictures when they want to but it's so seldom. Running time, 98 minutes. Played May 5, midnight show.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

CAT AND THE FIDDLE, THE: Jeanette MacDonald, Ramon Novarro—This is a great picture. Two of the best stars in tbe business, both great singers and actor and actress. The story very entertaining. We did not get rich on the receipts but it drew better than the most of the good pictures do nowadays and gave 100 per cent satisfaction. Played May 3-4.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

DINNER AT EIGHT: All Star—A tremendous amount of talent and genius went into the making of this. Each characterization was a perfect gem, but loosely connected episodes do not as a whole make popular entertainment. The list of stars in this are bound to attract attention but they want a story where they can follow the adventures of a hero and a heroine and what goes with it. We did above average on this but after paying the terms that this is sold on, we had less left than the returns of an ordinary program.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich.

ESKIMO: Native Cast—A different type of an adventure film that failed to draw even a regular Saturday's business. Played May 11-12.—A. J. Simmons, Plaza Theatre, Lamar, Mo. General patronage.

ESKIMO: Native Cast—A wonderful picture. You

EXTRA CARE
EXTRA SPEED FOR FILMS SHIPPED BY RAILWAY EXPRESS

Eliminate the guess work in the handling of films and avoid the possibility of time-wasting troubles on lost and delayed shipments. Specify Railway Express for all releases and then you will be sure that they will be delivered safely and quickly to theatres • Railway Express insures maximum safety and utmost speed and many features not to be found in any other method of shipping. Railway Express moves at passenger train speed and maintains pick-up and delivery service in all principal cities and towns without extra charge. We give a receipt to the shipper and take one from the consignee—double protection and proof of safe collection and delivery • Telephone the local Railway Express agent for service or information.

The best there is in transportation

RAILWAY EXPRESS AGENCY, Inc.

SERVING THE NATION FOR 95 YEARS • NATION-WIDE SERVICE

have to see it to appreciate the bigness of it. We did a very small business on the picture but no fault of the picture. It is worthy of patronage. Very educational and all we did get were well satisfied. Played May 6-7.—Bert Silver Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

GOING HOLLYWOOD: Marion Davies, Bing Crosby—Great singing by Bing Crosby. The part of the radio imitators is well put over. Played May 10-11.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

GOING HOLLYWOOD: Bing Crosby, Marion Davies—A wonderful picture. Pleased 100 per cent. Running time, nine reels.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

GOING HOLLYWOOD: Bing Crosby, Marion Davies—Very good picture. Music fine, and acting above average. Drew excellent business on Sunday and Monday. Running time, 79 minutes. Played Apr. 29-30.—Edw. L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mount Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

GOING HOLLYWOOD: Marion Davies, Bing Crosby—Swell show and did business. Marion Davies' best performance in years. She looks eighteen and this Crosby boy is sure becoming an actor. Everybody enjoyed the picture. MGM was a little slow in starting but have now hit their stride. We expect to make a very satisfactory showing with our Metro pictures. Played Apr. 24-25-26.—George Biehler, Palace Theatre, Hamburgh, N. Y. General patronage.

LAZY RIVER: Jean Parker, Robert Young—The title belies the picture. It is very good and there is some action for a change with those two sterling actors, Nat Pendleton and Ted Healy. For a tough guy, this Pendelton carries the honors, especially when he acts dumb. The public is getting to look for him in the pictures. It is a little incredulous in spots, but at least, as I said before, it is not all dialogue, and there is some action for relief in the story. —A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

MEET THE BARON: Jack Pearl, Jimmy Durante —Amusing picture. Lots of laughs. Pleased the children, others satisfied.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durart, Miss. General patronage.

MEN IN WHITE: Clark Gable—To my notion, the best acting Gable ever put out but the story failed to click here. Business below average.—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.

QUEEN CHRISTINA: Greta Garbo—Well if you love those old costume pictures you will rave about this one, but for me they are a pain in the heart. I wish this Garbo had gone to the North Pole and frozen and become a monument; then people would go there to see their forgotten screen star. Played Mar. 15.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

RIPTIDE: Norma Shearer—Another flop for us. Too much Norma. She started in reel one to show us her body, and proceeds to make all the willing young men in the picture fall for it. Not so good for us; many said it was her poorest picture. Played May 6-7.—A. J. Simmons, Plaza Theatre, Lamar, Mo. General patronage.

RIPTIDE: Norma Shearer—It is an overacted picture, too much unbelievable acting, too. When producers become wise enough to make real true life pictures that the audience can feel the trueness in them, then we all will fill our theatres first, second and third night. Running time, 11 reels.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

RIPTIDE: Norma Shearer—Filled the house for two nights and didn't have one person say that they liked it. Smart clothes and high society. Dialogue hard to understand. I sure hate to take their money when they see a movie like this. No good up here among the jack pines. Played May 12-13.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin Mich. Small town patronage.

SONS OF THE DESERT: Laural and Hardy—Very fine picture from start to finish. Running time, eight reels. Played Apr. 26.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

THIS SIDE OF HEAVEN: Lionel Barrymore—Just a fair program picture. Don't mean much for the second night showing. Nowadays every little town and every big city has plenty of attraction other than the picture show. So we exhibitors must try to impress the producers to give us extra good pictures to meet this outside competition. Running time, eight reels. Played Apr. 6.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

TUGBOAT ANNIE: Marie Dressler—Here is a picture that will draw the cash customers. A rough-and-ready picture that will make them laugh. Playing it here meant the second largest gross during the past year. Played Apr. 14-15.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage. This report appeared in the May 5 issue over the name of P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D.

YOU CAN'T BUY EVERYTHING: May Robson, Jean Parker—No good for me. Running time, eight reels. Played Mar. 22.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

Monogram

BLACK BEAUTY: Esther Ralston—Although played late, this picture pleased our Bargain Night crowd. Business about normal and the patrons were pleased. Brought out many who hadn't been here in a long time. Running time, 63 minutes. Played Apr. 24-25.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre Avon Park, Fla. General small town patronage.

BLACK BEAUTY: Alexander Kirkland, Esther Ralston—A good picture of its kind and was really clean. Many favorable comments. Played May 11-12.—A. B. Jefferis, Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

GALLANT FOOL: Bob Steele—A very good western which seemed to please the majority. Played May 10.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

GALLOPING ROMEO: Bob Steele—This picture pleased my western fans and is good for Saturday in small town situations.—Henry Sparks, Grand Theatre, Cooper, Tex. Small town patronage.

RIDERS OF DESTINY: John Wayne—A very good western with plenty of action. Patrons pleased. Running time, 58 minutes. Played Apr. 14.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Small town patronage.

SENSATION HUNTERS: Preston Foster, Arline Judge—A very well done melodrama. Played on Bargain Nights and everyone pleased. Business average. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Apr. 3-4.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Small town patronage.

SWEETHEART OF SIGMA CHI, THE: Mary Carlisle—Very good college picture. Pleased very well. Business above average. Ted Fio Rito and his band excellent. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Mar. 29-30.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Town and country patronage.

Paramount

ALL OF ME: Fredric March, Miriam Hopkins, George Raft—Another "I'm going to have a baby" picture. Rather sad ending. Not up to the Paramount standard. Poor story. Running time, 71 minutes. Played May 9-10.—A. B. Jefferis, Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

ALL OF ME: Fredric March, Miriam Hopkins, George Raft—Here is one of the worst pictures of the year. It is the same old story of a woman having a baby, only in this case both of the women have babies. This has an excellent cast, but they are wasted on such a rotten story. We played this with a vaudeville bill and it went over well for one day, but did not please. Running time, 71 minutes. Played May 3.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

BOLERO: George Raft, Carole Lombard—Here is a picture that is sure to please. Sally Rand is the drawing card in this play. Our folks like these kind of plays better than murder and gangster plays. People want to laugh, not cry. Running time, 80 minutes. Played Apr. 28-39.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

COME ON, MARINES: Richard Arlen—Here is a picture that is surefire in the average small town. Comedy and action well mixed to make swell entertainment for the customers. Business above average. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Apr. 19-20.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Small town patronage.

DEATH TAKES A HOLIDAY: Fredric March—Unique play. Fredric March playing the part of death. Weird and awe inspiring. Stranger than the play "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." Something new and something different that your patrons will enjoy. Running time, 78 minutes. Played May 12-13.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

DEATH TAKES A HOLIDAY: Fredric March—A wonderfully produced picture. Pleased ninety per cent and a number of people stayed in to see the picture through twice. I have had several very fine compliments on this picture. Business average or a little better. Running time, 78 minutes. Played Apr. 29-30.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Small town patronage.

EIGHT GIRLS IN A BOAT: Kay Johnson, Dorothy Wilson—Another one of those "I'm gonna have a baby" stories. Ran it one day and that was two too many. Can't they make pictures anymore without the line, "I'm gonna have a baby."—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie Okla. Small town patronage.

FOUR FRIGHTENED PEOPLE: Claudette Colbert —If you like to hear Claudette Colbert and a jungle full of wild animals grunting, sobbing, screeching, gasping, squawking and squealing for 95 minutes, this will tickle you to death. Personally, I found so much noisy noise annoying. Played May 4-5.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

GOLDEN HARVEST: Richard Arlen—You can't go wrong on this one, it has everything to make it a wonderful picture. Everyone will like it and it should draw well. Running time, 70 minutes. Played May 11-12.—L. D. Brown, Queen Theatre, Brownwood, Tex. Small town patronage.

LAST ROUND-UP, THE: This title and a Zane Grey story are a good drawing combination. Fair Saturday business. Played Apr. 27-28.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

LONE COWBOY: Jackie Cooper—Jackie Cooper well liked here and picture seemed satisfactory to most patrons. Business good. Played Apr. 21.—C. W. Mills Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

LONE COWBOY: Jackie Coopoer—This is a well made and interesting picture. Good draw with kids and western fans.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

MAN OF THE FOREST: Randolph Scott—This is the best western we have had in a long time. All western fans will like it. Should be a good draw anywhere. Running time, 60 minutes. Played May 4-5.—L. D. Brown, Queens Theatre, Brownwood, Tex. Small town patronage.

MISS FANE'S BABY IS STOLEN: Dorothea Wieck, Baby LeRoy—This picture satisfied most of audience but many comments were made about the title. Business fair. Played May 5.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

MISS FANE'S BABY IS STOLEN: Dorothea Wieck—Average business on this. It's a well made picture with some exciting moments. Dorothea Wieck does good work in this but the picture would go over bigger out here in the sticks with an American actress in this role speaking United States. Played Apr. 22-23.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

NO MORE WOMEN: Edmund Lowe, Victor McLaglen—Although I heard that this picture was not so hot, it did above average business on Bargain Nights for us. It will please the crowd that likes the rough and tumble type of comedy. Running time, 72 minutes. Played May 8-9.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Small town patronage.

SEARCH FOR BEAUTY: Larry "Buster" Crabbe, Ida Lupino—A pleasing story with two likable young people, Crabbe and Lupino, and two amusing crooks, Robert Armstrong and Jimmy Gleason. The title is the only weak feature of this production. Played Apr. 17-18.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

SHE MADE HER BED: Richard Arlen, Sally Eilers—Picture pleased and the patrons told us so. Business above average. Running time, 78 minutes.

Played Apr. 12-13.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Small town patronage.

SITTING PRETTY: Jack Haley, Jack Oakie—An average musical comedy story lifted above average with the popular song finish, "Did You Ever See a Dream Walking." But this was almost spoiled by the attempt to see how much nudity they could put in without being arrested. The attempt on the part of some directors to give us undressed females in our pictures and so much of it, one would think that this meant sure fire box-office. For the moment I cannot recall a single picture of scantily attired females that meant box-office. Going back to the finish of "Sitting Pretty"—this sequence, the beautiful milady artistically costumed, without so much nakedness, would have been much better. Drawing power a fair average.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich.

SITTING PRETTY: Jack Haley Jack Oakie, Ginger Rogers—A good musical that did nice by us. This feature has a wonderful ending. Pleased about 100 per cent.—Robert Schwall, State Theatre, Ipswich, S. D. Small town patronage.

SIX OF A KIND: Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland—Good comedy of the lighter type. Pleased but did not draw extra business. The six were W. C. Fields, Charles Ruggles, Alison Skipworth, Mary Boland, George Burns, Gracie Allen. Running time, 65 minutes. Played May 6-7.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

TOO MUCH HARMONY: Bing Crosby—Very pleasing, good music and comedy. A little old but good nevertheless, and much better than some of the newer pictures. Business satisfactory. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Apr. 2-3.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert—This picture was well liked by old and young. The entire cast gave a fine performance. Business and entertainment satisfactory. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Apr. 18-19.—Mrs. R. D. Carter Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

TO THE LAST MAN: Randolph Scott—This picture was unpleasant because of so much killing. Not near so good as most of the westerns. Not up to the other Zane Greys, and we have run most of them. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Apr. 13-14.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

TRUMPET BLOWS, THE: George Raft—Another excellent picture from Paramount. This new star Raft is proving to be a success. Picture pleased nearly everybody and business above normal. Running time, 78 minutes. Played Apr. 22-23.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Small town patronage.

WHITE WOMAN: Charles Laughton—A fair picture but nothing extra. It is well directed, should please the audience as the average picture does. Running time, 66 minutes. Played May 4-5.—L. D. Brown, Queen Theatre, Brownwood, Tex. Small town patronage.

RKO

ACE OF ACES: Richard Dix, Elizabeth Allan—Good aviation and war play. Richard Dix outdid himself in this play. This picture drew the air fans out to see the play. On the order of Paramount's "Wings." Running time, 76 minutes. Played May 5-6.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

CAYENNE KID: George O'Brien—Just about as nice a picture as any small town or country district could ask for. Went over big with our patrons and pleased everybody. Full of action and comedy. Played Apr. 14.—George Lodge Green Lantern, Claymont, Del. Small town patronage.

CHANCE AT HEAVEN: Ginger Rogers, Joel McCrea—This is sure one swell show. We did extra business on it. Joel McCrea and Ginger Rogers sure put it over. Our patrons were delighted at such a simple, yet interesting, love play. Running time, 70 minutes. Played May 8-9.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

CHANCE AT HEAVEN: Joel McCrea, Ginger Rogers—A nice little program picture that would have been much better if all the talk about the baby had been left out. Did only fair business. Running time, 71 minutes. Played Mar. 19-20.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO: Dolores Del Rio—A splendid production and should get a play date on your best day. Gave plenty of satisfaction. Only one kick. Running time, 80 minutes. Played May 6-7-8.—A. B. Jefferis, Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO: Dolores Del Rio, Gene Raymond—No matter how many musicals you have run you can promise your patrons that this is different and better. Business above average. Played May 6-7-8.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Tex. Small town patronage.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO: Dolores Del Rio, Ginger Rogers, Fred Astaire—Fair Sunday on this, big dropoff on Monday. It's a swell musical and distinctly different from the others. Played May 6-7.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO: Gene Raymond, Dolores Del Rio—Eighty minutes of most delightful entertainment. It is not often we can get such real business and pleasure out of a picture. By all means play it. Clean and fine. Running time, 80 minutes. Played Apr. 16-17.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO: Dolores Del Rio, Ginger Rogers—Excellent picture. Fred Astaire steals this show. Excellent music, dancing and scenery throughout the show. The dance on the planes was the best sequence of the play. Running time, 80 minutes. Played Apr. 21-22.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

IF I WERE FREE!: Irene Dunne, Clive Brook—A four cornered triangle story, well made and well played, but we've seen this plot too many times before. Played Apr. 15-16.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

LITTLE WOMEN: Katharine Hepburn—Very good of its type, but in my opinion it is essentially a woman's picture. The women must have dragged out the men for it did some extra business. Contrary to the general opinion that this is the type that the public wants I do not agree. The fact that it was a classic in days gone by is the only thing that made it draw. It had its appeal to the older generation but for steady fare any more will flop if I know this business. I wouldn't want a cycle of them for my audiences.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

LITTLE WOMEN: Katharine Hepburn—Had more unfavorable comments on this than any picture I've used in the last six months. It drew the crowds but did not please. Picture was about three reels too long. After the eighth and ninth reels people began to leave. This kind of picture on Friday-Saturday will ruin the small town man's business. Country people said they were very much disappointed. Running time. 12 reels. Played May 10-11-12.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

LITTLE WOMEN: Katharine Hepburn, Joan Bennett, Paul Lukas—This is a picture that has been acclaimed practically everywhere as one of the greatest pictures of all times. Personally, I must disagree, both from a business and a story standpoint. It is only fair entertainment and too long drawn out. If four reels had been cut out of the running time it would have added 100 per cent to the entertainment value. We did not take in enough cash to pay expenses for the three day run of "Little Women." During the three days we had many walkouts and only a few thought it good. It may have gone over great in other cities, but here it was just another grand "flop." We have learned our lesson through the losses on this picture. Running time, 115 minutes. Played May 7-8-9.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

LONG LOST FATHER: John Barrymore—So far as we are concerned, "Long Lost Father" should never have been found. This did the lowest business of any picture in a long time. There was nothing to this one. Running time, 63 minutes. Played Apr. 4-5.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock Va. Town and country patronage.

LOST PATROL, THE: Victor McLaglen—We considered this a marvelously directed and acted photoplay but it failed to draw. Too much "inside stuff" published in so-called fan magazines about nearly all of the leading pictures. There being no romance killed it for ladies and young people. Glad we played it, anyway. Running time, 75 minutes. Played May 4-5.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

MEANEST GAL IN TOWN, THE: Zasu Pitts, James Gleason—Light comedy, a little rough in spots, but it seemed to please as it did a bit better than average midweek business. Running time, 62 minutes. Played Apr. 11-12.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

MIDSHIPMAN JACK: Bruce Cabot—A very clever little picture. Ran it on short notice.—Henry Sparks, Grand Theatre, Cooper, Tex. Small town patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore, Francis Dee—Wonderful play. Story glorifying the old country doctor. Shows how he sacrificed himself and his career without glory. How the people of the little obscure locality appreciated him. Finally at the end he had the most noted specialist honoring him. Running time 78 minutes. Played Apr. 19-20.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore—A natural for the small town spots and should go over in any situation. Barrymore as the overworked and underpaid country doctor portrays the role to perfection. Get them in to see it and they'll come out and tell you they liked it.—Henry Sparks, Grand Theatre, Cooper, Tex. Small town patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore—This is a perfect picture and unlike too many artistic productions, it ends happily. Not very strong at the box-office. Played Apr. 29-30.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

(Continued on following page)

Bring Back the Forgotten Audience--

A Group of Paid Admissions That Keeps Repeating

You may or may not realize it, but a large number of the hard of hearing have not patronized your theatre since sound invaded the movies. Once they were regular fans — and numbered millions. When you lost them, probably you also lost one or more of their companions, for the deafened influence the decision of others in their household, to "go to the movies" . . . Hearing via the bones with Sonotone Bone Conduction Aids now enable this large "Forgotten Audience" to enjoy the talkies once again. Welcome them to your theatre! . . . Take advantage of the fact that R C A Photophone has licensed Sonotone to "bridge-in" on their sound systems; and be one of the first to offer this new and profitable service to the deafened in your community.

No Annoying Sounds from Receivers

When you use Sonotone bone conduction you may be sure that the receivers will not leak sound to annoy others in the audience for the new Lieber Oscillators are sound-proof. The user receives mechanical vibrations and hears sounds thru the bones of the head without strain or effort. The oscillator weighs less than one ounce. The installation is simple and economical.

FREE Booklet

A booklet entitled "Science Brings Back the Forgotten Audience" tells the entire story of this new hearing technique . . . tells how you can make the deafened A PART of your audience—instead of APART from it. It's free. Simply send your name and address to Dept. M.P.H. 2—Sonotone Corporation, 19 West 44th Street, New York, N. Y.

Science's First Portable Bone Conduction Hearing Aid

SUPER-SONOTONE

NOW . . . Licensed for Group Installation in RCA-Victor Sound Equipment

United Artists

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN: Lee Tracy—A good funny program picture that did not draw film rental. Satisfied the few we got to see it, but no drawing power.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

BOWERY, THE: Wallace Beery—Rather late in playing this one, but this did not affect its drawing power in the slightest degree. I would gladly play old pictures from now on and lay the late ones on the shelf if I could be assured of the patronage this one brought in. It's a picture that deserves business. It's one hundred per cent entertainment. Running time, 90 minutes. Played Apr. 27-28.—W. J. Powell, Lonet Theatre, Wellington, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

PALOOKA: Jimmy Durante—Well liked by those that can stand the same old antics of Durante. Played May 8-9.—Horald C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

PALOOKA: Jimmy Durante, Stuart Erwin—Only a fair programmer that failed to draw film rental. Erwin very good but our small town cannot relish this guy Durante. I hope he stays on the radio. Played May 9-10.—A. J. Simmons, Plaza Theatre, Lamar, Mo. General patronage.

PRIVATE LIFE OF HENRY VIII, THE: Charles Laughton—Excellent acting by Laughton and the women but not a small town picture. Sound very poor. Lowest gross of the year. Played May 3-4-5.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Tex. Small town patronage.

Universal

CROSBY CASE, THE: Wynne Gibson, Alan Dinehart—Mystery story cut over the same old pattern, every one is a suspect. The picture will get by for a Saturday showing but there is nothing in it that has not been done before. I thought that Collier, Sr., acted bored. He had to misplace his badge reaching for laughs. I have seen worse and have seen better. —A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

CROSS COUNTRY CRUISE: Lew Ayres, Alice White, June Knight—Seemed to please. Picture fair. Henry Armetta should have had a better part. He wasn't in the picture long enough. Running time eight reels. Played May 4-5.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

GLAMOUR: Constance Cummings, Paul Lukas—This is only fair entertainment and will not please the average fan. It is both dramatic and romantic, with a bit of comedy, but is strictly adult fare. It is the old, old story of the eternal love triangle. The newcomer, Phillip Reed, practically stole the picture from both Miss Cummings and Mr. Lukas. We played this one day (Bargain Day) to only fair business. Running time, 74 minutes. Played May 4.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

GUN JUSTICE: Ken Maynard—Fair western; paid expenses on a bad night against a high school concert. Played May 8-9.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

GUN JUSTICE: Ken Maynard—A wonderful western. Above par with other features of this kind. Running time, six reels.—Robert Schwall, State Theatre, Ipswich, S. D. Small town patronage.

HORSE PLAY: Slim Summerville, Andy Devine—Glad I used this on Bargain Days because the customers couldn't kick about being gypped out of very much dough. Otherwise, couldn't have faced them as they came out.—Henry Sparks, Grand Theatre, Cooper, Tex. Small town patronage.

HORSE PLAY: Slim Summerville—An amusing aggregation of ridiculous nonsense. Played May 1-2. —Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

I LIKE IT THAT WAY: Roger Pryor, Gloria Stuart—A few parts might easily be left out of this picture without doing it any harm and would remove the criticism of some purists. However, it was a pleasing combination of music and good looks with a bit of story to carry it out Favorably accepted by usual percentage of audience. Played Apr. 28.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

INVISIBLE MAN, THE: Claude Rains—A most entertaining picture and extremely well produced. Drew better than the average attendance and was thoroughly entertaining. Played Apr. 21.—George Lodge, Green Lantern, Claymont, Del. Small town patronage.

ONLY YESTERDAY: John Boles—It is really a good picture and a good story. It seems a picture like this one pleases all and draws fine the second night. I have been in this business a long time and pictures with heartfelt drama always get good business. Running time, 10 reels. Played Mar. 21.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant Miss. General patronage.

POOR RICH, THE: Edward Everett Horton, Edna May Oliver—Unusually poor business for this picture in spite of good weather and favorable advertising. Most of those on hand enjoyed it with plenty of laughter to testify to that. Played May 12.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

S. O. S. ICEBERG: Rod La Roque—This one drew pretty good and they seemed to like it. Has good story and plenty of action. Running time, 75 minutes. Played May 10-11.—L. D. Brown, Queen Theatre, Brownwood, Tex. Small town patronage.

S. O. S. ICEBERG: Rod La Roque, Gibson Gowland—This is one of those pictures that will not please all. The picture could have been done nicely in six reels. Business fair. Running time, nine reels.—Robert Schwall, State Theatre, Ipswich, S. D. Small town patronage.

Warner

AS THE EARTH TURNS: Jean Muir—This picture is one of the finest pictures I have had the pleasure of showing in some time. By putting extra effort behind this picture and selling it to the public we got extra business and the patrons were more than pleased. Any exhibitor can be proud to show this picture. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Apr. 26-27.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Small town patronage.

COLLEGE COACH: Dick Powell—It is a fair picture. Football we think is overdone on the screen. Dick Powell not so hot in this one. Only in the last reel he comes in okay. Running time, eight reels.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

EASY TO LOVE: Adolphe Menjou—Just a fair program picture and like all program pictures they do not fill your cash box. They do not mean much for any exhibitor and thank goodness we have got so we do not expect much from them. Running time, eight reels.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

EASY TO LOVE: Adolphe Menjou, Genevieve Mary Astor—Another great entertaining picture from Warner. A scream for comedy, very funny and well put over. All commented on the show as they passed out as very good.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

EVER IN MY HEART: Barbara Stanwyck—If "Ever In My Heart" could have ended like it started, where the German was singing and playing the piano to his American sweetheart, it would have been a great drawing picture for a three-night run. But the war had to come and kill the good feelings it started with. No business. Exhibitors, take notice and ask all the producers to never make another war picture. Whenever you see this picture on your screen listen to this dramatic song. Running time, 68 minutes.—Walter Odom Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

FASHIONS OF 1934: William Powell—Big fashions. Grand but it did not draw for me. Running time, 10 reels.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

GAMBLING LADY: Barbara Stanwyck — Very pleasing picture. Patrons very well pleased. Due to the weather, business under average. A nice clean picture you needn't be ashamed of. Running time, 66 minutes. Played May 6-7.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fal. Small town patronage.

HI, NELLIE: Paul Muni—This is certainly a great entertainment. Lots of action and comedy. Pleased them all greatly. Played May 8-9.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich.

MAYOR OF HELL, THE: James Cagney—A good picture with a bad name. Would have done much business with some other title. Patrons thought this a gang picture and they will not come in to see gangsters. Business very low. Running time, 88 minutes. Played Mar. 28-29.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

RIDE HIM COWBOY: John Wayne, Ruth Hall—A very good western with plenty of action and a good plot. It seemed to please the majority so as all of Wayne's. Played May 4th-5th.—J. C. Dart, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

TAXES!
TAXES!

What'd you give to know the exact status of your theatre, accounting-wise, when the tax man comes around.

There's only one way to be sure that you don't overpay—only one way to prove your return—

That's day by day accounting.

MOTION PICTURE THEATRE ACCOUNTING

•

Costs $3—Lasts a Year

•

QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP

1790 Broadway, New York

Short Features

Columbia

WINTER THRILLS: World of Sport—A very interesting reel. Interesting from start to finish. Brought more laughs than our two-reel comedy on the same program. Running time, 1 reel.—W. J. Powell, Lonet Theatre, Wellington, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

Educational

DORA'S DUNKING DOUGHNUTS: Andy Clyde—This one has comedy, music, youngsters and love interest. It's good. Play it.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

GOLD GHOST, THE: Buster Keaton—Carries a story that held the interest throughout and brought many laughs. Patrons well pleased to see Buster Keaton once again. Running time, two reels.—W. J. Powell, Lonet Theatre Wellington, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

VILLAGE BLACKSMITH, THE: Terry-Toons—Good musical score. Neat cartoon. Running time, six minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

Fox

MOTOR MANIA!: Adventures of the Newsreel Cameraman—A good one of the race track and auto racers. Play it.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Balwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

MGM

AIR FRIGHT: Todd-Kelly—A very funny two-reel comedy.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

HI, NEIGHBOR: Our Gang—This comedy starts slowly but builds up to a great burst of laughter at the finish. Will strengthen any program. Running time, two reels.—W. J. Powell, Lonet Theatre, Wellington, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

KID FROM BORNEO, THE: Our Gang—This is one of the best, if not the best, of the gang shorts to date. Plenty of laughs and a comedy that seemed to please the adults as well as the kids. It is good entertainment and will make an excellent filler on any program. Running time 20 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

NURSE MAID: Flip, the Frog—Good cartoon. Running time, one reel.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

TWIN SCREWS: All Star Comedies—Very poor linehouse dialogue with Apaches thrown in for what reason neither I nor the audience knew.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

Paramount

FLYING BODIES: Grantland Rice Sportlights—This was an exceptionally fine Sportlight. A lot of very favorable comments on it. Running time, one reel.—J. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Small town patronage.

I YAM WHAT I YAM: Popeye the Sailor—These Popeye cartoons mean extra business. Running time, one reel.—A. B. Jefferis, Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

LITTLE BROADCAST, THE: Headliners—Very good. Give this your best playing time. Running time, one reel.—Robert Schwall, State Theatre, Ipswich, S. D. Small town patronage.

MAN ON THE FLYING TRAPEZE, THE: Popeye the Sailor—This is a very good cartoon comedy that will please both the young folks and the old ones. Plenty of laughs and Popeye, Wimpy and Olive Oyl make it very entertaining for the patrons. Let's have more like this. Running time, eight minutes.—G. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

OIL'S WELL: "Chic" Sale—A very good comedy with the customers laughing most of the time. And comedies are supposed to be laughed at.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Small town patronage.

PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL (No. 3): This is only fair entertainment and we had many walkouts on this one. This series of shorts are not liked here and I would really like to see Paramount put out better shorts. These could be very interesting if they would put more time on them. Running time, 10 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

STATION T. O. T.: Headliners—Just a very fair novelty short. Running time, one reel.—G. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Small town patronage.

UNCLE JAKE: Sennett Stars—This old comedy was substituted for a later one. It's a very funny slapstick.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason Mich. Small town patronage.

WHERE'S THAT TIGER?: Borrah Minnevitch—I would like to get more of this gang. Running time, 10 minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

RKO

FITS IN A FIDDLE: Clark and McCullough—This comedy was so rotten it was good.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

FITS IN A FIDDLE: Clark and McCullough—Poor, or as Shakespeare would have described it, much ado about nothing.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

MARCHING ALONG: Soglow's "The King" Cartoons—A good take-off on the new administration.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

SINISTER STUFF: Cubby the Bear Cartoons—A very good cartoon. Running time, seven minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Small town and rural patronage.

WALKING BACK HOME: Blonde and Red Heads Series—A good two-reel comedy. Very funny.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

WHAT FUR?: Edgar Kennedy—Not many laughs in this.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

Universal

PIE FOR TWO: James Gleason—A good comedy.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

TRIFLE BACKWARD, A: Vince Barnett—Two reels of laugh. Little raw in spots, but funny.—Bert Silver,, Silver Family Theatre Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of May 19

ASTOR

Playful ..... United Artists

CAPITOL

Flying Hunters ..... MGM
Trick Golf ..... MGM

MAYFAIR

Joe's Lunchwagon ..... Educational
Silken Snares ..... Pathe
Going Spanish ..... Educational

PARAMOUNT

Paramount Pictorial—No. 11 . Paramount
Hollywood on Parade—No. 11 . Paramount
Shoein' Hosses ..... Paramount
Good Shape ..... Paramount

RKO MUSIC HALL

Land of Bengal ..... Fox
Strange As It Seems—No. 37. Universal
Fortunate Isles ..... Fox

RIALTO

New Deal Rhythm ..... Paramount
Paramount Pictorial—No. 10. Paramount
Can You Take It? ..... Paramount

RIVOLI

Gulliver Mickey ..... United Artists
Under Moroccan Skies ..... Fox

ROXY

Ice Floe ..... Beverly Hills
China Shop ..... United Artists
Medbury in India ..... Columbia

STRAND

Story Conference ..... Vitaphone
Vincent Lopez and Orchestra. Vitaphone
Picturesque Siam ..... Vitaphone

Warner

CANNIBAL ISLE: Musical World Journeys—A very interesting and educational one reeler, showing many scenes of the natives and their quaint customs. Personally, I thing these are very entertaining, but my patrons disagree with my opinion. Running time, nine minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

COME TO DINNER: Broadway Brevities—I presume that those who liked "Dinner at Eight" and had seen that picture would appreciate it, but the average movie audience won't know what it is all about. Exceptionally fine characterization of Marie Dressler. Running time, two reels.—J. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Small town patronage.

FROM BETHLEHEM TO JERUSALEM: World Adventures—A traveltalk that did not seem to click.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage

KISSING TIME: Broadway Brevities—This is very poor entertainment of the musical type and one that Warner should not put on the public. It is sure to mar their reputation and I am sure they would not want that. However, they usually are wonderful at such musical comedies as this. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford N. C. General patronage.

LET'S PLAY POST OFFICE: Broadway Brevities—An exceptionally fine musical short. Well directed and pleased. Running time, two reels.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Small town patronage.

NERVOUS HANDS: Ben Blue—Very good comedy short. Seemed to please. Running time, two reels.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Small town patronage.

NORTHERN EXPOSURE: Broadway Brevities—Great. One of the best musicals I have exhibited. Color beautiful, dancing and music good. Running time, 19 minutes.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre. Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

ORGAN GRINDER: Merrie Melody—Just another cartoon that was not so good as usual. Running time, one reel.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

PICTURE PALACE: Broadway Brevities—Okay. Most Vitaphone Brevities are good.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

TEA FOR TWO: Broadway Brevities—Excellent anywhere you can use such as this.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

Serial

Mascot

FIGHTING WITH KIT CARSON: Johnny Mack Brown—This serial has the best sound we have run up here in the sticks. Wonder why the features don't have as good recording as "Kit Carson."—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

WOLF DOG, THE: Rin Tin Tin, Jr., Frankie Darro—As a whole this is one of the best serials we have played in a long while. Plenty of action, thrills, fighting, romance and everything you could want in a serial. There is just one thing wrong with this one—entirely too much repetition of scenes. Out of every chapter, practically one entire reel is devoted to repetition of old scenes. This should be stopped and here's hoping all the producers will get together and put an end to it. A very good business getter and seemed to please the majority of any patrons. Running time, eight minutes each chapter.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

Kansas City ITO Votes Confidence in Jay Means

The Independent Theatre Owners of Greater Kansas City has accorded Jay Means, president, a unanimous vote of confidence, following the declaration of W. D. Fulton, recently resigned from the organization, that he was opposed to the present setup, characterizing it as a "one-man show."

He advocated a revamping of the present structure, with a business manager instead of a president, and the naming of a board of governors.

Columbia Coordinating Its Branches in England

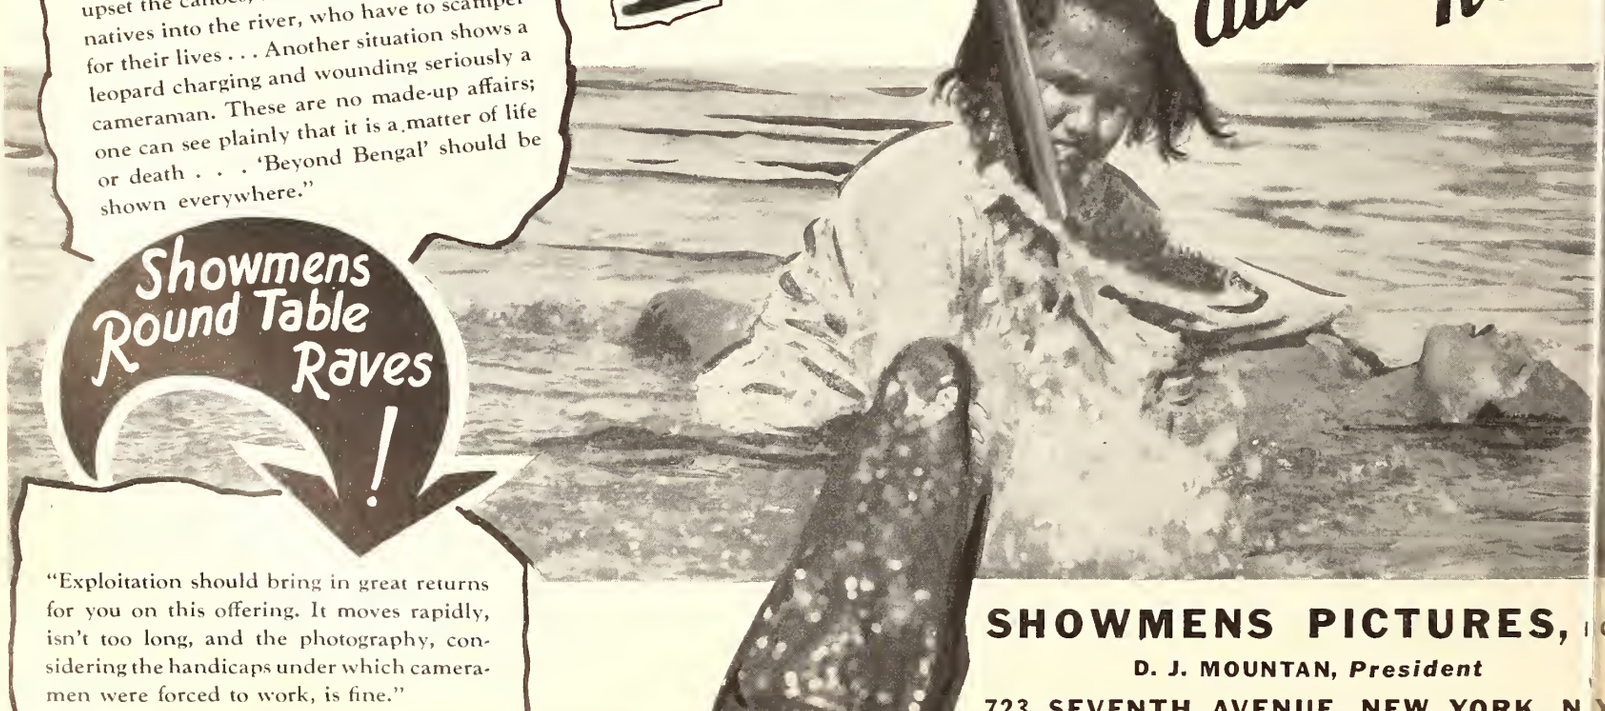
The operations of Columbia's home office and its eight branch offices in England are being closely coordinated, according to Henri Brunet, in charge of the company's exchange system, who returned to New York late last week after four months in England.

He indicated that the future abroad appeared promising, and that conditions are improving.

Play safe!
Put in this custom-built, guaranteed cooling system
HEALTHFUL Kooler-Aire
NATURE'S REFRIGERATION
U. S. AIR CONDITIONING CORP.
2109 Kennedy St. N. E. Minneapolis, Minn.

Beautiful Romance plus Hazardous Adventure Assures Positive Box Office Draw!

Pete Harrison's Report!



"I have seen almost every animal picture that has been released in the United States, but never have I seen one that is as fascinating and thrilling as 'Beyond Bengal.' . . . The thrills are caused by the fact that human lives are placed in danger repeatedly and members of the party risk their lives on every occasion to save the lives of their comrades. There is a sort of comraderie that is frequently absent even in regular dramatic productions. The effect of this spirit is felt most pronouncedly when a young native, member of the party, is rescued from the jaws of a crocodile (no fake either), and his sweetheart . . . while leaning over his body grief-stricken, bursts out praying, tears rolling down her cheeks. . . . The scene where Mr. Schenck and his outfit are shown attempting to cross the river is the most exciting ever seen in pictures . . . Crocodiles are seen attacking the caravan and the elephants themselves. Another exciting situation is where the cameramen . . . make an effort to photograph a herd of elephants . . . All goes well until the elephants get angry; they then upset the canoes, throwing cameramen and natives into the river, who have to scamper for their lives . . . Another situation shows a leopard charging and wounding seriously a cameraman. These are no made-up affairs; one can see plainly that it is a matter of life or death . . . 'Beyond Bengal' should be shown everywhere."

Showmens Round Table Raves!

"Exploitation should bring in great returns for you on this offering. It moves rapidly, isn't too long, and the photography, considering the handicaps under which cameramen were forced to work, is fine."

HARRY SCHENCK'S Beyond Bengal

Authentic! Real!

SHOWMENS PICTURES, INC.

D. J. MOUNTAN, President

723 SEVENTH AVENUE, NEW YORK, N Y.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS?

What the other side of the story may be, we do not know, but Case 28, detailed in Jim Cunningham's Code Question box, May 19 issue, reveals another species of finagling that if true does little credit to the circuit and newspaper involved. We quote from the exhibitor's complaint:

"When I first started advertising in a local newspaper, the paper cooperated 100 per cent, and classified my theatre ad with my competitor's ad, as per my instructions, until the nearby division headquarters of my circuit competitor complained to the newspaper people, stating they did not want my ad to appear on the same page with their ad.

"Since then I have not been allowed to classify my theatre ad with my competitor's, unless I overtop the other ad, which is unnecessary, too expensive, and a waste of money. My claim is that this is unfair business policy, and that the newspaper is discriminating and catering to my competitor. This is hurting my business, making my advertising practically worthless, and forcing me to operate under a serious handicap. . . ."

The spectacle of two great forces—the theatre that entertains and the newspaper that informs—in cahoots to do a small guy dirt is decidedly disheartening, especially in these times when the right minded are moving heaven and earth to effect nationwide business cooperation, which must be obtained if business is to be improved.

We have come to expect chicanery from certain elements of our industry, but that a representative member of the fourth estate aids in knifing a man who cannot fight back, is a sad commentary upon the vaunted freedom of the press.

▽ ▽ ▽

"MANAGERS' WEEKS"

A welcome addition to the usual festivities, anniversaries, drives and what have-yous, is the "Manager's Week" idea now more or less prevalent in various sectors. Ralph Crabill's Warner boys, in Lou Lazar's zone, have been doing a good job in this respect, especially Wally Allen, Elmira City Manager, who skillfully and discreetly put it on in the form of a celebration of his tenth anniversary in show business.

Here is an excellent example of a manager who employed his community standing to tilt his theatre grosses and enhance his company's prestige. Obviously, the campaign needed careful guidance, for it could easily have boomeranged to the disadvantage of the box office.

That he did so profitable a job is as good a reason as any why showmen should not neglect the possibilities of their local contacts, a setup that able supervisors are wise in encouraging.

BUT THIS IS NO GAG

In spite of the many warnings, managers are still putting on prize drawings, in direct violation of Part 3, Section I, Article V-E of the code on "Unfair Practices." The cash giveaway is a lottery and therefore is out, but this seems to make no never-mind to those showmen who are working this slant, code or no code. Whether they are doing it on their own, or are forced to ignore the regulations is neither here nor there. The fact that they are placing obstacles in the way of measures aimed to insure more profitable operation places them in an embarrassing position.

Which reminds us of the story of the colored gent, standing on a corner and mumbling. A friend sauntered up and asked what he was doing, to which the darky replied—"I'se talkin' to mahself, and doesn't want no answer."

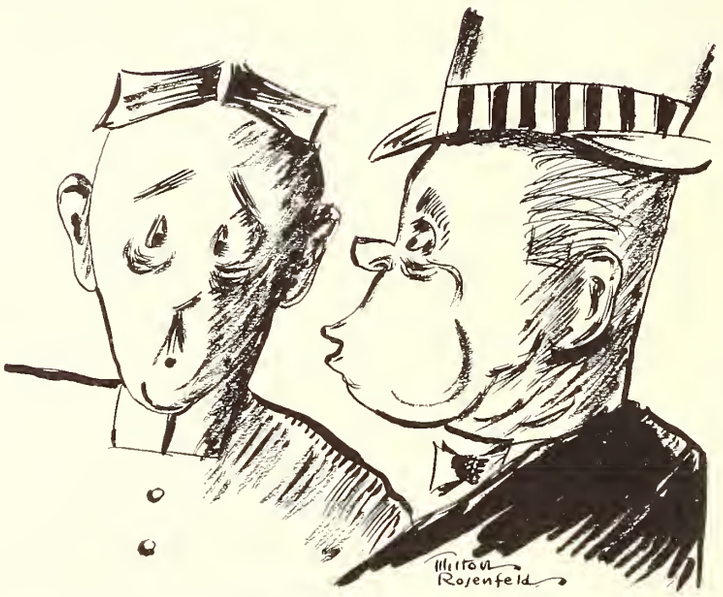
▽ ▽ ▽

ALIVE AND - - KICKING

Far from petering out, the poster art series is very much alive in these pages. Members are still being heard from, encouraged no doubt by Vincent Trotta's able analysis in a recent issue.

Mr. Trotta heads the art and poster departments at Paramount and in this capacity his opinions carry more than incidental weight. His acceptance of our invitation to take part in the discussion has helped to clarify the atmosphere and should encourage others in similar situations to contribute their thoughts on this important subject.

▽ ▽ ▽



THAT'S SHOWMANSHIP

Manager M. Allen runs the Lido, a neighborhood second run up on Fordham Road, in the Bronx section of New York, where theatres are as thick as raisins in rice pudding, and competition therefore more than keen. Playing "Miss Fane's Baby" on the day the Gettle kidnapers were captured and the Robles girl returned, Allen tied his attraction into this smash headline story with a throwaway (reproduced on next page) that was perfectly timed and brought a flock of extra admissions.

So, for the umpteenth time, in reply to the question—what's showmanship—that, boys and gals, is showmanship.

A. Mike Vogel

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS!

MUGG: May I sit upstairs in the operator's booth? Mechanical things fascinate me.

Trade Screenings Click for Ableson

A. E. Ableson, World Theatre, Omaha, Neb., has started trade screenings of shorts and found them very popular.

Distributing 5x11 heralds he told the public that the World Theatre patrons have been selected as a "Test Audience" for special trade screenings of the latest shorts. Official bookers, critics and managers were present to note the reaction of each subject to determine which of them would play the theatres in Omaha and elsewhere.

Ableson's herald also bore copy to the effect that there would be no advance in admission and encouraged his patrons to get up theatre parties to be among the first to pass judgment on the latest studio productions. These trade screenings are to be held every Monday at his house. Trailers on his screen and other houses of same circuit ads, and special fronts are erected for use on days of showings.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Reeve Inaugurates An "In-Personation" Nite

Henry Reeve, owner-manager of the Mission Theatre in Menard, Texas, sends along an excellent stunt that sounds as though it can be put on to good advantage in many anothefr spot.

When he played "Six of a Kind" he tied in with the high school and put on what he called a "Hollywood Preview In-Personation." The members of the Senior Class put on a vaudeville show in which those participating impersonated the various stars in the picture.

It was put on under the guidance of the Class Mother and Henry says it was a box-office natural and the whole stunt was worked without much bother to anyone. One meeting with the Class to cast them and two rehearsals in the theatre was all that was necessary and Reeve tells us that it made a lot of good friends for him and a good time was had by all.

Gene and Ken Click With Clothing Contest

Gene Curtis and Ken Finlay continue to put over those big time contests, their latest reported on "Melody in Spring" being a hookup with leading clothiers who gave men's suits to those guessing number of hand stitches required in the tailoring of one of the garments. "Melody in Spring" permanent wave treatments were promoted as prizes for the women winners for the date at the Palace, Montreal.

Leading department stores plugged collar and cuff set worn by Ann Southern. Men's shop tied in on Lanny Ross hats, drug stores served sundaes named after title and leading restaurant gave free tickets in a lucky number gag.

NOW LIDO NEWS EXTRA

IN FORDHAM—IT'S THE LIDO!

Phone SEDGWICK 3-5200 TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, MAY 15-16-17 M. P. A.

GETTLE RESCUED

2 KIDNAPPERS CAPTURED

ROBLES BABY RETURNED

FOUND SAFE IN DESERT

DETAILS IN ALL DAILY PAPERS

TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY, MAY 15th, 16th and 17th

ALICE BRADY-DOROTHEA WIECK-BABY LEROY

—in—

"MISS FANE'S BABY IS STOLEN"

MOTHER MOURNS LOSS OF CHILD

DETAILS OF THE CRIME AND THRILLING RESCUE

NOW SHOWING

EXCLUSIVELY AT THE

LIDO THEATRE

FORDHAM ROAD and JEROME AVENUE

SMART SHOWMANSHIP. Manager Allen, of the Lido, New York, cooked up this quick throwaway idea on "Miss Fane's Baby" to tie in to the spot news on recent kidnappings. Very attractive and effective.

Ace Story Breaks On O'Brien's Parade

Putting over a prize costume parade which secured the finest kind of support from his local paper enabled Manager George D. O'Brien, Miller Theatre, Woodstock, Ill., to whip over an outstanding campaign on "David Harum."

The gag was called a "Harum Scarum" parade and "Uncle O'Bie," as he is known all through that section, promoted 50 prizes which were given to the youngsters for fattest, skinniest, tallest, shortest, most original costumes, prettiest and funniest costumes, and scores of other categories to fit the appearances of almost all the paraders.

Unusual were the breaks that O'Bie obtained from his daily which broke the opening story on page one with an eight-column, streamer head, "Kids to Parade Saturday." This was tied into a well devised double truck of merchants' co-op ads in which O'Brien called the picture one of the best he had shown and endorsed it strongly.

The following day also brought an extensive front-page story, the same treatment being obtained when the winners were announced. Over 300 boys and girls with their dogs, cats, chickens, parrots, and other pets paraded before streets crowded with spectators who had come from miles around to see the fun.

This stunt has many possibilities, and managers desiring a full list of the classifications, prizes and other details might drop a line to O'Brien, who no doubt would be glad to furnish the necessary information.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Mel Morrison Puts On "Joy Week" in Portland

"Let Joy Be Refined" was Mel Morrison's slogan when he put over a "Joy Week" at the Maine Theatre, Portland, Maine. Working on the premise that laughing is good for the soul, he showed only light-hearted films for the entire week.

He put on a "Fill-In" contest in his paper showing the heads of Laurel and Hardy and Charlie Chase with the features blank asking the public at large to show how good an artist they were by filling in the expressions. Twenty persons submitting the most characteristic faces given two tickets.

Two Chatter Columns in the papers played up the week, public address system used to plug show one week in advance, mat on sidewalk with copy "Enter Here for Laffs" and a tie-up with Western Union with a teletype machine in lobby with operator giving out boost show, were a few of the high-lights.

In addition he got out a warrant trick herald, tire covers, a local carver did a wood-cut of Laurel and Hardy that was planted in a drugstore, street bally of clown sandwich-man, menus in restaurants and radio broadcast also formed part of his mirth-provoking campaign.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Neale's Market Bags

H. C. Neale, Princess Theatre, Mayfield, Ky., sends along a neatly imprinted paper bag that a local market uses to pack their groceries. Bag carries theatre's announcement for week and also asks patrons desiring to have programs mailed to their homes, to leave their name at the box office.

Allen's Anniversary Frame

Tenth Anniversary Big Week For Allen

Giving the anniversary idea a different twist, Wally Allen, Warner city manager, Elmira, N. Y., put on a very profitable week at the Keeney to celebrate his tenth year in show business. Utilizing his community standing to the advantage of his box office, Wally secured plenty of daily newspaper breaks a week ahead and through the entire celebration week, including a three column cartoon with birthday congratulations.

Fifteen wires from Warner, M-G-M and Paramount stars were promoted, planted in large lobby frame (see photo) and local Postal office solicited merchants to wire likewise. The station over which Allen broadcasts his weekly Hollywood hour put on a special anniversary program in his honor, many listeners sending in felicitations.

Giant birthday cake with congratulatory copy was gift of local bakery displayed in lobby and flowers were also donated by leading florists. All local Warner theatre employees threw a party for this popular member, and nothing was neglected to make this a big money week, at the same time adding to Wally's local standing, which, of course, further benefits the prestige of the Warner theatres under his supervision.

Work For a Quigley Award!

McCleary Engineers Two "Palooka" Contests

Two contests, one with the newspaper and the other with the radio station, were put on by Charlie McCleary, Loew's Regent, Harrisburg, Pa., for "Palooka."

For six days in advance of opening the newspaper ran a limerick contest and the radio station a Lucky Listeners' contest, mentioning names over the air each night. The following morning persons whose names had been mentioned, identified themselves at the box-office and were given passes. Names were selected at random from the telephone book.

A fifteen-minute sketch was also put on over the air and orchestrations of the tunes were planted with all hotels and clubs. In addition to this there was a house to house distribution of heralds, window cards, streamers and cards on all taxis. Lobby was decorated with scene stills and life-sized cut-outs of Durante.

Governor Sholtz Praises Golden at Award Ceremony

By RICHARD G. MOFFETT
Special Correspondent

(Picture in Pictorial Section)

In the presence of Mayor John T. Alsop, Jr., of Jacksonville, assembled State National Guard and Naval Militia officials, and M. C. Moore, managing director, Riverside Theatre, David Sholtz, Governor of Florida, in a ceremony at the Duval County Armory on Wednesday night, May 16, presented to Walter L. Golden the April Quigley Award. Spectators filled the balconies to view the proceedings that included the mustering in of a Naval Reserves unit by the Executive.

In making the presentation, the Governor said:

"Florida once again has been signally honored in the acknowledgment of the power of expression and ability of one of our citizens, Walter L. Golden, exploitation manager of the Riverside Theatre, of Jacksonville. Mr. Golden, for your talented and effective advertising display of the motion picture 'Nana,' you have been awarded, by the unanimous decision of three judges, the Martin Quigley trophy. It is remarkable that in international competition with the managers of playhouses in all parts of the globe, your work here in Jacksonville should receive such great praise.

"As the Chief Executive of the Great State of Florida, I congratulate you heartily. Florida is proud to have numbered among its citizens, men of your ability. I am happy to deliver to you now this beautiful plaque, you have achieved."

Mr. Golden rose from the ranks as theatre usher and during his seven years in the theatre business has served as assistant manager, maintenance man, advertising manager and exploitation man. He joined the Riverside Theatre under M. C. Moore, manager, as exploitation man with the reopening of the Riverside in September.

Star's Mother Attends "Earth Turns" Premiere

Jean Muir's mother resides in Ridgewood, N. J., which gave Manager Frank Costa, of the Warner Theatres, sufficient excuse to tie this in in a citywide celebration, engineered by the Chamber of Commerce, Mayor, school heads, etc. Weeks thead, publicity was started to bring the premiere to Ridgewood.

School art classes were tied into Jean Muir sketch contest, star stills planted in many windows throughout county, and Frank also put on Hollywood opening attended by Miss Muir's mother, students of local school attended by star and local celebrities.

MAY JUDGES AND MAY DEADLINE

The following have been chosen to select the Quigley Award winner for May:

W. Ray Johnston, president, Monogram Pictures; S. Barret McCormick, advertising manager RKO Radio Pictures, and Leo Brecher, president, Leo Brecher Theatrical Enterprises.

The May deadline is to be midnight, Sunday, May 3. All entries must be at Committee Headquarters by that time to receive prize consideration. Please do not delay in forwarding campaigns.

Remember that visual evidence must accompany all campaigns, such as photos, tear sheets, samples of heralds, ads, etc. —MIKE

Merchants Cooperate on Nelson's "Empire Week"

Under sponsorship of Manager Jack Nelson, Capitol Theatre, North Bay, Ont., many profitable community "weeks" had been put over, his latest being a "Buy Empire Products Week" put on in conjunction with his showing of "Life Story of the Prince of Wales."

Leading citizens made daily broadcasts plugging the idea, and cooperation was also obtained from the local post of the Canadian Legion by putting the picture on under their auspices. Each member was given a certain number of tickets to sell and thus the city was thoroughly canvassed.

School essay contest on the life of the Prince was tied in to a newspaper which ran editorials on the winning entries, and another clicker was a decorated lobby exhibition of British made goods, the space divided into booths and rented to merchants. Windows in all prominent stores advertised the idea, co-op ads and newspaper stories, pennants and streamers also helping. Parade on opening day in which services of railway brass band were promoted brought further attention to the "week," with band giving concert in front of theatre.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Book Tieups Feature Lynch's "Catherine" Date

Book stores were tied in solidly on Manager C. A. Lynch's drive for business on "Catherine the Great" at the Allen Theatre, Cleveland, many of these outlets devoting their entire windows to the book edition of the picture. Besides stills, 40 by 60 enlargements were used. Book marks were distributed at libraries, stills and announcements placed on their bulletin boards.

"Flying Down To Rio" Put Over in Shanghai

Some very fine exploitation was put over by Manager Richter, aided by Assistant Manager Obzuma at the Metropol Theatre, Shanghai, China, in cooperation with J. P. Koehler, publicity director for Peacock, Chinese distributors for RKO.

The flying theme was effectively carried out on the neon-lighted front with a series of small model planes (see photo), and the marquee display also attracted attention. Six radio stations played the music hits and tieups were made on the records in all music stores. Leading night clubs also cooperated, many putting on the Carioca number as an extra feature. The steps of this dance were explained in a broadside, instructions printed both in Chinese and in English.

This campaign is in line with the fine work that is being done by the overseas' showmen operating in the Oriental countries. The boys out in that section of the world are sure stepping fast.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Daily Gives Prizes on Swanke's "Scandals" Idea

Arthur Swanke did a lot of fancy promoting in putting over his date on "George White's Scandals" at the Saenger, Hope, Ark., tying in his newspaper on a contest in which cash prizes were given by the daily for the most complete lists of actual national scandals, such as Teapot Dome, etc. Paper broke this with front page stories and publicized it further with generous sized display ads.

Arthur got out a snappy herald, the copy on which shouted, "Scandal at the City Hall," to the effect that the Mayor and Council had all requested seats to see the picture. Restaurants and insurance agents were among others who were promoted for heralds tying in the title, merchants also used it in their advertising, grocery bags were imprinted and good windows obtained.

Further good advertising was effected by Swanke, who sold the local high school superintendent to announce over the school loudspeaker system to the general assembly room, a plug for the picture in which the theatre and date were mentioned.

Work For a Quigley Award!

MacLevy Draws Interest With Marquee Fortress

Without the advantages of newspaper publicity, Manager Monty MacLevy concentrates on fronts, house to house program distribution, school tieups, etc., and put these all into effect on "Lost Patrol" at the Savoy Theatre, Brooklyn, N. Y.

His marquee on this date carried out the fortress idea from the picture (see photo), construction being compo board painted stone grey. Round cylinders were used for guns and a properly costumed sentry did patrol duty and blew the regulation bugle calls at the proper hours. Monty carried the effect further by planting a drummer in the fort who also, at intervals, discharged blank cartridges.

The inner lobby display was very elaborate, covering an entire side wall with a six sheet cutout of McLaglen, title and rest of cast. A real tribal sheik, a native of Egypt, added to the effect seated in front of a striped tent overhung by a desert palm tree, fine sand giving desert effect.

Shanghai "Rio" Front

Lassman's Illuminated Display

Havana "Girlie" Bally

MacLevy's Fort on Marquee

Best of the outside stunts was a special "stamps" children's matinee where each one attending received a copy of a stamp magazine and a free package of stamps. This angle was also featured in a mezzanine display where also were shown foreign medals, swords and stamp envelope autographed by Karloff and McLaglen.

Garry Lassman Uses Illuminated Signs

Hanging flags of all nations on entire front walls of the Avon, Utica, N. Y., was only a part of the activities that Garry Lassman engineered when he played "Lost Patrol."

Illuminated 40 x 60 displays were placed on side walls of theatre (see photo) three days in advance of opening. Radio announcements, six sheet ballyhoo car touring Utica and neighboring towns plugged picture for two days. Miniature book display in five and ten cent and boy in uniform blowing bugle calls from top of marquee every half hour attracted attention. Man dressed in Arab's costume walked through the business section of town, heralds printed in two-colors on both sides were distributed by Press carriers.

For "Earth Turns" he called on all the Women's Clubs telling them about the picture and also contacted the school teachers. Special front was prepared selling the "bunkless" picture. A book display and Fay Wray fashion stills were among the other angles plugged.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Garrett and Garcia Dress Up Lobby

From Havana, Cuba, comes an account of their campaign put on for "Little Women" by manager Heliodoro Garcia of the Nacional Theatre and RKO representative Charles B. Garrett.

Their lobby was dressed (see photo) with heralds and four attractive girls carrying copies of the book. Girls dressed as the characters in the picture visited all government offices, public buildings, stores, etc., and distributed miniature novels of the book to prominent society people.

The photo shows Garrett to the left and Garcia at right.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Paper Promotes Sonny's Gown Design Contest

Sonny Shepherd planted, for very good results, the press book Cinema Shop national gown designing contest on "Stand Up and Cheer" at the Mayfair, Miami, Fla., tying this in to the Homemakers' Club, an institutional readers' fashion organization sponsored by one of the local papers. In addition to the national prizes, winner of the local contest was given a cash award and passes to others whose designs were out of the ordinary. Paper sent out 1,000 letters to club members and broke the publicity with front page stories followed with cuts and fashion page publicity for two weeks in advance.

A classified tieup returned a lot of valuable free space, and also profitable was a chain grocery hookin wherein the title was used as follows in all advertising "Stand Up and Cheer for Our New Low Price Policy." Heralds in hotel key boxes, cards in large apartment houses and four-foot standees in prominent stores were other things that Sonny featured.

The theme of the story was commented upon on the editorial page of the afternoon paper with the title and theatre prominently mentioned, this being far from the least of Sonny's newspaper endeavors, which he reports returned him over 350 inches of free display space, publicity and cuts.

Boucher Plugs Date With Usher Card

Before leaving for Winchester to again act as publicity chief for the world famed Apple Blossom Festival, in which he has served for the past three years, Frank Boucher lined up some excellent stuff on various attractions, well executed being a card handed to patrons by ushers headed: "I beg your pardon—this is a message from your usher," with some snappy selling copy on "It Happened One Night."

On "Wonder Bar," Frank distributed memo pads, copy in box at bottom, and on "Eskimo" distributed circus heralds in offices, banks, hotels, laundry packages and house to house.

Incidentally, Frank did a swell job on the Apple Festival, his appointment and photo being front-paged in many newspapers. The fact that he was selected for the third consecutive year to act in this important capacity is an indication of his showmanship and ability to spread the word.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Louis Lamm Puts On "Spitfire" Campaign

Louis Lamm, Capitol, Elyria, Ohio, sent personal letters to the ministers, women's clubs, P. T. A. and schools endorsing "Spitfire" when it played his house.

Programs that didn't cost him a cent, because of paid ads, were distributed from house to house, fifty window cards in prominent stores, cards in all local busses and newspaper ads formed part of his campaign.

In his program, Louie gave a brief biography of Hepburn's previous successes and also took the opportunity to get a plug in for his coming attractions. A small box at the bottom of page gave credit to the merchants of Elyria for making possible the issuance of the little weekly program.

Work For a Quigley Award!

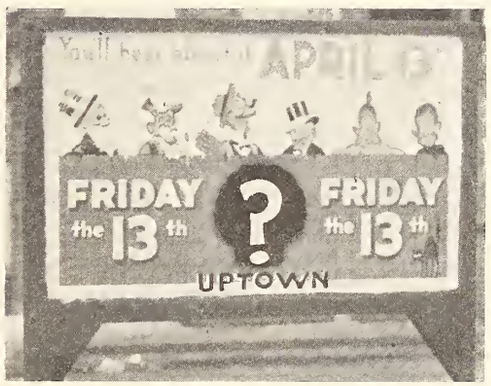
Harold Lissner Ties In on Telephone Idea

A new contributor in the person of Harold M. Lissner, Howard Theatre, Taylor, Texas, sends us his "Wonder Bar" campaign.

Harold tells us his town has a population of 7,500 and he employed one of the telephone operators to call every telephone subscriber and tell them about his picture. Ten days in advance of opening a thirty foot banner was hung across the street.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Joe Scholer Goes In For Street Ballys



J. J. Scholer, Ohio Theatre, Sandusky, Ohio, had one of the city's "finest" pose next to his "Death" notice (see photo). He started a safety campaign and sent out a special letter to school teachers and all women's clubs.

On "As the Earth Turns" he had an especially constructed oversided copy of the book made with castors on the bottom and a man pulling the street bally through the streets. Needless to say the book bore copy on the picture, theatre and playdates. A neat and inexpensive bally for any town and can be adapted for other pictures. Lobby displays, serial story in miniature planted in paper ten days in advance, merchant tie-ups and announcement in school rooms through loud speaker were other highlights of his campaign.

For "We're Not Dressing" he used another street bally of two girls in barrels, dressed in bathing suits touring with copy "Don't Look! We're Not Dressing, we're going to Earners Ohio Theatre in a barrel." O. K. if you can get away with it and apparently Joe did, most satisfactorily.

Brainos' Caricature Lobby

Lamm's Teaser Billboard

Oliver's Window Display

Scholer's "Death" Notice

Friday, The 13th, Tied In To Lamm's "Bar" Campaign

Bookings necessitated his opening the picture on Friday, the 13th, so Julius Lamm took advantage of the superstition which he featured strongly in all his advertising on the "Wonder Bar" date at the Uptown Theatre, Cleveland. The town was plastered with stickers copy reading: "You Can't Go Wrong Friday, the 13th, If You Attend the Opening, etc., etc.," and the idea was further carried out in his outdoor posting (see photo).

Rubber mat from the curb to box office with title lettered upon it was also new enough to create interest and besides many music stores, radio and night club hookups on the songs, Julius secured good newspaper coverage in the downtown sheets as well as in his neighborhood dailies. Special three-way lobby board constructed at a cost of two dollars was also commendable.

Lamm reports this the first big attraction to open on a week day, but the "13" angle coupled with his other ideas put over at an entire cost of less than $90 was good enough to roll up more than a satisfying gross.

Work For a Quigley Award!

G. Brainos Turns Out Attractive Lobbies

Not to be outdone by his brother members on this side of the ocean, G. Brainos, manager of the Crystal, Palace and Rex Theatres in Brussels, Belgium, sends graphic proof (see photo) of his attractive lobby.

With papier-mache caricatured bodies of Laurel and Hardy generously scattered, he sets up two large panels on one of which he placed all the stills on the comedy and the other scenes from his feature "The Zone of Death." Brainos displays much interest in our Awards, as do all our foreign members.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Oliver Puts Over an Inexpensive Campaign

Charles J. Oliver, Sharum Theatre, Walnut Ridge, Ark., went out hot and heavy to sell "Fashions of 1934" and tells us the entire campaign set him back only $1.50, material for display plus five passes.

For a week in advance he put his p. a. into work plugging the picture. The next day found him working for a full page cooperative ad. Since he was trying to convey that the film was not merely a fashion or style show he got as many ads as possible from various businesses. His and neighboring towns were covered with handbills which were paid for by the co-op ad, which, covered cost of his own ads.

A down-town store window (see photo) displayed a hand painted head of the stars and the lettering was in silver tinsel spotted with blue and red. Saturday before opening, chief operator at telephone company called a list of theatregoers informing them of the opening.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Shirt Backer Gets Play

Roy E. Williams of the Waldo, Kansas City, Mo., house managed by John Creamer, sends us a cardboard shirt back as used by laundries on which in bold black letters is printed "For Men Only," and in smaller letters, "Do not forget to bring Mother and the children." Then follows title, cast and playdates of picture.

"LET'S GET OUT OF THE RUT"

More Action, Says Sparks Circuit Member in Article Suggested by His Zone Manager Jesse L. Clark

by JACK HODGES

Florida, Jacksonville, Fla.

The old farmer climbed into the wagon. A look of satisfaction and content spread over his face. Old Mother Soil had certainly been mighty kind to him this year. Never had he reaped a greater crop or sold it at such high profits. Yes, things were certainly looking bright this year, thought the old farmer as he tied the reins to the whipstock and called "Giddup" to old dobbin. The old horse had traveled this same road home many times in years gone by and the farmer settled down to his thinking knowing that the horse would follow the familiar ruts made deeper each year by daily pressure of the wagon wheels.

Jack Hodges

And very easily can this little story above be compared with our present day theatre business. Way back yonder, when moving pictures were young, people clamored to see them. Things came so easy—showmen dropped into "the rut" made deep and easy to follow by years of good times: posted their one sheet out front, and dozed off to sleep like the old farmer who tied the reins to the whipstock and allowed his horse to follow "the rut" back home.

When moving pictures first came out they were a great hit with a big majority of the public and soon advanced from the 200 foot subject to the ten reel million dollar production. Business picked up. Million dollar theatre palaces replaced the antiquated nickelodeons of that day. The theatre industry advanced to take its place as one of the leading industries of the world. Some far-seeing theatre managers displayed their increased knowledge of the moving picture business by replacing their one sheets out front with three sheets, and business again thrived.

Enter, The Talkies

Then, came talking pictures, giving us the greatest amusement value the world has ever known. We went to the front in a body and sold this new commodity to an entertainment eager public. This new entertainment value brought about a change in the amusement world that even the wisest of us never dreamed could take place. It gave us a new angle of selling that was very much needed at the time. Most of us took advantage of this new angle and adjusted ourselves to fit in with the new scheme of things. We broadened our knowledge of this new show world, things again took on a brighter outlook and we prospered. A few short years of this and we are again like the old farmer—we are allowing ourselves to get back in "the rut," a very unhealthy condition.

Let's not allow ourselves to become like the managers of the nickelodeons. We've got to get out of 'the rut" and move with and moving pictures. The highway is paved and we've got to be new showmen to put us back on the highway. We have real entertainment for sale. Let's sell it to the public.

The showman who survives will be the one who jerks the reins and yells, "Giddup!" Let's do things and we'll get out of the rut and back onto the paved highways of prosperity.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Class Spot Well Sold

Well done are Manager Weinberg's program and general advertising to sell the Little Tlieatre, Baltimore, Md., as a class spot. His institutional four page booklet copy, headed "An Intimate Chat on an Intimate Playhouse," contains information on the house policy, illustrated with shots of front and auditorium. Inserts with quotes from local college publications are also used to plug the class appeal of this theatre.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Wright Stresses Peace Angle on "All Quiet"

Playing a return engagement of "All Quiet" called for putting the old beano to work, and that's what Dick Wright, Warner's Strand, Akron, Ohio, did recently.

Dressing his front up (see photo) was but a beginner. An ad in Veterans News, with a circulation of eight thousand, was mailed to members of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, etc. Letters to educators regarding the return engagement and merit of encouraging the school children to see it as peace propaganda was also stressed.

A tie-up with classified department of the newspaper netted thirty-five inches display space gratis. Window cards and special roller type trailer with personal message was run three weeks in advance of play date.

Wright's "Quiet" Front

Seasonal Athletic Tieups Suggested

It has been proven that there are many profit potentialities in well conducted seasonal athletic tieups. Sporting goods stores and other merchants catering to the younger element usually will cooperate on competitions at playgrounds and on theatre stage. Here are some that have served well:

Theatre Ball Team

Has been put over with kid clubs and also with house employees. In either case, managers have promoted uniforms and equipment or have secured these at a lower price. Teams have been entered in local sand lot baseball leagues, with manager or assistant acting as representative. As teams invariably are named after theatre, resultant newspaper publicity and name on uniforms helps to keep theatre in public eye.

Track Meet

Can be put on in cooperation with local school athletic heads, boy scouts, and where practical, with adult athletic clubs. Meet, consisting of conventional events, can be held at park or playground, with judges, starters, clerks of course, etc., selected from well known locals, sport writers and track fans.

Prizes on this can be promoted and might include passes. Merchants cooperating could display prizes in windows, and this could be done in lobby plus possible mention of stores in trailer.

Parade of all entrants, officials with band from theatre to playground is suggested. News reel pictures of this and of events should make good draw. Prizes should be awarded by Mayor or other prominent official from stage. If meet is held in morning, presentations could be made at special children's matinee; or if plan is elaborated to include adult competition, this could be done during regular evening performance.

A few years ago, Columbia Pictures' Buck Jones Club organization worked the track idea in various spots where it was reported to be quite successful. The star sponsorship idea might be adapted in some of the prizes and presentations.

Bike and Skate Shows

As a novelty for stage shows during kid matinees or regular performances, novelty and trick contests for local skaters and bicyclists have possibilities—that is, where stage size permits, if any. Some time ago we discussed this idea with national advertiser who wanted to put these contests on in tieups with local dealers. It still sounds healthy.

Outdoors, the bike and skate gag might be tied into the track meet or put on by itself. When worked in this manner, speed races are suggested in addition.

Where given a fair shake in publicity and advertising, local sports goods stores would no doubt be willing to donate worthwhile prizes of skates and other athletic equipment.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Weiss' Giant Banner

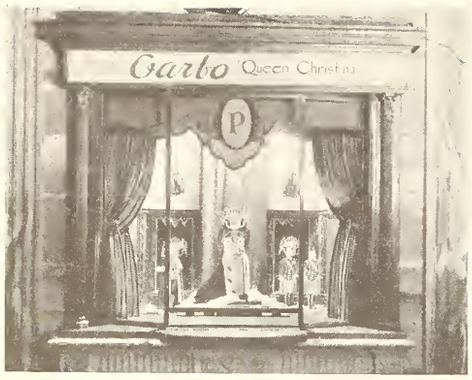
Al Weiss, Jr., Olympia Theatre, Miami, Fla., recently played "Queen Christina" at his house and erected a twelve foot wide by seventy feet long vertical sign with just the words "Garbo" lettered on it. Sign reached from top of marquee to six stories above theatre and could be seen blocks away.

BOSS OR LEADER?

WHICH should management be—a leader to the subordinate members of an organization, or merely—and arbitrarily—the boss? The question is applicable generally, but here we refer specifically to the motion picture theatre organization, of a circuit or an individual theatre.

Whether well founded or not, there is a belief, often bitterly, though cautiously expressed, that favoritism and jealousy have greater force in the supervision of theatre personnel than merit. It is said that the employe quickly learns that to keep his job, his adaptability to that job should consist chiefly in knowing how to play to the self-interest of the manager, who in turn plays to the self-interest of his own immediate superior, who does likewise, and thus the "system" proceeds up and unto the Big Boss. There must be many exceptions to this—but also, where there is smoke, there must be fire. Yet it is certainly true that—

"The science of personnel management cannot be approached with any hope of success by those who through presumption, pride or egotism do not fully appreciate how absolutely dependent this motion picture industry is on its man power. Few industries require so great an assortment of trained specialists as our own. . . . " It is high time that this be remembered—and also that—



"For every man who has been successful in this business there have been tens and hundreds who have fallen by the wayside, and each failure represents in dollars and cents and time a non-profitable investment for the industry."

We quote from J. T. Knight, Jr., writing in the May 5th issue of BETTER THEATRES on "Personnel Training and Supervision," which is to be followed by another and more detailed discussion of this subject in next BETTER THEATRES, the June 2d issue.

J. T. Knight, Jr., outstanding specialist in theatre operation and engineering, who is contributing exclusively to BETTER THEATRES on the problems and processes of theatre management.

¶ Do you maintain a systematic check on your projection conditions and costs? For protection and efficiency, every manager should. Each theatre or circuit has its own peculiar requirements, but a proper system can certainly be worked out from a detailed general plan developed for this purpose to be presented, complete, in the June 2d issue of Better Theatres.

COMPELLING. Above illustrates another of Erle Wright's distinctive inner lobby box-office displays at the Palace, New Haven. Erle says that this flash on "Queen Christina" is the most successful he has yet shown.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Fitz Cooperates with Parent-Teachers' Ass'n

Floyd Fitzsimmons, Grove, Freeport, L. I., has been staging Saturday morning all Walt Disney program for the kiddies.

Cooperating with the Parent-Teachers Association, he opened a contest to all youngsters on the best letter giving reasons why these or similar shows should be held at the Grove monthly. The winner of the contest is to be judged by the P-T-A and Fitz and will receive four tickets to the show, the second, three tickets, and the third, two; good only for the Saturday morning performances.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Yours—for Better Box Office Receipts

★ STAGE EQUIPMENT WITH A REPUTATION ★

Are You Drifting Along or Leading the Way?

Are you just "showing pictures" or are you trying to make your theatre the popular house in your neighborhood or community? Successful operators know that in order to get the crowds they must do more than exhibit pictures. They must have a sense of showmanship that "keeps them coming."

* * *

Peter Clark equipment has helped to lift many theatres out of the rut of the commonplace and convert them into money-makers. Consult with us and get our ideas about modernizing your equipment.

CORRESPONDENCE INVITED

PETER CLARK, INC.
ESTABLISHED 1905
542 WEST 30th ST., NEW YORK

Kunze's Signature Stunt Great Plug for "Scandals"

Topping the usual house staff whispering campaign to smoke up interest on a coming date, Paul Kunze, who skippers the Old Colony and Plymouth theatres, Plymouth, Mass., sent all the house employees out with signature pads, copy headed with "I am interested in the showing of 'George White's Scandals,' etc., etc." Paul offered prizes to those bringing in the greatest number of signatures and thus obtained the written endorsements of thousands of local residents.

"Scandals" dance contest was put on with ballroom every night of the week ahead, cash prizes and tickets being given in the finals, which took place at the theatre during the run. Imprinted megaphones were distributed at Saturday kid shows, door knob hangers put out on Saturday night to take advantage of Sunday closing and a tieup with newspaper distributor allowed Kunze to stuff tabloids into every Sunday paper delivered within a 20-mile radius.

Many other ideas were put over, commendable being showing of picture at county hospital, which returned stories in all newspapers. Paul states that his newspaper cooperation was exceptional, more space being given the attraction than any date played at the theatre in some time.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Steven Ties in Church On "Dancing Lady"

Tying in with the Church to put over "Dancing Lady" is a worthwhile stunt, and that's what Walter D. Steven did at the California in Dunsmuir, Cal., when he played the picture at his house.

The Catholic Church was having an annual dance and Walt thought it would be a good idea to choose the most popular "Dancing Lady" at the dance. At the end of each orchestra, boxes and pads for voting were placed conspicuously with an usher from the theatre in attendance. The first evening of the run of the picture two of the most popular girls were presented with passes to the theatre and the most popular received a two months' pass, the second a month's pass and presentations were made on the stage.

It created a great deal of interest not only at the dance, but brought in extra dollars at the box-office to say nothing of the resultant good-will.

CROWD STOPPER. Harry Furst's street bally on "Registered Nurse" at the Palace, Lawrence, Mass. The girl distributed envelopes with copy reading "They won't let me talk," theatre card inside telling all.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Laby Teaches Raftero For Holdover Business

Much energy and little money were expended by Manager George Laby on his "Bolero" date at the Victory, Holyoke, Mass., during Holy Week, George reporting excellent business as a result of this campaign, which featured the teaching of the Raftero dance done in the picture. Leading local dancing instructor was promoted to put on exhibition as a stage attraction.

Dance idea was carried out further by tiein with shoe store where heralds were distributed describing steps of the dance. Store also donated dancing shoes as prizes in contest. Leading ballrooms cooperated by displaying posters and putting on dance.

A street stunt that helped was put on by the service staff, who paraded the downtown section in twos, stopping at various traffic corners to go into a discussion on the way to do the dance.

Work For a Quigley Award!

King Lets 'Em Know His House Is "Cool"

Not stressing his "cool" house too much, E. C. King, Rourke Theatre, La Junta, Colo., gets out a neat little house program, cover of which shows Mickey Mouse standing on the marquee with a broad smile and hand extended, saying, "A swell show in cool comfort."

ROUND TABLE BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

Wally Allen
R. E. Archibald
Richard J. Ashman
Albert F. Avey
John J. Baker
Arch. Bartholet
Ken. P. Behr
Steve Bennis
Jack Berry
William W. Burton
C. E. Byars
J. Glenn Caldwell
Robert C. Cannom
Dave Cantor
Jack Clifford
Carroll Coffell
Burton J. Coughlan
William Dabb
Walter A. Dyman
Hermann Egnolff
Pedro Gelabert, Jr.
Germain Germain
James T. Grady
William A. Guinan
Jay H. Guthrie
Ray S. Helson
Nat Holt
Wayne T. Jenkins
Elmer W. Johnson
Frank V. Kennebeck
Charles Kirkconnel
Gary Lassman
A. H. Lawter
Joe Laurie
E. R. Millican
Albert H. Myers
Wallace Nordby
George V. Pittsley
James E. Poynter
E. A. Rambonet
H. E. Rehfield
Paul G. Robinson
Roy H. Rowe
David R. Sablosky
S. R. Scott
Joe W. Seabold
Silvert Setron
Willard W. Sides
Dave Silverman
Alice Simmons
Bill Slater
Maurice E. Sperling
Charles C. Stanfield
W. Steiner
M. W. Swank
W. M. Troxel
B. J. Vanderby
John P. Vogt
John T. Ward
Art Warner
Laurence P. Weaver
Heinrich Weitzel
H. A. Winkler

Members Report On Cooling Activities

A few issues back we ran a column or so of cooling stuff, outlining some of the old reliables. Since then, various members have reported on what they intend doing and what they have done in this respect.

Wally Allen
Keeney, Elmira, N. Y.

Last year had girls from stage show take shower in sprinkler on roof. Froze a sign in ice cake, placed on busy corner, and also used dollar bill in ice cake with crowds waiting for it to melt and grab the buck. Had doctor make inspection of cooling plant and pronounce it healthful to counteract opinions of patrons who thought otherwise.

Wally is staying away from the conventional bear and ice stuff, as it is too hackneyed and overdone. He has used girl in shorts to sell cooling idea.

Gene Curtis
Palace, Montreal, Canada

Gene conducted a successful contest to make patrons "cooling conscious," using a slogan idea to give the dope about manufactured weather. First prize was promoted refrigerator, dealers also paying for series of ads and contributing windows, entry blanks,

Hal Kopplin
Wometco Theatres, Miami, Fla.

Hal is working on "icicles" to be made from cotton batten and dipped into ordinary egg preservative (silicate of soda). The icicles are then hung and as the silicate is transparent, Hal says the dripping simulates real ice melting. Icicles are redipped second day, and Kopplin says after two or three applications give off a real icy appearance.

John McManus
Midland, Kansas City, Mo.

John has completely overhauled his machinery, finishing up with a painting job of gray, black, red and white. Spray pond and fence on roof all painted in battleship gray. "Cooling valance" has been retouched with bathing girls, waves, white caps and ice blocks spelling out "It's cooler inside."

Snappy is this member's plan to again promote a barge on water front on which is to be erected 24s with cooling copy. Spot is one of the best in town, catching all boat, bridge and excursion traffic.

Work For a Quigley Award!

ACE POSTER WORK. Rodney Collier makes a specialty of class art work in his lobby displays and the above is a shot of what he turned out on "Counsellor-at-Law" for the date at the Rialto, Washington, D. C.

STRESS 'UNEXPOSED ASSET'

Public Must Be Educated to an Appreciation of Fine Poster Art Done in Theatres, Says Member

by BOB EWING

Mars Theatre, Lafayette, Indiana

"Nobody in this town drew that picture of Garbo! Everything like that's sent here with the film." Did you ever hear this part of an argument as to the source of creation of theatre fronts? Those words were actually overheard.

Am I far wrong in saying that one-third of the theatre-going people never realize that a theatre employs an artist within its own walls to make the theatre front, lobby and foyer attractive for them? They do not. They buy tickets and walk in with only the idea of getting a seat. The advertising they see, if any, well it is just as mechanical to them as the roll of film that entertains them on the screen.

The public, as is the case in any fairly new project, has to be educated to theatre art.

It is appalling how little the public knows about the duties of a theatre artist. I have been asked countless times just exactly what I did at the theatre. These people wanted their vague ideas developed so they could have a feeling of understanding. One who questioned was a leading art instructor of the state, and upon learning that the display material is really made in our studio, has become a most encouraging theatre patron.

This lack of knowledge is partly due to the cheap, gaudy, sensational displays which literally cover the cheaper houses. These displays actually did come with the film, hence the lavishness, and they help to put the "made to order" stamp on many other locally created displays, worthy of attention. People must be educated to recognize the real and manufactured.

Posters Build Prestige

Of course, there are always hundreds of people who instantly know the workmanship coming first hand from a studio, but the theatre-going people are varied in intelligence and curiosity. To many busy people, the theatre is the most satisfactory kind of relaxation; they are too hurried even to notice any displays, much less think of their origin. But there are the intelligent type who would enjoy knowing about the theatre's poster creating.

When people learn that the theatre management is so eager to give them a trained, artistic type of advertising that it employs a commercial artist to do the work, the theatre immediately takes on a new prestige, a prestige it justly deserves. In many businesses the "Made In Our Own Shop" slogan is a sales medium. This is true in the theatre. To the public, seeing posters and fronts just as they come from the studio enhances the glamour and thrill of the theatre.

The disinterested become interested, and the interested realize that there is more dignity in the show business than they ever believed. They realize also that a theatre manager is a more versatile and better informed individual than they gave him credit for being. He does much more than book shows and watch the receipts of the box office!

The movies are getting better. Everyone connected with the industry has worked tirelessly to make them improve. Now that we are given better pictures, the theatres themselves are doing their best to give each picture the right sendoff and the proper background when it plays. A theatre without its artist is not equipped to do this properly.

Local Art Appreciated

There is something alive and vital in the effect poster work has on people. Immediately someone knows the work was done right in the theatre's studio, perhaps finds he knows the artist, that theatre becomes more than an entertainment house; it becomes an institution. This person pauses to look at front and foyer displays; others do likewise. Finally people grow to discuss displays as they do the pictures. More than ever before people are eagerly grasping at anything which lends refinement and new interest. This comparatively new field of art lends just that.

High grade posters do not have to scream at people or beg them to attend the theatre. No, in a much more quiet, subtle manner they give a local, personal invitation that pleases.

Theatre Managers, let the public know you employ an artist; let them feel the theatre's efforts to give dignified, inviting, alive and artistic touches created in your studio. Then they will cease to take all your artistic posters for granted as part of the film that was sent. They will know that you have used the latest, most efficient methods for serving them. This knowledge gives the feeling they are patronizing the best. That always gives a satisfied feeling.

Education Necessary

It is almost beyond belief but it is true that when people become educated to the different phases of theatre advertising, the personal effort back of it, and how vital a part of the business it is, they are proud to attend the shows, proud to feel they understand what the theatre's poster artist gives them, proud to know something authentic about a phase of the great industry.

Seeing the poster displays makes them feel they have been personally invited, not with stills that cover the United States but with an invitation from the home studio.

Let's make the public conscious of the "Made In Our Shop" quality of this Unexposed Asset which aids amazingly the box office, and certainly builds prestige.

COME ONE, COME ALL—YOU, TOO!

HARRY M. HULSE
is out in Trenton, New Jersey, where he manages the Bijou, and this new member apparently hasn't strayed far from home, unless he did and is back again, because Harry was born in Trenton and is working there. He got into showbusiness through his brother and apparently enjoys being in it. We bid you welcome and look forward to your becoming one of our most active contributors.

▽

L. A. GRAVERSEN
manages the San Juan Theatre in Friday Harbor, Wash. Larry started working for his father as an operator and then manager; was in the infantry during the World's War; is married, and if he were to start all over again he would choose showbusiness as his career. You're the first member the Club has ever had in Friday Harbor, so we'd like to see that city well represented in our pages; can we count on you?

▽

DAVID GINSBURG
works for the Sidney Lust Theatres and manages the Cameo at Mt. Rainier, Maryland, and the Arcade at Hyattsville, Md. That's enough to keep any man busy, but not too busy to write and inform Club headquarters on what he's doing to keep things humming. Maryland is certainly show-conscious, all of it, so we're supposing you're no exception to the rule and are counting on hearing from you.

▽

GENE FOX
is the advertising director for Mullin & Pulski's Metropolitan Theatre in Boston, Mass., and even though we know you so well, Gene, you'll have to accept this formal welcome into the Club along with the rest of the gang. It's unnecessary for us to say we expect to hear from you; we go further and say we demand it. We'll be aseein' you soon, Gene, and remember us to the gang.

▽

A. M. BOWYER
house manager of the Lyric Theatre, in Oak Hill, West Virginia, is so anxious to join the Club that he asks us to send him a bill for the dues. Well, "A. M.," there are absolutely none; just a little resolution on your part to keep us posted on what's what at the Lyric, and that's all we ask of you. Fair enough, eh, what?

▽

MILLARD C. MEARS
manages the Princess Theatre in Marlboro, Mass. Our Massachusetts roster is pretty full, but we're always glad to welcome a straggler from up thata way and hope with the keen competition the rest of his brother members hand him, he'll come out on top with flying colors.

U. S. "DICK" ALLAIRE is up in Victoriaville, Quebec, Canada, managing and owning the Victoria Theatre. Dick certainly is show-minded, having started in the business at the tender age of fourteen. He gave his first reel show with silent films. He worked in the sales department of a water and power company, but all his spare time was spent organizing programs for benefits. He actually just started managing a house in 1932 when he bought the Victoria, but Dick's on his toes every minute trying to put things over up there.

▽

JOE FELDER
is the general manager of the Walter Reade Mayfair Theatre, in New York City. Well, Joe, it sort of looks as though we had the Mayfair tied up solidly so far as Round Table is concerned. Incidentally, with you as close to the Club headquarters as you are, there's no excuse for not dropping in and giving us a chance to extend a little of 1790's hospitability.

▽

HENRY MACY MEZZALUNA
assists Mort Bratter at the Rex Theatre, in Irvington, N. J. Henry has been an actor in vaudeville and even did some pictures back in 1929. There's no doubt about his having plenty of ambition, because in his "spare" time he's taking a course in poster art work. You are to be commended, Hi, and follow our poster art page, while you're at it; you'll doubtless find plenty on it to help you.

APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Please enroll me in the Club and send me my framed certificate.

Name .....

Position .....

Theatre .....

Address .....

City .....

State .....

(Mail to Managers' Round Table Club, 1790 Broadway, New York)

PAUL McDANIEL
is the manager of the Dalkes Circuit, having charge of the Woodstock and Virginia Theatres in Woodstock, Va. In addition to this "little" job he does the booking, too. He has been in our game for twenty years, and, as he puts it, he began his career "when features were not over four reels and elbow grease was motion picture machine driving power and ballyhoo was the exhibitors' main means of putting over a picture." Well, Paul ought to have plenty to tell us about "the good old days" and we shall await word from him.

▽

J. A. BAILEY
was born in Lyons, Ind., and doesn't seem to have ventured very far from there, unless he's back at his old haunts again, because he is now managing the Strand, in Greenberg. "J. A." was such a movie fan in the early days that he used to drive ten miles every night to see a show at Linton, Ind. He entered showbusiness at the age of twenty-four and if he were to start all over again he's so sold on the "movies" he'd stick to the profession.

▽

ROBERT LEHR
manager the Avon Theatre, in Philadelphia, Pa., for Warner Brothers and has five changes a week. He has a little house of six hundred and sixteen seats, but has to keep hustling to keep the sheckels coming in. We must have pretty close to 100 per cent of the Warner managers down his district in the Club, so we're glad to add his name to the roster and look for a little competition.

▽

ROY MUEHLEMANN
is another of the St. Louis Amusement Co. men to join. He manages the Maffitt Theatre, in St. Louis, out Missouri way. He started as an usher, doorman and assistant manager of the Lindell Theatre, and then went to the Congress. After serving his apprenticeship there he was transferred to his present theatre. Remember us to our good friend Al Zimbalist, Roy, and be sure to tell us when you put anything over that would be of interest to your brother members.

▽

GORDON SPRADLEY
is the assistant manager of the Biltmore Theatre, Miami, Fla., and working under our good old friend Mark Chartrand. Gordon started as an usher at the Capitol, in Miami, and then became the assistant at the Biltmore. Left there to go to the Ritz and is back again with his first love. Well, you're working for a great outfit and with some fine boys, so there's no doubt but that we'll be hearing things of you, too, soon.

TECHNOLOGICAL

The BLUEBOOK School

By F. H. RICHARDSON

BLUEBOOK SCHOOL QUESTION NO. 225.—(A) Have odd lenses or combinations of lenses any practical value? (B) What books and publications may be recommended for the projectionist's library? Think this over. The Bluebook is of course not the only one. (C) What is your view as to the desirability of examination and licensing of projectionists? Devote some serious thought to Section C. It is a matter of large importance and we would like to know what your views are.

Answer to Question No. 219

Bluebook School Question No. 219 was: (A) Why is the working distance of a projection lens of large importance to the projectionist? (B) Tell us how you would measure the equivalent focus of a projection lens. (C) Give us your views as to how far purchase price should be considered as against lens quality, and the reason for those views.

The following made good: S. Evans and C. Rau; G. E. Doe; D. Danielson; R. DeTott; J. Wentworth; T. Van Vaulkenburg; A. F. Sprafke; D. Calladine; H. Edwards; L. Ciminoski; H. Edwards; J. R. Walker; D. L. Sinklow; G. Thompson; F. L. Granby; Bill Doe; W. Broadbent; L. R. Doty; O. Allbright; G. R. Squires; B. W. Williams, B. T. Canter and L. H. Daniels; N. L. Tomlinson and G. Lathrope; F. H., S. and P. Dalbey; U. L. Danielson; D. Habor and D. Breaston; Nic Granby; M. R. Jones; T. H. Morton, L. Klar and F. H. Klar; K. L. Hess; L. C. Northup; L. Grant and R. Geddings; B. R. Walker; L. Hutch and D. Goldberg; D. L. Monehan and L. B. Bryant; D. U. Granger; D. Lally and F. Ferguson; J. Gensen, D. L. Lode, K. Y. Spencer and B. H. Sanders; M. and J. Devoy; B. R. Mills and R. Prane; L. M. Richards; L. N. and C. B. Traxler; P. and L. Felt; G. Johnson and L. R. Spooner; M. Spencer and D. T. Arlen; T. T. Golley; L. Thomas and D. D. Davis; R. and K. Wells; R. D. Oberleigh and J. Lansing; L. R. O'Leary; J. J. Richmond; G. Harrison and F. Harlor; M. L. Spooner; L. N. Haynes and A. Richardson; F. Y. Gradley and B. L. Donald; S. Spanner and B. H. Thaler; L. B. and D. H. Palmer; J. Jensen and D. C. Lode; O. L. Daris and F. Simms; M. Henderson and K. L. Knight; P. Itt; M. U. Sampson; G. T. Ormsby; T. Malleby; J. Turner and G. Haught; M. and S. T. Gibson; D. Howard and J. Urts; P. L. Wilkins, B. R. D. Skinner and H. Brown.

With regard to Section A. T. Van Vaulkenburg answers best I think. He says, "The working distance of a projection lens is of importance to the projectionist for the reason that the beam of light on the screen side of the aperture diverges, and under some conditions diverges widely. Under this condition it is evident that since the working distance is the distance from film to projection lens nearest surface when the image is in sharpest possible focus on the screen, the longer it is the greater will be the width and depth of the beam when it encounters the lens, hence the larger must the lens free diameter be."

(B) T. Van Vaulkenburg answers thus: "To measure the equivalent focus of a projection lens, support a sheet of metal or stiff paper in which an opening, say, three-quarters of an inch square, has been cut. The dimensions of the opening are not important, though they should not exceed one inch square. Also support the lens in such manner that it may be moved back and forth, closer to or farther away from said opening. Also support a small paper screen in like manner. The three elements may be mounted on three pieces of board six inches long, each of their centers being an equal distance from one side of its board. Draw a line on the bench to which that edge may be set, so that all three elements may be exactly in line with each other, being sure the lens axis itself is placed parallel with its board side. Now with sunlight on the sheet metal opening, move the lens and screen until the opening and its image are exactly the same size, whereupon one-fourth of the distance aperture to screen is the E. F. of the lens being measured."

I selected Brother Van Vaulkenburg's answer for the reason that it details a method readily available to the projectionist. It is of course quite essential to accurate work that the three elements be kept in line with each other. The plan of mounting each on a short piece of board and drawing a line to which to align the edges of the boards is simple and practical. The board edge may easily be mounted so that the optical axis of the lens is in line with the board-side by, using a compass, measuring from edge of board to center of lens at each end.

(C) Our Chicago friend, G. E. Doe, says, "There is of course a limit beyond which it probably is unwise to go in purchase price for projection lenses. Within limits, however, it verges upon foolishness to consider price reduction when such reduction means any lowering of lens quality.

"Without a high-grade, well corrected projection lens, the screen image cannot and will not itself be what it could and should be in the matter of quality. Therefore, up to the point where a flat field, undistorted screen image free from chromatic aberration, is produced, purchase price should not be considered, even though it be considerable more than would purchase a lens of less excellence. It must, after all, be paid only once in several years, and superior lens quality makes for improvement in excellence of every one of the thousands of shows produced with it as against the cheaper lens.

"I do not, however, believe that lenses costing hundreds of dollars each, such as are available for camera work, should be purchased. They contain more individual lenses, hence more light would be lost through reflection and absorption. Also, camera lenses must be the very last word in accuracy, for the reason that they must produce a tiny photograph that, because of the enormous magnification it must be subjected to, must be rather tremendously accurate. While it is quite true the projection lens must do the magnifying, still, while I may be in error in this, it would seem there is a difference.

"I would therefore answer the question thus: It represents 'good business' not to let price stand in the way of purchasing the very best projection lenses available."

All of which comes very close to setting forth my own views exactly, though I am not myself quite certain as to the question raised with relation to lenses such as are used in camera work. I believe their use would be unadvisable for the reasons our Chicago friend has set forth. I will advise you later on this phase of the matter.

THE CODE QUESTION BOX

By JAMES P. CUNNINGHAM

Immediate reply is being made direct to the many letters which Motion Picture Herald is receiving from exhibitors and distributors in the field, and from others, in which various questions are asked concerning certain doubtful phases of the Motion Picture Code. In addition, such code questions and the answers submitted are published as a regular service for all readers. They contain many explanatory points pertinent to the business as its conduct is prescribed by the Code.

For obvious reasons, the letters will appear anonymously. However, the originals will remain on file.

Answers to questions about the Code are submitted only after consultation with authorities familiar with the technicalities of the document.

This service is available to everyone. Send questions to the Code Editor, Motion Picture Herald, 1790 Broadway, New York City.

No. 30—"BANK NIGHTS" AND "RACE NIGHTS"

QUESTION—Please explain what is meant by "Bank Nights" and "Race Nights" as mentioned recently under the code.—ARKANSAS.

ANSWER—Under a special order passed by the Code Authority on April 10th, so-called "Bank Nights" and "Race Nights"—which were not specifically mentioned in the motion picture code—are prohibited if any person participating in such stunts is directly or indirectly required to purchase or otherwise acquire for value, a ticket or other token of admission to the theatre when any such plan or scheme is being offered or presented.

"Bank Nights" are worked something like this: An arrangement is made with the local merchants whereby they distribute to their customers imitation money for various sums. The customers save this imitation money, and at the theatre on "Bank Night" they bid on various articles, which articles are usually contributed by the merchants. The customer having the most imitation money would obviously be in a position to outbid any others.

"Race Nights" are conducted along similar lines, except that some kind of race machine is used and the customers bet on the winner.

While the store customer may not be under any obligation to purchase from the merchant when he secures the imitation money, nevertheless the Code Authority has deemed that these two types of stunts are included under Section 1, Part 3, Article V-E of the code, which clause prohibits the giving of rebates in the form of lotteries, prizes, coupons and the like, because of the fact that the patron must purchase a ticket of admission to the theatre in order to bid on the article.

▽ ▽ ▽

No. 31—HOURS AND WAGES OF PROJECTIONIST

QUESTION—I am a projectionist working about 15 hours a day and receive $18 per week. I do not belong to any union and I would like to know how I can be protected under the Code.—WEST VIRGINIA.

ANSWER—The code says that the maximum schedule of working hours shall be no more than the maximum schedule that was in effect in a place on August 23rd, 1933; and that the minimum wages shall be no less than the minimum that was in effect at the same time. However, the schedule of working hours under the code shall be no more than 40 weekly, regardless.

If the theatre employer refuses to abide by the 40-hour maximum, then the projectionist is entitled to file a complaint against the theatre with the Regional Labor Board of the NRA. Such complaints are filed with the Regional Labor Board in the key city nearest the location of the theatre. The address may be obtained from the National Labor Board of the NRA, at Washington, D. C.

▽ ▽ ▽

No. 32—COMMISSION PAYMENTS FOR "POP CORN" BOYS

QUESTION—I have a pop-corn machine in my theatre and employ a boy over 16 years of age to sell the pop-corn. He is paid a commission of 20 cents on the dollar. I could not afford to keep him if I have to pay him by the hour. What information do you have about this situation under the code?—MISSOURI.

ANSWER—The Compliance Board of the NRA informs us that it is not permissable under the labor provisions of the motion picture code to have such an arrangement as that described above, whereby the pop-corn boy is paid a commission of 20 cents on the dollar. This would mean that the boy's employment is subject to Section 4, Part C, Article IV, which says that employees regularly employed as theatre attendants shall not receive less than 30 cents per hour in cities and places having a population of between 15,000 and 500,000 inhabitants. On the basis of the code's maximum working week of 40 hours, this would equal a weekly salary of $12. Pop-corn boys are not specifically mentioned in the code.

Of course the clause above would only apply to pop-corn boys who are literally employees. Obviously it would not apply to pop-corn boys who operate a concession in a theatre.

▽ ▽ ▽

No. 33—COMPETITIVE BILLING AND PASSES

QUESTION—I am operating a theatre in a very small town. My nearest opposition is 15 minutes drive, or 17 miles on a perfect highway. This exhibitor who competes comes over and bills my town like a circus, giving passes for the billing. He maintains a mailing list and mails out his programs every two weeks in my community. These programs are accepted at the box-office of my competitor's theatre as cash, and read as follows: "This Entire Program and 20 Cents Will Admit One Adult on Tuesday or Wednesday Matinee or Night." Does this come under the law of lottery in the code?

The competitor also ballyhoos his pictures with a sound truck all over my territory.—TEXAS.

ANSWER—The competitor is not violating the code by ballyhooing the complaining exhibitor's town with a sound truck, unless he is advertising motion pictures before the complaining exhibitor plays them, to which motion pictures the complaining exhibitor has a prior right. Part 5-A, Article V-E says: "No exhibitor licensed to exhibit a motion picture subsequent to its exhibition by another exhibitor having the right to a prior run thereof shall advertise such motion picture by any means of advertising prior to or during its exhibition by such other exhibitor."

The competitor is not violating the code by using passes to pay for billings. (However, the competitor is not allowed under the code to issue more passes than are required normally for such regular advertising purposes.)

The programs mailed out to the complaining exhibitor's town by his competitor, and reading: "This Entire Program and 20 Cents Admit One Adult on Tuesday or Wednesday Matinee or Night," is a violation of the code clause prohibiting rebates, only IF the competitor's regular admission price for those performances is more than 20 cents, and the program is accepted with 20 cents and in lieu of an actual cash difference between the 20 cents and the higher regular admission price.

Furthermore, if the competitor's programs which are sent to the complaining exhibitor's town advertise motion pictures before the complaining exhibitor plays them, to which motion pictures the complaining exhibitor has a prior right, then the competitor is violating the same clause as described in the first paragraph above.

▽ ▽ ▽

No. 34—HOURS, FOR PROJECTIONISTS AND JANITORS

QUESTION—We have in this city of 10,000 population, two theatres operating full time. In one theatre the operator is working as many as 72 hours a week, and at the other theatre the operator is given one day a week off, making his schedule of hours 52 weekly. This theatre also has a janitor working any and all the time, and receiving only $8.00 a week.

Both of these theatres display the Blue Eagle at their theatre fronts, but, obviously, do not live up to it in working conditions.

What can be done about it?—OHIO.

ANSWER—The motion picture code says that the maximum number of hours for projectionists shall not exceed the maximum weekly working schedule which was in effect in that place on August 23rd, 1933, but in no case shall this maximum exceed 40 hours weekly.

The code also says that in towns having a population of less than 15,000 janitors shall not work more than 40 hours per week and they shall not receive less than a 20 per cent increase over the wage paid to them as of August 1, 1933, provided, however that this increase shall not require a wage in excess of 25 cents per hour, or in excess of $10.00 for a 40-hour week.

Any of the employees involved, or their duly appointed representatives, are entitled to bring these matters to the attention of the Regional Labor Board of the NRA located in the key city nearest the theatres. The address of this Regional Labor Board may be obtained from the National Labor Board of the NRA at Washington, D. C.

Club Challenges AMPA To Battle of the Greens

Ted Curtis, Eastman Kodak, was no sooner named captain of the Motion Picture Club golf team, when he challenged an AMPA foursome to do battle on the greens of the Glen Oaks Club, Great Neck, L. I., during the twenty-second annual Film Daily Golf Tournament, June 7. An answer is awaited from Tom Gerety of AMPA.

New awards include a trophy from Martin Quigley, for the Quigley Publications; a cup from RKO Radio Pictures, a trophy from William Massce, a set of leather bound books from Grosset and Dunlap, in addition to the Albee Memorial Cup and the Brulatour Medals. The booby prize is yet to be selected.

DARROW REPORT ON FILMS

Board's Own Summation

Monopolistic practices in this industry are bold and aggressive and its small enterprise is cruelly oppressed.

The industry includes the making, the distributing and the exhibiting in theatres of film pictures. The producing and distributing is chiefly in the hands of eight powerful companies, commonly known in the business as the "Big Eight." There are in the country 18,321 theatres, of which 4,800 are designated as circuit or chain theatres. Of these circuit theatres, 1,954 are affiliated with the Big Eight companies and 2,846 are not so affiliated. There are left 13,571 theatres that are classified as independent.

It appears that the Code for this industry was made by representatives of the large producing companies. It contained, with other unusual and unjust features, provisions that named the members of the Code Authority to administer the Code and other provisions to make the Authority so constituted self-perpetuating. In case of the retirement of any member he is to designate his successor, subject to the approval of the rest of the Authority, or failing to do so, the Authority is to name the successor. The Authority consists of 10 members of whom eight are shown to be directly or indirectly connected with the eight large companies.

These companies are distributors of pictures as well as producers. They are also interested in certain theatres that are in competition with independent theatres.

At the hearing before this Board, March 26, 29, April 3 and 4, representatives of the independent theatres presented definite complaints of the operation of the Code under the Authority thus constituted. The Deputy Administrator of the Code was present at the first hearing, and was invited to testify, but refused to do so. Subsequently, seven of the eight companies implicated by the testimony of independent theatre owners, filed a brief attempting to discredit the testimony given against them. This brief, because of its unsubstantiated nature and the preponderance of testimony against it, the Board deems to be of small moment in this issue.

The chief complaints of maladministration under the Code for the benefit of the large producers and distributors and against the smaller enterprises are as follows:

1. That they, although constituting numerically much the greater part of the industry, were not allowed to share in the making of the Code.

2. Unfair practices, in that the large producers and distributors insist independent exhibitors shall buy also a certain number of what are called "short subjects" (meaning short reels) and of newsreels in order to obtain the great and vital feature pictures from which profits are mostly derived. It was averred that some of these independent theatres have in this way been forced to buy and store many more "short subjects" and newsreels than they could show in a year. They must pay for them, nevertheless, whether they exhibit them or not. By this practice also small producers that produce only "short subjects" and newsreels are put at a disadvantage.

3. The large producers require a large percentage of the gross receipts, sometimes 35 per cent or more, for the use of popular pictures and then dictate the days upon which they are to be shown. In the business generally, Saturday, Sunday and holidays are the best days, but it was pointed out that this arrangement deprives the independent theatre of any control over its pictures, as the large producer dictates the day the picture is to be shown, whereas it may not be suitable for certain localities upon such days.

4. The theatre owner is deprived of any choice in the presentation of pictures, since he must show what is allotted to him. This works in practice to shut from the theatres the pictures of other than the large producers, since they can choose all the best days for themselves.

5. The Code gives to the distributors (generally the Big Eight) the right to fix admission prices through the provision that allows them to insist upon a minimum admission price for their own pictures. It was brought out that such a control might cause a theatre the loss of a large part of its clientele through resentment against what would be deemed an unjustifiable advance in prices while the theatre owner would be powerless to meet such an attack.

6. That the large distributors are allowed to insert into their contracts with the theatres, provisions that are not authorized by the Code, and are detrimental to the independent theatres. These extra-legal provisions, it was set forth, were often in the shape of an agreement against the showing of two feature pictures on the same program. The courts have held this stipulation to be unfair. In practice, it deprives the independent theatre of one means to meet the competition of the affiliated theatres, which are the theatres affiliated with or controlled by the big Eight.

7. The Code set up boards to classify theatres in the order in which they can have the use of popular and desirable pictures, and these boards, it is averred, are controlled by or in the interest of the large producers and distributors. The result is that in many instances independent theatres cannot get the popular pictures until their competitors have largely exhausted the drawing power therein.

FINDINGS:

It is the opinion of this Board that the Code adopted for this industry should be amended in accordance with the attached brief.

Trade Commission Plans Showdown on Monopoly

The Federal Trade Commission at Washington was reported this week to be preparing for a showdown battle with the NRA over alleged violations of anti-trust laws in various NRA codes.

The fight is expected to lead to legal steps by the commission to terminate monopolistic practices. Several large industries, operating under codes approved by the NRA, are currently under investigation by the commission. When these inquiries are completed, it is anticipated the commission will file complaints under the anti-trust laws. The result, it was predicted, may force drastic revisions of some alleged monopolistic codes, and perhaps complete abandonment of others. The commission has full legal authority, after hearings, to issue cease and desist orders and to prosecute violations in the courts. The controversy centers on the provision in the NIRA authorizing suspension of anti-trust laws.

Detailed Findings of Darrow Board

Many complaints have been received by this board from individuals and associations engaged in the moving picture industry protesting against certain provisions of the Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry which they claimed were oppressive, and which, if continued, would force them out of business. As a result of these complaints this Board held hearings on March 26, March 29, April 3, and April 4, at which time all those desiring to be heard were given the opportunity to testify. In addition to the testimony before this Board, the records of hearings before the National Recovery Administration at the time the Code was being formulated were examined, together with documentary evidence submitted by the witnesses before this Board.

A brief has been filed with this Board by seven of the major producers and distributors purporting to answer the witnesses who appeared before this Board and made complaint regarding the Code. An examination of this brief has been made by this Board and it contains an analysis of the various sections of the Code under Article V, with a summary which finds that the great majority of these sections of the Code are in favor of the independent exhibitors. The brief then reviews the testimony of the exhibitor witnesses who testified, and also the testimony of the general counsel of one of the large independent associations.

The brief attempts to discredit the testimony of these various independent exhibitors, and purports to set forth facts showing that their testimony before this board was misleading and false. In the case of many of the exhibitor witnesses, the brief calls attention to the fact that there have been claims for breach of contract filed against the exhibitors. Nothing further than the statement that such claims were filed is included in the brief, and this information is obviously put in for the purpose of discrediting the testimony of these witnesses.

In view of this fact the major producers-distributors knew of the hearing before this Board, and could have appeared and testified in defense of the Code had they so desired, this Board does not believe that the brief filed by these seven producers-distributors should be given serious consideration, particularly in view of the nature of many of the statements made therein.

BOARD ASKS ROSENBLATT REMOVAL

CALLS CODE DESIGNED TO OPPRESS SMALL ENTERPRISES

The Board finds that the Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry, as approved on November 27, 1933, is designed to eliminate and oppress small enterprises engaged in the motion picture industry, and tends to discriminate against them. The Code, as at present drawn, is designed to promote a monopoly in the motion picture industry in behalf of the large producers and distributors, which have been referred to in the hearings before this Board as "Big Eight." It is the opinion of this Board that if the Code is not changed in many parts that the small independent theatre owner and operator in this country will be either forced out of business entirely, or his business will be so dominated and controlled by the large producers, distributors and affiliated theatre owners, that he will only be able to conduct his business in the way and manner prescribed and desired by these large interests. The Code is drawn so as to favor the large interests in the producing, distributing and exhibition branches of the industry, and under its provisions the independent producer, distributor and exhibitor—especially the latter—is entirely at the mercy of these interests.

In the moving picture industry small enterprises are represented by the independent theatre owner. The motion picture theatres of the country are divided into two classes, known as circuit theatres and independent theatres. The circuit theatres are those belonging to a single circuit which operates theatres in various cities and towns. Of the circuit theatres there are the affiliated theatres and the unaffiliated theatres. The affiliated theatres are those circuits which are owned, controlled and operated by companies which are owned by large producers and distributors. The unaffiliated circuit theatres are circuits which are not owned by the producers and distributors. According to a table introduced in evidence, the motion picture theatres in the United States as of January, 1934, were classified as follows:

Total theatres	18,371
Circuit Theatres:
Affiliated	1,954
Unaffiliated	2,846
Independent Theatres	13,571

While the majority of the independent theatres are small, there are many independent theatres which are first-class theatres, well equipped, and superior to a great number of affiliated houses. Many of these high-grade independent theatres are located in the larger cities and towns of the country. Each independent theatre is usually operated by a single owner, so that the total number of independent theatres in the country is therefore greatly in excess of the circuit theatres, both in number of houses, and in the number of individual exhibitors.

The public relies, to a great extent, on these independent theatres for its opportunity to see and enjoy motion pictures, and is therefore greatly affected by any oppressive measures which are used against them. In the motion picture industry the interest of the public is largely that of the independent theatre owner, because a larger proportion of the public is served by the independent theatres than by the circuit theatres.

ASKS ROSENBLATT REMOVAL ON BASIS OF PREJUDICE

Testimony before this Board is to the effect that the drafts of the Code for the motion picture industry were prepared by the Deputy Administrator in charge of this Code and submitted to the several committees of the industry, and that committees representing independent interests were not consulted with reference to various drafts. Of the many suggestions made by the independent exhibitors for provisions in the Code, very few were adopted. It would seem that the independent exhibitors had very little, if any, influence in drafting this Code, and their suggestions and recommendations were largely ignored.

The Deputy Administrator is a lawyer, formerly practicing in New York City, where he was associated with a lawyer, many of whose clients were, and are now, engaged in the theatrical and motion picture industries. This attorney is a member of the Board and attorney for Columbia Pictures Corporation, a producing company which has been designated in these hearings as a member of the "Big Eight" producing companies, and is also a member of the Board of United Artists, another large producing company. Both of these producing companies are members of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., which association dominates the industry.

It would appear from the testimony before this Board that the Deputy Administrator may be prejudiced against the independent exhibitors. One witness testified that at one of the meetings which was considering a draft of the Code the Deputy Administrator told the attorney for the independent producers that if he made notes of what was going on the meeting would be closed. Another witness testified that at a meeting of independent exhibitors held with the Administrator the objection was made that the Deputy Administrator was biased and prejudiced against independent exhibitors, and he admitted it was so.

The Deputy Administrator was present at the first hearing by this Board on the Motion Picture Code and was requested to testify, but refused to do so. He stated that his files containing complaints against the Code were available, but he did not turn them over to the Board as requested by its counsel, but instead offered to bring over any specific thing asked for. The Code Authority was requested by this Board to appear before it, but not one of them complied with the request, though they acknowledged receipt of the request.

Because of the defiance by the Deputy Administrator of this Board, and because of testimony to the effect that he is prejudiced against independent producers, distributors and exhibitors in the industry, this board recommends that the Deputy Administrator in charge of the Motion Picture Code be removed from all connection with the Motion Picture Code and another Deputy Administrator appointed.

SMALL ENTERPRISE OPPRESSED: BOARD

"Monopolistic practices . . . are bold and aggressive and its small enterprise is cruelly oppressed," says the report of the Darrow Review Board in its summation of findings relative to the Motion Picture Code and its operation.

"It appears that the code for this industry was made by representatives of the large producing companies," the report declares.

ARTICLE I—DEFINITIONS

This Article defines the various terms used in the Code.

Section 10.

Objection is made by the independent exhibitors to the last sentence of this Section on the ground that it gives the producer or distributor owning the theatre the opportunity to lease the theatre to a "straw man" and have him classed as an "independent exhibitor," and appointed in that capacity to boards provided under the Code. Such a contention appears to this Board to have merit and it is believed that the opportunity for such a possibility should be removed from the Code.

This Board recommends that the last sentence of Section 10 be striken from the Code.

Section 14.

This Section defines the "effective date" of the Code. Should the President approve and adopt the changes recommended by this Board, this Section should be changed so as to make such changes effective immediately upon approval by the President.

ARTICLE II—ADMINISTRATION

The Code Authority set up under the Code is the governing body of the whole industry, and has practically supreme and final power over all the various divisions of the industry. It is obvious, therefore, that the Code Authority should represent all divisions of the industry so that it will be properly balanced between such divisions, and not subject to criticism or objection that certain divisions have a predominating influence. The hearings before this Board indicate that there is widespread complaint among the independent exhibitors that the Code Authority as now constituted is dominated by the producer-distributor-affiliated exhibitor group, and that the independent exhibitors, who comprise the largest section of the industry, both in number of individuals and number of theatres operated, are not given proper representation. It was indicated that of the ten members of the Code Authority, five representing affiliated producers, distributors and exhibitors, and five representing unaffiliated producers, distributors and exhibitors, that only two of them were not connected in some way with the affiliated producers, distributors and exhibitors and could thus be classed as really independent.

The Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry, as approved November 27, 1933, is unusual in that it does not provide a means for the election or selection of the members of the Code Authority by the several divisions of the industry, but names the members of the Code Authority in the Code itself. Upon what basis these individuals were named does not appear in the Code.

CALLS CODE AUTHORITY NOT TRULY REPRESENTATIVE

Another unusual provision in this Code is that which makes the Code Authority a self-perpetuating body as long as the Code is in existence. Paragraph (d), Section 2, Article II, provides that "in the case of absence, resignation, ineligibility, or incapacity of any member of the Code Authority to act, an alternate of the some general class of the industry . . . designated by such member, shall act temporarily in the place of such member." It further provides that the Code Authority may reject the member selected and require another one to be designated. Such selections are subject to approval of the Administrator.

In other words, the Code Authority named in the Code will control all subsequent Code

URGES AUTHORITY MAKEUP CHANGE

Authorities. The representation as set forth in the Code will always be the representation, and unquestionably the present members of the Code Authority who are connected with companies or associations in naming alternates or successors will name someone from their respective companies or associations. If, however, the representative of the independent exhibitors names a person who is objectionable to the producer-distributor-affiliated exhibitor members, the Code provides that he can be rejected and another required to be named. And if no person suitable to the other members is named, the Code Authority has the right to name such person.

Obviously, such a provision in the Code should be eliminated. The Code Authority exercises tremendous power, and it should jointly represent the various divisions of the industry in the first place, and in the second place there should be a proper means provided for selecting alternates and filling vacancies which would enable the several divisions of the industry to choose their own representatives. Such a means is not provided as the Code is now drawn. The Code Authority is composed of ten members equally divided between the affiliated producers, distributors and exhibitors, and the unaffiliated producers, distributors and exhibitors. The division is a fair one if the representatives are properly chosen, and in fact represent the divisions they are supposed to represent. In order that criticism of the members cannot be made, they should be so clearly divorced from any connection with any division except the one they represent, that they are entirely above suspicion.

The board is of the opinion that only two of the members of the present Code Authority representing unaffiliated producers, distributors and exhibitors are truly representative of that class and have no other affiliations.

The Code also provides that there shall be three additional persons who shall not have any direct personal interest in the motion picture industry, nor represent any interest adverse to the interest of those engaged in the industry, who shall be members of the Code Authority as representatives of the Administration. These persons, however, have no vote, and this Board can see no reason for providing for their appointment, as they will have absolutely no power to in any effective way influence the action of the Code Authority. If such persons are to be designated to sit on the Code Authority, they should be appointed as Government representatives, and given a vote.

Section 4 of Article II, gives the Code Authority the power to appoint committees the members of which may include its own members or others not members of the Code Authority, and delegate to such committees any or all powers possessed by it. It can at any time remove any committee member. There is no provision requiring that such committee should be constituted of members from the respective divisions of the industry as represented on Code Authority, and it is entirely possible for the Code Authority under this provision to transfer all its powers and duties to a committee having no independent members whatever, and empower such committee to hear complaints of independent exhibitors. This section should be removed from the Code and a provision inserted requiring the members of such committees to be composed of representatives from the several divisions of the industry in the same proportion as they are represented on the Code Authority.

DARROW THROUGH WITH COURT CASES

Clarence Darrow, in the law courts of the nation for 50 years, and weary with the strain of preparation of the 40,000-word NRA Review Board report to President Roosevelt, declared in Washington this week to the United Press that he will not defend Samuel Insull in his court battle, and that he is through with courts.

Asked if his Insull statement meant he would never take another court case, the aged defender of lost causes replied:

"Yes, I've done enough work. If anybody shows me a job right now, I'll do everything I can to stay away from it."

This Board recommends that Article II of the Code be changed to read as follows:

1. A Code Authority of the Motion Picture Industry constituted as in this Article provided and herein referred to as the "Code Authority" shall be the agency for the administration of this Code, and shall have such powers as shall be necessary therefor, together with such other powers and duties as are prescribed in this Code.

2. (a) The Code Authority shall be constituted as follows: Five representatives of affiliated Producers, Distributors and Exhibitors; five representatives of unaffiliated Producers, Distributors and Exhibitors; and five representatives to be chosen by the President, who shall be known as Government representatives. Each member of the Code Authority shall be entitled to one vote, and all questions considered by the Code Authority shall be decided by a majority vote of the members thereof. Not more than two of the members of the Code Authority representing unaffiliated producers, distributors and exhibitors shall be producers or distributors, and neither of them shall be members of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc. The unaffiliated exhibitor members of the Code Authority shall not be officers, members or representatives of any trade association supported in whole of in part by affiliated producers, distributors, or theatres. The Government representatives on the Code Authority shall not have any direct, personal interest in any branch of the motion picture industry, nor represent any interest adverse to the interest of those engaged therein. The members of the Code Authority representing the affiliated and unaffiliated Producers, Distributors and Exhibitors shall be appointed by the President from lists of names recommended by the two respective divisions of the industry which they represent.

(b) As and when any question directly or indirectly affecting any class of employees engaged in the motion picture industry is to be considered by the Code Authority, one representative of such class, selected by the Administrator from nominations made by such class in such manner as may be prescribed by the Administrator, shall sit with and become for such purposes a member of the Code Authority with a right to vote.

(c) At the same time that the members of the Code Authority are selected, an alternate for each member from the same general class of the industry as provided for the original member shall be designated by the President from the list of names suggested by the affiliated and non-affiliated Producers, Distributors and Exhibitors, and such alternate shall sit temporarily in the case of absence or incapacity of such member. In the event any member of the Code Authority resigns, or is found to be ineligible to serve as a member of the Code Authority, the President shall appoint another member in his place in the same manner as provided for the appointment of original members of the Code Authority in subsection (a) herein.

(d) No employer in the industry shall have more than one representative at any time upon the Code Authority.

(e) A vacancy in the Code Authority subject to being filled in the same manner as above provided in subsection (a) of this Section shall exist when any member shall cease to be a bona fide executive or a bona fide exhibitor.

3. The Code Authority may make such rules as to meetings and other procedural matters as it may from time to time determine.

4. The Code Authority may from time to time appoint committees which may include or be constituted of persons other than members of the Code Authority as it shall deem necessary to effectuate the purposes of this Code, and may delegate to any such committee generally or in particular instances any power and authority within the scope of the powers granted to the Code Authority under this Code, provided that the Code Authority shall not be relieved of its responsibility and duties hereunder. Provided, however, that in the membership of any such committee the Code Authority shall maintain the same ratio of representation between the affiliated and unaffiliated Producers, Distributors, and Exhibitors, and the Government representatives, as is provided for in subsection (a) herein for membership on the Code Authority. The Code Authority shall coordinate the duties of the committees with a view to promoting joint and harmonious action upon matters of common interest. Any action taken by any such committees shall be reviewed by the Code Authority.

5. (a) The Code Authority shall be empowered to collect from the members of the industry all data and statistics required by the President, or reasonably pertinent to the effectuation of Title I of the National Industrial Recovery Act, to compile the same and disseminate without individual identification among the members of the industry summaries thereof, all in such form and manner as the Code Authority or the Administrator shall prescribe. No such statistics, data, and information of any one member of the industry shall be revealed to any other member. The dissemination of summaries of such information shall not be deemed a disclosure thereof. In addition to information required to be submitted to the Code Authority, there shall be furnished to government agencies such statistical information as the Administrator may deem necessary for the purpose recited in Section 3 (a) of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

(b) The Code Authority shall have the right to make independent investigations of violations or alleged violations of the Code by any branch of the industry or by any person, firm, or corporation engaged in any branch of the industry.

6. The Code Authority shall assist the Administrator in administering the provisions of this Code, in making investigations as to the functioning or observance of any of the provisions of this Code at its own instance or on the complaint of any person engaged in the industry, and shall report to the Administrator on any such matters. The Code Authority may initiate and consider such recommendations and regulations and interpretations, including those pertaining to trade practices, as may come before it.

7. The Code Authority, after notice and hearing, may prescribe additional rules governing the conduct of Producers, Distributors and Exhibitors among themselves and with each other and with their employees, which rules shall be submitted to the Administrator and if approved by the President after such notice and hearing as he shall deem proper, shall constitute rules of fair practice for the industry, and any violation thereof shall constitute a violation of this Code.

REPORT URGES EXHIBITOR SELECTION

8. The Code Authority shall, to such extent and in such manner as may seem most useful, utilize the facilities of national, regional and local trade associations, groups, institutes, boards and organizations in the industry.

9. No member of the Code Authority shall sit on any matter involving his company's or his own interest directly and not as a class. In such case the Code Authority, including such ineligible member, shall designate an alternate of the same general class not connected with the company or theatre of the ineligible member to sit in his place.

10. (a) The Code Authority shall have the right to appoint, remove and fix the compensation of all persons whom it may employ to assist in any capacity whatsoever in administering this Code.

(b) The expense of the Code Authority in administering this Code shall be budgeted and fairly allocated among the three divisions of the industry and assessed against the respective members thereof who accept the benefits of the activities of the Code Authority or otherwise assent to this Code, in such manner as shall be determined by the Code Authority.

(c) Any person who shall fail to promptly pay any assessment or levy made pursuant to an order of the Code Authority as an expense in administering this Code shall not be entitled to file any complaint under any ARTICLE or PART thereof.

ARTICLE IV—LABOR PROVISIONS

Certain changes were recommended to be made in the labor provisions of the Code by representatives of independent labor unions, but because of lack of time, and its desire to submit its report as promptly as possible, this Board has withheld any recommendation as to changes in this Article. It has the question of changes under consideration, but cannot at this time report its findings, but will do so as promptly as possible at a later date.

ARTICLE V—UNFAIR PRACTICES

D. DISTRIBUTORS

Part 5.

All producers make films of one, two or three reels in length which are known as short subjects, and certain producers make nothing but short subjects, which are released through the affiliated and independent distributors. Some of the producers also make news reels, which are picturizations of current events. Both short subjects and news reels are used by the theatres to round out their programs in addition to the feature picture.

All distributors are desirous that exhibitors license their short subjects and news reels in preference to those of their competitors. As a result a practice has grown up in the industry whereby the distributors insist that exhibitors shall license their short subjects and news reels in order to obtain feature pictures. The record before this Board shows that certain exhibitors who buy feature pictures from several distributors have been forced to buy so many short subjects and news reels that they cannot possibly use them all in the course of a year. They are forced to pay for them, however, whether they use them or not. Producers who do not make feature pictures, but are entirely engaged in producing short subjects, are also put at a disadvantage because of inability to sell their films to such exhibitors.

LABOR CHANGES UNDER ADVISEMENT

Due to its desire to submit the report as promptly as possible, and because of lack of time, the Darrow Board withheld any recommendations relative to changes in the labor provisions of the code. The question is under consideration, but the report indicates the board is unable to note its findings. It will, however, do so as promptly as possible at a later date, the report states.

A solution of this condition is attempted to be reached by Part 5, Section D, Article V of the Code; but this provision still allows the distributors to force on the exhibitors more short subjects than they can use; and exempts news reels from the operation of the provision. This board believes that this practice is unfair to the independent exhibitor; and that he should have the right to buy such number of short subjects and news reels as he desires and needs; and that he should have the right to make a selection from those offered him.

It is also unfair to the exclusive producer of short subjects who has no feature pictures to sell, as it allows the producers who make both short subjects and feature pictures to fill up the exhibitors programs to the exclusion of their short subjects. This Board therefore recommends that Part 5, Section D, Article V, be stricken from the Code, and the following provision substituted therefor:

Part 5. No Distributor shall require as a condition of entering into a contract for the licensing of the exhibition of motion pictures that the Exhibitor contract also for the licensing of short subjects and news reels. Any violation of this part shall be deemed to be an unfair trade practice.

A great deal of criticism and objection has been made to this clause of the Code by independent exhibitors appearing before this Board. They all protested that it was drawn entirely in favor of the distributors, and gave the latter the right to dictate to the exhibitor what pictures he should license for his theatre.

It appears that the custom has grown up in the industry in recent years whereby the distributors lease certain pictures on a percentage basis, providing that a percentage of the gross receipts shall be the rental for a picture. This is usually applied only to the best and most popular pictures. Originally a small percentage was required, but at present percentages as high as thirty-five and forty per cent are being exacted. The most desirable days in the motion picture industry for the showing of pictures are Saturday, Sunday and Holidays. Because of this, the distributors are generally insistent that successful pictures be played by the exhibitor on these days, and they require up to thirty-five per cent of the gross receipts for the licensing of the picture. This practice exacts an undue amount from the exhibitor, in that those two days are considered to be equal to two and three times the value of the other five days in the week, so far as the receipts are concerned.

Another of the principal objections raised by the exhibitors is that this practice prevents them from choosing the type of picture best suited to their clientele.

It was brought out that in many communities such pictures as those featuring certain stars are not suitable for exhibition on Sundays, but the distributor insists that the pictures be shown on that day because of the greater return he receives. In many cases the exhibitor would rather show popular pictures in the middle of the week in order to enjoy additional receipts so as to carry him over the slack period of the week. By the practice of designating play days, it takes the control of the operation of the theatre out of the hands of the theatre owner and puts it in the hands of the distributors.

Another objection is that with each of the major distributors insisting on designating play days for certain of his pictures, all of the preferred playing time in the theatre passes out of the hands of the theatre owner and is given to the sales executives of the distributors. It also preempts the preferred playing time for the major distributors to the exclusion of independent distributors who may have pictures which deserve to be shown on these days.

The provision appears to be one solely in favor of the producers and distributors, and in the opinion of this Board is unfair to the small independent exhibitor. It is therefore recommended that all of Part 9 be stricken from the Code, and the following inserted in its place:

Part 9. No Distributor shall require any specific day or days of the week for the exhibition of specific pictures or class of pictures by exhibitors.

E. EXHIBITORS

Part 3, Section 1.

This section gives the distributor the right to fix a minimum price of admission for any theatre by the contract licensing the exhibition of any particular picture. It obviously is intended to allow the producers and distributors to require that certain of their successful pictures be exhibited at a minimum price by all of the theatres to which they are sold. No such provision should be in the Code. The distributors and producers should not have the right to fix admission prices of theatres not owned by them. It is generally the custom for a theatre to have an established scale of admission, and it certainly should be within the discretion of the exhibitor what price should be charged by him in his theatre. The price obviously would never be lowered by the license contract, but would undoubtedly be raised whenever the distributor found that a certain picture was a box office success. In addition to taking away the theatre owner's right to fix the admission scale he desires to have, such a provision may cause a loss to the exhibitor by alienating many of his patrons who would object to paying an increased price over the ordinary scale of admission to see a successful picture.

This Board, therefore, recommends that all of Section 1, beginning with the word "or" in line 3, p. 247 of the Code be stricken, and that the following sentence be added immediately after the word "public" in said line 3:

This Section shall not be deemed to prohibit exhibitors from reducing or increase their admission scales as they see fit.

Section 3.

Section 3 Part 3 should be stricken in its entirety. It gives the local grievance board, provided for later in the Code, the right to direct that distributors of motion pictures boycott any exhibitor who violates any provision of Part 3, subdivision E, Article V. It not only gives power to prevent the delivery of pictures in future contracts, but also allows the grievance board to prohibit the delivery of any pictures under existing contracts. In other words, it will prevent an exhibitor from obtaining any films for his theatre should the local board find him guilty of any violation of this Part; and he would have to close his theatre.

LOCAL BOARDS 'NOT REPRESENTATIVE'

In a brief filed with this Board by several of the major producers, it is claimed that this boycott provision only relates to the section prohibiting the giving of premiums, or lowering the admission price by lottery, etc. The language used in Section 3, however, does not limit the power to this situation but expressly states that, if a local grievance board finds that an exhibitor has violated "any provisions of this Part," it should have the power to prevent deliveries of films to him. The "Part" in which this section is included contains four sections, and one of them is the section allowing the distributor to fix the price of admission which the exhibitor should charge during the exhibition of any picture.

Such a power as is conferred by this provision should not be given to any industry board, and certainly not a board made up of business competitors. The livelihood of all exhibitors in a territory subject to the jurisdiction of any local grievance board would be placed in the hands of that board under such a provision, and the board could close the theatre of any exhibitor should it in the board's opinion be guilty of violating any of this Part.

This Board recommends that Section 3, Part 3, Subdivision E, Article V, be stricken from the Code.

F. DISTRIBUTORS—EXHIBITORS

Part 1.

This Part relates to the use of the Optional Standard License Agreement (1933) by distributors and exhibitors.

It contains a provision, however, that the individual distributor may insert in the Schedule of such license contracts any provisions it desires relating to sales policies, providing that they are not contrary to any provisions of the Code.

Complaint has been made to this Board on behalf of independent producers to the effect that the provision of the Code referred to, relating to sales policies, works a grave injustice upon them; in that it allows the major distributors to insert provisions in their contracts covering practices in the industry which are not touched upon in the Code.

Particular objection is raised on the question of "double features." This is the practice of a motion picture theatre of showing two feature films at a single performance. It caused a great deal of controversy at the time the Code was being formulated, and, after proposals had been made regarding this question by the several interested divisions of the industry, all reference to it was finally left out of the Code. So far as the Code is concerned, therefore, it is a matter to be decided entirely by the individual exhibitor.

The independent producers and distributors who complained to this Board said that many of the major producing and distributing companies have adopted the practice of inserting by rubber stamp, in many of the contracts they are making with exhibitors, a provision to the effect that the feature pictures covered by these contracts are not to be shown on the same program with any other feature picture. It is stated that such a provision is being inserted in feature picture contracts in the City of Chicago by seven producer-distributors, six of whom are the major producing-distributing companies, and the other one is a leading producer of short subjects. The effect of this provision, as used in Chicago, is to drive out of business in that territory the independent distributors who are making features pictures. It is pointed out that, if a similar policy is adopted by the major producers and distributors in New York and other large territories, the loss of business to the independent producers and distributors will put them completely out of business. It was further called to the attention of the Board that in the consent decree against Fox-West Coast Theatres and others in a proceeding by the Department of Justice, on August 21, 1930, it was expressly held to be an unfair trade practice to interfere with the right of exhibitors to "exhibit two (2) feature motion pictures on one program."

Such a provision is entirely unfair, both to the independent producers and distributors and to the independent exhibitors, who, because of the necessity to meet competition of affiliated theatres, find it necessary to offer double features on their programs. It is another interference with the right of the exhibitor to operate his theatre as he thinks best to meet competition or the desires of his patrons. If the practice is one which it is to the interest of the industry to eliminate, there should be a provision in the Code to that effect; but no such provision is contained therein.

The Board recommends that Part 1, Section F, be amended by inserting the following words at the end thereof:

"Provided, however, that such additional conditions or provisions shall not prohibit any exhibitor from contracting for the licensing of the exhibition at the same performance of any motion picture from any other Distributor."

Part 6.

This section deals with the right of the exhibitors to eliminate a certain percentage of films from any contract by which they have bought any blocks of films.

As this Section appears in the Code, it does not allow the exhibitor a sufficient percentage of eliminations. It also includes a provision limiting the benefits under the clause to exhibitors whose license fees for all pictures average not more than $250,000. This prevents an independent exhibitor who has a first-class theatre which competes with affiliated circuit theatres, and which pays an average of more than $250,000 per film, from the right to eliminate any pictures.

This Board, therefore, recommends that Part 6 be changed as follows:

Strike out the following words beginning in line 4, of part 6:
"and the license fees of all thereof average not more than $250,000."

Change the words "ten percent (10%)," in line 6 of said Part, to "fifteen percent (15%)."

Strike out all of Paragraphs (2) and (3) of Paragraphs (b) of Part 6.

ARTICLE VI

Part 1, Section 2, Clearance and Zoning

This Section sets up boards whose duty it is to classify theatres in the order in which they may show pictures. The function of the boards is vital to independent exhibitors. This subject in recent years has caused a great deal of disturbance in the industry, and the period of clearance allowed first-run theatres has been extended to an unreasonable extent. Affiliated and large circuit theatres in larger centers have been able to secure periods of clearance for their subsequent-run theatres which have resulted in independent exhibitors having to wait to show pictures until after all affiliated and circuit theatres have shown the pictures. In many instances the independent theatres thus discriminated against are better equipped and larger than the affiliated or circuit theatres.

Independent theatre owners in some instances have taken the matter to the courts; and have obtained relief against unreasonable clearance schedules on the ground that the producers and distributors have combined together to put into effect clearance schedules that were unreasonable and unfair to independent theatre owners: and that such action on the part of the producers and distributors was a violation of the anti-trust laws. Giving these boards, therefore, the right by agreement to fix clearance and zoning schedules is establishing by this Code a practice which the courts have held to violate the law when done by producers and distributors in combination.

It is believed by this board, however, that the establishment and operation of such boards as provided for in the Code offers a possible solution to this troublesome question. But, to make any such provision effective, the boards thus established must be truly representative of all the theatres in each exchange territory. The boards as established by this part of the Code are not so representative.

(Continued on following page)

Public Declared Reliant On Independent Theatres

Following a classification of theatres in the country, the report says:

"The public relies, to a great extent, on these independent theatres for its opportunity to see and enjoy motion pictures, and is therefore greatly affected by any oppressive measures which are used against them. In the motion picture industry the interest of the public is largely that of the independent theatre owner, because a larger proportion of the public is served by the independent theatres than by the circuit theatres."

WOULD REALIGN CLEARANCE BOARDS

They are dominated by the distributors and first-run exhibitors, whose interests are the same. There are only two independent subsequent-run exhibitors provided for on the boards. The interests of distributors and first run theatres being identical as opposed to subsequent-run independent theatres, it is obvious that, in the fixing of these clearance and zoning schedules, the voting strength of the boards will be four to two against the independent subsequent-run exhibitors.

It is further provided that the members of the boards shall be appointed by the Code Authority, which as at present constituted is dominated by the affiliated producers, distributors and exhibitors. It has been brought to the attention of this Board that, in appointing the clearance and zoning boards, the majority of the Code Authority has insisted on appointing the unaffiliated members of such boards; and has often named as such members individuals who are connected with the affiliated interests. The Code Authority is also reported to have selected as secretaries of the various boards the former secretaries of the Film Boards of Trade, which were a part of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., which is a powerful organization of producers and distributors. Such actions show clearly that, under the present provisions governing the constitution of these boards, the independent subsequent-run theatres do not have any proper representation; and their interests are entirely in the hands of the affiliated group.

This Board believes that, while the clearance and zoning boards should be kept, their membership should be so provided for that independent exhibitors will not only be assured of fair representation; but that they will have the right to select their representatives.

The representative of the Code Authority on these boards should also have the right to a vote on all matters before the boards. It is therefore recommended that Section 2 be stricken from the Code, and the following inserted in its place:

Sec. 2. Each such board shall consist of two representatives of distributors, one of whom shall be a National Distributor with theatre affiliations, and one of whom shall be a distributor without theatre affiliations; two representatives of first-run theatres located in such territory, one of whom shall be an affiliated Exhibitor, if there be one, and one of whom shall be an unaffiliated exhibitor; and four representatives of subsequent-run unaffiliated exhibitors operating within such territory; and one person appointed by the administrator, who shall have no direct or indirect affiliation with any branch of the motion picture industry, who shall be regarded as the impartial representative of the Code Authority. Each member of such board shall have a vote. The distributor representative shall be chosen by the representatives of the distributors located in the territory; the affiliated theatre representatives shall be chosen by the representatives of the affiliated theatres located in the territoy; and the unaffiliated exhibitors located in the territory; and all such selections shall be certified to the Code Authority and the Administrator. There shall be a chairman of each board, selected by a majority vote of the members of the board. Any vacancy in the board shall be filled from the class of members in which the vacancy occurred.

ZONING BOARD CHANGE URGED

The Darrow Board suggests a realignment of the makeup of the Clearance and Zoning Boards, to be composed as follows: two representatives of distributors, one national with theatre affiliations; two representatives of first run theatres, one affiliated, one unaffiliated; four representatives of subsequent run unaffiliated exhibitors; one person appointed by the administrator.

Section 3.

The Code was approved by the President November 27, 1933, but at the time of this hearing the clearance and zoning boards had not functioned: although the Code provides that they should formulate their schedules before January 1, 1934. It will take some time to select the members of the boards under the proposed changed Section 2, and it is therefore recommended that Section 3 be changed as follows:

Strike out the words "promptly after its creation and prior to January 1, 1934," in line 2, and insert in lieu thereof the words "within 60 days after its creation."

Section 4.

This section is argumentative, and can be construed as an attempt to influence the clearance and zoning boards in their decisions. It is to be assumed that the members of the boards will know what factors to consider in preparing their clearance and zoning schedules, and will give due regard thereto. All the members will be men experienced in their several branches of the industry, and it is not necessary for the Code to instruct them as to their duties. Such instructions and argumentative material have no place in the Code, and the Board recommends that all of Section 4 be stricken from the Code.

Section 7.

The boards as constituted by the proposed Section 2 will be representative of the industry in each exchange territory; and should be able to make fair, equitable, and impartial decisions. Their decisions should be final, so that an exhibitor will not be put to the time and expense of appearing before the Code Authority in New York.

Under paragraph (b) of Section 7, as at present written, new evidence may be presented to the Code Authority in New York. This is unfair to the aggrieved exhibitor, because he is forced to meet additional evidence of which he has no notice. As the head offices of the producers, distributors and affiliated theatres are in New York, he is placed at a disadvantage; in that, if the complaint is against an affiliated theatre, he may be met with an array of figures or facts of which he had no notice and has not the means at hand to defend himself against. The decision on appeal should be on the record before the clearance and zoning board which heard the matter. In appeals to a higher court, the case is decided on the record before the lower court; and not on new and additional facts.

The Board recommends that Section 7 be changed as follows:

Strike from (a) the following:

Beginning with the word "any" in line 11, down to and including the words "Code Authority" at the end of the paragraph.

Strike out all of (b), Section 7.

Section 8.

Strike from Section 8 (a) the following in lines 2 and 3:

"and/or decisions of the Code Authority upon any appeal to it."

Part 2. Grievance Boards

This part deals with the establishment of grievance boards to hear and determine complaints between exhibitors regarding the licensing of pictures, or operating policy of theatres, or prevention of bringing pressure to bear on a distributor to keep pictures away from an exhibitor, or any other act which deprives the complaining exhibitor of a sufficient number of pictures to operate his theatre. The jurisdiction of the boards is limited to complaints involving the theatres which are set forth in Section 1 of Part 2.

The effort of this Board has been to retain the various provisions of the Code which are contained therein, only making such changes as are necessary to properly protect the rights of the independent exhibitors; and to prevent the Code from becoming oppressive and monopolistic as against these independents. With this thought in mind, certain changes are recommended to be made in the existing Code so as to make these grievance boards fair in their composition and operation.

Section 1.

This board recommends that the word "and" in line 4, Sec. 1, be changed to "or,"

In paragraph (d) of Sec. 1 the word "and" in the first line of said paragraph should be changed to "or."

Section 4.

This Section of Part 2 provides that the boards may hear any complaint or grievances of exhibitors or distributors concerning provisions of the Code or otherwise which are not specifically designated in the Code to be heard or passed upon by the Code Authority, or by arbitration, or by the local grievance board, or by the local clearance and zoning board. The grievance board, however, has no authority to decide any such complaints or grievances; but can only either certify the matter to the Code Authority for determination, or dismiss the complaint with the right to appeal to the Code Authority. Under such conditions it is not believed that such a provision is of any use in the Code. If the Code Authority is a body which is to pass on complaints, it would seem better to provide that such complaints be made direct to the Code Authority; rather than require the exhibitor to present his case first before the local grievance board and then present it again to the Code Authority.

If the local grievance board is to hear complaints and grievances such as are provided for in Section 4, it should have the power to determine them as it does with complaints involving exhibitors, with the right of appeal to the Code Authority. This Board, therefore, recommends that Section 4 be changed as follows:

Sec. 4. All complaints and grievances of exhibitors or distributors concerning provisions of this code, or otherwise, and not specifically designated to be heard or passed upon in the first instance by the Code Authority, or by arbitration, or by the local clearance and zoning board, shall be heard by the Local Grievance Board, and said board shall make findings of fact in regard to the complaints and grievances submitted to it. The Local Grievance Board upon the facts found shall make an award (a) dismissing the complaint, or, (b) granting such local relief as the local board may deem proper. The Local Grievance Boards shall not have the power to award damages. All proceedings before the Local Grievance Board and before the Code Authority, in the event the action of the Local Grievance Board is appealed, shall be within the periods of time hereinafter prescribed in this Part.

ASKS GRIEVANCE BOARD CHANGES

Section 5.

This section prevents an exhibitor from making any complaint to a local grievance board based upon the fact that a distributor has licensed the motion pictures distributed by it to theatres under its own operation. This provision is unfair to the independent exhibitor; because it prevents him from complaining about any action based upon the fact that the distributor has favored its own theatre in the leasing of pictures, no matter how much it may affect his theatre. It is entirely possible that complaints may arise on the part of an independent exhibitor because a distributor with whom he has business dealings has leased its pictures to its own theatres. It does not appear that such a provision should be included in the Code, and such a limitation be placed upon the right of the independent exhibitor to make complaint regarding any such situation as may arise involving these circumstances.

It is recommended that Section 5 be stricken from the Code.

Section 6.

This Section provides for the establishment of local grievance boards, and states that they shall be appointed by the Code Authority. This is an improper provision. The members of the local grievance board should be selected by the exhibitors in whose territory they operate. The same remarks apply to this provision as were made regarding the similar provisions giving the Code Authority the right to appoint members of the clearance and zoning boards.

The Section further provides that the local grievance boards shall consist of two representatives of distributors, one with theatre affiliations and one without theatre affiliations; and two representatives of exhibitors, one an affiliated exhibitor, with one person, to be regarded as a representative of the Code Authority, who is not connected with any branch of the motion picture industry.

Such a constitution of the local grievance boards is arbitrary and unfair, and favors the producers and distributors. The principal matters to be passed upon by the local grievance boards, as provided in the Code, are complaints of one exhibitor against another exhibitor. In such complaints, it is not necessary that a representative of the distributors be a member of the local grievance board.

However, as Section 4 of this Part provides certain other complaints and grievances, including those of distributors, to be passed upon by the local grievance board; it is believed that the distributors should have a representative on such board. As the boards now stand, and in view of the fact that the interests of the distributors are the same, and that the affiliated exhibitor is connected with one of the distributors; the vote of the local grievance board would probably be three to one against the independent exhibitor. It is believed that the boards should consist of one representative of distributors and three representatives of exhibitors, one of whom shall be an affiliated exhibitor, together with one additional person who shall have no direct or indirect affiliation with any branch of the motion picture industry.

Section 6 (a) should be changed to read as follows:

There shall be established a Local Grievance Board in each exchange territory. Each of such boards shall consist of one representative of Distributors, either with theatre affiliations, or without theatre affiliations; and three representatives of exhibitors, one of whom shall be an affiliated exhibitor, if there be one, and two of whom shall be unaffiliated exhibitors; and one person who shall have no direct or indirect affiliations with any branch of the motion picture industry, who shall be approved by the Administrator, and who shall be regarded as the impartial representative of the Code Authority. Each member of such board shall have a vote.

The distributor representative shall be chosen by the representatives of the distributors located in the territory; the affiliated exhibitor representative shall be chosen by the representatives of the affiliated exhibitors, located in the territory, and the unaffiliated exhibitor shall be chosen by the representatives of the unaffiliated exhibitors located in the territory; and all such selections shall be certified to the Code Authority and the Administrator.

There shall be a chairman of each board selected by a majority vote of the members of the board. Any vacancy in the board shall be filled from the class of members in which the vacancy occurred in the same manner as provided for the selection of the original members. No member of such board shall sit on any matter involving his own or his company's interest.

Section 7.

In Paragraph (c) of this Section it is provided that any person appealing from the decision of the Local Grievance Board may appear before the Code Authority and present additional evidence. The same comment applies to this provision as in the similar provisions included in the Part relating to clearance and zoning boards. The decision on appeal to the Code Authority should be based entirely upon the evidence presented before the local grievance board, and neither party should have the right to introduce any additional evidence. It is very unusual procedure to allow an appellate body to receive new evidence in determining a matter appealed to it. In appealing decisions of lower courts to higher courts, the latter court is limited strictly to the evidence heard by the court below. To provide otherwise, as is done in this Code, is unfair to the parties to the proceeding, as pointed out heretofore, and makes the original hearing before the local grievance board a useless expenditure of time and money. It is therefore recommended that the following change be made in paragraph (c) of Section 7:

Section 7.

Strike out the words "and present additional evidence" in line 2 of paragraph (c).

Strike out the words "and considering the additional evidence" in line 4 of paragraph (c).

Section 8.

This provision is entirely unwarranted and oppressive. There should be no time limit put upon any one engaged in the industry in making complaints. The privileges of the Code should be open to all engaged in the industry at any time.

It is recommended that Section 8 be stricken from the Code, and the following section inserted in lieu thereof:

Sec. 8. The Code Authority shall cooperate with the Administrator in the furnishing of the N. R. A. code insignia to all producers, distributors, and exhibitors who assent to the Code in the manner prescribed by the Code Authority. The Code Authority also shall cooperate with the Administrator in investigating alleged violations of the Code by the possessors of the N. R. A. code insignia to the end that the same may be withdrawn from any producer, distributor, or exhibitor violating the code or any of the applicable provisions thereof. Evidence of assent to the Code shall be filed

"Epithets Will Not Prevail Against It," Declares Myers

by ABRAM F. MYERS

Allied States Association

There is not an exhibitor who does not believe that the motion picture code was written by the "Big Eight" in their own interests. The Darrow report will confirm that conviction.

The Darrow document is weakened by its advocacy of Socialistic policies, but its findings and recommendations on the motion picture code are fully justified.

Epithets will not prevail against it.

SUGGESTS BLOCK BOOKING INQUIRY

with the Code Authority within thirty days from the approval hereof.

Part 3.

In view of the recommendation that the membership of the local grievance boards and clearing and zoning boards shall be selected by the respective representatives of the industry comprising such boards, and not appointed by the Code Authority as provided in the present Code, it is recommended that the word "appointed," in the first line of Part 3, be changed to "selected."

Part 4.

It is recommended that the following should be stricken from this Part:

"and the Code Authority shall fill the vacancy so caused by designating a representative of the same class."

and the following inserted in lieu thereof:

"and the vacancy shall be filled by designating a representative from the same class in the manner herein provided for initial appointments."

The above represents all of the changes in the Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry which this Board is in a position to suggest at this time. There are, however, certain other important questions involved in this industry which have been left out of the Code and upon which this Board has certain well-defined views. The two principal questions of this character are the Right to Buy Films and Block Booking.

RIGHT TO BUY FILMS AND BLOCK BOOKING

The question of the right to buy films in free and open competition and the problem of block booking, are problems the solution of which are vital to the successful operation of the Code, in order to prevent monopoly and monopolistic practices and oppression of the small branches of the industry. It was developed before the Board that the motion picture industry is unique in that it is probably the only industry in which many of its members do not have the absolute right to buy the products necessary for the conduct of their businesses. The reasons for this condition are too numerous to be set forth at this time.

The question of block booking is one which has caused a great deal of controversy in the industry for many years, and is one against which the independent exhibitors protest most vigorously. It appears to this Board that the protests against this practice have merit, and that solution of the problem must be reached. While this Board has definite ideas and recommendations as to how the Code should be amended so as to prevent the injustices to the independent exhibitors flowing from the deprivation of their right to buy films, yet the Board feels that the active cooperation of the industry as a whole is necessary to the correction of this evil as well as the evil of block booking; and that a large proportion of the industry is not only capable but anxious to solve these problems within its own ranks.

In suggesting a committee to work out these two problems, this board has endeavored to provide for the formation of one which will be evenly divided between the major companies and independent exhibitors.

It is therefore provided that the members of the committee representing the major companies be named by the affiliated representatives on the Code Authority, and that the representatives of the independent exhibitor interests be named by the unaffiliated members of the Code Authority, with the additional provision that such selection shall be by unanimous vote, and in the event that no such unanimous vote can be had, to be named by the chairman of the National Recovery Review Board.

This Board therefore recommends to the President the following:

That a committee of nine members be appointed, the expense of organization and operation of which shall be borne by the Code Authority, to consider the questions of the "Right to Buy Films in Free and Open Competition by Exhibitors, and Block Booking."

The members of the committee shall be two representatives of Producers and two representatives of Distributors, to be chosen by the affiliated Producer, Distributor, and Exhibitor members of the Code Authority; and four independent theatre owners, to be chosen by the unaffiliated Producer, Distributor, and Exhibitor members of the Code Authority, by unanimous vote, and in the event that such unanimous vote cannot be had within ten days, then said independent theatre owners shall be named by the chairman of the National Recovery Review Board. None of such independent theatre owners shall be in any way affiliated or connected with any producing or distributing company, and shall be independent theatre owners engaged in the exhibition branch of the motion picture industry. None of the independent theatre owners shall be officers or members of any association which receives support or aid from any producer or distributor, or a producer or distributor association. There shall be a chairman of the committee, who shall be chosen by a majority vote of the above-described eight members of the committee and who shall not have any direct personal interest in any branch of the motion picture industry. In the event that the eight members of the committee cannot agree upon a chairman within ten days, then the chairman of the Federal Trade Commission shall name the chairman of the committee.

The said committee shall study the questions of the Right to Buy Films in Free and Open Competition, and Block Booking, and shall submit a report to the Code Authority and the President of the United States, suggesting provisions to be included in the Code governing these two questions. Said report shall be submitted on or before August 1, 1934, and shall be effective immediately upon approval by the President.

The Board calls the attention of the President to the fact that, like many other code and committee proceedings, the danger to the industry and to the consumer lies in the fact that Code committees are often dilatory and negligent in performing the duties assigned to them; as is evidenced by the Motion Picture Code, which was approved November 27, 1933, but has only within the last few days organized its local boards; in spite of the fact that it was mandatory upon them under the Code to have them organized and functioning January 1, of this year. To guard against such dilatory and negligent practices by the committee suggested above, the Board recommends that in the event this committee does not submit its report to the Code Authority for approval by the President on August 1, 1934, that Article V, D, be amended by adding at the end thereof the following:

Part 13. It shall be an unfair method of competition to deny to any exhibitor the right to buy in free and open competition whatever run or runs of pictures he requires for the operation of his theatre.

Part 14. No distributor shall require as a condition of entering into a contract for the licensing of feature motion pictures that the exhibitor shall contract for or lease any feature pictures as a condition to the opportunity to lease all or a portion of the remaining feature pictures produced or distributed by said producer or distributor during any stated period of time. Any violation of this part is declared to be an unfair method of competition.

There are other provisions of the Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry relating specifically to labor provisions in the exhibitor section, against which complaints were registered by witnesses who appeared before this Board; but, owing to its desire to make its report promptly and because it believes that the changes suggested in this report are necessary and should be put into effect immediately, this Board has not made any report upon these other provisions of the Code. It begs leave to reserve the right to postpone recommendations thereon until such later time as it may have an opportunity to consider these other provisions.

Note: With respect to the recommendation above, namely, that the chairman of this Board shall appoint the four (4) members representing Independent Exhibitor interests on the Arbitration Commission heretofore described in the event that the five (5) members of the Code Authority do not unanimously agree on a selection; the Board begs to report to the President that this procedure was adopted with the approval of both sides. The chairman of this Board accepted this responsibility reluctantly and only after a number of alternative plans had been proposed and rejected by the interested parties. It is to be understood that the chairman is to receive no compensation if it should become necessary for him to accept this responsibility.

"Report Is So Unfair It Will Have No Weight"

by ED KUYKENDALL

President of MPTOA

The Darrow report shows an amazing disregard for facts and is not the sentiment of any appreciable number of theatre owners. This committee only heard a few disgruntled persons, most of whom are professional organizers and creators of lawsuits and strife. Mr. Darrow has been imposed upon by this little group.

The report is so manifestly unfair it will have no weight. I, personally, and the MPTOA, have complete faith in the NRA, the President and Sol A. Rosenblatt's ability and integrity.

NRA ANSWERS DARROW

Disorderly Mess, Richberg Charges

Herewith is the text of the reply of Donald R. Richberg to that part of the Darrow Board report concerning the Motion Picture Code. Answers were made by General Johnson, Mr. Richberg, NRA counsel, and Sol A. Rosenblatt, deputy administrator.

The record of this hearing by the Review Board is a revelation of its methods. The Board reports that the Deputy Administrator "was invited to testify but refused to do so." The record, including a letter from the Deputy Administrator, shows that he not only offered to testify, but to make all his records available to the Board.

The Code was assented to in writing by 9039 members of the industry. 21 complaining witnesses were heard by the Board, including 15 out of 7,500 theatre operators. In contrast to 14 hours and 20 minutes of "hearings" by the Board, NRA spent over 1200 hours on the drafting of the code, heard 206 witnesses and obtained a Code acceptable, not only to the industry, but approved by all the advisory boards of NRA representing industry, labor, consumers, economic research and law.

The Board acted solely on the basis of a disorderly mess of unsworn and largely false testimony of a few malcontents (many of them discredited by previously illegal practices), covering only 8 out of 288 subdivisions of the Code, and arrived at sweeping conclusions upon the entire Code founded on obvious ignorance of the Code, of the industry and the law. The detailed analysis of the Board's action shows conclusively that the investigation was carried on with utter disregard for fair play and that the conclusions of the Board are unworthy of the slightest consideration.

Anyone adequately informed concerning the industry could learn without difficulty, as is evident from the volume of support given the Code and the small volume of complaint, that the Code is of incalculable benefit to the small enterprises of the inquiry and affords great relief from the monopolistic effects of the copyright laws and other property rights which give legal advantages of an oppressive character to large enterprises, which they are required under the Code to forego to a considerable extent. A return to the "savage, wolfish" competition advocated by the Board would mean simply an enlargement of monopolistic power sanctioned by law.

The refusal of the Board even to receive correct information is shown in its rejection of the brief filed by seven producing-distributing companies. The Board specifically agreed to the presentation of testimony through this brief —since all other testimony was unsworn—and then disregarded it on the announced basis that since these major producers-distributors "could have appeared and testified" their brief should not be given serious consideration. Thus by giving no attention to the vast files of information of the NRA, or the principal testimony offered in support of the Code, and by refusing to listen to the exceptionally well-informed Deputy Administrator, the Board was able to arrive at findings contrary to fact and conclusions contrary to any intelligent opinion.

Johnson Calls Board Unfit To Supply Fair Criticism

Following is the text of a letter under date of May 15, 1934, from General Hugh S. Johnson, Administrator, to President Roosevelt, answering the report of the National Recovery Review Board.

Dear Mr. President:

Attached hereto are the reports of each Divisional Administrator replying to the strictures of the Darrow Report, and a summary of the latter by our General Counsel, Donald Richberg—all of which I have carefully read and with all of which I agree. A more superficial, intemperate and inaccurate document than the report, I have never seen.

In the hope of an impartial forum to which "little fellows" might complain, I agreed with Senator Nye on the creation of the Board and, as the record demonstrates, nobody could have shown more good faith than I in its composition. But this Board is not in good faith. It assumes, after a few hours of cavalier inquiry and prejudiced and one sided testimony, to pass on codes upon which we have spent days and weeks of inquiry and negotiation.

It impugns the motives of the Divisional Administrator in the motion picture code because he formerly worked for an attorney who has clients in that field, and it asks his removal. Nobody here has rendered more public-spirited, disinterested and intelligent service than this Divisional Administrator.

In my judgment, this Board has missed a great opportunity for a real public service. As it is now acting, it is of no service to anybody—it is a political sounding board. In view of its fixed prejudices and partisanship and its unfair methods of taking and reporting on testimony, the conclusion is inescapable that the Board is not proceeding in good faith to fulfill its public obligations. Its continuance as an agency of government would enable it to promote private purposes at the public expense, and in my judgment would impair seriously the usefulness of the National Recovery Administration. The Board was established at my suggestion to supply fair and constructive criticism. It is clearly incapable of fulfilling this function and, therefore, I recommend that it be abolished forthwith.

Sincerely,
HUGH S. JOHNSON,
Administrator.

Rosenblatt Calls Report Prejudiced

Following is the text of the comment of Sol A. Rosenblatt, Deputy Administrator in charge of Amusement Codes, in reply to the report of the Review Board.

I. STATEMENT

If the Report of the National Recovery Review Board is intended to be a mere expression of opinion concerning the Motion Picture Code, the members who signed it are entitled to their opinion.

If the Report is intended to be a conclusion based on testimony and findings of fact, it can easily be demonstrated that it is wholly unwarranted, unjust, prejudiced and ignorantly contrived.

A fair analysis of the Report of the National Recovery Review Board reveals that it is composed of three parts.

The first is a formal legal conclusion that the Code is designed to promote monopolies and oppress small enterprise. This conclusion is unsupported by any factual basis.

The second is a number of recommendations with respect to certain sections of the Code. These recommendations, it will be demonstrated later, are unscientific, inaccurate, unfair and inequitable. Frequently they are based on flagrant misconceptions of the provisions of the Code. Many of them are founded in the biased views of the National Recovery Review Board unsupported by a scintilla of evidence in the record.

The third is the acceptance by the Board of the malicious, previously disproven, and slanderous attacks upon the Deputy Administrator, and a recommendation that he be removed. The Report itself does not even pretend to justify this recommendation, which is totally unsupported by even the slightest proof of any kind and is based solely upon the vicious mouthings, innuendoes and conjecture of a few disgruntled and disappointed enemies of the National Industrial Recovery Act and particularly of the Motion Picture Code.

II. CONTRAST BETWEEN DRAFTING OF CODE AND REPORT

A. The Code and the Report

Seventy-nine days and nights of continuous labor on behalf of all elements of the industry preceded the submission of a voluntary code to the President.

The overwhelming majority of all interests in the industry, Exhibitor, Distributor and Producer, independent and otherwise, expressed their satisfaction with the code as submitted and signed. 9,039 written assents to the Code have been filed with the Code Authority. Of this number 8,950 assents represent theatres, 60 represent distributors covering 31 Exchange territories, and 29 represent producers.

Of the 400 codes now in existence, the Motion Picture Code is one of two which have encompassed in one document the conflicting interests of Exhibitor, Distributor and Producer. For thirty years these conflicts have been insoluble. For thirty years no agreement could be arrived at amongst the contending forces. Through the efforts of the Deputy Administrator, who labored eighteen and twenty hours a day over long periods with bickering, irritable groups, agreements substantially satisfactory to all but an insignificant, raucous minority were reached.

ROSENBLATT HITS BACK AT BOARD

During this process 206 representatives of every element of the industry as well as of the public testified or filed briefs presenting their respective conflicting views.

During this process 776 pages of testimony were taken and carefully considered.

During this process approximately 65 briefs, totaling 3,000 pages were submitted by the contending forces and carefully read and digested by the representatives of the National Recovery Administration.

During this process impartial representatives of the Labor Advisory Board, the Industrial Advisory Board, the Consumers' Advisory Board, the Division of Economic Research and Planning, and the Legal Division reviewed the testimony, briefs and arguments of the contending forces, and assisted in arriving at the final code draft to which they gave their official sanction.

Thus the Code now successfully being operated is the fruition of profound study, limitless patience, tolerant sacrifices by the respective groups of some of their previously unyielding positions; it tested the firmness and accuracy of testimony by immersing it in the contrasting testimony of hostile groups; it arrived at an impartial judicial determination of factual and legal disputes,—all with a patriotic zeal to further the President's Recovery Program by eradicating the "chiseler" and protecting the small man.

And now we have the Report of the National Recovery Review Board upon this effort. On what is it based?

According to the Report, four "hearings" were held, lasting 14 hours and 20 minutes. In contrast to over twelve hundred hours spent by the National Recovery Administration in drafting the Code, 14 hours and 20 minutes were spent by the National Recovery Review Board to determine that it was an abortive effort.

In contrast to the 206 witnesses who offered testimony or filed briefs in the National Recovery Administration proceedings, 21 witnesses made statements before the National Recovery Review Board.

In contrast to full consideration given by the National Recovery Administration to the conflicting views presented by all elements in the industry is the ex parte presentation by a small minority of "kickers" made to the National Recovery Review Board upon which its "Conclusions" were reached.

In contrast to the consideration by the National Recovery Administration of every phase of the present code, comprised of 288 subdivisions, is the consideration by the National Recovery Review Board of only eight subdivisions of the entire code, although conclusions were reached on other subdivisions.

The hearing before the National Recovery Review Board was not even a "star chamber" proceeding. It was no proceeding at all. The statements of a few discredited and disgruntled witnesses, some of whom have been found guilty by the Supreme Court of New York of being violators of the code provisions with respect to labor, and who, it will be demonstrated later, brazenly misstated facts, constitute the basis of the Report.

None but complaining witnesses were heard, and of 7,500 theatre operators in this country only 15 appeared before the Board to give unsworn statements.

Throughout the hearings before the National Recovery Review Board, Counsel for an Exhibitor Association which had from the first instant insisted that the N.I.R.A. did not apply to its members and which has attacked the N.R.A. in the courts and which has used every despicable means to obstruct and sabotage the President's Program—sat beside Counsel for the National Recovery Review Board and virtually engineered the entire proceedings. It was he who urged and probably wrote the recommendations for changes in the Code; recommendations, many of which after careful consideration had been rejected by independent exhibitors themselves.

SAYS FLAGRANT MISSTATEMENTS WERE ACCEPTED AS TRUTHS

Flagrant misstatements of fact were anxiously devoured by the Review Board, Ex parte accusations were accepted as the solemn truth despite volumes of testimony at hand to disprove them. Prejudice and factionalism were poured into the ears of the Board and were accepted in lieu of the impartial findings of months of investigation made by the National Recovery Administration on the same subjects.

Is the labor and wisdom of months of efforts to be upset by such undigested, hasty, one-sided and ill-considered opinions?

Is comfort to be given to the enemies of the National Recovery Administration who express their distaste for the labor provisions of the Act by hiding behind slogans such as "the oppression of the little man"?

Is this Report to be considered as if it were an impartial finding, based upon testimony and careful consideration?

If so, then it is fair that a judgment rendered in a court of law after two and a half months of trial shall be reversed on an ex parte hearing for a few hours of a few of the losing and discredited witnesses!

The first notice to the members of the Code Authority to appear before the National Recovery Review Board requested their attendance on March 26th at 9:30 A. M. That notice was received on March 26th at 10:00 A. M. In other words, the notice was received in New York one-half hour after the members were requested to appear in Washington. This was due to a misdirection of the notice by the Secretary of the National Recovery Review Board.

Subsequently, telegrams were sent requesting the members of the Code Authority to appear before the Board on Thursday at 10 o'clock. On that same day there had been previously scheduled at the same hour a meeting of the Code Authority, and consequently an adjournment was respectfully requested by letter on file with the National Recovery Review Board. The adjournment was granted and notification was given that a later date would be set.

Pursuant to arrangement between Counsel for the Board and the Acting Chairman of the Code Authority, conference was arranged between them in Washington. In view of the absence from New York of a number of the members of the Code Authority, and in view of the fact that the "testimony" being taken was unsworn, and that there was no cross-examination, it was agreed that a statement was to be filed with the Board and accepted in lieu of the appearance of witnesses. Reference to this arrangement appears at Page 350 in the minutes, and agreement to this arrangement by at least two members of the Board affirmatively appears. No objection by any other member was made.

Pursuant to this arrangement an answering statement by seven Distributing-Producing companies was filed.

Immediately upon its submission and in violation of the arrangement made, the Acting Chairman of the Code Authority was advised that this statement would not be considered as evidence but would be treated merely as a demurrer. In other words, the statements of complaining witnesses were to be deemed to be true and uncontradicted despite positive incontrovertible evidence in the answering statement that representations of fact made by these witnesses were absolutely false.

The National Recovery Review Board in its Report refers to this answering statement. It admits that an analysis of the various sections of the Code and the summary thereof set forth shows that the great majority of these sections of the Code are in favor of exhibitors. The Report takes no issue with this analysis.

It then recites that the answering statement reviews the testimony of Exhibitor witnesses and "purports to set forth facts showing that their testimony before this Board was misleading and false." The Report takes no issue with these facts showing that the witnesses before it had lied.

SAYS REPORT TAKES NO ISSUE WITH ANSWERING STATEMENTS

The report reveals that the answering statement recites the number of claims for breach of contract filed against the complaining Exhibitors. The Report takes no issue with the accuracy of these revelations. Its only comment is "this information is obviously put in for the purpose of discrediting the testimony of these witnesses". So it was! And one would imagine that the National Recovery Review Board would be interested in discovering that its witnesses had been discredited.

After virtually admitting the effectiveness of the answering statement in destroying the irresponsible statements of a few complaining witnesses, the Board reaches this remarkable conclusion:

"In view of the fact that the major Producers-Distributors knew of the hearing before this Board, and could have appeared and testi-

ROSENBLATT, CODE 'SABOTAGE VICTIMS'

In the face of the Darrow Board's recommendation that Mr. Rosenblatt be removed as Administrator of the Motion Picture Code, the NRA states:

"In the course of his labors he encountered many resistant forces, but with one exception their violence was due to disagreement on specific clauses and not to the ulterior purpose of blocking the submission of the Code.

"That one exception was a handful of so-called unaffiliated exhibitors and their counsel, whose deliberate purpose it was to sabotage the Code conferences."

CHARGES FALSE TESTIMONY USED

fied in defense of the Code if they so desired, this Board does not believe that the brief by these seven Producers-Distributors should be given serious consideration, particularly in view of the nature of many of the statements made therein."

Thus the Board, in violation of its arrangement and despite the incontrovertible factual exposure of the complainants' "testimony," contemptuously ignored the very evidence which would make its findings impossible.

No better evidence of the prejudice with which it proceeded can be had than that it deliberately pushed aside the truth and proceeded upon ex parte statements. That this is no overstatement is revealed by a glance at the answering statement rejected.

III. SAYS REPORT OF REVIEW BOARD IS BASED ON FALSE TESTIMONY

The Report makes no reference to the "Testimony" upon which its conclusions are based. It deliberately avoids any comment upon the statements of the complaining witnesses because such statements were proven to be fabricated and untruthful.

One witness testified that the Leonia Theatre in Leonia, New Jersey, is operated at present by the Fox Film Corporation. Another complaining witness appearing before the Board contradicted the preceding witness by stating that he himself and not the Fox Film Corporation operated that theatre (p. 96, 97). Consequently the point that this witness made that the Fox Film Corporation was the source of its difficulty was completely false.

The same witness testified that the Leonia Theatre gets priority of the big producers' pictures. The fact is exactly the reverse and this witness so admitted in a court proceeding in a Federal Court (Quittner against Paramount Publix Corporation, U. S. District Court, January 5, 1933, Stenographer's minutes, Page 243).

This witness testified that in his successful year in 1929 he had an income of $110,000. Yet even during this year he violated his contract so many times that fifteen suits were instituted against him. All these claims were proven justifiable and collected. Despite this fact set forth in the answering statement in detail the Report naively concludes that "Nothing further than the statement that the claims were filed is included in the brief."

This same witness further admitted in a court proceeding in the Federal Court that he had perjured himself in denying that a letter had been sent to him by a distributor, charging him with having made false box office reports (Quittner against Paramount Publix Corporation, Stenographer's minutes, p. 271.)

CHALLENGES TESTIMONY AFFILIATEDS PROFFERED

Another witness made the point that affiliated theatres were prospering at his expense. The fact is that his competitive theatre, the Paramount, was open only three months and went into bankruptcy. The theatre was then taken over by an independent operator.

Still another witness testified that

" . . . Since Warners came into the picture, they took all of the pictures away from us and forced this big house into second run position and put the first run pictures into this Lyndhurst Theatre."

This was not correct. Fox Pictures Corporation had made a new contract with the witness by giving all of its product first run to him. The United Artists Corporation which had previously given his opposition first run actually reversed the situation after Warners came into the field and gave the first run to the witness. In this instance the entrance into the field of Warner Brothers resulted in the witness acquiring a first-run which he did not previously have.

This witness further complained that after his theatre changed from a first run to a second run theatre, he was obliged to pay the same price for pictures he had paid before. This was untrue. He had received 19% reduction in price from Paramount and 20% reduction from Columbia. In other instances he had continued playing first run pictures although he represented otherwise when he made his statement to the Board.

Even more significant was this witness's complaint against the Code because of the burden it placed upon him in the form of increased cost of labor. Even a casual reading of the statements made to the National Recovery Board would reveal that the witnesses belonged to that group of patriotic citizens who want the benefit of the N.R.A. but are unwilling to bear any of its burdens. Their chagrin at being obliged to pay increased labor salaries is expressed in the form of a cry of the oppression of the "Little Man." They have not the courage to state their objection honestly.

ANOTHER WITNESS FOUND GUILTY OF VIOLATIONS ON LABOR

Still another witness, upon whose statement the Report is based, was found guilty by the N.R.A. Regional Compliance Board on February 24, 1934, of having violated the terms of the Code with respect to labor.

This witness also testified that for the same type of film for which he paid 35% of his gross income, he learned that the Warner Theatre paid 10%. The basis of his information was that he had received inadvertently a confirmation of billing to the circuit, Warner Theatre.

Mr. Sinclair, a member of the Board, asked whether he had this bill in his office and he stated that he had. It was promised to be produced upon the following hearing. It never was produced. Undoubtedly there is no such bill.

Furthermore, this witness has, on two separate occasions, been charged with violating the copyright laws of the United States with respect to unlawful exhibitions of motion pictures. On both occasions he settled the claims. He was revealed to be a notorious violator of contracts, there having been filed against him several hundred claims for breach of contract in a period of four years.

SCOFFS AT BOARD ZONING PROPOSAL

"The National Recovery Review Board was so gullible that it swallowed the recommendations of a few exhibitors, who, whatever their irresponsibility might have been, must have had their tongues in their cheeks when they made this proposal," said Sol A. Rosenblatt, referring to the Board's recommendation that Clearance and Zoning Boards should be composed of two distributors, one affiliated and one unaffiliated; two first run exhibitors, one affiliated and the other independent, and four subsequent run unaffiliated exhibitors.

Another Witness gave a dramatic recital of his visit to every major film company and his inability to obtain any pictures from them. The fact is that this same witness had contracted for 320 pictures from the large distributors for the Season 1933-1934. These features include 65 from Paramount, 53 from Fox, 48 from Metro., 45 from Universal, 37 from Columbia, 52 from RKO and 20 from United Artists.

Still another witness impressed the Board with the fact that there was discrimination in favor of the affiliated theatre because a large first-run theatre was paying $25.00 for the picture, "The Bowery" while he was paying $40.00 for the last run. He stated that he had learned this fact because a bill was accidentally forwarded to him by the film company instead of to his opposition theatre (p. 140). This was the second time that evidence of a witness was based on the extraordinary coincidence of the receipt improperly of a document addressed to someone else.

This statement, just as the previous one, proved to be untrue. The bill in the case of the picture "The Bowery", sent on film rental invoice No. 252, had no price upon it at all, since the contract had a total license fee without allocation of prices against individual pictures. Even, therefore, if the bill had been received by him, there could have been no price upon it.

Furthermore, the fact was that his competitor had paid more than three times the sum paid by this witness.

Another witness, who was not only an exhibitor but the president of an Exhibitor Association in New York, and who was one of those who "summed up" before the National Recovery Review Board, had submitted an affidavit in the Supreme Court of the State of New York in opposition to a motion for an injunction against the members of his Association for violating the N.R.A. labor provisions.

Supreme Court Justice Collins had disbelieved this witness's affidavit and held in an opinion:

"The evidence is quite convincing that as to wages and hours there has been a violation of the P.R.A., N.R.A., and the Code."

An injunction was accordingly issued restraining the members of the witness's Association

*"from violating directly or indirectly the provisions of the Code. * * * "*

This decision was affirmed by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of the State of New York.

CHARGES ILLUSTRATION OF ILLEGITIMATE MOTIVES

Thus the witness who had been most loquacious concerning the proper operation of the Code and upon whose testimony chiefly the Report is based, has been found guilty in a representative capacity by the Supreme Court of New York of being a violator of the provisions of the Code, — another forceful illustration of the illegitimate motives of the "chiseler" who testified before the National Recovery Review Board.

This witness testified that the independent operator could not continue to exist and that he was being crushed out of business. Yet this same witness has a chain of 16 theatres, 10 of which were acquired in 1933, one in February 1934, and two in April 1934, two weeks before he testified before the National Recovery Review Board.

DECLARES BLOCK BOOKING IS LEGAL

Since testifying before the Board, an article has appeared in a recognized trade paper of the industry that this witness is acquiring six more theatres!

This same witness filed on behalf of his Exhibitor Association affidavits in the Supreme Court of the State of New York attacking the constitutionality of the National Industrial Recovery Act. In voluminous briefs his counsel attempted to demonstrate that the Constitution of the United States had been torn shred from shred by the President's Recovery Program.

Again we have a ray of light on the real motives of these witnesses in giving false testimony to the National Recovery Review Board. They hoped that what the courts held to be legal and proper they could nevertheless scotch through the National Recovery Review Board. The National Recovery Review Board is incredulously naive in accepting such bunkum presented to it.

There was no limit to the extremities to which the witnesses would go in their endeavor to strangle the Code.

For example, a witness testified not only that the practice of block booking is illegal (p. 155) but that "it has been so ruled in several courts, several district courts in the United States".

The Chairman of the Board was interested in this testimony that the courts had held block booking to be illegal, and he asked counsel for the Board to "bring that out." Counsel promised that he would.

SAYS LONE BLOCK BOOKING DECISION HOLDS IT LEGAL

The fact is that there is only one decision in the United States on the subject of block booking. That decision declares it to be legal, not illegal. The case is entitled Federal Trade Commissioner, Petitioner, against Paramount-Famous-Lasky Corporation, Respondent, et al., 57 Fed. 2nd, 152, decided in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

This deliberate false testimony by the witness was brought to the attention of the Board and of its counsel. The opinion of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals which held that the practice was legal and not illegal, as the witness testified, was sent to the Board and its counsel. Neither made the correction on the record. Silence was resorted to to cover up the falsity of the testimony; and, as if this lack of mental integrity were not sufficient, the Report of the National Recovery Review Board affirmatively recommends a clause abolishing block booking unless a committee to be especially appointed submits a report prior to a certain date (p. 120).

In other words, the National Recovery Review Board overrules the Circuit Court of Appeals and holds that to be illegal which the court found after careful judicial proceedings to be legal. All this, without revealing the incorrect statement of its chief witness that block booking had been held to be illegal by the courts.

The prejudice of the Board on this subject is demonstrated by its proposal of a committee to investigate the subject of block booking in one breath and in the same breath indicating its conclusion in advance by directing that unless the committee makes its report by a date certain, its proposed clause be incorporated in the Code.

Another witness testified that an exhibitor he knew had been unable to obtain second-run pictures for his theatre (p. 218). The fact was that this exhibitor had 249 first-run pictures under contract with the following companies: Paramount, 65; R-K-O, 62; Columbia, 48; Independent, 62; United Artists, 12.

These facts, and many additional similar illustrations, equally provocative, were ignored by the National Recovery Review Board. It closed its eyes to the truth and in the darkness conjured up technical arguments about demurrers with which to salve its conscience.

The shunting aside of the true facts for technical reasons, and the acceptance of falsity in their place, is weird procedure.

The legal hocus pocus by which the facts are declared to be a mere demurrer would be humorous as well as ludicrous were it not for the fact that upon such a pebble the skyscraper of a disapproving Report is constructed.

Most of the witnesses who appeared before the National Recovery Review Board had also appeared at the public hearings on the Code. Their statements there were tested by investigation and comparison and found wanting.

Yet upon repetition, and by the curious process of locking the doors to those who revealed its falsity, this testimony is made the basis for "reforming" the code of the industry.

One cannot even excuse the Report's aberrations on the ground that its signers were careless. They were deliberate in the irresponsibility of their findings.

IV. REPUDIATION OF COMPLAINANTS BY INDEPENDENT EXHIBITORS

The Report speaks of the complaints of the independent exhibitors as if the witnesses who appeared before the Board spoke for them. The impression is given by the Report that the independent theatre operator believes himself to be oppressed by the Code. Whether intentional or inadvertent, this representation of the Report is completely contrary to the facts.

8,950 written assents to the Code for theatres have been filed with the Code Authority. Many hundreds of others have assented to the Code by requesting benefits thereunder, and many hundreds have recently requested in writing that permission be given them to assent to the Code so that they could accept its benefits.

Exhibitor associations have earnestly approved the Code and issued analyses which indicate that the small man has been greatly benefited under the Code.

The responsible representatives of independent and small operators have approved the Code.

74% of the total number of written assents filed with the Code Authority are those of independent theatre operators.

Every industry has its raucous outer fringe of professional objectors who thrive on contest and publicity; who obtain professional jobs to lead the "opposition" and who detest the Codes which render useless such parasites.

With the exception of two or three, all of the exhibitor witnesses who testified before the National Recovery Review Board have over a period of many years appeared as witnesses time and again before Congressional committees, courts of law and other forums to testify that due to the "oppression" of the large Producers and Distributors the death-knell of the independent Exhibitor was at hand. Yet according to the testimony of the eleven Exhibitor witnesses (pp. 65, 72, 91, 94, 108, 111, 115, 127, 139, 141, 189) the average period of their successful existence in this industry is 18 years for each, and they are still in business today with larger theatre holdings than previously.

On the other hand some of the Producers and Distributors who are repeatedly alleged to "control" the industry and by concerted action to aggrandize themselves are in bankruptcy and insolvency.

V. ANALYSIS OF RECOMMENDATIONS IN DARROW BOARD REPORT

1. Definition of Affiliated Exhibitor

The Report agrees with the definition that an affiliated exhibitor is one who is engaged in the business of operating a theatre which is owned, controlled or managed by a producer or distributor or even in which a producer or distributor has a financial interest.

The recommendation is made, however, that the next sentence be stricken out. This sentence provides that "The mere ownership, however, by a producer or distributor of any theatre premises leased to an exhibitor shall not constitute any such exhibitor an 'affiliated exhibitor.'"

The theory that this fair provision may be abused and result in fraud is unsound in the light of the prior language that a producer or distributor may not have even a financial interest in the ownership or control of the theatre, if the exhibitor is to be deemed unaffiliated. There is no danger that he can avoid the intent of the last sentence.

On the other hand, instead of assuming fraud, it is fair to assume that there will be a legitimate case in which a distributor or producer grants a completely independent lease to another to operate a theatre. This sentence was inserted at the behest of unaffiliated exhibitors.

In the last year or two there has been a reduction of circuit affiliated theatres and a consequent increase of independently operated unaffiliated theatres.

The recommended alteration of the definition is trivial. It is also unsound. If the Report's suggestion were adopted and this sentence stricken out, unaffiliated exhibitors who in good faith had taken advantage of the distress of affiliated circuit operation

MASTERPIECE OF EVASION, SAYS NYE

Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota, a prime mover in the appointment of the Darrow Review Board, said this week:

"Lay aside all the superfluous and one thing stands out prominently: the findings of the majority and minority show that many of the codes are working destruction for small business and entrenching monopoly.

"Complete digest of the report and response has not yet been my privilege, but if the NRA response as written by Mr. Rosenblatt on the moving picture industry code is a reflection of the general response, then that response must be a masterpiece of evasion and confusion.

"The thing that bewilders me is the absence of documents I expected would be released to the press and public."

ROSENBLATT DENIES DISCRIMINATION and had acquired, under lease, such theatres for independent unaffiliated operation, would nevertheless be deemed affiliated operators and unentitled to designation upon the various Grievance and Clearance and Zoning Boards in the industry.

In other words, if the Report's recommendation was adopted, the only sufferer would be the independent operator whom the Report professes to protect.

2. The Code Authority

The Report finds that the appointment of ten members on the Code Authority, divided equally between the affiliated producers, distributors and exhibitors on the one hand and the unaffiliated producers, distributors and exhibitors on the other

"is a fair one if the representatives are properly chosen and in fact represent the divisions they are supposed to represent."

The Report, however, concludes without even attempting to state any basis therefor, that "only two of the members representing the unaffiliated producers, distributors and exhibitors are truly representative of that class."

The only ostensible reason for this serious charge is that some of the members of the Code Authority are members of responsible trade associations in the industry. Since when does such participation in a responsible trade organization in an industry disqualify a man or deprive him of independence of judgment. If such an unwarranted inference could be drawn then indeed none of the exhibitors' representatives would qualify. for in every instance they are members of trade associations.

There is legal machinery in the Code for removal of any biased, unfair or prejudiced members of the Code Authority. All of the men now appointed upon the Code Authority have distinguished themselves over a period of years as leaders of high standing and character in the industry.

The blanket charge, without any support that several of these men are flying under false colors, is typical of the irresponsibility of the Report's conclusions.

The inference is that, because of anticipated treachery to the groups which they represent, the Code Authority, as now constituted, will favor the distributors and producers by a vote of 8 to 2. This slanderous conjecture can best be tested in the light of the actual conduct of the Code Authority.

On an important interpretation rendered by the Code Authority, with respect to the applicability of the 10 per cent cancellation clause to contracts made prior to the effective date of the Code, the Code Authority held in favor of the contentions of the independent exhibitors. This interpretation cost the large producer and distributor approximately 12,000,000 dollars. Strangely enough, the vote which passed this interpretation was 8 to 2. In other words, the vote was precisely opposite to that which the Report guesses will be rendered in an important matter.

A review of the actions of the Code Authority and the votes cast by it in important industry questions completely refutes the Report's finding.

There have been thirteen meetings of the Code Authority since its organization, at which the members voted upon 156 matters coming before them for determination. Upon these 156 matters, the vote was unanimous, all members voting, excepting in the case of five matters where there was a division.

Of the five matters, one was upon an interpretation of the so-called 10% elimination privilege referred to above. As indicated, the vote was 8 to 2 in favor of the independent exhibitor.

Of the remaining four, there was a division upon two occasions by a vote of 8 to 2 upon the question of publishing the Administrator's interpretation of the elimination clause. But ultimately the vote was unanimous for such publication.

The remaining two matters were votes upon the appointment of one individual as a member of the Grievance Board in the Philadelphia and the Dallas Territory, respectively.

In the case of the nominee for the Philadelphia Grievance Board, the vote was 7 to 3 against his appointment. In the case of the nominee for appointment to the Dallas Grievance Board, the vote was 8 to 2 against the appointment.

It is significant that of 372 appointments of members to the Grievance and Clearance and Zoning Boards throughout the country, there was an unanimous agreement by the Code Authority in 370 cases.

The Report fears evil where actual conduct reveals only good. The Report anticipates dishonesty where actual conduct reveals honesty. The Report presumes that the personal interest of the members of the Code Authority will sway their honest judgment. The conduct of the members of the Code Authority conclusively demonstrates the opposite.

The Report suggests changes before the Code has been tested. The testing of the Code in operation thus far reveals its efficiency.

Is the Code to be upset at the very outset because the National Recovery Review Board, without any evidence to support it, wishes to read evil intentions into the minds of the leaders of the industry?

The Report's criticism of the section of the Code which provides for the replacement of a member of the Code Authority in the case of absence or incapacity is based upon a misunderstanding of the Code provisions.

The Report criticizes the fact that the alternate appointed by the independent Exhibitor may be rejected by the other members of the Code Authority (p. 84). The fact is that this procedure is applicable to Producers and Distributors as well.

The Code requires that an alternate must represent the same general class of the industry as the principal and must be a "bona fide executive of that class, or a bona fide Exhibitor, as the case may be." (This clause was objected to previously by counsel for complaining witnesses because it barred him from the Code Authority). The Code further provides that "such designated alternate shall be certified to the Code Authority by such member, but the Code Authority may reject such alternate and require another to be so designated."

It is to be noted that each alternate must be approved by the Administrator (Article II, Section 2 (e)). In the event the alternate is not acceptable, the Code Authority, subject, however, to the approval of the Administrator, must select the alternate.

DENIES DISCRIMINATION IN ANY OF THE SECTIONS

There is no discrimination between Exhibitors, Distributors and Producers in respect to any of these sections. At all times, and no matter how many alternates are appointed, the representation of the respective divisions of the industry is maintained on the same fair basis which the Report itself admits to be proper, i. e., 5 unaffiliated and 5 affiliated representatives. Therefore, there is no sense at all to the criticism that the Code Authority is "a self-perpetuating body." This is resort to a catch-word accepted without understanding or discrimination by the Report. So long as the representation is kept equal, of course, it will be the same; and so long, therefore, as it is the same, it can be deemed to be self-perpetuating.

There are conflicting trade associations and dozens of Exhibitor units in the motion picture industry. There are many hundreds of Exhibitors who are not members of any trade associations or units. If these thousands of Exhibitors divided into differing and at times conflicting groups, and large numbers of them not organized at all, and separated geographically across the entire breadth of the United States, had to vote upon and select the representatives of the Code Authority, the whole matter would be thrown into the realm of political contest and favoritism. Months of time would be lost and no choice could be deemed satisfactory to all. Weeks of earnest deliberation and thought by all elements in the industry were given to this problem, and except for the rantings of the same few snipers referred to before, the Administration provision and those selected were deemed highly satisfactory.

DECLARES REVIEW BOARD RUSHED TO CONCLUSIONS

The National Recovery Review Board without a realization of the problem or any consideration of it at all has nevertheless rushed to a conclusion.

More typical of the failure of the Report to even understand the provision of the Code which it criticizes is its recommendation that committees appointed by the Code Authority must be constituted in the same proportion as the Code Authortity representation.

It is conceivable that only one member of the Code Authority may be appointed as a committee, or that three will be appointed under certain circumstances. It is impossible to split one man into two representative groups, and yet it may be advisable to have a commit-

SAYS BOARD NEVER READ CODE CLAUSE

There is no other industry in America which affords such an unequivocal and extraordinary right, says Mr. Rosenblatt in discussing the 10 per cent cancellation clause in the code.

"This special relief was intended particularly for the small operator. Consequently it provides that its privilege extends only where the average license fee of a contract averages not more than $250. The report of the National Recovery Review Board refers to this sum of $250 as $250,000," says the division administrator. "That this is no typographical error is revealed by the fact that this sum of $250,000 is repeated three times.

"It is possible the Board never even read the Code provision."

SEES SUGGESTION CONTRARY TO NRA

tee of one. The chief check upon this situation is entirely overlooked by the Report.

Section 4 of Article II provides "any action taken by any such committee shall be reviewed by the Code Authority." The power of review by an equally constituted board is of course equivalent to the power of equal representation on the committee.

Furthermore, the conduct of the Code Authority, as contrasted with the Report's conjecture on the subject, completely negates the criticism. When a special committee was appointed to select nominations for appointments to the Grievance Boards and the Clearance and Zoning Boards, the Code Authority appointed a committee composed of four unaffiliated as opposed to two affiliated representatives. Here again the conduct of the Code Authority was precisely the reverse of the fears of the Report.

The criticism of the Report in respect of the appointment of committees is based upon a complete misconception and misunderstanding of the section of the Code itself.

CALLS RECOMMENDATION CONTRARY TO NRA SPIRIT

The final recommendation of the Report in respect to the Code Authority is that the Administration members shall have a vote instead of merely acting in an advisory capacity. This suggestion is contrary to the spirit and letter of the N. R. A. It is contrary to the President's repeated statements that he did not wish the Government to actually run business but that he merely wished it to be in partnership with business and thus to protect the public interest.

If the Administration members upon Code Authorities voted, how could the Administrator properly review the actions of such Code Authorities? He would be obliged to overrule his own representatives.

If Administration members voted, they would become actual participants in matters, the technical basis of which they know nothing about. Instead of being advisers in matters of affecting the public interest they would become business operators.

In making this recommendation the Report is either ignorant of the President's views on this subject or is defiant of such views without a single word of explanation or justification.

Fools rush in where angels fear to tread. How much wiser is the man who rushes in where angels have already trodden and have revealed the implacability of the road.

3. Labor Provisions

The Report states that certain changes were recommended

"by independent labor union, but because of lack of time . . . this Board has withheld any recommendation as to changes in this article."

The complaining Exhibitor witnesses, hand in hand with certain union representatives who are not associated with the American Federation of Labor, claim that the labor provisions of the Code were oppressive.

Nothing is more significant than the attack upon the labor provisions by complaining witnesses who hid their illegitimate motive with cries that the Code "oppresses the little man."

Counsel for complaining witnesses, who throughout the hearing before the National Recovery Review Board acted as unofficial Associate Counsel to the Board, and who testified and summed up, indulged in a discussion concerning certain labor provisions which he termed "unique." But strangely enough, this is the only instance in which the testimony was not taken down and there appears inserted in the record the statement:

"RAUCOUS OUTER FRINGE" IS CITED

The Darrow report speaks of the complaints of independent exhibitors as if the witnesses who appeared before the Board spoke for them, the NRA charges, and then points out that of 8,950 written assents to the Motion Picture Code, 74 per cent of the total number of such written assents are those of independent theatre operators.

"Every industry has its raucous outer fringe of professional objectors who thrive on contest and publicity," the NRA says in referring to those complainants appearing before the board. "They obtain professional jobs to lead the opposition."

"At this point there was a discussion off the record."

Another Exhibitor "leader" whose association members, for whom he fought, were found guilty of violating the labor provisions of the Code, made a vicious attack upon an American Federation of Labor Local.

Still another witness who had been found guilty by the Regional Compliance Board of having violated the Code with respect to labor, was listened to attentively on the subject of "oppression."

Another witness complained about

"The labor provision in which we have had to increase the number of employees we have and put the employees on the working schedule that is in accordance with the provisions of the Code."

How horrible! How familiar the cry that, because of increased labor costs, the codes are oppressive. How extraordinary that such testimony should have led the Board to report that the Code was oppressive and promoted monopoly.

Another witness complained that under the Code he had

"about seventeen or eighteen per cent increase in payroll alone."

The complaining witnesses fit neatly into the category of that heroic group of men who in the time of national crisis shed crocodile tears because they are asked to make some contribution to save their own necks.

Is it not extraordinary that of all the matters testified to before the National Recovery Review Board, the only one upon which it did not have time to make a report is the labor provision of the Code?

It had the time to make findings with reference to the correction of a definition, the composition of a subsidiary committee, the change of the word "and" to "or" (p. 109), but it had no time to express any view of the subject of labor.

4. Short Subjects in Proportion to Features.

To prevent the sale of more short subjects than Exhibitors can use, the Code for the first time affords relief which even the courts have been unable to give.

It provides in Part 5, Division D, Article V, that the Distributor may not require the Exhibitor as a condition for the licensing of feature photoplays to license more than a corresponding proportion of the short subject pictures required by the Exhibitor. By virtue of this device the short subject licenses of the various Distributors are so proportioned that in no event may the Exhibitor be required to license more than 100 per cent of his needs.

Typical of the Report's failure to grasp the provisions of the Code which it deals with is its preposterous statement that

"this provision still allows the Distributor to force on the Exhibitors more short subjects than they can use."

The Report, consistent with the haste of its conclusions, does not attempt to justify its erroneous statement. It merely states its conclusion, which has no basis in fact at all, and proceeds pompously to submit a "new clause."

CALLS CLAUSE CONCESSION WRUNG FROM COMPANIES

The Board was undoubtedly ignorant of the weeks of negotiation on this subject. The clause in the Code was a concession wrung from the Distributors and Producers, who insisted that they had the right to sell their product as they saw fit in accordance with their individual sales judgment.

Finally, when stubbornness had yielded to the early hours of the morning and to the pleas for sacrifices by the Deputy Administrator, this important concession was obtained for the independent operator.

Now the Report, without any conception of the matter before it, waves aside the valuable gain of the independent operator under the Code and by the simple process of misunderstanding the section disapproves of it.

5. Designation of Play Dates.

No more flagrant misunderstanding of a subject passed upon by the Report is available than this. The language of Part 9 is so clear that the Report's misstatement of its meaning indicates either deliberate misconception or gross negligence.

This provision of the Code does two things:

First, it prohibits a Distributor from specifying a specific day of the week upon which his picture is to be exhibited unless he has obtained this right by contractual provision with the Exhibitor.

Second, even where the Distributor has such a right in his contract, the Code takes it away from him if the Exhibitor proves that the subject and character of the picture is unsuitable for exhibition on that particular day; for example, a sophisticated picture on Sunday when many children attend the theatre.

The method by which the relief is obtained is the submission of a complaint to the local Grievance Board. The Grievance Board is given the power, despite the language of the contract itself, to relieve the Exhibitor from the necessity of playing the picture on that day.

None of the rights granted to the independent Exhibitors by this provision of the Code existed prior thereto. The Distributors and Producers contended vehemently that when their pictures are exhibited on a percentage basis they are in partnership with the Exhibitors in so far as that engagement is concerned, and that they should have a voice in the selection of the date upon which such picture should be exhibited.

The Distributors and Producers had always had and exercised such rights. During the arduous Code conferences the Administration prevailed upon them to surrender these rights as a sacrifice for harmony.

DEFENDS CODE DUAL BILL POLICY

Yet the National Recovery Review Board, ignoring the very language of the Code provision itself, states

"It was brought out that in many communities such pictures as those featuring certain stars are not suitable for exhibition in Sundays, but the Distributors insist that the picture be shown on that day because of the greater return he receives."

The Report disregards the language of the Code provision itself which gives the Exhibitor relief in just such a case.

By virtue of such misinterpretation the Report reaches the conclusion that this provision of the Code requested by Exhibitors, and finally obtained for them

"appears to be one solely in favor of the Producers and Distributors, and in the opinion of this Board is unfair to the small independent Exhibitors."

Such absurd findings from facts which warrant the very opposite conclusion need no further comment.

5. Minimum Admission Price.

The Report criticizes the right of Distributors and Exhibitors by contract between them to specify a minimum admission price to be charged at the theatre. For more than 10 years upon the demands of Exhibitors there have been minimum admission prices in standard and other exhibition contracts. The courts have held such clauses legal and not in violation of public policy (Sono Art World Wide Pictures, Inc., against Wm. Lando, County Court of Alleghany County, Pennsylvania).

The overwhelming majority of Exhibitors are desirous of maintaining a reasonable minimum admission price. This industry like many others, has been plagued by cut-throat competition. In many vicinities, despite contract clauses requiring a minimum admission price of 10 cents, theatres have charged 5 cents admission and in addition thereto, given away prizes and premiums.

The Exhibitors' Committee, representing all elements of Exhibitor opinion, which submitted proposed clauses for the Code referred to this subject of premiums and rebates and itself specifically presented the clause, including the following:

This shall not be deemed to prohibit Exhibitors from reducing or increasing their admission scales as they see fit except as may be prohibited by exhibition contracts."

Thus, the Exhibitor group itself, composed among others of counsel for the complaining witnesses, recommended the regard for minimum admission clauses where present in contracts.

The Report further recommends in respect to this subject, that the local Grievance Board should not have the power to direct Distributors to refuse to distribute pictures to those who violate the terms of this Article. This provision refers to contests between Exhibitors. It contemplates a fair Grievance Board decision which is nevertheless resisted by the violating Exhibitor. The assistance of Distributors who have no interest in the controversy was demanded by Exhibitors to enforce the finding.

6. Double Features.

The Exhibitors' proposed clause declared double features to be an unfair competitive practice, but, because of peculiar local conditions where it had existed for a long time, permitted its continuance unless 60 per cent of the theatres disapproved it.

Despite this agreement by the Exhibitors and Distributors on this subject, there were independent Producers and some Exhibitors who protested against the abolition of double features. It was the opinion of a number of experts on the advisory boards, as well as of the Deputy Administrator, that this entire subject involved questions of individual sales policy and that the Code ought not to attempt to determine such a matter.

Certainly if this is a matter of individual sales policy, a Distributor acting individually may have the right to determine when he licenses his picture that it shall not be exhibited with another picture on the same program.

Particularly is this true where there are percentage engagements and the Distributor's picture may have cost $1,000,000 to produce, while the second feature on the program cost but $50,000 to produce. The Exhibitor's policy is likewise involved. In view of the controversial subject matter involved, it is extraordinary that the Report should now recommend that the Distributor may not individually require that his feature shall not be shown with another feature. This is going to the opposite extreme and against the expressed opinion of a large part of the industry.

CALLS FOX-WEST COAST CONSENT DECREE MIS-CITED

To support its recommendation, the Report cites the consent decree in the Fox West Coast Theatres case. This case was mis-cited in the Report. It did not hold that a Distributor could not adopt as a sales policy a requirement that his picture be not played with another on the same program. It merely adopted the well-recognized rule of law that if all Distributors acted in concert on such a matter they would be engaged in an illegal conspiracy. The gravamen of the consent decree was the concerted action of all Distributors and not the individual sales policy of any one of them. The decree specifically preserved the rights of an individual company respecting its own practices.

Consequently, the criticism by the Report of the right of the Distributor to determine his individual sales policy is not supported by the case cited by it. This is another illustration of inaccurate reference by the Report.

The criticism of the Report is rendered even more incongruous by its expressed uncertainty about the wisdom of abolishing double features. For it says

"If the practice is one which it is to the interest of the industry to eliminate, there should be a provision in the Code to that effect."

And immediately after it expresses its "impartiality" on the subject, and indeed infers that double features should be prohibited, it suggests a clause which makes it illegal for a Distributor to adopt an individual sales policy in this respect.

7. Cancellation.

The Code provision permits an absolute 10% cancellation by Exhibitors of the photoplays they have entered into contracts for. There is no other industry in America which affords such an unequivocal and extraordinary right. The Code grants the greatest cancellation privilege ever afforded in the Motion Picture Industry.

This special relief was intended particularly for the small operator. Consequently it provides that its privilege extends only where the average license fee of a contract averages not more than $250.

The Report of the National Recovery Review Board refers to this sum of $250 as $250,000. That this is no mere typographical error is revealed by the fact that this sum of $250,000 is repeated three times.

It is very possible that the Board never even read the Code provision. Certainly it never understood its simple language. If it did, it could not have made the error of assuming that the average license fees for all pictures are more than a quarter of a million dollars.

The Report actually criticizes the Code on this basis, for it says

"It also includes a provision limiting the benefits under the clause to Exhibitors whose license fees for all pictures average not more than $250,000." (p. 102).

What a revelation this mis-reading of the

Darrow Report Based on Falsities, NRA Charges

The recommendations of the Darrow report, on their merits, are found by the NRA to be based upon:

Flagrant misinterpretations of the provisions of the Code.

False unsworn statements of a few discredited complaining witnesses.

Misstatement and deliberate evasion of rulings made by the courts.

Bias and prejudice of the Board's members resulting from ex parte hearings or from preconceived notions.

Sympathy for the "chiseler" and "kicker" who for selfish reasons seeks to destroy the National Recovery Program.

Anticipated fears and forebodings actually disproven by past and present conduct.

Ludicrous counter-proposals which are completely oblivious to the reality of the situation.

HITS LOCAL BOARD SUGGESTIONS

Code is in respect to the study and scientific basis upon which the Report is based!

One does not know whether to be more astonished than amused by such scientific findings.

8. Clearance and Zoning Boards.

After arguing why Clearance and Zoning Boards should not exist, the Report concludes in characteristic fashion to the opposite effect:

"It is believed by this Board, however, that the establishment and operation of such boards as provided for in the Code offers a possible solution to this troublesome question."

One page later and the Report has lost the last vestige of doubt on this subject:

"This Report believes that the Clearance and Zoning Boards should be kept. . . ."

Criticism is then leveled at the composition of the Boards because "They are dominated by the distributor and first run exhibitors whose interests are the same."

Of course their interests are not the same but diametrically opposite. The Distributor is the seller. The Exhibitor is the buyer. To say that their economic interests are the same is like saying that black and white are the same color.

The Clearance and Zoning Boards as now constituted under the Code are composed of two Distributors, one affiliated and one unaffiliated. Two first run Exhibitors, one affiliated and one unaffiliated. Two subsequent run unaffiliated Exhibitors and one person not associated with the industry and approved by the Administrator who shall vote if the Board is dead-locked.

The Distributors contended that the representation upon the Board was unfair to their interests, for there were four Exhibitors as opposed to two Distributors. They argued that on such matters as price and clearance (the two are inseparable) the interests of the Exhibitors were common and the interests of the Distributors were common, and consequently the Distributors would be out-voted by four to two.

This contention resulted in conferences and reflection which lasted several weeks. The Distributors finally yielded their position.

The Report now naively suggests that the Clearance and Zoning Board should be composed of two Distributors, one affiliated and one unaffiliated, two first run Exhibitors, one affiliated and one unaffiliated, and four subsequent run unaffiliated Exhibitors.

This would cause the Board to be constituted of six Exhibitors as against only two Distributors, or of 6 unaffiliated representatives as against two affiliated representatives. No matter what interpretation is given to the economic interest, this recommendation is clearly inequitable. It deliberately stacks the Board against the seller.

The National Recovery Review Board was so gullible that it swallowed the recommendation of a few Exhibitors who, whatever their irresponsibility might have been, must have had their tongues in their cheeks when they made this proposal.

Nothing was too much, however, for the Board. It now solemnly submits this suggestion in its Report.

The suggestion that the Code Authority should not appoint members of this Board because the independent interests on the Code Authority will be out-voted in the selection of representatives, is ludicrous in the light of actual experience in this respect.

Two hundred and seventeen members of Clearance and Zoning Boards have been appointed by the Code Authority, from several thousand nominations made directly by representatives of the industry. The Code Authority unanimously agreed on every one of the 217 appointments made!

This is another instance where the National Recovery Review Board saw its own shadow on the wall and announced its belief that there was a ghost in the house.

9. Considerations to be Reviewed by Clearance and Zoning Boards.

The Report finds no fault with this section of the Code except that it believes the members of the Clearance and Zoning Boards would know what factors to consider and that it is unnecessary to guide them (p. 107). Thus there is a sudden expression of confidence in the ability, standing and experience of the members of the Clearance and Zoning Boards, which obviates the necessity of even submitting to them the rules of combat.

The sole objection to this section is that it is argumentative. The recommendation is too trivial to be worth argument.

10. Appeals from Clearance and Zoning Boards.

The Report criticizes this section because it permits the presentation of new evidence to the Code Authority where an appeal is taken from the Clearance and Zoning Board.

While it is a technical rule of law that on appeals only the record below and not new evidence may be presented, no complete stenographic minutes will be kept in these informal hearings and there will be no motions for setting aside the case on the ground of new evidence.

In view of the desire of the Code to permit equities rather than technical rules to govern, and in view of the informality of the proceeding, it was thought just that all facts, whether designated new or otherwise, should be presented upon appeal.

It is unlikely that any litigant would withhold information in order to prepare for an appeal. Practical business men do not gamble with their rights this way. If, however, in an industry the product of which is ever fresh and moving, new and vital evidence should appear after the hearing before the local Clearance and Zoning Board, it would defeat the ends of justice if for technical reasons it could not be presented to the Code Authority.

BOARD ASKS NEW AUTHORITY SETUP

Recommending a reconstitution of the Code Authority, the report of the Darrow Board suggests the following composition of the Authority:

Five representatives of affiliated producers, distributors and exhibitors;

Five representatives of unaffiliated producers, distributors and exhibitors;

Five representatives to be appointed by the President, who shall be known as government representatives.

Each member shall be entitled to one vote, and all questions shall be decided by a majority vote of the members.

With typical inconsistency the Report suddenly turns technical and insists upon the adherence to an age-old technical rule which closes the door to a fact because it was not in the formal record.

The suggestion of the Report that Exhibitors would have to come to New York on appeals is unsound. There is nothing in the Code which requires personal appearance. Such appearance is permitted but not obligatory (Article VI, Section 7 (b)).

The recommendations of the Report in this respect are hypertechnical and unsound. More than that, they misinterpret the simple meaning of the language of the Code itself. To accede to the recommendation of the Board would be to defeat justice.

11. Grievance Boards.

Most of the suggestions of the Report in respect to this Article are too trivial to be worthy of comment. It suggests that the word "and" be changed to "or."

It suggests that grievances be not certified to the Code Authority under certain circumstances, but that they be passed upon and then appealed to the Code Authority.

Less trivial and more extraordinary, however, is the suggestion that a Distributor has not the unequivocal right to license his own photoplays to any theatres operated by him. This right has at all times been conceded by every member of the industry, and indeed was conceded by the very witnesses who appeared before the National Recovery Review Board.

The recommendation is again made that the Code Authority shall not appoint the members of the Grievance Boards. The Code Authority requested that nominations be made to it by representatives of the industry. More than 3,000 nominations were thus sent in.

A special committee, appointed by the Code Authority to make recommendations to it from these nominations, was composed of four unaffiliated representatives, as opposed to two affiliated representatives. Finally, of 155 appointments, 153 were made by unanimous vote of the members of the Code Authority!

The Report then criticizes the composition of the Grievance Boards. If a burlesque recommendation were made on this subject, it could not capture the spirit of exaggeration and fantasy as well as the Report does.

It actually urges that, where an Exhibitor brings a complaint before a Grievance Board against another Exhibitor and a group of Distributors on the ground that the Exhibitor is over-bought, and the Distributors should be compelled, despite their contracts, to surrender their films to the complaining Exhibitor,—that the Distributor has no interest in the controversy, and that he ought not to be represented at all.

Thus the Report solves the question of equitable representation on Grievance Boards in one masterful stroke.

It simply suggests that the Board be composed solely of Exhibitors and expresses the hope that such unanimous control may satisfy their hunger for fair representation on Grievance Boards.

Where other complaints brought before the Grievance Board are directly against Distributors, the Report is more generous. It asserts the following profound conviction:

"It is believed that the Boards should consist of one representative of Distributors and three representatives of Exhibitors. . . ."

REPORT "SEEKS TO AID SHIRKER"

Even the complaining witnesses must be shaken with mirth at this pronouncement.

There follows a recommendation again that new evidence should not be permitted on an appeal. This matter has been commented upon under the Clearance and Zoning section.

One is almost thankful in the light of other recommendations that the Report has not taken the stand against old evidence as well as new, being presented upon appeal.

The Code provides that those who wish to file complaints with the local Grievance Boards or Clearance and Zoning Boards must execute the Code within 45 days after it is signed by the President.

The National Recovery Review Board states that

"This provision is entirely unwarranted and oppressive."

Is it oppressive to require that one who wishes the benefits of the Code provisions should consent to it so that he may also undertake the obligations thereof?

The National Recovery Review Board did not appreciate the significance of its comment; —for if it is oppressive to deprive an Exhibitor of the relief afforded by the Code, how can it be argued that the Code oppresses Exhibitors?

How can the Report contend on one hand that the waters of the Code are poisoned with monopolies, and on the other hand that those who are not permitted to drink its curative waters are sinned against?

Those who execute the Code are required to contribute financially to its operation, but those who do not, need make no contribution. By what moral considerations does the Report reach the conclusion that one should be able to escape contribution to the operation of the very machinery the advantages of which he seeks?

It is revelatory of the Report that it seeks to protect the shirker and the slacker and to aid him to get under the wire.

We have seen that the Report has a sympathetic arm for the one who squeals about labor costs. It has a moist eye for the one who wishes to raise technical objections on appeal to defeat a just claim. And now it raises an indignant and tremulous voice for one who wants the fruit of the Code but refuses to sow the seed or plow the soil that makes it grow.

12. Recommendations for a Special Committee.

In the comparatively few hours that the National Recovery Review Board listened to a one-sided complaint, it formed opinions not only on all matters within the Code but even those omitted from it.

On such subjects as block booking, which have been the source of intense study and literature for a number of years, the Report states "this Board has certain well-defined views." In this instance, however, its views are spared to us, although judging by the profundity of its past recommendations one can only express regret at having been deprived of this pleasure.

However, complicated machinery is set up for a commission to make further report on these subjects omitted from the Code, a commission which incidentally asumes the indefinite continuation and participation of the National Recovery Review Board itself.

And as the Report benignedly ignores the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals, which declares the practice of block booking to be legal, and indicates its own impartiality on the subject by suggesting that if the commission to be appointed does not report by August 1, 1934, a clause is automatically to be written into the Code which declares block booking to be illegal.

The omission of these subjects from the Code was the result of careful consultation with the Legal Division of the National Recovery Administration, and upon the advice of the Division of Economic Research and Planning.

The pre-judgment on this subject and the sublime unawareness of the true nature of the problems involved make unnecessary further comment.

13. Conclusion.

There have been analyzed above all of the recommendations made in the Report of the National Recovery Review Board.

It is highly pertinent that the great majority of these recommendations have had nothing to do with monopoly or oppression on any group of the industry. They were mostly individual trade policy provisions which could only remotely have an effect upon the subject of unfair competition. In the substantial sense of the word, the Report is wholly deficient in specifying how the adoption or operation of the Code tends to promote monopoly or wherein such result would follow from the adoption or operation of the Code.

Waiving this jurisdictional matter, however, and examining the recommendations of the Report on their merits, one finds that they are based upon

1. Flagrant misinterpretations of the provisions of the Code.

2. False unsworn statements of a few discredited complaining witnesses.

3. Misstatement and deliberate evasion of rulings made by the courts.

4. Bias and prejudice of the Boards' members resulting from an Ex Parte hearing or from preconceived notions.

5. Sympathy for the "chiseler" and "kicker," who for selfish reasons seeks to destroy the National Recovery Program.

6. Anticipated fears and forebodings actually disproven by past and present conduct.

7. Ludicrous counter-proposals which are completely oblivious to the reality of the situation.

In the light of these considerations the comment of one of the members of the National Recovery Review Board as quoted in the Baltimore Sun of May 8, 1934, appears moderate despite the virility of its contents.

Mr. John F. Sinclair, Vice Chairman of the National Recovery Review Board said:

"Not in my 25 years of business and research experience, during which time I have been a member of many boards and committees of investigation, have I witnessed such utter disregard for fair play or the basic facts as the National Recovery Review Board under Clarence Darrow, has shown, even in its open hearings.

Such an attitude in times like these is nothing short of tragedy.

I have opposed from the beginning the kind of sloppy, one-sided, half-information that is the foundation upon which the Darrow-Russell Report has been written."

PROPOSED SHIFT IN GRIEVANCE BOARDS

Proposed by the Darrow Board is a shift in the personnel of the Grievance Boards under the Code Authority, differing from the present makeup of those boards. The change suggested would find the Grievance Boards made up of: one representative of distributors, with or without theatre affiliations; three representatives of exhibitors, one affiliated, two unaffiliated; one person with no industry connection, to act as impartial representative of the Code Authority. Each member shall have one vote.

VI. BOARD'S ATTACK ON DEPUTY ADMINISTRATOR

A. Background of Dispute.

Symbolic of the Report's hostility to the efforts of the National Recovery Administration is its attack upon the Deputy Administrator. The Deputy's efforts brought the industry's factions to voluntary agreement. Editorials in the trade press expressed the admiration of the industry, from the "extra" in Hollywood, the chorus in the theatre, and the small theatre owner, to the Presidents of the large producing companies, for his energies during the harrowing months of negotiation.

His efforts caused the Administration to put in his charge the formulation and supervision of more than 100 codes in industries where conflicting groups seemed irreconcilable.

In the course of his labors he encountered many resistant forces, but with one exception their violence was due to disagreement on specific clauses and not to the ulterior purpose of blocking the submission of the code.

That one exception was handful of so-called unaffiliated Exhibitors and their counsel, whose deliberate purpose it was to sabotage the Code conferences. This same group constituted the complaining witnesses before the National Recovery Review Board. There, strangely, enough, their miserable intentions did not handicap them. On the contrary, their misleading statements, as indicated previously, were exclusively adopted and formed the basis for the Report.

The extent to which this group, including its counsel, went in its efforts to obstruct the formulation of a Code excited the attention of the entire Administration, including the President himself.

In the very early sessions of the Code conferences this group placed upon the record its program to the effect that it was not to be bound by any Code. Because it was not engaged in interstate commerce, and other shams since worn out, it gave notice to the Deputy Administrator that it would participate in the conferences "to protect its interests" but that it would not concede that it could be bound by the President's program. At the very outset, therefore, this small group was an irritant to all other groups including representative groups of independent unaffiliated exhibitors in the industry which intended to make their respective sacrifices as a contribution to the President's program.

During the weeks of conferences in Washington, this same defiant small group did everything in its power to make impossible agreement amongst the contending forces. One of its weapons was to slanderously impugn the honesty and sincerity of the Deputy Administrator. Vicious rumors, wholly unsupported by even a shadow of suspicion, were spread. Notwithstanding, the Deputy Administrator relentlessly moved forward despite the wracking harrassment to which he was thus subjected. Eighteen and twenty hours a day, including Sundays, were spent under his direction by the representatives of all of the groups, including this bickering group, to bring them closer together.

POINTS TO EXONERATION BY LEA

Newspaper headlines attest to the fact that it was predicted throughout the industry that no voluntary agreement could ever be reached. Many conservative observers said that only a miracle could bring together the hopelessly differing groups. That miracle began to appear likely as the responsible elements in the industry with commendable patriotism yielded their positions and self-interests under the conciliatory but insistent pressure of the Deputy Administrator.

Then it was that the handful of complaining witnesses and their counsel (who appeared before the National Recovery Review Board) resorted to a desperate maneuver. They broadcast an alarm that a Code might be agreed upon and asked the various Exhibitor units of their Association throughout the country to flood Washington with telegrams, addressed to the President of the United States, in protest against the provisions of the Code in an effort to block it.

They stated that 100,000 telegrams to the White House would "do the job." To disguise the source of this malicious attack they prepared many forms of protesting telegrams which they sent to their representatives so that when these telegrams were received the differences in their wording would lend credibility to their genuineness. Fortuntely, the mimeographed instructions and form telegrams fell into the hands of the Administration.

All of these telegrams were acknowledged by the Administration and a number of those to whom such acknowledgment was sent replied in surprise that they had not sent any telegram. Thus it was proven not only that the origin of the telegrams was faked but that names of senders were actually forged in order to give the impression that there was protest throughout the country.

On the basis of their destructive program these same obstructors made appeals for funds to the Exhibitors they so dishonestly represented. This was done under the guise that monies were needed to "protect" the Exhibitors' interests. Many innocent Exhibitors succumbed to this scheme and were mulcted of large sums. In the Detroit territory alone about $9,000 was collected by means of this racket. When the scheme was exposed a number of its victims appeared at the office of the Administrator in Washington and asked for assistance to get their contributions back. Undoubtedly the appearance of the complaining group before the National Recovery Review Board was used by them as an excuse to request further contributions.

Even the requirement of tact which a conciliator must always guard yielded to the indignation which swept the Deputy Administrator and the National Recovery Administration at the revelation of these facts. The hoodlum who throws bricks at windows is far more respectable than the hoodlums who attempted to undermine the structure the President was rearing for the nation.

In the meantime, this group of obstructors, having been exposed, attempted to save their faces by walking out of the Code conferences and raising the cowardly cry that they could not obtain a square deal. Having walked out and quit the conferences in the very last stages, they testify before the National Recovery Review Board that they were not consulted, and the Board, hearing no contrary evidence, and making no investigation, believes these statements and joins with these unscrupulous forces to punish the Deputy Administrator.

When the Code was finally drafted, this defeated group attempted to appease its chagrin by passing a resolution charging bias and prejudice against the Deputy Administrator. They were summoned to the Administrator's Office in Washington. The Deputy Administrator faced them and exposed them to the Administrator.

CITES LEA'S EXONERATION OF DEPUTY ADMINISTRATOR

The Administrator referred the charges to Col. Robert W. Lea, Assistant Administrator for Industry under the N.R.A. who, after full hearing of the complainants (incidently the same group which appeared before the National Recovery Review Board) found that the charges of bias and prejudice against the Deputy Administrator were unfounded.

At the hearing before Col. Lea, all of the clap-trap presented to the National Recovery Review Board was given in even greater detail. Col. Lea found the charges wholly unwarranted.

The National Recovery Review Board, listening to only one side and without any knowledge of the background of the controversy, found that the Deputy Administrator "may be" prejudiced against independent Exhibitors. The overwhelming number of independent Exhibitors in this country think otherwise.

Even the Harrison's Reports, a trade paper of and for independent operators whose Editor was with this group, states in an editorial

"All I can say is that Mr. Sol Rosenblatt knows the moving picture industry and its people thoroughly, and that all have found him to be intelligent, honest and understanding."

This is a tribute from the independent camp. The obstructionists never ceased their labors even after the Code was approved by the President. They instituted an action in the United States District Court against the members of the Code Authority and the Deputy Administrator on the ground that the requirement of consent to the Code without qualification was illegal.

The Attorney for this group was the Attorney in that suit. The complaint requested that the provisions of the Code be declared unconstitutional. That suit, based on wilful misconception, was discontinued.

The latest endeavor of this "wrecking crew" is its appearance before the National Recovery Review Board.

B. The Report's Findings.

1. The Report states that there is testimony before it to the effect that independent interests were not consulted with reference to various drafts of the Code. The fact is that the Deputy Administrator spent at least 10 times more time with the representatives of the unaffiliated interests during Code conferences than the National Recovery Review Board spent in all its hearings on the subject of the Motion Picture Code. Day and night, into the early hours of the morning, the Deputy Administrator met with committees and groups of unaffiliated independent producers, Distributors and Exhibitors. Even Sundays were not excluded from this schedule and suggestions were submitted to him in person for approval. He visited their hotel rooms and they came to his office.

The Report does not state whether the testimony given before the Board was believed. Judging by its conclusion, it was. In any event, the testimony was absolutely false.

The Report further states

"Of the many suggestions made by the Independent Exhibitors for provisions of the Code very few were adopted."

There is available the official printed record of the "Exhibitor Committee's" proposals for clauses to be incorporated in the Code. Actual computation from this Record reveals that 39 proposals were made in respect to matters of unfair competition. Of these 39, 26 were adopted in the Code as finally signed. Four were partially adopted and nine were rejected.

In other words, more than 76 per cent of the proposals submitted by the independent Exhibitors were substantially adopted.

Despite this fact, the National Recovery Review Board reports that "very few" of the suggestions made were adopted.

The Report states that the Deputy Administrator, prior to his appointment, was a practicing attorney, associated with another attorney "whose clients were and are now engaged in the theatrical and motion picture industry."

Although no conclusion is drawn by the Report, the innuendo is that because this Attorney also represents, among his clients, two Distributors, that the Deputy Administrator "may be" biased. Perhaps according to the Board mere association with a law office which represents among other things motion picture interests, disqualifies an attorney from any position of trust.

It is the fact that the attorney with whose office the Deputy Administrator was previously associated, was noted for its representation of independent and unaffiliated interests as against the affiliated Distributors and Producers. It was that office which represented the plaintiff in the Singer case in the Supreme Court of New York, in which a small theatre operator won an important victory and made important

SEES SUGGESTION CONTRARY TO NRA

The final recommendation of the report with respect to the Code Authority is that the administration members shall have a vote instead of merely acting in an advisory capacity. This suggestion, Mr. Rosenblatt says, is contrary to the spirit and letter of the NRA. It is contrary to the President's repeated statements that he did not wish the Government actually to run business but merely wished it to be in partnership with business and thus to protect the public interest.

DENIES ALLEGATION OF PREJUDICE

law highly favorable to independent Exhibitor interests.

It is the fact that the Deputy Administrator is a graduate with honors of Harvard College and of the Harvard Law School, a member in good standing of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, of the New York County Lawyers Association, and of the American Bar Association. His practice in New York City concerns itself to the largest extent with the protection and safeguarding of the rights of independent and unaffiliated Exhibitors, Distributors and Producers, so far as any motion picture industry clients were concerned.

Upon accepting his position and responsibility with the National Recovery Administration on July 14, 1933, he forthwith completely severed any and all connection with his former law firm and since that time has devoted himself exclusively to the National Recovery Administration.

It is submitted that the facts adduced in this Comment should be sufficient in themselves to any person who has taken the time or trouble to discover their accuracy, that the Deputy Administrator instead of being possibly prejudiced against the independent interests has undoubtedly been their protagonist.

The Report in concluding that the Deputy Administrator "may be prejudiced" states that one witness testified that the Deputy Administrator would not permit him to make notes of what was going on at the meeting.

This hardly sounds like a serious charge upon which to found a recommendation of removal. Its bareness reaches skeleton proportions when the true fact is revealed.

"CONTEMPTIBLE PROCEDURE" BY GROUP ATTORNEY CHARGED

The Attorney for the obstructionist group, described above, was at one time a stenographer. An interesting reflection upon his own scrupulousness is his distrust of others. During informal conferences he would surreptitiously scribble shorthand notes of what was being said. Subsequently these notes would appear as garbled and misquoted statements and when protest was made that these quotations were maliciously inaccurate, he would fall back upon his skill as a stenographer and reveal that although no one had suspected it, he had taken stenographic notes and could not be wrong.

Having learned of this contemptible procedure and having had the experience of being wilfully misquoted, the Deputy Administrator at a subsequent conference directed that his Secretary take stenographic minutes of the conversation unless this attorney ceased to take notes surreptitiously. This reasonable and rather patient precaution on the part of the Deputy Administrator is now turned into a claim with which he is charged.

It is interesting in this connection that Col. Lea, having been informed of this practice, was on guard, and at the conference with him, actually observed this attorney taking stenographic notes surreptitiously.

The Report recites that another witness testified that the Deputy Administrator admitted he was biased against independent Exhibitors.

Does it not challenge credulity that at a conference with independent Exhibitors, the Deputy Administrator would admit to them that he was prejudiced against that class?

The Deputy Administrator denies any such admission. His frank statement to the Administrator and to Col. Lea of his opinions concerning the few individuals who composed this handful of obstructionists and who appeared to make unwarranted and false charges against him is now tortured into an admission against unaffiliated independent Exhibitors as a whole.

The National Recovery Review Board, however, was able to exercise no discrimination in selecting truth from brazen falsity.

It was fortunate that the National Recovery Review Board was not handed a rubber ten-dollar bill, now being hawked as a novelty on the street corners. It would probably have accepted it as genuine currency.

The Report mentioned these scraps of testimony but made no comment upon its credibility or value. It carefully refrained from finding these matters as facts. It contented itself with reference to the fact that some witness had made reference to the matter. Apparently these false and in many instances unimportant pieces of testimony were recited to give color to the conclusion, which was unsupported by any facts.

The conclusion of the Board to remove the Deputy Administrator is, however, based on two specific charges stated at the very end of this section.

In the language of the Report these two charges are:

"because of the defiance of the Deputy Administrator of this Board, and because of testimony to the effect that he is prejudiced against the independent Exhibitors, Distributors and Producers in the industry. . . ."

On what is the charge of defiance of the Board based? The minutes of the proceedings before the National Recovery Review Board reveal the following statement by the Deputy Administrator:

"Mr. Rosenblatt: Let the record show that I am here voluntarily, that my files are completely available, but I do not know what these proceedings are about. I have heard no name mentioned except the name of Binsell and I have a file with that name in my office. . . .

"Mr. Mason, (interposing): May the record show that he refuses to testify. Mr. Russell Hardy, will you please take the stand?"

Counsel for the Board interrupted the statement of the Deputy Administrator,—charged that he refused to testify,—and rudely placed another witness on the stand to cut off any further statements.

BOARD ASKS INQUIRY ON BLOCK BOOKING

The report notes two major problems of distribution, the question of the right to buy films in free and open competition, and the question of block booking, as "two problems the solution of which is vital to the successful operation of the Code, in order to prevent monopoly and . . . oppression of the small branches of the industry." Declaring that while the Board has "definite ideas and recommendations" for changes on the subject, the report indicates its suggestion of a committee to work out the problems as dictated by a desire to have the industry cooperate in a solution, with the committee equally representative of major companies and independent exhibitors.

SAYS HE WAS NOT GIVEN NOTICE OF BOARD HEARING

The Deputy Administrator was given no notice of the hearing. When he appeared voluntarily nevertheless and stated that he was an Administration member upon the Code Authority of the industry and desired to make a statement, the following took place:

"Mr. Darrow: How does that give you any right to speak at this time?

"Mr. Rosenblatt: I believe that even this Board is required to observe a semblance of what is popularly known as due process of law, and it is in that regard and prior to the time that I am to say anything here that I desire to be heard. . . ."

Subsequently the Deputy Administrator again appeared voluntarily before the Board and offered to bring before the Board any file in his office "that you want at any time, night or day" (p. 84). The record reveals that this offer was made unequivocally:

"Mr. Mason: You suggested the other day, I think that you would let us have all of the complaints.

"Mr. Rosenblatt: Yes, they are still down there. You can have anything you want at any time you want."

Despite this statement, the Report charges that the Deputy hedged on making available his files. The extraordinary and deliberate blindness of the Board to the actual facts is accentuated by a letter sent by the Deputy Administrator to counsel for the National Recovery Review Board at the end of its first hearing. This letter was delivered in person and was received. In view of the charge that the Deputy defied the Board, it will be quoted in full:

"March 28, 1934.

National Recovery Review Board,
Willard Hotel,
Washington, D. C.

Attention of Mr. Lowell B. Mason

Gentlemen:

With respect to your hearing on the Motion Picture Industry Code, I beg to advise you that to date neither I nor any member of the National Recovery Administration, so far as I know, has heard from your Board with regard to utilizing either the facilities or records of the NRA, although I have kept myself available both night and day since Monday in order to be of service.

So far as I know, your Board has neither requested nor sought my report to General Johnson, dated October 26, 1933, which carefully reviews all steps and procedure in connection with the formulation of the Motion Picture Industry Code and the reasons for my approval of the respective sections found therein.

Further, so far as I know, your Board has not requested any information concerning the numerous legal decisions of record respecting the Motion Picture Industry, such decisions not only being the consent decrees secured by the United States Government, but also the decisions of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals and the decisions of the Courts of Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, New York, Washington, and the Supreme Court of the United States.

Further, so far as I know, your Board has made no effort whatsoever to learn anything concerning the results which would have come to all branches and divisions of this industry had there been separate Codes for each of the three separate divisions of the industry, and the results which have been achieved by coordination of all divisions of the industry under a single Code.

SAYS BOARD IGNORED FAIR PLAY

Further, so far as I know, your Board has neither made inquiry concerning nor sought advices with respect to the actual operation of the Code to date and what has been achieved and accomplished for and on behalf of the smaller enterprises in this industry even in advance of the actual functioning of the Local Grievance and the Local Clearance and Zoning Boards provided for under the Code.

I am advised that the regular meeting of the Code Authority of the Motion Picture Industry has not been adjourned and will proceed at 10:00 A.M., March 29th, 1934, at New York, as I directed the same to your attention on last Monday.

I have advised General Johnson that your Board has sought the attendance of members of the Motion Picture Industry Code Authority at Washington the same time and date.

I have also advised General Johnson of my willingness to appear before your Board at its convenience to answer all material, relevent and pertinent questions, with the right on my part to make such statements as I may deem necessary with respect to any of the subject matter addressed to me, and further with the right on my part to be heard at the conclusion of all testimony which your Board may adduce, and after I have a sufficient opportunity to study the record of all such testimony.

In the meantime as I advised you on Monday, in my capacity as Administration member of the Motion Picture Industry Code Authority and in the performance of my duties as such Administration member, I must necessarily attend the meeting of such Code Authority at New York City on the 29th, holding myself in readiness as above stated to your convenience at any time.

I have no objection to your incorporating this letter into your record.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) SOL A. ROSENBLATT,
Division Administrator."

No answer to this letter orally or in writing was ever made, even though the Board met three times thereafter on the Motion Picture Code. The Board ignored the offer of the Deputy Administrator to produce all of his files and "to appear before your Board at its convenience to answer all material, relevant and pertinent questions." Apparently the Board was determined to have nothing but a one-sided hearing.

To characterize its own refusal to listen to the Deputy and to receive his files as his refusal to give his files and appear before it is typical of the mental somersaults in which the Board indulges.

Even more acrobatic and audacious is the Board's utilization of its own error as a basis upon which to charge the Deputy Administrator with "defiance." It was the Board which was defiant of all the rules and principles of fair play.

It was the Board which was defiant of ordinary standards of accuracy in referring to a record.

Even if it were to be assumed that the refusal of the Deputy to testify when he was not subpoenaed or even notified to appear was a "defiance" such as warranted his removal, there are no such facts in the record. The Board has transposed its own refusal to listen to facts as a refusal of the Deputy to give them.

Even more shocking as a statement without an iota of support is the second charge upon which the removal is recommended,—that is, that he "may be prejudiced" against independent Exhibitors.

SAYS INDEPENDENTS WON MAJOR CODE ADVANTAGES

Analyses issued by Exhibitor-Distributor and Producer groups reveal that the independent operator obtained the major advantages of the Code's provisions. With the exception of those who testified before the National Recovery Review Board, there is virtually unanimous agreement on this point.

To quote, the issue of "Harrison's Reports" dated February 17, 1934:

"I say to ——— (the attorney referred to throughout) just as I have said to every exhibitor, that we went into this Code proposition without a shirt and came out of it with something—with 25 reforms. One of the reforms is costing the producers millions of dollars—the 10% cancellation provision; and correspondingly it saves the Exhibitors millions of dollars."

The cancellation clause above referred to as costing the Distributors and Producers millions of dollars and conferring this benefit upon the unaffiliated independent interests, was a concession obtained by the Deputy Administrator from the affiliated groups. Furthermore, it was the Deputy Administrator who ruled that this cancellation clause was to be retroactive and was to apply to contracts made long before the Code went into effect.

Further proof that the composition of the Code Authority as approved by the Deputy Administrator is not prejudiced in favor of the large interests, was its approval of this interpretation by the Deputy Administrator.

Grievance Boards have recently begun to function. Every decision emanating from them indicates their independence and their sympathetic consideration of the small man's problems. As recently as May 11, 1934, the Code Authority unanimously affirmed a determination of the Milwaukee Grievance Board in the case of Saxe Amusement Management Corporation against Ashley Theatres.

The complaint in this case was made by an unaffiliated independent Exhibitor against a circuit of theatres and a major Distributor on the ground that the circuit of theatres had contracted for more pictures than the circuit actually required. It prayed for an order directing the Distributor and the circuit of theatres to relinquish to him 30 pictures.

The Board granted this relief, which, prior to the Code, could not have been entertained by any court,—not even the Supreme Court of the United States.

For this complaint requested that a contract between two parties be abrogated and that one of the parties be compelled to deliver a portion of its product to the complainant who did not have a contract with it.

Against the fatuous prognostications of the Report stand the real achievements of the Code machinery in affording relief to the small man.

C. Conclusion on Recommendation against Deputy.

The Report recommends the removal of the Deputy because of his defiance of the Board and because he "may be" prejudiced.

There was no defiance and there is no prejudice.

The Report, even after distorting the minutes before it, was unable to offer a word of justification in support of its charges. It is vacuous, unfair, biased and prejudiced, and does not even make a pretense that its conclusion was arrived at upon any facts.

When the obstructionist group, described above, passed a resolution in Chicago, making charges of bias against the Deputy Administrator, which were dismissed by Col. Lea, it also made another significant recommendation.

According to the press, it recommended the "hiring of a prominent Democratic lawyer who has an 'in' at the White House" to protest on behalf of that group.

Contrasted with the farcical Report of the National Recovery Review Board are the following opinions which recommended approval of the Motion Picture Code:

The Legal Division of the National Recovery Administration wrote as follows to the Deputy Administrator:

"We have raised and discussed with you the various legal problems presented in connection with the Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry, and understand that all points which we have raised have been fully considered. The draft which you have submitted to us today has been examined and passed by the Legal Division.

"May we personally thank you for your cooperation and compliment you on the solution which you have achieved for many of the difficult problems presented in the Industry."

The Labor Adviser of the National Recovery Administration wrote the Deputy Administrator as follows:

"In addition to the numerous conferences in connection with the preparation of the Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry, I have made a careful examination of all of those portions of the Code dealing with labor. I have also been in contact with the official representatives of these several labor groups. It is gratifying, in view of these facts, to advise you of my approval and endorsement of the Code.

"May I be permitted to make this personal comment: I have thoroughly enjoyed

(Continued on following page, column 1)

RICHBERG STRIKES BACK AT THE BOARD

Striking back sharply at the Darrow Review Board, Donald R. Richberg, NRA counsel, in his reply to that part of the report relative to the Motion Picture Code, declares that the Code as drafted was acceptable to the industry and NRA advisory boards.

Mr. Richberg vigorously attacked the methods of procedure employed by the Review Board, saying:

"The Board acted solely on the basis of a disorderly mess of unsworn and largely false testimony of a few malcontents . . . and arrived at sweeping conclusons upon the entire Code founded upon obvious ignorance of the Code, of the industry and the law. . . ."

Rosenblatt Denies Monopoly Aided

(Continued from preceding page)

my association with you as your Labor Adviser because of your constant effort to secure all of the facts and to give full consideration to all phases of the problems which were called to your attention."

The Consumers' Advisory Board wrote to the Deputy Administrator as follows:

"The Consumers' Advisory Board approves the above Code (3rd revision) and commends the manner in which difficult and controversial problems have been met in the Code as now formulated."

VII. SAYS CODE IS NOT DESIGNED TO PROMOTE MONOPOLIES

There are approximately 288 sections in the Motion Picture Code. Most of them are intertwined with one another.

A fair idea of what Mr. Sinclair called the "sloppiness" with which the National Recovery Review Board proceeded is the fact that the complaining witnesses before it referred to only eight of the 288 sections. Most of the references to even these eight sections were inaccurate and misleading. Of the 399 pages of unsworn testimony taken before the Board only about 15 pages make reference to sections of the Code. The overwhelming portion of the testimony was irrelevant to the hearing.

An exhaustive, scientific and accurate analysis of the Code, as contrasted with the hop, skip and jump method of the National Recovery Review Board,—with most of the hops and jumps left out,—reveals the following (as recently analyzed):

There are 45 Parts in the unfair trade practice provisions of the Code. Of these 45 Parts, 26 were for the benefit of unaffiliated independent Exhibitors, Distributors and Producers. Of these 26, 25 Parts granted them rights which they previously did not have.

Of the remaining 19 Parts, 16 referred to general rights and were not designed to benefit specially any group in the industry. One Part was for the benefit of the large Exhibitors, and two Parts were for the benefit of Distributors. These two Parts granted no rights to Distributors which they did not previously have. They merely codified existing law.

To translate these figures into percentages:

1. Excluding general provisions which were not designed to benefit any particular group in the industry, 89.5% of all provisions of the Code were for the benefit of unaffiliated independent Exhibitors, Distributors and Producers.

2. 99.9% of these provisions gave right to the unaffiliated independent Exhibitors, Distributors and Producers which they did not have prior to the code.

3. 4% of all of the provisions of the code were for the benefit of Distributors. No part of this 4% represents rights which Distributors did not previously have.

Even this mathematical picture of the partiality of the code to the independent operator does not reveal the full protection which the code affords to small enterprises. These figures allow equal weight to each provision. If the number and quality of the provisions were weighed, the balance in favor of small enterprise would be even more striking.

Such provisions as those creating Grievance Boards and Clearance and Zoning Boards, granting 10% cancellation privileges, and limiting short subjects in proportion to features involved sacrifices by Distributors and Producers of hundreds of thousands of dollars, in favor of the independent Exhibitor.

The provisions of this code assure to small enterprises that which the National Industrial Recovery Act was designed to obtain for them.

OTHER STATES COPY GERMAN CREDIT BANK

France and Austria Consider Government Financing of Producers in Furtherance of National Pictures; 72 Films Aided

By J. K. RUTENBERG
Berlin Correspondent

Results of a half-year of operation of Germany's state-supported Film Credit Bank have prompted other European countries to contemplate establishment of similar bodies. France and Austria are the latest countries to take up the idea, and others possibly will follow.

The Film Credit Bank has nothing to do with state control of the film industry. The German government is supervising the industry by other means and organizations. The Film Bank is nothing more or less than a state creditor who will lend money to every serious-minded producer.

Capital at Producers' Disposal

In a previous article we pointed out that the general business crisis seriously affected the film industry in Europe and that several governments had to defer the introduction of a film kontingent, although planned for a considerable time, because the financing of home production made impossible an organized continuation of production activity. This crisis led to serious breakdowns in France, Germany, Austria, Poland and other European countries. The decrease in national films caused the governments to contemplate introduction of a quota system, to support and stimulate national production by means of taxes on imported foreign films, and, on the other hand, to curtail the export of foreign exchange. Spain and Poland have contemplated introduction of a film kontingent for almost half a dozen years, but have had to defer it from year to year because no suitable means could be found to stabilize national production.

In order to create security and prepare for as many years ahead as possible, the German government established on July 1, last year, a state-supported Film Credit Bank with the intention to place sufficient capital at the disposal of the earnest-minded German film producers and to make them free from insane and uncontrolled financing.

In order to understand the rôle of the German Film Credit Bank, it is necessary to know something about the financing in the German film industry some years ago.

Smaller Producers at Disadvantage

The larger companies had sufficient money at hand, but the minor enterprises had to rent sound recording sets, studios, auxiliaries from the studio owners, in most cases the Tobis, against checks, and this system led to a pre-charging of the unfinished or even un-started picture. That means that the producer had accepted responsibilities before the start of his production and long before he was in the position to foresee the financial success of his enterprise.

This system made it possible that all the minor film producers gradually came under the influence of the big companies, the studio owners, the patent holders, the potential distributors, and free competition was ruined.

The situation was intensified by the uncertainty which came into the ranks of companies with the arrival of the new government in Germany. After a very hard winter the film industry faced a still much worse spring and summer, and production activities came to a standstill. When the German Film Credit Bank was established, on July 1, 1933, the situation of the German film industry was almost hopeless. Only a small number of films were available, distributors had no capital at hand, and many theatres faced the shutting of their doors.

Germany, which was once the country with the greatest number of films produced in Europe every year, saw only a little more than 120 features in 1933 from the national producers, and the number in 1934 would have been still smaller. Establishment of a state Film Credit Bank, therefore, was of vital importance to the German film industry, which is providing work and wage to nearly 100,000 persons.

72 Pictures Financed

The report on the first half year of the bank, made known at a meeting on April 9, 1934, in Berlin, revealed the interesting fact that in the first six months the institute already had financed the production of 22 features and 50 educational films and shorts. Of equal importance for the future development of the bank was the fact that a small net profit had been made, and that thus a considerable enlargement of its activities could be contemplated for 1934.

If, however, it would be too much of optimism to forecast greater film production for 1934, it can be said that the financial side of the industry has much improved and that the closing down of companies and enterprises has been avoided.

Rogers Arranges Distribution

Budd Rogers, general sales manager for Liberty Pictures, has closed distribution deals on Liberty product with Monogram of Detroit for Michigan and with B. N. Judell, Inc., for Milwaukee, Indiana, St. Louis and Chicago. First Division will distribute the product in New England, Ohio, Kentucky, western Virginia and western Pennsylvania.

United Newsreel in Deal

United Newsreel Corporation has contracted with Nat Cherin, president of Principal Film Exchange, Inc., for distribution of 13 "Broadway Gossips" and seven "American Explorers" in the New York territory.

Phillips with Paramount

E. Paul Phillips, formerly attached to the legal staff of the Paramount-Publix trustees, has been assigned by Paramount to theatre realty advisory work under Ralph Kohn, in charge of theatres.

THEATRE RECEIPTS

The total of theatre receipts for the calendar week ended May 19, 1934, from 105 houses in 18 major cities of the country, was $1,050,305, a decrease of $57,147 from the total for the preceding calendar week, ended May 12, when 110 theatres in 19 cities reported an aggregate gross of $1,107,452.

(Copyright, 1934: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to MOTION PICTURE HERALD expressly forbidden)

Theatres		Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
Boston		Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Boston 2,900	25c-50c	"Keep 'Em Rolling" (Radio) and.. "Where Sinners Meet" (Radio)	20,000	"No Greater Glory" (Col.) and.... "Sisters Under the Skin" (Col.)	19,000	High 1-13-34 "Fog"	23,500
						Low 3-11 "Topaze"	11,000
Fenway 1,800	30c-50c	"Registered Nurse" (F. N.) and.. "All Men Are Enemies" (Fox)	8,500	"Merry Wives of Reno" (W.B.) .. and "Double Door" (Para.)	9,500	High 1-14 "Island of Lost Souls" and "Billion Dollar Scandal"	15,000
						Low 7-29 "She Had to Say Yes" and "Arizona to Broadway"	6,000
Keith's 3,500	30c-50c	"Twentieth Century" (Col.).....	18,000	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox).....	20,000	High 12-2 "Little Women"	28,000
						Low 3-11 "When Strangers Marry"....	12,000
Loew's State ... 3,700	35c-50c	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM)..	19,000	"Viva Villa!" (MGM)	21,000	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	23,000
						Low 3-11 "Men Must Fight".....	11,000
Metropolitan 4,350	30c-65c	"Thirty Day Princess" (Para.)....	32,000	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F.N.)..	33,000	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	44,500
						Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	26,500
Paramount 1,800	30c-50c	"Registered Nurse" (F. N.) and.. "All Men Are Enemies" (Fox)	9,000	"Merry Wives of Reno" (W.B.).. and "Double Door" (Para.)	9,500	High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "Deception"	17,000
						Low 8-12 "Mary Stevens, M.D." and "Flying Devils"	8,000
Buffalo
Buffalo 3,500	30c-55c	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.)..	17,100	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM).	16,800	High 12-9 "Dancing Lady"	31,000
						Low 3-25 "Our Betters"	9,800
Century 3,000	25c	"Deluge" (Radio) and..... "I Believed in You" (Fox) (5 days)	4,800	"Journal of a Crime" (F.N.) and.. "You're Telling Me" (Para.)	5,500	High 4-21-34 "The Lost Patrol" and "Three on a Honeymoon"	8,100
						Low 12-16 "Solitaire Man" and "Day of Reckoning"	3,500
Hippodrome 2,100	25c-40c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.)	18,000	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox).....	9,400	High 5-19-34 "The House of Rothschild"	18,000
						Low 8-26 "Moonlight and Pretzels"....	5,100
Hollywood 300	25c-40c	"Thunder Over Mexico" (Principal) and "You Made Me Love You" (Majestic)	1,000	"The Road to Ruin" (First Div.).. (5th week-4 days)	200	High 1-7 "Goona Goona"	2,600
						Low 11-25 "Night and Day".....	400
Lafayette 3,300	25c	"The Ninth Guest" (Col.) and.... "Beggars in Ermine" (Monogram)	5,900	"The Crosby Case" (U.) and..... "In the Money" (Chesterfield)	5,800	High 3-10-34 "It Happened One Night" and "Before Midnight"	16,700
						Low 12-23 "Myrt and Marge"	4,800
Chicago
Chicago 4,000	35c-68c	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM).	40,000	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.)..	30,000	High 9-2 "Goodbye Again"	75,000
						Low 4-29 "Central Airport"	22,000
McVicker's 2,284	30c-60c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM)	15,000	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox).....	11,000	High 4-14-34 "Wonder Bar"	23,000
						Low 7-1 "The Woman I Stole"	5,000
Oriental 3,940	25c-40c	"The Show-Off" (MGM)	14,000	"Lazy River" (MGM).....	15,000	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel"	50,000
						Low 12-16 "A Man's Castle"	10,000
Palace 2,509	35c-75c	"Finishing School" (Radio)	15,000	"Twentieth Century" (Col.)	22,000	High 9-9 "Morning Glory"	37,000
						Low 4-28-34 "Glamour".....	11,500
Roosevelt 1,591	25c-50c	"The Ninth Guest" (Col.).....	6,500	"Mystery of Mr. X" (MGM).....	8,000	High 10-14 "Penthouse"	16,000
						Low 3-4 "Luxury Liner"	6,200
State-Lake 2,776	20c-35c	"I Believed in You" (Fox).....	12,000	"Countess of Monte Cristo" (U.)..	14,000	High 1-13-34 "Goodbye Love".....	18,000
						Low 2-18 "Lucky Devils"	4,500
United Artists .. 1,700	30c-60c	"The House of Rothschild" (U. A.) (3rd week)	12,500	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (2nd week)	17,500	High 5-5-34 "The House of Rothschild"	30,000
						Low 3-18 "Perfect Understanding"	6,800
Cleveland
Allen 3,300	25c-35c	"Damaged Lives" (S. R.).....	5,500	"Countess of Monte Cristo" (U.)..	2,000	High 11-11 "Private Life of Henry VIII"	12,000
						Low 3-4 "Infernal Machine" and "Exposure"	1,800
Hippodrome 3,800	30c-44c	"Registered Nurse" (F. N.).....	8,500	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox)....	9,000	High 10-21 "East of Fifth Avenue"....	30,000
						Low 6-10 "Circus Queen Murder".....	2,900
RKO Palace 3,100	30c-44c	"Where Sinners Meet" (Radio).... (5 days)	4,000	"Twentieth Century" (Col.).....	8,000	High 3-3-34 "It Happened One Night"..	28,000
						Low 8-19 "No Marriage Ties"	4,200
State 3,400	30c-44c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM).....	16,500	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.)	15,000	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	26,000
						Low 6-24 "The Eagle and the Hawk"	5,000
Stillman 1,900	25c-35c	"Laughing Boy" (MGM) and.... "He Couldn't Take It" (Monogram)	3,600	"Melody in Spring" (Para.) and.. "Fighting Ranger" (Col.)	3,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel".....	9,000
						Low 11-18 "Stage Mother" and "Hell and High Water"	2,500
Warner's Lake... 800	30c-40c	"Harold Teen" (W. B.) and..... "Picture Brides" (Allied)	1,900	"Murder in Trinidad" (Fox) and.. "Stolen Sweets" (Chesterfield)	1,800	High 10-28 "Footlight Parade".....	10,000
						Low 2-10-34 "Easy to Love"	1,500
Denver
Aladdin 1,500	25c-50c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (3rd week)	4,000	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (2nd week)	6,000	High 2-25 "Cavalcade"	10,000
						Low 4-28-34 "Registered Nurse".....	2,500
Denham 1,500	25c-40c	"You're Telling Me" (Para.).....	5,000	"The Witching Hour" (Para.)....	4,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	16,000
						Low 6-3 "Mussolini Speaks," "Night of Terror" and "Soldiers of the Storm"	1,950
Denver 2,500	25c-50c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM).....	9,000	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox).....	6,000	High 1-13-34 "Roman Scandals"	17,500
						Low 12-16 "The World Changes"	3,000
Orpheum 2,600	25c-55c	"Such Women Are Dangerous".... (Fox)	9,500	"A Very Honorable Guy" (F.N.)..	7,000	High 2-17-34 "Hi, Nellie!"	19,500
						Low 6-10 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,750
Paramount 2,000	25c-40c	"Journal of a Crime" (F. N.).... (4 days)	500	"Laughing Boy" (MGM) ..... (3 days)	600	High 4-1 "The Kid From Spain"	7,000
		"The Crosby Case" (U.) and..... "Love Birds" (U.) (3 days)	1,500	"Three on a Honeymoon" (Fox).. (4 days)	1,400	Low 4-7-34 "Ever Since Eve" and "Son of Kong"	1,500

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	50c-$1.65	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (6th week)	15,390	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (5th week)	16,460	High 9-9 "Dinner at Eight"	36,656
							Low 4-1 "King Kong"	14,600
Pantages	3,000	25c-40c	"Tomorrow's Children" (Foy)	3,500			High 1-7 "Handle With Care"	13,000
							Low 3-3-34 "Fugitive Lovers" and "The Poor Rich"	1,500
W.B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-55c	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.) (2nd week)	9,000	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F.N.) (1st week)	15,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	26,000
							Low 1-27-34 "The Big Shakedown"	7,000
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	20c-40c	"Now I'll Tell" (Fox)	2,000	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox)	3,000	High 2-18 "State Fair"	7,000
							Low 5-19-34 "Now I'll Tell"	2,000
Circle	2,800	20c-40c	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F.N.) (9 days)	8,000	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.) (2nd week-5 days)	2,500	High 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "The Sign of the Cross" (2nd run)	2,500
Indiana	3,100	20c-40c	"The Trumpet Blows" (Para.) and "As the Earth Turns" (W. B.)	2,500	"Crime Doctor" (Radio) and "Massacre" (F. N.)	2,500	High 3-25 "Parachute Jumper"	15,000
							Low 5-19-34 "The Trumpet Blows" and "As the Earth Turns"	2,500
Lyric	2,000	20c-40c	"Merry Wives of Reno" (W. B.)	5,500	"A Very Honorable Guy" (F. N.)	7,500	High 7-22 "College Humor"	9,500
							Low 11-11 "Saturday's Millions"	3,000
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM)	4,500	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.)	6,000	High 2-3-34 "Sons of the Desert"	12,500
							Low 12-16 "Women in His Life"	3,500
Kansas City
Mainstreet	3,049	25c-40c	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.) and "No Greater Glory" (Col.) (7 days and Sat. late show)	6,600	"Journal of a Crime" (F. N.) (7 days and Sat. late show) (25c-50c)	10,000	High 10-28 "Ace of Aces"	21,000
							Low 5-20 "Sweepings"	4,000
Midland	4,000	25c	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	11,700	"Viva Villa!" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	16,700	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	30,000
							Low 4-15 "Perfect Understanding"	4,900
Newman	1,800	25c	"You're Telling Me" (Para.) and "A Modern Hero" (W. B.) (7 days and Sat. late show)	5,800	"Melody in Spring" (Para.) and "Women in His Life" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. late show)	4,500	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	20,000
							Low 5-27 "Picture Snatcher"	2,800
Tower	2,200	25c	"Whirlpool" (Col.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	4,700	"Success at Any Price" (Radio) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	4,500
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox) (2nd week)	2,750	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox) (1st week)	4,900	High 1-6-34 "Mr. Skitch"	8,500
							Low 7-1 "Lilly Turner"	1,600
Los Angeles
Filmarte	800	40c-50c	"Heart Song" (Fox)	1,500	"Through the Centuries" (Beacon)	500	High 4-14-34 "Moon Over Morocco"	7,600
							Low 5-12-34 "Through the Centuries"	500
Loew's State	2,416	30c-55c	"Men in White" (MGM)	20,500	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox)	10,550	High 4-7-34 "Riptide"	28,500
							Low 2-24-34 "Coming Out Party"	4,870
Paramount	3,596	30c-55c	"Thirty Day Princess" (Para.)	19,785	"Double Door" (Para.)	21,000	High 1-7 "No Man of Her Own"	30,000
							Low 3-18 "King of the Jungle"	10,000
RKO	2,700	25c-40c	"Wild Cargo" (Radio)	9,500	"Where Sinners Meet" (Radio)	3,100	High 3-31-34 "Little Women"	15,500
							Low 9-30 "Brief Moment"	1,700
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-55c	"A Very Honorable Guy" (F. N.)	8,000	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.)	12,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	19,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Easy to Love"	7,000
Minneapolis
Century	1,650	25c-40c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.)	5,000			High 4-22 "Secrets"	5,500
							Low 3-11 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	2,500
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"Tarzan and His Mate" (MGM)	1,500	"Come On, Marines" (Para.)	1,500	High 4-1 "20,000 Years in Sing Sing"	3,000
							Low 11-11 "I Loved a Woman"	1,000
Minnesota	4,000	25c-50c	"Men in White" (MGM) (2nd week)	9,000	"Men in White" (MGM) (1st week)	7,500	High 11-11 "I'm No Angel"	10,000
							Low 2-3-34 "Eskimo"	7,000
RKO Orpheum	2,900	25c-50c	"Twentieth Century" (Col.)	5,500	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.)	5,500	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	14,000
							Low 3-11 "Cynara"	3,000
State	2,300	25c-40c	"The Witching Hour" (Para.)	5,500	"You're Telling Me" (Para.)	5,500	High 4-29 "Cavalcade"	8,000
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	3,500
World	400	25c-75c	"Beloved" (U.)	2,000	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.) (6th week)	3,000	High 5-5-34 "Private Life of Henry VIII" (5th week)	4,300
							Low 11-25 "Vi Som Gar Koksvagen"	1,000
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-60c	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.) and "Double Door" (Para.)	9,500	"Riptide" (MGM) and "Hold That Girl" (Fox) (2nd week)	8,500	High 2-24-34 "Queen Christina"	13,500
							Low 12-23 "Havana Widows and "Ever in My Heart"	7,500
Loew's	3,115	25c-75c	"The Trumpet Blows" (Para.) and "Love Birds" (U.) (25c-65c)	8,500	"Madame Spy" (U.)	10,000	High 1-21 "The Mask of Fu Manchu"	14,500
							Low 9-30 "Turn Back the Clock" and "Emergency Call"	7,500
Palace	2,600	25c-75c	"Bottoms Up" (Fox) and "You're Telling Me" (Para.)	10,000	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox) and "Murder in Trinidad" (Fox)	11,000	High 2-18 "The Sign of the Cross"	15,500
							Low 4-14-34 "Melody in Spring" and "Wharf Angel"	8,500
Princess	2,272	25c-65c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) and "Chance at Heaven" (Radio) (3rd week)	7,000	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) and "Chance at Heaven" (Radio) (2nd week)	8,500	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain" and "Speed Demon"	12,000
							Low 12-23 "Sing, Sinner, Sing" and "The Chief"	5,000
New York
Astor	1,012	55c-$2.20	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (9th week)	16,900	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (8th week)	18,000	High 4-14-34 "The House of Rothschild" (4th week)	23,730
							Low 3-25 "The White Sister"	14,559
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM) (2nd week)	42,000	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM) (1st week)	54,450	High 4-7-34 "Riptide"	63,373
							Low 2-10-34 "You Can't Buy Everything"	15,500
Mayfair	2,300	35c-85c	"Cheaters" (Liberty) (6 days)	2,700	"Hitler's Reign of Terror" (Jewel) (2nd week-3 days)	1,750	High 1-7 "The Half Naked Truth"	24,750
							Low 5-19-34 "Cheaters" (6 days)	2,700
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"Twentieth Century" (Col.)	10,600	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox)	11,800	High 2-4 "Animal Kingdom"	16,150
							Low 4-15 "Parole Girl"	4,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"Thirty Day Princess" (Para.)	31,000	"Double Door" (Para.)	17,500	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	83,450
							Low 2-4 "Hello, Everybody"	15,600
Rialto	2,200	25c-65c	"Crime Doctor" (Radio)	14,000	"Success at Any Price" (Radio)	7,700	High 4-7-34 "The Lost Patrol"	32,800
							Low 4-15 "Destination Unknown" and "The Fighting President"	5,800
Rivoli	2,200	35c-99c	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.) (3rd week-11 days)	14,800	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.) (2nd week)	19,400	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	48,000
							Low 8-5 "The Rebel"	7,200
RKO Center	3,700	25c-55c	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox) (4 days) "Wharf Angel" (Para.) (3 days)	5,500	"This Man Is Mine" (Radio) (4 days) "The Trumpet Blows" (Para.) (3 days)	5,800	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	71,267
							Low 3-17-34 "Fashion Frolics of 1934" and "Let Fall in Love"	4,800
RKO Music Hall	5,945	35c-$1.65	"Change of Heart" (Fox)	67,000	"Twentieth Century" (Col.)	75,000	High 11-25 "Little Women"	109,000
							Low 6-17 "Ann Carver's Profession"	44,938
Roxy	6,200	25c-65c	"Glamour" (U.)	16,830	"No Greater Glory" (Col.)	17,500	High 11-25 "The Invisible Man"	42,000
							Low 1-28 "Air Hostess"	9,100
Strand	3,000	25c-$1.10	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.) (3rd week-6 days)	10,000	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F.N.) (2nd week)	15,342	High 10-14 "Footlight Parade"	55,190
							Low 12-23 "Sin of Nora Moran"	6,850

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"A Very Honorable Guy" (F. N.)	1,500	"Laughing Boy" (MGM)	1,800	High 1-6-34 "Going Hollywood"	4,100
							Low 3-11 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,350
Criterion	1,700	10c-56c	"Men in White" (MGM)	5,800	"Viva Villa!" (MGM)	6,000	High 11-18 "College Coach"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "Clear All Wires"	1,800
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	"A Man's Castle" (Col.) (4 days)	2,000	"Upper World" (W. B.) (4 days)	1,600	High 9-2 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	3,900
			"Smarty" (W. B.) (3 days)	1,500	"The Ninth Guest" (Col.) (3 days)	1,500	Low 3-18 "The Death Kiss" and "The Fourth Horseman"	1,100
Midwest	1,500	10c-56c	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox)	3,400	"The House of Rothschild" (U. A.)	5,000	High 2-25 "State Fair"	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Employees' Entrance"	1,400
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	25c-35c	"Twentieth Century" (Col.) and "Sisters Under the Skin" (Col.) (6 days)	3,500	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.) and "A Very Honorable Guy" (F. N.) (8 days)	4,750	High 11-18 "One Man's Journey"	10,750
							Low 12-30 "The World Changes" and "Havana Widows"	3,500
Orpheum	3,000	25c-40c	"You're Telling Me" (Para.) (25c-50c)	14,500	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox) and "Murder in Trinidad" (Fox)	5,750	High 3-10-34 "Easy to Love"	17,250
							Low 4-29 "Sweepings"	5,000
Paramount	2,900	25c-40c	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.)	6,750	"The House of Rothschild" (U. A.)	7,000	High 7-22 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	13,250
							Low 2-24-34 "Six of a Kind" and "Good Dame"	5,250
World	2,500	25c-35c	"As the Earth Turns" (W. B.) and "Smoky" (Fox)	3,250	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.) and "She Made Her Bed" (Para.)	3,750	High 6-3 "Peg O' My Heart" and "Perfect Understanding"	7,500
							Low 5-19-34 "As the Earth Turns" and "Smoky"	3,250
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	40c-65c	"The House of Rothschild" (U. A.) (3rd week-6 days)	13,000	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (2nd week-6 days)	10,000	High 5-5-34 "The House of Rothschild"	23,000
							Low 9-30 "Bitter Sweet"	4,800
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	"Such Women Are Dangerous" (Fox) (6 days)	1,600	"The Show-Off" (MGM) (6 days)	1,700	High 1-6-34 "Duck Soup" (7 days)	6,500
							Low 5-27 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,500
Boyd	2,400	40c-65c	"Sadie McKee" (MGM) (6 days)	16,500	"Viva Villa!" (MGM) (8 days)	13,000	High 1-6-34 "Little Women"	30,000
							Low 12-23 "Right to Romance"	8,000
Earle	2,000	40c-65c	"You're Telling Me" (Para.) (6 days)	15,500	"Upper World" (W. B.) (6 days)	13,500	High 4-7-34 "Harold Teen"	40,000
							Low 10-21 "Saturday's Millions"	10,000
Fox	3,000	30c-60c	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox) (6 days)	20,000	"Now I'll Tell" (Fox) (6 days)	15,500	High 4-22 "Cavalcade"	29,000
							Low 8-5 "F. P. 1"	13,000
Karlton	1,000	30c-50c	"Laughing Boy" (MGM) (6 days)	2,500	"Let's Be Ritzy" (U.) (6 days)	2,800	High 4-8 "42nd Street"	7,700
							Low 5-19-34 "Laughing Boy"	2,500
Stanley	3,700	40c-65c	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.) (6 days)	11,000	"Tarzan and His Mate" (MGM) (6 days)	10,000	High 11-25 "I'm No Angel"	32,500
							Low 6-10 "The Silver Cord"	9,000
Stanton	1,700	30c-55c	"Merry Wives of Reno" (W. B.) (6 days)	5,400	"I'll Tell the World" (U.) (6 days)	5,700	High 6-3 "The Little Giant"	10,000
							Low 7-14 "I Love That Man"	4,000
Portland, Ore.
Blue Mouse	669	25c	"Wild Cargo" (Radio)	2,500
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"Sadie McKee" (MGM)	5,700	"Come On, Marines" (Para.) and "Countess of Monte Cristo" (U.)	5,000	High 4-7-34 "Wonder Bar"	13,000
							Low 3-11 "What! No Beer?"	3,500
Music Box	3,000	25c-40c	"Melody in Spring" (Para.) (25c-55c)	6,500	"Wild Cargo" (Radio) (8 days)	5,800	High 12-9 "Little Women"	14,000
							Low 5-13 "No More Orchids"	1,600
Oriental	2,040	25c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)	2,500	"Nana" (U. A.)	2,000	High 10-14 "Rafter Romance"	14,000
							Low 11-18 "College Coach"	1,600
Pantages	1,700	15c-25c	"Wild Boys of the Road" (F. N.)	1,800	"Manhattan Love Song" (Monogram)	1,900	High 11-4 "Lady for a Day"	10,200
							Low 4-21-34 "Laughing at Life"	1,500
Paramount	3,008	25c-40c	"Change of Heart" (Fox) and "The Witching Hour" (Para.)	5,000	"Double Door" (Para.) and "Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox)	5,000	High 11-18 "The Way to Love"	12,000
							Low 12-2 "Walls of Gold"	3,500
United Artists	945	25c-40c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (4th week)	5,000	"The House of Rothschild" (U. A.) (3rd week)	5,000	High 4-28-34 "The House of Rothschild"	9,800
							Low 3-11 "Madame Butterfly"	1,600
San Francisco
Fox	4,600	10c-35c	"I Hate Women" (Goldsmith) and "Monte Carlo Nights" (Monogram)	9,000	"Cheaters" (Liberty) and "The Quitter" (Chesterfield)	9,000	High 4-8 "Should a Woman Tell?" and "Speed Demon"	15,500
							Low 9-9 "Important Witness" and "Sensation Hunters"	7,000
Geary	1,516	55c-$1.65	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (4th week)	8,500	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (3rd week)	9,300
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-40c	"Twentieth Century" (Col.)	13,500	"I'll Tell the World" (U.)	11,000	High 2-11 "The Mummy"	25,500
							Low 10-21 "My Woman"	8,000
Orpheum	3,000	15c-50c	"The Black Cat" (U.)	9,500	"Half a Sinner" (U.)	10,000	High 10-14 "Ladies Must Love"	15,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Search for Beauty" and "From Headquarters"	5,000
Paramount	2,670	15c-65c	"The Trumpet Blows" (Para.) and "Now I'll Tell" (Fox)	9,500	"Such Women Are Dangerous" (Fox) and "Smarty" (W. B.)	10,500	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	40,000
							Low 12-23 "Sitting Pretty"	7,000
St. Francis	1,400	15c-40c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM)	8,500	"A Very Honorable Guy" (F.N.) and "The Witching Hour" (Para.)	6,000	High 3-25 "What! No Beer?" and "Broadway Bad"	13,500
							Low 4-14-34 "Registered Nurse" and "Murder in Trinidad"	3,500
United Artists	1,200	25c-50c	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.)	6,500	"Sorrell and Son" (U. A.)	6,000	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	17,000
							Low 8-26 "The Wrecker"	4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-90c	"Sadie McKee" (MGM)	20,000	"Viva Villa!" (MGM)	22,000	High 1-6-34 "Dancing Lady"	26,000
							Low 5-27 "Story of Temple Drake"	10,000
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-35c	"Smarty" (W. B.) and "The Crosby Case" (U.)	3,000	"Crime Doctor" (Radio) and "Finishing School" (Radio)	3,250	High 12-9 "Little Women"	8,500
							Low 8-19 "The Rebel"	2,500
Fifth Avenue	2,750	25c-55c	"Melody in Spring" (Para.)	10,000	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.)	5,500	High 8-5 "Tugboat Annie"	19,250
							Low 5-5-34 "Tarzan and His Mate"	5,000
Liberty	2,000	15c-35c	"The Ninth Guest" (Col.) and "Speedwings" (Col.) (10c-25c)	3,250	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (11th week)	2,500	High 3-3-34 "It Happened One Night"	7,000
							Low 6-24 "Uptown New York"	3,000
Music Box	950	25c-50c	"Looking for Trouble" (U. A.) (9 days)	4,000	"Catherine the Great" (U.A.) (2nd week-5 days)	2,750	High 11-11 "Footlight Parade"	8,000
							Low 12-23 "If I Were Free"	3,250
Music Hall	2,275	25c-55c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (2nd week)	7,000	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (1st week)	9,500
Paramount	3,050	25c-35c	"What Angel" (Para.)	7,500	"Laughing Boy" (MGM)	5,250	High 1-7 "A Farewell to Arms"	9,500
							Low 1-13-34 "Dancing Lady" (2nd run)	4,000

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features now in work or completed for release later than the date of this issue are listed under "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the companies. Asterisk indicates running time as made known by West Coast studio before announcement by home office in New York. Variations also may be due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1934, unless otherwise specified.

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
City Park	Sally Blane-Henry B. Walthall-Matty Kemp	May	1 70
Murder on the Campus	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey	Dec.	27,'33....73	Feb. 17
Quitter, The	Emma Dunn-Charley Grapewin-Barbara Weeks - Wm. Bakewell	Feb.	5....65	Mar. 24
Rainbow Over Broadway	Joan Marsh-Frank Albertson	Dec.	1,'33....70
Stolen Sweets	Sally Blane-Charles Starrett	Mar.	15....75

Coming Attractions

Green Eyes	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey	June	15

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Before Midnight	June Collyer-Ralph Bellamy	Nov.	18,'33....63	Jan. 20
Crime of Helen Stanley, The	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey	Apr.	20....58
Fighting Code, The	Buck Jones-Diane Sinclair	Dec.	30,'33....65
Fighting Ranger, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier	Mar.	17....62	Apr. 12
Fog	Mary Brian - Donald Cook - Reginald Denny	Nov.	22,'33....69	Jan. 13
Hell Bent for Love	Tim McCoy-Lilian Bond	May	20....58
It Happened One Night	Clark Gable-Claudette Colbert	Feb.	23....105	Mar. 3
King of the Wild Horses	Wm. Janney-Dorothy Appleby	Nov.	10,'33....66
Let's Fall in Love	Ann Sothern-Edmund Lowe	Dec.	26,'33....64	Jan. 13
Line-Up, The	William Gargan-Marian Nixon	Mar.	17....65	May 5
Man Trailer, The	Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker	Mar.	24....58
Man's Castle, A	Loretta Young-Spencer Tracy	Nov.	4,'33....75	Jan. 6
Ninth Guest, The	Donald Cook-Genevieve Tobin	Jan.	31....69	Mar. 10
No Greater Glory	Frankie Darro - Lois Wilson - George Breakston	Apr.	20....78	Mar. 10
Once to Every Woman	Fay Wray - Walter Connolly - Ralph Bellamy	Jan.	15....70	Mar. 31
One Is Guilty	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey	Mar.	31....64
Party's Over, The	Stuart Erwin-Ann Sothern	May	15....65	May 19
Shadows of Sing Sing	Bruce Cabot - Mary Brian	Dec.	3,'33....65	Mar. 3
Sisters Under the Skin	Elissa Landi-Joseph Schildkraut-Frank Morgan	Apr.	15....70	Apr. 14
Social Register	Colleen Moore-Alexander Kirkland	Mar.	10....74
Speed Wings	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Feb.	5....60	Apr. 7
Straightaway	Tim McCoy-Sue Carol	Dec.	22,'33....60	Jan. 27
Twentieth Century	John Barrymore - C. Lombard - Walter Connolly	May	11....91	Apr. 21
Voice in the Night	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward	Apr.	6....59
Whirlpool	Jack Holt-Lila Lee-Jean Arthur	Apr.	10....74	Apr. 21

Coming Attractions

Black Moon	Jack Holt-Fay Wray
Blind Date	Ann Sothern-Paul Kelly
Defense Rests, The	Jack Holt-Jean Arthur
Hell Cat, The	Robt. Armstrong-Ann Sothern	June	16
(See "In the Cutting Room," May 12.)
Lady Is Willing, The	Leslie Howard-Binnie Barnes		76	Feb. 10
Man's Game, A	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	June	21
Most Precious Thing in Life	Jean Arthur - Donald Cook - Richard Cromwell	May	29
(See "In the Cutting Room," Apr. 28.)
One Night of Love	Grace Moore-Tullio Carminati
Song You Gave Me, The	Bebe Daniels-Victor Varconi		84	Oct. 21,'33
Special Agent	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey
Whom the Gods Destroy	Walter Connolly-Robert Young	June	28

DU WORLD PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beast of Borneo	John Preston - May Stuart - Borneo Joe	Apr.	14....70
Death Over Shanghai	Else Elster-Ralf Osterman	Dec.	15,'33....62
Fantomas	Jean Galland	Feb.	15....59	Apr. 14
Girl in the Case	Jimmy Savo - Eddie Lambert - Dorothy Darling	Mar.	15....60
Hollywood, City of Dreams	Jose Bohr	Mar.	30....68
Queen of the Underworld	Hans Albers - Charlotte Susa - Wera Engels	Jan.	5....65
Romance in Budapest	Franciska Gaal	Apr.	18....93	May 19
Shame of a Nation	Gustaf Diessl	Apr.	10....75	May 5

FIRST DIVISION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dassan		Dec.	22,'33....36	Dec. 30,'33
Eat 'Em Alive		Nov.	3,'33....56	Nov. 18,'33
Forgotten Men	War Film	Apr.	1....84	May 27,'33
He, King of Virtue	Fernandel-Collette Darfeuil	Dec.	20,'33....58
Road to Ruin	Helen Foster-Paul Page	May	15....58	Feb. 24
Throne of the Gods		Dec.	22,'33....55	Dec. 30,'33

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bedside	Warren William	Jan.	27....65	Mar. 17
Big Shakedown, The	Bette Davis - Charles Farrell - Ricardo Cortez	Jan.	6....64	Feb. 17
Convention City	Joan Blondell - Dick Powell - Adolphe Menjou-Mary Astor	Dec.	30,'33....69	Dec. 9,'33
Dark Hazard	Edward G. Robinson	Feb.	3....72	Nov. 25,'33
Fashions of 1934	William Powell-Bette Davis	Feb.	17....78	Jan. 13
Female	Ruth Chatterton	Nov.	11,'33....60	Oct. 21,'33
Havana Widows	Joan Blondell - Glenda Farrell - Lyle Talbot	Nov.	18,'33....62	Dec. 2,'33
Journal of a Crime	Ruth Chatterton	Mar.	10....65	May 5
Mandalay	Kay Francis-Ricardo Cortez	Feb.	10....65	Feb. 24
Massacre	R. Barthelmess-Ann Dvorak	Jan.	20....69	Jan. 27
Merry Frinks, The	Aline MacMahon	May	26....67
Registered Nurse	Bebe Daniels-Lyle Talbot	Apr.	7....62
Son of a Sailor	Joe E. Brown - Johnny Mack Brown	Dec.	23,'33....73	Dec. 9,'33
Twenty Million Sweethearts	Dick Powell - Ginger Rogers - Pat O'Brien	May	26....80	Mar. 24
(Reviewed under the title "Rhythm in the Air")
Very Honorable Guy, A	Joe E. Brown-Alice White	May	5....62	Mar. 24
Wonder Bar	Al Jolson-Dick Powell-Ricardo Cortez-Dolores Del Rio - Kay Francis	Mar.	31....84	Feb. 17
World Changes, The	Paul Muni	Nov.	25,'33....93	Nov. 4,'33

Coming Attractions

British Agent	Leslie Howard - Kay Francis
Circus Clown, The	Joe E. Brown	June	30....*75	May 19
Fog Over Frisco	Donald Woods-Bette Davis-Lyle Talbot-Margaret Lindsay	June	2....68
Kansas City Princess	Joan Blondell - Glenda Farrell - Robert Armstrong
Man with Two Faces, The	Edward G. Robinson - Mary Astor-Ricardo Cortez
Midnight Alibi	Richard Barthelmess - Ann Dvorak - Helen Lowell	July	21....*60
Return of the Terror	Lyle Talbot-Mary Astor	July	7
Side Streets	Aline MacMahon - Paul Kelly - Ann Dvorak	June	30
(See "A Woman in Her Thirties," "In the Cutting Room." Mar. 17.)

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
All Men Are Enemies	Hugh Williams - Helen Twelvetrees	Apr.	20....79	Apr. 7
As Husbands Go	Warner Baxter-Helen Vinson	Dec.	29,'33....80	Nov. 18,'33
Berkeley Square	Leslie Howard-Heather Angel	Nov.	3,'33....87	July 22,'33
Bottoms Up	"Pat" Paterson-Spencer Tracy-John Boles	Mar.	30....84	Mar. 10
Carolina	Janet Gaynor-Lionel Barrymore-Robert Young-Henrietta Crosman	Feb.	2....82	Feb. 3
Change of Heart	Janet Gaynor-Charles Farrell-Ginger Rogers-James Dunn	May	18....76	May 12
Coming Out Party	Frances Dee-Gene Raymond	Mar.	9....79	Jan. 27
Constant Nymph, The	Victoria Hopper-Brian Aherne	Mar.	23....84	Apr. 14
David Harum	Will Rogers-Evelyn Venable	Mar.	2....83	Mar. 3
Devil Tiger	Kane Richmond-Marion Burns	Feb.	16....60	Feb. 17
Ever Since Eve	George O'Brien-Mary Brian	Feb.	9....72	Apr. 7
Frontier Marshal	George O'Brien-Irene Bentley	Jan.	19....66	Feb. 18
George White's Scandals	Rudy Valle - George White - Alice Faye-Jimmy Durante	Mar.	16....78	Mar. 17
Heart Song	Lilian Harvey-Charles Boyer	Apr.	27....81	Aug. 12,'33
Hold That Girl	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Feb.	16....65	Mar. 31
Hoopla	Clara Bow-Preston Foster	Nov.	30,'33....78	Dec. 9,'33
I Am Suzanne!	Lilian Harvey-Gene Raymond	Jan.	5....98	Jan. 27
I Believed in You	Victory Jory - John Boles - Rosemary Ames	Feb.	23....68	Feb. 17
I Was a Spy	Herbert Marshall - Madeleine Carroll - Conrad Veidt	Dec.	15,'33....85	Sept. 23,'33
Jimmy and Sally	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Nov.	24,'33....68	Dec. 23,'33
Mr. Skitch	Will Rogers - ZaSu Pitts	Dec.	22,'33....69	Dec. 16,'33
Murder in Trinidad	Heather Angel - Victor Jory - Nigel Bruce	Apr.	6....74
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 3.)
My Lips Betray	Lilian Harvey-John Boles	Nov.	10,'33....79	Nov. 11,'33
Now I'll Tell	Spencer Tracy-Alice Faye-Helen Twelvetrees	May	11....87	Apr. 28
Olsen's Big Moment	El Brendel	Nov.	17,'33....66	Oct. 28,'33
Orient Express	Heather Angel-Norman Foster	Jan.	12....72	Mar. 10
Sleepers East	Wynne Gibson-Preston Foster	Jan.	26....69
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30,'33.)
Smoky	Victor Jory-Irene Bentley	Dec.	8,'33....69	Dec. 9,'33
Springtime for Henry	Otto Kruger - Nancy Carroll - Heather Angel	May	25....*83	Apr. 28
Stand Up and Cheer	(All Star Musical)	May	4....80	Apr. 28
Such Women Are Dangerous	Warner Baxter-Rosemary Ames	May	4....81
(See "Too Many Women," "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 31.)
Three on a Honeymoon	Sally Eilers-Johnny Mack Brown	Mar.	23....65
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 3.)

Coming Attractions

Baby Take a Bow	James Dunn - Claire Trevor - Shirley Temple	June	22
Call It Luck	"Pat" Paterson-Charles Starrett	June	1
Caravan	Charles Boyer-Loretta Young
Cats-Paw, The	Harold Lloyd-Una Merkel
(See "In the Cutting Room," May 12.)
Charlie Chan's Courage	Warner Oland-Drue Leyton	June	29
Grand Canary	Warner Baxter-Madge Evans	July	13
Handy Andy	Will Rogers-Peggy Wood	July	27....81	May 5
Marie Galante	Spencer Tracy-Ketti Gallian
She Learned About Sailors	Lew Ayres-Alice Faye	July	6
She Was a Lady	Helen Twelvetrees	July	20
Wanted	Hugh Williams-Claire Trevor
Wild Gold	John Boles-Claire Trevor	June	8....*73
World Moves On, The	Madeleine Carroll - Franchot Tone

FREULER FILM ASSOCIATES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Love Past Thirty	Aileen Pringle - Theodore Von Eltz	Jan.	27....73
Marriage on Approval	Donald Dillaway-Barbara Kent-Phyllis Barry	Nov.	22,'33....78	Mar. 17

GAUMONT-BRITISH

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Arson Ring, The	Leslie Banks		68
Baroud (See "Love in Morocco")
Britannia of Billingsgate	Violet Loraine-Gordon Harker		78	Oct. 7,'33
Channel Crossing	Constance Cummings - Matheson Lang	May	1....64	Apr. 7
Dick Turpin	Victor McLaglen	May	15....72
Falling for You	J. Hulbert-Cicely Courtneidge		70	Sept. 30,'33
Friday the 13th	Jessie Matthews		72
Ghost Train, The	Jack Hulbert	Dec.	1,'33....69	Feb. 25,'33
Ghoul, The	Boris Karloff	Feb.	15....75	Oct. 28,'33
It's a Boy	Edward Everett Horton - Leslie Hensen		80	Sept. 30,'33
Just Smith	Tom Walls		69	May 5
King of the Ritz	Stanley Lupino-Gina Malo		66
Love in Morocco	Rex Ingram	Dec.	1,'33....76	Oct. 15,'32
(Reviewed under the title "Baroud")
Love on Wheels	Jack Hulbert-Gordon Harker		91
Lucky Number, The	Clifford Mollison - Joan Wyndham		72½	Sept. 9,'33
Man from Toronto, The	Jessie Matthews - Ian Hunter - Fred Kerr		77
Marry Me	Renate Muller-Harry Green		85	Apr. 22,'33
Night and Day	Jack Hulbert-Winifred Shotter	Dec.	1,'33....77	June 10,'33
Night of the Party, The	Leslie Banks		62	Mar. 10
Orders Is Orders	Charlotte Greenwood - James Gleason	Apr.	15....61	Aug. 19,'33

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Prince of Wales, The			57
Sleeping Car	Ivor Novello-Madeleine Carroll		83	July 8,'33
There Goes the Bride	Jessie Matthews	Dec. 1,'33	79	Mar. 11,'33
Turkey Time	Tom Walls-Ralph Lynn		71	Mar. 24
Waltz Time	Evelyn Laye	Mar. 1	76	Aug. 12,'33
Wild Boy	Mick the Miller			May 19
Woman in Command, The	Cicely Courtneidge - Edward Everett Horton		80

GOLDSMITH PRODUCTIONS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
I Hate Women	Wallace Ford-June Clyde	Apr. 15	72	Apr. 14
Woman Unafraid	Lucille Gleason - Richard "Skeets" Gallagher	Feb. 15	68

Coming Attractions

Born to Hang	All Star Cast	June 15

INVINCIBLE PICTURES

[Distributed through Chesterfield]

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cross Streets	John Mack Brown - Claire Windsor - Anita Louise - Kenneth Thomson	Jan. 22	67
Fifteen Wives	Conway Tearle-Noel Francis	June 1
In Love with Life	Onslow Stevens-Lila Lee-Dickie Moore	Apr. 1	68	May 19
In the Money	"Skeets" Gallagher - Lois Wilson - Warren Hymer	Nov. 7,'33	62	Jan. 13
Twin Husbands	John Miljan - Shirley Grey - Monroe Owsley	Feb. 25	62

LIBERTY PICTURES

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheaters	"Bill" Boyd-Dorothy Mackaill-June Collyer	June 1	68	May 19
No Ransom	Leila Hyams-Phillips Holmes
Once to Every Bachelor	Marian Nixon-Neil Hamilton		78	May 19
School for Girls
Take the Stand	Jack LaRue-Thelma Todd		78
Two Heads on a Pillow	Neil Hamilton-Miriam Jordan
When Strangers Meet	Richard Cromwell-Arline Judge		74
Without Children

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Charming Deceiver, The (Reviewed under the title, "Heads We Go")	Constance Cummings	Dec. 8,'33	87	Sept. 16,'33
Morning After, The (Reviewed under the title, "I Spy")	Ben Lyon-Sally Eilers	Jan. 1	63	Oct. 28,'33
Sin of Nora Moran, The	Zita Johann-John Miljan	Dec. 13,'33	65	Dec. 30,'33
Unknown Blonde	Edward Arnold - John Miljan - Barbara Barondess - Dorothy Revier	Apr. 23	67	May 5
You Made Me Love You	Thelma Todd-Stanley Lupino	Nov. 24,'33	74	Oct. 14,'33

Coming Attractions

Scarlet Letter, The	Colleen Moore-Hardie Albright

MAYFAIR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Badge of Honor	"Buster" Crabbe-Ruth Hall	Apr. 15	68
Fighting Rookie, The	Jack LaRue-Ada Ince	May 15
Secret Sinners	Sue Carol-Nick Stuart	Oct. 20,'33	70
What's Your Racket?	Regis Toomey-Noel Francis	Dec. 1,'33	70	Mar. 10

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cat and the Fiddle, The	Jeanette MacDonald-Ramon Novarro	Feb. 16	78	Feb. 24
Dinner at Eight	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore - Jean Harlow - Madge Evans - Karen Morley - Edmund Lowe - Lee Tracy - Jean Hersholt	Jan. 12	113	June 10,'33
Eskimo	Native Cast	Jan. 19	117	Nov. 18,'33
Fugitive Lovers	Robt. Montgomery-Madge Evans	Jan. 5	78	Dec. 30,'33
Going Hollywood	Marion Davies-Bing Crosby	Dec. 22,'33	79	Dec. 16,'33
Laughing Boy	Ramon Novarro-Lupe Velez	Apr. 13	79
Lazy River	Jean Parker-Robert Young	Mar. 16	77	Mar. 10
Manhattan Melodrama	Clark Gable-Myrna Loy-William Powell	May 4	95	Apr. 28
Men in White	Clark Gable-Myrna Loy	Apr. 6	75	Feb. 17
Mystery of Mr. X	Robert Montgomery - Elizabeth Allan	Feb. 23	85	Mar. 3
Queen Christina	Greta Garbo-John Gilbert	Feb. 9	103	Dec. 30,'33
Riptide	Norma Shearer - Robert Montgomery - Herbert Marshall	Mar. 30	90	Mar. 31
Sadie McKee	Joan Crawford-Franchot Tone	May 11	95	May 12
Should Ladies Behave? (Reviewed under the title, "The Vinegar Tree")	Alice Brady-Lionel Barrymore-Conway Tearle	Dec. 1,'33	78	Nov. 11,'33
Show-Off, The	Spencer Tracy-Madge Evans	Mar. 9	80	Mar. 3
Sons of the Desert	Laurel and Hardy	Dec. 29,'33	68	Jan. 20
Tarzan and His Mate	J. Weissmuller-M. O'Sullivan	Apr. 20	116	Apr. 28
Thin Man, The	William Powell-Myrna Loy	May 25	*95	May 19
This Side of Heaven	Lionel Barrymore-Fay Bainter	Feb. 2	76	Jan. 27
Women in His Life, The	Otto Kruger-Isabel Jewell-Ben Lyon	Dec. 8,'33	76	Feb. 3
You Can't Buy Everything	May Robson-Jean Parker	Jan. 26	85	Feb. 10

Coming Attractions

Barretts of Wimpole Street	Norma Shearer-Charles Laughton - Fredric March
Hollywood Party	(All Star Musical)	June 1	72
Merry Widow, The	Maurice Chevalier - Jeanette MacDonald
One Hundred Percent Pure	Jean Harlow-Franchot Tone	July 13
Operator Thirteen (See "In the Cutting Room," May 19.)	Marion Davies-Gary Cooper	June 8
Rear Car	Charles Ruggles-Una Merkel	June 22
Stamboul Quest	Myrna Loy-George Brent
Treasure Island	Wallace Beery - Jackie Cooper-Lionel Barrymore-Otto Kruger
Untitled (See "In the Cutting Room," May 19.)	Constance Bennett - Herbert Marshall - Hugh Williams
Viva Villa!	Wallace Beery-Fay Wray		115	Apr. 7

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beggars in Ermine (See "In the Cutting Room," Apr. 14.)	Lionel Atwill	Apr. 1	70	Feb. 24
Blue Steel	John Wayne	May 10	54	May 12
Broken Dreams	Randolph Scott-Martha Sleeper	Nov. 15,'33	68	Nov. 4,'33
City Limits	Ray Walker-Sally Blane-Frank Craven	May 1	70
He Couldn't Take It	Ray Walker-Virginia Cherrill	Dec. 11,'33	67	Mar. 24
House of Mystery, The	Verna Hillie-Ed Lowry	May 30	61
Lucky Texan, The	John Wayne	Jan. 22	55	Jan. 27
Manhattan Love Song	Dixie Lee-Robt. Armstrong	May 1	73	Mar. 31
Monte Carlo Nights	Mary Brian-John Darrow	May 20	62
Mystery Liner	Noah Beery - Astrid Allyn - Cornelius Keefe	Mar. 15	62	Mar. 31
Sagebrush Trail	John Wayne	Dec. 15,'33	53	Dec. 23,'33
Sixteen Fathoms Deep	Sally O'Neil-Creighton Chaney	Jan. 1	59	Feb. 10
West of the Divide	John Wayne-Virginia B. Faire	Mar. 1	54	Jan. 20
Woman's Man	John Halliday-Marguerite de la Motte-Wallace Ford	Feb. 15	68	Jan. 27

Coming Attractions

Derby Day
Flirting With Danger	Robt. Armstrong-Wm. Cagney
Girl of the Limberlost
Happy Landings	Ray Walker
Jane Eyre	Colin Clive - Virginia Bruce
King Kelly of the U. S. A.	Guy Roberston
Loudspeaker, The	Ray Walker-Jacqueline Wells	June 1	67	May 12
Man from Utah, The	John Wayne
Money Means Nothing	Wallace Ford-Gloria Shea	June 15	70	May 19
Moonstone, The
Randy Rides Alone	John Wayne
Shock	Ralph Forbes-Gwenllian Gill
Star Packer, The	John Wayne-Verna Hillie

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Alice in Wonderland	Charlotte Henry	Dec. 22,'33	75	Dec. 16,'33
All of Me	Fredric March-Miriam Hopkins-George Raft	Jan. 19	71	Jan. 13
Bolero	George Raft-Carole Lombard	Feb. 23	80	Feb. 17
Come On, Marines	Richard Arlen-Ida Lupino	Mar. 23	68	Mar. 10
Death Takes a Holiday (Reviewed under the title, "Strange Holiday")	Fredric March - Evelyn Venable	Mar. 30	78	Jan. 20
Design for Living	Miriam Hopkins-Fredric March-Gary Cooper	Dec. 29,'33	88	Nov. 25,'33
Double Door	Evelyn Venable-Kent Taylor	May 4	75	Apr. 28
Eight Girls in a Boat	Kay Johnson - Dorothy Wilson - Doug. Montgomery	Jan. 5	78	Dec. 30,'33
Four Frightened People	C. Colbert - H. Marshall - Wm. Gargan - M. Boland	Jan. 26	95	Feb. 3
Girl Without a Room	M. Churchill-Charles Farrell	Dec. 8,'33	75	Dec. 9,'33
Good Dame	Sylvia Sidney-Fredric March	Feb. 16	72	Feb. 10
His Double Life	Roland Young-Lillian Gish	Jan. 12	68	Dec. 30,'33
Last Round-Up, The	Randolph Scott-Barbara Fritchie	Jan. 26	65	Jan. 6
Lone Cowboy	Jackie Cooper	Dec. 1,'33	68	Nov. 25,'33
Melody in Spring	Charlie Ruggles-Mary Boland-Lanny Ross-Ann Sothern	Apr. 20	76	Mar. 24
Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen	Dorothea Wieck-Baby Le Roy	Jan. 12	68	Dec. 23,'33
Murder at the Vanities	Carl Brisson - Kitty Carlisle - Victor McLaglen-Jack Dakie	May 25	89	May 12
No More Women	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen	Feb. 23	72	Feb. 17
Private Scandal	Mary Brian-Phillips Holmes	May 11	65	May 5
Search for Beauty	Larry ("Buster") Crabbe - Ida Lupino	Feb. 2	75	Jan. 20
She Made Her Bed	Sally Eilers-Richard Arlen	Mar. 9	78	Feb. 24
Six of a Kind	C. Ruggles-M. Boland-W. C. Fields - A. Skipworth - Burns and Allen	Feb. 9	65	Jan. 27
Thirty Day Princess	Sylvia Sidney-Cary Grant	May 18	*73	May 5
Trumpet Blows, The	George Raft - Adolphe Menjou-Frances Drake	Apr. 13	72	Apr. 7
We're Not Dressing	Bing Crosby - Carole Lombard - Ethel Merman-Leon Errol	Apr. 27	74	May 5
Wharf Angel	Victor McLaglen-Dorothy Dell-Preston Foster	Mar. 16	62½	Apr. 28
Witching Hour, The	Judith Allen-Tom Brown	Apr. 27	64	Apr. 28
You're Telling Me	W. C. Fields-Joan Marsh-Larry ("Buster") Crabbe	Apr. 6	70	Mar. 31

Coming Attractions

Cleopatra	Claudette Colbert - Henry Wilcoxon - Warren William
Fifty-two Weeks for Florette	Lee Tracy-Helen Mack
Great Flirtation, The	Elissa Landi-Adolphe Menjou-David Manners	June 15
Here Comes the Groom	Jack Haley	June 22
It Ain't No Sin (See "In the Cutting Room," May 12.)	Mae West	June 29
Kiss and Make Up (See "In the Cutting Room," May 12.)	Cary Grant Genevieve Tobin
Ladies Should Listen	Cary Grant-Frances Drake
Little Miss Marker	Adolphe Menjou-Dorothy Dell	June 1	*80	May 5
Many Happy Returns	Burns and Allen	June 8	*65	May 12
Notorious Sophie Lang	Gertrude Michael - Paul Cavanagh
Now and Forever	Gary Cooper-Carole Lombard
Old-Fashioned Way, The	W. C. Fields
Scarlet Empress, The	Marlene Dietrich-John Lodge		*100	Apr. 28
She Loves Me Not	Bing Crosby-Miriam Hopkins
Shoot the Works	Jack Dakie-Dorothy Dell	June 29

PINNACLE PRODUCTIONS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Chloe	Olive Borden-Reed Howes	Apr. 1	64
Hired Wife	Greta Nissen-Weldon Heyburn	Mar. 1	65	Mar. 24
Playthings of Desire	Linda Watkins-James Kirkwood	Mar. 15	58

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ferocious Pal, The	Karan - Ruth Sullivan - Robert Manning	Feb. 2	55
Fighting to Live	Captain-Lady-Marion Shilling-Gaylord Pendleton	May 6	54
Laws of Justice	Karan-Teddy and Richard Terry	Dec. 4,'33	58
Pussla Today		Nov. 8,'33	42	Oct. 28,'33
Thunder Over Mexico	Native Cast	Nov. 15,'33	70	May 20,'33

Coming Attractions

Little Damozel	Anna Neagle-James Rennie
Peck's Bad Boy	Jackie Cooper

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Crime Doctor	Otto Kruger-Karen Morley	Apr. 27	74	Mar. 17
Finishing School	Ginger Rogers - Frances Dee - Bruce Cabot	May 4	73	Apr. 7
Flying Down to Rio	Dolores Del Rio - Gene Raymond - Raul Roulien	Dec. 29,'33	89	Dec. 16,'33
Hips, Hips, Hooray!	Wheeler and Woolsey	Feb. 2	68	Jan. 27

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
If I Were Free	Irene Dunne-Nils Asther-Clive Brook	Dec.	1,'33....66.	Dec. 23,'33
Keep 'Em Rolling	Walter Huston-Frances Dee	Mar.	2....69½..	Feb. 10
Little Women	K. Hepburn - Joan Bennett - Frances Dee - Paul Lukas	Nov.	24,'33....115.	Nov. 11,'33
Long Lost Father	John Barrymore-Helen Chandler	Jan.	19....63....	Feb. 24
Lost Patrol, The	McLaglen-Karloff	Feb.	16....75....	Feb. 3
Man of Two Worlds	Francis Lederer-Elissa Landi	Feb.	9....96½..	Jan. 20
Meanest Gal in Town, The	ZaSu Pitts - Pert Kelton - El Brendel - James Gleason - "Skeets" Gallagher	Jan.	12....67....	Mar. 10
Right to Romance, The	Ann Harding-Nils Asther	Nov.	17,'33....70.	Nov. 25,'33
Sing and Like It	ZaSu Pitts - Pert Kelton - Edward Everett Horton	Apr.	20....72....	Apr. 21
Son of Kong	Robert Armstrong-Helen Mack	Dec.	22,'33....69½..	Jan. 6
Spitfire	Katharine Hepburn	Mar.	30....88....	Feb. 24
Stingaree	Irene Dunne-Richard Dix	May	25....76½..	May 12
Success at Any Price	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.-Colleen Moore-Genevieve Tobin	Mar.	16....77....	May 12
This Man Is Mine	Irene Dunne-Ralph Bellamy	Apr.	13....76....	Apr. 21
Two Alone	Jean Parker-Tom Brown	Jan.	26....74....	Jan. 20
Where Sinners Meet	Clive Brook-Diana Wynyard	May	18....72½..	Apr. 28
Wild Cargo	Frank Buck	Apr.	6....96....	Mar. 31
Coming Attractions
Afterwards	ZaSu Pitts-Slim Summerville-Wm. Gaxton-Bruce Cabot	Aug.	10....
Bachelor Bait	Pert Kelton-Stuart Erwin	July	27....
Cockeyed Cavaliers (See "In the Cutting Room," May 5.)	Wheeler and Woolsey	June	22....
Down to Their Last Yacht (See "In the Cutting Room," May 19.)	Sidney Blackmer - Sidney Fox		....
Family Man (See "In the Cutting Room," May 5.)	Richard Dix-Dorothy Wilson	June	15....
Green Mansions	Dolores Del Rio-Joel McCrea		....
Hat, A Coat, A Glove	John Barrymore	Aug.	3....
Murder on the Blackboard (See "In the Cutting Room," May 19.)	James Gleason-Edna May Oliver	July	13....
Of Human Bondage (See "In the Cutting Room," Apr. 14.)	Leslie Howard-Bette Davis	June	29....
Sour Grapes	Diana Wynyard-Clive Brook	June	8....
Strictly Dynamite	Jimmy Durante - Lupe Velez - Norman Foster-Wm. Gargan-Marian Nixon	June	1....*67....	May 5
Vergie Winters (See "In the Cutting Room," May 12.)	Ann Harding-John Boles	July	6....
We're Rich Again	Marian Nixon - Billie Burke - Reginald Denny - Buster Crabbe - Edna May Oliver	July	20....

SHOWMENS PICTURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Features
Beyond Bengal	Harry Schenck	May	2....72....	Apr. 28
Big Race, The	Boots Mallory-John Darrow	Dec.	1,'33....71....
Moth, The	Sally D'Neil-Paul Page	Jan.	15....63....
Public Stenographer	Lola Lane-Wm. Collier, Jr.	Nov.	1,'33....62....	Feb. 10
St. Louis Woman	John Mack Brown-Jeanette Loff	Apr.	15....68....
Coming Attractions
Golden Head			....
Souls in Pawn			....
Special Duty			....
Unlimited			....
Within the Rock	Lila Lee - Creighton Chaney		....

STATE RIGHTS

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Features
Ariane	Elizabeth Bergner-Percy Marmont	Blue Ribbon Photoplays	Mar.	6....69....	Apr. 7
Big Time or Bust	Regis Toomey-Gloria Shea	Tower	Nov.	10,'33...62....	Mar. 10
Criminal at Large	Emlyn Williams - Cathleen Nesbitt	Helber Prods.	Dec.	15,'33...67....	Jan. 6
Cougar, the King Killer	Edwin C. Hill - Jay Bruce	Master Art	Nov.	1,'33...60....
Death Parade, The (War Film)		Henry Zapp		....77....	Feb. 3
Enlighten Thy Daughter	Beth Barton-Miriam Battista	Exploitation Picts.	Jan.	15....80.	Dec. 30,'33
Farewell to Love	Jan Kiepura-Heather Angel	Madison Picts.	Nov.	24,'33...60.	Dec. 2,'33
Film Parade		General Picts.	Jan.	12....55....
Found Alive	Barbara Bedford	Ideal	Feb.	10....56....	Feb. 24
Get That Venus	Ernest Truex - Jean Arthur	Regent Picts.		....
Gow		Film Exchange	Nov.	29,'33...65.	Dec. 9,'33
Hell on Earth	All Star	Aeolian Picts.	Jan.	27....70....	Feb. 10
Her Splendid Folly	Lilian Bond - T. Von Eltz	Progressive	Oct.	7,'33...59.	Nov. 4,'33
Hitler's Reign of Terror		Jewel Prods.	Apr.	30....67....	May 12
Le Gong (Dance of the Virgins)		Bennett Picts.		....55....	Jan. 20
Lost Jungle, The	Clyde Beatty	Mascot	May	1....7 rls.
No Funny Business	Gertrude Lawrence - Laurence Olivier	Ferrone Prods.	Mar.	7....60....
Sweden, Land of the Vikings		Associated Cinemas	Jan.	3....70....	Jan. 13
Through the Centuries		Beacon Films	Dec.	1,'33...70.	Dec. 16,'33
Wine, Women and Song	Lilyan Tashman-Lew Cody	I. E. Chadwick		....70..	Dec. 23,'33

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Features
Advice to the Lovelorn	Lee Tracy-Sally Blane	Dec.	1,'33....62.	Dec. 9,'33
Blood Money	George Bancroft-Frances Dee-Chick Chandler-Judith Anderson	Nov.	17,'33....65.	Nov. 18,'33
Born to Be Bad	Loretta Young-Cary Grant	May	18....
Catherine the Great	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. - Elizabeth Bergner	Apr.	13....93....	Feb. 10
Gallant Lady	Ann Harding-Clive Brook	Jan.	5....82.	Dec. 9,'33
House of Rothschild, The	George Arliss	Apr.	6....86....	Mar. 10
Looking for Trouble	Spencer Tracy - Jack Dakie - Constance Cummings	Mar.	9....77....	Feb. 3
Moulin Rouge	Constance Bennett - Franchot Tone - T. Carminati	Jan.	19....70.	Dec. 23,'33
Nana	Anna Sten-Lionel Atwill-Phillips Holmes	Mar.	2....88....	Jan. 13
Palooka	Jimmy Durante-Stuart Erwin-Lupe Velez	Feb.	16....86....	Jan. 27
Private Life of Henry. VIII, The	Charles Laughton	Nov.	3,'33....93.	Sept. 23,'33
Roman Scandals	Eddie Cantor - Gloria Stuart - David Manners-Ruth Etting	Dec.	29,'33....91.	Dec. 9,'33
Sorrell and Son	H. B. Warner	Apr.	20....85....	Jan. 6
Coming Attractions
Affairs of Cellini, The (Reviewed under the title "The Firebrand")	Fredric March-Constance Bennett-Frank Morgan-Fay Wray		....*85....	Apr. 21
Barbary Coast	Anna Sten-Gary Cooper		....
Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back	Ronald Colman-Loretta Young		....*80....	May 19
Count of Monte Cristo, The	Robert Donat-Elissa Landi		....
Last Gentleman, The	George Arliss		....*80....	May 12
Nell Gwynn	Anna Neagle-Cedric Hardwicke		....
Our Daily Bread (See "In the Cutting Room," May 19.)	Karen Morley-Tom Keene		....
Private Life of Don Juan, The	Douglas Fairbanks, Sr.		....
Resurrection	Anna Sten-Fredric March		....
Treasure Hunt, The (Tent.)	Eddie Cantor - Ann Sothern - Ethel Merman		....

UNIVERSAL

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Features
Affairs of a Gentleman	Paul Lukas - Leila Hyams - Patricia Ellis	May	14....*60....	May 12
All Quiet on the Western Front. (Reissue)	Lew Ayres	Apr.	2....84.	Apr. 26,'30
Beloved	John Boles-Gloria Stuart	Jan.	22....82.	Dec. 23,'33
Black Cat, The	Boris Karloff-Bela Lugosi-David Manners	May	7....65....
Bombay Mail	Edmund Lowe-Onslow Stevens-Shirley Grey	Jan.	1....68....	Jan. 13
By Candlelight	Elissa Landi-Paul Lukas	Dec.	18,'33....70.	Dec. 23,'33
Countess of Monte Cristo	Fay Wray-Paul Lukas	Mar.	19....78....	Mar. 3
Crosby Case, The	Wynne Gibson-Onslow Stevens-Alan Dinehart	Mar.	5....60....	Apr. 7
Cross Country Cruise	Lew Ayres - Alice White - June Knight	Jan.	15....77....	Jan. 27
Counsellor-at-Law	John Barrymore-Bebe Daniels	Dec.	25,'33....78.	Nov. 25,'33
Glamour	Constance Cummings - Paul Lukas	Apr.	9....74....	Apr. 7
Gun Justice	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Dec.	11,'33....60.	Mar. 31
Half a Sinner	Joel McCrea-Sally Blane	Apr.	30....78½..	Apr. 28
Honor of the Range	Ken Maynard	Apr.	16....61....	May 5
Horse Play	Slim Summerville-Andy Devine-Leila Hyams	Nov.	27,'33....70.	Mar. 17
I Like It That Way	Gloria Stuart-Roger Pryor	Feb.	12....67....	Apr. 28
I'll Tell the World	Lee Tracy-Gloria Stuart	Apr.	16....76....	Apr. 14
Invisible Man, The	Claude Rains-Gloria Stuart - Wm. Harrigan	Nov.	13,'33....70.	Nov. 4,'33
Let's Be Ritzy	Lew Ayres-Patricia Ellis	Mar.	26....68....	Mar. 17
Love Birds, The	Summerville-Pitts	Mar.	12....62....	Apr. 21
Love Captive, The	Nils Asther-Gloria Stuart	May	21....
Madame Spy	Fay Wray-Nils Asther	Jan.	8....70....	Jan. 6
Midnight	O. P. Heggie-Sidney Fox	Jan.	29....80....	Mar. 17
Myrt and Marge	Myrtle Dale - Donna Damerell - Ted Healy	Dec.	4,'33....68.	Sept. 9,'33
Only Yesterday	John Boles-Margaret Sullavan-Benita Hume-Billie Burke	Nov.	6,'33....105.	Nov. 25,'33
Poor Rich, The	Edna May Oliver-Edward Everett Horton	Feb.	26....65....	Jan. 6
Uncertain Lady (See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 17.)	Genevieve Tobin-Edward Everett Horton	Apr.	23....65....
Wheels of Destiny	Ken Maynard	Feb.	19....64....	Apr. 14
Coming Attractions
Embarrassing Moments	Chester Morris-Marian Nixon	July	9....
I Give My Love	Wynne Gibson-Paul Lukas	June	25....
Let's Talk It Over (See "Funny Thing Called Love," "In the Cutting Room," May 19.)	Chester Morris - Mae Clarke	June	11....
Little Man, What Now?	Margaret Sullavan - Douglass Montgomery	June	4....*90....
One More River	Diana Wynyard - Colin Clive - Frank Lawton - Mary Astor - Reginald Denny		....
Smoking Guns (Reviewed under the title "Doomed to Die.")	Ken Maynard-Gloria Shea	June	11....65....	Apr. 21
There's Always Tomorrow (T.)	Frank Morgan-Elizabeth Young-Lois Wilson-Binnie Barnes		....

WARNER BROS.

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Features
As the Earth Turns	Jean Muir-Donald Woods	Apr.	14....73....	Feb. 10
College Coach	Dick Powell-Pat D'Brien-Ann Dvorak - Lyle Talbot	Nov.	4,'33....75	Nov. 18,'33
Disraeli (Reissue)	George Arliss	Dec.	16,'33....88.	Dec. 14,'29
Easy to Love	Adolphe Menjou - Mary Astor - Genevieve Tobin	Jan.	13....61....	Jan. 20
From Headquarters	Geo. Brent-Margaret Lindsay	Dec.	2,'33....63.	Dec. 2,'33
Gambling Lady	Barbara Stanwyck	Mar.	31....66....	Mar. 10
Harold Teen	Hal LeRoy - Rochelle Hudson - Patricia Ellis	Apr.	7....66....	Feb. 24
Heat Lightning	Aline MacMahon-Preston Foster-Ann Dvorak-Lyle Talbot	Mar.	3....63....	Mar. 17
Hi, Nellie!	Paul Muni	Jan.	20....75....	Feb. 3
House on 56th Street, The	Kay Francis - Ricardo Cortez - Gene Raymond	Dec.	23,'33....68.	Dec. 9,'33
I've Got Your Number	Joan Blondell-Pat D'Brien	Feb.	24....68....	Feb. 10
Jimmy the Gent	James Cagney-Bette Davis	Mar.	17....67....	Mar. 31
Lady Killer	James Cagney	Dec.	9,'33....76.	Dec. 2,'33
Merry Wives of Reno	Glenda Farrell-Margaret Lindsay - Donald Woods	May	12....64....	May 19
Modern Hero, A	Richard Barthelmess	Apr.	21....71....	Apr. 28
Smarty	Joan Blondell-Warren William	May	19....64....
Upper World	Warren William - Mary Astor - Ginger Rogers	Apr.	28....72....	Apr. 7
Coming Attractions
Dames	Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Joan Blondell		....
Dr. Monica (See "In the Cutting Room," Apr. 28.)	Kay Francis-Warren William	June	23....65....
Dragon Murder Case, The	Warren William		....
Friends of Mr. Sweeney (See "In the Cutting Room," May 5.)	Charlie Ruggles-Ann Dvorak	July	7....
He Was Her Man (See "In the Cutting Room," Apr. 28.)	James Cagney-Joan Blondell	June	16....70....
Hey, Sailor!	James Cagney - Pat O'Brien - Gloria Stuart		....
Housewife	George Brent-Bette Davis		....
Key, The (See "Isle of Fury," "In the Cutting Room," Apr. 14.)	Edna Best - William Powell - Colin Clive	June	9....*70....
Lost Lady, A	Barbara Stanwyck		....
Madame Du Barry	Dolores Del Rio-Victory Jory		....
Personality Kid, The	Pat D'Brien-Glenda Farrell		....

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Features
Adieu Les Beaux Jours	Brigitte Helm - Jean Gabin	Ufa	Apr.	21....100....	May 19
Autumn Crocus	Ivor Novello-Fay Compton	Associated Talking Pictures		....	Apr. 14
End of the World, The	Victor Francen-Colette Darfeuil	Harold Auten	Apr.	12....54....	Apr. 28
Girl from Maxim's, The	Frances Day	London Film		....	Oct. 14,'33
Lash, The	Lyn Harding-John Mills	Radio		....	May 19
Mam'zelle Nitouche	Janie Marese-Raimu	Protex	Nov.	18,'33....90.	Dec. 2,'33
Passing Shadows	Edmund Gwenn-Barry Mackay	Fox		....	May 19
Passion of Joan of Arc, The	Maria Falconnetti	Capital	Sept.	7,'33...57.	Sept. 16,'33
Petterson and Bendel	Adolf Jahr-Sammy Scandinavian Friedmann	Talking Picts.	Jan.	1.... 148....	Mar. 10
Pledge, The	Line Noro - Jean Galland	Protex	Mar.	13....96....	Mar. 24
Prince of Arcadia	Carl Brisson	Gaumont-British		....80.	Oct. 28,'33
Red Wagon	Charles Bickford - Raquel Torres - Greta Nissen	British Int'l		....
Saint Anthony of Padua	Carlo Pinzauti	Integrity Film	Feb.	8....90....	Feb. 17
This Week of Grace	Gracie Fields	Radio		....92.	Oct. 28,'33
Two Orphans, The	Yvette Guilbert - Rosine Derean - Renee Saint-Cyr	Blue Ribbon Photoplays	Feb.	6....92....	Feb. 24
Volga Volga	H. A. Shilleton	Kinematrade	Dec.	14,'33...76....	Jan. 6
Wandering Jew, The	Jacob Ben-Ami	JAFA	Oct.	20,'33...90.	Oct. 28,'33

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1934 unless otherwise stated]

CELEBRITY PROD'TIONS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
COMICOLOR CARTOONS
Jack and the Beanstalk	Dec. 23,'33	.8
The Little Red Hen	Feb. 16	.7
The Brave Tin Soldier	Apr. 7	.7
Puss in Boots	May 17	1 rl.
The Queen of Hearts	June 25	1 rl.
Aladdin	July 30	1 rl.

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BROADWAY COMEDIES
Elmer Steps Out	Feb. 28	20
Walter Catlett
Fishing for Trouble	May 4	2 rls.
Get Along Little Hubby	June 15	2 rls.
Hold Your Temper	Dec. 15,'33	20
Leon Errol
Hot Daze	Oct. 20,'33	2 rls.
Smith and Dale
Radio-dough	Feb. 5	2 rls.
Sidney and Murray
Stable Mates	Apr. 6	2 rls.
When Do We Eat?	Mar. 19	2 rls.
Ten Baby Fingers	Jan. 26	2 rls.
Sidney and Murray
KRAZY KAT KARTOONS
Autograph Hunter	Jan. 5	1 rl.
Bill Poster, The	Nov. 24,'33	1 rl.
Busy Bus	Apr. 20	1 rl.
Bowery Daze	Mar. 30	1 rl.
Cinder Alley	Mar. 9	1 rl.
Curio Shop, The	Dec. 15,'33	7
Krazy Spooks	Oct. 13,'33	1 rl.
Masquerade Party	May 11	1 rl.
Southern Exposure	Feb. 5	1 rl.
Stage Krazy	Nov. 13,'33	1 rl.
Tom Thumb	Feb. 16	1 rl.
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY
2—In the Orient	Oct. 25,'33	10
3—In South America	Dec. 22,'33	1 rl.
4—Among the Nordics	Feb. 20	1 rl.
5—In India	Apr. 20	1 rl.
6—In Ethiopia		1 rl.
MARCH OF THE YEARS
No. 2—	Oct. 6,'33	1 rl.
No. 3—Famous Crippen Case	Oct. 20,'33	10
No. 4—Commander Perry Opens Japan	Nov. 3,'33	11
No. 5—	Jan. 24	1 rl.
No. 6—	Jan. 24	1 rl.
No. 7—	Feb. 24	1 rl.
No. 8—	Mar. 23	1 rl.
No. 9—	May 15	1 rl.
MICKEY McGUIRE COMEDIES
1—Mickey's Touchdown	Oct. 14,'33	18
2—Mickey's Tent Show	Oct. 27,'33	18
3—Mickey's Covered Wagon	Nov. 30,'33	18
4—Mickey's Minstrels	Jan. 11	18
5—Mickey's Rescue	Mar. 23	2 rls.
6—Mickey's Medicine Man	May 18	2 rls.
MINUTE MYSTERIES
No. 1—Death Attends a Party	Oct. 6,'33	9
No. 2—Fast Fangs	Oct. 13,'33	1 rl.
No. 3—The Clown Dies	Dec. 14,'33	1 rl.
No. 4—When the Lights Went Out	Dec. 15,'33	1 rl.
No. 5—The Missing Clue	Jan. 22	1 rl.
MUSICALS
No. 1—Roamin' Through the Roses	Nov. 16,'33	2 rls.
Art Jarrett
No. 2—Um-Pa	Nov. 24,'33	2 rls.
Jack Osterman
No. 3—School for Romance	Jan. 31	2 rls.
Lou Holtz
No. 4—Love Detective	Feb. 28	2 rls.
Frank Albertson
No. 5—Women Haters	May 5	2 rls.
No. 6—Susie's Affair	June 1	2 rls.
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
Auto Show	Dec. 8,'33	1 rl.
Aw, Nurse	Mar. 9	7
Hollywood Babes	Nov. 10,'33	1 rl.
Sandman Tales	Oct. 6,'33	1 rl.
Scrappy's Art Gallery	Jan. 12	1 rl.
Scrappy's Dog Show	May 18	1 rl.
Scrappy's Television	Jan. 29	1 rl.
Scrappy's Theme Song	June 15	1 rl.
Scrappy's Toy Shop	Apr. 13	1 rl.
SCREEN SNAPSHOTS
No. 1	Nov. 30,'33	1 rl.
No. 2	Dec. 14,'33	1 rl.
No. 3	Jan. 18	1 rl.
No. 4	Feb. 7	1 rl.
No. 5	Feb. 18	1 rl.
No. 6	Mar. 16	1 rl.
No. 7	Apr. 24	1 rl.
No. 8	May 18	1 rl.
No. 9	June 8	1 rl.
WORLD OF SPORT
Cyclomania	May 30	1 rl.
Dumb Champs	Apr. 20	1 rl.
Harnessed Lightning	May 17	1 rl.
It's Sport in Any Language	Dec. 30,'33	1 rl.
We Want a Touchdown	Oct. 23,'33	1 rl.
What Price Speed	Dec. 2,'33	1 rl.
What the Scotch Started	Oct. 6,'33	1 rl.
Winter Thrills	Feb. 4	1 rl.

DU WORLD PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
SEMI-FEATURES AND SHORTS
Bride of Samoa	Mar. 1	26
Dawn to Dawn	Dec. 25,'33	35
Julie Hayden-O. M. Ness
Frankie and Johnny	Apr. 15	8
Charles Laughton
Lot In Sodom	Dec. 25,'33	26
Frederic Haak
No Woman's Land	Apr. 15	34
(Travelogue)

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ANOY CLYOE COMEDIES
An Old Gypsy Custom	Jan. 12	18
Frozen Assets	Nov. 17,'33	19
Half Baked Relations	May 25	2 rls.
Hello Prosperity	Apr. 20	18
His Weak Moment	Oct. 13,'33	19
Super Snooper, The	Feb. 9	20
BABY BURLESKS
Gimme My Quarterback	Jan. 26	9
Kid 'N Africa	Oct. 6,'33	8
BATTLE FOR LIFE
Born to Die	Mar. 16	8
City of Wax	Feb. 9	9
CORONET COMEDIES
Git Along Little Wife	Nov. 3,'33	19
Good Bad Man, The	Dec. 8,'33	22
Hotel Anchovy	Apr. 13	18
Inventors, The	Feb. 2	20
North of Zero	Jan. 19	17
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Managed Money	Feb. 23	20
Merrily Yours	Oct. 6,'33	21
Pardon My Pups	Jan. 26	19
What's to Do	Nov. 24,'33	18
MERMAID COMEDIES (Harry Langdon)
Leave It to Oad	Oct. 20,'33	19
No Sleep on the Deep	Apr. 6	21
Pop's Pal	Dec. 29,'33	18
Trimmed in Furs	Jan. 5	18
MORAN AND MACK COMEDIES
Farmers' Fatal Folly	Sept. 15,'33	19
Freeze-Out, The	Dec. 22,'33	19
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Going Spanish	Mar. 2	21
Million Dollar Melody	Oct. 27,'33	21
Poppin' the Cork	Dec. 15,'33	25
ROMANTIC JOURNEYS
Across the Sea	Oct. 20,'33	11
Canyon of Romance	Dec. 8,'33	10
Lost Race, The	Apr. 13	8
Mediterranean Blues	Feb. 23	9
Paradise of the Pacific	June 1	1 rl.
SONG HIT STORIES
Doctor, The	Feb. 23	8
Last Dogie, The	Nov. 17,'33	11
Manhattan Lullaby	Nov. 24,'33	9
Helen Morgan
Trav'lling the Road	Feb. 9	9
Alexander Gray
STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
Allez Oop	June 29	2 rls.
Expectant Father, The	Feb. 16	21
Gold Ghost, The	Mar. 16	21
Mr. Adam	Nov. 17,'33	19
TERRY-TOONS
Beanstalk Jack	Oct. 20,'33	6
Busted Blossoms	Aug. 10	1 rl.
Gypsy Fiddler, A	Oct. 6,'33	6
Holland Days	Jan. 12	6
In Venice	Dec. 15,'33	6
Irish Sweepstakes	July 27	1 rl.
Joe's Lunchwagon	Apr. 6	6
Just a Clown	Apr. 20	6
King's Daughter, The	May 4	6
Last Straw, The	Feb. 23	6
Lion's Friend, The	May 18	6
Little Boy Blue	Nov. 30,'33	6
Mad House, A	Mar. 23	6
My Lady's Garden	July 13	1 rl.
Owl and the Pussycat, The	Mar. 9	6
Pandora	June 1	6
Rip Van Winkle	Feb. 9	6
Robinson Crusoe	Nov. 17,'33	6
See the World	June 29	1 rl.
Shipwrecked Brothers	Nov. 17,'33	6
Slow But Sure	June 15	6
Sunny South, The	Dec. 29,'33	6
Three Bears, The	Jan. 26	6
Village Blacksmith, The	Nov. 6,'33	6
TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
Big Meow, The	Mar. 9	19
Divorce Sweets	Nov. 30,'33	18
Good Scout, A	Apr. 27	18
TREASURE CHEST
Air Maniacs	Dec. 15,'33	11
Bosom Friends	Mar. 30	8
Day Dreams	Dec. 8,'33	11
Hula Honeymoon	Mar. 2	7
Pagliacci	Apr. 6	11
Shorts	Nov. 10,'33	10
Song of Vienna	Nov. 3,'33	10
What Does 1934 Hold?	Dec. 22,'33	11

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Scouring the Seven Seas!	Oct. 20,'33	9
Filming the Fashions	Nov. 10,'33	9
Conquest of the Air!	Nov. 30,'33	9
Answering the Riot Call!	Dec. 22,'33	9
Outdoing the Oaredevils	Mar. 2	9
With the Navies of the World	Mar. 23	9
On Western Trails	Apr. 13	9
Chasing the Champions	May 18	9
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
Playground of Pan	Oct. 13,'33	9
Elephant Trails	Oct. 27,'33	10
The Island of Malta	Nov. 3,'33	10
A Day in Tokyo	Nov. 10,'33	9
Byways in Bangkok	Nov. 24,'33	9
Around the Acropolis	Nov. 30,'34	9
Gem of the Sea	Dec. 15,'33	9
Rural England	Dec. 22,'33	9
London Medley	Dec. 29,'33	9
Flemish Folk	Jan. 5	9
Tunisian Travels	Jan. 19	9
Sentinels of the Sea	Jan. 26	9
Roaming the Netherlands	Feb. 9	9
Under Moroccan Skies	Feb. 16	9
A Journey in Flanders	Feb. 23	9
Fortunate Isles	Apr. 13	9
In Java Sea	Apr. 27	9
The Land of Bengal	May 11	9
City of the Golden Gate	June 8	9
A Journey to Guatemala	June 22	9
The Rock of Gibraltar		9
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
Twin Dukes and a Duchess	Oct. 6,'33	10
The Great Train Robbery	Oct. 27,'33	10
A Moment of Madness	Nov. 4,'33	10
Helen of the Chorus	Dec. 10,'33	10
The Extravagant Wife	Jan. 5	10
The Girl from the Country	Jan. 19	10
Emma's Dilemma	Feb. 2	10
Love's Old Sweet Song	Feb. 16	10
The Heart of Valeska	Mar. 9	10

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
HUMAN SIDE OF THE NEWS (EDWIN C. HILL)	(Variable)
1. Roosevelt Family in America		11
2. A Visit to West Point		10
3. Carrie Jacobs Bond		9
MELODY MAKERS
Sammy Fain — With Eton Boys, N. Brokenshire and Evelyn Hoey		7
Cliff Friend — With Peggy Healy, Jack Fulton and Pickens Sisters		9
Benny Oavis — With Roy Atwell, Charles Carlile, Martha Ray and Jackie Green		8
Gus Edwards — With Ralph Kirbery, Four Minute Men and John S. Young		9
Stephen Foster—With John Hundley, Nancy McCord and Kelvin Keech		10
Fields and McHugh—With Jack Osterman and Pickens Sisters		9
Carrie Jacobs Bond — With Edwin C. Hill, Ralph Kirbery and Lew White		9
ORGANLOGUES
Songs of the Hills		6
Radio Rubes
Sally		7
Singin' Sam-Don Wallace
Night of Romance		7
Oonald Novis-Ann Leaf-John Young
Tongue Twisters		7
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Ship of Dreams		7
Ralph Kirbery-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Melody on Parade		7
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Home Again		8
Nick Lucas-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Tintypes		6
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Oriental Phantasy		8
Charles Carlile-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Organ Festival		9
Lew White-Ann Leaf-Dick Liebert-Jesse Crawford
Melody Tour		8
Sylvia Froos-Dick Liebert-John S. Young
Organlogue-ing the Hits		8
Nick Lucas-Lew White
Melodies of Love		8
Carlile-Rawlinson-White
Songs of the Range		6
Art Dickinson-Lew White
Rhapsody in Black		1 rl.
Gary-Rawlinson-White
Wine, Woman and Song		1 rl.
Tommy McLaughlin-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Eili Eili		1 rl.
Charles Carlile-Lew White
PET SUPERSTITIONS
I. Spilled Salt		10
Phyllis Barry-Geo. Lewis-J. Carrol Naish
SPECIAL
She Whoops to Conquer		2 rls.
Zasu Pitts-Billy Bevan-Daphne Pollard

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR COMEDIES
Caretaker's Daughter	Mar. 10	10
Mixed Nuts	Feb. 17	19
Movie Daze		19
Mrs. Barnacle Bill	Apr. 21	20
Next Week-End	Feb. 24	16
Twin Screws	Dec. 23,'33	19
CHARLEY CHASE
Another Wild Idea	June 16	19
Cracked Iceman	Jan. 27	19
Four Parts	Mar. 17	19
I'll Take Vanilla	May 5	19
It Happened One Day	July 7	19
Luncheon at Twelve	Oct. 9,'33	21
Midsummer Mush	Oct. 21,'33	21
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
British Guiana	Dec. 16,'33	9
Colorful Ports of Call	Jan. 13	9
Day in Venice	Dec. 2,'33	9
Egypt, Kingdom of the Nile	May 19	10
Italy, Land of Inspiration	Feb. 24	9
Scotland, the Bonnie	Nov. 25,'33	9
Tibet, Land of Isolation	Mar. 17	9
GOOFY MOVIES
No. 1	Dec. 23,'33	9
No. 2	Feb. 24	10
No. 3	Mar. 24	10
No. 4	May 5	9
No. 5
LAUREL & HARDY
Busy Bodies	Oct. 7,'33	20
Dirty Work	Nov. 25,'33	20
Oliver the Eighth	Jan. 13	28
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Apples to You	Apr. 7	20
Benny from Panama	May 26	19
Duke for a Day, A	May 12	20
Music in Your Hair	June 2	17
Roamin' Vandals	Apr. 28	19
MUSICAL REVUES
Big Idea, The	May 12	20
Jail Birds of Paradise	Mar. 10	18
(Color)
Plane Nuts	Oct. 14,'33	20
Roast Beef and Movies	Dec. 2,'33	17
ODDITIES
Attention, Suckers!	June 9	10
Fine Feathers	Nov. 18,'33	9
(Color)
Flying Hunters	May 12	7
Happy Warriors	Oct. 21,'33	9
Little Feller	May 26	8
Nipuns	Apr. 28	9
Old Shep	June 23	9
Pichianni Troupe		1 rl.
Pro Football		1 rl.
Roping Wild Bears	Feb. 10	9
Trick Golf	Mar. 24	8
Vital Victuals	Mar. 3	10
(Color)
OUR GANG
First Roundup, The	May 5	19
For Pete's Sake	Apr. 14	18
Hi, Neighbor	Mar. 3	18
Honky-Donkey	June 2	17
Wild Poses	Oct. 28,'33	19
TOOO-KELLY
Air Fright	Dec. 23,'33	19
Babes In the Goods	Feb. 10	19
Backs to Nature	Nov. 14,'33	20
Maid in Hollywood	May 19	20
Soup and Fish	Mar. 31	18
WILLIE WHOPPER
Oavy Jones' Locker	Jan. 13	7
Hell's Fire	Feb. 17	7
(Color)
Insultin' the Sultan	Apr. 14	8
Play Ball	Oct. 28,'33	7
Reducing Creme	May 19	8
Robin Hood, Jr.	Mar. 10	8
(Color)
Spite Flight	Oec. 2,'33	8
Stratos-Fear	Oec. 16,'33	8

MONOGRAM

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
PORT O' CALL SERIES
1. The Seventh Wonder	Dec. 1,'33	10
2. City of the Sun	Jan. 1	10
3. Love's Memorial	Feb. 1	10
4. Children of the Nile	Mar. 1	10
5. The Peacock Throne	Apr. 1	10
6. Jungle Bound	May 1	10
7. The Last Resort	June 1	10
8. Mother Ganges	July 1	10
9. The First Paradise	Aug. 1	10
10. Dravidian Glamor	Sept. 1	10
11. Adventure Isle	Oct. 1	10
12. Queen of the Indies	Nov. 1	10
13. A Mediterranean Mecca	Dec. 1	10

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BETTY BOOP CARTOONS
Betty Boop's Hallowe'en Party	Nov. 3,'33	7
Betty Boop's Life Guard	July 13	1 rl.
Betty Boop's Rise to Fame	May 18	7
Betty Boop's Trial	June 15	7
Betty in Blunderland	Mar. 2	7
Dancing on the Moon	July 13	1 rl.
Ha! Ha! Ha!	Mar. 2	7
Morning, Noon and Night	Oct. 6,'33	7
Rubinoff
Parade of Wooden Soldiers	Dec. 1,'33	9
Red Hot Mamma	Feb. 2	8
She Wronged Him Right	Jan. 5	7
HEADLINERS
All on Deck	Mar. 30	9
Broadway Knights	Feb. 23	10
Yacht Club Boys
Little Broadcast, The	Oct. 27,'33	11
Oonald Novis - Arthur Tracy - Mills Bros. Vincent Lopez-Roy Atwell
Little Jack Little Revue	May 11	10
Little Jack Little and Orchestra - Gypsy Nina - Do Re Mi Trio
Mr. W's Little Game	June 8	1 rl.
Alexander Woollcott
New Deal Rhythm	Apr. 13	8
"Buddy" Rogers
Radio Roundup, A	Nov. 24,'33	11
Molasses 'n' January - Mary Small - The Poet Prince-Vaughn De Leath-Three X Sisters
Station T.O.T.	Jan. 19	10
Underneath the Broadway Moon	June 29	1 rl.
Isham Jones and Orchestra-Eton Boys
Where's That Tiger?	Dec. 22,'33	10
Borrah Minnevitch
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE
No. 3	Oct. 13,'33	11
No. 4	Nov. 10,'33	11
No. 5	Dec. 8,'33	11
No. 6	Jan. 5	11
No. 7	Feb. 2	11
No. 8	Mar. 2	11
No. 9	Mar. 30	11
No. 10	Apr. 27	11
No. 11	May 25	1 rl.
No. 12	June 22	1 rl.
No. 13	July 20	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL
No. 3—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews — September Morn—Harry Armstrong	Oct. 6,'33	10
No. 4—Let's Go Crabbing — Manhattan Nocturne — Irvin S. Cobb	Nov. 3,'33	11
No. 5 — The Old Mill — Jack Frost, Master Decorator—Song Makers of the Nation	Dec. 1,'33	11
No. 6 — Southward Ho — Trees — Gilda Gray	Oec. 29,'33	10
No. 7—Queer Fish—Liquid Air—Lanny Ross	Jan. 26	10
No. 8—Sponging on Old Nassau — What Next, Ladies?—Song Makers of the Nation, Gordon and Revel	Feb. 23	10
No. 9—Song Makers of the Nation, Lewis and Sherman — Winter — Meshie, Child of a Chimpanzee	Mar. 23	10
No. 10 — Here's How — A House for a Song — Song Makers of the Nation, Con Conrad	Apr. 20	10
No. 11—More or Less—The Eyes of Science — Song Makers of the Nation, Ralph Rainger	May 18	1 rl.
No. 12—	June 15	1 rl.
No. 13—	July 13	1 rl.

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
POPEYE THE SAILDR
Can You Take It	Apr. 27	7
I Eats My Spinach	Nov. 17,'33	7
Let's You and Him Fight	Feb. 16	7
Man on the Flying Trapoze, The	Mar. 30	7
Seasin's Greetinks	Dec. 8,'33	6
Shoein' Hosses	June 1	1 rl.
Sock-a-Bye Baby	Jan. 19	7
Strong to the Finich	June 29	1 rl.
Wild Elephinks	Dec. 29,'33	7
SCREEN SONGS
I Like Mountain Music Eton Boys	Nov. 10,'33	18
Keeps Rainin' All the Time Gertrude Niesen	Jan. 12	10
Lazybones Borrah Minnevitch	Apr. 13	7
Let's All Sing Like the Birdies Sing	Feb. 9	8
Sing, Babies, Sing Baby Rose Marie	Dec. 15,'33	9
This Little Piggie Went to Market Singin' Sam	May 25	1 rl.
Tune Up and Sing Lanny Ross	Mar. 9	1 rl.
SCREEN SOUVENIRS
No. 4	Nov. 17,'33	10
No. 5	Dec. 15,'33	10
No. 6	Jan. 12	10
No. 7	Feb. 9	10
No. 8	Mar. 9	10
No. 9	Apr. 6	10
No. 10	May 4	10
No. 11	June 1	10
No. 12	June 29	1 rl.
No. 13	July 27	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Two Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS
No. 5—Kennel Kings	Nov. 24,'33	10
No. 6—Around the Calendar	Dec. 22,'33	10
No. 7—Jumping Giants	Jan. 26	11
No. 8—Horsepower	Feb. 16	11
No. 9—Flying Bodies	Mar. 23	10
No. 10—Animal Antics	Apr. 13	10
No. 11—Marine Marvels	May 11	1 rl.
No. 12—Lucky Anglers	June 8	1 rl.
No. 13—Good Shape	July 6	1 rl.
TWO-REEL CDMEDIES
Circus Hoodoo Harry Langdon	Feb. 16	21
Cold Turkey Joseph Cawthorn	Dec. 1,'33	19
Gold Nuggets Walter Catlett	Feb. 2	18
Just an Echo Bing Crosby	Jan. 19	20
Making the Rounds Pallette-Catlett	July 6	2 rls.
New Dealers, The Pallette-Catlett	Apr. 6	20
News Hounds Pallette-Catlett	June 1	2 rls.
No More Bridge Leon Errol	Mar. 16	21
Oil's Well Chic Sale	May 4	2 rls.
Old Bugler, The Chic Sale	Jan. 5	20
Petting Preferred	Apr. 27	19
Please Bing Crosby	Dec. 15,'33	22
Roaming Romeo, A Harry Langdon	Dec. 29,'33	21
Three Little Swigs Leon Errol	Nov. 10,'33	21
Up and Down Franklin Pangborn	Mar. 2	21

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
City of Contrasts	Nov. 22,'33	19
Kick-Off, The	Oct. 11,'33	27
Newslaugh—No. 2	Dec. 20,'33	9
Wonders of the Tropics	Dec. 13,'33	32
CONFLICTS OF NATURE SERIES
Circle of Life of the Ant Lion, The	Feb. 14	7
Farmer's Friend, The	Oct. 4,'33	7
From Cocoon to Butterfly	Jan. 10	7
Her Majesty, the Queen Bee	Dec. 1,'33	6
Insect Clowns	Mar. 4	7
Queen of the Underworld	Dec. 6,'33	7

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMOS 'N' ANDY CARTOONS
Lion Tamer, The	Feb. 2	9
Rasslin' Match, The	Jan. 5	11
BLONDE and RED HEAD SERIES
Bridal Bail	Feb. 9	21
Rough Necking	Apr. 27	20
Walking Back Home	Dec. 8,'33	19
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SERIES (Reissues)
The Count	Nov. 17,'33	21
The Immigrant	Jan. 19	21
One A.M.	Mar. 23	18
Behind the Screen	May 25	2 rls.
CLARK & McCULLDUGH SERIES
Bedlam of Beards	Apr. 13	18
Hey Nanny, Nanny	Jan. 12	21
In the Devil Dog House	Feb. 2	21
Love and Hisses	June 8	17½
Ddor in the Court	Aug. 2	21½
Snug in a Jug	Nov. 2,'33	20
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTODNS
Art for Art's Sake	May 11	1 rl.
Croon Crazy	Dec. 29,'33	7
Cubby's Stratosphere Flight	Apr. 20	7
Galloping Fanny	Dec. 1,'33	6½
Gay Gaucho, The	Nov. 3,'33	7½
Good Knight	Feb. 23	7½
How's Crops	Mar. 23	7½
Sinister Stuff	Jan. 26	6½
GRIBBDN-KENNEDY CDMEDIES
Strictly Fresh Yeggs	Apr. 6	21½
Suits to Nuts	Dec. 1,'33	19
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 1—Preferred List	Oct. 6,'33	20
No. 2—Air Tonic	Dec. 22,'33	21
No. 3—On Approval	Jan. 5	17
No. 4—Autobuyography	Mar. 16	20
No. 5—The Old Maid's Mistake	May 11	20
MR. AVERAGE MAN CDMEDIES (EDGAR KENNEDY)
Grin and Bear It	Dec. 29,'33	20½
Love on a Ladder Bert Lahr	Mar. 2	18
What Fur? Bert Lahr	Nov. 3,'33	21
Wrong Direction Ethel Waters	May 18	21
MUSICALS
Bubbling Over Ethel Waters	Jan. 5	20
Everybody Likes Music Bert Lahr	Mar. 9	19½
Henry the Ape Bert Lahr	Jan. 26	2 rls.
Hizzoner Bert Lahr	Nov. 17,'33	21½
Knife of the Party Lillian Miles	Feb. 16	20
No More West Bert Lahr	Mar. 30	19
Sea Sore	Apr. 20	2 rls.
Strange Case of Hennessy Cliff Edwards	Dec. 8,'33	21½
MUSICDMEDIES SERIES (Ruth Etting)
California Weather	Dec. 15,'33	20½
Derby Decade	July 12	22
Torch Tango	Feb. 23	21
MY BRIDGE EXPERIENCES (Ely Culbertson)
What Not to Do in Bridge	Oct. 13,'33	15
Trans-Atlantic Bridge Tricks	Oct. 27,'33	21
Three Knaves and a Queen	Nov. 10,'33	20
PATHE NEWS
Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEW
Released once a month
SOGLOW'S "THE KING" CARTDONS
Jest of Honor	Jan. 19	7
Jolly Good Felons	Feb. 16	7
On the Pan	Nov. 24,'33	7
Pals	Dec. 22,'33	7½
Royal Good Time, A	Apr. 13	7
Sultan Pepper	Mar. 16	7
SPECIALS
Grand National Irish Sweepstake Race, 1934	Apr. 2	10
So This Is Harris	Jan. 19	28
VAGABDND ADVENTURE SERIES
Cuba	Nov. 10,'33	10½
Gibraltar, Guardian of the Mediterranean	May 4	8
Holy Land	Feb. 16	10
Madeira, Land of Wine	Mar. 30	9
Moorish Spain	Jan. 12	10

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
15. Mickey's Gala Premiere	June 30,'33	7
16. Puppy Love	Aug. 14,'33	8
17. Steeple Chase	Sept. 1,'33	7
18. The Pet Shop	Sept. 22,'33	8
(NEW SERIES)
1. Giant Land	Nov. 15,'33	7
2. Mickey Shanghaied	Jan. 15	7
3. Camping Dut	Feb. 16	7
4. Playful Pluto	Mar. 16	7
5. Mickey's Steamroller		1 rl.
6. Gulliver Mickey		9
SILLY SYMPHONIES
12. Lullaby Land	Aug. 18,'33	7
13. Pied Piper	Oct. 6,'33	7
(NEW SERIES)
1. The Night Before Christmas	Dec. 15,'33	8
2. The China Shop	Jan. 15	8
3. Grasshopper and the Ant, The	Feb. 23	8
4. Funny Little Bunnies	Mar. 30	9
5. The Big Bad Wolf	Apr. 20	9
6. The Wise Little Hen		1 rl.

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
GDDFYTDNE NEWS
No. 3	Dec. 25,'33	10
No. 4	Jan. 29	9
No. 5	Mar. 5	8
No. 6	Mar. 19	9
No. 7	Apr. 30	9
DSWALD CARTDDNS
Annie Moved Away	May 28	1 rl.
Candy House, The	Jan. 15	9
Chicken Reel	Jan. 1	8½
County Fair	Feb. 5	7
Gingerbread Boy	Apr. 16	1 rl.
Goldilocks and the Three Bears	May 14	1 rl.
In the Zoo	Nov. 6,'33	7
Kings Up	Mar. 12	7
Merry Old Soul	Nov. 27,'33	8
Parking Space	Dec. 18,'33	7
Toy Shoppe, The	Feb. 19	7
Wax Works, The	June 25	1 rl.
William Tell	May 28	1 rl.
Wolf, Wolf	Apr. 2	8
RADID STAR REELS
Boswell Sisters, The Nick Kenny—No. 4	Dec. 6,'33	21
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS SERIES
No. 34—Novelty	Nov. 20,'33	9
No. 35—Novelty	Dec. 18,'33	10
No. 36—Novelty	Jan. 22	11
No. 37—Novelty	Feb. 26	10
No. 38—Novelty	Apr. 23	9
No. 39—Novelty	May 21	1 rl.
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES
Beau Bashful Herbert Corthell	June 6	2 rls.
Big Casino, The (Mentone No. 4)	Nov. 29,'33	21
Born April First Sterling Holloway	Mar. 14	21
Broadway Varieties (Mentone No. 7)	Feb. 14	20
Ceiling Whacks Henry Armetta	Mar. 28	20
Ed Sullivan's Headliners (Mentone No. 10)	May 2	20
Full Coverage Henry Armetta	Feb. 28	21
Good Time Henry Henry Armetta	May 3	20
Heartburn Sterling Holloway	Apr. 11	20
Meeting Mazie Sterling Holloway	Dec. 20,'33	20
Mountain Music Louise Fazenda	Jan. 3	18
Not the Marrying Kind Sterling Holloway	Nov. 22,'33	20
Dut of Gas Louise Fazenda	Nov. 8,'33	21
Palsie Walsie Henry Armetta	Jan. 31	20
Pest, The (Mentone No. 9)	Apr. 18	19
Pie for Two James Gleason	Dec. 13,'33	21
Pleasing Grandpa Sterling Holloway	June 20	2 rls.
Soup for Nuts (Mentone No. 11)	June 27	2 rls.
Supper at Six (Mentone No. 5)	Dec. 27,'33	18
There Ain't No Justice Corthell and Hurst	May 23	2 rls.
Trifle Backward, A Vince Barnett	Jan. 17	19½
Vaudeville Days (Mentone No. 8)	Mar. 21	21
Vaudeville on Parade (Mentone No. 6)	Jan. 24	20
Where's Elmer? Vince Barnett	Feb. 7	20

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V CDMEDIES
No. 4—Turkey in the Raw Gus Shy	Nov. 4,'33	21
No. 5—In the Dough Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Nov. 25,'33	22
No. 6—Here Comes Flossie Ben Blue	Dec. 9,'33	18
No. 7—Tomalio Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Dec. 30,'33	21
No. 8—How D'Ya Like That? George Givot-Chas. Judels	Jan. 13	18
No. 9—Nervous Hands Ben Blue	Feb. 3	21
No. 10—Pugs and Kisses Charles Judels	Mar. 10	21
No. 11—Mushrooms Harry Gribbon	Feb. 17	20
No. 12—Foiled Again Ben Blue	Mar. 24	20
No. 13—Very Close Veins Ben Blue	Apr. 14	20
No. 14—Corn on the Cop Harry Gribbon	Apr. 28	20
No. 15—I Scream Gus Shy	May 19	20
No. 16—Salted Seanuts Chas. Judels-George Givot	June 2	20
No. 17—The Prize Sap Ben Blue	June 23	20
No. 18—Art Trouble Harry Gribbon	June 23	20
No. 19—My Mummy's Arms Harry Gribbon	July 28	19
No. 20—Daredevil O'Dare Ben Blue	Aug. 11	19
BROADWAY BREVITIES
No. 7—Yeast Is Yeast Tom Patricola	Nov. 11,'33	20
No. 8—The Mild West Janet Reade-Olive Borden	Nov. 18,'33	23
No. 9—Girl Trouble Mitchell and Durant	Dec. 2,'33	20
No. 10—Around the Clock Norma Terris-Four Eton Boys	Jan. 16	21
No. 11—Plane Crazy Dorothy Lee-Arthur and Morton Havel	Dec. 23,'33	20
No. 12—Kissing Time Jane Froman-Georges Metaxa	Dec. 16,'33	22
No. 13—A Little Girl With Big Ideas Molly Picon	Jan. 20	29
No. 14—Not Tonight, Josephine Frank McHugh-Kitty Kelly (Technicolor)	Jan. 27	21
No. 15—Picture Palace Hal LeRoy	Feb. 10	21
No. 16—Come to Dinner Lillian Roth	Feb. 24	21
No. 17—Business Is a Pleasure (Technicolor)	Mar. 3	17
No. 18—Look for the Silver Lining Dorothy Stone	Mar. 17	30
No. 19—Let's Play Post Office Jean Sargent	Mar. 31	21
No. 20—Story Conference Lillian Roth	Apr. 7	20
No. 21—Morocco Nights (Technicolor)	Apr. 21	18
No. 22—Private Lessons Hal LeRoy	May 5	22
No. 23—Masks and Memories Lillian Roth	May 12	30
No 24—Murder in Your Eyes	May 26	20
No. 25—Service with a Smile Leon Errol (Technicolor)	July 28	2 rls.
No. 26—Darling Enemy Gertrude Niesen	June 9	2 rls.
No. 27—Who Is That Girl? Bernice Claire-J. Harold Murray	June 16	2 rls.
No. 28—King for a Day Bill Robinson	June 30	2 rls.
No. 29—The Song of Fame Ruth Etting	July 7	2 rls.
No. 30—The Winnah Arthur and Florence Lake	July 21	2 rls.
No. 31—The Mysterious Kiss Jeanne Aubert	Aug. 4	2 rls.
No. 32—Untitled Hal LeRoy-Dorothy Dare	Aug. 11	2 rls.
LOONEY TUNES
No. 2—Buddy's Beer Garden	Nov. 11,'33	7
No. 3—Buddy's Show Boat	Dec. 9,'33	7
No. 4—Buddy the Gob	Jan. 13	7
No. 5—Buddy and Towser	Feb. 24	7
No. 6—Buddy's Garage	Apr. 14	7
No. 7—Buddy's Trolley Troubles	May 5	7
No. 8—Buddy of the Apes	May 26	7
No. 9—Buddy's Bearcats	June 23	7
MELDDY MASTERS
Eddie Duchin and Band	Nov. 25,'33	10
Borrah Minnevitch and His Harmonica Rascals	Dec. 23,'33	10
Jack Denny and Band	Jan. 20	10
Mills Blue Rhythm Band	Feb. 17	10
Vincent Lopez	Mar. 17	10
A Big City Fantasy Phil Spitalny	Apr. 14	9
Isham Jones	May 12	10
Tin Hat Harmony Abe Lyman		1 rl.
A Jolly Good Fellow B. A. Rolfe	July 9	10
Ben Pollock and Band	Aug. 4	10
MERRIE MELODIES
Sitting on a Back Yard Fence	Dec. 16,'33	7
Pettin' in the Park	Jan. 27	7
Honeymoon Hotel (Cinecolor)	Feb. 17	7
Beauty and the Beast (Cinecolor)	Apr. 14	7
Those Were Wonderful Days	Apr. 26	7
Goin' to Heaven on a Mule		1 rl.
How Do I Know It's Sunday?	June 9	7
Why Do I Dream Those Dreams?	June 30	7
MUSICAL WRLLD JOURNEYS E. M. NEWMAN
Heart of Paris	Nov. 11,'33	9
Italy, the Old and the New	Dec. 9,'33	11
Cannibal Islands	Jan. 6	10
Spanish America	Feb. 3	10
Jerusalem, the Holy City	Mar. 3	10
Picturesque Siam	Mar. 31	10
Slackers of the Jungle	Apr. 28	10
East Indies	May 26	10
Central America	June 23	10
Dark Africa	Aug. 11	10
A Visit to the South Sea Islands	July 21	10
JOE PENNER CDMEDIES (Reissues)
Gangway	Apr. 14	2 rls.
Making Good	Apr. 21	1 rl.
You Nasty Man (formerly "Here Prince")	Apr. 28	2 rls.
Service Stripes	May 5	1 rl.
Where Men Are Men	May 12	2 rls.
A Stuttering Romance	May 19	1 rl.
Toreador	May 26	2 rls.
PEPPER POT
No. 5—Notre Dame Glee Club	Nov. 4,'33	8
No. 6—Harry Warren	Nov. 18,'33	10
No. 7—Easy Aces	Dec. 2,'33	10
No. 8—Little Miss Mischief	Dec. 6,'33	10
No. 9—Movie Memories	Dec. 30,'33	9
No. 10—The Tune Detective Sigmund Spaeth	Jan. 13	9
No. 11—Mississippi Suite	Jan. 27	9
No. 12—The Wrong Wrong Trail Block and Sully	Feb. 10	10
No. 13—Song Hits, with Roy Turk	Feb. 24	11
No. 14—Easy Aces, No. 2	Mar. 10	10
No. 15—Pure Feud Edgar Bergen	Apr. 21	10
No. 16—A Cabinet Meeting Radio Ramblers	Apr. 7	10
No. 17—Just Concentrate Lulu McConnell	June 2	10
No. 18—Those Were the Days	May 5	10
No. 19—Radio Reel No. 1 Jessel-Van	May 19	10
No. 20—Penny A Peep	June 30	9
No. 21—Hollywood Newsreel	Mar. 24	1 rl.
No. 22—Radio Reel No. 2	June 16	10
No. 23—Dad Minds the Baby	July 14	9
No. 24—Bergen in at the Races	July 21	10
No. 25—The Stolen Melody	July 28	10
No. 26—Camera Speaks	Aug. 11	9

SERIALS

(EACH SERIAL 12 EPISODES DF 2 RLS.)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
FIRST DIVISION
Young Eagles Boy Scouts	May 15	2 rls. (each)
MASCOT
Burn 'Em Up Barnes Jack Muthall - Lola Lane
Fighting with Kit Carson Johnny Mack Brown-Noah Beery	July 6,'33	20 (each)
Lost Jungle, The Clyde Beatty	Apr. 1	20 (each)
Mystery Squadron, The Bob Steele	Dec. 23,'33	20 (each)
Wolf Dog, The Rin Tin Tin, Jr.-Frankie Darro-Boots Mallory	Sept. 30,'33	2 rls. (each)
PRINCIPAL
Chandu		2 rls. (each)
Tarzan, the Fearless Buster Crabbe	Aug. 11,'33	20 (each)
UNIVERSAL
Gordon of Ghost City Buck Jones-Madge Bellamy	Aug. 14,'33	20 (each)
Perils of Pauline Evalyn Knapp-Robt. Allen	Nov. 6,'33	20 (each)
Pirate Treasure Richard Talmadge-Lucille Lund	Jan. 29	20 (each)
Red Rider, The Buck Jones (15 episodes)	July 16	20 (each)
Vanishing Shadow, The Onslow Stevens-Ada Ince	Apr. 23	20 (each)

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA chairs, Sound Equipment, Moving Picture Machines, Screens, Spotlights, Stereopticons, etc. Projection Machines Repaired. Catalogue H free. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, Ltd., 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

TWO SIMPLEX WITH LAMPS—EXCELLENT. TRISTATE THEATRE SUPPLY, Tulsa, Okla.

BARGAINS RECONDITIONED ARCTIC NU-AIR blowers; noiseless drives; hydraulic variable speed pullies; air washers. Catalogue mailed. SOUTHERN FAN CO., Box 440, Atlanta, Ga.

REAL BARGAIN IN USED LENSES. BOX 396, MOTION PICTURE HERALD, 407 So. Dearborn St., Chicago.

REBUILT HI-LOW AND LOW INTENSITY lamps. Also Simplex projectors and generator sets. We do expert repairing on projection machines. JOE GOLDBERG, INC., 823 S. Wabash Avenue, Chicago.

LARGE ASSORTMENT RECONDITIONED UPholstered and veneer theatre chairs at reasonable prices. ILLINOIS THEATRE EQUIPMENT COMPANY, 1018 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.

COMPETITORS ADMIT WE DO THE BUSIness—write for prices on reflector arcs, amplifiers, generators, chairs, rectifiers, anything. Ask for list. Trades taken. Tremendous savings. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

WANTED TO BUY

SPOT CASH FOR SIMPLEX AND POWERS projectors—mechanisms—reflector arc lamps—generators—Mazda lamphouses and regulators—lenses—rectifiers—portables—All booth equipment. Give all details. BOX 389, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

SIMPLEX PEDESTALS AND LOWER MAGAzines. BOX 397, MOTION PICTURE HERALD, 407 So. Dearborn St., Chicago.

HIGHEST PRICES PAID SIMPLEX, POWERS, Arc lamps, rectifiers, portables, stocks liquidated, strictly confidential. BOX 407, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT and theatre advertising. Big opportunities for trained men. Catalog free. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, N. Y.

NEW EQUIPMENT

FREE! FREE! — THEATRE LOOSE LEAF ledger sheets—free! "Old reliable Monarch" carries most complete stock theatre equipment, sound accessories, supplies. Surprising prices. Our central location assures snappy service. New catalog free. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

DO YOU NEED MORE LIGHT ON YOUR screen, if so let us know details of equipment in use. We should be pleased to forward information regarding low operating cost of new A.C. or D.C. equipment. CROWN, 311 W. 44th St., New York.

PRECISION PARTS FOR SIMPLEX—POWERS —Motiograph at big discounts. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

SUNLIGHT ON YOUR SCREEN—AC DOES it—only $99.85. Our marvelous transformer converts your low-intensity lamps. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

POSITIONS WANTED

EXPERIENCED PROJECTIONIST, MANAGER, free trial. Invest if reliable. BOX 400, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

PROJECTIONIST, 15 YEARS' EXPERIENCE, can work all sound equipments, non-union, go anywhere, BOX 405, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

TECHNICAL BOOKS

"RICHARDSON'S HAND BOOKS OF PROJECtion" in three volumes. Universally accredited as the best and most practical. Aaron Nadell's "Projection Sound Pictures." Complete information on sound equipment. Both text books complete for $12.80. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, 1790 Broadway, New York.

REPAIR SERVICE

ANY MAKE ARC LAMPS, CARBON JAW REplaced with nickel inserts. Write for prices. BOX 348A, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

THEATRES

FOR SALE, PAYING THEATRE, CENTRAL Missouri, 1,500 population, 7 days, seats 350, sound equipment. BOX 406, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

BRAND NEW NOISELESS ROLLER BEARING cooling fans purchased from government for sale cheap. "Sirocco" cooling fan, including a housing approximately 50″ long, 37″ high and 21″ wide. Within housing is a 64-blade, 24″ diameter x 12″ wide fan mounted on steel shaft with an SKF or equal #1308 radial ball bearing on each end. Driving shaft equipped with one double "V" type cast iron pulley 8″ in diameter with 2¼″ face. Net weight 300 lbs. J. ROSENBAUM & SON, Centerville, Ia.

CLEAN HOUSE—CURE YOUR HEADACHES—install S. O. S. Wide Fidelity sound, $179.70 up complete; soundheads, $49.50 up; unified control amplifier, $55.00 up. Trades taken. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

BARGAINS — CINEPHOR AND SNAPLITE lenses; Clough-Brengle and Supertone amplifiers, $75.50 up; soundheads $79; parts big discounts; Jensen-Wright DeCoster speakers cheap; lenses $6.50; intermittent sprockets $3.50; everything sent prepaid! Catalogue. WESLEY TROUT, SOUND-PROJECTION EQUIPMENT, Enid, Okla.

SOUND EQUIPMENT

"VERY MUCH SATISFIED — FOUND YOU very fair" gratefully writes Miller, Lyric Theatre, Flatonia, Texas. "No worries with S. O. S." Join the happy throng—install Wide Fidelity, $179.70 up complete. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

THEATRES WANTED

WANTED—TO LEASE THEATRE IN MIDDLE west, Ohio preferred. State population and complete details. BOX 403, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

IN SUMMER COMMUNITY FOR PLAY TRYouts. Small capacity with no competition. Will lease for long term with option to buy after first year. State all in first letter. BOX 500A, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

SALE OR LEASE THEATRE SOUTHERN Illinois, 2,500 population, $500 down. C. WASHMON, Trenton, Tenn.

BRUSHES AND SUPPLIES

LOBBY ARTISTS! SIGN PAINTS! WRITE today for our 80 page free catalog and save 10 to 50 per cent on Brushes and Supplies. DICK BLICK COMPANY, Box 43, Galesburg, Ill.

IMPORTANT

to any picture

ANY picture, made on any film, may prove a hit. But the fact remains that the majority of the big motion picture triumphs are being filmed on Eastman Super-sensitive "Pan" Negative with gray backing. In other words, this film seems to be an important factor in any picture's chances of outstanding success. That fact is vitally important to every cameraman and producer. Eastman Kodak Co., Rochester, N. Y. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors.)

EASTMAN Super-sensitive
Panchromatic Negative

Isn't she gorgeous!
MAE WEST
in
"It Ain't No Sin"
with
ROGER PRYOR, John Mack Brown
Duke Ellington's Orchestra
Directed by Leo McCarey
Paramount Picture
Paramount Picture

MOTION PICTURE
HERALD
CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

RISING FLOOD OF RADIO PREMIUMS MENACES THEATRE

Two Sections — Section One

OL. 115, NO. 10 Entered as second-class matter, January 12, 1931, at the Post Office, at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3, 18[illegible] lished Weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1790 Broadway, New York. Subscription, $3.00 a year. Single copies [illegible] JUNE 2, 1934

YOU KNOW

IT'S THE GAYEST FILM OF THIS SEASON!

TELL YOUR PUBLIC!

...CTIVE'S WIFE LEADS A MERRY LIFE!

The gayest couple you've ever met are Mr. and Mrs. Nick Charles, stepping nonchalantly out of Dashiell Hammett's delightful mystery novel. It's good news that every racy, thrilling, tingling episode of "The Thin Man" has been filmed in the merriest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer manner!

Three men liked Julia...she had appeal! Why was that clenched fist forced open? Nick and his pretty wife were on vacation when the Thin Man disappears... Nick is the boy to find him!

This book is a joy on the screen!

ALEXANDER WOOLLCOTT says: "It's the best detective story yet written in America!"

WILLIAM POWELL MYRNA LOY

IN

"The THIN MAN"

with MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN

NAT PENDLETON · MINNA GOMBELL

Directed by W. S. VAN DYKE · Produced by HUNT STROMBERG

A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer-Cosmopolitan Production

NEWSPAPER ADS ON THIS PAGE ARE REPRODUCED FROM "THIN MAN" PRESS BOOK

LEO MARCHES ON!

THE BEST NEWS of the film year is the arrival on the screen of "The Thin Man"... Dashiell Hammett's greatest mystery novel comes to life...breathless with excitement, packed with laughs and tense moments. No wonder Alexander Woollcott said: "The best detective story yet written in America." And what a marvelous movie they've made of it!

WHY DID THE LADIES READ THIS STORY?

When you meet that happy-go-lucky couple Mr. and Mrs. Nick Charles on the screen you'll know why thousands of women picked Dashiell Hammett's "The Thin Man" as their favorite romantic fiction of the year! Thank M-G-M for capturing every bit of its exciting merriment for the grandest film entertainment of this season!

ALEXANDER WOOLLCOTT, SINCLAIR LEWIS and others chose "The Thin Man" as their favorite mystery novel. We predict you'll describe it as your favorite movie of this season!

PLEASE! After you have seen "The Thin Man" kindly do not divulge the solution to your friends... the baffling mystery will add to their enjoyment.

William POWELL Myrna LOY

IN

The THIN MAN

with MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN

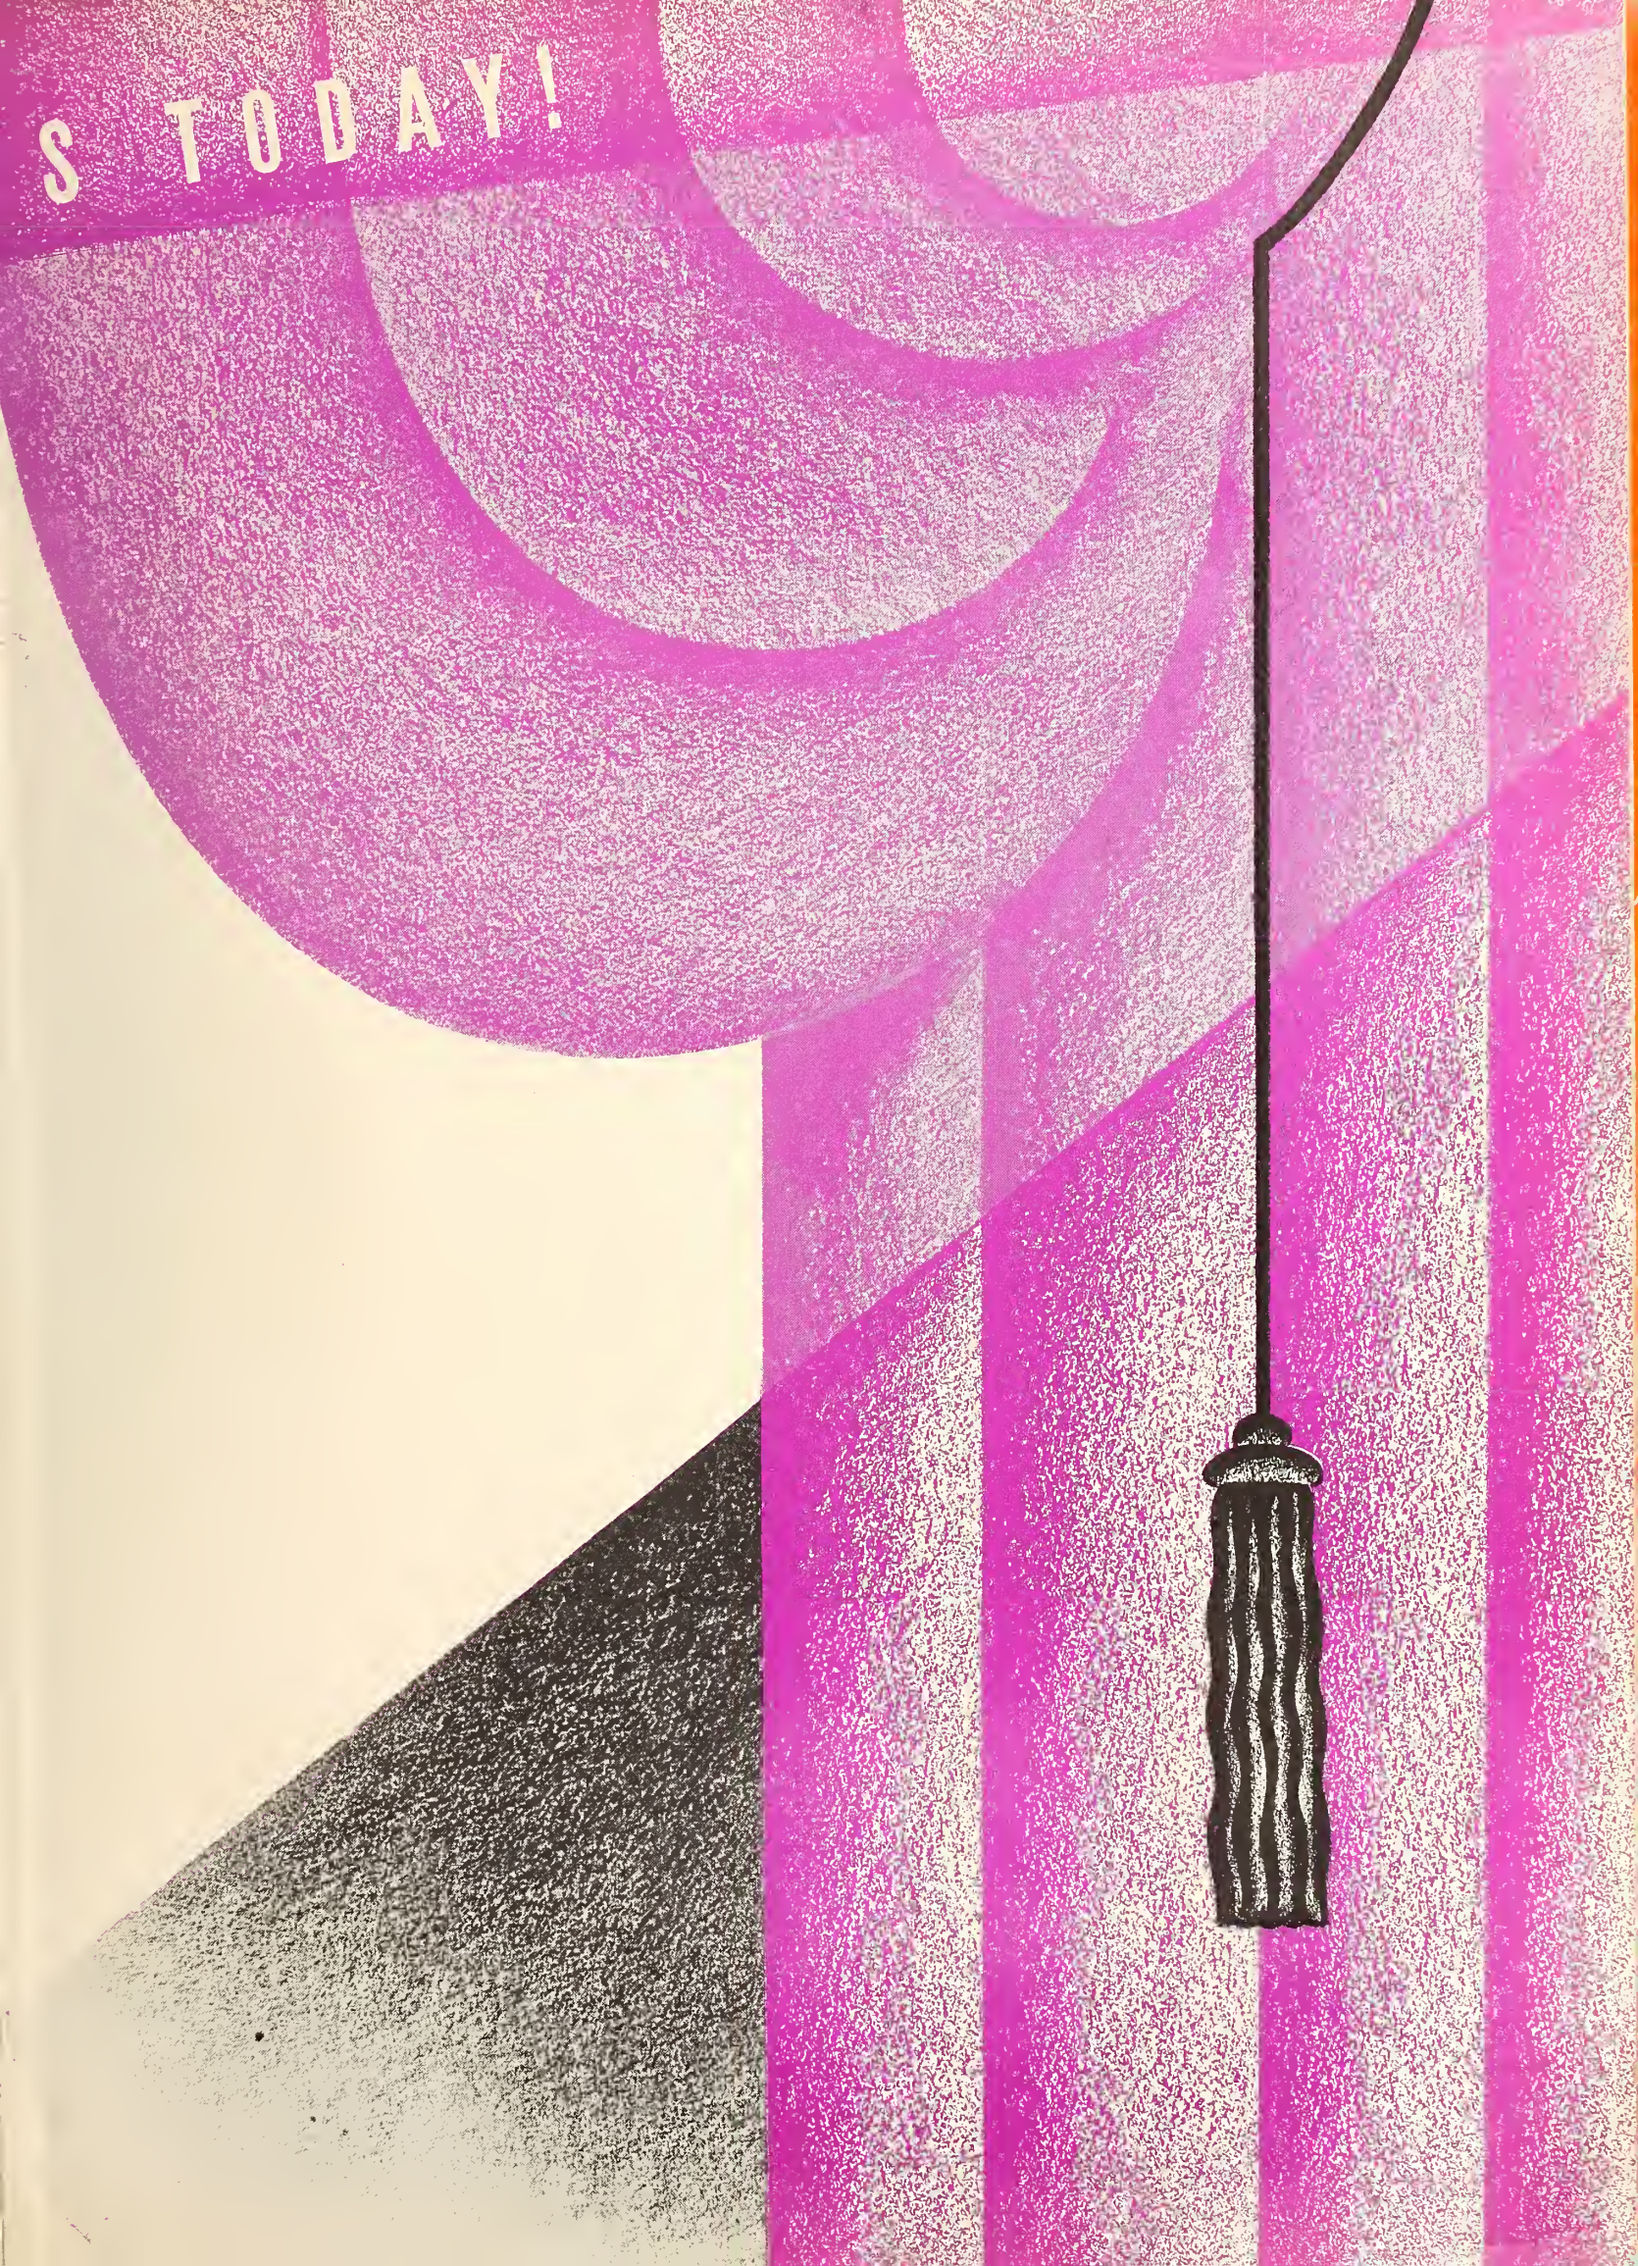
NAT PENDLETON · MINNA GOMBELL

Directed by W. S. VAN DYKE · Produced by HUNT STROMBERG

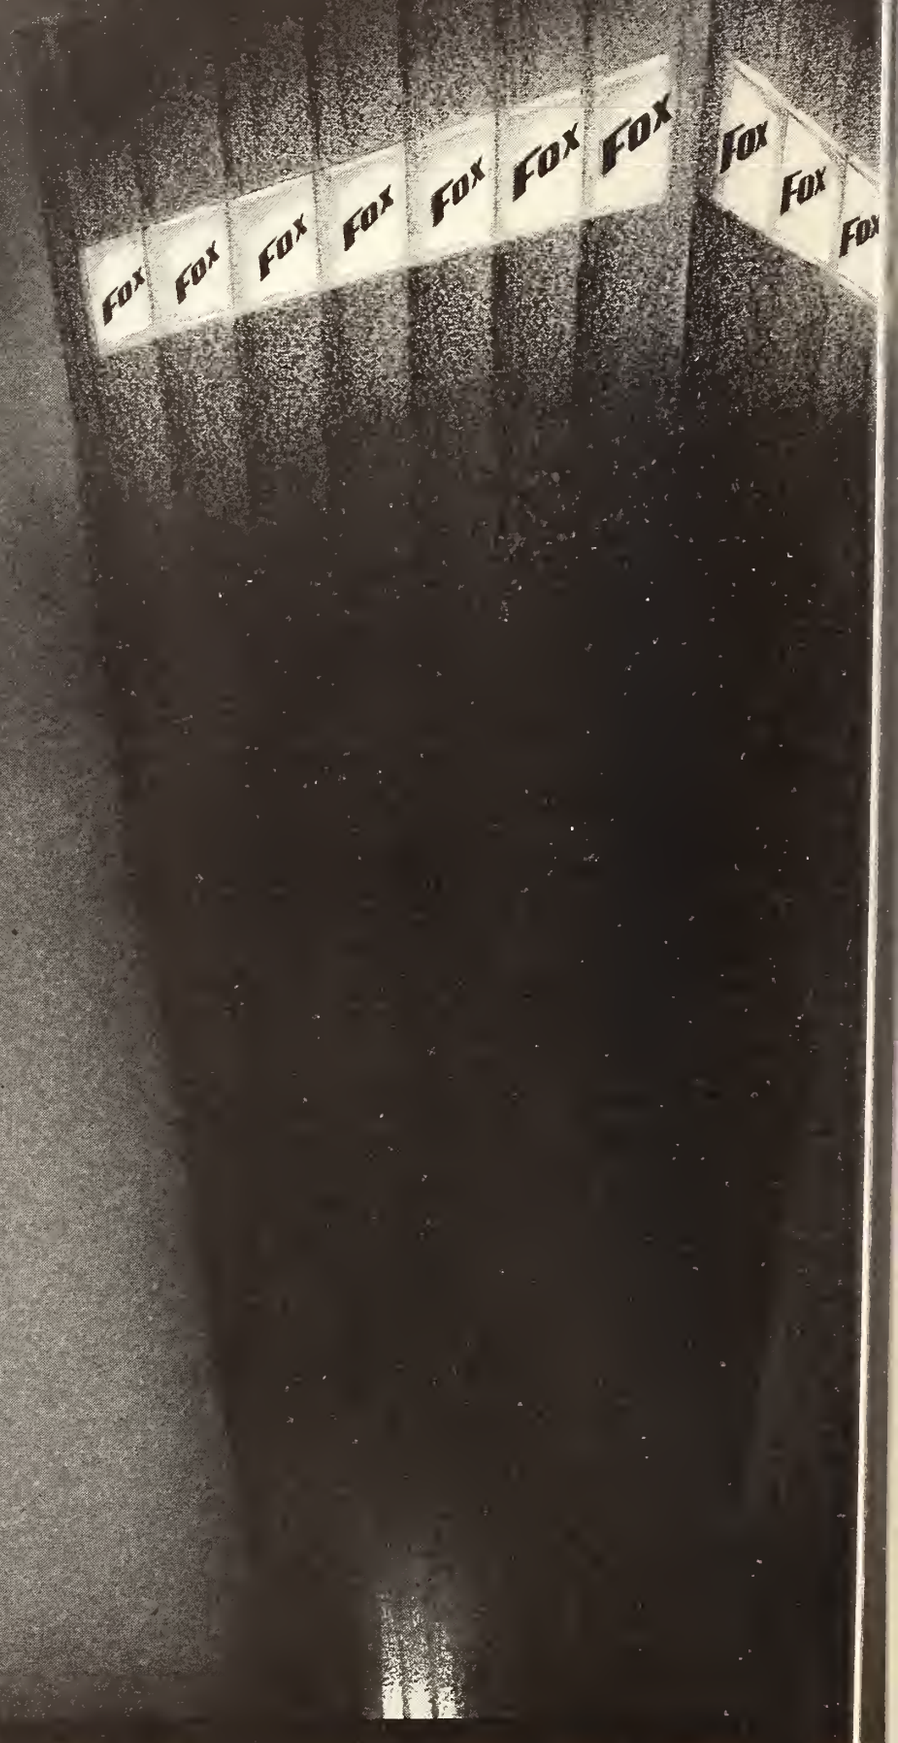
A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer-Cosmopolitan Production

THE DRIVE FOR 1935 STA



WARNER BROS.

-leaders of the talking picture revolution, acknowledged pioneers of production cycles, now launch an equally new and unprecedented departure from the traditional routine of Distribution! This plan will enable Warner exhibitors to launch their drive for 1935 business twelve weeks ahead of all competition. To accomplish this, the months of June, July and August were deliberately charted months ago, not as the end of this season but as the prelude to the next! The pictures to be released by Warner Bros. in this period have been purposely saved to provide a dynamic



PROLOGUE TO THE 1934-'35 SEASON

We invite your attention to further details of this important plan beginning on

PAGE 21

S TODAY!

JUST WAIT TILL THEY TELL you THE GOOD NEWS!

*They're writing your box office future now, these FOX Salesmen in Convention Assembled! Soon they'll tell YOU the best news of this or any other year! It's this:

FOX STARTS ITS NEW SEASON WITH THE BIGGEST LINE-UP OF MONEY STARS AND MONEY HITS IN ITS HISTORY!

The FOX salesman will be a welcome visitor!

FOX FILM CONVENTION • WALDORF-ASTORIA HOTEL, NEW YORK CITY • MAY 30-31, JUNE 1, 193

JUN -1 1934 ©C1B 226859

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 115, No. 10 June 2, 1934

DUMBBELLS 'ROUND THE WORLD

SPEAKING before three hundred other notables, dinner guests of Mr. Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., of General Motors Corporation on the eve of the reopening of the Fair at Chicago, Mr. M. H. Aylesworth joined in a program of forecasts for the coming century, saying: "You will turn on the facsimile radio receiver when retiring and in the morning the paper tape will tell what flashed through the sky while you slumbered."

Mr. Aylesworth was mistaken. We shall refuse to turn on the facsimile radio receiver. We now have sufficient evidence from the morning papers that what flashes through the sky while we sleep can be dispensed with entirely.

We should like to inform the scientific world that we are getting jolly well fed up with miracles of transmission that bring us so much piffle. The radio, for instance, has triumphed over space to the end that now we can hear a dumbbell around the world. Research on mediums of expression might well be shut down right now and attention concentrated on something to say and send.

△ △ △

A BIT OF EASEMENT

THE week's expressions from President Roosevelt bearing on certain and various modifications of the application of the Blue Eagle plan of control and operation of American business have been calculated to ease some tensions of anxiety generally in the business world. The words of the President and his movements with reference to NRA imply considerably less of the absolutism of concept than the utterances of some of his ardent world-reforming young men. It is a comfort to have from the nation's chief executive indications that, despite the fact that this is a new era, these are still the United States, a land in which, with perhaps some reasonable regard for the commonweal, the individual may continue to live and, if may be, enjoy the fruits of his endeavor.

△ △ △

The Leisure League held an organization meeting at the Waldorf Astoria in New York the other day and heard reports on seven hundred ways to kill time. Looking the list over we find that two of the best have been overlooked, officially.

△ △ △

THE NEWS LOAD

NOW that Electrical Research Products, Inc., have evolved a sound recording mechanism as light as the newsreel camera with which it is intended to serve, there is a possibility for restoring some of the news quality to the newsreel.

News, especially pictorial news, is a bit difficult to stalk with the heavy artillery of the old standard sound equipments.

The writer of this page, early among the producers of sound newsreels, made a calculation from the records of the sound camions at the end of the first year of operation, which showed the movement of equipment at the rate of 41.7 ton miles per second of edited screen time. That made newsreel production a problem of freighting rather than an exercise of editorial skill.

Progress is being made but many a pound yet must come off both the recorder and the camera. The load has been reduced from a five-ton truck to a Ford roadster. When it gets down to a light load for one man, it will be really mobile equipment.

What the newsreels need most just now is more action, less words and sounds and better ones. So far the great general result of the sound newsreel has been to show that the average man, Mr. John R. Public, is a very bad actor.

△ △ △

The newest in bathtubs, according to the smart magazines' color pages, are built on the bias. Wait till the news reaches Hollywood!

△ △ △

Note to fishermen: Remember when footage numbered negative was a sensation? Now there's a hand made double tapered line that is color coded so that you can tell how much the fish has on his end.

△ △ △

BANKER AND CODE

BROWSING through a tome in unavailing effort to forget the concerns of the industry the other night, we came upon the interesting discovery that one Lucius Fulvius, prominent Roman banker many and many a century ago, was imprisoned for sixteen years by order of the Senate for violation of the Code by appearing on a public balcony wearing a garland. The balcony scene reminds us of Romeo and Juliet and Lee Tracy—and you can name your own banker.

△ △ △

Mr. Thomas Dixon, author, having lived up and lost, as he says, $1,250,000, according to current news dispatches is now penniless. He was the author of "The Birth of a Nation." Possibly he picked the wrong nation.

△ △ △

Maybe Hollywood can tell us why it is that the California Fruit Growers set aside 3½ cents a box on oranges and 6 cents a box on lemons for advertising.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Incorporating Exhibitor's Herald, founded 1915; Motion Picture News, founded 1913; Moving Picture World, founded 1907; Motography, founded 1909; The Film Index, founded 1906. Published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, 1790 Broadway, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; Chicago Bureau, 407 South Dearborn Street, Edwin S. Clifford, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building, Victor M. Shapiro, manager; London Bureau, Remo House, 310 Regent Street, London W 1, Bruce Allan, cable Quigpubco London; Berlin Bureau, Berlin-Tempelhof, Kaiserin-Augustastrasse 2B, Joachim K. Rutenberg, representative; Paris Bureau, 19, Rue de la Cour-des-Noues, Paris 20e, France, Pierre Autre, representative, cable Autre-Lacifral-20 Paris; Rome Bureau, Viale Gorizia, Rome, Italy, Vittorio, Malpassuti, representative, Italcable, Malpassuti, Rome; Sydney Bureau, 102 Sussex Street, Sydney, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Mexico, James Lockhart, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1934 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Better Theatres, devoted to the construction, equipment and operation of theatres, is published every fourth week as section 2 of Motion Picture Herald. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac, published annually, and The Chicagoan.

THIS WEEK - - - -

WOMEN REPORT

Suggesting that the public can become the "producer of good pictures," a report by Mrs. Richard R. McClure to the General Federation of Women's Clubs, meeting in Hot Springs, Ark., last weekend, noted 55 of the 343 features produced last year as unsuitable for the public. Designated as box office draw names, and in that order were: Marie Dressler, Will Rogers, Janet Gaynor, Wallace Beery, Mae West, Eddie Cantor, Jean Harlow, Norma Shearer, Clark Gable, Joan Crawford. The absence of others of "consummate artistry" was noted as significant. . . .

COUNCIL CHALLENGED

Sharply challenging the effort of the Motion Picture Research Council to open the theatrical field to non-theatrical competition, the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Western New York has resolved that the "destructive efforts" of the Council be "condemned," and that effort be made to arouse thousands of exhibitors who are "being misled" by the Council. . . .

RADIO IMPROVEMENT

In virtual agreement as to the desirability of improvement in radio programs, the American Association for Adult Education, in Washington session last week, nonetheless refused to approve federal broadcasting censorship, and found few voices raised in favor of government regulation. Speakers concluded radio is sufficiently controlled now by the Federal Radio Commission, but suggested improvement from that point. . . .

CHINESE PRODUCTION

Rapid advances in Chinese production are reported by George Hill, MGM, last week returned after preliminary work on "The Good Earth." From Chinese studios come 100 films annually, he says, using all Chinese personnel, with "most of the pictures on modern themes, as contrasted to the old Chinese drama. Many . . . look like Hollywood product.". . .

PROJECTIONISTS' FEE

Under an ordinance introduced in Sheboygan, Wis., projectionists would pay an annual license fee of $2.50, undergo examination by the chief of the fire department and a projectionist with at least 10 years' experience. . . .

COMPETITIVE OPERA

Lively competition faces theatres this summer in at least five, probably numerous other cities, which plan outdoor opera, with a season extending from six weeks to more than two months. . . .

ROXY PROGRESS

Reporting to Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey, New York Roxy theatre receiver Howard S. Cullman last week proudly noted an earned operating profit of $52,518.79 from Nov. 10, 1933 to May 3, 1934, before fixed charges, compared with an operating loss of $56,325.70 for the corresponding preceding year period. The net loss was thus cut from $143,187.30 to $27,079.06. . . .

THEATRICAL BENEFITS

Chartered at Albany last week was the Theatrical Protective Association, Inc, New York membership corporation without capital stock. Its certificate states the object of the organization is to foster good will, "harmony, cooperation and understanding among . . . the theatrical profession," and many an etc., designed to benefit members of the association. . . .

SUDDEN DEATH

Sudden and coming as a shock to his associates in England and New York was the news of the recent death in London of Jack Brockliss, but 31 years old, a director of J. Frank Brockliss, Ltd., for years sole European agents of International Projector Corporation, English and French agents of National Carbon Company. . . .

In This Issue

New flood of radio premiums menaces theatre — Page 9
Several distributors may prohibit double featuring — Page 12
British overseating problem is coming up at exhibitor convention — Page 13
Zukor says Paramount is going ahead without outside aid — Page 17
Fox will release 58 features, 112 short subjects — Page 18

FEATURES

Editorial — Page 7
The Camera Reports — Page 15
J. C. Jenkins—His Colyum — Page 57
The Hollywood Scene — Page 31
The Cutting Room — Page 30
Letters to the Editor — Page 47
Asides and Interludes — Page 19
Code Questions and Answers — Page 46

DEPARTMENTS

What the Picture Did for Me — Page 59
Showmen's Reviews — Page 39
Managers' Round Table — Page 65
Technological — Page 50
Short Features on Broadway — Page 64
The Release Chart — Page 73
Box Office Receipts — Page 52
Classified Advertising — Page 78

DILL INQUIRY

In the Senate interstate commerce committee has developed opposition to Senator Dill's resolution asking an inquiry of A. T. & T. relations with film and telephoto appliances. The Dill contention: these charges burden telephone users' bills. Certain members ask more specific information on the suggested quiz. . . .

30-HOUR WEEK

The NRA already having raised production costs 25 per cent, producers are considering whether the revised Wagner bill, pending in the Senate, will force a 30-hour week, according to Pat Casey, producers' studio labor contact, arrived in New York this week. Film rentals must go up, he believes. . . .

WARNER SUIT DISMISSED

Finally concluded, the federal anti-trust suit against Warner, in connection with its acquisition of First National, pending four years, was formally dismissed last week in U. S. district court for lack of evidence. . . .

COLUMBIA DIVIDEND

Stockholders of Columbia Pictures will receive on August 2 semi-annual dividends, payable in common stock to holders of record June 15, to the extent of 2½ per cent of holdings at that date. In the event of fractional shares cash will be paid. Similarly are holders of voting trust certificates affected. . . .

ADVERTISING DEAL

After a year's lapse, Kansas City houses have resumed advertising in the theatre directory of the "Journal Post," under a greatly reduced rate of $3.50 per week. The local ITO will run trailers in the paper's circulation campaign, with the fee paid to go into the ITO as dues. . . .

MAE WEST'S KING

In a Paramount news release late last week was recorded that Mae West "admitted" secret negotiations looking to possible appearance of former King Alfonso of Spain in a motion picture, coming to Hollywood as Miss West's protege, negotiations having gone through Prince Alexis Thurn-Taxis. Delightful is the quote from Miss West: " . . . He'd certainly be welcome, but I'm not trying to lure a king away from home.". . .

VACATION FOR WALKER

On a long leave of absence this summer will go Frank C. Walker, erstwhile film man, now director of the Federal Emergency Relief Council, secretary of the Executive Council. In June he will deliver the Notre Dame commencement address. . . .

88 AIR PROGRAMS' FREE PREMIUMS COMPETING WITH EXHIBITORS

63 NBC Premium Programs, 25 CBS

Sixty-three NBC network programs and 25 CBS programs offer premiums, contests and giveaways of some sort. Detailed premium listing on following pages.

▽

On NBC, the outstanding programs—insofar as the number of stations involved are concerned—include that of the Bristol Myers Co., makers of Ipana Toothpaste, broadcasting over 52 stations. This program elected to discover the young woman in America with the "greatest dental charm." First award was a free trip to Chicago and New York with a week in each city, all expenses paid. A year's supply of Ipana Toothpaste to each of 100 additional winners. No restrictions.

▽

Northwestern Yeast Co., broadcasting over 44 stations, offers its listeners a booklet which tells them how to make bread, also no restrictions.

▽

Tom Mix, broadcasting over 20 NBC stations, for Ralston Purina Co., offers, for a box top from a package of Ralston Wheat Cereal, four pictures of himself, while Eddie Cantor, broadcasting for Standard Brands-Chase & Sanborn Coffee on Sundays over 50 stations, offered his listeners, for a label from the company's coffee can, a pictorial brochure of himself.

By FRED AYER

The radio broadcasting industry is now extending its vigorous competitive battle with the motion picture theatre by engaging in wholesale distribution of premiums and giveaways throughout the country.

The competitive conflict between these two entertainment factors has been approaching a climax since the first of the year. Exhibitors for nearly three years have been voicing their complaints against radio competition—complaints revolving chiefly around their contention that free radio shows in studios and the exploitation of star motion picture names as integral parts of network programs constitute flagrantly unfair competition. Until now, the premium situation in radio has received little or no attention from the motion picture exhibitor, but the fact now appears that exhibitors may quite justifiably construe the current widespread premium practice on the air as unfair competition comparable with either free radio shows or the utilization of motion picture names on the air.

EXHIBITOR RESTRICTED IN PREMIUMS BY PROVISION IN MOTION PICTURE CODE

The exhibitor is restricted in the matter of staging prize contests, making stage awards, lucky number arrangements, and the like, by a clause in the motion picture NRA code, and may even be prohibited from the giving of premiums in any form in specific localities where, if 75 per cent of the exhibitors signify, in writing, that they are against the practice as being unfair, the premium practice automatically is suspended and prohibited within 60 days.

There are, as far as can be discovered, few limitations under the radio broadcasting industry's code of fair competition pertaining to premiums and give-aways, such as those incorporated in the motion picture code.

Radio advertisers consider the practice of premiums, contests and give-aways one of the most vital indices to program response and are now indulging in the practice to a far greater extent than the motion picture theatreman ever has. The advertisers, aside from their maintenance that the practice is a "sure-fire" method of ascertaining the popularity of their programs, contend that these practices have a definite sales value in that they create buying habits.

According to "Radio Art," "The Blue Book of the Air," it is believed by radio advertisers that while a minority of listeners actively attempt to obtain a prize or a premium, response to the offers is the most important visible evidence of interest in the markets which the broadcasters are attempting to reach.

90 PER CENT OF CHIEF PROGRAMS CONDUCT CONTESTS OVER THE AIR

"Radio Art" has conducted an exhaustive survey of the premium situation as it obtains in the radio field, selecting for its basis the outstanding programs on the networks of the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Company.

The results show that nearly 90 of the air's most prominent network programs have conducted contests during the past year and are currently continuing the practice, have and are offering premiums of one type or another, and, in many instances, give away samples of their products with no restrictions whatever.

Thus the battle of the motion picture exhibitor versus radio competition has taken still another turn—a battle which has been in progress for almost three years, since Eddie Cantor began his radio appearances.

As a result of the wholesale competition and the subsequent complaints by exhibitors during the past two years, the Motion Picture and Radio Code Authorities met three months ago to attempt to iron out the situation. The broadcasters' governing body sent questionnaires to networks, with replies from only 60 per cent to date.

RADIO PREMIUM OFFERS LISTED BY TWO LEADING AIR NETWORKS

On CBS Network

Acme White Lead & Color Works
Offer a paint color chart, illustrated, of Acme paints. No requirements.

American Home Products Corp.
(Broadway Melodies) (Bi-Sodol)—Free can of Bi-Sodol sufficient for a week. No requirements.

Arden, Elizabeth
(Maury H. B. Paul and Freddy Martin's Orchestra)—Offer, a book, "The Quest of the Beautiful." Hair bandeau for protecting hair while removing make-up. No requirements.

Borden Sales Co.
(Jane Ellison's Magic Recipes)—Offer recipe bulletins. No requirements.

Chappel Bros., Inc.
(Rin Tin Tin thriller)—Identification locket attachable to dog's collar. Listeners send label or box top from whatever prepared dog food they are now feeding their pets.

Corn Products Refining Co.
(Will Osborne and His Orchestra and Pedro de Cordoba and His Friendly Philosophy—Offer, a bottle of Rigaud's "Un Air Enbaume" perfume. Send Linit or Kre-Mel box top and 10 cents for mailing costs.

R. B. Davis Co.
(Mystery Chef) Offer a recipe book. No requirement.

General Baking Co.
(Bond Bread)—Offer a cook book. No requirements.

General Foods Corp.
(Broadcast from Byrd Expedition)—Offer an Antarctic Map with picture of Admiral Byrd on it in color. Copy of South Pole Radio News. Send two Grape Nuts package tops for both.

General Household Utilities Co.
(Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra)—Weekly Contest: Write a 50-word statement on entry blank, obtainable from Grunow dealer, telling "Why You Want Carrene in the Refrigerator You Buy." Prizes: Super de luxe Grunow Refrigerator, 9-tube Grunow radio, and 5-tube Grunow radio. Next 12 each receive an unnamed prize. Requirements not known.

General Mills, Inc.
(Jack Armstrong — All-American Boy) (Wheaties)—Offer a Gyro Boomerang 'plane model. Send two Wheaties package tops and 10 cents for mailing costs.

Gold Dust Corp.
(Silver Dust Serenaders)—Send two Silver Dust package tops for dish towel. Send 10 package tops for pair of silk stockings in size required.

Hecker H-O Co., Inc.
(H-Bar-O Rangers)—Offer a game circus, containing card games, card tricks, parlor tricks, number tricks, guessing contests, etc. (57 amusements in all). Send two Force package tops.

Hopper, Edna Wallace, Inc.
(Romance of Helen Trent)—Offer a manual, "Simple Directions on How to Regain Youth," by Edna Wallace Hopper. Send carton from tube or box from jar of Special Restorative Cream (Manuals packed with tubes and jars —obtainable at stores in most instances).

Hudnut Sales Co., Inc.
(Marvelous Melodies—The Powder Box Revue)—Offer an enameled combination lipstick and eyebrow pencil. Send paper covering from inside of powder box having word "Marvelous" on it.

Louden Packing Co.
(Stamp Adventurers' Club)—Offer a pin with picture of dog and printed description of breed, with different breed each week. Send Doggie Dinner label.

Mueller, C. F., Co.
(Bill and Ginger)—Offer a re-fillable perfume container, filled with Coryame perfume. Send two wrappers from any Mueller product and 10 cents for mailing costs.

Pet Milk Sales Corp.
(The Pet Milky Way)—Offer recipes, menus, and booklet, "When Baby Needs Milk From a Bottle." No requirements.

Pillsbury Flour Mills Co.
(Cooking Close-Ups)—Offer a recipe book with 300 recipes, $1.29 or $1, if accompanied by coupon contained in bag of Pillsbury Flour.

Prescott, J. L., Co.
(The Oxol Feature)—Offer a rag doll or airplane glider. Send Oxol label for either.

Reynolds, R. J., Tobacco Co.
(Camel Caravan)—Offer a book, "Know Your Nerves," containing 20 nerve tests. Send two Camel package fronts.

Rieser Co., Inc.
(Friend of the Family) (Venida Products)—Offer a cigaret lighter, chromium plated. Send one carton from large bottle of Venida Shampoo or Venida Wave-Set, or three wrappers from 10-cent sizes.

Underwood-Elliott-Fisher Co.
(Voice of America)—Offer a booklet regarding Mount Rushmore Memorial, covering rules of contest appearing in Hearst newspapers. Contest also participated in by U. E. Fisher, offering Underwood Portable typewriter to author of best paper in each district covered by stations carrying program. Prizes are for inscription to be selected for Memorial.

Union Central Life Ins. Co.
(Roses and Drums)—Offer a booklet describing Economic Adjustment Plan. No requirement.

Wasey Products
(Voice of Experience)—Offer pamphlets, 3 cents apiece; set of 10 for 60 cents; series of 50 for $1, including extra ones; two series of 50 for $2, including extras. Book, "The Voice of Experience," regular edition, $1.50—de luxe, autographed edition, $3.

AUTOS, STOCKINGS, SEEDS, RADIOS

Awards offered listeners to commercial programs run a bewildering range. In many instances, cartons or package or jar tops must be sent in; in others there are no requirements specified to receive premiums.

On NBC Network

A C Spark Plug Co.
Broadcast over 24 "Blue" stations, Wednesday, 9:00 to 9:30 P. M. Conducted this contest:—Entrants to answer the statement—"The Improvements I Noted in the Performance of My Car After Having My Spark Plugs Cleaned by the A C Method." Prizes: 1934 Ford, Chevrolet or Plymouth given away each week. Entrants to have spark plugs cleaned by the A C method at a registered A C Spark Plug Cleaning Station. Sign name and send to A C Spark Plug Co., Dept. 300, Flint, Mich. Offer made March 21, 1934, to June 11, 1934.

Bauer & Black, Inc.
41 Blue stations, Tuesdays and Fridays from 4:15-4:30 P. M., offer a Lucky Card Bookmark; Chinese coins that bring good luck. Listeners to send in top from one package of Bluejay Corn Remover, to the "Singing Stranger," care the NBC station. Offer started March 7, 1934.

Beech Nut Packing Co.
8 Blue stations, Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 8:45 to 9 P. M. Offer: A photograph of Red Davis and Family, also individual pictures of each member. No restrictions attached. Offer made Dec. 1, 1933, and January 19, 1934. Response up to Feb. 13, 1934, 150,000 persons.

Bristol Myers Co.
Ipana Toothpaste, 52 Red stations, Monday, 9:00 to 10 P. M. Dental Charm contest: To discover the young woman in America with the greatest "dental charm" with every young woman eligible. Prizes: First, a trip to Chicago and New York with one week in each city; 100 additional prizes, consisting of one year's supply of Ipana toothpaste. Entrants to send in photograph of smile to Ipana, care NBC station. Write name and address on back of photograph. Offer made April 4, 1934, to April 30 1934.

Campana Sales Co.
(Face lotions)—48 Blue stations Fridays, 9:00 to 9:30 P. M., and 27 Blue stations Sundays, 5:30 to 6:00 P. M. Offered an Italian Balm Dispenser, which dispenses a drop at a time and can be fastened to the wall. Listeners to send in one complete carton from a 60-cent bottle and ten cents to cover the packing, or two cartons from two 60-cent bottles of Italian Balm and no money, together with name and address to Dispenser Division, Campana Corp. Offer started January 5, 1934.

Another Campana contest: $100 each to 5 persons suggesting the best slogan for Dreskin, Campana's new skin invigorator. Write name and address and slogan on the inside of a complete Skin Invigorator carton. Mail to "The First Nighter," Campana Corp. Offer started February 9, 1934. Company will not release response figures.

Gift bottle of Dreskin: Campana's new skin invigorator. Address NBC, Chicago. Offer started April 15, 1934.

Colgate Palmolive Peet Co.
Super Suds. 40 Red stations daily, except Saturday and Sunday, 10:15 to 10:30 A. M. Offer, Garden seeds for old-fashioned garden. Entrant to cut word "Dishes Brighter" from part of the box—send in two of these to Super Suds in care of the station to which one is listening. Offer started April 16, 1934.

Climalene Co.
14 Split Red stations Tuesday and Thursday, 11:30 to 12 o'clock noon. Conducted a contest: Entrant to write a letter answering the question: "Why is Climalene, the quick cleanser, water softener and soap saver, the fastest-selling preparation of its kind in America today?" Do not use more than 100 words. Ten prizes of $197 value (General Electric Dishwasher). Entrants to send in answer to Climalene Co., in care of the NBC station, together with the four fronts from Climalene packages. Offer made January 2, 1934—18 times—to January 30, 1934.

Cannon Dish Cloth, and Photo of Players,

DOG COLLARS TO BATTER SCRAPERS

sent with cloth. Listeners to send in two package fronts of small size Climalene packages or one package front from the large size. Offer started February 20, 1934.

Continental Oil Co.

26 Red stations, Wednesday, 10:30 to 11 P. M. Offer: An individually planned trip, which includes road maps, complete hotel and camp directories. Write Conoco Travel Bureau, Denver, Col., free of cost. Offer made February 14, 1934—26 times— to August 8, 1934. Offer renewed April 11, 1934, and extended to January 1, 1935.

R. B. Davis Co.

(Baking Powder). 15 Red stations, Tuesday and Thursday, 10 to 10:15 A. M. Offer: A cook book, free of all restrictions. Offer made continuously throughout 1934.

Fels & Co.

Broadcast over WJZ, Monday and Wednesday, 11 to 11:15 A. M. Offer: A Swiss handkerchief, made of the finest Swiss linen. Listeners to send in two wrappers from Fels Naptha Soap packages to Fels Naptha, Philadelphia. Offer made April 11, 1934 and continuous throughout 1934.

F. W. Fitch Co.

20 Red stations, Sunday, 7:45 to 8 P. M., conducted a contest: Entrants to write a verse to the tune of "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More," on a Fitch Shampoo carton. If sung, the winner gets a $10 bill. (5 winners weekly). All entrants receive a generous bottle of Fitch's Shampoo. Send letters to local stations. Offer made September 24, 1933 to October 10, 1933, and then continued throughout 1934.

Frigidaire Corp.

18 Red stations, Tuesday, 10 to 10:30 P. M. Offer: A booklet illustrated with pictures of the ship "Seth Parker" interior. Booklet contains sea yarns and copy of the song "Blow the Man Down." Free at dealers. Offer made February 20, 1934.

General Foods

(Cooking School)—36 Red stations, Tuesday and Thursday, 11:15 to 11:30 A. M. Offer: A rubber batter scraper, given to those who enrolled in cooking school during the two weeks following the broadcast of March 29, 1934. Enrollment cost, 25 cents. Offer began March 29, 1934 to April 28, 1934.

General Foods

(La France)—Basic Red network Saturday, 9:30 to 10 P. M., offers a booklet: "You and Your Happiness." Entrant to send in two fronts of regular size packages of La France, to La France, Battle Creek, Mich. Offer started April 29, 1934.

General Foods

(Diamond Salt)—5 Blue stations, Thursday, 8:00 to 8:30 P. M., and Wednesday, 9:00 to 9:30 P. M. Offer: An artist photograph (lighthouse characters). Listener to send in sticker label from box of Diamond Salt, and mail to General Foods, Battle Creek, Mich. Offer began in December, 1933 and ran until February 18, 1934.

A Book, "Captain Diamond's Notebook of the Sea," also is offered. Listener to send in sticker label pasted over spout of Diamond Salt Box to General Foods, Battle Creek, Mich. Offer started February 22, 1934.

General Mills

(Bisquick)—13 Blue stations, Monday to Friday, 3:00 to 3:15 P. M. Offer: A Lifetime Chromium Nut and Candy dish. Listener to write name and address and the words, "Nut and Candy Dish' on a piece of paper and attach to sales slip. Enclose 10 cents in coin to cover postage. Mail to Betty and Bob, care General Mills, Minneapolis. Offer, March 5, 1934 to April 1, 1934.

A photograph of Betty and Bob and their Baby. Listener to cut out strawberry shortcake picture from the back of one package of Bisquick. Write name and address and the words "Betty" or "Bob" and mail to Betty and Bob. Offer made March 27, 1934 to April 8, 1934.

A Chromium Bonbon dish is offered to dealers and given to purchaser of two boxes of Wheaties. Offer made April 17, 1934.

General Mills

(Gold Medal Flour)—32 Red stations, Wednesday and Friday, 10:45 to 11 A. M., conducted a contest: Entrant to make up a new name for the William Rogers Silverware, called "Friendship" pattern. Entrance by redeeming the Gold Medal Silverware coupons which come in every sack of Gold Medal Flour. Prizes: First, $7,000; 7 automobiles and 769 other cash prizes. Entrant to write suggested name on a slip of paper, attach to sales slip or receipt of grocer and address to General Mills, Minneapolis. Offer made January 22, 1934 to March 4, 1934. The 770 cash prizes totaled $11,000.

A silver finished oval bowl also is offered and listener is to send in a grocer's slip and 10 cents in coin to General Mills. Offer made March 9, 1934 to April 1, 1934.

Gerber Products Co.

19 Blue stations, Sunday, 10 to 10:15 P. M. Offer: A picture of the Gerber Baby. Listener to send in 10 cents in stamps to cover cost of packing and mailing to the Gerber Co., Fremont, Mich. Offer started April 29, 1934.

Gulf Refining Co.

Basic Blue network, Sunday, 9:00 to 9:30 P. M. Offered: Bridge lessons; a series of Culbertson contract bridge lessons offered each week, free, with no restrictions, at the nearest Gulf station. Offer made January 24, 1934 and weekly from then on.

A road map to be obtained from dealers, offered from April 8, 1934.

Health Products Co.

(White's Cod Liver Oil)—Basic Blue network, Sunday, 2:00 to 2:30 P. M. Offered a Vitamin chart to listeners for empty box of White's Cod Liver Oil tablets. Offer made January 7, 1934 to run indefinitely.

Horlick's Malted Milk

24 Blue stations, Tuesday and Thursday, 8:30 to 8:45 P. M. Offered a booklet on arthritis, free. Write to Dr. Bundesen, Horlick's, Racine, Wis. Offer started March 20, 1934.

Institute of American Meat Packers

26 Blue stations, Sunday, 4:00 to 4:15 P. M. Offer: A program talk, listener to address local station or the Institute. Offer started April 15, 1934.

Jeddo Highland Coal Co.

7 Blue stations, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, 7:15 to 7:30 P. M. Offered six bookplates—pictures of Don Quixote series. Send name and address to Jeddo Highland Coal Co., Jeddo, Pa. Offer made during Don Quixote series in February, 1934, and from then on.

Kellogg Co.

9 Blue stations daily except Saturday and Sunday, 5:30 P. M. Offered the Singing Lady Story Book—30 pages of colored pictures and songs. Listener to send a box top of Kellog's Rice Crispies with 10 cents in coin to Singing Lady, Battle Creek, Mich. Offer made November 11, 1933, and continued in 1934.

Lady Esther Co.

33 Red stations, Sunday, 3:00 to 3:30 P. M., Tuesday and Wednesday, 8:30 to 9:00 P. M. Offered a 7-day supply of all five 4-Purpose Cream, also a supply of all the five shades of Grit-Free Face Powder. Listener to write penny post-card to Lady Esther, Chicago. Offer started March 21, 1934.

Lamont Corliss

(Ponds)—19 Red stations, Friday, 9:30 to 10 P. M. Offered six free samples of Ponds' Powder. Send in name and address to Ponds. Offer made from February 1934 on.

Larus Brothers Co.

36 Red stations, Wednesday, 10 to 10:30 P. M. Offer: A club membership, a corncob pipe and, at various times, tobacco pouches and samples of Edgeworth tobacco. Listeners to write Larus Bros., Richmond, Va., sending in liner of can. Offer made throughout 1934.

Lehn & Fink

(Hind's Honey & Almond Cream and Pebeco—Basic Red network, Sunday, 10:30 to 11 P. M. Offered a sample of Hind's and Pebeco to studio visitors. No restrictions. Offer made once on January 14, 1934. Sample cannot now be handed out in studios.

On January 7, 1934, a photograph of Katharine Hepburn was made, listeners being requested to send in the carton top from a bottle of Hinds. To this offer, made only once, there were 3,600 responses.

A pair of "night gloves" offer started January 21, 1934, listeners being requested to send in carton top from Hind's.

Luxor, Ltd.

26 Red stations, Sunday, 4:30 to 5:00 P. M. Offered a box of Complexion Powder. Listeners to send in name and address on postcard, stating shade preferred, and address to Luxor, Chicago. Offer started January 28, 1934.

A trial tube of Luxor's Special Formula Cream also was offered, starting February 25, 1934, listeners to send in name and address to Luxor, Chicago.

Malted Cereal Co.

10 Red stations, Wednesday and Friday, 5:45 to 6:00 P. M. Offered a free cake of Vermont Maple Sugar as a reminder of the Sunday broadcast. Listeners to send in Maltex box tops and 5 cents in coin to Maltex at Burlington, Vt. Offer made March 4, 1934, once.

Metropolitan Life Ins. Co.

8 Red stations, daily except Sunday, 6:45 to 8:00 A. M. Offers booklets free of all restrictions, also exercise chart. Offered continuously throughout 1934.

Mohawk Carpet Mills Co.

19 Red stations, Tuesday, and 14 Red stations, Thursday, 10:30 to 10:45 A. M. Offer: A booklet, "Gallery of Rugs and Color Charts." Entrant to send in name and address to NBC station. Offer made from April 19, 1934 to June 14, 1934.

Molle Co.

Basic Red network, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 7:00 to 7:15 P. M. Offer: Five Molle

(Continued on page 27)

3,600 REPLIES TO ONE ANNOUNCEMENT

Indicative of the number of potential theatregoers staying home for a premium broadcasting was the report of 3,600 responses to a one-time offer of Katharine Hepburn photos on a Hinds cosmetics program January 7.

SEVERAL DISTRIBUTORS MAY BAR DOUBLE BILLS

Sharp Curtailment of Duals Is Expected Shortly as Some Majors Plan Action and Localities Seek Their Elimination

Severe curtailment of the present nationwide policy of double featuring motion pictures on a single program is expected to be effected at the beginning of the new season of 1934-35 by several of the large distributors, who are preparing to refuse generally to countenance the performance of their "important" productions on the same bill with another feature, and to prohibit the showing of any and all of their features in those localities where the dual policy is not strongly imbedded.

This contemplated action of some of the distributors, coupled with a movement now in progress in many territories to outlaw the two-picture standard by mutual agreement of all exhibitors in those territories, is expected to bring about a sharp retrenchment in the practice within a few months.

There is little likelihood that the large distributors will, as had been reported, adopt an arbitrary nationwide contractual ban on double features, a policy which has been variously described to be one of the most troublesome merchandising problems of the day.

The climax is expected shortly, as the result of a letter sent by the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America, through Ed Kuykendall, the president, to all of the distributors in New York and to the producers in Hollywood, inviting them to "clamp down" on doubles either by contractual limitations or by clauses of outright prohibition. Some of the distributors are awaiting Mr. Kuykendall's arrival in New York from his circuit headquarters at Columbus, Miss., to further discuss the situation.

Feared "Dual Bill" Pictures

Believing that the large companies will abandon the production of "quality" pictures and engage in the making of cheaper pictures on the wholesale in order to meet the growing demand for doubles, Mr. Kuykendall has undertaken a campaign to effect the elimination of duals. It is understood that he received some indication of the possibility of large producers making features expressly for double bills when he was visiting the studios in Hollywood during the MPTOA convention last April.

The fear now held by independent distributors that the large companies would contractually outlaw double features everywhere appears to be baseless. Carl Laemmle, the president of Universal, has said that his company is not in favor of such "rule-of-the-thumb" methods in treating the problem. He indicated that his company would act in accordance with the local situation, declaring that, "If I am hurting more theatres than I am helping by selling on a double feature basis, then I shall not sell on that basis. But, if on the other hand, I discover situations where my customer simply has to have double features and in selling him on that basis I am saving his life and not killing off soemone else, I shall continue selling duals."

At the home office of Paramount, Neil Agnew, general sales manager, declared that the company had asked Mr. Kuykendall to discuss his proposal for contract limitation of duals when he arrives in New York. "Double featuring is a problem that necessitates some action," said Mr. Agnew. "But whether Paramount is ready to take a national stand is a matter that must be given considerable study. Therefore, we are not prepared to say at this moment whether the company will or will not have a clause of prohibition or limitation."

Jack Cohn, of Columbia, said that his company has not decided the matter.

MGM Will Have Limitations

Felix Feist, general sales manager of MGM, pointed out that his company has always had a clause in contracts prohibiting double featuring with any one of its percentage pictures, and this will continue. "The recent letter of Mr. Kuykendall has apparently called the attention of the distributors to the extent of this problem," he declared.

RKO does not intend to set down any hard and fast rules on duals, although at present it appears that the company will have a clause of prohibition for certain of its "important" pictures on next season's schedule, said Michael Pollar of Jules Levy's home office sales staff. "It is foolhardy to say that you're arbitrarily not going to permit double featuring of your product in those places where you just can't get in unless you do permit," he said.

Warner and United Artists executives were not available, but John D. Clark, the sales head of Fox Films, said that, "Naturally, we are against the present widespread form of double bills." Mr. Clark, however, holds that the insertion of penalties or limitations generally against double showings in feature contracts is impractical.

Anticipating inclusion of a clause prohibiting the double bill practice, virtually every independent producer, distributor and exhibitor in the country is ready to take the fight against such a prohibition to the United States Government. This was made known by a spokesman for the Federation of the Motion Picture Industry and was reported in Motion Picture Herald on May 12.

The independents, it was said, feel certain that the anti-dual campaign now being conducted by the MPTOA and the large interests has already passed the stage where the Code Authority can be of any assistance, and they believe that it is only a matter of time before the large distributors outlaw the practice contractually.

Fifty Per Cent of Country on Duals

The independents' defense of the duals policy is that every exhibitor has the right to decide his own policy, plus the fact that a nationwide ban on doubles automatically would eliminate 200 features a year, which, they claim, would mean the elimination of all independent production, as well as all motion picture companies not having theatre affiliations as outlets for product.

Fifty per cent of the theatres of the country are said to be operating at present on a double feature policy. There is supposed to have been a 25 per cent increase in the practice since the code was signed without any double bill restrictions.

The large distributors, it was said, are not seeking to eliminate the independents who depend upon duals for the bulk of their business, nor are they trying to prevent such independents from selling doubles, but rather are intent upon stopping the double featuring of their own picture with another picture.

Obviously, the reason distributors are campaigning for a sharp nationwide curtailment of the dual policy is because of the reputed effect that the practice has on film rentals. Some companies are understood to be nurturing the fear that the spread of the double threatens to undermine the system of percentage playing of those "important" pictures which, they claim, have no place on a double feature program. It is for this reason that some of the companies consider it advisable in the future to arbitrarily prohibit the showing of such pictures with another feature.

In connection with flat-rental bookings, these distributors are understood to have the belief that the exhibitor would be better able to pay proportionately higher rentals for a single picture than he is now paying for each picture when two are played together.

On the other hand, some elements in distribution are said to be reluctant to relinquish playdates even though these dates are for second features on a dual bill. They hold that the rental from a second feature booking, regardless of how little it is at one theatre, amounts to a considerable sum on a yearly basis.

On the exhibitors' side, some feel that the rentals paid for the second features are less than the costs of the short subjects needed to fill out the program, and, as a further defense of the dual policy, they claim that a return to a single feature program, with shorts, would leave them unable to compete with the first-run which offers one feature and an elaborate stage show, or to compete with various other methods of showmanship prevalent locally.

Hollywood Disturbed

Double billing is apparently causing the production generals of the large Hollywood studios more concern than any other merchandising problem of recent years

Accordingly, Louis B. Mayer, MGM; B. B. Kahane, Radio; W. R. Sheehan, Fox, and Jack Warner, Warner Brothers, have been actively engaged in promoting restrictions everywhere against the showing of two pictures on the same program. They began anti-dual activities with leaders of the MPTOA when that exhibitor organization convened in Los Angeles in April. Since then, Mr. Mayer has been especially active, and, this week, Mayer, Sheehan, Kahane, Emanuel Cohen and E. J. Mannix, speaking in behalf of the large companies, told some Los Angeles independent exhibitors that if 90 per cent of independent owners abandoned the dual policy, then their large affiliated circuits would immediately do likewise.

There was no unusual double bill discussion by exhibitors in the field during the past week, as compared with previous weeks, although the MPTO of the District of Columbia moved to oust the practice in the Washington territory, in answer to a resolution of the Independent Theatre Owners of the District favoring doubles, while at Cleveland the Motion Picture Exhibitors' Association predicted that duals will be banned in that territory by July 8.

Double bills made their debut in the Atlanta sector when W. H. Hall reopened the Erlanger theatre on a two-featured standard, causing quite a stir in that region. Meanwhile, six of the seven second-run theatres at San Antonio had adopted a double bill, while, on the other hand, Fox West Coast abandoned the practice at its Santa Ana, Cal. theatres, reporting an immediate increase of 40 per cent in receipts.

Distributors' right to ban duals contractually was challenged in a Philadelphia federal court petition filed Monday by Harry Perelman, independent exhibitor, asking nullification of a Warner contract prohibiting double billing.

BRITISH OVERSEATING PROBLEM IS COMING UP AT EXHIBITOR MEETING

Sam Eckman Is Expected to Discuss Tricky Question at CEA Convention at Blackpool; Maxwell To Talk on Pictures

By BRUCE ALLAN
London Correspondent

John Maxwell, president of the Kinematograph Renters' Society and Sam Eckman, immediate past president, have both accepted invitations to address the Summer Conference of the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Association at Blackpool on June 13. Mr. Eckman may be expected to make a pronouncement, from the distributors' viewpoint on a very vexed problem, for his subject is "What Price Overbuilding?" It was at first thought that Mr. Maxwell would discuss this matter, but the KRS thus far has politely evaded the request of the CEA to cooperate officially in an endeavor to limit new theatre construction, and Mr. Eckman probably will be able to speak more freely in a personal capacity. The problem is a very tricky one, complicated by the fact that so many distributors nowadays have theatre interests.

There is very real concern in exhibiting circles about the multiplication of theatres, and complaints of reckless competition due to the fact that a lot of the money is coming from Building Societies. It is true that these societies which have been increasingly hard pressed to find outlets for investment, have a finger in many cinema pies, but some of these plans are part of large and commercially sound real estate investments including shops and flats as well as a cinema.

England is still a long way from catching up with its War areas in housing. The erection of these places means a big call for idle capital, material and labor, and it is interesting to speculate whether exhibitors will be able to assert what amounts to a monopoly value in existing investments in bricks and mortar.

Exhibitors' Open Platform

The all-embracing title of Mr. Maxwell's paper, "The Public and the Pictures," provides an opportunity to one of the readiest and wittiest speakers in the trade for a memorable, and probably caustic, review of general problems. The KRS president rarely, if ever, reads his speeches, but his extemporaneous efforts are superior to most of the products of midnight oil and preliminary perspiration.

Another bright spot of this year's Conference is likely to be the open session, at which any exhibitor will be free to speak his mind on any subject. Five minutes each will be allowed to speakers, and it won't be a second too long if all the CEA members who have things on their chests are as eager to put them into words as they claim to be. The open session meets an objection sometimes raised against the domination of exhibitor meetings by a limited number of recognized orators, but, in fact, the general level of the discussion at these exhibitor gatherings is high and the main difficulty in past years has been the lack of time for adequate discussion.

Blackpool is a bracing place. It was the scene of the Conference which, a year or two ago, initiated an exhibitors' fighting policy against disc charges and guarantees which had considerable success. Whether the sea air will stimulate another "Blackpool Resolution," and whether it will be concerned with rentals, remains to be seen.

The Tax Fight

Amendments to the Finance Bill with the object of obtaining a reduction in the Entertainments Tax, are accumulating on the Order Paper of the House of Commons. They include one officially put forward by the Labor Party which suggests the following scale of duties:

Admission rate without tax:	Tax:
Over 6d to 7½d	1½d
Over 7½d to 10d	2d
Over 10d to 1/0½d	2½d
Over 1/0½d to 1/3d	3d

Over 1/3d tax at the rate of 3d for the first 1/3d and one penny for every 5d over 1/3d.

The amendment put down by Col. Baldwin-Webb's Committee of M.P.s provides that taxation shall begin with seats priced (excluding tax) at over 6d. More than 60 members are supporting this amendment and their number is growing.

The fight to free the 6d seat is therefore being stoutly maintained. At the worst, it seems that there will be a sufficient number of votes for these amendments to convince the Chancellor that his hint at a concession next year must definitely be made good.

What is an Adult?

More nerve strain for exhibitors! Under the regulations limiting the admission of under-16 children to the exhibition of "A" (Adult) films, it is generally laid down that such children may be admitted if they are accompanied by an adult "parent or guardian." As the over-16 individual is free to see "A" films on his own initiative, it might be assumed that he is qualified, as an adult, to act as "guardian" to under-16 brothers, sisters and friends.

This is not the Liverpool view.

A police official said he did not regard a 16-year-old as a responsible person and suggested that the minimum age at which "chaperonage" rights could reasonably be granted should be 20. The magistrate apparently agreed, for in face of an argument by the defense that it had been legally established that a boy of 16 could be a guardian, he convicted and fined both the manager and the owners of the theatre.

Clifford Whitley, of Dorchester fame, is apparently going ahead with his plan for a £1,000,000 cinema 5,000-seated, plus a 1,000-seated dinner-cabaret establishment, in the neighborhood of Trafalgar Square. Definite details of site and building dates are hard to come by, however.

S. L. Rothafel has been in consultation but it is doubtful, I hear, whether he will be actively associated with the venture, though there may be an interchange of ideas and personnel for presentation purposes.

The cash backing is likely to be provided by the big British contractor and financier, Sir Malcolm McAlpine, and his group.

Fight to Free Small Theatres from Entertainments Tax Grows Stronger; 16-Year Adult Cannot Be Guardian

Records and an Omission

Phonographic Performances, Ltd., is the title of a new company registered by the gramophone companies to protect their rights to fees for the public performance of their records. The estimates of revenue issued are rosy but do not include any provision for receipts from cinema theatres—a significant tribute to the effectiveness of the alternative service of non-copyright records organized by National Screen Services, Ltd., for the CEA.

Incidentally, the omission even of an estimate of cinema revenue is a rather striking comment on the recent suggestion from the record-making concerns that exhibitors were breaking away from the CEA pledge and taking out public performance licenses.

Criticism of the quality of the records issued by NSS have been effectively answered by the latter, who stress the fact that their records, unlike those made primarily for private users, are recorded with a special eye on the need of great amplification in reproduction.

Carbon Prices

Whatever happens in the case of the Entertainments Tax, the prospect of any relief from the new duties on imported carbons (7/6 and 5/- per lb. as against the previous rate of 1/- per lb.) is extremely remote. Effective propaganda is being issued by the importers, but they are handicapped by the fact that the question is not being argued solely on its commercial merits, but with reference to the needs of national security.

A harder blow for them is the announcement that the large Morgan Crucible Company is breaking into the cinema field with carbons costing from 5% to 10% less than "Ring" standards. It was an important point, in statements supporting the new duties before the CEA Council, that assurances had been received which guaranteed a reduction, rather than an increase, in the price of British carbons. The Morgan announcement justifies these promises and considerably reduces the possibility of the importers rallying British exhibitors to their cause.

Rowland Brown to Direct for Dean

Rowland Brown, signed by Alexander Korda to direct "The Scarlet Pimpernel" for London Films, will first write the screen adaptation of "Twelve Chairs" and make the picture for Basil Dean's company, Associated Talking Pictures.

"LITTLE MEN" HOPEFUL OF HELP UNDER CODE

Col. Cole of Allied Says Independents Have Made "Marvelous Strides" Last 30 Days; Non-Assenters Get Hearing

Virtually the first tangible evidence of optimism voiced by the so-called "little men" in exhibition, with regard to eventual effects of the motion picture code machinery, came this week from three different sections. At the same time, the NRA at Washington and the Code Authority in New York were working together to bring into closer contact with the code structure those hundreds of independent exhibitors who had refused to execute the official form of code acceptance.

The Code Authority revised the procedure for drafting clearance and zoning schedules, making an important concession to the independent non-assenters when it ruled that such non-assenters would be heard by Local Clearance Boards when they disagreed with recommended clearance schedules which would alter the zoning plan for an entire area. This gives the non-assenters their first opportunity to be heard on protests against code machinery.

While some 215 non-assenters had sent word to the Code Authority that they will accept the benefits of the code, a committee of the Code Authority was on the eve of a decision pointing toward reopening of the machinery permitting non-assenters to execute acceptance.

At Washington, the NRA was instructing all Code Authorities in a new procedure governing premiums. Basically they do not differ from the premium provisions of the motion picture code, except that the NRA ruling prohibits any general clause arbitrarily banning the premium practice.

Optimistic Notes Heard in Field

A field voice of Allied States Association sounded a new note of hope for exhibitors under the code. From the Allied stronghold in Texas, ruled by Colonel H. A. Cole, president of Allied in that state and a member of the national Allied "war council," came this word from Col. Cole: "The independent exhibitor has made marvelous strides toward true independence during these last 30 days under the code, and we believe with the proper work and attention we will make still further gains in the near future. Things are waking up for us!"

Further east, in the Atlanta territory, motion picture salesmen covering the southern Atlantic states reported renewed buying in those localities where exhibitors had been hesitating because of fear that the code would not protect the "little fellow."

Indiana Asks for Fair Trial

The Associated Theatre Owners of Indiana, independent, struck a note of conciliation, in the following official statement from headquarters in Indianapolis:

"It is our belief, after talking with and hearing from most of the exhibitors of the state, that a large majority of exhibitors are in favor of giving the whole code a fair chance to show its merits or lack of them. These exhibitors are honest enough to concede that no code could have been drawn up to please everyone in a business that has so many divergent views and attitudes." After urging that theatre owners await developments before arbitrarily insisting upon code changes, the Indiana organization answered those exhibitors who are blaming poor business on the code. "There are more obvious reasons for poor business," it was suggested, "among which would be:—poor showmanship, unwise buying by exhibitors, smutty pictures; the turning of the public to outdoors, and generally depressed conditions."

Authority Changes Zoning Procedure

The Code Authority on Saturday reconstructed the machinery for hearing the complaints of exhibitors in the field against changes in clearance and zoning schedules, and at the same time ordered that the new schedules become effective for the first releases of 1934-35, and, furthermore, gave permission to the local boards to hear the complaints of non-assenters. The changes in the procedure, incorporated in the following statement from the Authority to all Local Clearance Boards, were ordered to prevent the spreading of dissatisfaction over schedules already drawn:

"In order to clarify the misunderstanding with reference to the jurisdiction and procedure of the Clearance and Zoning Boards, you are advised that you are permitted to follow only the procedure outlined below, disregarding all previous instructions in this matter, to wit:

"You will continue to receive protests from exhibitors who have assented to the code in regard to existing clearance and zoning, and after you receive several protests you will determine whether or not the entire clearance and zoning of a given territory would be affected by any decision rendered as a result of protests received. In the event that you decide that the entire clearance and zoning in any territory or definite part thereof is not affected by the protests received, you will notify only those exhibitors specifically affected to come in and be heard on the protests. If you decide that the entire clearance and zoning of any territory or definite part thereof will be affected by your decision, you will thereupon notify every exhibitor (including those who have not assented to the code) in the territory affected of the date of a hearing on the clearance and zoning for the affected territory so that all exhibitors will have an opportunity to come in and be heard.

"Thereafter the procedure will be that, if any exhibitor is dissatisfied with the clearance and zoning established by your board, he is permitted to appeal directly to the Code Authority under the procedure outlined in the code and within the time therein specified.

"You will immediately set your meetings to hear protests not later than June 10th. You will then proceed as rapidly as possible to hear the protests and make your decisions so that all decisions will be made not later than July 1st.

"All such changes in existing clearance and zoning are to be effective with the first releases of 1934-35, and not before."

215 Non-Assenters Take Cancellation

The new Code Authority procedure automatically effected a temporary cessation of clearance drafting activities in the field, where dozens of exhibitor groups and individuals had voiced vigorous protestations against the changes as drawn by the Clearance Boards.

Basically, the Authority's order compels the Boards to hear all protesting, whether code assenters or not, when the changes to be effected in a schedule effect all of the exhibitors in an area. This action gives the non-assenters their first opportunity to file any type of protest against code workings.

Some 215 theatre owners who did not sign the code have already indicated that they will accept the benefits of the code, in line with the NRA's recent decision to give code benefits to all exhibitors, regardless. However, these non-assenters may not file any complaint against another exhibitor or an exchange charging unfair competition under the trade practice provisions. They must pay the regular assessment for code expenses before any benefits will be accorded them by exchanges.

The Code Authority is expected to reach a decision late this week regarding the establishing of a new deadline for the filing of code acceptances by non-assenters.

Another concession to non-assenters was given this week by the Code Authority when it decided to hear the protests of non-assenters against new zoning schedules where whole territories are involved.

All exhibitor associations, local code boards and distributors and exchanges received this week an official definition by the Code Authority of the term "general release date" as used in the motion picture code in certain trade practice clauses. The Authority defined such a general release date as follows:

"The public exhibition of any of said motion pictures for three consecutive days at prices usually charged for admission to the theatre where so exhibited in the territory wherein is located the exchange from which the exhibitor is served, excepting any 'road show,' 'tryout,' 'preview,' or 'pre-release' exhibition thereof. Therefore, under Article V-F, Part 6 of the code, the exhibitor, when desiring to eliminate a picture and when entitled to do so, should be required to evidence his election within 14 days after such general release date in such territory."

An extension of the rules and regulations

(Continued on page 20)

NRA DEVELOPMENTS AT WASHINGTON

Among developments this week on the NRA front at Washington were:

1. Reports that President Roosevelt is considering the advisability of important alterations in the NRA system of business organization.

2. A Senator Nye resolution, planned for introduction in the Congress early this week, calling for a full investigation of the NRA, including the writing and administration of the motion picture code.

3. Adoption of a resolution by the National Labor Advisory Board condemning the Darrow Report, with a defense of the NRA by Senator Robert F. Wagner, New York Democrat, who said the purchasing power of the entire wage-earning class, due to re-employment in industry alone, has risen 23 per cent the last 12 months.

4. Declaration by Senator Joseph Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic whip, that before the motion picture code the small exhibitors were helpless and that the code "set up grievance boards with very broad powers." He said the faults of block booking were not due to the code, but to the copyright laws.

THE CAMERA REPORTS

PRODUCTION BOSS. (Below) For Monogram is Robert Welsh, one time trade paper editor, later Universal Production manager, now executive producer.

IN ACTION. (Right) Is King Vidor, directing "Our Daily Bread," his new independent production for United Artists.

STEPIN STEPS OUT. (Left) Sartorially and from the plane which carried the Fox comedian from Hollywood to New York, to assist in a colored benefit.

ONLY A VOICE. But an important part of the Van Beuren "Vagabond Adventure" series, Radio release, is Alois Havrilla, popular radio announcer, here rehearsing for his vocal screen debut, with Russell Spaulding, director, as guide.

A-HUNTING ATMOSPHERE. In Old England are, left to right, David Selznick, Mrs. Selznick, George Cukor, Myron Selznick, Howard Estabrook, who will combine their efforts toward picturizing Dickens' immortal "David Copperfield" for MGM.

DOUBLE DELIVERY. Having delivered the feature "Murder at the Vanities" to Paramount at the studio, Earl Carroll, famed theatrical producer, arrives in New York after having delivered numerous prints of the film in key cities en route from the Coast. Some of his chorus meet and greet him.

INFANTILE LUMINARY. (Below) Of Fox is Shirley Temple, here caught in informal rehearsal, with Claire Trevor, of a new song, which will be a feature of the forthcoming "Baby Take a Bow," in which James Dunn is also importantly a part of the cast.

FROM MIKE TO CAMERA. (Left) Has gone Jack Benny, conspicuous radio comedian, who, for Reliance Pictures in Hollywood, will star in "Transatlantic Showboat," his first of two features set for United Artists release.

COMPOSITION. In a reflective mood is Marian Nixon, as, at a definitely improvised desk, she pens while filming Universal's "Embarrassing Moments."

TWO KINDS OF YARN. In work at the same time at Fox, as Drue Leyton casually makes things of one kind, while Donald Woods is attentive and Warner Oland coaches on the other kind, from "Charlie Chan's Courage."

PARAMOUNT GOING AHEAD WITHOUT OUTSIDE AID, SAYS ADOLPH ZUKOR

Executive, on Coast, Declares Double Billing "Will Either Work Itself Out or Wear Itself Out" Eventually

By VICTOR M. SHAPIRO
Hollywood Correspondent

Canceling out rumors of any return of Sidney Kent or Sam Katz to the Paramount organization, Adolph Zukor, with eyes dancing as of old and in cheery good health, proceeded to give us a detailed picture of Paramount's plans for the coming year. Mr. Zukor, on the Coast to go over the production program with Emanuel Cohen, was seated in the office formerly occupied by Jesse Lasky, minus the ubiquitous cigar, calm as usual, exuding the oldtime confidence which the last two years of upheaval may have shaken intermittently. His observations spanned the range of production, manpower, reorganizations, cycles, curtailment, double featuring, the code, mergers, recovery.

Mr. Zukor humbly said that when he started in the show business about thirty years ago, he devoted all his time to producing and since has always kept an eye on the making of pictures. In his own words: "I will take an active interest in the selection of stories, casting of the pictures and give the entire production organization the benefit of my experience."

Will Give Much Time to Production

"Each picture hereafter will carry 'Adolph Zukor presents,' but to produce pictures myself would take all my time, an exacting task requiring complete concentration and attention. However, I will devote considerable time to production matters. It may be in casting, in attracting new personalities to our banner, or it may be on stories or something else that comes up. I'm not making my headquarters here for any length of time. I'll come for an extended trip, then go back to New York."

"The studio manpower is in good condition," he said. "No changes are planned. Emanuel Cohen has done a man-sized job since he's been in charge of production. He took over the reins in the greatest period of stress, but now our picture company is making money. Other studios that made sudden changes were set back millions, but we have gone forward under Cohen's administration."

"I don't know of any man in Hollywood who hasn't been subject to unwarranted criticism some time or other. But reading the facts and noting results are much better proof of a man's ability than just talk."

"In fact, in all departments we have always believed in manpower"—Mr. Zukor was launching on a favorite topic. "Manpower is the heart of management. All our key men have been with us for years, have grown up with us, they've been tested. Whenever some qualities inside a man cause him to go ahead, we encourage that. We have always picked our men carefully, when we engage them, and promote them from the ground up as opportunity opens up, and when they grow, we make a place for them higher up. George Schaefer, our new general manager, has been with us for years."

As to Kent and Katz

"Is consideration being given to the return of Sidney Kent or Sam Katz?"

Rising and moving agilely in front of his desk, Mr. Zukor started slowly to pace the floor, with hands locked behind his back. He continued his pacing during the remainder of the interview.

"Sid Kent is too busy. He's doing a good job where he is. Katz has some personal ventures that take up his time too. Someone must have started that as a rumor.

"The fact is, we've all been busy on the general reorganization of the company, with bondholder meetings and other financial matters requiring adjustments, but I understand a plan is to be announced about the time I get back, which I think will be satisfactory to all concerned."

Mr. Zukor expressed confidence that a feasible reorganization formula will be arrived at by the various creditor and stockholder committees, adding that "then all the energies of the corporation could be applied to the production and exploitation of pictures."

"Pictures are still the life-blood of this industry," he declared. "Other things have their necessary place, but pictures that make money for exhibitors will always be of prime importance.

"Cycles and trends, costume pictures or murder pictures come and go. If they make money, they're good pictures, and if they lose money, they're bad, no matter what class they're in, or what cycle they're on.

Curtailment Not Solution

"I don't believe curtailing the number of pictures will solve anything in the business. A producer, because he makes fewer pictures, never knows in advance whether he's going to make a hit or not—no matter how few he produces.

"Our organization has made fifty pictures some years, sixty and seventy other years, and up to a hundred one year.

"We feel a responsibility to supply what the market demands. Some years the market expands, other years it shrinks. We do likewise in production.

"Besides, a big organization has an advantage in producing pictures. We have a large selection of stories to pick from. We can maintain a stock company—we can experiment and spend money for research. We couldn't do that if we had fewer pictures. Cutting down the number of pictures will hardly make better pictures. It's the same gamble in making any picture. We judge the number we make by what the market tells us it can use, and in any market, quality always will rule.

"Dual bills? They're like an epidemic. If it won't work itself out, it'll wear itself out. Things like dual bills usually take care of themselves, because quality always wins out, and the public will soon tell the exhibitor if they're tired of duals. They'll go to the show with one quality picture and well-balanced shorts.

"The industry today is making progress in working out its own problems. The Code is a step in the direction of self-government of business. Like anything, having been conceived by human beings, it may have human failings, but it's bound to be helpful in the long run.

Calls Confidence Definite

"In fact, the entire recovery program has spread a confidence that is definite, in all directions. It's unmistakable. We're on solid ground."

"Then mergers are not being considered?" he was asked.

Mr. Zukor relaxed his hands from behind his back, stopped his pacing, and in the milder tones he uses on certain occasions of historic note, simply, he said, "Consolidations won't serve any purpose. They're not needed. We know of no alliances even contemplated.

"Without outside aid, all our own resources, and our built-up manpower will be used in producing pictures—good pictures. So really the man for you to interview is the exhibitor."

Mr. Zukor remains in Hollywood for another fortnight, but will return to Hollywood in July.

ADOLPH ZUKOR SAYS OF . . . . .

MANPOWER: "Other studios that made sudden changes were set back millions, but we have gone forward since (Emanuel) Cohen's administration."

PRODUCT: "If they make money, they're good pictures, and if they lose money they're bad pictures, no matter what cycle they're on."

DOUBLE FEATURES: "They're like an epidemic. If it won't work itself out, it'll wear itself out."

CURTAILED PRODUCT: "I don't believe curtailing the number of pictures will solve anything in this business."

Pictures Still Life-Blood of Business, Regardless of Cycles, Declares President; Industry Solving Own Problems

Owners Set Meeting Date

Nat G. Williams, president of the Southeastern Theatre Owners' Association, has announced the annual convention for June 24-26 at Atlanta.

58 FOX FEATURES, 112 SHORTS, IN 1934

Titles and Casts Named at Sales Convention in New York; Clean Cut Stories Promised by Kent; 11 Musicals

Fox Film Corporation, first of the major companies to hold its annual sales convention, sprung into action in New York on Wednesday, setting a schedule of 58 feature pictures, 112 short subjects and 104 issues of Fox Movietone News for the 1934-35 season.

In opening the convention at the Waldorf-Astoria, Sidney R. Kent, president, told more than 250 executives, home office officials and field representatives from every exchange in the country and Canada, that a distinct tendency toward clean-cut stories which "shoot straight to heart and home" and an increased use of music will be the principal developments in motion pictures.

Clean Pictures, New Personalities

"In shaping our new season's program we were cognizant of the constantly increasing demand on the part of the public for clean, wholesome entertainment and also the insatiable desire to see new personalities on the screen," Mr. Kent said.

"To solve these problems the company has purchased a large number of novels and plays by the greatest writers of our time, as well as popular works of non-fictional character, and has literally scoured the world for new talent."

Fox's schedule of 58 features is six more than on the current program. Eleven musical productions, the largest undertaking in this field by the company, appear on the new program.

Heading the Program

Among the outstanding productions are "The World Moves On," directed by John Ford and with Madeleine Carroll, Franchot Tone and Reginald Denny; "The Cats Paw," from the novel by Clarence Budington Kelland, starring Harold Lloyd; "Music in the Air," from the Jerome Kern-Arthur Hammerstein musical play, starring Lilian Harvey; "The First World War," edited by Laurence Stallings; "Dames Is Dynamite," another of the wellknown Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen vehicles.

After Mr. Kent's introductory remarks on Wednesday and the roll call by William Sussman, the first session included plans for distribution presented by John D. Clark, general sales manager; discussion of foreign department plans and accomplishments by Clayton P. Sheehan, and talks on the new short subjects by E. W. Hammons, Educational president; Jack Skirball, Truman Talley, W. J. Clark and W. J. Kupper.

Highlights of the second day's meeting were the announcement of advertising and publicity plans by Charles E. McCarthy, director; a sales address by E. C. Grainger, eastern division manager, and a discussion of the code by Louis Nizer, secretary of the Film Board of Trade, New York.

Mr. Kent was to close the convention with an address Friday afternoon, other speakers being Spyros Skouras, W. C. Michel, executive vice-president; Sydney Towell, treasurer, and others.

Titles and Casts

Titles and casts for the new season follow:

THE WORLD MOVES ON, with Madeleine Carroll, Franchot Tone, Reginald Denny, Siegfried Rumann, Louise Dresser, Raul Roulien, Lumsden Hare, Dudley Digges. Directed by John Ford.

JUDGE PRIEST, from the Irvin S. Cobb stories, starring Will Rogers, with Rochelle Hudson, Victor Jory, Anita Louise, Tom Brown, Frank Melton, Aunt Jemima, Roger Imhof, Stepin Fetchit, Charley Grapewin, Berton Churchill, David Landau. Directed by John Ford.

THE CATS-PAW, from the Clarence Budington Kelland novel, starring Harold Lloyd, with Una Merkel, George Barbier, Alan Dinehart, Grant Mitchell, Nat Pendleton, Warren Hymer, J. Farrell Macdonald. Directed by Sam Taylor.

MUSIC IN THE AIR, Kern-Hammerstein musical play, with Lilian Harvey. Musical adaptation by Franz Waxmann; screen play by Howard Young.

WORK OF ART, from Sinclair Lewis' Nobel Prize winner. Spencer Tracy will star. The screen play will be by Paul Green, Pulitzer Prize playwright.

NYMPH ERRANT, from James Laver's novel, with "Pat" Paterson, Hugh Williams, Herbert Mundin, Stepin Fetchit.

ONE MORE SPRING, from Robert Nathan's novel. The screen play is by Edwin Burke. The cast includes Will Rogers, Janet Gaynor, Warner Baxter, Stepin Fetchit. Henry King will direct.

ANGEL FACE, with Shirley Temple, James Dunn and Alice Faye. Lewis Foster has written the story. Richard Wallace will direct.

War Story by Stallings

THE FIRST WORLD WAR, edited by Laurence Stallings, the author.

THE STATE VERSUS ELINOR NORTON, from the Mary Roberts Rinehart novel. Directed by Hamilton MacFadden.

MARIE GALANTE, with Spencer Tracy, Ketti Gallian, Siegfried Rumann, Stepin Fetchit. Director, Henry King.

WIFE FOR SALE, from the Kathleen Norris novel, with Helen Twelvetrees. Directed by Irving Cummings.

FOX FOLLIES, musical extravaganza.

SERVANTS' ENTRANCE, from the novel by Sigrid Boo. Screen play by Samson Raphaelson. Starring is Janet Gaynor; with Lew Ayres, Ned Sparks, Walter Connolly, G. P. Huntley, Jr., Siegfried Rumann, Louise Dresser. Directed by Frank Lloyd.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY, from Walter B. Pitkin's book.

CASANOVA THE GREAT LOVER, all star.

GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS, musical revue.

THE COUNTY CHAIRMAN, from the play by George Ade and starring Will Rogers. Director, James Cruze.

CARAVAN, first Erik Charell-directed musical production, with Charles Boyer, Loretta Young, Jean Parker, Phillips Holmes, Louise Fazenda, Eugene Pallette, Cora Sue Collins, C. Aubrey Smith.

Two Charlie Chans

CHARLIE CHAN IN LONDON and CHARLIE CHAN IN PARIS, both starring Warner Oland. Directed by George Hadden.

FUN ON THE AIR, Joe Cook musical, with Alice Faye, James Dunn, Dave Chasen, Stepin Fetchit. Directed by Edward Sutherland.

HELL IN THE HEAVENS, from the play by Hermann Rossman, "The Ace," with Warner Baxter, Hugh Williams, Ketti Gallian, Herbert Mundin, Stuart Erwin. Director, John Blystone.

WHAT AM I BID? starring Will Rogers, with "Pat" Paterson, Claire Trevor, James Dunn, Rosemary Ames, Herbert Mundin, John Bradford.

YOUNG LADIES IN WHITE, from the novel by Rian James and Jesse L. Lasky, Jr.

DANTE'S INFERNO, modernized version of the classic poem.

REDHEADS ON PARADE, a musical, with John Boles. Directed by Frank Tuttle.

An original story by DAMON RUNYON, written for Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen.

SERENADE, musical with Lilian Harvey. Story by Richard Carroll. Directed by Paul Martin.

WANTED, with Rosemary Ames, Pert Kelton, Henry B. Walthall, Nils Asther and Russell Hardie. Louis King will direct.

HELDORADO, starring Spencer Tracy. Original by Frank Mitchell Dazey with adaptation by Ernest Pascal and Jesse L. Lasky, Jr. Irving Cummings will direct.

24 HOURS A DAY, original by Dudley Nichols, with Claire Trevor, directed by Irving Cummings.

THE CAPTIVE BRIDE, from the play "Proud Princess" by Edward Sheldon and Dorothy Donnelly, to be directed by Dorothy Arzner.

Musicals with Lilian Harvey

LOVETIME, musical romance, with Lilian Harvey and John Boles.

365 NIGHTS IN HOLLYWOOD, musical based on the novel by Jimmy Starr. The cast includes Lilian Harvey, James Dunn, Victor Jory, Ruth Peterson, Tito Coral, Mona Barrie, Harry Green. William Conselman will adapt and James Tinling will direct.

THE FIRST BABY, written by Lamar Trotti and Dudley Nichols. The cast includes James Dunn and Claire Trevor. Director, James Tinling.

LOTTERY LOVER, written by Sig Hersig and Maurice Hanline; in cast, Lew Ayres and "Pat" Paterson. Director, Hanns Schwartz.

A WOMAN LIES, from the play by Ladislaus Fodor.

DAMES IS DYNAMITE, with Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen. Raoul Walsh will direct.

CISCO KID STORY, with Warner Baxter.

IMPERSONATION OF A LADY, anonymous story in Ladies Home Journal.

MEAL TICKET, original by Gene Towne and Graham Baker. Cast to include Spencer Tracy, Shirley Temple, Helen Twelvetrees. David Butler will direct.

THE DICE WOMAN by Wilson and Anzonetta Collison, with Claire Trevor, Norman Foster, Victor Jory.

SIX GEORGE O'BRIEN features, to be produced by Sol Lesser and John Zanft; the first, "The Dude Ranger," from the Zane Grey story.

Others will be announced later.

FRENCH EXHIBITORS ASK MORE U. S. FILMS

In direct answer to the request of the French Syndical Chamber, representing French producers, for drastic curtailment of American films, the French Cinema Owners Association, representing nearly nine-tenths of the exhibitors in the country, recommended that the number of American films shown in France be definitely increased, not decreased, in a letter addressed to the minister of commerce. The exhibitors demand an increase in the quota from 242 foreign films for 1933-34 to 325 for 1934-35. They also ask an increase in the number of theatres showing original foreign versions from 20 to 100.

Virtually in support of the producers' demands, members of the French Association of Film Workers staged a demonstration in Paris last week against the competition from foreign, notably American, films in France.

ASIDES & INTERLUDES

By JAMES CUNNINGHAM

A New York home office circuit mogul arrived in the field one morning and commanded the division executive to accompany him on an inspection tour of the territory. At one city the big boss was introduced to a theatre manager. "You appear to be a bright young man," complimented the New York official, "and I'm going to make you the city manager in charge of both of our local houses. Starting immediately, your salary will be $75 a week—instead of $135."

Somewhat taken back by the sudden reduction of his salary from $135, especially after having heard many flowery compliments, the manager started to remonstrate. "Now, my good man, do not complain," answered the big gun. "You don't hear your division boss finding fault, do you? He's been getting $1,500 a week, and, hereafter his salary will be $150!" When the division man finally recovered from the shocking news, he resigned. Which was exactly what the chief from New York had hoped for.

▽

Featured last week at the first exhibition of the George Luks School of Painting, on East 22nd Street in New York, was Salvatore Dali's super-realistic motion picture, made in Paris, and shown only to people able to take it.

The picture opened with a man honing a razor in front of a mirror. He looked as if he were thinking about something. In the course of the honing he cut off the end of his thumb, establishing the feeling of what-of-it.

Walking elsewhere, this sociable soul came upon a woman, and, taking careful aim with the razor, slit her eyeball down the middle.

Evidently the production was a complete success, having been intended to shock out of the minds of the spectators any associations they might have with motion pictures made in Hollywood. Good ol' Hollywood.

▽

Mr. David Selznick, arriving in London from Hollywood, was introduced in the British press as "one of the big noises of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios."

▽

Mr. Sedge Coppock, Paramount theatre manager on Staten Island, was rescued none too early from the choppy waters of deep-watered New York Bay. The Metropolitan press noted the rescue, but refrained from mentioning that "Death Takes a Holiday" was current at Mr. Coppock's theatre.

▽

Presenting herewith for the enlightenment of the motion picture industry, Mr. John Chapman's own version of a piece of Hollywood reporting by a tabloid columnist—any tabloid columnist:

In Mae West's newest flicker, "The Hell It Ain't," she wears Baby LeRoy for a bustle. . . . Every time a new star has his name go up in lights for the first time at a preview, they measure the size of his head, and if it's bigger than the present size of the hat-shaped Brown Derby eating place, they enlarge the Brown Derby. . . . Everybody goes to bed in Hollywood at 9 P. M., except Baby LeRoy. He used to go to bed at 7, but it's Daylight Saving now and he doesn't know it. . . . The Hays office has a new theme song: "Alexander's Ragtime Banned." . . . In Lionel Barrymore's next flicker he'll have no lines to speak—all he has to do is burp.

▽

Mr. Charles Clyde Pettijohn did a swell job for his Film Board secretaries, landing 20 out of 31 secretaryships of code boards in the field for his workers.

TWENTY YEARS AGO this month, in the pioneering days when producers were called "manufacturers," reels were known as "parts," and motion picture "epics" ran as long as 2,000 feet . . . Samuel Goldfish, of the Jesse Lasky Feature Play Company, left New York on a seven-day train ride across the continent to the movie city in California, his first trip west of the Rockies. . . . Jack Cohn, young and ambitious editor of Universal Animated Weekly, passed around seegars on the birth of a son . . . (Thomas H.) Inceville-by-the-Sea, near Santa Monica, had grown to gigantic proportions in its first year, with two scenarists working steadily and a cattle range, truck garden, private telephone system and four automobiles for the directors. . . .

Typical of community attitude towards moving pictures in those days was this expression of the Webster City (Iowa) Herald: "The local moving picture nuisance has changed owners. It appears that Pete Dale sold out just in time to escape being kicked out—and perhaps even more painful treatment at the hands of the fathers of certain silly girls who have been hanging around the joint day and night. The place will doubtless be permanently closed as a public nuisance and a menace to the morals of the community." . . .

Too, this month is the 20th anniversary of Ray Johnston's promotion to be private secretary to Mr. C. J. Hite, president of Thanhouser, one of the big guns of the day. . . . Watterson R. Rothacker, R. H. Cochrane and Carl Laemmle were partners 20 years ago in the Industrial Moving Picture Company, operating in Chicago "the largest factory in the world devoted exclusively to the manufacture of commercial moving pictures." Mr. Laemmle also had a sideline known as Universal Film Manufacturing Company, a name still somewhat familiar today. . . .

Twenty years ago, during the first week of June, 1914, the "enormous" staff of Warners' Features attended a wild west horse show at the old Madison Square Garden in New York, filling a whole section of nine boxes. . . . And Jesse Lasky was pondering whether he should take the risk of engaging Lolita Robertson for the lead in "The Man on the Box." Mr. Lasky was doubtful whether Lolita could ride a horse. . . . Major Funkhouser, styled the "Czar" of the Chicago Censor Board, ordered a ban against gambling scenes, because "there is no gambling in Chicago and consequently we cannot permit any gambling to be shown in the city." . . .

George Terwilliger and the Edison company were offering "something quite out of the ordinary" in those days. George had the steel nerve to run an automobile off a Florida dock for a Lubin production, while the Edison people persuaded their star, Marc McDermott, to risk his life riding a girder hoist on a huge steel skyscraper—of seven stories. . . . At the same time, Edison was offering $100—in cash—for the best scenario of the day, and paying between $35 and $75 for any others which were accepted. . . .

Meanwhile, there were some whisperings about talking pictures, but the pioneers admitted that they were stumped because the standard reel took 20 minutes to unwind, whereas a phonograph record only lasted five, and they could not figure out how to bridge the 15-minute gap without stopping the film and changing the record every five minutes. . . . Some of the nickelodeon owners were worried two decades ago by the new type of long-length picture, which, they said, would never be as practical as the one and two-reelers. . . .

Walter Brooks, general press representative of Mr. Eddie Dowling Gaucher, was being interviewed about Eddie's chances of being elected Senator from his native Rhode Island.

"Eddie may be an actor," said Mr. Brooks —then, recollecting himself—"he IS an actor. But," as if apologizing for Mr. Dowling's theatrical profession, "he has a lot of intellect."

"On his feet he is very quick with an answer," added Mr. Brooks. "There is no group discussion in which he will not come out at least second best. You remember that two-hour interval in the Chicago convention while Eddie sang and told gags? Well, during those two hours the leaders got together and nominated Roosevelt. Suppose he had only been able to do eight minutes?" asked Press-agent Brooks. Roosevelt would have been nominated anyway.

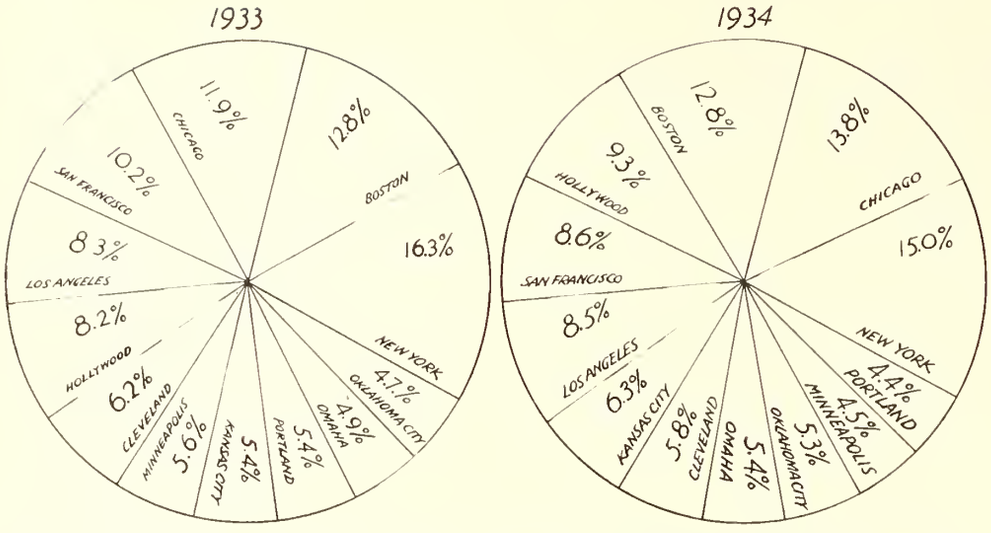
▽

Many descriptions of systems used to inform the public of the starting time of features have been sent in by exhibitors in the field following Mr. Martin Quigley's editorial about the handicap to the picture itself which is raised when a patron is compelled to see a picture from the middle instead of from the beginning. Probably the most realistic method was that used recently at the Regis theatre in Mexico City, for the showing of United Artists' "Private Life of Henry VIII." A couple arrived at the box-office, and, upon learning that the feature was then going through the process of projection, asked how much longer would it run. "Not long," the doorman replied, "they have already beheaded the fifth wife."

▽

We telephoned the New York offices of British and Dominions Film Corporation, the other day, to determine when they might expect Mr. Herbert Wilcox, their production general, to arrive from London. "Do you mean the steamship?" they asked.

▽



From the California coast comes word of a new brand of celebrity gawkers who have passed the autograph seeking stage. They are called "feelers," sidling up to Hollywood importants to run their fingers over a coat sleeve or touch a shoulder. The big-name regulars are said to be used to it and pay no attention whatever. Except la Garbo, who is horrified by such contacts.

▽

The publishers of "Who's Who In America" are at least a little inconsistent in recognizing only four of the presidents of the eight large motion picture corporations in their biographical dictionary "of notable men" of the country. Those mentioned include: Merlin Hall Aylesworth, RKO; "Uncle Carl" Laemmle, Universal; Harry Morris Warner, Warner Brothers, and Adolph Zukor, Paramount. Not mentioned are: Harry Cohn, Columbia; Sidney R. Kent, Fox; Joseph Schenck, United Artists; Nicholas Schenck, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. However, the persons in charge of production (Mayer, Sheehan, Goldwyn) for the companies headed by the unrecognized Mr. Kent and the Brothers Schenck, were accorded "Who's Who" recognition.

▽

Mr. Y. Y. Bain, managing the motion picture department of the Wha Wei Trading Company, in Shanghai, China, writes to Miss Gertrude Merriam, of our Managers' Round Table, apologizing profusely for having previously mistaken her for a male, and consoling her with the thought of "what your great Abraham Lincoln said in his speech at Pittsburgh."

The chart, based on Motion Picture Herald's tabulation of box office grosses, shows the relative size of the business done in each of twelve key cities in 20 weeks. The large circle marked "1934" indicates the total receipts from the twelve cities during the 20 weeks period from Jan. 6, 1934, to May 19, 1934. The sectors of this circle indicate the portions of this total that have come from each of the cities used. Thus, 13.8 per cent. of the business during this 1934 period came from New York, etc. The circle marked 1933 offers the same comparison for the same period in 1933.

Johnson Clarifies Premium Clauses

(Continued from page 14)

governing the distribution of premiums to customers in all industries was ordered Saturday by the National Recovery Administration. The new order is intended to eliminate general code clauses which arbitrarily prohibit the practice, but the apparent looseness of the NRA ruling fails to change the present significance of the motion picture code's premium clause, which permits the practice unless 75 per cent of the exhibitors in a single territory indicate in writing that the policy should be prohibited.

Admitted to be an attempt to clarify the complexities of premium clauses in all codes, General Hugh S. Johnson said that the new order was issued when it became known that premiums are the most troublesome of trade practice clauses in many codes. Further indications that premiums are troubling exhibitors were seen in the receipt of many more letters from theatre owners seeking information about and interpretations of the premium question through the "Code Question Box."

General Johnson ordered that the following policies should govern premium clauses in all codes:

1. There should be no general provision prohibiting the use of premiums. (The motion picture code clause leaves the practice up to local decision, and, therefore, is not a general prohibition).

2. Certain uses of premiums would constitute methods of evading trade practice provisions; for example, provisions against selling below cost and open price provisions.

3. Although there should be no general prohibition against the use of premiums, the use of premiums in the following ways may be prohibited in codes:

A. The use of premiums in ways which involve bribery in any form. (Not now mentioned in the motion picture code.)

B. The use of premiums in ways which involve lottery in any form. (Prohibited at present in the motion picture code.) The term "lottery" should be construed to include, but without limitation, any plan or arrangement whereby the premiums offered differ substantially in value from customer to customer of the same class, except as a result of differences in quantities purchased.

C. The use of premiums in ways which involve misrepresentation, or fraud, or deception in any form, including, but without limitation, the use of the word "free," "gift," "gratuity," or language of similar import in connection with the giving of premiums for the purpose of misleading or deceiving customers. (The motion picture clause does not specifically mention such misrepresentation to the patron).

D. The giving of premiums to any customers when such premiums are not offered to all customers of the same class.

Of importance to premium manufacturers in the motion picture business was General Johnson's admission that there should not be a general prohibition of premiums, "in view of the extent of the premium industry, the widespread use of premiums and the fact that premiums at times lend a desirable flexibility to rigid prices." On the other hand, the Administrator warned that certain uses of premiums may lead to increased cost of selling, deception of buyers, and other abuses which justify a careful regulation of their employment.

Players Fear Blacklisting

Hundreds of Hollywood extras and players, members of the Picture Players Association, decided over the weekend to refrain from filing any complaints with the code Studio Extras Committee against studios or producers, because of the danger of being blacklisted for signing individual complaints.

In the first test case of its kind, Fox studio was upheld by the Code Authority in its appeal from a ruling of the Extras Committee, which ordered Fox to pay 20 girls $25 each because they were required to memorize lines in order to sing in a Fox feature. The Code Authority ruled otherwise, and ordered that Fox should not be compelled to pay the chorus girls any more than $15 each.

The studio Labor Committee under the code, consisting of Pat Casey and Edward Smith, was enlarged this week with the appointment of W. J. Davis, who was named as impartial member representing the NRA. Mr. Casey represents the studios and Mr. Smith represents studio labor. Mr. Davis is a Los Angeles attorney.

British Imports Of Film Show An Increase in 1933

British imports of motion picture films in 1933, in the aggregate, increased by 16,850,000 linear feet, according to Alfred Nutting of the American Consulate in London. Blank films increased by 16,500,000 linear feet, and positive by almost 1,000,000 linear feet, but negative films decreased by substantially 800,000 linear feet. Compared with 1931, says the report, imports of blank films in 1933 were 7,500,000 linear feet more, but positive declined by 4,300,000 linear feet, and negative by 1,300,000 feet.

The following statement shows the gross imports in 1931, 1932 and 1933, and is followed by a tabulation of re-exports, together with a statement of the net imports remaining thereafter.

		1931	1932	1933
IMPORTS (Gross)
Blank film	Lin. ft. ..	50,795,374	41,745,285	58,283,382
	Value £	202,662	206,538	241,052
Positive film	Lin. ft. ..	21,116,949	15,691,529	16,782,787
	Value £	139,223	110,524	100,817
Negative film	Lin. ft. ..	4,814,005	4,315,843	3,539,975
	Value £	133,167	96,888	83,654
Total	Lin. ft. ..	76,726,328	61,752,657	78,606,144
	Value £	475,052	413,950	425,577
RE-EXPORTS
Blank film	Lin. ft. ..	6,378,998	6,905,115	6,738,931
	Value £	38,412	49,680	44,523
Positive film	Lin. ft. ..	2,786,229	1,926,546	1,713,510
	Value £	18,190	12,625	12,122
Negative film	Lin. ft. ..	2,268,250	1,601,769	1,106,718
	Value £	46,066	27,565	18,738
NET IMPORTS
Blank film	Lin. ft...	44,416,376	34,840,170	51,514,451
	Value £	164,250	156,858	196,529
Positive film	Lin. ft...	18,330720	13,764,983	15,069,277
	Value £	121,033	97,899	88,695
Negative film	Lin. ft. ..	2,545,755	2,714,074	2,433,257
	Value £	87,101	69,323	64,916

The outstanding feature in British exports of films in 1933 was the striking increase in shipments of positive films, which increased approximately 50 per cent in volume above the total for 1932, and by substantially that percentage over the 1931 level. Whereas imports of these films in 1931 exceeded British exports (although the net imports were slightly lower), in 1933 they were nearly 11,000,000 linear feet above the gross imports, and upwards of 12,000,000 linear feet in excess of net imports. Shipments of blank films have continued steadily to advance since 1931, but negative, although greater than in 1931, recorded some reaction contrasted with 1932. Details of British exports follow:

		1931	1932	1933
Blank film	Lin. ft...	7,063,950	7,852,011	9,441,358
	Value £	16,951	24,494	26,446
Positive film	Lin. ft. ..	18,462,073	18,047,810	27,618,658
	Value £	104,390	107,447	158,780
Negative film	Lin. ft. ..	799,916	1,014,388	860,329
	Value £	11,430	14,629	11,205
Total	Lin. ft. ..	26,325,939	26,914,209	37,920,345
	Value £	132,771	146,570	196,431

Suggests Russia, America Engage in Talent Exchange

V. I. Verlinsky, newly elected president of Amkino, last week recommended the exchange of talent and ideas between American and Russian production centers, at a meeting of the AMPA in New York. The head of the American distributing arm of the Russian motion picture monopoly advocated that American directors be sent to Russia to produce there, and production in Hollywood by directors from Russia.

Warner Bros. will have no Summer Product for 1934. Instead, starting today we are inaugurating a 15-month season of 1935-quality pictures. Our release schedule for the first 3 months of this season—June, July, and August—has been definitely designed to build steadily up to the sensational product we have planned for the following year. Only shows as superlative as those presented on the following pages will enable you to lay the necessary groundwork of steady patronage with which to capitalize fully on the tremendous attractions we will shortly announce for next year • • • It's good showmanship to build to a climax—and Warner Bros.' product for 1934-'35 will be the climax of all our efforts since talking pictures began. So—

LAUNCH THE DRIVE FOR 1935 TODAY

WITH WARNER BROS.'

PROLOGUE TO 1934-'35 . .

WHISPERED BY WOMAN TO WOMAN

KAY FRANCIS

in

"DR. MONICA"

JEAN MUIR

WARREN

WILLIAM

VERREE

TEASDALE

Directed by William Keighley

THE SPORT OF KINGS

DOLORES DEL RIO

in

"MADAME DU BARRY"

with

REGINALD OWEN • VERREE TEASDALE

VICTOR JORY • OSGOOD PERKINS

And the ALBERTINA RASCH DANCERS

Directed by William Dieterle

THE COMEDY THAT WAS MADE LIKE A SPECIAL

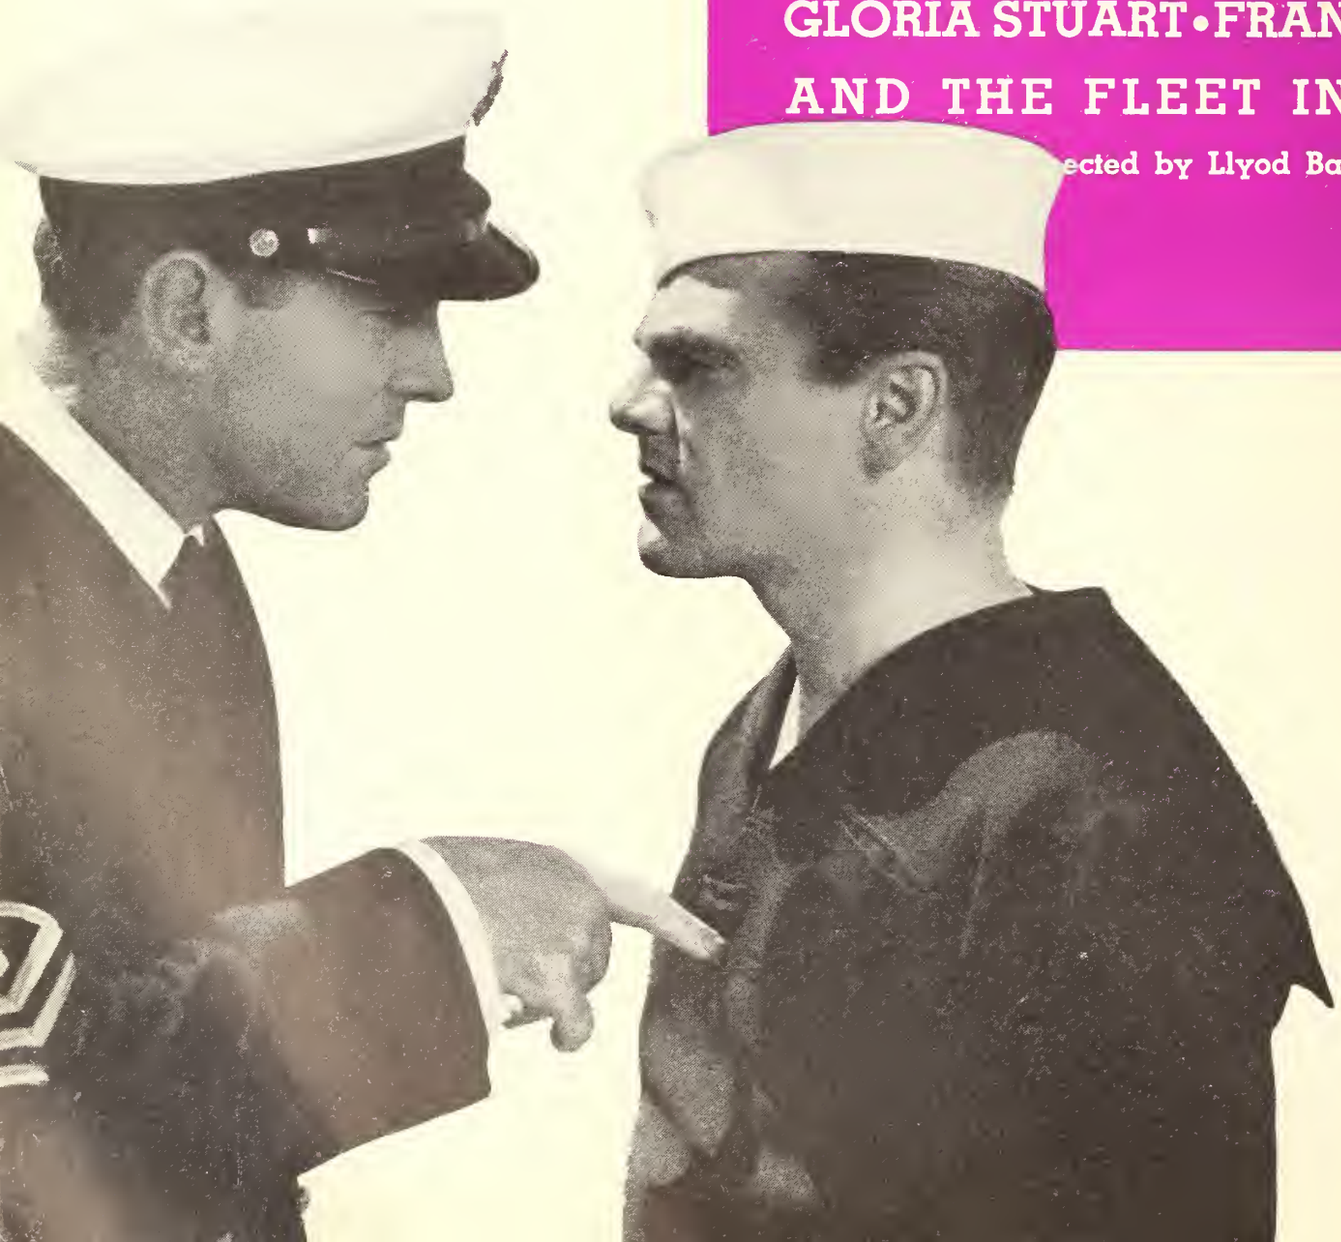
"HERE COMES THE NAVY"



with

JAMES CAGNEY
PAT O'BRIEN

GLORIA STUART • FRANK McHUGH

AND THE FLEET IN ACTION

ected by Llyod Bacon

WARNER BROS. WILL SAY IT WITH GIRLS

"DAMES"

Starring

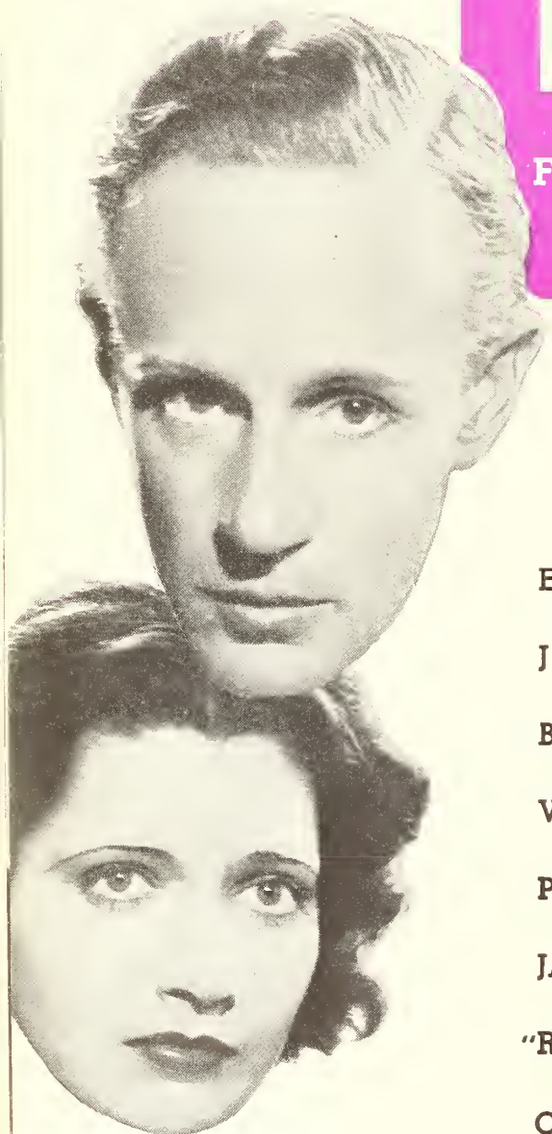
RUBY KEELER · DICK POWELL
JOAN BLONDELL · ZASU PITTS
GUY KIBBEE · HUGH HERBERT

Directed by Ray Enright

Dance numbers created and directed by Busby Berkeley

TOGETHER!

KAY LESLIE



FRANCIS HOWARD

in

"BRITISH AGENT"

From the best-selling book by R. H. Bruce Lockhart

Directed by Michael Curtiz

— Also Coming Soon —

EDWARD G. ROBINSON in "THE MAN WITH TWO FACES"

JOE E. BROWN in "THE CIRCUS CLOWN"

BARTHELMESS in "MIDNIGHT ALIBI" by DAMON RUNYON

WILLIAM POWELL — EDNA BEST — COLIN CLIVE in "THE KEY"

PAT O'BRIEN — GLENDA FARRELL in "THE PERSONALITY KID"

JAMES CAGNEY and JOAN BLONDELL in "HE WAS HER MAN"

"RETURN OF THE TERROR" adapted from a story by EDGAR WALLACE

CHARLIE RUGGLES in "FRIENDS OF MR. SWEENEY"

DICK POWELL and RUBY KEELER in "FLIRTATION WALK"

ALINE MacMAHON in "SIDE STREETS" with PAUL KELLY

LAUNCH THE DRIVE FOR 1935 TODAY

WITH WARNER BROS.' FINEST 1934 SHOWS

Vitagraph, Inc., Distributors

COMPETITION OF RADIO PREMIUMS

(Continued from page 11)

double-edged razor blades to the first 25,000 men who buy Molle Shaving Cream. Send in an empty carton of Molle Shaving Cream to Molle, Bedford, Ohio. Offer made late in 1933 and continued in 1934.

Benj. Moore & Co.

24 Red stations, Friday, 4:15 to 4:30 P. M. Offer: A color card, free of all restrictions. Offer made throughout 1934. Since January 30, 1931, 50,000 letters have been received asking Betty Moore's advice on home decoration.

Northwestern Yeast Co.

44 Blue stations, Sunday, 2:30 to 3:00 P. M. Offer: A booklet, "The Art of Making Bread." Listeners to send a postcard to station or Northwestern Yeast Co., Chicago. Offer started April 22, 1934.

A sample of Yeast-Foam Tablets also is offered, entrants to address clients or a local station. Offer started April 22, 1934.

Pacific Coast Borax Co.

13 Blue stations, Thursday, 9:00 to 9:30 P. M. Offer: A booklet, "Old Ranger Yarns of Death Valley." First part of four stories were dramatized on the first program, January 4th, to increase the demand for the booklet. Listeners to send in label from a box of 20-Mule Team Borax. Offer made January 4, 1934, and January 11, only. Response, 368,000 from the two offers.

Palmer House

16 Blue stations, Tuesday, 10:00 to 10:30 P. M. Offered a booklet which includes pictures and description of scenes at the World's Fair, pictorial map of Chicago, etc. Listener to send name and address to Palmer House, Chicago. Started March 27, 1934.

Pepsodent Co.

(Amos 'n Andy)—40 Blue stations, daily except Saturday and Sunday, 7:00 to 7:15 P. M., and 11 to 11:15 P. M. Offered a tube of wintergreen flavored toothpaste, free to people living in and near Milwaukee. Send request to station WTMJ, The Milwaukee Journal. Offer made February 19, 1934, to February 28, 1934.

The Perfect Circle Co.

45 Blue stations, Sunday, 2:30 to 3:00 P. M. Offered free information on the Perfect Circle Piston Expander. Free to all motorists. Listener to write to Perfect Circle Co., Hagerstown, Ind., giving model and make of car, the number of miles it has been driven, etc. Offer started March 4, 1934.

Pillsbury Flour Co.

25 Blue stations, daily except Saturday and Sunday, 10:15 to 10:45 A. M. Offered an invitation to studios. Listeners to write or telegraph for invitaton. Address Mother Moran in care of the NBC, Chicago. Offer made February 7, 1934, for one day only.

Also offered was an aluminum covered cook book in which there is a collection of more than 300 recipes. Price is $1.25, or $1.00 when coupon is enclosed. Listener to send in $1.00 and coupon from the recipe folder which comes free in the bag of "Pillsbury's Best" and mail to Mary Ellis Ames, Pillsbury Flour Co., Minneapolis. Offer started March 1, 1934.

A booklet also was offered—"The Story of Today's Children." Listener to send in the word "balanced" from bag of Pillsbury's Snow Sheen Cake Flour, to Pillsbury, care local station. Offer made March 26, 1934, through April. Response amounted to 150,000.

Plough, Inc.

34 Blue stations, Wednesday, 10:00 to 10:30 P. M., conducted a contest: Entrants to write a letter of not more than 100 words on the subject, "Why I Use Penetro, the Mutton Suet to Drive Out Colds." Will award, each week, a new 1934 Ford, Chevrolet or Plymouth. New subject to write upon is announced each Wednesday night. Entrants to enclose in letter an empty St. Joseph aspirin tin, together with an empty carton from either Penetro Salve or Penetro Drops, or facsimile drawing. Mail entries to Plough, Inc., Memphis. Offer made weekly beginning January 31, 1934. Response 4,000 the first week and later figures show 6,000 to 7,000 entries weekly, when requirements were reduced from two to one carton restriction.

368,000 RESPOND TO TWO OFFERS

The full force of radio premium competition to the theatre was reflected in the 368,000 responses recorded as following two announcements of an offer of a western story booklet.

Princess Pat, Ltd.

14 Blue stations, Monday, 10:30 to 11 P. M. Offered a box of Princess Pat Powder free of restrictions. Address Princess Pat in care of local station. Offer made January 8, 1934, indefinitely.

Princess Pat Rouge Shade for ensemble make-up. Listener to write Princess Pat telling of favorite color in dress and whether blonde or brunette is preferred. Send in printed paper circle from Princess Pat Powder box. Offer started January 21, 1934.

Princess Pat Powder. Listener to send in printed paper circle from Princess Pat Rouge. Mention shade of powder desired. Offer started January 28, 1934.

Princess Pat Vanities. Gold or silver finish. Listener to send in ribbon and medallion from box of Princess Pat Powder. Offer started January 29, 1934.

Contest:—Listener to select from newspapers and magazines their selection of the best looking woman. The person sending in the most beautiful picture in the opinion of the judges will receive $100 in cash; second prize, $50; third, $25; next five, $5 each; next 50, $1 each. All entries receive make-up kit. Listener to pin picture selected to paper circle that comes with Princess Pat Rouge and mail to Princess Pat, Chicago. Offer made April 8th to April 21, 1934.

Princess Pat Vanity (Value, $1). "Press the Puff and Powder is Released." Comes filled. Listener to send in ribbon and medalion from box of Princess Pat Face Powder. Offer started April 9, 1934.

Procter & Gamble Co.

32 Red stations, daily except Saturday and Sunday, 3:00 to 3:15 P. M. and 4:30 to 4:45 P. M., conducted a contest: Dish Mop Naming—Prizes: First, $500; Second, $200; Third, $100; three next best, $25 each; $10 each to the next best four; next 100 receive $2 each and next 100 will receive $1 each. Listener to write name on a slip of paper and attach to top of package of Oxydol and send to Ma Parkins, Box 1801, Cincinnati. Offer made February 26, 1934 to March 3, 1934.

Quaker Oats Co.

(Babe Ruth program)—14 Blue stations, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 8:45 to 9:00 P. M. Offer: A club membership. Babe Ruth invites all listeners to become members of his "Babe Ruth Boys' Club." Member is entitled to wear badge and secures all contest information. Listener to send in a box top from either Puffed Wheat or Puffed Rice to Babe Ruth's Baseball Club, Box 1083, Chicago. Offer made April 16, 1934 to July 23, 1934. Response 21,000 in four days.

Contest:—(11 weekly contests during series). All members of the club receive contest blanks containing all the information on how to enter each of the eleven contests. Contestant has to fill in last line of jingle. Prizes: First, a trip to New York or to Chicago each week with all expenses paid; Second, 100 Spalding's fielders' gloves; Third, 900 Spalding Home-run baseballs; all weekly prizes. Listener to send in two box tops, Quaker Puffed Wheat or Puffed Rice with each finished jingle he submits. Offer made April 16, 1934 to July 23, 1934. First of the weekly contests ended May 14, 1934, then one weekly until July 23.

Ralston Purina Co.

(Tom Mix) 20 Red stations, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 5:30 to 5:45 P. M., and 6:30 to 6:45 P. M. Offer: A photograph of Tom Mix; four western action pictures of Tom Mix; on the back of each is printed a full Western story. Listener to send in box top from a package of Ralston Wheat Cereal, name and address to be written on the back and mailed to Tom Mix, 1 Checkerboard Sq., St. Louis. Offer started February, 1934.

Ralston Purina Co.

(Madame Sylvia)—17 Red stations, Tuesday, 10:30 to 10:45 P. M. Offers a consultation chart. Listener to send in two box tops with name and address to Madame Sylvia, 1 Checkerboard Sq., St. Louis. Offer made August 26, 1933 through 1934.

Red Star Yeast and Products

14 Red stations, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, 11 to 11:15 A. M. Offer: A booklet—beauty folder about yeast facials. Procurable at dealers, or at the Red Star Co. Offer started April 3, 1934.

Rieser Co.

(Venida)—14 Red stations, Sunday, 5:15 to 5:30 P. M. Offered a cigaret lighter, "Match King," lightweight and purse size. Guaranteed for one year. Listener to send in one carton from a large 50-cent bottle of Venida Shampoo or five empty packages of 10-cent size of any other Venida products to local station. Offer made February 11, 1934, once.

Perfume (small bottle)—Same restrictions as first offer. Offer made March 4, 1934, once.

Lipstick ($1 size—indelible)—Same restrictions as above. Offer made March 11, 1934, once.

Contest:—Write answer in 30 words or less to question: "Why do you like Venida Soapless Oil Shampoo?" $200 in cash prizes: ($100, First; $50, Second, and 50 additional prizes of $1 each). Entrants to pin answer to front of a 50-cent size of Venida Shampoo carton or to five cartons of the 10-cent size. Mail to Venida in care of local station. Offer made March 18, 1934 to March 25.

Compact: (two-tone enamel refillable case containing mirror, high quality powder puff and a nationally-known face powder). Listener to send in an empty carton from a 50-cent size of Venida Wave Set or 3 cartons of the 10-cent size to local station from which broadcast is received. Offer started March 25, 1934.

Strike-A-Light Cigaret Lighter:—Listener to send in one carton from 25-cent bottle of Venida Wave Set or three cartons from 10-cent size, to Venida, New York City. Enclose 10 cents in cash to cover postage. Offer started April 15, 1934.

Sealed Power Corp.

50 Blue stations, Monday, 7:00 to 7:30 P. M. and 11 to 11:30 P. M. Offered a Sealed Power Diagnosis Tag, entitling the person to a complete diagnosis of his automobile motor. Free—write to Sealed Power for tag. Offer started February 12, 1934 throughout contract period.

"SING SING" BOOK TOO

Sparks Withington Co.

15 Blue stations, Sunday, 3:30 to 4:00 P. M. Offer: A Sparton Log Book. Listeners to write to Sparks Withington, Jackson, Mich. Offer started January 21, 1934.

Also a recipe book was offered—"Matilda's Proven Sparton Recipe Book"—containing improved directions for making many tempting dishes. Listeners to write to Sparks Withington Co., Jackson, Mich. Offer started February 4, 1934.

Spratts, Ltd.,

11 Basic Blue stations, Tuesday, 7:45 to 8:00 P. M. Offered a sample: a gift offer of Fibo Ovals and Spix for dogs. Also a 50-page booklet on dog care and feeding, and a leaflet on Canary care. Listeners to address Spratts in care of local station. Offer made January 24, 1934, indefinitely. Response to April 19, 1934, 14,982.

Standard Brands, Inc.

(Chase & Sanborn—Eddie Cantor)—50 Red stations, Sundays, 8:00 to 9:00 P. M. Offered a brochure of Eddie Cantor. Listener to send in name and address on back of label from a one-pound can of Chase & Sanborn dated coffee. Offer made January 14, 1934, to January 28, 1934.

Western Co.

13 Red stations, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 4:45 to 5:00 P. M. Offered a Double-Quick Racing Turtle. Send in two empty cartons of Dr. West's Double-Quick Toothpaste. Offer made March 28, 1934 on.

Wheatena Corp.

19 Red stations, daily except Friday and Saturday, 7:15 to 7:30 P. M. Offered a special Orange Blossom edition of the "Wheatenaville News." Containing information on all subjects pertaining to Wheatenaville characters. Listener to write name and address on the top of a carton of Wheatena, Rahway, N. J. Offer made Jan. 29th, 30th, 31st and Feb. 1st and 2nd, 1934.

Wildroot Co.

38 Red stations, Sunday, 4:15 to 4:30 P. M. Offered a free sample of Wildroot 5-Star Antiseptic. Listener to send name to Wildroot, Buffalo, N. Y. Offer made through January, 1934.

Woodbury, John H., Co.

39 Blue stations, Wednesday, 9:30 to 10:00 P. M. Offered a Woodbury Loveliness Kit, containing 16 packages of Woodbury's facial powder, also tubes of cold and facial cream and soap. Includes autographed photograph of Elsie Hitz and Nick Dawson. Listeners to address envelope to Box 30, Cincinnati. Enclose 9 cents in stamps. Offer made December 24, 1933 to April 20, 1934. Response pulled 40,000 weekly.

Tennessee Corp.

12 Red stations, Monday, 10:30 to 11 A. M. Offered a booklet containing information and practical suggestions for improving lawns and gardens, entitled "Good Gardening." Free. Listeners to send in a card or letter. Address Loma, 51 Broadway, New York City. Offer made February 18, 1934 for 11 weeks to April 29, 1934.

True Story Publications, Inc.

14 Red stations, Sunday, 7:00 to 7:45 P. M. Conducted a contest: To those writers who supply the best ending to dramatization over the air, $100 in cash for the best; $50, second best, and $10 for third best. Next 50 best, $2 each. Entrants to submit verdict and letter and mail to True Story, New York City (three days' time allowed to answer). Offer made January 7, 1934 to May 6, 1934.

Wander Co.

36 Blue stations, daily except Sunday, 5:45 to 6:00 P. M. and 6:45 to 7:00 P. M. Offer: A signet ring. Listener to print name and address on a piece of paper and send it, with the aluminum seal from the top of an Ovaltine can, to Little Orphan Annie, Chicago. Offer started April 20, 1934.

Wm. R. Warner Co.

(Sloan's.) 15 Blue stations, Sunday, 9:00 to 9:30 P. M. Offered a book, "Sing Sing," a description of the prison. Listeners to send their names and addresses on the top of any Sloan's Liniment carton to 123 West 18th St., New York City. Offer made January 17, 1934, to March 14, 1934.

Wm. R. Warner Co.

(Vince)—24 Blue stations, Wednesday, 9:30 to 10 P. M. Offered a sample of Vince. Listener to write name and address on a postcard and mail to Vince in care of NBC. Offer made January 10, 1934, continuous.

Copy of Song, "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" in a special McCormack edition. Cover carries a signed photograph of John McCormack before the microphone. Listener to tear off the front page from blue circular that comes in every package of Vince, which reads "Why your dentist and physician prescribe Vince," and send it to NBC. Offer made February 7, 1934, once, and again February 31, 1934, once.

Also offered was an autographed picture of John Charles Thomas, listener to send in front page of blue circular from package of Vince. Send in care of Vince, NBC. Offer made April 25, 1934.

Northam Warren Co.

Basic Blue network, Friday, 9:00 to 9:30 P. M. Offered a bottle of Coral Cutex Polish and a Color Wheel. Listener to send in 10 cents to Northam Warren Co., 191 Hudson St., New York City. Offer started April 13, 1934.

Welch's Grape Juice Co.

17 Blue stations, Wednesday and Friday, 6:45 to 7:00 P. M. Offered a combination bottle opener and mixing spoon, double-plated in bright finished nickel. Listener to send in label from one bottle of Welch's Grape Juice. Offer made March 28, 1934, indefinite.

Also offered was a portrait calendar, colored and with the autograph of Irene Rich. Listener to send in cap from bottle of Welch's Grape Juice to NBC, Chicago, or local NBC station.

Austrian Film Industry Seen Showing Improvement

Signs of improvement in the motion picture industry of Austria are noted by T. L. Hughes, commercial attache, in a report to the United States department of commerce.

During 1933 there were 902 theatres in Austria, of which 695 were wired for sound. Seating capacity totaled 247,260 in the provinces and 78,580 in Vienna. No new theatres were constructed during 1933 or the first two months of 1934. During the year 217 permits were granted to import films into Austria, of which the United States received 90, Germany 109, France 3, and other countries together 15. American films are popular in Austria, Mr. Hughes said.

Profit of $38,856 For 26 Weeks Is Noted by Warner

Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., and subsidiary companies reported for the 26 weeks ended February 24, 1934, a net operating profit of $38,856, after deducting all charges including interest, amortization, depreciation and provision for federal income taxes. This compares with a net operating loss of $3,442,326 for the corresponding period one year ago. The 26-week profit is equivalent to 37 cents a share on 103,107 no-par shares of $3.85 cumulative preferred stock.

A total of $905,015 was credited to the deficit account representing profit on the redemption of funded indebtedness, adjustment of income taxes reserves in previous years and profit on sale of capital assets. There was charged against the deficit account $475,318 representing appropriations authorized by the directors in respect to investments in and advances to affiliated companies.

The net profit from operations before amortization and depreciation and federal income taxes was $3,639,151. For 13 weeks ended February 24, the net operating loss was $66,897, after similar deductions, against net operating loss of $1,695,564 for the 13 weeks ended February 25, 1933.

Current assets as of February 24, 1934, including $3,463,436 in cash, amounted to $16,661,156 and current liabilities were $12,782,523. This compares with cash of $3,078,433, current assets of $15,390,369 and current liabilities of $13,457,083 on February 25, 1933.

Notwithstanding the first profit shown by the company for some time, a receiver for Warner is asked in a suit filed in supreme court, New York, last week by Molly B. Levine who describes herself as owner of 200 shares of the company's stock. The suit charges mismanagement and asks an accounting.

Warner, in answer, noted that the plaintiff has been a stockholder since May, 1931, when 25 shares of common stock were transferred to her name; that the range on the New York Stock Exchange of that stock during May, 1931, was 8½ to 4¾, and adds, "No other comment need be made."

Schless Named To Head Warner Foreign Exchanges

Robert Schless, formerly in charge of Warner offices in France, Belgium and Switzerland, has been named to succeed the late William Kaufman as head of the company's continental exchanges, by Sam Morris, head of all Warner-First National foreign activity.

Hungary Restricts Houses To Aid Current Theatres

The Hungarian government at Budapest has inaugurated a plan to refuse to grant licenses to new theatres as a means of protection of existing houses, which are reporting unsatisfactory business. The home office must clear all new projects, under the plan.

4,000 HEAR BOYCOTT THREATENED AGAINST OBJECTIONABLE PICTURES

Dr. W. M. Tippy of Council of Churches at Kansas City, Commends Catholic "Legion of Decency," Asks U. S. Regulation

The news columns of Motion Picture Herald and the rest of the trade press have these several weeks presented from here-and-there and all points of the compass tidings of the activities of "The Legion of Decency" and various other kindred expressions of disapproval of the moral color of the screen from churchmen and laymen, prominent in the affairs of Catholicism, Jewry and Protestantism. For something more than a year there has been a growing activity and attendant turmoil of debate arising from the movements of the Motion Picture Research Council, continuously assuming aspects of more and more serious import.

Meanwhile the flow of exhibitor mail which continuously comes across the editorial desks of Motion Picture Herald states and restates the complaint of showmen that injection of unfit material has been impairing otherwise worthy product, invading the status and the intake of the box office.

In sum it may be said that everybody appears to know and to have known for a considerable time that the screen was being splattered with a line of smut and sex-cracks invasive of the standards of common decency in American life—that is, everyone but the production authorities of Hollywood.

The expressions of disapproval constitute a rising tide of voice from a generally inarticulate public.

The protests of today are not to be considered, or to be dealt with, as Hollywood seems to hear them, as the expressions of a radical fringe or a contingent of professional reformers.

The old worn expedients of appointing a committee and making promises will hardly suffice this time. It appears that it will be necessary to do something about the pictures. "By their works ye shall know them." —TERRY RAMSAYE

by AL FINESTONE
Kansas City Correspondent

The militant church movement against the objectionable motion picture was extended along further lines late last week when threats of a joint boycott by Catholics, Protestants and Jews were voiced by the Reverend Worth Marion Tippy, D.D., before 4,000 delegates of social and church organizations attending the National Conference of Social Work at Kansas City, Mo.

"Boycott is not a congenial method, but it is powerful," declared Dr. Tippy, who, since 1917, has been executive secretary of the Committee on Church and Social Service of the anti-film crusading Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

They heard Dr. Tippy express the hope that the industry will clean house itself and applauded when the minister predicted that if the industry fails to eliminate the objectionable picture, "the next thing is—smash 'em!"

The boycott, predicted Dr. Tippy, "will come as soon as our exasperation reaches the boiling point." He indicated that the Catholic Church had already generated and reacted to the proper degree.

Several speakers commended the "Legion of Decency" movement launched by the Catholics.

Dr. Tippy said something more forceful than social control must be adopted. "That could be a boycott of a single theatre or film, or of all films, even of the entire industry."

Education of Millions Urged

The answer to the problem of a higher standard, he said, is education in the schools. "We must have millions of people in this country in the next ten years who will know a good picture when they see one and won't go to see a poor picture," he declared. "This can be accomplished through motion picture groups, not in Hollywood or New York, but locally.

"There must be public pressure upon the producers, directors, artists and exhibitors."

Federal regulation, especially of block booking, is necessary, he added, but it must be supported by public demands for better pictures.

L. A. Tripp, Social Service Director of the Church Federation of Indianapolis, and probation offices of the Marion, Ind., county criminal court, charged that films were named by young criminals as the cause of their downfall.

A proposal that some social-minded editor publish a fan magazine intended for wide circulation to counteract the present type of "fan literature" was voted down on the grounds that it would be financially prohibitive. "The present stuff the fan magazines print, they get from the sewer and it is free," explained Dr. Fred Eastman, professor of biography, literature and drama at Chicago Theological Seminary, who sponsored a series of articles in Parents' Magazine on "The Menace of the Movies."

Dr. Eastman voiced a dislike of the "selected motion pictures" booklet issued monthly on the West Coast by the previewing groups and printed and distributed by the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America. Nor did he approve of the letters sent occasionally to the ministers and better films groups by Carl Milliken, secretary of the MPPDA, in which Mr. Milliken urged support of worthwhile pictures.

"We should divorce ourselves entirely from the propaganda of the MPPDA," pursued Dr. Eastman. "We have fraternized altogether too much with them, so much so that someone wrote in recently asking the Federal Council of Churches to 'fire' its president, Will H. Hays."

Dismissing censorship with the assertion that it is "bad theory and futile in practice," Professor Eastman discharged a heavy broadside against block booking, proposed establishment of a federal motion picture commission and a law empowering the State Department to withhold pictures "likely to get the United States into trouble."

DR. TIPPY AUTHOR, PASTOR, EDUCATOR

Dr. Worth M. Tippy, executive secretary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, was born in Larwill, Ind., in 1866. He has taken degrees at De Pauw University, Cornell, and was a graduate student at the Sage School of Philosophy, Baldwin University and De Pauw. Ordained in 1893 in the Methodist Episcopal ministry, he served as pastor in various midwestern localities until he came to New York in 1915 as pastor of the Madison Avenue Church. He is executive officer of the Church Conference of Social Work.

Dr. Fred Eastman Attacks "Selected Pictures" Listings and Block Booking, Asks State Department Control of Films

War Fund Proves Backstage Bleat

Beginning with a special dispatch to the Daily News, of New York, a story swept through the papers of the nation this week announcing that, on the authority of the Los Angeles Post Record, a fund of $2,000,000 was to be raised by the motion picture producers to "educate the public" and combat the current movements centered in the "League of Decency" campaign.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD'S Hollywood bureau on Wednesday received from all official quarters there official denial of the story, a denial which was reiterated officially in New York.

The Hollywood inquiry, however, did discover the source of the report to have been a reporter's expansive interpretation of an overheated remark of an overheated young producer who had risen in one of the week's councils to suggest "we raise a couple of million to fight 'em."

The great two million "war fund" thereby boils down to the stage money of a backstage indignation meeting.

"The movies ought to be purified—they need it badly," said Patrick Cardinal Hayes, of New York, during a stopover at Albany on Monday.

Bishop Edmund F. Gibbons, of the Catholic diocese of Albany, on Monday told the Knights of Columbus, assembled at Saratoga Springs, that every member of the state and national order should join in the Catholic movement to boycott salacious films.

[By Technical News Service]

Nine thousand Catholic women at Washington, members of the "Legion of Decency," on Monday night agreed to effect a boycott of "objectionable" pictures, beginning in two weeks.

THE CUTTING ROOM

Advance outlines of productions nearing completion as seen by Gus McCarthy of Motion Picture Herald's Hollywood Bureau

JANE EYRE

Monogram

This picture story is adapted from Charlotte Bronte's literary classic of the same title that not only has been widely read for generations, but also is a standard English text book in advanced grammar and high schools. The screen play is by Adele Commandini, recently credited with collaboration on "Flying Down To Rio." The director, Christy Cabanne, will be remembered for "Hearts Of Humanity," "Unwritten Law," "Eleventh Commandment," "Midshipman Jack" and the current Monogram, "Money Means Nothing."

Particular showmanship strength is to be found in the cast. Virginia Bruce, absent from the screen for some time, but who appeared in such pictures as Paramount's "Miracle Man" and MGM's "Downstairs," is the heroine. Colin Clive, who first came into prominence in "Journey's End," later seen in "The Invisible Man" and now one of the principals in "The Key," has the leading male role. Others in the cast include both familiar and comparatively new names, such as Aileen Pringle, one of the screen veterans; Jameson Thomas, a fixture in many independently produced pictures; Lionel Belmore, Joan Standing (Sir Guy Standing's niece), Beryl Mercer, Gretta Gould, Claire du Brey, David Torrance and Edith Fellowes.

Locale of the story is England. The time is the early 19th century. Basically a dramatic romance, it deals with theatric element of proved interest and value. Presented in an emotion-stirring mood with a direct aim at heart interest, it traces the career of its heroine. Starting in an orphanage, it moves into an aristocratic manor. She finds happiness and then love in the kindness of the nobleman (Clive), then the development turns semi-tragic as the girl discovers the man she loves already has a half-mad wife. Finding refuge from her disappointment in the home of a clergyman, Jane is about to sail for the Orient, when she learns that Clive has been blinded in an unsuccessful effort to save his wife from a burning building. The road is thus cleared to happiness.

HOUSE OF STRANGERS

Invincible-Maury Cohen

Probably one of the most valuable showmanship features in this story is that it brings Erich von Stroheim back to the screen in the type of character wherein he scored his greatest successes. "House of Strangers" is a romantic drama of continental intrigue. The Austro-Italian frontier is the locale; the time is present.

The story is an original by Charles Belden, author of "Mystery in the Wax Museum" and the recent murder mystery, "Fifteen Wives." He also cooperated on the screen play with Robert Ellis, the actor, also author of "The Quitter," "By Appointment Only" and "Dance, Girl, Dance." Direction is by Frank Strayer, who handled "Fifteen Murders" and "Twin Husbands," also the stories mentioned in reference to Ellis.

Although supported by an extensive cast, three persons actually carry the brunt of the story. As it develops into a gripping yarn of jealous romance, drama and intrigue, von Stroheim will be seen as a picturesque Austrian Commandant. Ruthless, clever, almost cruel, he is a re-creation of his role in "Foolish Wives." Wera Engels, who was seen with Richard Dix in "The Great Jasper," her American screen debut, is the girl trying to escape from Russia to America. First involved with von Stroheim, who finds her passport a forgery, the situation is complicated by the appearance of a resourceful American crook, Leslie Fenton, who forms the final angle of the triangle. As action and dialogue counterbalance, the story develops excitement before Fenton saves the girl from von Stroheim and sends her away to America to wait until he has paid his debt to society.

This looks like a production, which, from the standpoint of cast and story value, showmen can sink their teeth into, to arouse special patron interest.

SOUR GRAPES

Radio

This dramatic story of domestic love, lost and regained, is adapted from a stage play by Vincent Lawrence. The screen play is by Ernest Pascal, whose most recent credits are "King's Vacation" (an Arliss picture) and "Husband's Holiday." Direction is by Worthington Miner, noted New York stage director, and this picture marks his first screen effort.

To interpret properly the dynamic plot narrated, particular care has been given to selection of cast. To that end, players who have been most successful in this type of entertainment have been cast in roles uniquely suited to their screen characters. The story deals with the marital difficulties of a husband and wife. Left alone, while her husband devotes his time to his medical profession, the wife becomes attached to a young man who is engaged to her niece. The husband is willing to free her that she may be happy with a new love. It develops, however, that the girl has been more than a sweetheart to the boy and that she is to have a baby. As dramatic scenes ensue, the wife realizes her folly, and though the husband is tempted to seek life outside the domestic bond, both eventually come to understand that mature, enduring love has given them a respect for each other that far outweighs any passing passion.

Diana Wynyard is the wife, Clive Brook the husband. Irene Hervey, whose popularity is growing rapidly, is the niece and Theodore Newton, a promising juvenile, the young man who fascinates the wife. Supporting players include Helen Vinson, Henry Kolker, Arthur Hoyt, Frank Darien and William Struss.

The story is modern. Production backgrounds are those of a sophisticated society drama. These, story and cast indicate the character of applicable showmanship. As the whole thing is much in the nature of a problem play, it suggests dignified controversy-creating showmanship and also a concerted effort to excite feminine interest.

THE SCARLET LETTER

Majestic-Larry Darmour

To our best knowledge, no other single story has been made into pictures so many times. Attesting its enduring entertainment quality is the record of five separate productions since 1908. This effort, therefore, is the sixth time. Renowned as one of the most famous literary classics, the Nathaniel Hawthorne masterpiece has for its premise a situation that is ultra modern. It deals with a woman, mother of an illegitimate child who, rather than violate the trust and confidence of her love, suffered all the agonies of Puritanic tortures.

The present screen play is the work of Leonard Fields and David Silverstein. Recently they did "Manhattan Love Song" and "Devil's Mate." The director, Robert Vignola, is recalled for his association with several Marion Davies pictures in a similar capacity, also the recent Monogram, "Broken Dreams."

Colleen Moore, in the role of Hester Prynne, is the heroine. Supporting her are Henry B. Walthall, in the same role he played opposite Lillian Gish in the last silent version made in 1926; Alan Hale, recently in "The Lost Patrol" and "Little Man, What Now?"; Hardie Albright, little Cora Sue Collins, Billy Kent and William Farnum as the most important principals.

Both history and emotional dramatic romance, general familiarity makes any detailed story description unnecessary. The locale is Boston; time, 1640. The grim moral and social laws of the early Puritans are graphically pictured as Hester Prynne, compelled to wear a scarlet "A" on the bosom of her dress, is labeled an adulterous mother. Yet the story is actually a powerful exposition of womanly love, devotion and sacrifice—an element considered the basis of the most appealing modern productions.

Being given the benefit of unstinted production, the showmanship natural to this picture is apparent. Principally women's entertainment, it has the necessary background of ramified contact possibilities that should insure wide audience interest.

Academy Council Sets $800 Budget

The newly organized Technical Research Council of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences last week set a monthly budget of $800, to be pro-rated among the major producers. The chief expenses of the council consist of a manager's salary, a secretary, rent, telephone, stationery and postage.

The work of each of the sub-committees is individual when it comes to requiring money necessary for actual research and engineering investigation. This will be taken from a revolving fund of $1,500, which has been deposited to the credit of the council.

Monogram Insures Employees

Monogram has taken out group insurance on all its home office and studio employees and on those of the Ritchey Export Company, foreign representatives, and all 25 exchanges.

Celeste Fox with Agency

Celeste H. Fox, formerly a secretary to advertising and publicity executives at United Artists, has joined Norman D. Waters and Associates, New York firm of advertising and merchandising counsel.

The Hollywood Scene

PRODUCERS READING HOME TOWN PRESS
STUDIOS DIFFER ON STAR BROADCASTS
COMEDY TURN IN MURDER MYSTERIES
INDEPENDENTS STARTING FOUR PICTURES

by VICTOR M. SHAPIRO

SHOWMEN will be interested in discovering that Hollywood producers are now reading the home town newspapers all over the land, and digesting anything pertaining to picture trends or picture sentiment.

By a service recently set in motion from Producer's headquarters editorials from key cities and other spots, together with news stories, or any items of comment that indicate which way the wind is blowing, are now being filtered to producers day by day.

Clippings are assembled and mimeographed. Copies are dispatched to all producers with name of publication, city and date, specified.

Producers' secretaries have been instructed by their chiefs to see that clippings are placed on their desks as they arrive.

Inquiries indicate producers themselves are reading the material.

▽

The Studios and the Radio

Donating time, cost and facilities for its "Hollywood on the Air" radio program Sunday nights, RKO contributes about $5,000 a week to the broadcasts, and talent is asked to give its abilities on the same basis.

Hollywood opinion is divided regarding the weekly broadcasts. Exhibitors here say any broadcast by film folk keeps patrons at home. Sponsors of the program feel that any medium of circulation that can reach so many patrons should not be overlooked as an advertising force to interest and remind listeners about screen personalities and their pictures. Film talent in some instances has refused to go on the program.

Some studios place the loaning of players for broadcasting on the same basis as a "loan-out" for a film, expecting remuneration for player or for studio, according to contract arrangement. Other studios have barred their artists from appearing on the air while under contract for film.

The attitude of the studios summarizes as follows:

MGM: Definitely opposed to stars appearing on radio programs where that appearance will interfere with theatre attendance.

PARAMOUNT: Stars may appear on programs for either theatrical or commercial publicity and exploitation in cases where there is no remuneration. Paramount expects plugs for pictures when stars do appear.

WARNERS: Having its own station, it requests stars to appear on programs ballyhooing Warner pictures. When a star appears on an outside program, the condition is that if the person is a singer, one song from a Warner feature must be sung.

UNIVERSAL: Broadcasting is left to the discretion of the star.

TWENTIETH CENTURY: Willing to cooperate if the appearance and broadcast will be helpful to exhibitors.

COLUMBIA: Has no set policy. But the condition is very much the same as at Universal.

FOX: Stars are not permitted to broadcast,

RADIO: Permits artists to broadcast for commercials for remuneration, leaving selection of "Hollywood on the Air" to their own discretion.

▽

Laughs for Murder

Grooving in with the trend toward murder-mystery-melodramas is a novel screen treatment which projects the drama in the spirit of high comedy. Examples are:

"The Thin Man" (MGM).

"Murder on the Blackboard" (Radio).

"The Man With Two Faces" (Warners).

"Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back" (20th Century).

▽

Australia Recovering

"Australia and New Zealand are rapidly recovering from the depression," said Ralph R. Doyle, managing director for RKO Radio films in those countries, "and are anticipating a heavy buying market for the new season's product."

Mr. Doyle, in Hollywood for the first time in eight years, considers the Australian public's appetite for screen entertainment greater than ever before, though certain types of pictures will not be tolerated.

"On the taboo list are gangster, sex revelations and stories depicting back stage life. They want clean wholesome pictures on the order of 'Little Women,' which, incidentally, will run seven months in Sydney alone. More copies of 'Little Women' have been sold in New Zealand and Australia than any other known book this year. Our people also like musical comedies, but with a logical story. Logic in any form of screen entertainment seems to be the keystone requirement.

"Censorship is another important item. We have only one national board for each country. All films upon their receipt, are reviewed by the distributor for eliminations before submitting it to the censor board. During the past year some 30 features were rejected in their entirety and 54 per cent received the shares in one place or another."

▽

Members of the Pacific Coast section of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers were guests of the Don Lee Television stations W6XS and W6XAO last Tuesday night on a tour of inspection showing covering transmission and reception of television from film.

Mr. Harry R. Lubcke, director of television for Don Lee, emphasized the prime necessity of sharp photography. In a paper he pointed out that soft photography on the order of "Farewell to Arms" cannot be transmitted at this time. The Don Lee Station, since its inception two years ago, has broadcast more than two million feet of film, yet, Mr. Lubcke said, there is much ahead before television can become practicable.

▽

Independents Start Four

Major producers lagged in the wake of the independents as the independent group started four new pictures during the week and Paramount began one.

On the other side of the ledger, the turnover was equally low. Radio finished two productions and Columbia and Fox checked in with one apiece. The total number of pictures shooting remains approximately the same, with 36 now in work against 37 last week. However, nearly 50 pictures are in the cutting rooms.

With dramatic romance the trend, Majestic began work on the Nathaniel Hawthorne classic, "The Scarlet Letter," with Colleen Moore, Hardie Albright, Alan Hale.

Invincible started shooting on "House of Strangers," in which Erich von Stroheim returns to a starring role after a prolonged absence.

The newly reorganized Darmour Productions gets going with "Alice Takes a Hand," teaming Gloria Shea and Buster Crabbe.

Liberty Pictures began "Two Heads on a Pillow," with Neil Hamilton.

Paramount's new feature is "Now and Forever," in which Gary Cooper and Carole Lombard are starred, with Shirley Temple.

Radio's two completed pictures are comedies. "Afterwards" teams Zasu Pitts and Slim Summerville again, and "Bachelor Bait" features Pert Kelton, Chic Chandler, Stuart Erwin, Skeets Gallagher.

Columbia's completed feature is a drama, "Whom the Gods Destroy," which presents Walter Connolly, George Cassidy, Doris Kenyon and Robert Young.

The Fox contribution is a rollicking yarn of jack-tars, "She Learned About Sailors," with Lew Ayres and Alice Faye.

▽

News Flashes

* * *

H. W. and C. W. Chotiner, operators of the Ravenna and Parisian theatres here, have filed a $300,000 suit in federal court charging Fox West Coast and large distributing companies with violating the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust laws because of alleged discrimination in first-run showings.

* * *

The Fox Western Avenue Studio, in charge of Sol Wurtzel, is taking a recess of two weeks.

* * *

J. M. Ridge, president in charge of General Service Studios here, has resigned and will return to Erpi, working out of the general sales department home office in New York. He will be succeeded here by T. Keith Glennon, vice-president.

ARGENTINE EXHIBITORS ACT TO PULL PATRONS

Association Directors Prepare Project to Demand Lower Rentals and Admission Prices, Selective Booking of Films

By N. BRUSKI

Buenos Aires Correspondent

Directors of the Argentine Exhibitors Association have gone to work on a threefold project to raise business to a higher level of productiveness to all concerned. At the height of the season, with plentiful product, good attractions and most propitious weather, attendance has not reached the proportions expected, and so the association's directors are doing something about it. Their program includes these hoped-for developments:

(1) Immediate reduction of the renting scale;
(2) Reduced admission charges;
(3) Revision of booking practices.

One modification of the release system demanded would bring a return to the method prevailing before the appearance of the sound system. Instead of showing a picture exclusively in one theatre, for a week, it is urged that the same film be shown in two or three houses simultaneously, for fewer days. The program would be given more frequent variation and the exploitation of material be effected more quickly; films would reach the neighborhood houses while publicity is still fresh. Conversely no film that is considered a failure then would be shown for a week in one showhouse.

Classifying Films Urged

Exhibitors understand that with the present incomes, neither they nor the distributors are making any profit and that it is necessary to take steps in order to increase the amount of patronage, even though it be necessary to sacrifice small vanities and prejudices.

It seems that the two capital points which the exhibitors think must be studied at once are: Classification of films in order of their merit, as was the case in the days of the silent pictures, in extraordinary and program types, and not as at present, when all films are released at the same price—both to exhibitor and patron—spending considerable money in publicity without any positive result when it is a mediocre picture.

It is considered absurd to charge two or three pesos admission for a weak picture.

If films are classified according to their value, this amount will be charged only for the ones that really are worth it, and on the others the entrance fee would be reduced accordingly. It may be objected that the showhouses are charging these prices due to the rotation system of renting, but in that case the release of two pictures would compensate the entrance fee, and these things would not happen with the new system proposed, as the picture would be shown in the theatre only three or four days.

As regards the building of new theatres, it is considered that one of the most powerful reasons for the small audiences in our showhouses is the great number of new theatres built in the course of the last few years that did not replace the old ones, which still are open for business.

There exist in Buenos Aires 195 picture houses and 32 other theatres all open for business, entirely too many for our present population of 2,250,000 inhabitants. In the downtown district alone there are 64 showhouses with a seating capacity of 60,754, irrespective of many other places of amusements, such as dance halls, cafes, cabarets, that draw considerable crowds.

The exhibitors now are preparing an agreement that undoubtedly will be signed by all, whereby faithful members agree to show no films of distributors that rent films to newly built showhouses. Advertisements have already been published in the local press, directed to those who intend building new theatres, suggesting that they consult the Argentine Exhibitors Association before starting. They will be duly informed of the real status of the show business.

A mass meeting of the entire trade will be called soon to find a solution that will meet the demands of the exhibitors and also be satisfactory to the distributors.

Plan 5 Divisions Of Fox Theatres

Five general divisions for operation of the 400 Fox theatres are planned, if the proposed reorganization worked out by Fox Film, Chase National Bank and the Skouras Brothers is brought to a successful conclusion, it was learned this week. Bidding at the foreclosure sales is open to any large operator, but Fox and Chase are understood to hold 99 per cent of the claims against the theatre units and any competing bidder will have to top their offer, which is considered unlikely.

Final details were being worked out in New York this week by Elmer C. Rhoden, prior to his return to Kansas City to attend the federal court hearing on the Woolf-Shanberg settlement. It is understood this settlement calls for payments to the former operators over a period of years out of operating profits with no time limit set.

A proposed agreement was filed late last week in bankruptcy court, Kansas City, effecting a compromise in the Woolf-Shanberg controversy with Fox West Coast Service Corporation and others over payments due former Fox Midland bondholders. The agreement provides for the sale of Fox Midland assets subject to a Woolf-Shanberg lien securing the unpaid notes against the properties amounting to $478,214. Woolf and Shanberg will release the lien and in exchange will be given notes of the Fox Mid-Continent Corporation in the principal amount of $478,000, payable February 15, 1940, and to be secured by a mortgage on Fox Midland assets and certain other assets. A hearing was set for June 6 at which creditors will be asked to approve the plan.

May Alter Labor Phase of Code to Define 'Employee'

The motion picture NRA code may be reopened for the specific purpose of considering an amendment to the labor provisions re-defining the word "employee" to make it more inclusive and eliminate the possibility of evasions, it appeared this week.

Division Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt on Friday set June 12 for a public hearing in Washington on this issue. The proposed amendment, which has been submitted to the Code Authority, provides that "the term 'employee' as used herein shall be deemed to refer to and include every person employed by any producer, distributor or exhibitor as hereinafter defined, and shall also be deemed to include any and all persons, however and by whomsoever compensated, regularly performing their services in motion picture theatres, which services are of a kind usually and customarily performed by theatre employees directly compensated by exhibitors."

As further indication of the NRA's interest in motion picture labor affairs, Mr. Rosenblatt, acting to bring about coordination of operators' and stagehands' pay scales in Greater New York, on Saturday appointed Donald K. Wallace and Daniel Bertrand of the Division of Economic Research and Planning to go to New York after June 1 to secure and collate such data and statistics with respect to such employees.

Publix Trustees' Fee Claim Allowed

The petition of the Irving Trust Company and its attorneys, Winthrop, Stimson, Putnam & Roberts, for partial allowances and fees aggregating $110,000 for services as trustee in bankruptcy of Publix Enterprises was approved last week in New York United States district court by Judge Francis G. Caffey. The petition, approved without reductions, asks $35,000 for Irving Trust and $75,126 for the attorneys.

Paramount Famous Lasky six per cent bonds, due in 1947, which have been deposited, under the reorganization plan sponsored by Kuhn Loeb & Company, for Paramount Publix creditors, have passed the half-way mark, the New York Stock Exchange reported last week. Of the total issue, $5,974,000 of the bonds have been relisted under certificates of deposit of the reorganization group, while $5,944,000 still retain their original listing.

In Boston last week, Harry Le Baron Sampson of Cambridge was allowed a fee of $35,000 on account, and Samuel Pinanski of Brookline was allowed a fee of $25,000 for serving as receivers of the Olympia Theatres, Inc., and the Olympia Operating Company in Suffolk superior court.

An order disallowing a $1,000,000 claim of the Strand Amusement Company, Portland, Me., against Paramount Publix for damages alleged to have resulted from a violation of the anti-trust laws by Paramount, was signed last week in the United States district court, New York, by Judge William Bondy.

BOOK REVIEWS

ELIZABETHAN PAGEANTRY — A Pictorial Survey of Costume and Its Commentators from c.1560–1620. By H. K. Morse. New York: The Studio Publications, Ltd. Price, cloth, $4.50.

This volume offers a hundred and twenty-six pages of lively romantic eye adventures, in word and picture, handsomely presented, pertaining to the dress, and manners, of England's most picturesque period.

"Elizabethan Pageantry" is a work especially to be recommended to the research desks of the motion picture industry. Its swift and concise text is most capably related to the rich array of pictorial material, authentic and reproduced with decided excellence.

In his foreword Mr. Morse says: "The hurried costume designer (he is usually hurried) will not labor through text—for him are the pictures. For the student of costume, I trust the glossary will prove useful. For all those laymen who love this flamboyant period for its own sake, I hope to rekindle an interest."

In those aims Mr. Morse has succeeded admirably.

And for a work of reference, this charming volume is merry with relevant wit. Under the reproduction of a classic miniature of a dandy of the period one finds as a subcaption this quotation from Thomas Nashe: " . . . You would thinke him nothing but a swarm of Butterflies, if you saw him . . . afar off. . . ."—T.R.

Industry Opposes Copyright Measure

Representatives of the motion picture industry appeared before the Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs in Washington Tuesday in opposition to legislation under which the United States would join the Rome Copyright Convention, pointing out that there is drastic need for thorough revision of our own copyright laws before any such action is taken. Under the Rome agreement, a copyright taken out in any one of the member countries automatically is effective in all of them.

Edwin P. Kilroe, attorney for Fox Film, and Fulton Brylawski, Washington representative, appeared for the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, and Julian Brylawski for the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America, of which he is vice-president.

It was pointed out that talking pictures and radio broadcasting have been developed since our last copyright law was enacted in 1909, and that there is nothing in that law covering oral reproduction, which deficiency might lead to grave difficulties if the United States adhered to the Rome Convention.

It was declared also that there are a number of other phases of the Convention which would be dangerous to the film industry, particularly a provision granting authors the right to oppose changes, which are considered essential to film production.

INDEPENDENT SUPPLY MEN RE-ELECT ROBIN

Standard Discounts Discussed As Solution to "Cut Throat Price Competition"; 22 Companies Have Chicago Exhibits

Standard discounts on all types of equipment with a view to elimination of "cut throat price cutting" was the chief subject of discussion before the second session of the Independent Theatre Supply Dealers Association meeting in convention in Chicago Monday.

At the initial session Joe Robin was re-elected president, starting his fourth term. Other officers elected were Joe Hornstein, vice-president; Clem Rizzo, Philadelphia, secretary-treasurer, and the new directorate is composed of K. R. Douglas, Boston; Max Rubin, Detroit; Ray Smith, Milwaukee; Harry Graham, Denver; B. F. Shearer, of Seattle, and Robin, Hornstein and Rizzo, the officers.

Twenty-two manufacturers had exhibits, this group being headed by E. A. Williford, National Carbon Co.

Mr. Robin's re-election was generally construed as clearing up internal dissension, which, members said, had hindered progress for several months. Mr. Robin said he was working on a supplemental code designed to remove supply dealers from the general wholesale code.

Expansion plans involving arrangements for distribution of products of the leading manufacturing groups were to be discussed later in the convention. With dealer members in 32 cities, the directors were optimistic over the progress made in welding the organization into an important buying and distribution influence.

Manufacturers signed for exhibits at the convention included the Breck Photoplay Co., Brenkert, Dalite, J. E. Robin, Enterprise, Ed Wolk, Universal Welding, Chicago Cinema, Strong Electric, National Carbon, Neumade Products, Continental Electric, Weber Machine Co., Holmes Projector, H. A. DeVry, Raytone Screen, Golde Manufacturing Co. and Coxsackie Holding Corp.

Electrical Research Products' new type single channel newsreel recording apparatus, which, it is claimed, is an advancement in the lightness and portability of newsreel recording apparatus, will first be used by Fox Movieonews and Hearst Metrotone News. Fox has ordered 12 equipments, and Metrotone has purchased eight for use in the fall when the Hearst organization will begin to make its own reel, heretofore completed by Fox. Erpi said that the equipment complete weighs no more than the news and camera.

Navy Propaganda In Pathe Newsreel

Pathe News, Inc., last week released as part of its regular reel a clip entitled "Our Navy," prepared with the assistance of the Navy League and planned for release in 2,662 theatres approximately one week before the United States Battle Fleet was to be reviewed in New York Harbor by President Roosevelt, and at a time when disarmament and re-armament is the subject of considerable international discussion.

Accompanied by a specially prepared monologue, both patriotic and instructive, pictures of the fleet in maneuvers and diagrams comparing the tonnage of the Navy with that of foreign powers were shown. Pathe estimated that 10,000,000 persons would see the film during the first week's showing in first run theatres and that 20,000,000 more would view it subsequently.

Highlights of the monologue strip are as follows:

"Our fleet being reviewed by the President is a magnificent spectacle, thrilling to every American. In pictures it is a most impressive sight. . . . However, a navy is not judged by its pictorial beauty. . . . It is our responsibility as a nation to give them (officers and men) a treaty navy of modern ships, fully manned . . . in modern auxiliaries . . . that is, aircraft carriers, cruisers, destroyers and submarines not over age. We have a 3 to 5 tonnage compared with Great Britain . . . and even less than Japan . . . about 3 to 4. . . .

"Our Navy is for one purpose only . . . to protect America. Keep it fit to fight!"

Scientist Sees Television At Least Five Years Distant

Home television on a practical, commercial basis still is at least five years distant, despite revolutionary strides made by research engineers in the past decade, W. R. G. Baker, vice-president and general manager of RCA Victor Company, told the Institute of Radio Engineers at its annual convention in Philadelphia Monday. "Enormous expense" was one obstacle cited.

Tests with an experimental television system used to transmit an outdoor scene with an intermediary radio relay station, were described in a symposium of technical papers presented by the RCA research engineers.

THREE MAJORS OPEN SALES CONVENTIONS

Warner, Fox and United Artists Launch Seasons; Monogram District Sessions Are Held; Additional Product Plans Set

With Warner, Fox, United Artists holding their initial sales conventions this week, the 1934-35 selling season officially got under way.

In Montreal on Monday Warners were holding the first of four regional meetings, to be followed by a New York conference June 4 and 5.

Fox officials were making plans for the reception of some 250 salesmen and exchange officials on May 30, while the United Artists sales forces were preparing for a descent upon Chicago on June 2.

Monogram had its opening meeting of franchise holders in Atlantic City early in April, and followed Saturday in Salt Lake City, with the first of a series of regional gatherings.

Universal will meet in New York on June 5, 6 and 7, and in Chicago June 11. RKO-Radio will hold its conventions on June 18 in Chicago and Columbia and MGM, while not making known any plans up to press time, are expected to have some meetings before the middle of July.

Paramount Meets June 18 to 20

Regional sales meetings of Paramount will be set on the Coast following the annual convention which takes place at the Ambassador hotel, Los Angeles, June 18-20. Attending this meeting will be district and branch heads in addition to salesmen. All home office executives will attend. Paramount district and division managers recently held a meeting in Chicago where sales policies and some of the new season product were discussed.

Warner Brothers' third in the scheduled series of four regional meetings will be held at the Drake hotel, Chicago, June 11 and 12, and the fourth and final meeting will take place at the San Francisco hotel, San Francisco, June 18 and 19.

More than 175 men are scheduled to attend the three regional sales meetings to be conducted by Monogram the next three weeks. The first got underway Saturday in Salt Lake City. The second will be in Cincinnati June 2, and the third June 9, in New York.

Meanwhile, and in addition to product plans reported from time to time the last eight weeks, the following individual company activities for 1934-35 were reported:

▽

Astor Pictures Corp.

Astor has a schedule calling for a series of 12 three-reel Westerns, starring Pawnee Bill for 1934-35, according to Bob Savini, president.

▽

Chesterfield's 24

Chesterfield and Invincible may boost their new season schedule to 24 features as compared with the current season's program of 18, with nine from each. If the new season list is increased, each company would make 12 for the program of 24.

▽

DuWorld

"Theodore Roosevelt," first of the series of "12 Famous Americans" shorts to be produced by Hal Lyons for DuWorld release, will see Oscar Apfel, veteran of stage and screen, playing the name part. "Buffalo Bill" will be the second subject.

▽

First Division

With 15 exchanges already in operation, First Division plans to open five additional exchanges within the next three months. The new locations are not definitely set, but will be in the East and South.

▽

Halperins Plan Eight

Victor and Edward Halperin are re-entering independent production with plans for eight features from stories by such authors as Rex Beach, Vicki Baum, Garnett Weston, George Waters, Nina Wilcox Putnam and Albert Payson Terhune. Among the players with whom the Halperins are negotiating are Elissa Landi, Bebe Daniels, Edmund Lowe, Gregory Ratoff and John Boles.

▽

Kohn May Go Independent

Ralph A. Kohn, who recently resigned as vice-president and director of Paramount Publix Corp., is understood to be considering entering independent production.

▽

Krimsky-Cochran Plan Three

Following their general policy of producing a stage play and later transferring it to the screen, John Krimsky and Gifford Cochran, who released "Maedchen in Uniform" in this country and later produced "Emperor Jones," starring Paul Robeson, plan a schedule of three features for 1934-35 release. The first of these will be "Dumb Deborah," which will be produced on Broadway early in the season.

▽

Liberty To Make Eight

With six of its current season's program already completed, Liberty Pictures, M. H. Hoffman, president, is planning eight features for 1934-35.

▽

MGM Signs Comedy Unit

MGM has signed Charles Riesner and Jack Cummings to head a new comedy unit at the Culver City studios. They plan four all-star comedies for 1934-35. Jack Cummings formerly was in charge of short subjects at the MGM studio under Harry Rapf. The company also has signed Maurice Schwartz, noted Yiddish actor, to a term contract for writing, directing and acting. MGM currently has eight pictures in production to finish up the season's program, with releases set to July 13. Only three features will be released nationally during June. They are "Hollywood Party," "Operator 13," and "Rear Car," now in work. Also in work are "100% Pure," "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," "The Merry Widow," "Stamboul Quest," "Treasure Island," "Sacred and Profane Love" and an adaptation of "The Green Hat."

▽

Monogram's Foreign Expansion

Norton V. Ritchey of Ritchey International Corp., Monogram distributors abroad, announced extension of Monogram's business in the Argentine. Monogram Limitada of Buenos Aires opened a branch office in Rosario. Also from Monogram came announcement that Lone Star Productions, headed by Paul Malvern and releasing through Monogram, will aim for a feature market on its new series of John Wayne Westerns, with a James Oliver Curwood story, "The Wolf Hunters," heading the list.

▽

Paramount Plans Westerns

Paramount again has changed its mind in regard to production of Westerns for 1934-35 release, and announced this week it would make four, with Randolph Scott featured. Abe Meyer and Ray Nazarro, who have taken over production of the "Superstition" series, have sold the first four subjects, already completed, to Paramount. Adolph Zukor, in Hollywood, said B. P. Schulberg will renew his contract and will make several features next season.

▽

Photocolor Pictures

Photocolor Pictures has prepared a program of two series of single-reel color shorts with 12 in each group.

▽

Radio Has 27 Set

Twenty-seven of RKO Radio Pictures' features for the 1934-35 season have been set, and the remainder will be decided upon between now and the opening of the sales convention. There will be 50 features on the 1934-35 Radio schedule. Several large-scale musicals will be included.

▽

Supreme Signs Steele

Having completed a contract with Monogram, Bob Steels has been signed by Sam Katzman and A. W. Hackel to star in a series of eight Westerns for Supreme Picture Corp. The first will be "Demon For Trouble."

▽

Schenck To Talk

Joseph M. Schenck, president, will be the principal speaker at United Artists' two-day convention, starting June 2 in Chicago. In Hollywood, Jack Benny's first picture under his contract with Reliance, releasing through United Artists, will be "Transatlantic Showboat," an original by Leon Gordon

▽

Universal Starts Jones Series

Myron Gatzert, formerly general manager for Ken Maynard productions, was appointed assistant producer at Universal City in charge of serials. Mr. Gatzert enters into his duties with supervision of the Buck Jones serial, "The Red Rider." Universal will deliver the entire list of 36 features announced at its sales convention last June, Carl Laemmle, Sr., said.

▽

Warner Preparing 14

In addition to having 21 completed pictures awaiting release and six others in work, the Warner-First National studios were preparing 14 new new features, among them "Anthony Adverse," "Big Hearted Herbert," "Border Town," "The Firebird," "Flirtation Walk," "Miss Pacific Fleet," "Mr. Pickwick," "Oil For the Lamps of China," "Perfect Week-End," "Roadhouse," "Shanghai Orchid," "Sweet Adeline" and "Window Panes." In work are "British Agent," "Dragon Murder Case," "Kansas City Princess" and "Dames." Twenty-nine Vitaphone short subjects have been set for national release during June, July and August, completing the current season schedule.

▽

Weiss Considers 12

Weiss Bros.' tentative program for 1934-35 calls for 12 features with production on the Coast. Currently the company's schedule calls for six Buffalo Bills, six Buddy Roosevelts and three other features.

Lachmann, Proser Join Donahue & Coe Agency

Marc Lachmann and Monte Proser have joined Donahue and Coe, New York advertising agency, and will handle publicity, advertising, exploitation and general representation as a special unit from their offices in the Paramount Building.

Broadway Marquees Cleared

Under a new New York City regulation, theatre marquees on Broadway have been stripped of hanging advertising material.

UNIVERSAL WINDS UP THE SEASON IN A BLAZE OF GLORY with

Carl Laemmle
has the honor to present—

MARGARET

Sullavan

in

LITTLE MAN, WHAT NOW?

with

DOUGLASS MONTGOMERY

From the famous novel by Hans Fallada. Directed by Frank Borzage. With Fred Kohler, Alan Hale, Mae Marsh, George Meeker, Muriel Kirkland, De Witt Jennings, Hedda Hopper, Catherine Doucet, Bodil Rosing. Screenplay by William Anthony McGuire.

The Most Important

FRANK BORZAGE PRODUCTION

Since The Immortal "Seventh Heaven"

DIANA

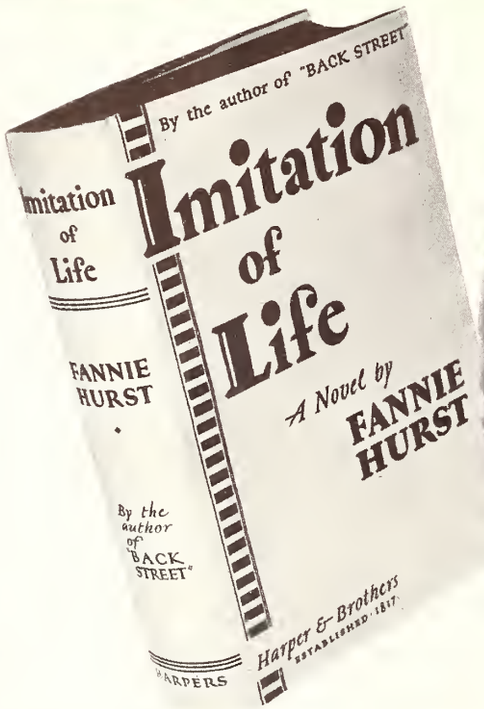
Wynyard

in

John Galsworthy's Best Seller

One More River

With COLIN CLIVE, FRANK LAWTON, JANE WYATT; MRS. PATRICK CAMPBELL, Reginald Denny, C. Aubrey Smith, Kathleen Howard, Henry Stephenson, Lionel Atwill and many others.



Screenplay by R. C. SHERIFF

A JAMES WHALE PRODUCTION

Presented by

Carl Laemmle

CLAUDETTE

Colbert

in

FANNIE HURST'S

Imitation of Life

A JOHN M. STAHL PRODUCTION

(Director of "Back Street" and "Only Yesterday")

Presented by Carl Laemmle

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

Hollywood Party

(MGM)

Comedy with Music

Names, laughs and a novel and "nutty" idea will be the basis of a wide open opportunity for the showman to do some lively selling of this conglomeration of amusing material, concocted out of the always fertile brain of Howard Dietz and Arthur Kober. Mr. Dietz, it may be of importance to remember in the selling, is the author of many a highly successful Broadway musical show, a fact undoubtedly familiar to theatre goers throughout the country.

Names, names, names. Almost every name indicative of comedy in the MGM players' roster—even Mickey Mouse—is here. Durante, Laurel and Hardy, Charles Butterworth, Ted Healy and Stooges, Polly Moran, George Givot, Jack Pearl, all those, together, should afford some idea of what this thing is like. The exhibitor may well proceed on the theory that there is something for every one in the community in this production.

And that is the tack to take in the selling, billing it as a comedy riot. The word "riot" here is used in its specific and dictionary sense—a good deal excitedly happening at the same time. That there is little of significance and importance in story continuity only adds to the gayety. The title is a natural for preselling, obviously, with the exhibitor inviting all and sundry to attend the "Hollywood Party" at the theatre, and come prepared to laugh. The music is good, with the composers and lyricists also reading like a who's who of that field: Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart, Walter Donaldson and Gus Kahn, Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed, Donaldson and Dietz. There's also a Walt Disney Silly Symphony sort of cartoon number, presented by Mickey Mouse in person, which concerns in clever fashion the battle of the chocolate soldiers with the gingerbread opposition forces. The film's song numbers, "loud-spoken" from the lobby, should attract something of pedestrian attention. The song and dance chorus numbers are worth some attention, also.

As for the story, such as it is, it is well to bear in mind that it is studded with ideas for copy and exploitation selling, which may be plucked out quite at random; in fact, the more random the better. That's the kind of thing it is.

The Great Schnarzan, Durante, warned that he is losing his popularity because his lions are suffering from anemia and advancing age, learns that Baron Munchausen is returning with a load of lively lions, and throws a party for the Baron at his castle home.

George Givot, rival jungle star, decides to crash, since he needs new lions as badly as Durante, and disguises himself as a duke. Lupe Velez, leading woman thrown over by Durante, does some crashing on her own account. Butterworth, oil millionaire from Oklahoma, arrives with his wife, Miss Moran, and tears up $1,000 bills to prove to taxi drivers that he is really wealthy. Their niece, June Clyde, and Eddie Quillan engage in a bit of romantic vocalization now and again as the party goes on. When Givot appeals to Miss Moran in order to have her husband get the lions, Durante decides to exercise his own magnificent romantic accomplishments on that same wife, for the same purpose. Arrive Laurel and Hardy, to whom the Baron gave a bad check for the lions he bought. They go through an egg-breaking routine with Miss Velez, which has no point but some humor. A lion escapes, chases every one everywhere and finally engages in a wrestling match with Durante down a flight of steps. And then—believe it or not—Durante awakens, in his own modest apartment. It has all been a dream, which is something the patrons need not be told.

There's plenty to sell here, and the more circusing ballyhoo it gets, and the less sense the campaign makes, the more in keeping with the feature that selling will be.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Original screen play by Howard Dietz and Arthur Kober. Music and lyrics by Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart, Walter Donaldson and Gus Kahn, Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed. Dance numbers arranged by Seymour Felix, George Hale, David Gould. Animated cartoon sequences by courtesy of Walt Disney Productions, Ltd. Color sequence photographed by Technicolor Process. Art director, Frederic Hope. Interior decoration by Edwin B. Willis. Costuming by Adrian. Photographed by James Wong Howe. Film editor, George Boemler. Release date, June 1, 1934. Running time, 70 minutes.

CAST

Laurel and Hardy.....Themselves
Jimmy .....Jimmy Durante
Harvey Clemp.....Charles Butterworth
Henrietta .....Polly Moran
Lupe .....Lupe Velez
Frances Williams..... .....Frances Williams
Baron Munchausen.....Jack Pearl
Bob .....Eddie Quillan
Linda .....June Clyde
Duke .....George Givot
Knapp .....Richard Carle
Charley .....Ben Bard
Beavers .....Tom Kennedy
Mickey Mouse .....Mickey Mouse
Ted Healy and His Stooges

Man with Two Faces

(First National)

Mystery Drama

There's plenty of popular entertainment in this production, likewise more than the usual quota of unique and easily adaptable showmanship media, in title, story and cast. Fundamentally it is a mystery drama, but as audiences are aware of what is going to happen, how and why, there is a continuous comedy twist that lifts the picture out of the thrill-terror class.

As the familiar theatre premise serves as a background, the modern story concerns itself with a situation materially similar to that of "The Witching Hour." Jessica, a young actress, finds the way to life and happiness blocked by her worthless husband, Vance, who is able to work hypnotic spells over her. The situation building to tense drama, threatening disaster to all members of the troupe, Jessica's actor-brother, Damon, donning a make-up that he used in the old kerosene lamp stock circuit days, kills the menace.

From this point on, the show concerns itself with the police investigation. Damon is on the spot. Everyone, even the cops, with Curtis carrying the brunt, knows that he's the killer. Similarly, all realize what a heel Vance was and are glad that he was knocked off. As sympathy accrues to Damon, Jessica and Weston, the man who is in love with her, the yarn takes a human-interest turn, Curtis remembering having seen Robinson in his makeup in a little tank town theatre years ago. Justice as far as Vance is concerned having been satisfied, he reports that the man was killed by parties unknown and Jessica is set for her career and happy love with Weston.

With cast names adequate for personnel purposes, showmanship should take advantage of the commercial value of the title, the novelty of hypnotic influence, the comedy vein that colors the theatric drama, and the unusual climax.—MCCARTHY, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Warner-First National. Directed by Archie Mayo. Based on the play, "Dark Tower," by George S. Kaufman and Alexander Woollcott. Screen play by Tom Reed and Nevin Bush. Photographed by Tony Gaudio. Running time, 75 minutes, as seen on Coast. Release date to be announced.

CAST

Damon Wells .....Edward G. Robinson
Jessica .....Mary Astor
Weston .....Ricardo Cortez
Daphne .....Mae Clarke
Vance .....Louis Calhern
Dr. Kendall.....Arthur Byron
Barry .....John Eldredge
Curtis .....David Landau
Hattie .....Emily Fitzroy
Inspector .....Henry O'Neill
Morgue Keeper.....Arthur Aylesworth
Martha .....Margaret Dale
Peabody .....Virginia Sale

I Give My Love

(Universal-Zeidman)

Drama

In this life drama, the telling of which encompasses twenty years, human interest is the dominant entertainment quality. Everything is directed towards creating audience sympathy for the heroine. While romantic love interest plays an important part in developing the story, the drama of a suffering woman is the substance which continually motivates the theme and its action. Not an out-and-out tear-jerker, or too heavily somber, the picture moves in a serious mood. Consequently its primary appeal is to those classes of patrons, mature men and women, who appreciate the fact that life is no bed of roses.

Modern in tenor, the story is played in an atmosphere of art, artists and models. Locales are New York and Paris. In the first phase, with natural comedy contrasting realistic drama, the efforts of Judy to drill some sense into her super-egotistical husband, Alex, potently depict the struggles of womanhood in trying to make something of their men. Alex, believing that the patronly interest which Vadja takes in Judy is akin to romance, and going berserk, is accidentaly killed while trying to destroy Vadja's statue, for which he and his wife posed. A son is born. Judy goes to prison for ten years. Returning, Vadja takes her into his home, but the boy (played by Tad Alexander) resents the intrusion. Not knowing that Judy is his mother, he creates a condition which, despite Vadja's and Bogey's arguments, leaves her no alternative but to go away.

Another decade and Judy is a drink-sotted hag of Parisian boulevards. The boy (Linden), now grown to young manhood and a budding artist, begs her to pose for a picture. Seeing the statue that caused all her grief, she knows he is her own child, but the boy is blissfully ignorant. The picture finished, Vadja recognizes Judy's features. Searching the streets, he finds and brings her back to her son and the painting, once labeled "Despair," is changed to "Sacrifice." Then the happy ending, as mother and son are reunited and Vadja's romance of a generation ago is consummated.

The picture is convincingly presented. In the early sequences it is vividly exciting as the almost insane antics of the young husband dominate the action. While the serious note is evident, the real emotion-touching sequences are to welcome them back

America rushes

The good news of the Gaynor-Farrell reunion means great business everywhere:

- Whopping hold-over weeks for the Uptown, Kansas City . . . the Apollo, Indianapolis...the New, Baltimore...and an extended run for the Fox, St. Louis.
- Second week assured by first-week's hot pace at the Fox, Philadelphia.
- Switched from Palace to Capitol for continued first-run at Cincinnati.
- Town-topping takes at Proctor's Newark . . . Metropolitan, Boston . . . Saenger, New Orleans.

FOX is getting prouder by the minute of the team that never failed you!

JANET GAYNOR

CHARLES FARRELL

in

CHANGE OF HEART

with

JAMES DUNN

GINGER ROGERS

Produced by Winfield Sheehan

Directed by John G. Blystone • Screen play: Sonya Levien and James Gleason • From the novel "Manhattan Love Song" by Kathleen Norris.

confined to the middle and closing parts. For general purposes, it is the type of picture that should be sold with dignity, care being taken, however, not to become too serious. Consider it as family type entertainment, with a moral lesson of interest to both the old and more grown up young folks.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

A Universal release. Produced by B. F. Zeidman. Directed by Carl Freund. From a story by Vicki Baum. Adaptation by Milton Krims. Screenplay and dialogue by Doris Anderson. Photographed by George Robinson. Film editor, Edward Curtiss. Art director, Charles D. Hall. Editorial supervision, Maurice Pivar. Sound supervision. Gilbert Kurland. Running time, 70 minutes, as seen on Coast. Release date, June 25, 1934.

CAST

Paul Vadja ..... Paul Lukas
Judy Blair ..... Wynne Gibson
Paul Jr. at 21 ..... Eric Linden
Alex Blair ..... John Darrow
Bogey ..... Sam Hardy
Paul Jr. at 12 ..... Tad Alexander
Alice ..... Dorothy Appleby

Return of the Terror

(First National)

Thriller

Made to order for the mystery fans and the thrill-terror addicts, this picture is all that its title implies. One of that brand in which screams alternate with guffaws, and bringing on the inevitable surprise climax that upsets all anticipations, it moves fast, has plenty of action and enough of that old reliable theatric mystery hokum for three or four pictures.

Adapted from an Edgar Wallace story—an exploitation feature in itself for varied tieups and contacts—the yarn is located in a sanitarium, various eerie effects being utilized in creating the thrill atmosphere. Several baffling murders are committed, and the only lead available to the police is a card on the victims signed "The Terror." Convinced that the crimes are the work of a madman, his actions bringing him under suspicion, Dr. Redmayne, head of the institution, is charged with the killings and confined to an insane asylum. Escaping, he returns to the hospital, where his young assistant, Dr. Goodman, has been carrying on and making ardent love to Olga, Redmayne's fiancée. Then, as news of the escape is broadcast, more murders take place, and as reporter Joe's scared comedy magnifies the thrill, the groundwork is prepared for the surprise climax.

The picture is rife with suggestions for tricky showmanship stunts and gags. Yet because of the unusual number of crime mystery pictures recently completed, care should be taken that sufficient contrast is achieved in order that patrons may not become fed up on this character of entertainment. In this particular case, the title is distinct value. Readily identifying the picture, copy that accentuates the show's comedy and romantic content as well as the surprise mystery, should be worked to the limit. Go after the thrill fans strongly and use the name values of the cast to arouse the attention of the regular everyday crowds.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Warner-First National. Suggested by the story "The Terror," by Edgar Wallace. Screen play by Eugene Solow and Peter Milne. Dialogue director, Arthur Greville Collins. Directed by Howard Bretherton. Photography by Arthur Todd. Film editor, Owen Marks. Supervisor, Sam Buschoff. Art director, John Hughes, Gowns by Orry-Kelly. Running time, 65 minutes, as seen on Coast. Release date, July 7. 1934.

CAST

Olga ..... Mary Astor
Dr. Goodman ..... Lyle Talbot
Dr. Redmayne ..... John Halliday
Joe ..... Frank McHugh
Pudge ..... Robert Barrat
Burke ..... Irving Pichel
Soapy ..... George E. Stone
Steve ..... J. Carroll Naish
Reinhardt ..... Frank Reicher
Bradley ..... Robert Emmet O'Connor
Virginia ..... Renee Whitney
Tuttle ..... Etienne Girardot
Mrs. Elvery ..... Maude Eburne
Jessop ..... Charles Grapewin
Tony ..... George Humbert
Editor ..... Edmund Breese
Cotton ..... George Cooper
Miss Doolittle ..... Cecil Cunningham
Prosecuting Attorney ..... Frank Conroy
Judge ..... Howard Hickman

Call It Luck

(Fox-John Stone)

Comedy Drama

Aimed at pleasing the masses, this picture's entertainment components include romance, drama, comedy, excitement and novelty, moving to the tempo of nicely balanced action and dialogue. Premised on a topical situation and dealing with things that, while not entirely novel, are not too familiar, laughing at the other fellow's troubles is the basic idea. As such, with a little attention paid to the showmanship potentialities that crop up in the yarn, it can be considered as a family picture, with interest for both young and old folk.

The premise is a pictorial review of what happens to a man when he comes into money. In this case, ex-cabby Higglewade wins 25,000 pounds on the English derby. Rich, he goes in for the sport of kings and is sold a horse that turns out to be a plug. As the locale shifts to the United States, Higglewade is taken for his roll by the crooked gamblers and touts, Lucky Luke, Underwood and Brain Wave, on a badger game racket, and a faked murder, makes things look dark for the ex-cabby. With contrasting interludes to permit romance to develop between Pat Laurie and Russell, during which Miss Paterson sings a couple of numbers and a dancing pony ballet is featured, the yarn picks up. Befriended by Amy, who uses her life savings to import the real Sabre, the horse that Hipplewade thought he bought, the stage is set for the climactic race. The gamblers, still believing that Herbie's horse is a plug. go in for a cleanup, only to have Higglewade take a bugle, sound the old battle charges, and bring the war-horse down the stretch a winner.

In connection with this picture, showmanship that takes advantage of the present hysteria that is selling millions of Irish Sweepstake tickets, psychological stunts that take advantage of the popular trend, look to be natural business stimulators. Care should also be taken that it is not identified as just another rack track yarn.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

A Fox release. Produced by John Stone. Directed by James Tinling. Story by Dudley Nichols and George Marshall. Screen play by Dudley Nichols and Lamar Trotti. Adaptation by Joe Cunningham and Harry McCoy. Music by Richard Whiting. Lyrics by Sidney Claire. Dances directed by Sammy Lee. Running time, 63 minutes, as seen on Coast. Release date, June 1, 1934.

CAST

Pat Laurie ..... Pat Paterson
Herb Higglewade ..... Herbert Mundin
Stan Russell ..... Charles Starrett
Lucky Luke ..... Gordon Westcott
Amy Lark ..... Georgia Caine
Nat Underwood ..... Theodore Von Eltz
Lord Poindexter ..... Reginald Mason
Sid Carter ..... Ernest Wood
Brain Wave Flynn ..... Ray Mayer
Alice Blue ..... Susan Fleming

The Man Trailer

(Columbia)

Western

More or less routine of the western variety, this film has its full quota of action; racing horses, gun-play and scrapping, to catch the excitable fancy of the younger generation, which likes its western action material on the screen, and such of the adults as derive entertainment and a thrill from this type of picture.

For the leading player there is the continuously popular Buck Jones, who has considerable following among the devotees of westerns. With him is the attractive Cecelia Parker, who, with Jones, handles the romantic angle. Arthur Vinton, not often seen in these pictures, is the villain of the piece.

The selling should take the lines found most effective for this type by the individual exhibitor, with the name play of course on Jones, and the indication of plenty of action.

The story is cut rather closely to pattern, with our hero engaging the desperado in defense of law and order and the vindication of his own honor. Jones, wanted for rustling and murder in Texas, splits with a gang headed by Vinton, and makes good his escape. Branded as a wanted man, he plans to make it really worthwhile, but the gang has the same idea with reference to holding up the stage coach. The gang is frightened off temporarily, Jones attempts to get the strong box, and in the ensuing gun fight, during which Miss Parker, in the coach, sticks by Jones' side until the sheriff comes up, Jones is forced into the role of hero rather than holdup man.

The sheriff is Miss Parker's father, and both are so impressed with Jones' handling of the situation that they induce him to become town marshal. The interest which Jones and Miss Parker find in each other ripens and Jones shows her the handbill offering a reward for his arrest issued by the authorities of the Texas county from which he had so rapidly departed. She burns the paper. Jones is warned of a planned raid by the bandit gang on the local Wells Fargo express office, with the contents of the safe as the objective.

The bandits capture him after he has given Vinton an ultimatum, and force him to accompany them during the raid, but shoot him off his horse, en route to the hideout. He recovers, mounts, and races to lead a posse to the hideout. Reaching there, he waits until the gang has surrendered, then goes alone after Vinton, who has made a rear-exit escape with the money. Jones captures Vinton and retrieves the money, finds that the sheriff who had trailed him from Texas knows the truth about the crimes for which Jones was hunted, and Jones completes his romance with Miss Parker.

Straight western material, the film should be presented in the weekend position.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Columbia. Story, screen play and direction by Lambert Hillyer. Assistant director, Wilbur McGaugh. Photographed by Benjamin Kline. Sound engineer, Glenn Rominger. Release date, March 24. 1934. Running time, 58 minutes.

CAST

Dan Lee ..... Buck Jonees
Sally ..... Cecilia Parker
Burk ..... Arthur Vinton
Ryan ..... Clarence Geldert
Bishop ..... Stephen Clark
Gorman ..... Charles West

Murder on the Blackboard

(Radio)

Mystery Thriller

As the title indicates, this is a mystery thriller. Yet as that entertainment quality predominates, the atmosphere of comedy in which it is presented not only eliminates any too gruesome horror, but gives it a colorful amusement value naturally appealing to family type audiences.

Departing from the established formula, love interest is present only by suggestion and allusion; however, there is enough of it to provide a logical motivation for the primary dramatic comedy. Other than title, the picture offers some unique business-creating angles, in a way, for Edna May Oliver and James Gleason, the pair who solved the "Penguin Pool Murder," and is a sequel for their crime sleuthing talents. While full advantage is taken of several bits of circumstantial evidence, any one of which might incriminate any of the four suspects, the element of suspense has been so well developed that even though sharp observers may identify the killer in the very beginning as a definite clue is presented, it still is a puzzling poser that in most cases almost baffles solution until the last few minutes.

A musical scale exercise which the victim wrote on the blackboard is the clue. Simple and unique, it provides a novel angle that easily can be exploited.

Located in a grammar school house, opening sequences give no hint as to the mystery that is to ensue. But when Snoopy Withers, elderly teacher, discovers the body of a young teacher the excitement and surprise starts. Calling her old associate of the "Penguin Pool" case, the pair start to unravel the mystery. In turn the guilty finger points to Addison Stevens, Janey Davis, Mr. MacFarland and the Janitor. The accepted crime hokum being developed to the limit, comedy assumes an entertainment importance unusual in mystery pictures. As successive situations provoke gasps, screams, giggles and guffaws, Snoopy resorts to a psycological theory to trap the killer. Broadcasting that Detective Donohue, whose head injury had caused loss of memory, suddenly had recovered and would identify the person who assaulted him, the killer comes to the hospital intent on removing this menace to his safety, only to be trapped by the old sleuth pair and the identity as well as motive for the crime uncovered.

The production is well put together. It is both mystifying and amusing. Differing from many more elaborate and pretentious shows, it suggests several out-of-the-ordinary interest creating angles.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Radio. Executive producer, Pandro S. Berman. Associate producer, Kenneth Macgowan. Screen play by Willis Goldbeck. From the mystery magazine serial by Stuart Palmer. Directed by George Archainbaud. Photographer, Nick Musuraca, A.S.C. Art directors, Van Nest Polglase and Al D'Argostino. Sound recorder, John L. Cass. Film editor, Archie Marshek. Musical director, Max Steiner. Running time, 80 minutes. Release date, July 13, 1934.

CAST

Hildegard Withers.....Edna May Oliver
Inspector Piper.....James Gleason
Addison Stevens.....Bruce Cabot
Janey Davis.....Gertrude Michael
Young detective.....Regis Toomey
Detective Donahue.....Edgar Kennedy
Mr. MacFarland.....Tully Marshall
Boy student.....Jackie Searle
School janitor.....Frederik Vogeding
The teacher murdered.....Barbara Fritchie

The Unknown Soldier Speaks

(Lincoln Productions)

War Record

Again to the motion picture screen comes a record of the World War, which recently has brought a reappearance of so many of these pictorial records. Currently, newspapers of the country are studded with news of armament and disarmment, war and peace, revolutionary and counter-revolutionary activity the world over. Therein would lie a clue to selling such product at the moment.

This picture differs markedly in one particular, that much of its footage is devoted to the activities in France of the famous 369th Infantry Regiment, a regiment of colored men, which is explained by the origin of the picture, Lincoln Productions. It is propaganda against war, unequivocally, as emphasized by the rendition of the accompanying narrative, handled in most capable style by Alan Bunce, who imparts more vocal expression and feeling than have most others doing the same job with similar material.

It is also true that in selection of subject matter, and in the editing and presentation of that material, this picture reflects expert workmanship. Where the exhibitor has a colored population to draw upon, there is definitely something to sell here, with a pictorial record of what an outstanding group of colored soldiers did during the war. Outside of that, there is still much time devoted to general activities and the work of other divisions and other national forces.

There is a certain novelty in presentation of the narrative, which takes the form of the voice of the "unknown soldier" speaking of what he has seen, with full appreciation of the futility of the killing and strife which went on about him. He voices a hope, which he realizes as probably forlorn, that such situations shall not again arise, that such murderous warfare shall not again occur.

The film opens with old sequences of the funeral of the Archduke Ferdinand of Austria, pictures commanders of French, English, German, Austrian forces immediately prior to the declaration of war. Then is picked up the movement of troops, the opening of hostilities along the wide front, and the entrance into the conflict of the soldiers of other nations, from the snow and ice-clad mountain tops of the Alps to the drifting hot sands of the Arabian desert.

War on land, on sea, in the air is shown, with utilization of the horse, the gun and the plane. Good shots of open field, trench, sea and air fighting are spotted throughout the picture, and in contrast, the lively and amusing good humor, especially of the colored troops, behind the lines. But throughout is the stress set on the utter futility of the situation.

The picture is at one and the same time propaganda against war and an effort to picture the mnner in which the colored forces of the United States did their share in achieving the eventual outcome of the war.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Lincoln Productions, New York. Directed by Jack Goldberg. Dialogue by Robert Rossen. Narrative by Alan Bunce. No release date determined. Running time, 67 minutes.

Pleasing Grandpa

(Universal)

Fair

There may be engaging moments in this comedy for those who are entertained by the antics of the gangling Sterling Holloway. For others the comedy will hardly be rated more than fair. Holloway inherits a large estate, and leaves town with Matt McHugh, tough lad who is to be his bodyguard, and whose sister and her friend, hard up, move in on Matt's invitation. Holloway returns unexpectedly, is taken for a burglar and one of the girls attempts to reform him, an idea which pleases him. A cab driver, Matt, a policeman and Edwin Maxwell, the attorney, come in at the finish.—Running time, 20 minutes.

Art for Art's Sake

(Radio)

Amusing

There is amusement and entertainment in this animated number, in which the Little King, originated by Soglow, goes for a sight-seeing tour about the city, drawing mustaches and the like on figures of art. He pursues the stout lady of the party in and about the palace, much to her chagrin, until he at last corners her atop the highest tower. The reason is a desire to supply her with a mustache and beard as well. The Soglow original must have its followers.—Running time, 6 minutes.

Good Time Henry

(Universal)

Noisy

It appears that where Henry Armetta is featured in a comedy subject, that subject must necessarily be characterized by considerable noise and excitement, as Henry gets the inevitable worst of it. This is no exception. Henry is visited by his best customer who insists they have a gay time of the sort for which Henry was noted prior to his marriage. They meet two girls, go to their apartment and when the party grows too noisy, he is discovered by his wife, and the girls' husbands walk in. The rest needs no description. It has moments for those who like the Armetta type.—Running time, 21 minutes.

Ice Floe

(Beverly Hills)

Excellent

This pictorial record of the voyage of a ship manned by college boys into the frozen wastes of the far northland, is, partially by reason of the excellent use of natural color photography, intensely interesting throughout and undeniably beautiful scenically. Running three reels, it may be considered a lengthy short subject, and was produced by Michael Tauber. Attempting to follow the route of McMillan, famed aviator and charter of the northern sky routes, the steel prowed ship plunges northward beyond Newfoundland, Labrador and into Eskimo territory, traveling during the summer of open water. En route are native scenes, views of the gigantic icebergs, ice floes and the great ice barrier beyond the Arctic Circle. It is a land of perpetual daylight, as the sun remains above the horizon. But the big freeze has begun earlier than usual, and for fear of being frozen in, the ship is turned back into more southerly waters where night follows day and large steamers ply the open routes. Throughout, the film is characterized by an illuminating explanation, beautiful photography and interesting material. It is a worthwhile subject.—Running time, 29 minutes.

Good Shape

(Paramount)

Interesting

One of the Grantland Rice Sportlights series of subjects, this indicates, after a brief explanatory note by Rice himself, how important that training is which keeps the contestant in shape. And not only is the contestant shown in the effort, but also the ordinary citizen, mostly of the fair sex. From bathing beauties having sun baths, to husky football players in the heat of a gridiron struggle, the necessity is shown of keeping in shape physically. Interesting but not quite to the standard of the usual Sportlights subject.—Running time, 10 minutes.

Well Cured Ham

(Radio)

Fair

For those audiences which may have a liking for the picturization of the silliness which film story writers have been known to concoct, this subject may be found entertaining. In order to cure the vaudeville ham of his eternal boastfulness and desire to harass people with his witticisms, his fellow club-members send Ed Lowry to the home of an eccentric woman, where the "inmates" vie with her in an exhibition of eccentricity which has, occasionally, moments of amusement. On the whole, however, the subject cannot rate as more than fair.—Running time, 20 minutes.

Picturesque Siam

(Vitaphone)

Interesting

With the usual highly effective musical background score, this number of the E. M. Newman Musical World Journeys takes the audience into Siam, the comparatively little known country of the east, where are pictured the habits and manners of the inhabitants and certain of the architectural achievements of the country. The accompanying narrative, by Mr. Newman, is lucid and well handled. The subject should be of general interest.—Running time, 10 minutes.

Strange As It Seems, No. 39

(Universal)

Interesting

The usual and expected quota of unusual conditions and occurrences, picked up here and there, is present in this number of the series. Highlighting the subject are the Mexican tree with a 160-foot circumference, the colorful cremation ceremonies of Bali, the Japanese custom of washing money at a famous shrine, and an interesting, partially microscopic study of the strange phenomenon which is the common snail. An interesting subject.—Running time, 10 minutes.

Annie Moved Away

(Universal)

Fair

There is fair, and rather average entertainment in this Oswald subject, in which is told of the kidnapping of Oswald's girl, Annie, with a background melody of the popular song pertaining to Annie and her removal. Outside of the clever interjection of that song material the material is not above standard of its type.—Running time, 7 minutes.

GUY LOMBARDO AND HIS BAND
GEORGE BURNS & GRACIE ALLEN

"MANY HAPP

Adolph Zukor Presents
"MANY HAPPY RETURNS"
with Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians · George Burns and Gracie Allen
Veloz and Yolanda
George Barbier · Joan Marsh
Raymond Milland
Directed by Norman McLeod

if it's a PARAMOUNT PICTURE

THE SWEETEST MUSIC THIS SIDE OF HEAVEN!

Y RETURNS"

MANY HAPPY BOX-OFFICE RETURNS!

"A near riot, 'Many Happy Returns' should spell just that at the box-office."
—Hollywood Reporter

"This picture will undoubtedly garner plenty of shekels at the box-office."
—Hollywood Variety

"Sixty-six minutes of high-speed laugh entertainment." —Motion Picture Daily

it's the best show in town!

Paramount Pictures

THE CODE QUESTION BOX

By JAMES P. CUNNINGHAM

Immediate reply is being made direct to the many letters which Motion Picture Herald is receiving from exhibitors and distributors in the field, and from others, in which various questions are asked concerning certain doubtful phases of the Motion Picture Code. In addition, such code questions and the answers submitted are published as a regular service.

For obvious reasons, the letters will appear anonymously. However, the originals will remain on file.

Answers to questions about the Code are submitted only after consultation with authorities familiar with the technicalities of the document.

This service is available to everyone. Send questions to the Code Editor, Motion Picture Herald, 1790 Broadway, New York City.

No. 34—UNUSUAL SITUATION INVOLVING CUT-RATES

QUESTION—We operate and manage a theatre in a very small town, this theatre having been colsed for some time owing to conditions. The merchants and commercial club of the town, wanting to have the theatre reopened in order to again have a place of recreation for the people of the town, made a thorough survey and found that the greater majority could not afford to pay 15 cents or 25 cents admission. So they decided they would pay a part of the admission, and had coupons printed which are good for ten cents at any show. These coupons they give to the people.

We take up the coupons and the commercial club reimburses us later for whatever coupons are collected, the people paying the difference of whatever admission we might have for a particular picture. Their 10*-cent coupon and five cents would pay their way to a* 15*-cent show, etc. We contracted with the merchants to run on these terms for one year.*

At the time that we opened our theatre, in September, 1933, the closest theatre to us was 16 miles. Then, some two or three months after we reopened, a stranger put in a theatre ten miles from out town, in a broadcasting station. Now this enterprise claims that we are unfair competition and must quit our merchants' proposition or close.

Most of the pictures we have played were 1932-33 features, and those we do play run from four to six months after release date and from 60 to 90 days after this new competitor plays them.

Please let us know your opinion of this situation, as we are not intentionally trying to break the code, but we must have the support of the business men, or be forced to close, as our neighbor would also be forced to do if it were not for the free radio advertising he gets.—NEBRASKA.

ANSWER—A categorical answer can hardly be given because of the many extenuating circumstances which are involved.

It appears that this situation is one which will have to be decided by the Local Grievance Board in the territory, and because the Board itself will take no action unless an actual complaint has been filed, it appears that this exhibitor should continue operations as at present and sit back and await the filing of a complaint by the competitive theatre which is complaining.

While it is true that such cut-rate coupons are prohibited under the code when they are unfair to a competiting exhibitor, it is up to the Local Grievance Board to decide whether unfair competition exists in a situation as described above, in which there are such extenuating circumstances involved.

▽ ▽ ▽

No. 35—CODE ASSESSMENTS ON PART TIME HOUSE

QUESTION—I have received my assessment for the first half of 1934, which is $6.00. I signed the code under the impression that I had to, also that they would be fair in regards to assessments, especially to small theatres.

I operate only on Fridays and Saturdays, same picture each night, size of theatre 215 seats, population of town, 610. I operate the projection machine and my wife sells the tickets. I hire no one at all.

The theatre in the nearby town operates daily and Sundays, two shows per night and pays the same assessment that I pay. I cannot get pictures from exchanges until after they are played in the other town, or, at least I haven't been able to get any until after they are shown there.

I think that $6 semi-annually is too much for a code assessment, as we are having a hard time to make expenses. Do I have to pay this assessment, and if I should not, what could they do about it?—MISSOURI.

ANSWER—Many exhibitors in situations similar to that described above have complained about the amount the Code Authority assessed them for code expenses, especially in the proportionate relation of such assessments to assessments for larger theatres or theatres which are in a better position.

However, the Code Authority ruled that unless exhibitors who received the code assessment bill remit the payment stipulated within 30 days, then they cannot exhibit in their theatre any motion picture to which is attached the NRA Blue Eagle insignia. In view of the fact that nearly all of the producers release their films with this NRA emblem, it would appear that the exhibitors not paying the required assessment cannot show virtually any product. And if they did show any such films with a Blue Eagle insignia without having paid the assessment after 30 days, they are violating the motion picture code, according to the Code Authority's ruling.

The exhibitor, however, may appeal to the Local Grievance Board in his territory for an extension of this 30-day period, and the Board may grant such an extension.

▽ ▽ ▽

No. 36—TWO-FOR-ONES IN COMPETITION

QUESTION—A theatre in a neighboring town is circulating our town and territory with post-card programs which state: "This card and one adult admission will admit two people to any of the above listed programs." Is this a violation of the code? The exhibitor does not circulate the cards in his own town, but sends them to nearby towns and rural communities.—MISSOURI.

ANSWER—The practice of issuing two-for-one admission coupons as described above in competition with the complaining exhibitor is an obvious violation of the motion picture code (Article V-E, Part 3, Section 1). A complaint may be filed against the offending exhibitor with the Local Grievance Board in the territory.

▽ ▽ ▽

No. 37—CANCELLATIONS UNDER THE CODE

QUESTION—I have a 26*-picture contract with a distributor with a clause that in the event I operate two changes a week, I run two additional features per month. Under the elimination clause how many pictures can I ask the distributor to cancel?—WASHINGTON.*

ANSWER—The clause of the motion picture code which provides for cancellation privileges (Part 6, Article V-F), specifically says that if in any contractual agreement the exhibitor has contracted to accept all of the motion pictures offered at one time by the distributor, and the rentals of all such pictures offered average not more than $250 per picture, the exhibitor shall have the right to exclude 10 per cent of the total pictures purchased, provided, however, the exhibitor is not in default under that contract. This cancellation privilege is also applicable, under the same conditions, described above, to pictures played after December 7, but which pictures were contracted for prior to that date, which was the effective date of the motion picture code.

This clause means that if the distributor offered to the exhibitor at one time a group of pictures, and the exhibitor purchased all of such group, and the rentals thereof averaged not more than $250, then the exhibitor is entitled to cancel 10 per cent of the pictures in the block released after December 7. But, if the distributor offered at the same time more pictures than those actually purchased, and the exhibitor took some and refused the others, then he is not entitled to any cancellations under the code—because in order to get the cancellation privilege the exhibitor must have purchased all of the pictures offered by the distributor at one time, and the exhibitor has exercised his rejection privilege at the time the group of pictures was offered to him, and before the contract was signed.

▽ ▽ ▽

No. 38—NON-UNION OPERATOR'S RIGHTS UNDER CODE

QUESTION—Recently I was discharged from a theatre as projectionist, where another man and myself had been working as non-union. The other fellow was allowed to remain and take out a card in the union. Another union man was put on the job. Have I any recourse under the code, and how do I go about it?—NEW YORK.

ANSWER—The situation described above whereby the operator was discharged apparently because of non-unionism is most unusual. There have been numerous complaints from operators who were discharged for union activities, but this is the first instance on record in this department where the theatre owner fired a worker evidently for being non-union.

There is a clause in the motion picture code which says specifically that no employee and no one seeking employment shall be required as a condition of employment to refrain from joining, organizing or assisting a labor or union organization of his own choosing. But no place in the code does it say that the employment of a worker shall not be interfered with because such employee is non-union.

It is suggested that the complaining non-union projectionist who was discharged present the situation in a letter to Mr. Sol A. Rosenblatt, NRA Division Administrator in charge of amusement codes at the Department of Commerce Building in Washington. It is not believed, however, that any recourse can be taken.

"PAID TWELVE DOLLARS FOR A BIRD"

SAYS EAGLE SEEMS TO SHRIEK "SUCKER!"

To the Editor of the Herald:

Bold is the task when subjects grown too wise,
Instruct a monarch where his error lies.

For the information of those who may not know, Homer, the blind poet, wrote those lines ages ago. And here comes a poet (?) of far lesser note to echo the lines that immortal poet wrote.

But it would appear, from recent developments, that certain monarchs need to have their errors (if they were really errors) pointed out to them.

This writer is painfully aware that he who claims he thoroughly understands the working of NRA code as applied to motion pictures brands himself as a liar, while he who admits that he does not understand any part of it, by the same token, brands himself as an ignoramus. Well, until someone deigns to enlighten me (have found no deigners yet) I'm just a plain fool.

For instance, for what purpose or on what pretext am I, operating a 350-seat theatre in a town of eleven hundred population, with about a seven thousand annual gross in dollars, without the slightest threat of unfair competition, assessed to the tune of twelve dollars annually? They say the little fellow is lost sight of, forgotten. Don't you believe it, Buddy. At least, the didn't lose sight of me until they took a shot at me and hit the bull's-eyes for $12.00.

After that, their forgetter was put into operation, but mine died while a quite lively curiosity was born in its place.

We small exhibitors are like the fellows who were not invited to the feast but are asked to pay the cover charge.

I have asked those in authority to explain just what benefits are supposed to accrue from this assessment, but up to date they have maintained a dignified silence. They also maintain the $12.00 I paid. Which makes it just a dandy, but for whom?

Twelve dollar assessment for a theatre that grosses less than ten thousand annually, eight times that much for a theatre that grosses one thousand times as much annually.

By what process of mathematics do they arrive at such a basis? Even the Blue Eagle that adorns my ticket office seems to regard me with contempt. Which, perhaps, is well merited. To think I paid twelve dollars for a bird and all it seems to want to sing is "You're A Damn Sucker."

Understand, this is the first word I have spoken or written criticizing the NRA. I'm heart and soul with the Administration in its efforts to improve conditions generally. Am still of the opinion that much good has been done. Am an enthusiastic Roosevelt man, none more so. But this particular phase of the NRA activity shrieks to heaven with its unfair methods.

Not one of those in power will even try to explain why a large theatre that grosses a thousand times as much annually as some small theatres, are only assessed eight times as much. You are merely told to pay it and like it. I paid it and I just don't like it, and that's that.—Peter Bylsma, Victory Theatre, Napoleonville, La.

SAYS PRODUCERS TOO SHOULD DO SOMETHING

To the Editor of the Herald:

I have been watching the stir of articles which have followed in the wake of Mr. Quigley's article, "The Public Be Damned." Being of an inquisitive and curious nature I tried to find out just what the average exhibitor thought of the problem of continuous performances. Just as I expected, I found that the exhibitor was using the same short-sightedness in thinking of this problem as I have almost always found him using in regard to most problems of similar nature.

There seems to be universal agreement on the point that everybody concerned would benefit greatly (in the long run) if the public could see the picture from the beginning. This much settled, one would naturally think that the exhibitor would set out to do something to this end.

If you will talk to him you will find that he is afraid to advertise his starting time for various petty and selfish reasons, one being that his competitor will not advertise the starting time, and as a result he will lose some patronage to this competitor. Other reasons practically without foundation will be advanced, and by the time you have talked to him for thirty minutes you will be convinced that here is a hopeless case. Let's forget about attacking that end of the situation, because at best a band of zealous missionaries harping on the subject in Billy Sunday style could only realize mediocre results.

But there is a hopeful angle in my humble opinion. Mr. Darryl Zanuck states in your issue of May 5, 1934: "We are fully cognizant of the harm done us but what can we do about it? It is not our problem."

I would say that while the problem does seem to belong to the exhibitor, the producers will do themselves a good turn to take it upon themselves. It is up to the producers to make the public conscious of the fact that there is a lot to be gained by seeing the picture from the start. If this can be done, and it seems entirely possible, then the exhibitor will have to advertise to a discriminating public the time of his features. He might not like it at first, but like a bad boy it will finally dawn on him that it pays to be good. In setting forth the idea of how to make the public "conscious," there will no doubt be those who will say that the public is too dumb, or too slow to react. That only reminds me of the hams who have often said, "What a dumb audience — my act went right over their heads — they sat on their hands." After seeing some of these acts, I found that they were smart audiences.

Some few weeks ago I saw a trailer on "Death Takes a Holiday" during which it stated that the picture should be seen from the beginning to be enjoyed. I have, since reading "The Public Be Damned," talked to several exhibitors, and inquired if during the engagement of this picture an unusual number of calls were received. The answers to my questions didn't show that a panacea had been discovered but some of the exhibitors did recall a great number of calls asking for starting time. The public after all can't be made conscious from one trailer!

Let all the major producers get together and start a campaign wherein the public is advised that they will be the gainers if they see the picture from the beginning. This wording in short and snappy form could be tagged to each trailer or inserted in the trailer in the spot where it would fit best. National outlets for publicity could be used, such as Parsons, Merrick, etc. Keep this up for a while and the seed would soon become fruit. Once the public insists on knowing the starting time—the rest of the problem will solve itself.

Maybe a national contest could be conducted for a slogan such as "You'll enjoy it more—if you see it from the start!" Tag the slogan on all trailers for 90 days and watch the result.

Just an idea but thought I would send it in. I would like to know what others think about it.—Fred B. Nicholson, manager display division, Kubin Poster Process Co., 2439 W. Fond Du Lac Ave., Milwaukee, Wis.

SUGGESTS FEWER DAILY SHOWINGS

To the Editor of the Herald:

For the past several weeks I have been reading articles written by theatrical men from coast to coast, expressing their ideas in regard to Martin Quigley's article entitled "The Public Be Damned," which appeared in a recent issue of the Motion Picture Herald.

It is quite evident that the public would receive more entertainment from the same programs, that others trying to enjoy a picture would not be disturbed by some entering or leaving, and in general it would be of great advantage to all concerned if the public could be urged to attend at the beginning of the picture.

Under the present methods of theatre operation, where one program is run through the machines immediately following another, I don't think that the whole thing is practical. The public is careless about attending the theatre in time to see the feature from the start and will continue to be just as long as they are permitted to sit through from one showing to the next. I still maintain that the only way to right this condition is to reduce the number of daily showings and have slight intervals between shows. When the exhibitors have accomplished this, advertisements carrying starting times may have some effect upon the public.—Theodore Schlosser, Essanoe Amusement Co., Mt. Vernon, Ky.

Louach Pathe Officer

T. P. Louach has been elected secretary and assistant treasurer of Pathe Exchange, Inc., succeeding John C. Walsh, resigned.

VERGIE WINTERS LOVED A MAN . .

. . that's all life meant to her!

Her story throbs with a heart-beat too seldom heard from the screen . . . her story makes one of the grand pictures of all time.

ANN HARDING
and JOHN BOLES

in

"THE LIFE OF VERGIE WINTERS"

with

Helen Vinson Betty Furness

Directed by Alfred Santell
From the story by Louis Bromfield

RKO Radio PICTURES

TECHNOLOGICAL

The BLUEBOOK School

By F. H. RICHARDSON

BLUEBOOK SCHOOL QUESTION NO. 226.—(A) What projection text books have you found that contained reliable, dependable projection information? (B) Name those various publications you have found to be most helpful to you in your work, referring to instruction therein. I want an honest, straightforward answer. My desire is to list those various books and publications that practical projectionists have found really dependable and helpfull, so that I may myself commend them to others. (C) What is your own view with regard to the effect of issuing projectionist licenses? (D) What various losses are almost certainly set up by incompetence in the projectionist, or carelessness in the work?

Answer to Question No. 220

Bluebook School Question No. 220 was: (A) How would you determine, by calculation or otherwise, the focal length of a projection lens to project a screen image of any desired dimensions at a given distance? (B) Are tables purporting to advise what dimensioned screen image a projection lens will project at a given distance reliable? State reasons for your answer. (C) Is diameter of projection lens an important factor in efficiency?

Those making good on these are: G. E. Doe; C. Rau and S. Evans; D. Danielson; J. Wentworth; H. Edwards; A. F. Sprafke; T. Van Vaulkenburg; J. R. Richmond; R. De Totto; D. Ferguson; L. Cimikoski; J. R. Walker; D. Goldberg and L. Hutch; D. Habor and D. Breaston; G. Thompson; J. Hendershot; Nic Granby; L. M. Richards; D. U. Granger; G. Johnson and L. R. Spooner; R. and K. Wells; B. R. Walker; L. R. Doty; E. M. Ingram; F. H. S. and P. Dalbey; L. M. Richards; G. Harrison and F. Harlor; B. T. Canter; L. M. and C. B. Traxler; M. Henderson and K. L. Knight; J. Jensen and D. C. Lode; O. L. Daris and F. Simms; L. N. Haynes and A. Richardson; M. and J. DeVoy; L. Grant and R. Geddings; F. L. Savlor and G. N. Guidetti; G. Lathrope and N. L. Tomlinson; O. Allbright; M. U. Sampson; M. F. Fallon; P. Itt; M. L. Spooner; D. Howard and J. Jurts; D. H. and L. B. Palmer; T. H. Morton, L. Klar and F. H. Klar; G. R. Squires; P. and L. Felt; L. Thomas and D. D. Davis; T. T. Golley; R. S. Fielder; G. Mason; F. Y. Gradley and B. L. Donald; J. Gensen, D. L. Lode, K. Y. Spencer and B. H. Sanders; U. L. Danielson; M. Spencer and D. Arlen; L. R. O'Leary; D. U. Danielson; R. D. Oberleigh and J. Lansing; B. R. Mills and N. Prane; S. Sponner and B. H. Thaller; A. L. Dodson and F. L. Benton; D. Lally and F. Ferguson; M. and S. T. Gibson; H. R. Baldwin; D. L. Sinklow; D. L. Monehan and L. B. Bryant; B. W. Williams and L. H. Daniels; B. True and L. U. Genesen; B. S. Howard.

(A) Replying to this section, T. Van Vaulkenburg says:

"First the exact width of aperture must be known, which may be either a slide mat or the projector aperture. Having this measurement and having made decision as to the width of screen image it is desired to project, by preference using a steel tape line (other sort not dependable—may stretch), measure exact distance center of long barrel to center of screen.

"Having this data, multiply lens-to-screen distance in feet, by aperture width (in inches if a slide mat; in fractions of an inch if a motion picture) and divide that result by width of desired screen image, in feet. Final result will be E. F. of required lens, but picture width will only hold good at vertical center of screen if there be a projection angle."

(B) D. Ferguson says:

"The lens tables referred to are all right for approximate results, but they are not precisely correct. The lens manufacturers themselves allow a small tolerance of error, admitting it is impractical to grind all the various lenses in an assemblage so that the final result will be exact. Some manufacturers place a plus or minus sign after the E. F. rating. Others stamp the variation in figures."

(C) J. R. Walker answers thus:

"The diameter of a projection lens is very important in the matter of efficiency, because under conditions where the amperage is high and the working distance of the projection lens long, a small diameter objective means heavy loss in efficiency—waste of light—as well as uneven illumination of the screen, with consequent loss in "depth" in the picture itself. In cases of heavy projection angles, though, it is impossible to use a large free diameter objective and obtain a sharp focus. In short, it is best to use a lens with a free diameter no larger than that necessary to accommodate the picture bearing (actual) beam."

Well, men, the well known summer, with its heat and beads of perspiration, will soon be upon us. Heat breeds laziness, but don't let's have the usual hot weather falling off in "attendance." Possibly your theatre may shut down. Let us hope not, but if it does, surely you can scare up a three-cent stamp each week, so stick to it and don't be one of those well-known slackers.

If you get lazy, just look at Brothers Evans and Rau, who have, I believe, not missed one week in—well, I don't quite know myself when they did start, but it was anyhow two or three years ago. In fact, I think it was more than that, and they tell us they have benefited by it, too. All honor to them.

There are others, too, though none with quite such a record as Evans and Rau. G. E. Doe has been with us off and on for a long, long while. J. Wentworth, T. Van Vaulkenburg, H. Edwards, Goldberg and Hutch and many others have, too. However, above all for courage and stick-to-itiveness, I honor four men who have not missed sending in an answer of some sort for more than two years, yet only a very few times in all that space have I felt able to squeeze their names in as answering correctly.

I wrote one of them recently about one of his answers. In replying, he said:

"I want to thank you, Mr. Richardson, for all the great help the Bluebook School has been to me. I really am beginning, I believe, to know something, and if I do I owe it to the School and you. I know I can give my boss much better value in work than I used to. He knows it, too. It was he who really made me start trying to answer the questions and kept me at it until finally it became almost a habit and at last I began to get where I could see it really was helping me.

"If ever you get out this way I want you to stop over, anyhow a day. I'll guarantee that while we have only a small town, we'll see that you get the best it can give you, including some of the finest fishing ever. My boss joins me in the invitation."

—

Did you ever make a blunder so perfectly completely foolish that you wondered how, in the name of all that was wonderful, you did it? Well, on page 78 the May 19 issue I somehow managed, in the answer to section C of question 224, to say: "Equivalent focus (E. F.), as used in projection work, is the distance from the optical center of the lens combination to the screen, when the screen image is in sharp focus."

Now, how that happened—well, you are at liberty to search me! It comes very close to being the projection distance and is in fact one of the conjugate foci points of a projection lens.

The equivalent focus of a projection lens is one-fourth the distance from object to image when object and image are both the same size. Your pardon, gentlemen!

Hicks With Hygrade

John DeTarr Hicks, formerly with De-Forest, has been named Pacific Coast sales representative for Hygrade Sylvania Corporation, with headquarters in Los Angeles.

"Sadie McKee" is a smash hit . . . coming directly after "Dancing Lady" it emphasizes the money draw of Joan Crawford.

MARCHES ON!

THEATRE RECEIPTS

The total of theatre receipts for the calendar week ended May 26, 1934, from 109 houses in 19 major cities of the country, reached $1,049,881, a decrease of $424 from the total for the previous calendar week, ended May 19, when 105 theatres in 18 cities reported an aggregate gross of $1,050,305.

(Copyright, 1934: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to MOTION PICTURE HERALD expressly forbidden)

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
Boston			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Boston	2,900	25c-50c	"The Party's Over" (Col.) and "The Line-Up" (Col.)	18,000	"Keep 'Em Rolling" (Radio) and "Where Sinners Meet" (Radio)	20,000	High 1-13-34 "Fog"	23,500
Fenway	1,800	30c-50c	"Such Women Are Dangerous" (Fox) and "Private Scandal" (Para.)	8,000	"Registered Nurse" (F. N.) and "All Men Are Enemies" (Fox)	8,500	Low 3-11 "Topaze"	11,000
							High 1-14 "Island of Lost Souls" and "Billion Dollar Scandal"	15,000
							Low 7-29 "She Had to Say Yes" and "Arizona to Broadway"	6,000
Keith's	3,500	30c-50c	"Stingaree" (Radio)	18,500	"Twentieth Century" (Col.)	18,000	High 12-2 "Little Women"	28,000
Loew's State	3,700	35c-50c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.)	18,000	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM)	19,000	Low 3-11 "When Strangers Marry"	12,000
Metropolitan	4,350	30c-65c	"Change of Heart" (Fox)	30,000	"Thirty Day Princess" (Para.)	32,000	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	23,000
							Low 3-11 "Men Must Fight"	11,000
							High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	44,500
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	26,500
Paramount	1,800	30c-50c	"Such Women Are Dangerous" (Fox) and "Private Scandal" (Para.)	9,000	"Registered Nurse" (F. N.) and "All Men Are Enemies" (Fox)	9,000	High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "Deception"	17,000
							Low 8-12 "Mary Stevens, M.D." and "Flying Devils"	8,000
Buffalo
Buffalo	3,500	30c-55c	"Sadie McKee" (MGM)	14,300	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.)	17,100	High 12-9 "Dancing Lady"	31,000
							Low 3-25 "Our Betters"	9,800
Century	3,000	25c	"Come On, Marines" (Para.) and "Sing and Like It" (Radio)	6,000	"Deluge" (Radio) and "I Believed in You" (Fox) (5 days)	4,800	High 4-21-34 "The Lost Patrol" and "Three on a Honeymoon"	8,100
							Low 12-16 "Solitaire Man" and "Day of Reckoning"	3,500
Hippodrome	2,100	25c-40c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (2nd week)	8,500	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (1st week)	18,000	High 5-19-34 "The House of Rothschild"	18,000
Hollywood	300	25c-40c	"Thunder Over Mexico" (Principal) and "You Made Me Love You" (Majestic) (2nd week)	800	"Thunder Over Mexico" (Principal) and "You Made Me Love You" (Majestic) (1st week)	1,000	Low 8-26 "Moonlight and Pretzels"	5,100
							High 1-7 "Goona Goona"	2,600
							Low 11-25 "Night and Day"	400
Lafayette	3,300	25c	"Gambling Lady" (W. B.) and "Manhattan Love Song" (Monogram)	7,900	"The Ninth Guest" (Col.) and "Beggars in Ermine" (Monogram)	5,900	High 3-10-34 "It Happened One Night" and "Before Midnight"	16,700
							Low 12-23 "Myrt and Marge"	4,800
Chicago
Chicago	4,000	35c-68c	"Thirty Day Princess" Para.) (5 days)	19,000	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM)	40,000	High 9-2 "Goodbye Again"	75,000
							Low 4-29 "Central Airport"	22,000
McVicker's	2,284	30c-60c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM) (2nd week)	10,000	"Viva Villa!" (MGM) (1st week)	15,000	High 4-14-34 "Wonder Bar"	23,000
Oriental	3,940	25c-40c	"Once to Every Woman" (Col.)	12,000	"The Show-Off" (MGM)	14,000	Low 7-1 "The Woman I Stole"	5,000
							High 10-14 "I'm No Angel"	50,000
Palace	2,509	35c-75c	"Stingaree" (Radio)	17,000	"Finishing School" (Radio)	15,000	Low 12-16 "A Man's Castle"	10,000
							High 9-9 "Morning Glory"	37,000
							Low 4-28-34 "Glamour"	11,500
Roosevelt	1,591	25c-50c	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM)	7,500	"The Ninth Guest" (Col.)	6,500	High 10-14 "Penthouse"	16,000
							Low 3-4 "Luxury Liner"	6,200
State-Lake	2,776	20c-35c	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)	12,500	"I Believed in You" (Fox)	12,000	High 1-13-34 "Goodbye Love"	18,000
							Low 2-18 "Lucky Devils"	4,500
United Artists	1,700	30c-60c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (4th week)	9,000	"The House of Rothschild" (U. A.) (3rd week)	12,500	High 5-5-34 "The House of Rothschild"	30,000
							Low 3-18 "Perfect Understanding"	6,800
Cleveland
Allen	3,300	25c-35c	"Damaged Lives" (Weldon) (2nd week) (20c-40c)	1,500	"Damaged Lives" (Weldon) (1st week)	5,500	High 11-11 "Private Life of Henry VIII"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "Infernal Machine" and "Exposure"	1,800
Hippodrome	3,800	30c-44c	"Such Women Are Dangerous" (Fox)	3,500	"Registered Nurse" (F. N.)	8,500	High 10-21 "East of Fifth Avenue"	30,000
							Low 6-10 "Circus Queen Murder"	2,900
RKO Palace	3,100	30c-44c	"Change of Heart" (Fox) (9 days)	13,500	"Where Sinners Meet" (Radio) (5 days)	4,000	High 3-3-34 "It Happened One Night"	28,000
							Low 8-19 "No Marriage Ties"	4,200
State	3,400	30c-44c	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM)	13,000	"Viva Villa!" (MGM)	16,500	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	26,000
							Low 6-24 "The Eagle and the Hawk"	5,000
Stillman	1,900	25c-35c	"The Trumpet Blows" (Para.) and "Mystery Liner" (Monogram) (20c-40c)	4,000	"Laughing Boy" (MGM) and "He Couldn't Take It" (Monogram)	3,600	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	9,000
							Low 11-18 "Stage Mother" and "Hell and High Water"	2,500
Warner's Lake	800	30c-40c	"A Modern Hero" (W. B.) and "Twin Husbands" (Chesterfield) (5 days)	800	"Harold Teen" (W. B.) and "Picture Brides" (Allied)	1,900	High 10-28 "Footlight Parade"	10,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Easy to Love"	1,500
Denver
Aladdin	1,500	25c-50c	"As the Earth Turns" (W. B.)	2,500	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (3rd week)	4,000	High 2-25 "Cavalcade"	10,000
							Low 5-26-34 "As the Earth Turns"	2,500
Denham	1,500	25c-40c	"Thirty Day Princess" (Para.)	3,500	"You're Telling Me" (Para.)	5,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	16,000
							Low 6-3 "Mussolini Speaks," "Night of Terror" and "Soldiers of the Storm"	1,950
Denver	2,500	25c-50c	"Change of Hearts" (Fox)	5,500	"Viva Villa!" (MGM)	9,000	High 1-13-34 "Roman Scandals"	17,500
							Low 12-16 "The World Changes"	3,000
Orpheum	2,600	25c-55c	"Merry Wives of Reno" (W. B.)	7,500	"Such Women Are Dangerous" (Fox)	9,500	High 2-17-34 "Hi, Nellie!"	19,500
							Low 6-10 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,750
Paramount	2,000	25c-40c	"The Crosby Case" (U.) and "Love Bird" (U.) (2 days)	1,200	"Journal of a Crime" (F. N.) (4 days)	500	High 4-1 "The Kid From Spain"	7,000
			"Viva Villa!" (MGM) (5 days)	1,800	"The Crosby Case" (U.) and "Love Birds" (U.) (3 days)	1,500	Low 4-7-34 "Ever Since Eve" and "Son of Kong"	1,500
Detroit
Fisher	2,700	15c-40c	"Private Scandal" (Para.)	5,600	"Men in White" (MGM)	6,000	High 1-28 "Silver Dollar"	15,400
							Low 3-18 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	3,100
Fox	5,100	15c-50c	"Stingaree" (Radio)	18,600	"Sisters Under the Skin" (Col.)	22,900	High 9-16 "Sing, Sinner, Sing"	32,300
							Low 5-15 "After the Ball" and "Afraid to Talk"	5,400
Michigan	4,000	15c-50c	"Viva Villa" (MGM)	25,000	"Tarzan and His Mate" (MGM)	20,000	High 4-7-34 "Mystery of Mr. X"	31,400
							Low 7-1 "College Humor"	7,300
United Artists	2,000	25c-50c	"The House of Rothschild" (U. A.) (3rd week)	7,800	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (2nd week)	10,750	High 5-12-34 "The House of Rothschild"	17,600
							Low 3-25 "The Sign of the Cross"	4,100

BOX OFFICE PICTURES

Right when you need them most!

•

"The PARTY'S OVER"

STUART ERWIN—ANN SOTHERN

Arline Judge—Chick Chandler

Patsy Kelly

From the stage comedy hit by Daniel Kusell

Directed by Walter Lang

•

"Comedy gem! Another box-office bell-ringer!"
—Box Office

JACK HOLT in "BLACK MOON"

with FAY WRAY

Dorothy Burgess

From the Cosmopolitan Magazine novel by Clements Ripley

Directed by Roy William Neill

•

A hauntingly beautiful drama of love in the tropics!

"MOST PRECIOUS THING IN LIFE"

with

JEAN ARTHUR—DONALD COOK

RICHARD CROMWELL

From the McCall Magazine story by Travis Ingham

Directed by Lambert Hillyer

•

A powerful drama of a woman who lost a great love—only to find a still greater love!

"THE HELL CAT"

with

ROBERT ARMSTRONG

ANN SOTHERN

Minna Gombell

Screen play by Fred Niblo, Jr.

Directed by Albert Rogell

•

Wild, fiery—no man could tame her—but love was her master!

Columbia

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	50c-$1.65	"The House of Rothschild" (U. A.) (7th week)	14,039	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (6th week)	15,390	High 9-9 "Dinner at Eight"	36,656
							Low 4-1 "King Kong"	14,600
Pantages	3,000	25c-40c	"Laughing Boy" (MGM) and "Affairs of a Gentleman" (U.)	3,800	"Tomorrow's Children" (Foy)	3,500	High 1-7 "Handle With Care"	13,000
							Low 3-3-34 "Fugitive Lovers" and "The Poor Rich"	1,500
W.B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-55c	"Registered Nurse" (F. N.)	11,000	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.) (2nd week)	9,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	26,000
							Low 1-27-34 "The Big Shakedown"	7,000
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	20c-40c	"Change of Heart" (Fox)	5,000	"Now I'll Tell" (Fox)	2,000	High 2-18 "State Fair"	7,000
							Low 5-19-34 "Now I'll Tell"	2,000
Circle	2,800	20c-40c	"Murder at the Vanities" (Para.)	4,500	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F.N.) (9 days)	8,000	High 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "The Sign of the Cross" (2nd run)	2,500
Indiana	3,100	20c-40c	"Finishing School" (Radio) and "Sisters Under the Skin" (Col.)	3,000	"The Trumpet Blows" (Para.) and "As the Earth Turns" (W. B.)	2,500	High 3-25 "Parachute Jumper"	15,000
							Low 5-19-34 "The Trumpet Blows" and "As the Earth Turns"	2,500
Lyric	2,000	20c-40c	"The Black Cat" (U.)	6,000	"Merry Wives of Reno" (W. B.)	5,500	High 7-22 "College Humor"	9,500
							Low 11-11 "Saturday's Millions"	3,000
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM)	5,500	"Viva Villa!" (MGM)	4,500	High 2-3-34 "Sons of the Desert"	12,500
							Low 12-16 "Women in His Life"	3,500
Kansas City
Mainstreet	3,049	25c-40c	"Registered Nurse" (F. N.) (7 days and Sat. late show)	10,000	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.) and "No Greater Glory" (Col.) (7 days and Sat. late show)	6,600	High 10-28 "Ace of Aces"	21,000
							Low 5-20 "Sweepings"	4,000
Midland	4,000	25c	"Sadie McKee" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	13,400	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	11,700	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	30,000
Newman	1,800	25c	"Thirty Day Princess" (Para.) and "Uncertain Lady" (U.) (7 days and Sat. late show)	4,500	"You're Telling Me" (Para.) and "A Modern Hero" (W. B.) (7 days and Sat. late show)	5,800	Low 4-15 "Perfect Understanding"	4,900
							High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	20,000
							Low 5-27 "Picture Snatcher"	2,800
Tower	2,200	25c	"Countess of Monte Cristo" (U.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	5,100	"Whirlpool" (Col.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	4,700	High 5-26-34 "Countess of Monte Cristo"	5,100
							Low 5-5-34 "Let's Fall in Love"	4,000
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"Change of Heart" (Fox)	3,400	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox) (2nd week)	2,750	High 1-6-34 "Mr. Skitch"	8,500
							Low 7-1 "Lilly Turner"	1,600
Los Angeles
Filmarte	800	40c-50c	"The Fortune Teller" (W. B.)	1,500	"Heart Song" (Fox)	1,500	High 4-14-34 "Moon Over Morocco"	7,600
							Low 5-12-34 "Through the Centuries"	500
Loew's State	2,416	30c-55c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM)	26,000	"Men in White" (MGM)	20,500	High 4-7-34 "Riptide"	28,500
							Low 2-24-34 "Coming Out Party"	4,870
Paramount	3,596	30c-55c	"Private Scandal" (Para.)	18,000	"Thirty Day Princess" (Para.)	19,785	High 1-7 "No Man of Her Own"	30,000
							Low 3-18 "King of the Jungle"	10,000
RKO	2,700	25c-40c	"Wild Cargo" (Radio) (2nd week)	3,500	"Wild Cargo" (Radio) (1st week)	9,500	High 3-31-34 "Little Women"	15,500
							Low 9-30 "Brief Moment"	1,700
United Artists	2,100	25c-40c	"Murder at the Vanities" (Para.)	9,500			High 10-21 "The Bowery"	21,000
							Low 1-28 "Hello, Everybody"	3,900
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-55c	"Upper World" (W. B.)	9,000	"A Very Honorable Guy" (F. N.)	8,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	19,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Easy to Love"	7,000
Minneapolis
Century	1,650	25c-40c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (2nd week)	5,000	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (1st week)	5,000	High 4-22 "Secrets"	5,500
							Low 3-11 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	2,500
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"The Trumpet Blows" (Para.)	2,000	"Tarzan and His Mate" (MGM)	1,500	High 4-1 "20,000 Years in Sing Sing"	3,000
							Low 11-11 "I Loved a Woman"	1,000
Minnesota	4,000	25c-50c	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox)	8,000	"Men in White" (MGM) (2nd week)	9,000	High 11-11 "I'm No Angel"	10,000
							Low 2-3-34 "Eskimo"	7,000
RKO Orpheum	2,900	25c-50c	"Stingaree" (Radio)	6,000	"Twentieth Century" (Col.)	5,500	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	14,000
							Low 3-11 "Cynara"	3,000
State	2,300	25c-40c	"Thirty Day Princess" (Para.)	5,500	"The Witching Hour" (Para.)	5,500	High 4-29 "Cavalcade"	8,000
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	3,500
World	400	25c-75c	"I Was a Spy" (Fox)	2,000	"Beloved" (U.)	2,000	High 5-5-34 "Private Life of Henry VIII" (5th week)	4,300
							Low 11-25 "Vi Som Gar Koksvagen"	1,000
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-60c	"Tarzan and His Mate" (MGM) and "Private Scandal" (Para.)	9,500	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.) and "Double Door" (Para.)	9,500	High 2-24-34 "Queen Christina"	13,500
							Low 12-23 "Havana Widows and "Ever in My Heart"	7,500
Loew's	3,115	25c-75c	"I'll Tell the World" (U.) and "Glamour" (U.)	8,500	"The Trumpet Blows" (Para.) and "Love Birds" (U.) (25c-65c)	8,500	High 1-21 "The Mask of Fu Manchu"	14,500
							Low 9-30 "Turn Back the Clock" and "Emergency Call"	7,500
Palace	2,600	25c-75c	"As the Earth Turns" (W.B.) and "A Very Honorable Guy" (F. N.)	9,000	"Bottoms Up" (Fox) and "You're Telling Me" (Para.)	10,000	High 2-18 "The Sign of the Cross"	15,500
							Low 4-14-34 "Melody in Spring" and "Wharf Angel"	8,500
Princess	2,272	25c-65c	"Palooka" (U. A.) and "Social Register" (Col.)	7,500	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) and "Chance at Heaven" (Radio) (3rd week)	7,000	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain" and "Speed Demon"	12,000
							Low 12-23 "Sing, Sinner, Sing" and "The Chief"	5,000
New York
Astor	1,012	55c-$2.20	"The House of Rothschild" (U. A.) (10th week)	15,800	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (9th week)	16,900	High 4-14-34 "The House of Rothschild" (4th week)	23,730
							Low 3-25 "The White Sister"	14,559
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"Sadie McKee" (MGM)	45,000	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM) (2nd week)	42,000	High 4-7-34 "Riptide"	63,373
							Low 2-10-34 "You Can't Buy Everything"	15,500
Mayfair	2,300	35c-85c	"Murder in Trinidad" (Fox)	7,500	"Cheaters" (Liberty) (6 days)	2,700	High 1-7 "The Half Naked Truth"	24,750
							Low 5-19-34 "Cheaters" (6 days)	2,700
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"Change of Heart" (Fox)	9,500	"Twentieth Century" (Col.)	10,600	High 2-4 "Animal Kingdom"	16,150
							Low 4-15 "Parole Girl"	4,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"Little Miss Marker" (Para.)	35,000	"Thirty Day Princess" (Para.)	31,000	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	83,450
							Low 2-4 "Hello, Everybody"	15,600
Rialto	2,200	25c-65c	"Crime Doctor" (Radio) (2nd week—8 days)	8,200	"Crime Doctor" (Radio) (1st week)	14,000	High 4-7-34 "The Lost Patrol"	32,800
							Low 4-15 "Destination Unknown" and "The Fighting President"	5,800
Rivoli	2,200	35c-99c	"Murder at the Vanities" (Para.)	19,500	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.) (3rd week-11 days)	14,800	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	48,000
							Low 8-5 "The Rebel"	7,200
RKO Center	3,700	25c-55c	"Twentieth Century" (Col.)	7,900	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox) (4 days) "Wharf Angel" (Para.) (3 days)	5,500	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	71,267
							Low 3-17-34 "Fashion Frolics of 1934" and "Let Fall in Love"	4,800
RKO Music Hall	5,945	35c-$1.65	"Stingaree" (Radio)	61,000	"Change of Heart" (Fox)	67,000	High 11-25 "Little Women"	109,000
							Low 6-17 "Ann Carver's Profession"	44,938
Roxy	6,200	25c-65c	"The Black Cat" (U.)	18,900	"Glamour" (U.)	16,830	High 11-25 "The Invisible Man"	42,000
							Low 1-28 "Air Hostess"	9,100
Strand	3,000	25c-$1.10	"He Was Her Man" (W.B.)	11,742	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.) (3rd week-6 days)	10,000	High 10-14 "Footlight Parade"	55,190
							Low 12-23 "Sin of Nora Moran"	6,850

ALLEZ OOP!

SWING YOUR AUDIENCE INTO THE SPIRIT OF FUN..

BUSTER KEATON as the daring young man on the flying trapeze . . . in "ALLEZ OOP!"

ERNEST TRUEX "The Expectant Father" is still one of the most talked about comedies of the season. Watch for "LOVE AND BABIES"

ANDY CLYDE has one of his biggest hits coming . . . "HALF BAKED RELATIONS"

TOM HOWARD goes on the Indian warpath and whoops up the laughs in "A GOOD SCOUT"

That glum looking crowd it seems so hard to please
Will burst into laughs with the greatest of ease

WHEN YOU START OFF YOUR SHOW WITH ONE OF Educational's

BIG STAR TWO-REEL COMEDIES

Have you played those nutty

THREE RITZ BROTHERS

in

"HOTEL ANCHOVY"

They're a circus all by themselves

Educational Pictures
"THE SPICE OF THE PROGRAM"

Distributed in the U. S. A. by FOX Film Corporation

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"Thirty Day Princess" (Para.)	2,900	"A Very Honorable Guy" (F. N.)	1,500	High 1-6-34 "Going Hollywood"	4,100
							Low 3-11 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,350
Criterion	1,700	10c-56c	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.)	4,500	"Men in White" (MGM)	5,800	High 11-18 "College Coach"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "Clear All Wires"	1,800
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	"A Modern Hero" (W. B.) (4 days)	1,900	"A Man's Castle" (Col.) (4 days)	2,000	High 9-2 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	3,900
			"Countess of Monte Cristo" (U.) (3 days)	1,400	"Smarty" (W. B.) (3 days)	1,500	Low 3-18 "The Death Kiss" and "The Fourth Horseman"	1,100
Midwest	1,500	10c-56c	"Merry Wives of Reno" (W.B.)	2,000	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox)	3,400	High 2-25 "State Fair"	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Employees' Entrance"	1,400
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	25c-35c	"Stingaree" (Radio) and "The Crime Doctor" (Radio) (6 days)	3,500	"Twentieth Century" (Col.) and "Sisters Under the Skin" (Col.) (6 days)	3,500	High 11-18 "One Man's Journey"	10,750
							Low 12-30 "The World Changes" and "Havana Widows"	3,500
Orpheum	3,000	25c-40c	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM) and "Uncertain Lady" (U.)	8,500	"You're Telling Me" (Para.) (25c-50c)	14,500	High 3-10-34 "Easy to Love"	17,250
							Low 4-29 "Sweepings"	5,000
Paramount	2,900	25c-40c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM)	7,200	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.)	6,750	High 7-22 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	13,250
							Low 2-24-34 "Six of a Kind" and "Good Dame"	5,250
World	2,500	25c-35c	"I'll Tell the World" (U.) and "All Men Are Enemies" (Fox)	3,500	"As the Earth Turns" (W. B.) and "Smoky" (Fox)	3,250	High 6-3 "Peg O' My Heart" and "Perfect Understanding"	7,500
							Low 5-19-34 "As the Earth Turns" and "Smoky"	3,250
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	40c-65c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (4th week-6 days)	8,500	"The House of Rothschild" (U. A.) (3rd week-6 days)	13,000	High 5-5-34 "The House of Rothschild"	23,000
							Low 9-30 "Bitter Sweet"	4,800
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	"Wharf Angel" (Para.) (5 days)	1,200	"Such Women Are Dangerous" (Fox) (6 days)	1,600	High 1-6-34 "Duck Soup" (7 days)	6,500
							Low 5-27 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,500
Boyd	2,400	40c-65c	"Sadie McKee" (MGM) (2nd week-5 days)	9,000	"Sadie McKee" (MGM) (1st week-6 days)	16,500	High 1-6-34 "Little Women"	30,000
							Low 12-23 "Right to Romance"	8,000
Earle	2,000	40c-65c	"This Man Is Mine" (Radio) (6 days)	18,000	"You're Telling Me" (Para.) (6 days)	15,500	High 4-7-34 "Harold Teen"	40,000
							Low 10-21 "Saturday's Millions"	10,000
Fox	3,000	30c-60c	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox) (2nd week-6 days)	13,000	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox) (1st week-6 days)	20,000	High 4-22 "Cavalcade"	29,000
							Low 8-5 "F. P. 1"	13,000
Karlton	1,000	30c-50c	"Glamour" (U.) (6 days)	2,900	"Laughing Boy" (MGM) (6 days)	2,500	High 4-8 "42nd Street"	7,700
							Low 5-19-34 "Laughing Boy"	2,500
Stanley	3,700	40c-65c	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM) (6 days)	13,000	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.) (6 days)	11,000	High 11-25 "I'm No Angel"	32,500
							Low 6-10 "The Silver Cord"	9,000
Stanton	1,700	30c-55c	"The Witching Hour" (Para.) (5 days)	4,200	"Merry Wives of Reno" (W. B.) (6 days)	5,400	High 6-3 "The Little Giant"	10,000
							Low 7-14 "I Love That Man"	4,000
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F.N.)	5,700	"Sadie McKee" (MGM)	5,700	High 4-7-34 "Wonder Bar"	13,000
							Low 3-11 "What! No Beer?"	3,500
Music Box	3,000	25c-40c	"Finishing School" (Radio) and "Heat Lightning" (W. B.)	1,800	"Melody in Spring" (Para.) (25c-55c)	6,500	High 12-9 "Little Women"	14,000
							Low 5-13 "No More Orchids"	1,600
Oriental	2,040	25c	"Merry Wives of Reno" (W. B.) (25c-55c)	4,800	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)	2,500	High 10-14 "Rafter Romance"	14,000
							Low 11-18 "College Coach"	1,600
Pantages	1,700	15c-25c	"Wine, Women and Song" (Chadwick)	1,800	"Wild Boys of the Road" (F. N.)	1,800	High 11-4 "Lady for a Day"	10,200
							Low 4-21-34 "Laughing at Life"	1,500
Paramount	3,008	25c-40c	"Murder at the Vanities" (Para.) and "The Party's Over" (Col.) (8 days)	5,000	"Change of Heart" (Fox) and "The Witching Hour" (Para.)	5,000	High 11-18 "The Way to Love"	12,000
							Low 12-2 "Walls of Gold"	3,500
United Artists	945	25c-40c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM)	6,000	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (4th week)	5,000	High 4-28-34 "The House of Rothschild"	9,800
							Low 3-11 "Madame Butterfly"	1,600
San Francisco
Fox	4,600	10c-35c	"When Strangers Meet" (Liberty) and "Twin Husbands" (Chesterfield)	8,000	"I Hate Women" (Goldsmith) and "Monte Carlo Nights" (Monogram)	9,000	High 4-8 "Should a Woman Tell?" and "Speed Demon"	15,500
							Low 9-9 "Important Witness" and "Sensation Hunters"	7,000
Geary	1,516	55c-$1.65	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (5th week)	4,500	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (4th week)	8,500	.....
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-40c	"Stingaree" (Radio)	16,000	"Twentieth Century" (Col.)	13,500	High 2-11 "The Mummy"	25,500
							Low 10-21 "My Woman"	8,000
Orpheum	3,000	15c-50c	"Uncertain Lady" (U.)	9,500	"The Black Cat" (U.)	9,500	High 10-14 "Ladies Must Love"	15,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Search for Beauty" and "From Headquarters"	5,000
Paramount	2,670	15c-65c	"Tarzan and His Mate" (MGM)	13,000	"The Trumpet Blows" (Para.) and "Now I'll Tell" (Fox)	9,500	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	40,000
							Low 12-23 "Sitting Pretty"	7,000
St. Francis	1,400	15c-40c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM) (2nd week)	8,000	"Viva Villa!" (MGM) (1st week)	8,500	High 3-25 "What! No Beer?" and "Broadway Bad"	13,500
							Low 4-14-34 "Registered Nurse" and "Murder in Trinidad"	3,500
United Artists	1,200	25c-50c	"No Greater Glory" (Col.)	4,000	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.)	6,500	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	17,000
							Low 5-26-34 "No Greater Glory"	4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-90c	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox)	17,000	"Sadie McKee" (MGM)	20,000	High 1-6-34 "Dancing Lady"	26,000
							Low 5-27 "Story of Temple Drake"	10,000
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-35c	"As the Earth Turns" (W. B.) and "Uncertain Lady" (U.)	3,750	"Smarty" (W. B.) and "The Crosby Case" (U.)	3,000	High 12-9 "Little Women"	8,500
							Low 8-19 "The Rebel"	2,500
Fifth Avenue	2,750	25c-55c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM)	10,500	"Melody in Spring" (Para.)	10,000	High 8-5 "Tugboat Annie"	19,250
							Low 5-5-34 "Tarzan and His Mate"	5,000
Liberty	2,000	10c-25c	"I'll Tell the World" (U.) and "My Pal the King" (S.R.)	3,750	"The Ninth Guest" (Col.) and "Speedwings" (Col.)	3,250	High 3-3-34 "It Happened One Night"	7,000
							Low 6-24 "Uptown New York"	3,000
Music Box	950	25c-50c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (25c-55c)	4,500	"Looking for Trouble" (U. A.) (9 days)	4,000	High 11-11 "Footlight Parade"	8,000
							Low 12-23 "If I Were Free"	3,250
Music Hall	2,275	25c-55c	"Wild Cargo" (Radio) (25c-75c)	11,500	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (2nd week)	7,000	.....
Paramount	3,050	25c-35c	"The Witching Hour" (Para.)	4,500	"Wharf Angel" (Para.)	7,500	High 1-7 "A Farewell to Arms"	9,500
							Low 1-13-34 "Dancing Lady" (2nd run)	4,000

J. C. Jenkins--His Colyum

Neligh, Nebraska

DEAR HERALD:

Just what would be the right thing to say if some exhibitor should drive ninety miles when it was 95 in the shade to see you? That's what we would like to know, because we want to say something and we want to say the right thing. Charles Lee Hyde and his mother drove clear over here from Yankton, S. D., on purpose to see us, and that was ninety miles, and it was 95 in the shade and they had to drive in the sun.

You will recall that Charles Lee Hyde is an exhibitor at Pierre, South Dakota, also that he is an ex-senator from that state and the one responsible for holding the state in the Union and keeping it from joining South Africa, and other countless countries. Mrs. Hyde, his mother, came with him and we had a very delightful visit with this most excellent lady.

Charles Lee told us of the conditions in South Dakota. He says that in practically all of the western part, and in much of the eastern part as well the crops are practically all gone, being drifted out by the high winds, and that many of the wire fences are totally covered up by sand and soil and that stock can walk over them like there were no fences there. He tells us that it has been so dry and the winds have been so high that even the wild pastures are blown out until the people are forced to dispose of their stock the best way they can.

Only Two Theatres in Capital

Pierre, as you already know, is the capital of the state, and it is located on the east bank of the Missouri river, "Out where the west begins," and while it is a right smart town, it only has one other theatre besides the one owned by Mr. Hyde. Did you ever know of any other capital city anywhere in the world that only had two theatres? We feel highly flattered that Mr. Hyde and his mother came as far as they did through the heat to visit us. Of course Charles wanted to learn for sure that we were still outside of the penitentiary, although he was disappointed to find that we were. Do you know of any other exhibitor in the United States who would go to so much trouble to see us as Charles Lee did? No you don't, although we might be down with the mumps and had a relapse.

We have visited Pierre twice in our sojournings. Once we found Charles Lee at home but the next time he was up in Canada with a committee doing some survey work for the Government. That's the trouble with South Dakota; whenever they have any business of national importance they are so scarce of competent men that they have to call on Charles Lee Hyde of Pierre or Sherm Fitch of the RKO office at Sioux Falls. Neither of them has ever been confined in the penitentiary (which is further proof of the laxity of the courts).

▽

Semi-Open Letter to Ralph Bellamy

We would write an open letter to Ralph Bellamy of Hollywood but then he wouldn't see it if we did. We saw him last night in "Below the Sea," and Leander, were we glad to see him again?

We had our picture taken with him when we were out there the last time and he certainly has fleshed up a bit since them, but maybe that was because Fay Wray made love to him in "Below the Sea," and when she makes love to 'em if they don't flesh up they are a flat tire.

We believe that "Below the Sea" will suit you, and Ralph won't be a particle disappointing, for he does some remarkable work in the picture, just as he always does, but we wish he'd go to eating more dill pickles and fall in love with some other girl besides Fay; it might get serious. But we don't understand what's come over Ralph. There were times when Fay had to coax and beg him to kiss her. We never knew him to act that way before. We know one fellow she wouldn't have to coax much. Anyhow, it's a good picture.

▽

A Word From Jack Cohn

Jack Cohn, vice-president of Columbia, has just written us from New York. He called us "you old corn husker" and other like names, which was all right, but if he had called us a hoss-thief and cattle-rustler we might have taken exception to it. But coming from Jack we'd stand for most anything. We were surprised to learn that anyone in the Columbia office wasted time on our Colyum; we didn't suppose that even the powder monkey would do that.

Jack was pleased at what we said about "Dangerous Crossroads." We didn't know we had said anything that would cause any comment from anyone. We do recall mentioning something about our friend Chic Sale putting a lot of pep into the picture, and we believe we said that "Dangerous Crossroads" was a good picture. If we haven't already said so we will say so now. Jack winds up his letter in this fashion: "I hope before long that you'll hop into that wired-up mess of junk you call a car to go putt-putt over the countryside." Oh Yeah. The trouble with Jack is that he has been riding the rubber-neck buses in New York so long that he can't appreciate what a good automobile looks like. But we'll forgive him for his ignorance; it's perfectly natural for a New Yorker. Jack says that Columbia is trying to make pictures that will please the small theatremen, as well as the big boys. There's one time he told the truth, surprising as it may seem, although it is reported that he tells it quite frequently, but being connected with a producing company, this will require some evidence with most of the boys.

Thank you, Mr. Cohn, for your letter; it pleased us immensely, and we wish you plenty of good luck.

▽

Hitting the Road Again

We don't know how far we will get, but tomorrow we are going to hit the road again. We have a boy from Omaha who is going to drive us, and if we are able to get in and out of the car we ought to be all right. We are still pretty wabbly on our feet, but that's nothing, there are a lot of exhibitors who claim we have been wabbly in the head for some time.

▽

Every time we see Ann Harding play we wonder why it is that her producing company don't do a lot of hollering about her. The fact is we have listed Ann as the most impressive performer on the screen. We saw her last night in "The Right to Romance" and her every action was based on simplicity and sincerity, and when watching her perform you forget that you are looking at a picture but think you are looking at Ann in person. There is no "hug me tight" or "fold me in your arms" or "lally-gag" stuff about Ann's acting. That's why we liked her and that's why we liked "The Right to Romance." You may not care for it, because you may want this "hug 'em" stuff. If so, Ann isn't the star you are looking for. We liked the picture also because of its sensible dialogue. The dialogue in so many pictures impresses one as having been written by some school boy who had never been to school.

"The Right to Romance" isn't the biggest picture ever made. Don't get that idea into your heads. It isn't billed as the biggest, although the press agent used all the adjectives he had, but you all know that adjectives nowadays don't mean a whole lot to people who stop and think. They did in Barnum's day, but now you've got to show 'em, and Ann showed 'em in "The Right to Romance," regardless of what the critics may think about it.

There is a lot about this picture business that we don't know, so much in fact that it would make a large sized volume, but there are some things we do know, and that is that pictures built to attract the attention of people of sound, sensible judgment rather than those love-sick Lizzies and Willies who chew gum under instructions, will lay a foundation for this industry that will be enduring. We wonder if they want it to endure.

COLONEL J. C. JENKINS
The HERALD's Vagabond Colyumnist

Buffalo Projectionists Form Club; Dion President

Members of operators' local 233, Buffalo, have formed a club known as the Motion Picture Projectionist Club of Buffalo, with Walter Dion as president. Meetings will be held every third Friday, at which representatives of various manufacturers of equipment will be invited to speak. Other officers are: Elmer Winegar, vice-president; George Signor, secretary; Bernard Pinzel and Albert Ryde, directors. The club is designed to keep members abreast of the latest developments in projection and sound equipment and methods.

New Contract for Enright

Ray Enright, Warner-First National director, has been signed to a new seven-year contract on the renewal of an option.

Monogram

ANNOUNCES THE SHOWMANSHIP GROUP FOR 1934-1935

20 Exploitation Attractions—Each Pre-sold to the Public

MILLION DOLLAR BABY . . .
Joseph Santley's smart comedy hit

WOMEN MUST DRESS . . .
The inside story of the style world

FLIRTING WITH DANGER (formerly "Dames and Dynamite")
By George Bertholon, with Robert Armstrong

HONEYMOON LIMITED . . .
Vida Hurst's successful novel

THE HOOSIER SCHOOLMASTER . . .
The American classic by Edw. Eggleston

SING SING NIGHTS . . .
The prize mystery novel by Harry S. Keeler

GIRL OF MY DREAMS . . .
By the author of "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi"

REDHEAD . . .
Best seller and newspaper serial success

RECKLESS ROMEOS . . .
By N. Brewster Morse, with Robert Armstrong

MURDER IN THE STRATOSPHERE . . .
A new thriller by Tristram Tupper

GREAT GOD GOLD . . .
Front Page News Comes to the Screen

TOMORROW'S YOUTH . . .
John Lauder's story of the next generation

MYSTERIOUS MR. WONG . . .
By Harry S. Keeler, with Lionel Atwill

SUCCESSFUL FAILURE . . .
By Michael Kane, Satevepost writer

MYSTERY MAN . . .
Satevepost story by Albert Payson Terhune

CHEERS OF THE CROWD . . .
Drama of sport world by Tristram Tupper and four big specials made at a huge increase in production costs

Gene Stratton Porter's Book Smash
KEEPER OF THE BEES
over 1,500,000 copies sold

THE NUT FARM The Broadway stage hit by J. C. Brownell

Gene Stratton Porter's Wonder Novel
GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST
over 1,750,000 copies sold

THE HEALER The Best-Seller by Robert Herrick

This Year It's MONOGRAM

Monogram made promises last year and in every instance it has lived up to these promises 100%.

•

This year Monogram has increased its budget by a substantial sum and in the case of the big specials—"Keeper of the Bees" and "Girl of the Limberlost"—it is doubling and trebling the regular appropriation.

•

All pictures will have big star names, big-time production and real showmanship values.

•

Class A product for Class A houses.

•

Sign up for the Showmanship Group now—and March on with Monogram.

37 MONOGRAM EXCHANGES TO SERVE YOU!

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

IN this, the exhibitors' own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me

MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway, New York

Columbia

CALIFORNIA TRAIL, THE: Buck Jones—Positively one of the best Jones' ever turned out. Really not a western but will go over big with the horse fans and just as well with those that always pass up the regular westerns. Drew better than average midweek business.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

IT HAPPENED ONE NIGHT: Clark Gable, Claudette Colbert—Good business and one of the year's finest pictures. Very clean and entertaining. Running time, 103 Minutes. Played May 13-14-15.—George N. King, Lyric Theatre, Binghamton, N. Y. General patronage.

IT HAPPENED ONE NIGHT: Clark Gable, Claudette Colbert—The part fits Gable better than any he has ever had. Excellent entertainment and clean. Played May 10-11.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

IT HAPPENED ONE NIGHT: Clark Gable, Claudette Colbert—Very good picture. Quite the best work either of these stars has done for a long time. Only possible criticism is that it is just about two reels too long. Cut out that excess twenty minutes and it really would have moved faster, but it's dandy entertainment, no mistake. Running time, 11 reels. Played May 6-7-8.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre. Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: May Robson, Warren Williams—Possibly I played this too old. In spite of a heavy advertising campaign it did not draw average week end business. I thought this show was generally known enough to do a nice business. Picture is certainly dandy entertainment for all classes. Nevertheless it dropped to almost nothing the third night.—L. B. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: Warren William, May Robson—A great picture. The story is fantastic but it is excellent entertainment. Has all the requisities of a good picture, good acting, pathos, comedy and human interest. Pleased 100 per cent.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

LET'S FALL IN LOVE: Edmund Lowe—A very good picture. A good story and well made, but didn't draw as it should. It did please those who saw it. Running time, 65 minutes. Played May 7-8.—L. D. Brown, Queens Theatre, Brownwood, Texas. Small town patronage.

MAN'S CASTLE, A: Loretta Young, Spencer Tracy—Might get by in the city, but the poorest small town picture I have run in months. Did not please 10 per cent. Lacks entertainment value entirely. The going to have a baby angle has been used in pictures so often that it has not only ceased to be entertainment, but is absolutely disgusting.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

MAN TRAILER, THE: Buck Jones—They used enough gun powder in this rip-roaring western to mine a thousand tons of lignite coal, but the people who came to see it liked it and asked for another one. Haven't been playing westerns but think I will try it out for week-end shows about every other week. If I do Buck Jones will come in for his share of play dates. Played May 17.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Coal mine and rural patronage.

SISTERS UNDER THE SKIN: Elissa Landi, Joseph Schildkraut—We couldn't get our patrons enthused over this one, though we played it three nights. It is a fair picture but not the type for our particular situation. In cities where you have matrimonial chiselers (and there are lots of them) this picture will go over big, but not in small towns where we would like to but can't get away cheating. Played Apr. 16-17.—L. E. Mahoney, Columbus, N. D. Rural and coal mine patronage.

SONG YOU GAVE ME, THE: Bebe Daniels—Just another picture. Average business with no complaints and no praise. Played May 2.—B. Hollenbeck, Rose Theatre, Sumas, Wash. Small town patronage.

First Division

ROAD TO RUIN, THE: Helen Foster, Nell O'Day—A good independent to extra business.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

BEDSIDE: Warren William, Jean Muir—This is a very good picture that is fast moving and full of action. This is a drama of a man who is a fourflusher and is strictly adult entertainment. This is entirely different from the other pictures of this type and will hold interest from beginning to finish. The trailer sold this show for us and we played it only one day to a very good busiess and pleased about 90 per cent. Running time, 65 minutes. Played May 17.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

CONVENTION CITY: Joan Blondell, Guy Kibbee—Great entertainment, fast, funny and just about a sure bet. Kibbee's best. Running time, 68 minues. Played Apr. 22-23-24.—George N. King, Lyric Theatre. Binghamton, N. Y. General patronage.

CONVENTION CITY: Joan Blondell, Dick Powell—Here is a snappy comedy that is sure to please. Lots of good acting and it is the kind of a picture that will build. Play it. Played Apr. 9-10-11.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Rural and coal mine patronage.

DARK HAZARD: Edward G. Robinson—I have played over twenty pictures from Warner and First National this season so far and this is the first picture from this company that did not click for me. Maybe it was because Robinson set such a high standard in his older releases such as "Little Giant" and "Silver Dollar," but for some reason or other "Dark Hazard" was not liked. Played May 7-8-9.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Coal mine and rural patronage.

DARK HAZARD: Edward G. Robinson, Genevieve Tobin—This is a very good picture with quite a bit of action, but not as good as some of the other Robinson pictures. It is a story of a gambler, his ups and downs. We played this one day on Saturday to a very poor business, but I personally think it would do better in the week. The trailer sold the show for us, but many of our patrons had to work and could not see it on Saturday. Running time, 72 minutes. Played May 5.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

FASHIONS OF 1934: William Powell, Bette Davis—A very well done picture. Business not what I expected but above average. Revue numbers gorgeous. Running time, 78 minutes. Played Apr. 8-9.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. Small town patronage.

FASHIONS OF 1934: William Powell, Bette Davis—A natural for the women but poison ivy for the men. William Powell is not at all popular here, neither is Bette Davis. A good story, gorgeous clothes and one of the best dance numbers of the year, the Ostrich Feather dance, make this very good entertainment. This weak program hurt my Sunday night attendance. Running time, 78 minutes. Played May 5-6.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

FASHIONS OF 1934: William Powell, Bette Davis—Look out, exhibitors, and do not play too many musicals as your audience will tire of them. I played this one and it flopped, but it was not the fault of the picture but rather my fault. I killed my business with too many of these spectacular musicals. "Fashions of 1934" is great regardless of what my box-office said. Played Apr. 30-May 1.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Coal mine and rural patronage.

FASHIONS OF 1934: William Powell, Joan Blondell—I've seen some rave reports on this one, but it was a fiat tire here. These chaps who called it an outstanding musical must not have played any of the good ones. A trifling story, just one musical number dragged in by the heels, a disappointed audience, very light business. That was the register here. Running time, nine reels. Played Apr. 29-30, May 1.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

LITTLE GIANT: Edward G. Robinson—Used this old one in midweek. One of Robinson's best. Had a lot of very nice comments on this one and it takes a real good show to draw these remarks nowadays.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

MANDALAY: Kay Francis, Ricardo Cortez—Splendid acting by Kay Francis, Ricardo Cortez, Lyle Talbot, Warner Oland, with Ruth Donnelly supplying most of the comedy in a very sordid story of the tropics, where the best is like the worst. Pleased about 50 per cent. Running time, 65 minutes. Played May 12-13.—Glayds E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

MASSACRE: Richard Barthelmess—Remember way back when we used to run good pictures, the kind that appeals to all classes. Well, "Massacre" is that kind of a picture. It is timely, is a mighty good story and your patrons will eat it up. Played Apr. 13-14.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Rural and coal mine patronage.

SON OF A SAILOR: Joe E. Brown—Just as all the reports have said, a dandy clean comedy, the best Brown has had yet and that's saying a good deal. Warners make so few pictures that can be used in the small town on Friday and Saturday that we always put Brown on those dates and he holds up the average pretty well. Running time, eight reels. Played May 11-12.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

SON OF A SAILOR: Joe E. Brown—Good enough for all you can get to see this one. Running time, eight reels. Played Mar. 30-31.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

SON OF A SAILOR: Joe E. Brown—A good Joe E. Brown picture. Comedy from start to finish. Did nice midweek business. Running time, eight reels.—Robert Schwall, State Theatre, Ipswich, S. D. Small town patronage.

WONDER BAR: Kay Francis, Dick Powell, Dolores Del Rio, Al Jolson, Ricardo Cortez, Hal LeRoy, Guy Kibbee—And still another big hit from the studios of Waner-First National. This tops all of their previous musicals in every way except at our box-office. This is a comedy drama with plenty of romance, thrills, drama, tragedy, human interest and comedy. Never before have you seen such elaborate settings, gorgeous costumes, beautiful girls and wonderful song hits as you have in "Wonder Bar." The singing of Al Jolson and Dick Powell make the entire show, and Jolson appearing in the same role that made him famous. The dancing team of Dolores Del Rio and Ricardo Cortez brought much comment and was both delightful and artistic. The last scene and the most spectacular in the whole show features Al Jolson singing "Going to Heaven on A Mule." I had to see the show twice before I really enjoyed the marvelous entertainment presented here. The entire cast played their parts superbly and give us some great acting. This is great amusement from the one and only company that can make picture after picture that will hold public interest. We played this three days to only a fair business. However, this should prove a big business getter in the majority of towns and especially in the large cities. Running time, 84 minutes. Played May 14-15-16.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

Fox

BOTTOMS UP: "Pat" Paterson, Spencer Tracy—An excellent comedy with a good romance and several musical numbers. A good clean story well produced with a good cast. "Pat" Paterson is very charming and Fox has done well by her on her first picture. Pleased 100 per cent. Business average.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

CAROLINA: Janet Gaynor, Lionel Barrymore—A good entertaining picture that will please 98 per cent.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

CHARLIE CHAN'S GREATEST CASE: Warner Oland—A good program picture. Where Chan pictures are popular this will please. Running time, 74 minutes. Played Mar. 29-30.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

DAVID HARUM: Will Rogers, Evelyn Venable—Without a doubt the finest picture Rogers has made. Broke all records for gross business and I have thumbed back my receipts four years. Fox sure has delivered this year. Have had more box-office winners from Fox than all other companies combined. Played May 8-9-10.—George Biehler, Palace Theatre, Hamburgh, N. Y. General patronage.

DAVID HARUM: Will Rogers—Excellent. An ideal story for the ace of all stars. The best Rogers picture in a long time. Good supporting cast and a clean story.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

DEVIL TIGER: Kane Richmond, Marion Burns—Very good animal picture with several exciting animal fights. Business above average.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

DOCTOR BULL: Will Rogers—Will please Rogers fans but is not as good as earlier release. Rogers is still a help for the box-office. Running time, 75 minutes. Played May 11-12.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

EVER SINCE EVE: George O'Brien, Mary Brian—I do not agree with the exhibitor that said "A dumb picture and dumber directing." I lived in the west (Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Idaho) a number of years and have associated with just such characters. Perhaps a little far fetched at times. However, I got quite a kick out of the picture and my patrons enjoyed it. It's clean, the title is misleading. Played May 8-9.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

MAD GAME, THE: Spencer Tracy, Claire Trevor—Great entertainment in this timely story of the kidnaping racket. Spencer Tracy is always good and he has excellent support from Claire Trevor and the entire cast. Pleased my Family Night patrons. Running time, 65 minutes. Played May 2-3.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

MR. SKITCH: Will Rogers, Zasu Pitts—When I reported on my first Will Rogers picture I might as well write ditto after all the rest. This is just a little funnier than usual, owing to Zasu Pitts. Kept them laughing from start to finish. Some come to a Rogers show but never come to any other. Beautiful scenery, a 100 per cent good cast and a good story makes this a feature you cannot afford to pass up. Running time, 69 minutes. Played May 16-17.—Gladys E. McArdle, Own Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

MR. SKITCH:. Will Rogers—Handmade for the small towns. Consider it about the best Will has made for the small towns. A few of our much learned (they come to about three shows a year) knocked this a little, saying it wasn't up to Rogers' usual standard. My own opinion is that in almost any small town house it will rate among the 10 best of the year.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

MY WEAKNESS: Lilian Harvey—A very nice show that drew a shade above average business.—L. V. Bergtold. Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

PADDY, THE NEXT BEST THING: Janet Gaynor, Warner Baxter—One of the finest pictures we have run this year. Drew extra business and pleased 100 per cent. Running time, 76 minutes. Played Apr. 13-14.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

SUCH WOMEN ARE DANGEROUS: Warner Baxter—Above average picture. Baxter has a part he handled as no other one could. Good entertainment and clean. Played May 13-14.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

THREE ON A HONEYMOON: Sally Eilers, Johnny Mack Brown—Very agreeably surprised at the drawing power of this picture. It is light entertainment that sends patrons out in a happy frame of mind. Second night better than the first. Running time, 65 minutes. Played Apr. 24-25.—W. J. Powell, Lonet Theatre, Wellington, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

THREE ON A HONEYMOON: Sally Eilers, Charles Starrett—Very good program picture. Good comedy injected by Zasu Pitts.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

MGM

CAT AND THE FIDDLE, THE: Jeanette MacDonald, Ramon Novarro—A fine production in every respect. I was afraid it was a little too highbrow for my town but everyone seemed to like it and it did above average business. Should go over big everywhere.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

DANCING LADY: Joan Crawford—We made a mistake by playing too many musicals but of all of them this one is on a par with the best. Joan Crawford is great and is ably supported. Played Apr. 27-28.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Rural and coal mine patronage.

ESKIMO: Native Cast—Beautiful scenery and many thrilling scenes, but not entertainment for small town people. Just a long travelogue, too long. In fact, just one picture I wish I had left alone.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

ESKIMO: Native Cast—A very good picture with plenty of action in it. However, it was one of our biggest flops. It wasn't the picture's fault, our patrons do not care for this type of picture. Running time, 12 reels. Played May 7-8.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Strand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

ESKIMO: Native Cast—Patrons enjoyed this well, especially the kiddies. Despite the pleasing effect this picture flopped completely at the box-office.—B. R. McLendon, New State Theatre, Idabel, Okla. General patronage.

FUGITIVE LOVERS: Robert Montgomery, Madge Evans—An exciting picture that holds one's interest from beginning to end. The few people who came out liked it but business was very poor.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

GOING HOLLYWOOD: Marion Davies, Bing Crosby—Took a lot of advertising to hold this one up. My customers went in and tried to look through one eye so as to see Marion Davies and not Bing Crosby. However, was generally appreciated. Personally I thought it wasn't all it was set up to be. Played Apr. 29-30.—B. R. McLendon, New State Theatre, Idabel, Okla. General patronage.

GOING HOLLYWOOD: Marion Davies, Bing Crosby—Very fine picture. Boost it.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

HER SWEETHEART: Marie Dressler, Lionel Barrymore—Dressler and Barrymore make a great team. but if I am not mistaken our friend Marie is dropping off a little at the box-office. Maybe our North Dakota dust storms had something to do with it. It's a great show, good weather or bad, one of the best. Play it. Played May 3-4-5.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Coal mine and rural patronage.

LAUGHING BOY: Ramon Novarro—A lot of kids turned out for this one, expecting to see a wild Indian picture, and were more or less disappointed. The picture is fairly good and business the same. Would have been a lot better if they would give Novarro some snappy songs instead of having him yodel like a dying coyote. Played May 5.—B. Hollenbeck, Rose Theatre, Sumas, Wash. Small town patronage.

MEET THE BARON: Jack Pearl—I figured this picture to be good only for a one night stand and I played it that way. Quite a few came to see the Baron and went satisfied that radio artists better stay behind a microphone instead of trying to act. If you play it, play it for one night only. Played Apr. 5-6-7.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Rural and coal mine patronage.

MYSTERY OF MR. X: Robert Montgomery, Elizabeth Allan—A very good and exciting murder mystery. Many favorable comments. Business above average.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

PRIZEFIGHTER AND THE LADY, THE: Max Baer is to the ladies what Mae West is to some of those "old bucks" who will sit through two full shows just to see her strut her stuff. The picture is a honey in any house. It has lady and gent appeal, and as for the kids, it has enough action to keep them interested. By all means play it and boost it. Played May 18-19.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Coal mine and rural patronage.

QUEEN CHRISTINA: Greta Garbo, John Gilbert—By far the best Garbo picture yet. Personally I enjoyed this picture more than anything I have seen recently for I like Garbo and also historical pictures. However, my people do not like Garbo and my business was considerably below normal. Also the very sad ending hurt the picture for my town.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

QUEEN CHRISTINA: Greta Garbo, John Gilbert—Very fine picture for anyone anytime.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

RIPTIDE: Norma Shearer, Robert Montgomery—Norma Shearer and Robert Montgomery both give wonderful performances as usual but it is the same story that everyone has seen a hundred times before on the screen. Most of the comments were favorable, but the picture failed to do the business it should have done for me.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

RIPTIDE: Norma Shearer—Sophisticated drama on the well known triangle. Very good picture of its kind. If your customers like this drawing room sort of picture it ought to go over big, but ours don't and proved it by staying away in large numbers. And why, oh why can't they make a picture without that bally English accent. Running time, 92 minutes. Played May 12.—B. Hollenbeck, Rose Theatre, Sumas, Wash. Small town patronage.

RIPTIDE: Norma Shearer—Disappointing. Story value very poor. Acting good. Much better picture expected from Shearer and Montgomery. Make no promises. Running time, 95 minutes. Played May 13.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

SONS OF THE DESERT: Laurel and Hardy—A very good comedy, but Laurel and Hardy do not draw for me.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

SONS OF THE DESERT: Laurel and Hardy—A wow at the box-office. People flocked to see these two. Not up to "Devils Brother," but very comical. Pleased all. Played May 1-2.—B. R. McLendon, New State Theatre, Idabel, Okla. General patronage.

SONS OF THE DESERT: Laurel and Hardy—A good comedy to good business.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

THIS SIDE OF HEAVEN: Lionel Barrymore, Fay Bainter—This is a very good picture and pleased all that saw it. It is a comedy drama and is good clean entertainment for the whole family. Barrymore and the excellent supporting cast all play their parts wonderfully. If you can get them in to see this they will be pleased, but we had trouble getting them in. Played one day to only fair business. Running time, 76 minutes. Played May 10.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

THIS SIDE OF HEAVEN: Lionel Barrymore—A dandy picture, well liked by the cash customers. Had many compliments on this one. Average business. Played May 9.—B. Hollenbeck, Rose Theatre, Sumas, Wash. Small town patronage.

THIS SIDE OF HEAVEN: Lionel Barrymore—We used this just one day, much to our regret. This picture is plenty good and the patrons didn't hesitate to tell us so. Barrymore does some of the best acting in this picture he has ever done. Give it a boost; it's worth it.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Strand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

YOU CAN'T BUY EVERYTHING: May Robson—Excellent entertainment and an artistic triumph for May Robson. Don't be afraid of this. If you can get them in it is bound to please. Our business, however, was below average. Played May 13-14-15.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Texas. Small town patronage.

Monogram

GALLANT FOOL: Bob Steele—A very good picture that is full of action and thrills. It is not a western picture, but will please the average western fan. as it has plenty of fighting, riding and in addition has some very good acrobatic scenes. It is set in a circus and slightly different from the usual action picture. We played this on Saturday to a very good business and pleased all. Running time, 60 minutes. Played May 12.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

HE COULDN'T TAKE IT: Ray Walker—Good, fast and entertaining. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Apr. 27-28.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

MYSTERY LINER: Noah Beery, Astrid Allyn—Here is a very good mystery picture. Practically the entire show takes place on board a large ocean liner. This picture should keep the audience interested from beginning to end. Although the cast does not include any outstanding names the parts are wonderfully acted and add much to the entertainment. Played one day to fair business. Running time, 62 minutes. Played May 11.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

Paramount

ALICE IN WONDERLAND: Charlotte Henry—Brought children from all over the county. Pleased none. While watching it showing several took a quiet exit. This ruined part of my kiddie business. Played Apr. 11-12-13 at matinees only.—B. R. McLendon, New State Theatre, Idabel, Okla. General patronage.

ALL OF ME: Fredric March, Miriam Hopkins, George Raft—Not up to our expectations, yet not a flop. Raft is clever, but had no chance to do his stuff in this.—Ned Pedigo, DeLuxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

BOLERO: George Raft, Carole Lombard—Technically a fine picture but with a rather shallow and incongruous story. Just a trifle too dramatic and farfetched. Running time, 83 minutes. Played May 11-12.—George N. King, Lyric Theatre, Binghamton, N. Y. General patronage.

BOLERO: George Raft, Carole Lombard—A very fine picture that pleased my people in every respect except for the sad ending. However, Raft still does not draw business for me. Sally Rand helped to pull

THREE MORE JOIN REPORTING CORPS

New contributors to "What the Picture Did for Me" include two New York State showmen and one in Oklahoma. They are:

B. R. McLendon, New State Theatre, Idabel, Oklahoma.

George W. King, Lyric Theatre, Binghamton, N. Y.

George Biehler, Palace Theatre, Hamburg, N. Y.

Complete Coverage

WHERE THEY LOOK
WHEN THEY WANT TO KNOW

them in.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

BOLERO: George Raft, Carole Lombard—Just an average picture shown to average attendance. What a man is George Raft. After swinging his dance partner over his head a dozen or so times in the Tango, like Buck Jones' horse, no matter how strenuous the ordeal, he manages to finish shiny and sleek without as much as one short breath. Played May 10-11-12.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Texas. Small town patronage.

BOLERO: George Raft, Carole Lombard—Very fine picture to poor business. This is the second picture in the last 30 days to be denounced by the churches and members warned to stay away. It looks like it was up to an exhibitor to cancel some of this sex stuff and let the producer try and collect.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

COME ON MARINES: Richard Arlen, Ida Lupino—A fast moving comedy that my people enjoyed very much. Many favorable comments. Did not draw, however.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

DEATH TAKES A HOLIDAY: Fredric March—A great picture. By far the best picture March has been in since "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." Everyone did a good job on this picture and it should please everywhere. Good story, well directed, good settings, excellent acting. Business above average.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

DEATH TAKES A HOLIDAY: Fredric March—Different but not well received. Not good entertainment.—Running time, 78 minutes. Played Apr. 22-24.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinville, Ore. Local patronage.

DESIGN FOR LIVING: Fredric March, Gary Cooper, Miriam Hopkins—About 70 per cent of the cash customers thought this picture fine, 30 per cent just the opposite. Personally, I thought it fine. Running time, 90 minutes. Played Apr. 22.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

EIGHT GIRLS IN A BOAT: Kay Johnson, Dorothy Wilson—No good. I've had so many pictures lately where someone has a baby that some of my crowd ask when they come in: "Any babies tonight"—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

FOUR FRIGHTENED PEOPLE: Claudette Colbert, Herbert Marshall—Even an independent producer would be ashamed of this. Another one like it would spoil Claudette Colbert. Running time, 77 minutes. Played Apr. 22-23-24.—George N. King, Lyric Theatre, Binghamton, N. Y. General patronage.

FOUR FRIGHTENED PEOPLE: Claudette Colbert, Herbert Marshall—No good.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

GIRL WITHOUT A ROOM: Marguerite Churchill, Charles Farrell—This was accepted by my patrons as a fair double feature to fair crowds. Played Apr. 5-6.—B. R. McLendon, New State Theatre, Idabel, Okla. General patronage.

GOLDEN HARVEST: Richard Arlen—Did everything I could to get the farmers in to see this but it was no go. Just couldn't get them in, that is, no more than for any other show. Picture is satisfactory and should please most all classes.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

GOOD DAME: Fredric March, Sylvia Sidney—Absolutely the worst. Why any production executive will waste two fine stars in such a cheap, dirty picture as this, is beyond me. Business good, but after I saw the picture I was sorry anyone had come out, for this class of picture hurts business and hurts these two good stars.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West—It won't please everyone but it did a much better than average business. Running time, 87 minutes. Played Mar. 9-10.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

I'M NO ANGEL Mae West—Too much Mae in this. Very, very little favorable comment. Nearly everyone that discussed the show remarked that it wasn't as good as "She Done Him Wrong." We have played many pictures this year that rate far above this in entertainment value.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

LAST ROUND-UP, THE: Randolph Scott—This was generally accepted by my patrons as the best western they had ever seen. Played to a full house all day Saturday. Played Apr. 7.—B. R. McLendon, New State Theatre, Idabel, Okla. General patronage.

LONE COWBOY: Randolph Scott—Good for western crowd.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

MELODY IN SPRING: Lanny Ross, Ann Sothern, Charlie Ruggles, Mary Boland—A very good comedy with music. The picture failed to draw as well as previous pictures of this type, but it satisfied those who came out. Lanny Ross has a fine voice and Ruggles furnishes plenty of comedy.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

MELODY IN SPRING: Lanny Ross, Ann Sothern—Enjoyable and well liked. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Apr. 22-24.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinncille, Ore. Local patronage.

NO MORE WOMEN: Edmund Lowe, Victor McLaglen—Not a bad picture. Many laughs, some thrills. Does fine for Saturday.—Ned Pedigo, DeLuxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

SEARCH FOR BEAUTY: Larry "Buster" Crabbe, Toby Wing—Will get by but can hardly be rated better than a program picture. Running time, 75 minutes.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

SHE MADE HER BED: Sally Eilers, Richard Arlen—Just a fair program picture. Very weak story and entirely too sexy. Business terrible. If this isn't sexy there is no such picture.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

SIX OF A KIND: Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland—Good entertainment.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

SIX OF A KIND: Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland, Burns and Allen—This should get over in great shape in any small town and please. Our people here agree with our own idea that Burns and Allen lose their power and appeal when put in lead roles, yet I see that Paramount is forcing this very thing. The same thing happened to every good comedy team since the silent days and none of them have been able to make the grade of holding a full length feature together. Running time, seven reels. Played May 2-3.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

SIX OF A KIND: Mary Boland, Charlie Ruggles, W. C. Fields, Burns and Allen—A very good comedy that pleased 100 per cent. An abundance of hearty laughs in this one.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

TILLIE AND GUS: Alison Skipworth, W. C. Fields—Good comedy of the slapstick order. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Apr. 1.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

TILLIE AND GUS: W. C. Fields—Pretty weak stuff. One of the poorest midweek shows I have had this year. However, I have had a good run of pictures for the past several months so that doesn't mean this is really poor. Will probably go over most places without very much complaint.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

TO THE LAST MAN: Randolph Scott—A Zane Grey western that will please. Running time, 65 minutes.—C. A. Jodan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

TRUMPET BLOWS, THE: George Raft—Rather weak story but average entertainment. The bullfighting supplies the action and helps immensely in putting the picture over. Business just average.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

WAY TO LOVE, THE: Maurice Chevalier—Poorest Saturday night this year, although Sunday business came up to about normal. Nothing wrong with the show except the draw. Edward Everett Horton very good. Consider the picture above average entertainment.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

WE'RE NOT DRESSING: Carole Lombard, Bing Crosby, Burns and Allen, Leon Errol, Ethel Merman—An excellent comedy with music. Plenty of action. Rather thin story but who cares as long as a picture is as full of entertainment as this one. Had a great many favorable comments on this one. Should please everywhere.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

YOU'RE TELLING ME: W. C. Fields—Of course, Fields is the whole show. Where he is liked may go over okay. The part where he is playing golf is too long, makes it tiresome. He does not go over here. Played May 12.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

RKO

CRIME DOCTOR: Otto Kruger, Karen Morley—A very clever murder melodrama. Business above average. Should please all who like this type of picture.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO: Dolores Del Rio, Gene Raymond—The picture was very entertaining and well liked. Had it had some coherence or single theme or plot running through it, RKO might have had a great picture. Running time, 87 minutes. Played Apr. 17-18-19.—George N. King, Lyric Theatre, Binghamton, N. Y. General patronage.

HIPS, HIPS, HOORAY!: Wheeler and Woolsey—Good entertainment any time.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

MAN OF TWO WORLDS: Francis Lederer, Elissa Landi—Good entertainment.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

SING AND LIKE IT: Zasu Pitts, Ned Sparks—A good hokum comedy. Nothing big but it got the laughs and apparently pleased those who came out. My people are beginning to tire of Pitts, but she still draws business.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

SON OF KONG: Robert Armstrong, Helen Mack—This picture did better business than I expected. Not the picture that "King Kong" was but a very entertaining and interesting story. The earthquake scenes are excellent and very exciting.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

SPITFIRE: Katharine Hepburn—The acting of Hepburn and Garbo is evidently too high class for my town for their pictures never fail to flop here. This is a very out of the ordinary story, more a character study than entertainment, with remarkable acting by Hepburn. My patrons are not interested in acting, however. They want entertainment.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

SPITFIRE: Katharine Hepburn—Well liked. Lots of favorable comment. Did a nice business. Running time, 88 minutes. Played Apr. 29-May 1.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

SUCCESS AT ANY PRICE: Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.—Well acted heavy drama, but Fairbanks, Jr., is poison for my box-office. Ran this two days and just grossed feature and short rental. Pleased about half of the two people who came to see it.—D. B. Fiske, Fiske Theatre, Oak Grove, La. Small town patronage.

SUCCESS AT ANY PRICE: Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.—Fair. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Apr. 25-26.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theare, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

TOMORROW AT SEVEN: Chester Morris—On the strength of exhibitors' reports I ran this in place of a newer show. Mighty glad I did. A dandy mystery picture loaded with comedy. Here is one show you can't go wrong on.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

WILD CARGO: Frank Buck—A very fine picture of its kind but failed to do business for me.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

United Artists

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN: Lee Tracy—A fairly good program picture. Lee Tracy pulls off several good wisecracks but outside of that there is nothing to it.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Strand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

BLOOD MONEY: George Bancroft—The kids did not even like this picture and they usually go for anything. If possible, pay for it and leave it in the can; you can save yourself a lot of trouble. Bancroft is not the man he was when Paramount had him. Running time, 67 minutes. Played May 4-5.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Strand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

BLOOD MONEY: George Bancroft—I owe Universal an apology. I said in a recent report that "Madame Spy" was about the poorest picture we have had in some time. I take it all back: here is the prize bust of the season. Why a company like 20th Century, with a man like Darryl Zannuck at its head, ever allowed this to be released is beyond me. No story, ham acting, worse direction, just no reason for it at all. An insult to every patron and exhibitor alike. Running time, seven reels. Played May 16-17.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

BOWERY, THE: Wallace Beery, Jackie Cooper, George Raft—Personally, I thought that this was a great show with Beery and Cooper at their best. But my rural patrons and coal miners and the younger generation, not knowing what the Bowery really is, did not enter into the spirit of the story and it was only a programmer to them. They should go big for it in the larger spots. Played May 10-11-12.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Coal mine and rural patronage.

BOWERY, THE: Wallace Beery, George Raft—Excellent entertainment.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

BROADWAY THRU A KEYHOLE: Constance Cummings, Russ Colombo—Good entertainment.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

I COVER THE WATERFRONT: Claudette Colbert, Ben Lyon—I picked this one up and cashed in. Deals with smuggling of aliens and is an interesting picture from start to finish. It is the type of entertainment our patrons like. A little old, but okay. Played Apr. 23-24.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Rural and coal mine patronage.

ROMAN SCANDALS: Eddie Cantor—In spite of a very lavish background the picture seemed dull. We doubled it with "Beloved," being apprehensive of Cantor's appeal and found that the majority of the patronage came to see "Beloved." Running time, 90 minutes. Played May 6-7-8.—George N. King, Lyric Theatre, Binghamton, N. Y. General patronage.

ROMAN SCANDALS: Eddie Cantor—Not up to the Cantor standard and didn't do the business it should.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

ROMAN SCANDALS: Eddie Cantor—Played to a big house Sunday and Monday. Was accepted as the best release of Cantor to date. Personally, I thought it was far under his former releases. Played Apr. 15-16.—B. R. McLendon, New State Theatre, Idabel, Okla. General patronage.

Universal

BELOVED: John Boles—Very good. The music is swell, the acting superb and the recording great. Running time, 78 minutes. Played May 6-7-8.—George N. King, Lyric Theatre, Binghamton, N. Y. General patronage.

BY CANDLELIGHT: Paul Lukas—A mighty classy comedy drama that pleased the customer like nobody's business. We never could see this Lukas man until we ran him in this. Yes, it is a good picture. —Ned Pedigo. DeLuxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW: John Barrymore—This picture seemed to be a heavy disappointment to our patrons. Business the lowest in months. Barrymore does good work but too much talk-talk-talk, and the same situation over and over again. Lack of a courtroom punch scene seemed to be the chief kick of the cash customers that took a chance on it after the first word got around. Running time, nine reels. Played May 13-14-15.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

GUN JUSTICE: Ken Maynard—A satisfactory western and Ken Maynard does as well or even better than usual. He works hard all through the picture and seemingly without an effort. Good box-office attraction last three days of week.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

I LIKE IT THAT WAY: Gloria Stuart—After reading a few of the exhibitors' reports, was afraid this picture would be a very weak sister. While not so big, it serves as satisfactory entertainment at a low admission price and may be worth all you can get for it. Gloria Stuart, while she is not what you call a sensation, does remarkably well and carries this piece through without a great deal of help. Business better than average three days first part of week.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

LET'S BE RITZY: Lew Ayres—This picture positively will not stand a run and positively will not stand a reasonable admission price. Producers will be compelled to make better ones than this and if they don't deluxe theatres will be lucky to get a dime a throw.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

LOVE, HONOR AND OH, BABY!: Slim Summerville, Zasu Pitts—These two stars are about through as far as we are concerned. People who like smut and spicy situations in their film fare will come to see the picture but that is all. Use your own judgment.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Rural and coal mine patronage.

MADAME SPY: Fay Wray—Quite the poorest excuse for entertainment we have seen in pictures in a long, long time. No earthly reason for making it and still less for the cutting and general make-up. Gave us the lowest midweek gross in over a year and the picture deserved it. Running time, seven reels. Played May 9-10.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

ONLY YESTERDAY: Margaret Sullavan—When a picture can set a bunch of hard-boiled coal miners to sniffling and blowing their noses and keep your women patrons seated for ten minutes after you have flashed on the houselights, recovering enough so that they may be presentable in the light after a hard cry, that is a picture that will make you money. Word of mouth advertising on this after your first night's run does the trick. It's marvelous entertainment. Played May 14-15-16.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Coal mine and rural patronage.

STRAWBERRY ROAN: Ken Maynard—A real surprise party for me. Played on Bargain Nights in midweek and drew more people into the house than we have had since we played "State Fair." Biggest midweek gross for more than two years. Advertised? No! Only the usual three sheet and a few ones. How the country folk found out we were playing this and where they all came from is a mystery to me. Picture is no better than most westerns.—L. V. Bergold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

Warner

FOOTLIGHT PARADE: James Cagney, Ruby Keeler—A wonderful picture that did not draw as well as it deserved owing to its having been shown both north and south of me. Some excellent dance sequences, "By A Waterfall" being the most spectacular. Ruby Keeler as Shanghai Lil is superb. Pleased everyone who saw it. Some fine song hits. Running time, 101 minutes. Played May 9-10.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

HI, NELLIE!: Paul Muni—Decidedly better than "Advice to the Lovelorn." Muni is good in any role and was better liked in this picture than "The World Changes." Running time, 75 minutes. Played Apr. 20-21.—George N. King, Lyric Theatre, Binghamton, N. Y. General patronage.

HI, NELLIE!: Paul Muni—If you are afraid of a newspaper story on the talking screen, forget it and play this picture. Paul Muni is great and has able assistance. This picture has comedy, human interest and all that goes to make up a good 90 minutes of entertainment. Play it. Played Apr. 19-20.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Rural and coal mine patronage.

I'VE GOT YOUR NUMBER: Joan Blondell, Pat O'Brien—This is a fast moving comedy drama, with plenty of action and laughs. The story is different from the usual type of pictures and deals with the adventures of two telephone trouble hunters. I think this is much better than many of the so-called specials and we played this only one day to a very good business. The trailer will sell your seats and you are sure of a good business. Running time, 68 minutes. Played May 2.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

TELEGRAPH TRAIL: John Wayne—The only Wayne I have used. Not being known here probably accounts for lack of business with this very good action show. Poorest Bargain Nights in months.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

Short Features

Educational

BORN TO DIE: Battle for Life—Very interesting reel.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

LAST DOGIE, THE: Song Hit Stories—A very fine one-reel subject. Running time, one reel.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

ROAMING ROMEO, A: Harry Langdon—One of the poorest comedies we have run since the advent of sound. Not a laugh in two reels. Terrible. Running time, two reels.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

Fox

CONQUEST OF THE AIR!: Adventures of the Newsreel Cameraman—A very interesting and entertaining reel. A credit to any program.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

MGM

BACKS TO NATURE: Todd-Kelly—This is our first Todd-Kelly short and although it was not so good it went over very well. Our patrons liked Pitts-Todd but this team is not as good. Here's hoping the others will be better. Metro can make a good team out of these two with good stories. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

DAVY JONES' LOCKER: Willie Whopper Cartoon —Very poor. Color did not help it any. Running time, seven minutes.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinville, Ore. Local patronage.

FOUR PARTS: Charley Chase—Another good one from Chase. Running time, 18 minutes.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

GOOFY MOVIES (No. 1): This single reeler is fair. It is just a lot of foolishness. Most of our patrons seemed to like it. Running time, nine minutes.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Strand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

HANDLEBARS: Oddities—An Oddity going back to the first bicycle down to 1933. Seemed to please.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

HI, NEIGHBOR: Our Gang—One of the best of the Our Gang series and they are all good. Running time, 20 minutes.—B. Hollenbeck, Rose Theatre, Sumas, Wash. Small town patronage.

MAID IN HOLLYWOOD: Todd-Kelly—Not up to their standard. Not much to this one. Running time, two reels.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

NEXT WEEK-END: All Star Comedies—Poor. No story and very silly. Running time, 16 minutes.—

Every Theatre Needs

RICHARDSON'S MOTION PICTURE HANDBOOKS

Vols. 1 and 2 - - - - - - - - - $ 6.20
Vol. 3 (on sound only) - - - - - $ 5.10
Combination price (the 3 volumes) - $10.20
Building Theatre Patronage - - - $ 5.10
(By BARRY & SARGENT)

We Are Handling Them for the Convenience of the Trade

QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP
1790 Broadway
New York, N. Y.

M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

OLIVER THE EIGHTH: Laurel and Hardy—Very good.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

PARAMOUNT PICTORIALS: All of their Pictorials are exceptionally good and entertaining.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

STRATOS-FEAR: Willie Whopper—This is the first number of this series for us and personally I don't think it as good as Flip. However, after the first two or three numbers I guess they will improve. Good entertainment and will please the kids. Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

Paramount

BLOW ME DOWN: Popeye the Sailor—No better cartoon comedy made. Running time, one reel.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

GOLD NUGGETS: Walter Catlett—Not so good.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE (No. 9): Fair. These are not as good as they formerly were. Will get by.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

I HEARD: Betty Boop—A wonderful cartoon. Absolutely one of the best ever made. Plenty of music furnished by Don Redman and his orchestra and the acting of Betty Boop, Bimbo and Koko all go to make excellent entertainment. Pleased both young and old. Let's have more. Running time, eigbt minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpeum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

PLEASE: Bing Crosby—Very good. Bing sings several numbers. Running time, two reels.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

SOCK-A-BYE BABY: Popeye the Sailor—Good as usual.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

Universal

BIG CASINO, THE: Mentone No. 4.—Just about as poor as "Vaudeville on Parade" is good. Distinctly second class set-up throughout, mediocre acts, cheap setting. Queer how the same producer can turn out such a varied line of shorts. Running time, two reels.—Henry Reeves, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

PIE FOR TWO: James Gleason—This comedy is very good. The more of this series we run the better they get.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Strand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

VAUDEVILLE ON PARADE: Mentone No. 6—Top notch musical short. A straight vaudeville show condensed to twenty minutes of fine entertainment. The best of this series. Running time, two reels.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

Warner Vitaphone

BARBER SHOP BLUES: Melody Masters—These Melody Masters always please and this is one of the best.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

BIG CITY FANTASY, A: Melody Masters—Another of the musicals featuring Phil Spitalny and his orchestra playing some popular numbers. The entire short is set in a Russian atmosphere and with several Russian numbers. This number of the Melody Masters was not as good as most of the others. We had to play this three days with "Wonder Bar" and there were many patrons who did not like it. Too bad that such good music and such a good orchestra should have a setting like tbis. Only fair entertainment. Running time, 10 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

BUSINESS IS A PLEASURE: Broadway Brevities—This comedy is all color and is very good. Running time, 18 minutes.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Strand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

GIRL TROUBLE: Broadway Brevities—This is one of the best musical comedies that I have seen. Plenty of beautiful girls, good music and filmed in gorgeous color. I was very much surprised to see such beautiful scenes as appear in this one, but after all Vitaphone always gives us the best. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Tbeatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

HOT FROM PETROGRAD: Dave Apollon—A dandy single reel. Just ten minutes of first class entertainment. Warners could double their output of Melody Masters and still not overdo it. Running time, one reel.—Henry Reeves, Mission Tbeatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

OPERATOR'S OPERA: Donald Novis, Eton Boys—A high class two-reel musical. A credit to the producing company. Will please 100 per cent.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

YOURS SINCERELY: Lanny Ross—A very good two-reel musical. Good dancing and music. Running time, two reels.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

Serials

Mascot

WOLF DOG, THE: Rin Tin Tin, Jr., Frankie Darro, Boots Mallory—I believe this is tbe most interesting and best produced general all-around audience serial I have ever shown. It is mighty fine. Kids and grownups crazy about it. Grab it.—Ned Pedigo, DeLuxe Tbeatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

Universal

GORDON OF GHOST CITY: Buck Jones, Madge Bellamy—Have run four chapters of this serial and it seems to be bolding the interest, especially of the kiddies.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

PERILS OF PAULINE: Evalyn Knapp, Robert Allen—Not so hot. Too much rehashed. Well acted but lacks something.—Ned Pedigo, DeLuxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

VANISHING SHADOW, THE: Onslow Stevens, Ada Ince—This serial starts off with a bang. If it holds the pace it sets in the first chapter we have nothing to worry about. The patrons must like it, they sat through two shows to see it over the second time. Running time, 20 minutes each chapter.—J. E. Ross, Jr., Strand Theatre, St. George, S. C. Small town patronage.

Scott Manages U. A. Branch

Harry Scott has arrived in St. Louis from New York to take over the management of the local United Artists exchange. He was formerly a Pathe sales executive and has been doing NRA publicity work in Washington.

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of May 26

ASTOR
Playful ..... United Artists

CAPITOL
Flying Hunters ..... MGM
Trick Golf ..... MGM

MAYFAIR
Air Maniacs ..... Educational
Love on a Ladder ..... RKO Radio

PARAMOUNT
Paramount Pictorial—No. 11 . Paramount
Hollywood on Parade—No. 11. Paramount
Shoein' Hosses ..... Paramount
Good Shape ..... Paramount

RKO MUSIC HALL
No More West ..... RKO Radio
On Western Trails ..... Fox
City of Wax ..... Educational

RIALTO
Shoein' Hosses ..... Paramount
Good Shape ..... Paramount
Paramount Pictorial—No. 11 . Paramount

RIVOLI
Gulliver Mickey ..... United Artists
Under Moroccan Skies ..... Fox

ROXY
Funny Little Bunnies ..... United Artists
Ceiling Whacks ..... Universal

STRAND
Foiled Again ..... Vitaphone
Tin Hat Harmony ..... Vitaphone
Hollywood News Reel ..... Vitaphone

TRAVELERS . . .

EDMA MAY OLIVER sailed for an extended vacation in Europe.

HAROLD LLOYD arrived in New York from Hollywood.

ALICE FAYE, Fox player, arrived in New York for a brief holiday.

JAMES DUNN flew to New York from the Coast.

FRED ASTAIRE left New York for Hollywood to start on Radio's production of "The Gay Divorce," in which Mr. Astaire appeared on the stage.

JOSEPH I. SCHNITZER arrived in Hollywood from New York.

SAM ECHMAN, managing director for MGM in England, sailed from Southampton on Saturday.

JACK J. SULLIVAN, Fox West Coast film buyer, is due in New York soon to confer with home office officials on product deals for the new season.

ELMER C. RHODEN, in charge of Fox Midland circuit, is in New York.

STANLEY WAITE, Paramount executive, returned to New York after a two-weeks tour of southern exchanges.

BEN ATWELL, Columbia publicist, returned to his desk from a trip to Honduras and Jamaica.

WILLIAM CARMAN, attorney for Fox West Coast trustees, returned to the Coast from New York.

WALTER WANGER, ex-associate MGM producer, and ROBERT RISKIN, Columbia writer, sailed for Europe together.

ARTHUR KNORR, stage production director for Loew's Capitol, returned to New York from a European holiday.

JACK BENNY left New York for the United Artists lot in Hollywood.

BILL PINE, Paramount official, left New York for the Coast.

LEO CARRILLO will begin a series of personal appearances in connection with the "Viva Villa" opening at the Capitol, New York, June 15.

SOL. A. ROSENBLATT flew to Chicago to attend a three-day session on the garment code.

HARRY COHN arrived in Hollywood from New York.

SIDNEY R. KENT returned to New York from the Coast.

HARRY FOX, assistant to John G. Paine of the Music Publishers' Protective Association, arrived in Hollywood.

MARGARET ETTINGER, Hollywood publicity writer, is in New York.

C. C. PETTIJOHN returned to the Hays Office from a four-day business trip to Washington.

HELEN CHANDLER is on the high seas, bound for a European vacation.

SAM RIFKIN spent a day in New York last week and returned to Washington the same night.

NED DEPINET and ROBERT F. SISK, RKO Radio Pictures' sales officials, returned to New York from the Coast.

JOHN D. CLARK, Fox general sales manager, and HERMAN WOBBER, western division sales manager, arrived in New York from Hollywood.

E. J. MANNIX left Hollywood for New York.

PAT CASEY, studio labor head, arrived in New York from Hollywood.

LUPE VELEZ is in New York.

WILLARD MCKAY, general counsel of Universal, returned to New York from a European business trip.

MACK GORDON and HARRY REVEL, Paramount song writers, have returned to Hollywood after a New York vacation.

LOUIS B. MAYER is scheduled to arrive in New York shortly.

HAL ROACH is in Alaska.

FELIX FERRY, European producer, arrived in New York.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

THE REASON FOR IT

The only logical reason for the inauguration of the Quigley Awards project was to "make way for the manager"—to emphasize to the big men of the industry that the boy who runs the theatre is of the greatest importance to the welfare of the box office.

Naturally, the success of the plan depended upon the manner in which it was received by the men in the field and the reaction of those showmen who are cooperating enthusiastically is perhaps best indicated in what Round Tabler Sig Solomon said in a letter published in the May 19 issue. The following excerpts from Sig's stirring message tell the complete story:

"This Quigley Award idea put new pep in a body and mind that was growing a bit stale—by a happy blending of the sure-fire tonics of incentive and competition. Yes—and hundreds of other boys are in the same boat.

"Only a slacker will hold back from a fair comparison with the other fellow and competition spells extra effort which starts the cycle of increased theatre grosses, decreased expenditures, better returns for the distribution and production of pictures, better pictures, recognition and a fair share of the net results. In addition, the Quigley Award encourages the 'All for one and One for all' principle on which our Managers' Round Table was organized. . . ."

▽ ▽ ▽

OTHER FIELDS BECKON

In one of his recent columns in the New York World-Telegram, under a Memphis date line, Westbrook Pegler speaks on the origin of the annual cotton carnival in that spot, tracing this fledgling Mardi Gras idea back to its birthplace in the busy brain of an unnamed theatre manager who thought up the gag to pep up those grosses. And now, a few years later, what started out innocently as just another exploitation gag becomes a community business builder with high pressure publicity, participation of the best people, visitors from hillside and valley, and what-have-you.

Should that bustling southern metropolis desire to acknowledge the showman responsible for the stunt that has become so important a yearly party, to our best recollection, Howard Waugh, now southern Warner Theatres' zone manager, is the father of the cotton "offspring."

The eagerness with which the event has been elaborated is yet another proof of the widespread profit possibilities in other fields, with exploitation originated by fast thinking theatremen—which thought may be comforting to talented managers without "honor in their own country."

A SPLENDID REACTION

There are still too many theatre executives who for one reason or another do not regard with complete favor the viewpoint of their managers desiring to contribute details of campaigns and articles to these pages. And though perhaps there be a small number of showmen whose motives may be open to question, it is our sincere belief based on actual experience that the greatest majority of reports printed in the Round Table section is forwarded with the unselfish thought of informing brother managers of what members are doing.

The conversion of disbelieving showmen to our way of thinking is therefore a task of importance in which we have been aided considerably by the attainments of the Quigley Awards project. In part, this is substantiated by Marshall Taylor's letter, from which, on a succeeding page, we are quoting.

Mr. Taylor—Wheeling Warner Theatres' district manager, in Harry Kalmine's division—is a level-headed showman not easily stampeded by ideas plucked out of the air. His reaction is therefore of great interest and should be very enlightening to those executives who are making the mistake of keeping their managers under too tight a rein.

▽ ▽ ▽

Sedge Coppock's speedboat foundered a few days ago and the Staten Island manager was rescued after a long hour in the Bay. The papers ran the story but forgot to mention Sedge was playing "Death Takes a Holiday" at the time.

▽ ▽ ▽

MEMBERS ALWAYS WIN

The Vancouver Suburban circuit of Famous Players Canadian put on a managers' contest recently, with three cash prizes hung up for the best week's grosses. C. S. Ferguson, Windsor Theatre, took down first money, E. Zetterman, Kitsilano Theatre, finished a step behind, and crowding both was Bill Crute, of the Victoria Theatre. The three winners are all Round Tablers.

Some weeks ago, comment on this page called attention to the preponderance of members among winners in theatre contests. The following was said: ". . . it may be of significance to note that wherever these prizes are offered, Round Tablers are usually to be found way in the lead after the final count-up."

We still say so.

A. Mike Vogel

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS!

"I'm more than fond of the "Vagabond" Series, Mr. Manager. Do continue them."

Shouting "Extra" Helps To Sell Prytz's Picture

When newsboys cried "extra, extra, all about the Granada Theatre" and handed out throwaways, Roy Prytz at that house in Duluth, Minn., says it caused much excitement and had the passersby asking for them to discover that they were being advised to see "It Happened One Night."

Roy sold the drug stores an idea on a Gable-Colbert sundae and secured a five and ten cent store window. Western Union main office and sub-stations used mammoth telegrams and suitable copy. Department stores gave window tie-ups using copies of the hat and coat used by Colbert in the picture.

Radio announcements, newsboys handing out tabloids, blowouts supplied by exchange were planted at advantageous spots around the city, and a liberal display of special banners were other of the highlights of Prytz's campaign.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Lehman Admits Scouts

Lawrence Lehman, RKO Mainstreet Theatre, Kansas City, Mo., during his run of "Wild Cargo" admitted all Boy Scouts in uniform to see the picture for ten cents. And, we are informed, plenty of them attended, Lehman working up the idea further with endorsements from the Scout officials, street parade, etc.

Work for a Quigley Award!

ADVANCE CAMPAIGN. New York Warnerites have already started their campaign on "Doctor Monica." The two banners hung from the Strand roof measure 75 by 20.

Gettier's "Tin Can" Show Lands Front Page Story

The answer to what a showman must do to get those juicy page one newspaper breaks evidently is known to Manager Millard Gettier, Spencer Theatre, Spencer, Iowa, who sends along copies of his daily, containing two front-page theatre stories and a three-column cut. The first was on a "tin can" matinee in which Millard tied in with citywide clean-up week, and the second an illustrated account of the Easter egg hunt sponsored by the paper, Gettier giving passes to children turning in stamped eggs found in the hunt.

Not content with all this, Millard also promoted a full page in the second section of the paper given over solely to publicizing his coming attractions. An eight-column streamer announced his "Wonder Bar" date and immediately below another headline copped a new story regarding cooperation of the motion picture industry with the President's policies.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Rosenfield "Letters" Medicos

While still at his Omaha stand, the Paramount Theatre, Joe Rosenfield covered the medical profession thoroughly by mailing letters to every local doctor, nurse, interne and other hospital attaches. The uniform idea was plugged in a laundry tieup and air brush portraits of Gable and Loy planted in prominently spotted windows.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Grady Publishes Well Executed Theatre Paper

Another showman who has gone into the business of publishing his own theatre paper is E. C. Grady, of the Hoosier Theatre, Whiting, Ind., who sends along copy of the first issue of the "Argus," the name of the publication. It is in four pages, size 11 by 18, theatre copy and cuts dividing space with outside advertising of local merchants.

It is a nice job of work and Grady tells us the cost is within reason as he is utilizing a new, inexpensive process of printing. Which might be of interest to other showmen to whom this member will no doubt be glad to forward copies.

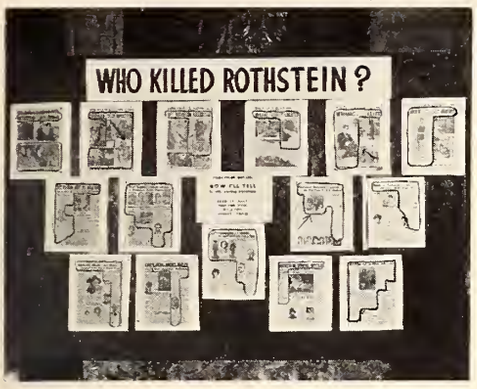
Young's Dog Contest Draws 7000 Entries

A "You and Your Dog" contest put over by Manager Charles R. Young on "The Way to Love" at the Paramount Theatre, Leeds, England, is reported to have brought in the unprecedented number of nearly 7,000 entries. The success of this idea was made possible by the cooperation of the Yorkshire Evening News and an English manufacturer of dog foods with over 2,000 inches of free space devoted to the contest which included six full pages of photos of the entrants. Over forty prizes were obtained from the local merchants in addition to the cash awards which came to over $1,000.

Winners were chosen by vote, each patron of the theatre being given a ballot with every admission, and photos of entries were placed in the lobby to facilitate the selections. The display also included the prizes to be awarded and a barometer which indicated the daily progress of the voting.

Hundreds of shops in Leeds and the surrounding district selling dog foods devoted windows to the contest, which included posters supplied by the newspaper. In addition, four of the best windows in the business district were given over completely to advertising the idea and also the picture, Young reports the merchants participated most enthusiastically.

Displays Special Film



The highlight of the campaign was a specially made motion picture in which the forty winners were included, this being shown in conjunction with the feature picture. Over 15,000 patrons registered votes and during the run all the finalists were gathered on the stage for the presentation of the prizes by the Lady Mayoress.

Young started his drive three weeks ahead of his showing and also arranged music store and radio shop tieups, distribution of four page heralds and other ideas to stimulate further interest in the attraction.

Work For a Quigley Award!

COMPELLING. Another example of Joe Salmon's effective use of offset in turning out attractive but inexpensive advertising for the Riverside, New York City. Reverse side contains rest of the program.

"Page One" Poster at Roxy

Headline Displays Feature Roxy Date

The restaurant from which Arnold Rothstein was called on the night he was murdered is only a few blocks from the N. Y. Roxy. The hotel in which he was allegedly shot is also a short distance from that playhouse, and for these reasons the campaign put on by managing director Irving Lesser and publicity chief Morris Kinzler on "Now I'll Tell, By Mrs. Arnold Rothstein," was directed to the racing, gambling, Broadway and tabloid reading elements of the metropolitan district.

One of the highlights of the drive was the out of the ordinary exhibit of newspaper headlines, photographs and gambling displays connected with incidents in the life of Arnold Rothstein. From the files of New York's leading tabloids, Morris secured back numbers in which screaming headlines announced the murder and subsequent search for the murderer. This made a very exciting display (see photo) and attracted an unusual amount of attention.

Photographs of all sporting events, including baseball, racing, hockey, horse racing, motor boating, professional football were included in this exhibit, tying in the betting angle of these sports. Playing cards, dice and other gambling paraphernalia, together with wads of stage money were also displayed. This entire exhibit, which was mounted on a board nine by 12 feet, was shown in the Roxy rotunda for ten days ahead and was put out front during the run.

Fifty thousand throwaways were distributed at race tracks, prizefights and ball games, the copy making a direct appeal to the gambling elements who frequent these events. Invitations were sent to the racing and sporting editors of all the New York newspapers to see this picture and the racing papers, such as the Morning Telegraph and Daily Running Horse, were also used for advertising.

At the time of the showing the director and adaptor, Edwin Burke, was in New York, his visit securing many newspaper breaks. The entire advertising campaign was purposely of a highly sensational nature.

Stills and reading copy on the picture were placed in 1,000 shop stores throughout Greater New York, and a tieup with Western Union netted jumbo telegrams in the windows of every branch office in the New York area, copy including title, theatre and date.

Taylor Offers Cash To Quigley Award Winners

Marshall Taylor, supervisor of the Wheeling, W. Va., Warner Theatres district, in Harry Kalmine's division, has offered a $25 prize to any of his managers winning a Quigley Award. We take the liberty of quoting from Mr. Taylor's letter, in which he gives his reasons for this generous offer and also states his attitude toward the Managers' Round Table Club.

". . . I have always been a bit skeptical of managers who have a habit of getting their names and pictures in the paper. However, the Quigley Award most assuredly has my wholehearted support, as I realize that the campaigns are analyzed thoroughly and the representative men of our industry have an opportunity to pass upon them, and in turn acquaint themselves with the activities of our more aggressive managers.

"I made a proposition to the boys in my district that any time they should have the good fortune to win the Quigley Award I would personally award a $25 cash prize, feeling that this would be an added incentive; as I realize that there is considerable expense in connection with the compiling of a campaign book that they would feel was deserving of the scrutiny of such men as make up the monthly committees.

"I again wish to say that I was happy to hear from you, and anything that we can do in this territory to stimulate interest in this business, and if it is within our power to pass along what has proven to us the good idea, we are most happy to do so. We in turn are not at all adverse to bodily picking up the other fellows' 'thunder' and using it to our best advantage."

Since the inception of the Quigley competitions, Warner theatremen had been represented among the monthly Award, First and Honorable Mention winners. Cooperation from this circuit has been consistent and enthusiastic, especially from the various division heads who have encouraged participation of their managers in Managers' Round Table Club activities.

Pollock's Nutty Gags Sell "Looking for Trouble"

Lester Pollock, Loew's Rochester, Rochester, N. Y., reports flooding his town with nine by four inch cards reading "You deserve $25 penalty if you don't see Tracy and Oakie in 'Looking for Trouble' at Loew's Rochester." Cards were placed in all parked autos in business district. For a gag, he got out plain washers attached to a tag with selling copy plugging engagement, opening line on the tag reading "A Crooked Phone Slug."

For street bally, Les had a man walking along the streets searching pavements and doorways with flashlight in hand. On his back sign read "Don't go 'Looking for Trouble'—It's at the Rochester."

SUNDAY MARKS THE MAY DEADLINE

Midnight of Sunday, June 3, is the time limit for entries in the Quigley competitions for the May Award. Many campaigns have already been received, and we are advised that others are now in the mails and will arrive in time to beat the deadline.

The judges, Messrs. Johnston, McCormick and Brecher, are planning to convene so that the winner can be announced in the issue of June 9.

Again we stress the necessity of including photos, tear sheets, etc., with all campaigns. —MIKE

Phillips Red Inks Front Page on "Roman Scandals"

The old reliable red ink front page overprint produced results for Manager Paul V. Phillips, Capitol Theatre, Salisbury, N. C., on "Roman Scandals," he reports, these distributed on opening day from house to house. To cover rural trade, Paul promoted front page stories in all county newspapers. Imprinted grocery bags were used by leading grocers. Cantor sundae was featured by all drug stores and fountains, and music store tieups also made.

Phillips' lobby and window displays were made up of metallics, and as an added feature a silhouette artist was engaged a week ahead to work in lobby. Cards for framing of silhouettes were distributed, reverse side carrying theatre copy.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Stilt Walkers Bally "Riptide" for Leighton

Manager Bert Leighton hired a team of stilt walkers, man and wife, to make the downtown section of Utica, N. Y., to sell the idea that "Riptide" at the Stanley Theatre—"topped them all." Bert picked a good day for his gag, as the streets were crowded with spectators assembled for the local Army Day parade.

Radio stations used a special broadcast produced by the home office as well as biographies of the stars. Leighton tied in music shops, men's stores and beauty parlors for displays of various kinds, with drug stores stressing the cosmetic angle via Shearer.

Don Goes Bunkless On "Earth Turns"

Don Nichols found the bunkless angle on "As the Earth Turns" effective in his campaign for the date at the Broadway, Charlotte, N. C., stressing this slant in his advertising and exploitation. The junior club page of one of his newspapers gave the attraction a number of free breaks in addition to a classified hookin which also returned space. Book marks at libraries and restaurant menu tieups were among the other things done to put this one over.

For "Wonder Bar" Don tied in with his newspaper junior club on a guessing contest, in the nature of an advance plug. To each child sending in an answer, post card was mailed to be used as pass to current picture, copy also stressing "Wonder Bar." Star standees were planted in various prominent spots, one of the best being that of Kay Francis in the foyer (see photo) of leading woman's store.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Gurley Constructs "Eskimo" Display

Displays seem to go big in Bainbridge, Ga. Here's one (see photo) put on by Clarke Gurley, Ritz Theatre, that was 34 feet long and the center piece 12 feet high.

The ice houses were blocked off to represent cakes of ice. The center piece, which was the midnite Sun, was built in three sections and lighted by eight 100 watt bulbs. The word "Eskimo" at top in cut-out letters, was 14 inches high. No doubt about it attracting plenty of attention.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Hoffstetter Uses Head

Sounds a bit like Ripley, but a fire broke out in the basement when Sam Hoffstetter was playing "Death Takes A Holiday" at the New 14th Street Theatre, New York City. The papers went for the coincidence with stories and picture, also calling attention to Sam's quick thinking in the handling of his patrons, which averted a panic.

Nice work, Sam.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Vallee's Home Town Tied In To Botwick's "Scandals" Date

Round Tabler Harry Botwick is now rounding up those profit grosses at the State Theatre, Portland, Me., just a short distance from Westbrook, Rudy Vallee's home town. Harry took full advantage of this in his campaign on "George White's Scandals."

Rudy was asked to invite the local newsboys to be his guests at a special show, and the star wired his acceptance which went over well as the "local boy" stuff clicked big in Portland. The papers made much of it and the boys paraded to the theatre carrying banners (see photo).

Another Vallee tieup was secured with a music store by obtaining from his sister two of his prizes won in New York radio popularity contests. These were appropriately spotted in the window with the "Scandal" song hits and other numbers made popular by this star.

Botwick also arranged a "Westbrook Night," with Vallee's father, sister and brother-in-law as guests, which with a large representation from his home town necessitated extra trolleys to bring them to the theatre. Girls in page uniforms on bicycles, radio broadcast, giant lobby cutouts of the stars and many other good gags were also used by Harry in working out this well devised exploitation campaign.

Hobbs' Swank "Voltaire" Window

Clark Gurley Goes "Igloo"

Botwick "Home-Towns" Rudy Vallee

Nichols' Ace Store Display

Hobbs Promotes Fashion Window on "Voltaire"

Sidney J. Hobbs, Empire Theatre, Coventry, England, tells us he broke records with "Voltaire" when it played his house recently. One of the highlights being a display at one of the leading tailors in the city (see photo) consisting of a lifelike figure of Arliss dressed in the correct period costume.

Sid borrowed a fine antique table of the Louis 14th period for the figure to sit at and display cards reading "Be a man of fashion—Let Burton be your Tailor and see Voltaire at the Empire Theatre" were conspicuously planted. By way of comparison, two other figures were dressed in modern clothes on either side of Arliss.

Hobbs' lobby display was a life-size figure of Arliss peering through his "Quizzing Glass" against a garden background with a floral border. This was illuminated at night and Sid tells us both of these displays gained plenty of comment.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Zoo Tieup Features Neth's "Bengal" Premiere

Announcing it as the world's premiere, J. Real Neth put over an elaborate campaign on "Beyond Bengal" at the Hartman Theatre, Columbus, Ohio, assisted by Larry Jacobs, in which Harry Schenck, producer of the picture, made personal appearances. During his stay, Schenck was made a member of the Zoo Junior Club and acted as host to the city's crippled children.

Neth arranged receptions by city officials and a dinner attended by the Governor, Mayor and leading citizens. Window displays were secured, a prominent spot being devoted to a necktie tieup, featuring "Bengal" stripes.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Danenberg Promotes

To stimulate the Cleveland grosses on "Harold Teen," Sid Danenberg, Warner exploiteer in that territory, promoted a leading auto dealer to sponsor a "Teen" drawing contest in which children were required to trace the grooves on a specially prepared card to bring to light the various characters in the well known comic strip. Dealers furnished blanks and gave cash prizes.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Morris Turns On High Pressure in Baltimore

A radio contest with passes given to listeners correctly identifying artists singing and playing the song hits of "20 Million Sweethearts" was the highlight of a campaign put on by Manager Walter Morris and publicity head George Browning at the Stanley, Baltimore, Md. Other music tieups were window streamers and title pages displayed at shops where copies of the tabloid heralds were distributed with each sheet of music. Night clubs also co-operated.

Local distributor arranged for window strips for stores selling Old Golds, Dick Powell's radio sponsor, copy tying in picture credits. A co-op page was also effective, with Grunow Refrigerators. Sound truck worked the city and surrounding territory and Western Union jumbo telegram tieup netted windows in all local telegraph offices and at offices in nearby area.

Moulder and Pearce Mail Cards from N. Y.

From Truman Moulder, Publicity Manager, Biscayne Plaza, Miami Beach, Fla., comes a campaign on "It Happened One Night" put over by him and Edgar B. Pearce, manager.

Heralds in all the mail boxes of the ten largest hotels and restaurants were one of ways they let the Miamians know what they were showing. A tie-up with the Miami Daily News was effected whereby the paper printed eight by ten cards carrying three-column cut of Colbert and Gable, play date with name of theatre and a small space used by the paper. Newsboys posted these cards on or behind the desk of all leading hotels and apartment houses, and then paraded to theatre with banners to see the picture.

These showmen also promoted postcards from a New York City hotel and after addressing cards and writing a message in long hand urging recipients to see the picture, the cards were expressed back to New York to be mailed out from here.

Work For a Quigley Award!

"Riptide" Contest Helps Theatre Anniversary

To celebrate the sixth anniversary of the Senator, Chico, Cal., Manager Fred Naify whipped across a well done "Riptide" campaign, in which the slogan contest was tied in to a local paper, opening three days before the picture and running for a full week. Fred also planted the special Shearer "Welcome Back" three sheet near the box office (see photo), where it gained the desired attention.

Front and lobby were decorated in keeping with the occasion, strings of lights and colored pennants being strung from the top of the theatre to the marquee. Received with great interest was a trailer of the opening of the theatre six years ago which was run during the performance.

The Northern California Music Festival was held on the last day of the week, bringing many visitors to the Senator and National Theatres, where this event was held.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Well Done, Herb

Herb Elisberg, publicity director, Essaness Circuit, Chicago, was detailed recently to handle the copy on the local film relief benefit drive and as part of his campaign copped a full page in the Chicago American, headlining a dinner dance open to the public. The party polled turnaway business, which rates Herb a bow for his good work.

Work for a Quigley Award

E. E. Whitaker Creates "Lucky Seven" Display

E. E. Whitaker, Fox Theatre, Atlanta, Ga., forwards us the float he got out (see photo) for "Wonder Bar." To the left we find his assistant, O. H. Bradbury, and to the right Publicity Director Robert Cullinane. Truck toured city, playing song hits from the picture. Colored boys were down in the bottom of the float playing "Going to Heaven," where they could not be seen.

Whitaker says he finds street ballys very profitable, since the Fox is located about a mile from the business section.

He had a "Lucky Seven" lobby display, which attracted attention. This consisted of seven over-sized dice, each bearing titles of coming attractions, placed at odd points. A shower was made to fall from up in the border of the display down onto imitation rocks. Water fell three times over the rocks into a pool below. Pool contained fish and flowers and moss all around the bottom of the display. To top it off a red spot was focused on the dice.

Studd's Lobby on "Gold Diggers"

Lynch's Animated Foyer Flash

Fred Naify Welcomes Shearer

Bradbury, Cullinane and Float

Lynch Animates Ace Lobby on "Wonder Bar"

Ed Lynch who skippers the Cameo, Bridgeport, Conn., is another of the many smart showmen capitalizing on animated displays, one of his latest efforts being a flash lobby on "Wonder Bar," with revolving standees. There were two cutouts on each standee, these fastened to an upright post inserted into a turn table enclosed in each box and operated by small motors. The boxes were enclosed and lined with lights and colored gelatin behind the cutout music notes, the lights working on a flasher. In addition to the stars shown in the accompanying photo, Del Rio, Cortez and Hal Leroy cutouts could also be seen when standees revolved. (See photo.)

Underneath the title on the background, gutters were built which held 75 watt white lamps, six above and three below. These lights were operated from the flasher in the center standee box, spelling out the title word by word, and at the same time lighting up the photos on the letters.

This was very effective for advance advertising, and during the run the flash was broken up and shown in three of the most important windows, the standees functioning as they did in the lobby. The cutout title letters were used as part of the front being placed under the marquee.

Work For a Quigley Award!

British Member Does Well on "Gold Diggers"

From Round Tabler Frederick J. Studd, licensee and manager, Beaufort Cinema, Birmingham, England, a sprightly campaign on the fourth run in his district of "Gold Diggers." A month ahead, trailers announced the date and tieups made with music shops for lobby plugs of the songs. These numbers were featured on the organ during the intermission and a neat lobby display (see photo) was put up two weeks in advance. During the run, the front was covered with neon lighting and stills displayed in every frame.

Studd reports that no street ballys are allowed in Birmingham and no cooperation given by the newspapers. In spite of which, however, he managed to turn in a neat job on this attraction.

Work For A Quigley Award!

Phillips Stresses Personal Endorsement Letter

Personal endorsements are good where they have not been overdone and taking advantage of that, Ralph E. Phillips, Paramount, Mitchell, S.D., got up heralds with real down-to-earth copy telling his patrons about a fine piece of entertainment he was showing when he played "It Happened One Night." Stressing particularly that the picture was neither colossal nor stupendous, he got across his message that he felt none of his friends should miss Colbert and Gable. Same herald copy was planted in the newspapers with a "Please Read This" head.

Photostatic telegrams were placed in windows all over the town, playing up the fact that it was the first appearance of this great team together. Displays of blue and white stars were used with stills of Colbert and Gable. And three weeks in advance of playdate Ralph had a screening for about twenty-five prominents, who spread the word.

Good Combination Ad

Burnett's Smart Buildup On "Mystery of Mr. X"

Tieups with his two leading papers on "Mystery of Mr. X" reacted splendidly at the box office for Manager Burnett, of Loew's, Dayton, Ohio. The first was an adaptation of the "Raffles" hunt in which $5 in cash daily was given to the reader tapping "Mr. X" on the shoulder with a copy of the paper and saying, "Are you the Mysterious Mr. X of the Dayton Daily News and Loew's Theatre?"

Publicity on this started a week ahead with front page stories and building up daily with other publicity and pictures of the masked "X." Many stores cooperated by offering individual prizes in the same manner during certain hours of the day when the hunt was being held on their premises, and took large ads to announce the gag.

The stunt with the other sheet was a special showing for the members of the paper's Birthday Club, and this, too plugged stories and scenes from the picture. On these two angles, Burnett certainly rolled up an amazing total of free newspaper publicity.

Distinctive and selling smartly was this member's two column ad on 100 lines, illustrated above, which is an excellent example of a display that sells the coming attraction, but not at the expense of the current picture.

PLEASE NOTIFY YOUR CHAIRMAN OF ANY CHANGE
IN ADDRESS

ON SCHOOL COOPERATION

Woman Publicist Outlines Ideas Used in Stimulating Attendance Among Local School Children

by RUTH STEVENS VOYLES

Indiana Theatre, Bedford, Indiana

One hears a great deal about the desirability of exploiting the motion picture in our public schools, but very few exhibitors have accomplished anything definite along this line. It is a delicate field and must be approached diplomatically.

Mr. McCarrell, of the Indiana Theatre, at Bedford, assigned me to this work about a year ago, and he feels that we are now reaping the benefits of my efforts and wishes me to tell you just how and what I have done.

I started out by reviewing the shows at our house, covering each change of bill and giving a brief review in the daily paper. I paid particular attention to the moral angle of the picture covered, stating whether it was desirable for children. After a few months of this I gained the confidence of parents interested in this angle of the shows and established a reputation for sound judgment of good pictures. This necessitated condemning some films, but the theatre lost nothing by this as such publicity often stimulates the interest of the sensational seeker in pictures. At the same time it created a following for the cleaner type shows.

Just before school opened in the Fall, I visited the Superintendent of our public schools and told him what I was attempting —to guide the young folks in their choice of pictures. I told him it was my firm conviction that if more effort were put forth to interest them in worthwhile pictures, we might have a different following for them, which would result in more of the better class pictures being shown. He agreed with me and promised his support and cooperation. From then on it was easy.

Next, I contacted each Parent Teachers Association, making a short address explaining my work and what I hoped to accomplish. I asked for their cooperation. Without exception they pledged their support to my cause.

Pictures Selected Carefully

Then began my real work for the theatre but I had to be very careful of the type of picture selected to exploit. I went slowly, watching carefully for any unfavorable reaction. At first I took only educational films, such as "Krakatoa" and "Aniachak." On these I prepared papers and placed them in the hands of all geography teachers of the schools. One sheets of these films were displayed in class rooms using my material.

Next came "Smoky." On this I prepared a book review, giving a short sketch of the author's life and the story in brief. I gave this for opening exercise at the various schools, using our public address or radio system, in order to reach all the students of a school at once. Also had attractive book marks made and distributed on this picture.

When "Alice in Wonderland" was booked at our theatre I went to our art supervisor offering her material (stills from the picture and clippings from our press sheet) for her art classes. I told her the Indiana Theatre would give fifty small books of Alice in Wonderland to children making the best posters or pictures on this subject. Some of the work we had turned in was excellent and the interest created among the children was very worthwhile. Attractive colored posters, such as insert cards, one sheets, window cards, etc., were prominently displayed in all schools. A special school matinee was staged. This was announced from all schools and our attendance was very good. The cost of the fifty books used for prizes was nominal.

By this time I was receiving favorable comment on my work and felt more assured, so when "Little Women" came to our theatre I went after the schools in a big way. I not only had the art classes working on this picture but I also had English classes writing essays and compositions for which we gave passes for the prize winners.

Other Towns Worked

I presented each school with a Photo Play edition of "Little Women" for their school library. This was liberally credited to the theatre and was in circulation among the students for weeks before the showing of our film. Also provided each English teacher with a study guide (put out by the National Association of English Teachers) and the picture was discussed freely in class rooms. I sent for copies of a radio script put out on this film which I gave to Dramatic Clubs of the schools. These were presented by some of the schools for convocation just before the opening date of our show.

I not only contacted our schools here but went to two outlying towns on this picture, arranging for busses to bring in the children for our school matinee. Also visited two Consolidated Schools, so our entire county was "Little Women" conscious. All schools accepted posters on this picture as did the public library.

Present financial conditions prevent a great many children from attending the theatre, so on "Little Women" I induced our Tri Kappa Sorority here to buy 150 tickets to be given our underprivileged girls. These were distributed through our schools Upon request I gave a book review on "Little Women" both in the schools here and nearby. Also gave it for a Young Girls Club. I mailed government post cards to all ministers and Sunday school teachers urging them to recommend this picture.

All of this took weeks of intensive work, but proved worthwhile. We gave a special school matinee which was announced in all the schools and our attendance was great in spite of very bad weather.

So you can see a great deal can be accomplished in this field if it is approached tactfully and intelligently. More power to you, Members of the Round Table.

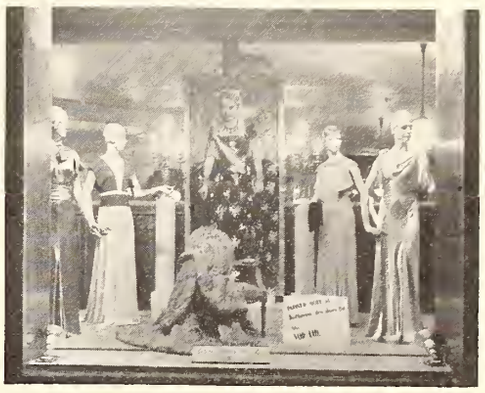
WHAT'S WHAT IN OTHER LANDS

Young's Submarine Float

(Left) FRED YOUNG, manager Luxor Theatre, Soerabaia, Java, aroused interest with this well done street float on "Hell Below." Fred also sends along a flock of other photos of street stunts and lobbies at the Flora Cinema and Emma Theatre, Malang, which he also directs. They're all well done.

(Right) BENITO DEL VILLAR, manager Real Theatre, Santiago, Chile, created this artistic float on "Song of Songs." In addition to the picture, this enterprising showman also advertised his ventilation, projection and coming attractions. This type of display is very box-office in Chile.

Del Villar's Ace House Ad



▽ ▽ ▽

Jungle Marquee in Denmark

(Left) HARRY FRANDSEN, Fox Films' Copenhagen head, worked with the manager of the Kinopalast Theatre, on this effective display for the Denmark premiere on "Devil Tiger." The cutout animals in combat and the simulation of jungle foliage helped to build up considerable advance interest in the date.

(Right) G. W. BOO, United Artists' manager in Norway, is responsible for this very smart window on "Catherine the Great," which was part of the advance campaign at the Casino Theatre, in Oslo. The display was good enough to bring forth much favorable comment.

Smart Window on "Catherine"

▽ ▽ ▽

Spanish Crowds "Wax" Enthusiastic

(Left) RENE HUET, Warner Madrid manager, reports this excellent front at the Callao Theatre on "Mystery of the Wax Museum" as a good example of the adoption of American exploitation methods in that country to increase business. The wax models atop the marquee were effective crowd-stoppers.

(Right) ROBB LAWSON, United Artists' publicity director for Great Britain, used this group of sandwich men as a plug for "Lady of the Boulevards," the English-titled "Nana." Lawson also arranged an unusual front for the date at the Tivoli, London, star and title displayed in giant electrics.

Lawson "Sandwiches" Sten

▽ ▽ ▽

Giant Brazilian Flash

(Left) F. L. HARLEY, Fox managing director for Brazil, planted this immense sign board in the principal square of Sao Paulo to advertise the date on "The Cross and the Sword" at the Odeon Theatre. The flash measured 100 feet wide and 30 feet high and could be seen from quite a distance.

(Right) JOHN ARMSTRONG, London Paramount Theatres' advertising manager, brought extra attention to the box office with this front on "Alice in Wonderland" at the Plaza Theatre. For a street stunt, John had Alice-costumed characters work the main thoroughfares and lobby.

Armstrong's "Alice" Front

•personalities

ROBERT UNDERFELD
formerly at the RKO Regent, has replaced LOUIS GOLDEN at the Franklin. Latter has moved on to St. Paul, Minn., where he will handle the Orpheum.

▽

IAN BOON BEE
who used to manage the Majestic in Penang, Straits Settlement, is now at the Windsor, same city. Good luck, member.

▽

HARRY GANS
has moved to Pittsburgh to manage the Butler Theatre, replacing GEORGE ROBERTS.

▽

DICK WRIGHT
leaves Akron, Ohio, to go to Cleveland for Warner, where he will supervise houses in Akron, Youngstown, Canton, Massillon, Mansfield and Coshocton.

▽

HAROLD KAY
is now managing the Liberty in North Wilkesboro, N. C.

▽

JAMES H. SKIFFINGTON makes his headquarters at the Jefferson Theatre in Springfield, Mass.

▽

L. O. DANIEL
moves from the Minneapolis, Minneapolis, Minn., to the Century, newly opened house.

▽

WILLIAM KLARRY
is the new general manager of the Krim Circuit, Detroit, Mich. MAC KRIM is taking a health cure and JOSEPH KESSLER takes his place managing the Lasky and Park Theatres.

▽

PETER PEGADIOTES
has taken over Mock's Theatre, Girard, Ohio.

▽

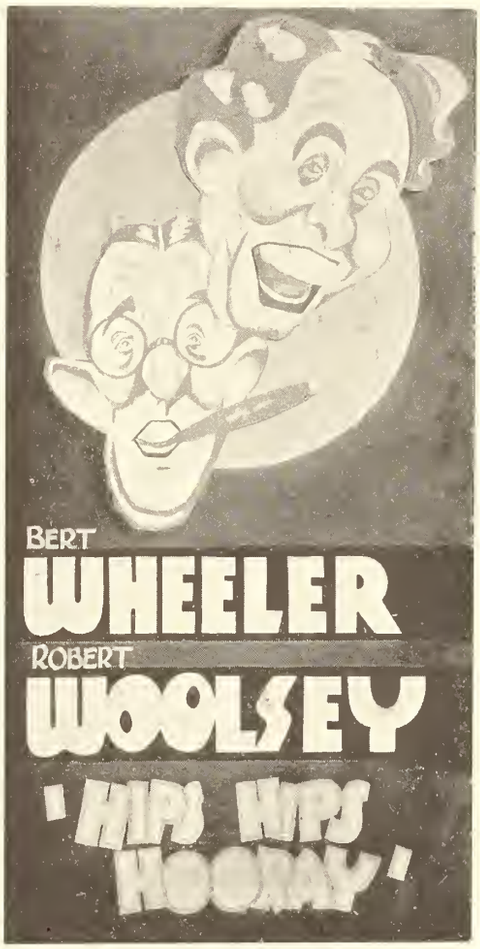
HARRY SHAW
formerly at Loew's in Syracuse, N. Y., will assist LOUIS SAGAL, general manager of the Poli Circuit, New Haven, Conn.

▽

STANLEY LAWTON
will handle the Mecca Theatre, New York City, house just reopened. He has also leased the Prospect Theatre in the Bronx which he will open with picture policy.

▽

B. L. CLARK
former assistant at the Capitol, Cocoanut Grove, Fla., has been named manager of the Grove succeeding ELMER HECHT.



▽

FRED STRIEF
has taken over the Beecher, Cincinnati, Ohio, catering to colored clientele.

▽

G. G. WALLACE
has reopened the Star, Scottville, Mich.

POSTER ART WORK FOR THE THEATRE

Bob Ewing at the Mars Theatre, Lafayette, Ind., offers this Wheeler & Woolsey display. The background was done in purple and the circle, orange. Faces in ivory and lavenders, while the names were in tints of blue. The title was yellow, outlined in blue.

CLUB PIN

Managers' Round Table Club, Motion Picture Herald, 1790 Broadway, New York. • Send postpaid the number of pins noted below, for which payment is enclosed at $1.00 each (Actual pin is ⅜ of an inch in diameter.)

MEMBER _____

THEATRE _____

ADDRESS _____

CITY _____

STATE _____

FRED JOHNSON
formerly general manager of the C. & M. Amusement Co., Cambridge, Ohio, has taken over the Dreamland Theatre in Cardington, Ohio. Good luck, Fred.

▽

LOUIS HELLBORN
will spend most of his time at the State and Kimo Theatres in Garden City, Kan., now that he has resigned as manager of the Denham in Denver.

▽

MORRIS LIEBERMAN
of Lowell has assumed management of the Tremont Theatre, Boston, Mass.

▽

SAMMY COHEN
formerly in charge of publicity for RKO and Fox Theatres in Portland, Ore., is handling the publicity and exploitation campaign for SENATOR JOE E. DUNNER.

▽

B. V. SHEFFIELD
has taken over the Strand, Laurel, Miss.

▽

ALBERT NYKELWICZ
is now operating the Ace Theatre, Milwaukee, Wis.

▽

DICK MOSS
formerly at the United Artists Theatre, Long Beach, Cal., is now at the California in San Diego, Cal. Lots of Luck, Dick.

▽

W. C. FLYNN
has taken over the management of the Plaza Theatre, Sacramento, Cal.

▽

JOHN W. HUCKNALL
has opened the Kingsburg Theatre at Kingsburg, Cal.

▽

G. W. TAYLOR
will manage the newly reopened Folsom, Folsom, Cal.

▽

MIKE MANOS
is running the Liberty in Ellwood City, Pa.

▽

F. T. THOMAS
is the new manager at the Capitol, Wheeling, W. Va., replacing S. S. Solomon, who has left for Newark, N. J.

▽

DAN BIENEMAN
assistant at the Warner Strand, Akron, Ohio, succeeds DICK WRIGHT as manager.

▽

A. H. BUEHRIG, JR.
has left Loew's in Cleveland to head a new independent chain in Canton, Ohio.

▽

EDGAR WALLACE
has left the Eureka and is managing the Williams, Dinuba, Cal., succeeding W. J. ROBERTS.

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features now in work or completed for release later than the date of this issue are listed under "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the companies. Asterisk indicates running time as made known by West Coast studio before announcement by home office in New York. Variations also may be due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1934, unless otherwise specified.

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
City Park	Sally Blane-Henry B. Walthall-Matty Kemp	May 1	70
Murder on the Campus	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey	Dec. 27,'33	73	Feb. 17
Quitter, The	Emma Dunn-Charley Grapewin-Barbara Weeks - Wm. Bakewell	Feb. 5	65	Mar. 24
Rainbow Over Broadway	Joan Marsh-Frank Albertson	Dec. 1,'33	70
Stolen Sweets	Sally Blane-Charles Starrett	Mar. 15	75

Coming Attractions

Green Eyes	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey	June 15

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Crime of Helen Stanley, The	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey	Apr. 20	58
Fighting Code, The	Buck Jones-Diane Sinclair	Dec. 30,'33	65
Fighting Ranger, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier	Mar. 17	62	Apr. 12
Hell Bent for Love	Tim McCoy-Lilian Bond	May 20	58
It Happened One Night	Clark Gable-Claudette Colbert	Feb. 23	105	Mar. 3
Let's Fall In Love	Ann Sothern-Edmund Lowe	Dec. 26,'33	64	Jan. 13
Line-Up, The	William Gargan-Marian Nixon	Mar. 17	65	May 5
Man Trailer, The	Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker	Mar. 24	58
Most Precious Thing in Life (See "In the Cutting Room," Apr. 28.)	Jean Arthur - Donald Cook - Richard Cromwell	June 5
Ninth Guest, The	Donald Cook-Genevieve Tobin	Jan. 31	69	Mar. 10
No Greater Glory	Frankie Darro - Lois Wilson - George Breakston	Apr. 20	78	Mar. 10
Once to Every Woman	Fay Wray - Walter Connolly - Ralph Bellamy	Jan. 15	70	Mar. 31
One Is Guilty	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey	Mar. 31	64	May 26
Party's Over, The	Stuart Erwin-Ann Sothern	May 15	65	May 19
Shadows of Sing Sing	Bruce Cabot - Mary Brian	Dec. 3,'33	65	Mar. 3
Sisters Under the Skin	Elissa Landi-Joseph Schildkraut-Frank Morgan	Apr. 15	70	Apr. 14
Social Register	Colleen Moore-Alexander Kirkland	Mar. 10	74
Speed Wings	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Feb. 5	60	Apr. 7
Straightaway	Tim McCoy-Sue Carol	Dec. 22,'33	60	Jan. 27
Twentieth Century	John Barrymore - C. Lombard - Walter Connolly	May 11	91	Apr. 21
Voice in the Night	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward	Apr. 6	59
Whirpool	Jack Holt-Lila Lee-Jean Arthur	Apr. 10	74	Apr. 21

Coming Attractions

Black Moon	Jack Holt-Fay Wray	June 15
Blind Date	Ann Sothern-Paul Kelly
By Persons Unknown	Ralph Bellamy
Criminal Within, The	Richard Cromwell-Arline Judge
Defense Rests, The	Jack Holt-Jean Arthur
Hell Cat, The (See "In the Cutting Room," May 12.)	Robt. Armstrong-Ann Sothern	June 16
Lady Is Willing, The	Leslie Howard-Binnie Barnes	76 Feb. 10
Man's Game, A	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	June 21
One Night of Love	Grace Moore-Tullio Carminati
Song You Gave Me, The	Bebe Daniels-Victor Varconi	84 Oct. 21,'33
Special Agent	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey
Whom the Gods Destroy	Walter Connolly-Robert Young-Doris Kenyon	June 28

DU WORLD PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beast of Borneo	John Preston - May Stuart - Borneo Joe	Apr. 14	70
Death Over Shanghai	Else Elster-Ralf Osterman	Dec. 15,'33	62
Fantomas	Jean Galland	Feb. 15	59	Apr. 14
Girl in the Case	Jimmy Savo - Eddie Lambert - Dorothy Darling	Mar. 15	60
Hollywood, City of Dreams	Jose Bohr	Mar. 30	68
Queen of the Underworld	Hans Albers - Charlotte Susa - Wera Engels	Jan. 5	65
Romance In Budapest	Franciska Gaal	Apr. 18	93	May 19
Shame of a Nation	Gustaf Diessl	Apr. 10	75	May 5
Tell Tale Heart	Norman Dryden - John Kelt - Yolande Terrell	June 5	55

FIRST DIVISION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dassan		Dec. 22,'33	36	Dec. 30,'33
Eat 'Em Alive		Nov. 3,'33	56	Nov. 18,'33
Forgotten Men	War Film	Apr. 1	84	May 27,'33
He, King of Virtue	Fernandel-Collette Darfeuil	Dec. 20,'33	58
Road to Ruin	Helen Foster-Paul Page	May 15	58	Feb. 24
Throne of the Gods		Dec. 22,'33	55	Dec. 30,'33

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bedside	Warren William	Jan. 27	65	Mar. 17
Big Shakedown, The	Bette Davis - Charles Farrell - Ricardo Cortez	Jan. 6	64	Feb. 17
Convention City	Joan Blondell - Dick Powell - Adolphe Menjou-Mary Astor	Dec. 30,'33	69	Dec. 9,'33
Dark Hazard	Edward G. Robinson	Feb. 3	72	Nov. 25,'33
Fashions of 1934	William Powell-Bette Davis	Feb. 17	78	Jan. 13
Fog Over Frisco	Donald Woods-Bette Davis-Lyle Talbot-Margaret Lindsay	June 2	68
Journal of a Crime	Ruth Chatterton	Mar. 10	65	May 5
Mandalay	Kay Francis-Ricardo Cortez	Feb. 10	65	Feb. 24
Massacre	R. Bartholmess-Ann Dvorak	Jan. 20	69	Jan. 27
Merry Frinks, The	Aline MacMahon	May 26	67
Registered Nurse	Bebe Daniels-Lyle Talbot	Apr. 7	62
Son of a Sailor	Joe E. Brown - Johnny Mack Brown	Dec. 23,'33	73	Dec. 9,'33
Twenty Million Sweethearts (Reviewed under the title "Rhythm in the Air")	Dick Powell - Ginger Rogers - Pat O'Brien	May 26	80	Mar. 24
Very Honorable Guy, A	Joe E. Brown-Alice White	May 5	62	Mar. 24
Wonder Bar	Al Jolson-Dick Powell-Ricardo Cortez-Dolores Del Rio - Kay Francis	Mar. 31	84	Feb. 17

Coming Attractions

British Agent	Leslie Howard - Kay Francis
Circus Clown, The	Joe E. Brown	June 30	*75	May 19
Kansas City Princess	Joan Blondell - Glenda Farrell - Robert Armstrong
Man with Two Faces, The	Edward G. Robinson - Mary Astor-Ricardo Cortez		*75
Midnight Alibi	Richard Barthelmess - Ann Dvorak - Helen Lowell	July 21	59	May 26
Return of the Terror	Lyle Talbot-Mary Astor	July 7	*65
Side Streets	Aline MacMahon - Paul Kelly - Ann Dvorak	June 30

(See "A Woman in Her Thirties," "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 17.)

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
All Men Are Enemies	Hugh Williams - Helen Twelvetrees	Apr. 20	79	Apr. 7
As Husbands Go	Warner Baxter-Helen Vinson	Dec. 29,'33	80	Nov. 18,'33
Bottoms Up	"Pat" Paterson-Spencer Tracy-John Boles	Mar. 30	84	Mar. 10
Call It Luck	"Pat" Paterson-Charles Starrett	June 1	*63
Carolina	Janet Gaynor-Lionel Barrymore-Robert Young-Henrietta Crosman	Feb. 2	82	Feb. 3
Change of Heart	Janet Gaynor-Charles Farrell-Ginger Rogers-James Dunn	May 18	76	May 12
Coming Out Party	Frances Dee-Gene Raymond	Mar. 9	79	Jan. 27
Constant Nymph, The	Victoria Hopper-Brian Aherne	Mar. 23	84	Apr. 14
David Harum	Will Rogers-Evelyn Venable	Mar. 2	83	Mar. 3
Devil Tiger	Kane Richmond-Marion Burns	Feb. 18	60	Feb. 17
Ever Since Eve	George O'Brien-Mary Brian	Feb. 9	72	Apr. 7
Frontier Marshal	George O'Brien-Irene Bentley	Jan. 19	66	Feb. 18
Georgo White's Scandals	Rudy Valle - George White - Alice Faye-Jimmy Durante	Mar. 18	78	Mar. 17
Heart Song	Lilian Harvey-Charles Boyer	Apr. 27	81	Aug. 12,'33
Hold That Girl	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Feb. 16	65	Mar. 31
I Am Suzanne!	Lilian Harvey-Gene Raymond	Jan. 5	98	Jan. 27
I Believed in You	Victory Jory - John Boles - Rosemary Ames	Feb. 23	68	Feb. 17
I Was a Spy	Herbert Marshall - Madeleine Carroll - Conrad Veidt	Dec. 15,'33	85	Sept. 23,'33
Mr. Skitch	Will Rogers - ZaSu Pitts	Dec. 22,'33	69	Dec. 16,'33
Murder in Trinidad	Heather Angel - Victor Jory - Nigel Bruce	Apr. 6	74	May 26
Now I'll Tell	Spencer Tracy-Alice Faye-Helen Twelvetrees	May 11	87	Apr. 28
Orient Express	Heather Angel-Norman Foster	Jan. 12	72	Mar. 10
Sleepers East	Wynne Gibson-Preston Foster	Jan. 26	69
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30,'33.)
Smoky	Victor Jory-Irene Bentley	Dec. 8,'33	69	Dec. 9,'33
Springtime for Henry	Otto Kruger - Nancy Carroll - Heather Angel	May 25	*83	Apr. 28
Stand Up and Cheer	(All Star Musical)	May 4	80	Apr. 28
Such Women Are Dangerous (See "Too Many Women," "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 31.)	Warner Baxter-Rosemary Ames	May 4	81
Three on a Honeymoon (See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 3.)	Sally Eilers-Johnny Mack Brown	Mar. 23	65

Coming Attractions

Baby Take a Bow (See "In the Cutting Room," May 26.)	James Dunn - Claire Trevor - Shirley Temple	June 22
Caravan	Charles Boyer-Loretta Young
Cats-Paw, The (See "In the Cutting Room," May 12.)	Harold Lloyd-Una Merkel
Charlie Chan's Courage (See "In the Cutting Room," May 26.)	Warner Oland-Drue Leyton	June 29
Grand Canary	Warner Baxter-Madge Evans	July 13
Handy Andy	Will Rogers-Peggy Wood	July 27	81	May 5
Marie Galante	Spencer Tracy-Kettl Gallian
She Learned About Sailors (See "In the Cutting Room," May 26.)	Lew Ayres-Alice Faye	July 6
She Was a Lady	Helen Twelvetrees - Donald Woods	July 20
Wanted	Hugh Williams-Claire Trevor
Wild Gold	John Boles-Claire Trevor	June 8	*73	May 26
World Moves On, The	Madeleine Carroll - Franchot Tone

FREULER FILM ASSOCIATES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Love Past Thirty	Aileen Pringle - Theodore Von Eltz	Jan. 27	73
Marriage on Approval	Donald Dillaway-Barbara Kent-Phyllis Barry	Nov. 22,'33	78	Mar. 17

GAUMONT-BRITISH

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Arson Ring, The	Leslie Banks		68
Baroud (See "Love In Morocco")
Channel Crossing	Constance Cummings - Matheson Lang	June 1	64	Apr. 7
Dick Turpin	Victor McLaglen	June 15	72
Friday the 13th	Jessie Matthews	May 1	73	May 26
Ghost Train, The	Jack Hulbert	Dec. 1,'33	69	Feb. 25,'33
Ghoul, The	Boris Karloff	Feb. 15	75	Oct. 28,'33
It's a Boy	Edward Everett Horton - Leslie Henson		80	Sept. 30,'33
Just Smith	Tom Walls		69	May 5
Love In Morocco (Reviewed under the title "Baroud")	Rex Ingram	Dec. 1,'33	76	Oct. 15,'32
Murder Party, The	Leslie Banks		62	Mar. 10
Night and Day	Jack Hulbert-Winifred Shotter	Dec. 1,'33	77	June 10,'33
Orders Is Orders	Charlotte Greenwood - James Gleason	Apr. 15	61	Aug. 19,'33
Prince of Wales, The			57
Sleeping Car	Ivor Novello-Madeleine Carroll		83	July 8,'33
There Goes the Bride	Jessie Matthews	Dec. 1,'33	79	Mar. 11,'33
Waltz Time	Evelyn Laye	Mar. 1	76	Aug. 12,'33
Woman In Command, The	Cicely Courtneidge - Edward Everett Horton		80

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

GOLDSMITH PRODUCTIONS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
I Hate Women	Wallace Ford-June Clyde	Apr. 15	72	Apr. 14
Woman Unafraid	Lucille Gleason - Richard "Skeets" Gallagher	Feb. 15	68

Coming Attractions

Born to Hang	All Star Cast	June 15

INVINCIBLE PICTURES

[Distributed through Chesterfield]

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cross Streets	John Mack Brown - Claire Windsor - Anita Louise - Kenneth Thomson	Jan. 22	67
Fifteen Wives	Conway Tearle-Noel Francis	June 1	68
In Love with Life	Onslow Stevens-Lila Lee-Dickie Moore	Apr. 1	68	May 19
In the Money	"Skeets" Gallagher - Lois Wilson - Warren Hymer	Nov. 7,'33	62	Jan. 13
Twin Husbands	John Miljan - Shirley Grey - Monroe Owsley	Feb. 25	62

Coming Attractions

House of Strangers	Eric Von Stroheim - Leslie Fenton - Wera Engels	June 15

LIBERTY PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheaters	"Bill" Boyd-Dorothy Mackaill-June Collyer	June 1	68	May 19

Coming Attractions

No Ransom	Leila Hyams-Phillips Holmes
Once to Every Bachelor	Marian Nixon-Neil Hamilton		78	May 19
School for Girls
Take the Stand	Jack LaRue-Thelma Todd		78
Two Heads on a Pillow	Neil Hamilton-Miriam Jordan
When Strangers Meet	Richard Cromwell-Arline Judge		74
Without Children

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Charming Deceiver, The (Reviewed under the title, "Heads We Go")	Constance Cummings	Dec. 8,'33	87	Sept. 16,'33
Morning After, The (Reviewed under the title, "I Spy")	Ben Lyon-Sally Eilers	Jan. 1	63	Oct. 28,'33
Sin of Nora Moran, The	Zita Johann-John Miljan	Dec. 13,'33	65	Dec. 30,'33
Unknown Blonde	Edward Arnold - John Miljan - Barbara Barondess - Dorothy Revier	Apr. 23	67	May 5
You Made Me Love You	Thelma Todd-Stanley Lupino	Nov. 24,'33	74	Oct. 14,'33

Coming Attractions

Scarlet Letter, The	Colleen Moore-Hardie Albright

MAYFAIR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Badge of Honor	"Buster" Crabbe-Ruth Hall	Apr. 15	68
Fighting Rookie, The	Jack LaRue-Ada Ince	May 15	68
Secret Sinners	Sue Carol-Nick Stuart	Oct. 20,'33	70
What's Your Racket?	Regis Toomey-Noel Francis	Dec. 1,'33	70	Mar. 10

Coming Attractions

Alice Takes a Hand	Buster Crabbe-Gloria Shea

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cat and the Fiddle, The	Jeanette MacDonald-Ramon Novarro	Feb. 16	78	Feb. 24
Dinner at Eight	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore - Jean Harlow - Madge Evans - Karen Morley - Edmund Lowe - Lee Tracy - Jean Hersholt	Jan. 12	113	June 10,'33
Eskimo	Native Cast	Jan. 19	117	Nov. 18,'33
Fugitive Lovers	Robt. Montgomery-Madge Evans	Jan. 5	78	Dec. 30,'33
Going Hollywood	Marion Davies-Bing Crosby	Dec. 22,'33	79	Dec. 16,'33
Hollywood Party	(All Star Musical)	June 1	70
Laughing Boy	Ramon Novarro-Lupe Velez	Apr. 13	79
Lazy River	Jean Parker-Robert Young	Mar. 16	77	Mar. 10
Manhattan Melodrama	Clark Gable-Myrna Loy-William Powell	May 4	95	Apr. 28
Men In White	Clark Gable-Myrna Loy	Apr. 6	75	Feb. 17
Mystery of Mr. X	Robert Montgomery - Elizabeth Allan	Feb. 23	85	Mar. 3
Queen Christina	Greta Garbo-John Gilbert	Feb. 9	103	Dec. 30,'33
Riptide	Norma Shearer - Robert Montgomery - Herbert Marshall	Mar. 30	90	Mar. 31
Sadie McKee	Joan Crawford-Franchot Tone	May 11	95	May 12
Should Ladies Behave? (Reviewed under the title, "The Vinegar Tree")	Alice Brady-Lionel Barrymore-Conway Tearle	Dec. 1,'33	78	Nov. 11,'33
Show-Off, The	Spencer Tracy-Madge Evans	Mar. 9	80	Mar. 3
Sons of the Desert	Laurel and Hardy	Dec. 29,'33	68	Jan. 20
Tarzan and His Mate	J. Weissmuller-M. O'Sullivan	Apr. 20	116	Apr. 28
Thin Man, The	William Powell-Myrna Loy	May 25	*95	May 19
This Side of Heaven	Lionel Barrymore-Fay Bainter	Feb. 2	76	Jan. 27
Women in His Life, The	Otto Kruger-Isabel Jewell-Ben Lyon	Dec. 8,'33	76	Feb. 3
You Can't Buy Everything	May Robson-Jean Parker	Jan. 26	85	Feb. 10

Coming Attractions

Barretts of Wimpole Street	Norma Shearer-Charles Laughton - Fredric March
Merry Widow, The	Maurice Chevalier - Jeanette MacDonald
One Hundred Percent Pure	Jean Harlow-Franchot Tone	July 13
Operator Thirteen (See "In the Cutting Room," May 19.)	Marion Davies-Gary Cooper	June 8
Rear Car	Charles Ruggles-Una Merkel	June 22
Stamboul Quest	Myrna Loy-George Brent
Treasure Island (See "In the Cutting Room," May 19.)	Wallace Beery - Jackie Cooper-Lionel Barrymore-Otto Kruger
Untitled	Constance Bennett - Herbert Marshall - Hugh Williams
Viva Villa!	Wallace Beery-Fay Wray		115	Apr. 7

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beggars In Ermine (See "In the Cutting Room," Apr. 14.)	Lionel Atwill	Apr. 1	70	Feb. 24
Blue Steel	John Wayne	May 10	54	May 12
Broken Dreams	Randolph Scott-Martha Sleeper	Nov. 15,'33	68	Nov. 4,'33
City Limits	Ray Walker-Sally Blane-Frank Craven	May 1	70
He Couldn't Take It	Ray Walker-Virginia Cherrill	Dec. 11,'33	67	Mar. 24
House of Mystery, The	Verna Hillie-Ed Lowry	May 30	61
Loudspeaker, The	Ray Walker-Jacqueline Wells	June 1	67	May 12
Lucky Texan, The	John Wayne	Jan. 22	55	Jan. 27
Manhattan Love Song	Dixie Lee-Robt. Armstrong	May 1	73	Mar. 31
Monte Carlo Nights	Mary Brian-John Darrow	May 20	62
Mystery Liner	Noah Beery - Astrid Allyn - Cornelius Keefe	Mar. 15	62	Mar. 31
Sagebrush Trail	John Wayne	Dec. 15,'33	53	Dec. 23,'33
Sixteen Fathoms Deep	Sally O'Neil-Creighton Chaney	Jan. 1	59	Feb. 10
West of the Divide	John Wayne-Virginia B. Faire	Mar. 1	54	Jan. 20
Woman's Man	John Halliday-Marguerite de la Motte-Wallace Ford	Feb. 15	68	Jan. 27

Coming Attractions

Flirting With Danger	Robt. Armstrong-Wm. Cagney
Girl of the Limberlost
Happy Landings	Ray Walker-Jacqueline Wells
Jane Eyre	Colin Clive - Virginia Bruce
King Kelly of the U. S. A.	Guy Roberston
Man from Utah, The	John Wayne
Money Means Nothing	Wallace Ford-Gloria Shea	June 15	70	May 19
Moonstone, The
Randy Rides Alone	John Wayne
Shock	Ralph Forbes-Gwenllian Gill
Star Packer, The	John Wayne-Verna Hillie

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Alice in Wonderland	Charlotte Henry	Dec. 22,'33	75	Dec. 16,'33
All of Me	Fredric March-Miriam Hopkins-George Raft	Jan. 19	71	Jan. 13
Bolero	George Raft-Carole Lombard	Feb. 23	80	Feb. 17
Come On, Marines	Richard Arlen-Ida Lupino	Mar. 23	68	Mar. 10
Death Takes a Holiday (Reviewed under the title, "Strange Holiday")	Fredric March - Evelyn Venable	Mar. 30	78	Jan. 20
Design for Living	Miriam Hopkins-Fredric March-Gary Cooper	Dec. 29,'33	88	Nov. 25,'33
Double Door	Evelyn Venable-Kent Taylor	May 4	75	Apr. 28
Eight Girls In a Boat	Kay Johnson - Dorothy Wilson - Doug. Montgomery	Jan. 5	78	Dec. 30,'33
Four Frightened People	C. Colbert - H. Marshall - Wm. Gargan - M. Boland	Jan. 26	95	Feb. 3
Girl Without a Room	M. Churchill-Charles Farrell	Dec. 8,'33	75	Dec. 9,'33
Good Dame	Sylvia Sidney-Fredric March	Feb. 16	72	Feb. 10
His Double Life	Roland Young-Lillian Gish	Jan. 12	68	Dec. 30,'33
Last Round-Up, The	Randolph Scott-Barbara Fritchle	Jan. 26	65	Jan. 6
Little Miss Marker	Adolphe Menjou-Dorothy Dell-Shirley Temple	June 1	*80	May 5
Lone Cowboy	Jackie Cooper	Dec. 1,'33	68	Nov. 25,'33
Melody In Spring	Charlie Ruggles-Mary Boland-Lanny Ross-Ann Sothern	Apr. 20	76	Mar. 24
Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen	Dorothea Wieck-Baby Le Roy	Jan. 12	68	Dec. 23,'33
Murder at the Vanities	Carl Brisson - Kitty Carlisle - Victor McLaglen-Jack Oakie	May 25	89	May 12
No More Women	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen	Feb. 23	72	Feb. 17
Private Scandal	Mary Brian-Phillips Holmes	May 11	65	May 5
Search for Beauty	Larry ("Buster") Crabbe - Ida Lupino	Feb. 2	75	Jan. 20
She Made Her Bed	Sally Eilers-Richard Arlen	Mar. 9	78	Feb. 24
Six of a Kind	C. Ruggles-M. Boland-W. C. Fields - A. Skipworth - Burns and Allen	Feb. 9	65	Jan. 27
Thirty Day Princess	Sylvia Sidney-Cary Grant	May 18	*73	May 5
Trumpet Blows, The	George Raft - Adolphe Menjou-Frances Drake	Apr. 13	72	Apr. 7
We're Not Dressing	Bing Crosby - Carole Lombard - Ethel Merman-Leon Errol	Apr. 27	74	May 5
Wharf Angel	Victor McLaglen-Dorothy Dell-Preston Foster	Mar. 16	62½	Apr. 28
Witching Hour, The	Judith Allen-Tom Brown	Apr. 27	64	Apr. 28
You're Telling Me	W. C. Fields-Joan Marsh-Larry ("Buster") Crabbe	Apr. 6	70	Mar. 31

Coming Attractions

Cleopatra	Claudette Colbert - Henry Wilcoxon - Warren William
Crime Without Passion	Claude Rains
Fifty-two Weeks for Florette	Lee Tracy-Helen Mack
Great Flirtation, The (See "In the Cutting Room," May 26.)	Elissa Landi-Adolphe Menjou-David Manners	June 15
Here Comes the Groom	Jack Haley	June 22
It Ain't No Sin (See "In the Cutting Room," May 12.)	Mae West	June 29
Kiss and Make Up (See "In the Cutting Room," May 12.)	Cary Grant Genevieve Tobin
Ladies First	Geo. Bancroft-Frances Fuller
Ladies Should Listen	Cary Grant-Frances Drake
Many Happy Returns	Burns and Allen	June 8	*65	May 12
Notorious Sophie Lang	Gertrude Michael - Paul Cavanagh
Now and Forever	Gary Cooper-Carole Lombard
Old-Fashioned Way, The	W. C. Fields
Scarlet Empress, The	Marlene Dietrich-John Lodge		*100	Apr. 28
She Loves Me Not	Bing Crosby-Miriam Hopkins
Shoot the Works	Jack Oakie-Dorothy Dell	June 29

PINNACLE PRODUCTIONS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Chloe	Olive Borden-Reed Howes	Apr. 1	64
Hired Wife	Greta Nissen-Weldon Heyburn	Mar. 1	65	Mar. 24
Playthings of Desire	Linda Watkins-James Kirkwood	Mar. 15	58

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ferocious Pal, The	Kazan - Ruth Sullivan - Robert Manning	Feb. 2	55
Fighting to Live	Captain-Lady-Marion Shilling-Gaylord Pendleton	May 6	54
Jaws of Justice	Kazan-Teddy and Richard Terry	Dec. 4,'33	58
Russia Today		Nov. 8,'33	42	Oct. 28,'33
Thunder Over Mexico	Native Cast	Nov. 15,'33	70	May 20,'33

Coming Attractions

Little Damozel	Anna Neagle-James Rennie
Peck's Bad Boy	Jackie Cooper

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Crime Doctor	Otto Kruger-Karen Morley	Apr. 27	74	Mar. 17
Finishing School	Ginger Rogers - Frances Dee - Bruce Cabot	May 4	73	Apr. 7
Flying Down to Rio	Dolores Del Rio - Gene Raymond - Raul Roulien	Dec. 29,'33	89	Dec. 18,'33
Hips, Hips, Hooray!	Wheeler and Woolsey	Feb. 2	68	Jan. 27
If I Were Free!	Irene Dunne-Nils Asther-Clive Brook	Dec. 1,'33	66	Dec. 23,'33
Keep 'Em Rolling	Walter Huston-Frances Dee	Mar. 2	69½	Feb. 10
Little Women	K. Hepburn - Joan Bennett - Frances Dee - Paul Lukas	Nov. 24,'33	115	Nov. 11,'33
Long Lost Father	John Barrymore-Helen Chandler	Jan. 19	63	Feb. 24
Lost Patrol, The	McLaglen-Karloff	Feb. 16	75	Feb. 3

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Man of Two Worlds	Francis Lederer-Elissa Landi	Feb. 9	96½	Jan. 20
Meanest Gal In Town, The	ZaSu Pitts - Pert Kelton - El Brendel - James Gleason - "Skeets" Gallagher	Jan. 12	67	Mar. 10
Sing and Like It	ZaSu Pitts - Pert Kelton - Edward Everett Horton	Apr. 20	72	Apr. 21
Son of Kong	Robert Armstrong-Helen Mack	Dec. 22,'33	69½	Jan. 6
Spitfire	Katharine Hepburn	Mar. 30	88	Feb. 24
Stingaree	Irene Dunne-Richard Dix	May 25	76½	May 12
Strictly Dynamite	Jimmy Durante - Lupe Velez - Norman Foster-Wm. Gargan-Marian Nixon	June 1	*67	May 5
Success at Any Price	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.-Colleen Moore-Genevieve Tobin	Mar. 16	77	May 12
This Man Is Mine	Irene Dunne-Ralph Bellamy	Apr. 13	76	Apr. 21
Two Alone	Jean Parker-Tom Brown	Jan. 26	74	Jan. 20
Where Sinners Meet	Clive Brook-Diana Wynyard	May 18	72½	Apr. 28
Wild Cargo	Frank Buck	Apr. 6	96	Mar. 31
Coming Attractions
Afterwards	ZaSu Pitts-Slim Summerville-Wm. Gaxton-Bruce Cabot	Aug. 10
Bachelor Bait	Pert Kelton-Stuart Erwin	July 27
Cockeyed Cavaliers (See "In the Cutting Room," May 5.)	Wheeler and Woolsey	June 22
Down to Their Last Yacht (See "In the Cutting Room," May 19.)	Sidney Blackmer - Sidney Fox
Family Man (See "In the Cutting Room," May 5.)	Richard Dix-Dorothy Wilson	June 15
Green Mansions	Dolores Del Rio-Joel McCrea
Hat, Coat, and Glove	John Barrymore	Aug. 3
Let's Try Again	Diana Wynyard-Clive Brook	June 8
Life of Vergie Winters (See "In the Cutting Room," May 12.)	Ann Harding-John Boles	July 6
Murder on the Blackboard (See "In the Cutting Room," May 19.)	James Gleason-Edna May Oliver	July 13	80
Of Human Bondage (See "In the Cutting Room," Apr. 14.)	Leslie Howard-Bette Davis	June 29
We're Rich Again (See "In the Cutting Room," May 26.)	Marian Nixon - Billie Burke - Reginald Denny - Buster Crabbe - Edna May Oliver	July 20

SHOWMENS PICTURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Features
Beyond Bengal	Harry Schenck	May 2	72	Apr. 28
Big Race, The	Boots Mallory-John Darrow	Dec. 1,'33	71
Moth, The	Sally O'Neil-Paul Page	Jan. 15	63
Public Stenographer	Lola Lane-Wm. Collier, Jr.	Nov. 1,'33	62	Feb. 10
St. Louis Woman	John Mack Brown-Jeanette Loff	Apr. 15	68
Coming Attractions
Golden Head
Souls In Pawn
Special Duty
Unlimited
Within the Rock	Lila Lee - Creighton Chaney

STATE RIGHTS

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Features
Ariane	Elizabeth Bergner-Percy Marmont	Blue Ribbon Photoplays	Mar. 6	69	Apr. 7
Big Time or Bust	Regis Toomey-Gloria Shea	Tower	Nov. 10,'33	62	Mar. 10
Criminal at Large	Emlyn Williams - Cathleen Nesbitt	Helber Prods.	Dec. 15,'33	67	Jan. 6
Cougar, the King Killer	Edwin C. Hill - Jay Bruce	Master Art	Nov. 1,'33	60
Death Parade, The	(War Film)	Henry Zapp		77	Feb. 3
Enlighten Thy Daughter	Beth Barton-Miriam Battista	Exploitation Picts.	Jan. 15	80	Dec. 30,'33
Farewell to Love	Jan Kiepura-Heather Angel	Madison Picts.	Nov. 24,'33.	60	Dec. 2,'33
Film Parade		General Picts.	Jan. 12	55
Found Alive	Barbara Bedford	Ideal	Feb. 10	56	Feb. 24
Get That Venus	Ernest Truex - Jean Arthur	Regent Picts.
Gew		Film Exchange	Nov. 29,'33	65	Dec. 9,'33
Hell on Earth	All Star	Aeolian Picts.	Jan. 27	70	Feb. 10
Her Splendid Folly	Lilian Bond - T. Von Eltz	Progressive	Oct. 7,'33	59	Nov. 4,'33
Hitler's Reign of Terror		Jewel Prods.	Apr. 30	67	May 12
Le Gong (Dance of the Virgins)		Bennett Picts.		55	Jan. 20
Lost Jungle, The	Clyde Beatty	Mascot	May 1	7 rls.
No Funny Business	Gertrude Lawrence - Laurence Olivier	Ferrone Prods.	Mar. 7	60
Sweden, Land of the Vikings		Associated Cinemas	Jan. 3	70	Jan. 13
Through the Centuries		Beacon Films	Dec. 1,'33.	70	Dec. 16,'33
Unknown Soldier Speaks, The		Lincoln Prods.		67
War's End		Capital		35	May 26
Wine, Women and Song	Lilyan Tashman-Lew Cody	I. E. Chadwick		70	Dec. 23,'33
Woman Condemned	Claudia Dell	Marcy Picts.	Apr. 4	66

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Features
Advice to the Lovelorn	Lee Tracy-Sally Blane	Dec. 1,'33	62	Dec. 9,'33
Blood Money	George Bancroft-Frances Dee-Chick Chandler-Judith Anderson	Nov. 17,'33	65	Nov. 18,'33
Born to Be Bad	Loretta Young-Cary Grant	May 18	61
Catherine the Great	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. - Elizabeth Bergner	Apr. 13	93	Feb. 10
Gallant Lady	Ann Harding-Clive Brook	Jan. 5	82	Dec. 9,'33
House of Rothschild, The	George Arliss	Apr. 6	86	Mar. 10
Looking for Trouble	Spencer Tracy - Jack Dakie - Constance Cummings	Mar. 9	77	Feb. 3
Moulin Rouge	Constance Bennett - Franchot Tone - T. Carminati	Jan. 19	70	Dec. 23,'33
Nana	Anna Sten-Lionel Atwill-Phillips Holmes	Mar. 2	88	Jan. 13
Palooka	Jimmy Durante-Stuart Erwin-Lupe Velez	Feb. 16	86	Jan. 27
Private Life of Henry, VIII, The	Charles Laughton	Nov. 3,'33	93	Sept. 23,'33
Roman Scandals	Eddie Cantor - Gloria Stuart - David Manners-Ruth Etting	Dec. 29,'33	91	Dec. 9,'33
Sorrell and Son	H. B. Warner	Apr. 20	85	Jan. 6
Coming Attractions
Affairs of Cellini, The (Reviewed under the title "The Firebrand")	Fredric March-Constance Bennett-Frank Morgan-Fay Wray		*85	Apr. 21
Barbary Coast	Anna Sten-Gary Cooper
Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back	Ronald Colman-Loretta Young		*80	May 19
Count of Monte Cristo, The	Robert Donat-Elissa Landi
Last Gentleman, The	George Arliss		*80	May 12
Nell Gwynn	Anna Neagle-Cedric Hardwicke
Our Daily Bread (See "In the Cutting Room," May 19.)	Karen Morley-Tom Keene
Private Life of Don Juan, The	Douglas Fairbanks, Sr.
Resurrection	Anna Sten-Fredric March
Transatlantic Showboat	Jack Benny
Treasure Hunt, The (Tent.)	Eddie Cantor - Ann Sothern - Ethel Merman

UNIVERSAL

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Features
Affairs of a Gentleman	Paul Lukas - Leila Hyams - Patricia Ellis	May 14	*60	May 12
All Quiet on the Western Front. (Reissue)	Lew Ayres	Apr. 2	84	Apr. 26,'30
Beloved	John Boles-Gloria Stuart	Jan. 22	82	Dec. 23,'33
Black Cat, The	Boris Karloff-Bela Lugosi-David Manners	May 7	65	May 26
Bombay Mail	Edmund Lowe-Onslow Stevens-Shirley Grey	Jan. 1	68	Jan. 13
By Candlelight	Elissa Landi-Paul Lukas	Dec. 18,'33	70	Dec. 23,'33
Countess of Monte Cristo	Fay Wray-Paul Lukas	Mar. 19	78	Mar. 3
Crosby Case, The	Wynne Gibson-Onslow Stevens-Alan Dinehart	Mar. 5	60	Apr. 7
Cross Country Cruise	Lew Ayres - Alice White - June Knight	Jan. 15	77	Jan. 27
Counsellor-at-Law	John Barrymore-Bebe Daniels	Dec. 25,'33	78	Nov. 25,'33
Glamour	Constance Cummings - Paul Lukas	Apr. 9	74	Apr. 7
Gun Justice	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Dec. 11,'33	60	Mar. 31
Half a Sinner	Joel McCrea-Sally Blane	Apr. 30	78½	Apr. 28
Honor of the Range	Ken Maynard	Apr. 16	61	May 5
I Like It That Way	Gloria Stuart-Roger Pryor	Feb. 12	67	Apr. 28
I'll Tell the World	Lee Tracy-Gloria Stuart	Apr. 16	76	Apr. 14
Let's Be Ritzy	Lew Ayres-Patricia Ellis	Mar. 26	68	Mar. 17
Little Man, What Now?	Margaret Sullavan - Douglass Montgomery	June 4	*90	May 26
Love Birds, The	Summerville-Pitts	Mar. 12	62	Apr. 21
Love Captive, The	Nils Asther-Gloria Stuart	May 21
Madame Spy	Fay Wray-Nils Asther	Jan. 8	70	Jan. 6
Midnight	O. P. Heggie-Sidney Fox	Jan. 29	80	Mar. 17
Myrt and Marge	Myrtle Dale - Donna Damerell - Ted Healy	Dec. 4,'33	68	Sept. 9,'33
Poor Rich, The	Edna May Oliver-Edward Everett Horton	Feb. 26	65	Jan. 6
Uncertain Lady (See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 17.)	Genevieve Tobin-Edward Everett Horton	Apr. 23	65
Wheels of Destiny	Ken Maynard	Feb. 19	64	Apr. 14
Coming Attractions
Embarrassing Moments	Chester Morris-Marian Nixon	July 9
I Give My Love	Wynne Gibson-Paul Lukas	June 25	70
Imitation of Life	Claudette Colbert
Let's Talk It Over (See "Funny Thing Called Love," "In the Cutting Room," May 19.)	Chester Morris - Mae Clarke	June 11
Million Dollar Ransom	Joan Bennett-Edward Arnold
One More River	Diana Wynyard - Colin Clive - Frank Lawton - Mary Astor - Reginald Denny
Smoking Guns (Reviewed under the title "Doomed to Die.")	Ken Maynard-Gloria Shea	June 11	65	Apr. 21
There's Always Tomorrow (T.)	Frank Morgan-Elizabeth Young-Lois Wilson-Binnie Barnes

WARNER BROS.

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Features
As the Earth Turns	Jean Muir-Donald Woods	Apr. 14	73	Feb. 10
Disraeli (Reissue)	George Arliss	Dec. 16,'33	88	Dec. 14,'29
Easy to Love	Adolphe Menjou - Mary Astor - Genevieve Tobin	Jan. 13	61	Jan. 20
From Headquarters	Geo. Brent-Margaret Lindsay	Dec. 2,'33	63	Dec. 2,'33
Gambling Lady	Barbara Stanwyck	Mar. 31	66	Mar. 10
Harold Teen	Hal LeRoy - Rochelle Hudson - Patricia Ellis	Apr. 7	66	Feb. 24
Heat Lightning	Aline MacMahon-Preston Foster-Ann Dvorak-Lyle Talbot	Mar. 3	63	Mar. 17
Hi, Nellie!	Paul Muni	Jan. 20	75	Feb. 3
House on 56th Street, The	Kay Francis - Ricardo Cortez - Gene Raymond	Dec. 23,'33	68	Dec. 9,'33
I've Got Your Number	Joan Blondell-Pat O'Brien	Feb. 24	68	Feb. 10
Jimmy the Gent	James Cagney-Bette Davis	Mar. 17	67	Mar. 31
Lady Killer	James Cagney	Dec. 9,'33	76	Dec. 2,'33
Merry Wives of Reno	Glenda Farrell-Margaret Lindsay-Donald Woods	May 12	64	May 19
Modern Hero, A	Richard Barthelmess	Apr. 21	71	Apr. 28
Smarty	Joan Blondell-Warren William	May 19	64	May 26
Upper World	Warren William - Mary Astor - Ginger Rogers	Apr. 28	72	Apr. 7
Coming Attractions
Dames	Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Joan Blondell
Dr. Monica	Kay Francis-Warren William	June 23	65	May 26
Dragon Murder Case, The	Warren William
Friends of Mr. Sweeney (See "In the Cutting Room," May 5.)	Charlie Ruggles-Ann Dvorak	July 28
He Was Her Man	James Cagney-Joan Blondell	June 16	70	May 26
Hey, Sailor!	James Cagney - Pat O'Brien - Gloria Stuart	July 21
Housewife	George Brent-Bette Davis
Key, The	Edna Best - William Powell - Colin Clive	June 9	*70	May 26
Lost Lady, A	Barbara Stanwyck
Madame Du Barry	Dolores Del Rio-Victory Jory	July 14
Personality Kid, The	Pat O'Brien-Glenda Farrell	July 7

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Features
Adieu Les Beaux Jours	Brigitte Helm - Jean Gabin	Ufa	Apr. 21	100	May 19
Autumn Crocus	Ivor Novello-Fay Compton	Associated Talking Pictures			Apr. 14
Cities of the Desert		L. M. B. Films			May 26
End of the World, The	Victor Francen-Collette Darfeuil	Harold Auten	Apr. 12	54	Apr. 28
Girl from Maxim's, The	Frances Day	London Film			Oct. 14,'33
Lash, The	Lyn Harding-John Mills	Radio			May 19
Mam'zelle Nitouche	Janie Marese-Raimu	Protex	Nov. 18,'33.	90	Dec. 2,'33
Passing Shadows	Edmund Gwenn-Barry Mackay	Fox			May 19
Passion of Joan of Arc, The	Maria Falconnetti	Capital	Sept. 7,'33.	57	Sept. 16,'33
Petterson and Bendel	Adolf Jahr-Sammy Friedmann	Scandinavian Talking Picts.	Jan. 1	148	Mar. 10
Pledge, The	Line Noro - Jean Galland	Protex	Mar. 13	96	Mar. 24
Prince of Arcadia	Carl Brisson	Baumont-British		80	Oct. 28,'33
Red Wagon	Charles Bickford - Raquel Torres - Greta Nissen	British Int'l
Saint Anthony of Padua	Carlo Pinzauti	Integrity Film	Feb. 8	90	Feb. 17
This Week of Grace	Gracie Fields	Radio		92	Oct. 28,'33
Turkey Time	Tom Walls - Ralph Lynn	Gaumont-British		71	Mar. 24
Two Orphans, The	Yvette Guilbert - Rosine Derean - Renee Saint-Cyr	Blue Ribbon Photoplays	Feb. 6	92	Feb. 24
Volga Volga	H. A. Shletton	Kinematrade	Dec. 14,'33	76	Jan. 6
Wandering Jew, The	Jacob Ben-Ami	JAFA	Oct. 20,'33	90	Oct. 28,'33
Wild Boy	Mick the Miller	Gaumont-British			May 19

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1934 unless otherwise stated]

CELEBRITY PROD'TIONS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
COMICOLOR CARTOONS
Jack and the Beanstalk	Dec. 23,'33	8
The Little Red Hen	Feb. 16	7
The Brave Tin Soldier	Apr. 7	7
Puss in Boots	May 17	1 rl.
The Queen of Hearts	June 25	1 rl.
Aladdin	July 30	1 rl.

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BROADWAY COMEDIES
Elmer Steps Out (Walter Catlett)	Feb. 28	20
Fishing for Trouble	May 4	2 rls.
Get Along Little Hubby (Leon Errol)	June 15	2 rls.
Hold Your Temper (Hot Daze)	Oct. 20,'33	2 rls.
Radio-dough (Smith and Dale)	Feb. 5	2 rls.
Stable Mates (Sidney and Murray)	Apr. 6	2 rls.
When Do We Eat?	Mar. 19	2 rls.
Ten Baby Fingers (Sidney and Murray)	Jan. 26	2 rls.
KRAZY KAT KARTOONS
Autograph Hunter	Jan. 5	1 rl.
Bill Poster, The	Nov. 24,'33	1 rl.
Busy Bus	Apr. 20	1 rl.
Bowery Daze	Mar. 30	1 rl.
Cinder Alley	Mar. 9	1 rl.
Curio Shop, The	Dec. 15,'33	7
Krazy Spooks	Oct. 13,'33	1 rl.
Masquerade Party	May 11	1 rl.
Southern Exposure	Feb. 5	1 rl.
Stage Krazy	Nov. 13,'33	1 rl.
Tom Thumb	Feb. 16	1 rl.
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY
2—In the Orient	Oct. 25,'33	10
3—In South America	Dec. 22,'33	1 rl.
4—Among the Nordics	Feb. 20	1 rl.
5—In India	Apr. 20	1 rl.
6—In Ethiopia		1 rl.
MARCH OF THE YEARS
No. 2—	Oct. 6,'33	1 rl.
No. 3—Famous Crippen Case	Oct. 20,'33	10
No. 4—Commander Perry Opens Japan	Nov. 3,'33	11
No. 5—	Jan. 24	1 rl.
No. 6—	Jan. 24	1 rl.
No. 7—	Feb. 24	1 rl.
No. 8—	Mar. 23	1 rl.
No. 9—	May 15	1 rl.
MICKEY McGUIRE COMEDIES
1—Mickey's Touchdown	Oct. 14,'33	18
2—Mickey's Tent Show	Oct. 27,'33	18
3—Mickey's Covered Wagon	Nov. 30,'33	18
4—Mickey's Minstrels	Jan. 11	18
5—Mickey's Rescue	Mar. 23	2 rls.
6—Mickey's Medicine Man	May 18	2 rls.
MINUTE MYSTERIES
No. 1—Death Attends a Party	Oct. 6,'33	9
No. 2—Fast Fangs	Oct. 13,'33	1 rl.
No. 3—The Clown Dies	Dec. 14,'33	1 rl.
No. 4—When the Lights Went Out	Dec. 15,'33	1 rl.
No. 5—The Missing Clue	Jan. 22	1 rl.
No. 6—Hidden Evidence
MUSICALS
No. 1—Roamin' Through the Roses (Art Jarrett)	Nov. 16,'33	2 rls.
No. 2—Um-Pa (Jack Osterman)	Nov. 24,'33	2 rls.
No. 3—School for Romance (Lou Holtz)	Jan. 31	2 rls.
No. 4—Love Detective (Frank Albertson)	Feb. 28	2 rls.
No. 5—Women Haters	May 5	2 rls.
No. 6—Susie's Affair	June 1	2 rls.
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
Auto Show	Dec. 8,'33	1 rl.
Aw, Nurse	Mar. 9	7
Hollywood Babes	Nov. 10,'33	1 rl.
Sandman Tales	Oct. 6,'33	1 rl.
Scrappy's Art Gallery	Jan. 12	1 rl.
Scrappy's Dog Show	May 18	1 rl.
Scrappy's Television	Jan. 29	1 rl.
Scrappy's Theme Song	June 15	1 rl.
Scrappy's Toy Shop	Apr. 13	1 rl.
SCREEN SNAPSHOTS
No. 1	Nov. 30,'33	1 rl.
No. 2	Dec. 14,'33	1 rl.
No. 3	Jan. 18	1 rl.
No. 4	Feb. 7	1 rl.
No. 5	Feb. 18	1 rl.
No. 6	Mar. 16	1 rl.
No. 7	Apr. 24	1 rl.
No. 8	May 18	1 rl.
No. 9	June 8	1 rl.
WORLD OF SPORT
Cyclomania	May 30	1 rl.
Dumb Champs	Apr. 20	1 rl.
Harnessed Lightning	May 17	1 rl.
It's Sport in Any Language	Dec. 30,'33	1 rl.
We Want a Touchdown	Oct. 23,'33	1 rl.
What Price Speed	Dec. 2,'33	1 rl.
What the Scotch Started	Oct. 6,'33	1 rl.
Winter Thrills	Feb. 4	1 rl.

DU WORLD PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
SEMI-FEATURES AND SHORTS
Bride of Samoa	Mar. 1	26
Dawn to Dawn (Julie Hayden-O. M. Ness)	Dec. 25,'33	35
Frankie and Johnny (Charles Laughton)	Apr. 15	8
Lot in Sodom (Frederic Haak)	Dec. 25,'33	26
No Woman's Land (Travelogue)	Apr. 15	34

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ANDY CLYDE COMEDIES
An Old Gypsy Custom	Jan. 12	18
Frozen Assets	Nov. 17,'33	19
Half Baked Relations	May 25	2 rls.
Hello Prosperity	Apr. 20	18
His Weak Moment	Oct. 13,'33	19
Super Snooper, The	Feb. 9	20
BABY BURLESKS
Gimme My Quarterback	Jan. 26	9
Kid 'N Africa	Oct. 6,'33	8
BATTLE FOR LIFE
Born to Die	Mar. 16	8
City of Wax	Feb. 9	9
CORONET COMEDIES
Git Along Little Wife	Nov. 3,'33	19
Good Bad Man, The	Dec. 8,'33	22
Hotel Anchovy	Apr. 13	18
Inventors, The	Feb. 2	20
North of Zero	Jan. 19	17
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Managed Money	Feb. 23	20
Merrily Yours	Oct. 8,'33	21
Pardon My Pups	Jan. 26	19
What's to Do	Nov. 24,'33	18
MERMAID COMEDIES (Harry Langdon)
Leave it to Dad	Oct. 20,'33	19
No Sleep on the Deep	Apr. 8	21
Pop's Pal	Dec. 29,'33	18
Trimmed in Furs	Jan. 5	18
MORAN AND MACK COMEDIES
Farmers' Fatal Folly	Sept. 15,'33	19
Freeze-Out, The	Dec. 22,'33	19
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Going Spanish	Mar. 2	21
Million Dollar Melody	Oct. 27,'33	21
Poppin' the Cork	Dec. 15,'33	25
ROMANTIC JOURNEYS
Across the Sea	Oct. 20,'33	11
Canyon of Romance	Dec. 8,'33	10
Lost Race, The	Apr. 13	8
Mediterranean Blues	Feb. 23	9
Paradise of the Pacific	June 1	1 rl.
SONG HIT STORIES
Doctor, The	Feb. 23	8
Last Dogie, The	Nov. 17,'33	11
Manhattan Lullaby (Helen Morgan)	Nov. 24,'33	9
Trav'lling the Road (Alexander Gray)	Feb. 9	9
STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
Allez Oop	June 29	21
Expectant Father, The	Feb. 16	21
Gold Ghost, The	Mar. 16	21
Mr. Adam	Nov. 17,'33	19
TERRY-TOONS
Beanstalk Jack	Oct. 20,'33	6
Busted Blossoms	Aug. 10	1 rl.
Gypsy Fiddler, A	Oct. 6,'33	6
Holland Days	Jan. 12	6
In Venice	Dec. 15,'33	6
Irish Sweepstakes	July 27	1 rl.
Joe's Lunchwagon	Apr. 8	6
Just a Clown	Apr. 20	6
King's Daughter, The	May 4	6
Last Straw, The	Feb. 23	8
Lion's Friend, The	May 18	6
Little Boy Blue	Nov. 30,'33	6
Mad House, A	Mar. 23	6
My Lady's Garden	July 13	1 rl.
Owl and the Pussycat, The	Mar. 9	6
Pandora	June 1	6
Rip Van Winkle	Feb. 9	6
Robinson Crusoe	Nov. 17,'33	6
See the World	June 29	1 rl.
Shipwrecked Brothers	Nov. 17,'33	8
Slow But Sure	June 15	6
Sunny South, The	Dec. 29,'33	8
Three Bears, The	Jan. 28	6
Village Blacksmith, The	Nov. 8,'33	6
TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
Big Meow, The	Mar. 9	19
Divorce Sweets	Nov. 30,'33	18
Good Scout, A	Apr. 27	18
TREASURE CHEST
Air Maniacs	Dec. 15,'33	11
Bosom Friends	Mar. 30	8
Day Dreams	Dec. 8,'33	11
Hula Honeymoon	Mar. 2	7
Pagliacci	Apr. 6	11
Shorts	Nov. 10,'33	10
Song of Vienna	Nov. 3,'33	10
What Does 1934 Hold?	Dec. 22,'33	11

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Scouring the Seven Seas!	Oct. 20,'33	9
Filming the Fashions	Nov. 10,'33	9
Conquest of the Air!	Nov. 30,'33	9
Answering the Riot Call!	Dec. 22,'33	9
Outdoing the Daredevils	Mar. 2	9
With the Navies of the World	Mar. 23	9
On Western Trails	Apr. 13	9
Chasing the Champions	May 18	9
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
Playground of Pan	Oct. 13,'33	9
Elephant Trails	Oct. 27,'33	10
The Island of Malta	Nov. 3,'33	10
A Day in Tokyo	Nov. 10,'33	9
Byways in Bangkok	Nov. 24,'33	9
Around the Acropolis	Nov. 30,'34	9
Gem of the Sea	Dec. 15,'33	9
Rural England	Dec. 22,'33	9
London Medley	Dec. 29,'33	9
Flemish Folk	Jan. 5	9
Tunisian Travels	Jan. 19	9
Sentinels of the Sea	Jan. 26	9
Roaming the Netherlands	Feb. 9	9
Under Moroccan Skies	Feb. 16	9
A Journey in Flanders	Feb. 23	9
Fortunate Isles	Apr. 13	9
In Java Sea	Apr. 27	9
The Land of Bengal	May 11	9
City of the Golden Gate	June 8	9
A Journey to Guatemala	June 22	9
The Rock of Gibraltar		9
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
Twin Dukes and a Duchess	Oct. 6,'33	10
The Great Train Robbery	Oct. 27,'33	10
A Moment of Madness	Nov. 4,'33	10
Helen of the Chorus	Dec. 10,'33	10
The Extravagant Wife	Jan. 5	10
The Girl from the Country	Jan. 19	10
Emma's Dilemma	Feb. 2	10
Love's Old Sweet Song	Feb. 16	10
The Heart of Valeska	Mar. 9	10

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date (Variable)	Min.
HUMAN SIDE OF THE NEWS (EDWIN C. HILL)
1. Roosevelt Family In America		11
2. A Visit to West Point		10
3. Carrie Jacobs Bond		9
MELODY MAKERS
Sammy Fain — With Eton Boys, N. Brokenshire and Evelyn Hoey		7
Cliff Friend — With Peggy Healy, Jack Fulton and Pickens Sisters		9
Benny Davis — With Roy Atwell, Charles Carlile, Martha Ray and Jackie Green		8
Gus Edwards — With Ralph Kirbery, Four Minute Men and John S. Young		9
Stephen Foster—With John Hundley, Nancy McCord and Kelvin Keech		10
Fields and McHugh—With Jack Osterman and Pickens Sisters		9
Carrie Jacobs Bond — With Edwin C. Hill, Ralph Kirbery and Lew White		9
ORGANLDGUES
Songs of the Hills (Radio Rubes)		6
Sally (Singin' Sam-Don Wallace)		7
Night of Romance (Donald Novis-Ann Leaf-John Young		7
Tongue Twisters (Irving Kaufman-Lew White		7
Ship of Dreams (Ralph Kirbery-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		7
Melody on Parade (Irving Kaufman-Lew White		7
Home Again (Nick Lucas-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		8
Tintypes (Irving Kaufman-Lew White		6
Driental Phantasy (Charles Carlile-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		8
Organ Festival (Lew White-Ann Leaf-Dick Liebert-Jesse Crawford		9
Melody Tour (Sylvia Froos-Dick Liebert-John S. Young		8
Organlogue-ing the Hits (Nick Lucas-Lew White		8
Melodies of Love (Carlile-Rawlinson-White		8
Songs of the Range (Art Dickinson-Lew White		6
Rhapsody in Black (Gary-Rawlinson-White		1 rl.
Wine, Woman and Song (Tommy McLaughlin-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		1 rl.
Eili Eili (Charles Carlile-Lew White		1 rl.
PET SUPERSTITIONS
1. Spilled Salt (Phyllis Barry-Geo. Lewis-J. Carrol Naish		10
SPECIAL
She Whoops to Conquer (Zasu Pitts-Billy Bevan-Daphne Pollard		2 rls.

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR COMEDIES
Caretaker's Daughter	Mar. 10	10
Mixed Nuts	Feb. 17	19
Movie Daze		19
Mrs. Barnacle Bill	Apr. 21	20
Next Week-End	Feb. 24	16
Twin Screws	Dec. 23,'33	19
CHARLEY CHASE
Another Wild Idea	June 16	19
Cracked Iceman	Jan. 27	19
Four Parts	Mar. 17	19
I'll Take Vanilla	May 5	19
It Happened One Day	July 7	19
Luncheon at Twelve	Dec. 9,'33	21
Midsummer Mush	Oct. 21,'33	21
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
British Guiana	Dec. 16,'33	9
Colorful Ports of Call	Jan. 13	9
Day in Venice	Dec. 2,'33	9
Egypt, Kingdom of the Nile	May 19	10
Italy, Land of Inspiration	Feb. 24	9
Scotland, the Bonnie	Nov. 25,'33	9
Temple of Love, The		10
Tibet, Land of Isolation	Mar. 17	9
GOOFY MOVIES
No. 1	Dec. 23,'33	9
No. 2	Feb. 24	10
No. 3	Mar. 24	10
No. 4	May 5	9
No. 5
LAUREL & HARDY
Busy Bodies	Oct. 7,'33	20
Dirty Work	Nov. 25,'33	20
Diver the Eighth	Jan. 13	28
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Apples to You	Apr. 7	20
Benny from Panama	May 26	19
Duke for a Day, A	May 12	20
Music in Your Hair	June 2	17
Roamin' Vandals	Apr. 28	19
MUSICAL REVUES
Big Idea, The	May 12	20
Jail Birds of Paradise (Color)	Mar. 10	18
Plane Nuts	Oct. 14,'33	20
Roast Beef and Movies	Dec. 2,'33	17
What Price Jazz?		18
ODDITIES
Attention, Suckers!	June 9	10
Fine Feathers (Color)	Nov. 18,'33	9
Flying Hunters	May 12	7
Happy Warriors	Oct. 21,'33	9
Little Feller	May 26	8
Nipuns	Apr. 28	9
Old Shep	June 23	9
Pichianni Troupe		1 rl.
Pro Football		1 rl.
Roping Wild Bears	Feb. 10	9
Trick Golf	Mar. 24	8
Vital Victuals (Color)	Mar. 3	10
OUR GANG
First Roundup, The	May 5	19
For Pete's Sake	Apr. 14	18
Hi, Neighbor	Mar. 3	18
Honky-Donkey	June 2	17
Wild Poses	Oct. 28,'33	19
TODD-KELLY
Air Fright	Dec. 23,'33	19
Babes in the Goods	Feb. 10	19
Backs to Nature	Nov. 14,'33	20
Maid in Hollywood	May 19	20
Soup and Fish	Mar. 31	18
WILLIE WHOPPER
Davy Jones' Locker	Jan. 13	7
Hell's Fire (Color)	Feb. 17	7
Insultin' the Sultan	Apr. 14	8
Play Ball	Oct. 28,'33	7
Reducing Creme	May 19	8
Robin Hood, Jr. (Color)	Mar. 10	8
Spite Flight	Dec. 2,'33	8
Stratos-Fear	Dec. 16,'33	8

MONOGRAM

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
PORT O' CALL SERIES
1. The Seventh Wonder	Dec. 1,'33	10
2. City of the Sun	Jan. 1	10
3. Love's Memorial	Feb. 1	10
4. Children of the Nile	Mar. 1	10
5. The Peacock Throne	Apr. 1	10
6. Jungle Bound	May 1	10
7. The Last Resort	June 1	10
8. Mother Ganges	July 1	10
9. The First Paradise	Aug. 1	10
10. Dravidian Glamor	Sept. 1	10
11. Adventure Isle	Oct. 1	10
12. Queen of the Indies	Nov. 1	10
13. A Mediterranean Mecca	Dec. 1	10

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BETTY BOOP CARTOONS
Betty Boop's Hallowe'en Party	Nov. 3,'33	7
Betty Boop's Life Guard	July 13	1 rl.
Betty Boop's Rise to Fame	May 18	7
Betty Boop's Trial	June 15	7
Betty in Blunderland	Mar. 2	7
Dancing on the Moon	July 13	1 rl.
Ha! Ha! Ha!	Mar. 2	7
Morning, Noon and Night (Rubinoff	Oct. 6,'33	7
Parade of Wooden Soldiers	Dec. 1,'33	9
Red Hot Mamma	Feb. 2	8
She Wronged Him Right	Jan. 5	7
HEADLINERS
All on Deck	Mar. 30	9
Broadway Knights (Yacht Club Boys	Feb. 23	10
Little Broadcast, The (Donald Novis - Arthur Tracy - Mills Bros. - Vincent Lopez-Roy Atwell	Oct. 27,'33	11
Little Jack Little Revue (Little Jack Little and Orchestra - Gypsy Nina - Do Re Mi Trio	May 11	10
Mr. W's Little Game (Alexander Woollcott	June 8	10
New Deal Rhythm ("Buddy" Rogers	Apr. 13	8
Radio Roundup, A (Molasses 'n' January - Mary Small - The Poet Prince-Vaughn De Leath-Three X Sisters	Nov. 24,'33	11
Station T.O.T.	Jan. 19	10
Underneath the Broadway Moon (Isham Jones and Orchestra-Eton Boys	June 29	1 rl.
Where's That Tiger? (Borrah Minnevitch	Dec. 22,'33	10
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE
No. 3	Oct. 13,'33	11
No. 4	Nov. 10,'33	11
No. 5	Dec. 8,'33	11
No. 6	Jan. 5	11
No. 7	Feb. 2	11
No. 8	Mar. 2	11
No. 9	Mar. 30	11
No. 10	Apr. 27	11
No. 11	May 25	1 rl.
No. 12	June 22	1 rl.
No. 13	July 20	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL
No. 3—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews — September Morn—Harry Armstrong	Oct. 6,'33	10
No. 4—Let's Go Crabbing — Manhattan Nocturne — Irvin S. Cobb	Nov. 3,'33	11
No. 5 — The Old Mill — Jack Frost, Master Decorator—Song Makers of the Nation	Dec. 1,'33	11
No. 6 — Southward Ho — Trees — Gilda Gray	Dec. 29,'33	10
No. 7—Queer Fish—Liquid Air—Lanny Ross	Jan. 26	10
No. 8—Sponging on Old Nassau — What Next, Ladies?—Song Makers of the Nation, Gordon and Revel	Feb. 23	10
No. 9—Song Makers of the Nation, Lewis and Sherman — Winter — Meshle, Child of a Chimpanzee	Mar. 23	10
No. 10 — Here's How — A House for a Song — Song Makers of the Nation, Con Conrad	Apr. 20	10
No. 11—More or Less—The Eyes of Science — Song Makers of the Nation, Ralph Rainger	May 18	1 rl.
No. 12—	June 15	1 rl.
No. 13—	July	1 rl.

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
POPEYE THE SAILOR
Can You Take It	Apr. 27	7
I Eats My Spinach	Nov. 17,'33	7
Let's You and Him Fight	Feb. 16	7
Man on the Flying Trapeze, The	Mar. 30	7
Seasin's Greetinks	Dec. 8,'33	6
Shoein' Hosses	June 1	1 rl.
Sock-a-Bye Baby	Jan. 19	7
Strong to the Finich	June 29	1 rl.
Wild Elephinks	Dec. 29,'33	7
SCREEN SONGS
I Like Mountain Music	Nov. 10,'33	18
Eton Boys
Keeps Rainin' All the Time	Jan. 12	10
Gertrude Nlesen
Lazybones	Apr. 13	7
Borrah Minnevitch
Let's All Sing Like the Birdies Sing	Feb. 9	8
Sing, Babies, Sing	Dec. 15,'33	9
Baby Rose Marie
This Little Piggie Went to Market	May 25	1 rl.
Singin' Sam
Tune Up and Sing	Mar. 9	1 rl.
Lanny Ross
SCREEN SOUVENIRS
No. 4	Nov. 17,'33	10
No. 5	Dec. 15,'33	10
No. 6	Jan. 12	10
No. 7	Feb. 9	10
No. 8	Mar. 9	10
No. 9	Apr. 6	10
No. 10	May 4	10
No. 11	June 1	10
No. 12	June 29	1 rl.
No. 13	July 27	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Two Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS
No. 5—Kennel Kings	Nov. 24,'33	10
No. 6—Around the Calendar	Dec. 22,'33	10
No. 7—Jumping Glants	Jan. 26	11
No. 8—Horsepower	Feb. 16	11
No. 9—Flying Bodies	Mar. 23	10
No. 10—Animal Antics	Apr. 13	10
No. 11—Marine Marvels	May 11	1 rl.
No. 12—Lucky Anglers	June 8	1 rl.
No. 13—Good Shape	July 6	1 rl.
TWO-REEL COMEDIES
Circus Hoodoo	Feb. 16	21
Harry Langdon
Cold Turkey	Dec. 1,'33	19
Joseph Cawthorn
Gold Nuggets	Feb. 2	18
Walter Catlett
Just an Echo	Jan. 19	20
Bing Crosby
Making the Rounds	July 6	2 rls.
Pallette-Catlett
New Dealers, The	Apr. 6	20
Pallette-Catlett
News Hounds	June 1	2 rls.
Pallette-Catlett
No More Bridge	Mar. 16	21
Leon Errol
Oil's Well	May 4	2 rls.
Chic Sale
Old Bugler, The	Jan. 5	20
Chic Sale
Petting Preferred	Apr. 27	19
Please	Dec. 15,'33	22
Bing Crosby
Roaming Romeo, A	Dec. 29,'33	21
Harry Langdon
Three Little Swigs	Nov. 10,'33	21
Leon Errol
Up and Down	Mar. 2	21
Franklin Pangborn

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
City of Contrasts	Nov. 22,'33	19
Kick-Off, The	Oct. 11,'33	27
Newslaugh—No. 2	Dec. 20,'33	9
Wonders of the Tropics	Dec. 13,'33	32
CONFLICTS OF NATURE SERIES
Circle of Life of the Ant
Lion, The	Feb. 14	7
Farmer's Friend, The	Oct. 4,'33	7
From Cocoon to Butterfly	Jan. 10	7
Her Majesty, the Queen Bee	Dec. 1,'33	6
Insect Clowns	Mar. 4	7
Queen of the Underworld	Dec. 6,'33	7

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMOS 'N' ANDY CARTOONS
Lion Tamer, The	Feb. 2	9
Rasslin' Match, The	Jan. 5	11
BLONDE and RED HEAD SERIES
Bridal Ball	Feb. 9	21
Rough Necking	Apr. 27	20
Walking Back Home	Dec. 8,'33	19
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SERIES (Relssues)
The Count	Nov. 17,'33	21
The Immigrant	Jan. 19	21
One A.M.	Mar. 23	18
Behind the Screen	May 25	2 rls.
CLARK & McCULLOUGH SERIES
Bedlam of Beards	Apr. 13	18
Hey Nanny, Nanny	Jan. 12	21
In the Devil Dog House	Feb. 2	21
Love and Hisses	June 8	17½
Odor in the Court	Aug. 2	21½
Snug in a Jug	Nov. 2,'33	20
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTOONS
Croon Crazy	Dec. 29,'33	7
Cubby's Stratosphere Flight	Apr. 20	7
Galloping Fanny	Dec. 1,'33	6½
Gay Gaucho, The	Nov. 3,'33	7½
Good Knight	Feb. 23	7½
Hew's Crops	Mar. 23	7½
Mild Cargo	May 18	7½
Sinister Stuff	Jan. 26	6½
GRIBDN-KENNEDY-STANTON CDMEDIES
Cracked Shots	May 4	19½
Strictly Fresh Yeggs	Apr. 6	21½
Suits to Nuts	Dec. 1,'33	19
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 1—Preferred List	Oct. 6,'33	20
No. 2—Air Tonic	Dec. 22,'33	21
No. 3—On Approval	Jan. 5	17
No. 4—Autobuyography	Mar. 16	20
No. 5—The Old Maid's Mistake	May 11	20
No. 6—Well Cured Ham	June 23	20
MR. AVERAGE MAN COMEDIES (EDGAR KENNEDY)
Grin and Bear It	Dec. 29,'33	20½
Love on a Ladder	Mar. 2	18
What Fur?	Nov. 3,'33	21
Wrong Direction	May 18	21
MUSICALS
Bubbling Over	Jan. 5	20
Ethel Waters
Everybody Likes Music	Mar. 9	19½
Henry the Ape	Jan. 26	2 rls.
Bert Lahr
Hizzoner	Nov. 17,'33	21½
Bert Lahr
Knife of the Party	Feb. 16	20
Lillian Miles
No More West	Mar. 30	19
Bert Lahr
Sea Sore	Apr. 20	2 rls.
Strange Case of Hennessy	Dec. 8,'33	21½
Cliff Edwards
MUSICOMEDIES SERIES (Ruth Etting)
California Weather	Dec. 15,'33	20½
Derby Decade	July 12	22
Torch Tango	Feb. 23	21
MY BRIDGE EXPERIENCES (Ely Culbertson)
What Not to Do in Bridge	Oct. 13,'33	15
Trans-Atlantic Bridge Tricks	Dct. 27,'33	21
Three Knaves and a Queen	Nov. 10,'33	20
PATHE NEWS
Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEW
Released once a month
SDGLDW'S "THE KING" CARTOONS
Art for Art's Sake	May 11	6
Jest of Honor	Jan. 19	7
Jolly Good Felons	Feb. 16	7
On the Pan	Nov. 24,'33	7
Pals	Dec. 22,'33	7½
Royal Good Time, A	Apr. 13	7
Sultan Pepper	Mar. 16	7
SPECIALS
Grand National Irish Sweepstake Race, 1934	Apr. 2	10
So This Is Harris	Jan. 19	28
VAGABOND ADVENTURE SERIES
Cuba	Nov. 10,'33	10½
Gibraltar, Guardian of the Mediterranean	May 4	8
Holy Land	Feb. 16	10
Madeira, Land of Wine	Mar. 30	9
Moorish Spain	Jan. 12	10

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
15. Mickey's Gala Premiere	June 30,'33	7
16. Puppy Love	Aug. 14,'33	8
17. Steeple Chase	Sept. 1,'33	7
18. The Pet Shop	Sept. 22,'33	8
(NEW SERIES)
1. Giant Land	Nov. 15,'33	7
2. Mickey Shanghaied	Jan. 15	7
3. Camping Out	Feb. 16	7
4. Playful Pluto	Mar. 16	7
5. Gulliver Mickey	May 19	9
6. Mickey's Steamroller		1 rl.
SILLY SYMPHONIES
12. Lullaby Land	Aug. 18,'33	7
13. Pied Piper	Oct. 6,'33	7
(NEW SERIES)
1. The Night Before Christmas	Dec. 15,'33	8
2. The China Shop	Jan. 15	8
3. Grasshopper and the Ant, The	Feb. 23	8
4. Funny Little Bunnies	Mar. 30	9
5. The Big Bad Wolf	Apr. 20	9
6. The Wise Little Hen		1 rl.

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
GOOFYTONE NEWS
No. 3	Dec. 25,'33	10
No. 4	Jan. 29	9
No. 5	Mar. 5	8
No. 6	Mar. 19	9
No. 7	Apr. 30	9
OSWALD CARTOONS
Annie Moved Away	May 28	1 rl.
Candy House, The	Jan. 15	9
Chicken Reel	Jan. 1	8½
County Fair	Feb. 5	7
Gingerbread Boy	Apr. 16	6
Goldilocks and the Three Bears	May 14	8
In the Zoo	Nov. 6,'33	7
Kings Up	Mar. 12	7
Merry Old Soul	Nov. 27,'33	8
Parking Space	Dec. 18,'33	7
Toy Shoppe, The	Feb. 19	7
Wax Works, The	July 21	1 rl.
William Tell	July 7	1 rl.
Wolf, Wolf	Apr. 2	8
RADIO STAR REELS
Boswell Sisters, The	Dec. 6,'33	21
Nick Kenny—No. 4
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS SERIES
No. 34—Novelty	Nov. 20,'33	9
No. 35—Novelty	Dec. 18,'33	10
No. 36—Novelty	Jan. 22	11
No. 37—Novelty	Feb. 26	10
No. 38—Novelty	Apr. 23	9
No. 39—Novelty	May 21	1 rl.
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES
Beau Bashful	June 6	2 rls.
Herbert Corthell
Big Casino, The	Nov. 29,'33	21
(Mentone No. 4)
Born April First	Mar. 14	21
Sterling Holloway
Broadway Varieties	Feb. 14	20
(Mentone No. 7)
Ceiling Whacks	Mar. 28	20
Henry Armetta
Ed Sullivan's Headliners	May 2	20
(Mentone No. 10)
Full Coverage	Feb. 28	21
Henry Armetta
Good Time Henry	May 3	20
Henry Armetta
Heartburn	Apr. 11	20
Sterling Holloway
Meeting Mazie	Dec. 20,'33	20
Sterling Holloway
Mountain Music	Jan. 3	18
Louise Fazenda
Not the Marrying Kind	Nov. 22,'33	20
Sterling Holloway
Out of Gas	Nov. 8,'33	21
Louise Fazenda
Palsie Walsie	Jan. 31	20
Henry Armetta
Pest, The	Apr. 18	19
(Mentone No. 9)
Pie for Two	Dec. 13,'33	21
James Gleason
Pleasing Grandpa	June 20	2 rls.
Sterling Holloway
Soup for Nuts	June 27	2 rls.
(Mentone No. 11)
Supper at Six	Dec. 27,'33	18
(Mentone No. 5)
There Ain't No Justice	May 23	2 rls.
Corthell and Hurst
Trifle Backward, A	Jan. 17	19½
Vince Barnett
Vaudeville Days	Mar. 21	21
(Mentone No. 8)
Vaudeville on Parade	Jan. 24	20
(Mentone No. 6)
Where's Elmer?	Feb. 7	20
Vince Barnett

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V COMEDIES
No. 4—Turkey in the Raw	Nov. 4,'33	21
Gus Shy
No. 5—In the Dough	Nov. 25,'33	22
Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 6—Here Comes Flossie	Dec. 9,'33	18
Ben Blue
No. 7—Tomalio	Dec. 30,'33	21
Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 8—How D'Ya Like That?	Jan. 13	18
George Givot-Chas. Judels
No. 9—Nervous Hands	Feb. 3	21
Ben Blue
No. 10—Pugs and Kisses	Mar. 10	21
Charles Judels
No. 11—Mushrooms	Feb. 17	20
Harry Gribbon
No. 12—Foiled Again	Mar. 24	20
Ben Blue
No. 13—Very Close Veins	Apr. 14	20
Ben Blue
No. 14—Corn on the Cop	Apr. 28	20
Harry Gribbon
No. 15—I Scream	May 19	20
Gus Shy
No. 16—Salted Seanuts	June 2	20
Chas. Judels-George Givot
No. 17—The Prize Sap	June 23	20
Ben Blue
No. 18—Art Trouble	June 23	20
Harry Gribbon
No. 19—My Mummy's Arms	July 28	19
Harry Gribbon
No. 20—Daredevil O'Dare	Aug. 11	19
Ben Blue
BRDADWAY BREVITIES
No. 7—Yeast Is Yeast	Nov. 11,'33	20
Tom Patricola
No. 8—The Mild West	Nov. 18,'33	23
Janet Reade-Dlive Borden
No. 9—Girl Trouble	Dec. 2,'33	20
Mitchell and Durant
No. 10—Around the Clock	Jan. 16	21
Norma Terris-Four Eton Boys
No. 11—Plane Crazy	Dec. 23,'33	20
Dorothy Lee-Arthur and Morton Havel
No. 12—Kissing Time	Dec. 16,'33	22
Jane Froman-Georges Metaxa
No. 13—A Little Girl With Big Ideas	Jan. 20	29
Molly Picon
No. 14—Not Tonight, Josephine	Jan. 27	21
Frank McHugh-Kitty Kelly (Technicolor)
No. 15—Picture Palace	Feb. 10	21
Hal LeRoy
No. 16—Come to Dinner	Feb. 24	21
No. 17—Business Is a Pleasure	Mar. 3	17
(Technicolor)
No. 18—Look for the Silver Lining	Mar. 17	30
Dorothy Stone
No. 19—Let's Play Post Office	Mar. 31	21
Jean Sargent
No. 20—Story Conference	Apr. 7	20
Lillian Roth
No. 21—Morocco Nights	Apr. 21	18
(Technicolor)
No. 22—Private Lessons	May 5	22
Hal LeRoy
No. 23—Masks and Memories	May 12	30
Lillian Roth
No 24—Murder In Your Eyes	May 26	20
No. 25—Service with a Smile	July 28	2 rls.
Leon Errol (Technicolor)
No. 26—Darling Enemy	June 9	2 rls.
Gertrude Niesen
No. 27—Who Is That Girl?	June 16	2 rls.
Bernice Claire-J. Harold Murray
No. 28—King for a Day	June 30	2 rls.
Bill Robinson
No. 29—The Song of Fame	July 7	2 rls.
Ruth Etting
No. 30—The Winnah	July 21	2 rls.
Arthur and Florence Lake
No. 31—The Mysterious Kiss	Aug. 4	2 rls.
Jeanne Aubert
No. 32—Untitled	Aug. 11	2 rls.
Mitzi Mayfair-Roscoe Ates
LOONEY TUNES
No. 2—Buddy's Beer Garden	Nov. 11,'33	7
No. 3—Buddy's Show Boat	Dec. 9,'33	7
No. 4—Buddy the Gob	Jan. 13	7
No. 5—Buddy and Towser	Feb. 24	7
No. 6—Buddy's Garage	Apr. 14	7
No. 7—Buddy's Trolley Troubles	May 5	7
No. 8—Buddy of the Apes	May 26	7
No. 9—Buddy's Bearcats	June 23	7
MELODY MASTERS
Eddie Duchin and Band	Nov. 25,'33	10
Borrah Minnevitch and His Harmonica Rascals	Dec. 23,'33	10
Jack Denny and Band	Jan. 20	10
Mills Blue Rhythm Band	Feb. 17	10
Vincent Lopez	Mar. 17	10
A Big City Fantasy	Apr. 14	9
Phil Spitalny
Isham Jones	May 12	10
Tin Hat Harmony		1 rl.
Abe Lyman
A Jolly Good Fellow	July 9	10
B. A. Rolfe
Ben Pollock and Band	Aug. 4	10
MERRIE MELODIES
Sitting on a Back Yard Fence	Dec. 16,'33	7
Pettin' in the Park	Jan. 27	7
Honeymoon Hotel (Cinecolor)	Feb. 17	7
Beauty and the Beast (Cinecolor)	Apr. 14	7
Those Were Wonderful Days	Apr. 26	7
Goin' to Heaven on a Mule		1 rl.
How Do I Know It's Sunday?	June 9	7
Why Do I Dream Those Dreams?	June 30	7
MUSICAL WORLD JOURNEYS E. M. NEWMAN
Heart of Paris	Nov. 11,'33	9
Italy, the Old and the New	Dec. 9,'33	11
Cannibal Islands	Jan. 6	10
Spanish America	Feb. 3	10
Jerusalem, the Holy City	Mar. 3	10
Picturesque Siam	Mar. 31	10
Slackers of the Jungle	Apr. 28	10
East Indies	May 26	10
Central America	June 23	10
Dark Africa	Aug. 11	10
A Visit to the South Sea Islands	July 21	10
JOE PENNER COMEDIES (Relssues)
Gangway	Apr. 14	2 rls.
Making Good	Apr. 21	1 rl.
You Nasty Man	Apr. 28	2 rls
(formerly "Here Prince")
Service Stripes	May 5	1 rl
Where Men Are Men	May 12	2 rls
A Stuttering Romance	May 19	1 rl
Toreador	May 26	2 rls
PEPPER POT
No. 5—Notre Dame Glee Club	Nov. 4,'33	8
No. 6—Harry Warren	Nov. 18,'33	10
No. 7—Easy Aces	Dec. 2,'33	10
No. 8—Little Miss Mischief	Dec. 6,'33	10
No. 9—Movie Memories	Dec. 30,'33	9
No. 10—The Tune Detective	Jan. 13	9
Sigmund Spaeth
No. 11—Mississippi Suite	Jan. 27	9
No. 12—The Wrong Wrong Trail	Feb. 10	10
Block and Sully
No. 13—Song Hits, with Roy Turk	Feb. 24	11
No. 14—Easy Aces, No. 2	Mar. 10	10
No. 15—Pure Feud	Apr. 21	10
Edgar Bergen
No. 16—A Cabinet Meeting	Apr. 7	10
Radio Ramblers
No. 17—Just Concentrate	June 2	10
Lulu McConnell
No. 18—Those Were the Days	May 5	10
No. 19—Radio Reel No. 1	May 19	10
Jessel-Van
No. 20—Penny A Peep	June 30	9
No. 21—Hollywood Newsreel	Mar. 24	1 rl.
No. 22—Radio Reel No. 2	June 16	10
No. 23—Dad Minds the Baby	July 14	9
No. 24—Bergen in at the Races	July 21	10
No. 25—The Stolen Melody	July 28	10
No. 26—Camera Speaks	Aug. 11	9

SERIALS

(EACH SERIAL 12 EPISODES OF 2 RLS.)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
FIRST DIVISION
Young Eagles	July 1	2 rls.
Boy Scouts		(each)
MASCOT
Burn 'Em Up Barnes
Jack Mulhall - Lola Lane
Fighting with Kit Carson	July 6,'33	20
Johnny Mack Brown-Noah Beery		(each)
Lost Jungle, The	Apr. 1	20
Clyde Beatty		(each)
Mystery Squadron, The	Dec. 23,'33	20
Bob Steele		(each)
Wolf Dog, The	Sept. 30,'33	2 rls.
Rin Tin Tin, Jr.-Frankie Darro-Boots Mallory		(each)
PRINCIPAL
Chandu		2 rls
		(each)
Tarzan, the Fearless	Aug. 11,'33	20
Buster Crabbe		(each)
UNIVERSAL
Gordon of Ghost City	Aug. 14,'33	20
Buck Jones-Madge Bellamy		(each)
Perils of Pauline	Nov. 6,'33	20
Evalyn Knapp-Robt. Allen		(each)
Pirate Treasure	Jan. 29	20
Richard Talmadge-Lucille Lund		(each)
Red Rider, The	July 16	20
Buck Jones		(each)
(15 episodes)
Vanishing Shadow, The	Apr. 23	20
Onslow Stevens-Ada Ince		(each)

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA chairs, Sound Equipment, Moving Picture Machines, Screens, Spotlights, Stereopticons, etc. Projection Machines Repaired. Catalogue H free. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, Ltd., 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

BARGAINS RECONDITIONED ARCTIC NU-AIR blowers; noiseless drives; hydraulic variable speed pullies; air washers. Catalogue mailed. SOUTHERN FAN CO., Box 440, Atlanta, Ga.

REAL BARGAIN IN USED LENSES. BOX 396, MOTION PICTURE HERALD, 407 So. Dearborn St, Chicago.

LARGE ASSORTMENT RECONDITIONED UPholstered and veneer theatre chairs at reasonable prices. ILLINOIS THEATRE EQUIPMENT COMPANY, 1018 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.

BARGAIN EXTRAORDINARY—TWO GUARANteed rebuilt Simplex projectors with Peerless reflector lamps and Garver rectifiers. Equipment like new. Free theatre record sheets. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

WANTED TO BUY

SPOT CASH FOR SIMPLEX AND POWERS projectors- mechanisms—reflector arc lamps—generators—Mazda lamphouses and regulators—lenses—rectifiers—portables—All booth equipment. Give all details. BOX 389, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

SIMPLEX PEDESTALS AND LOWER MAGAzines. BOX 397, MOTION PICTURE HERALD, 407 So. Dearborn St., Chicago.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT and theatre advertising. Big opportunities for trained men. Catalog free. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, N. Y.

EQUIPMENT EXCHANGE

NEED CASH?—WE PAY "SPOT" FOR USED equipment.—Trades taken, bargains galore. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

NEW EQUIPMENT

PRECISION PARTS FOR SIMPLEX—POWERS—Motiograph at big discounts. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

MODERNIZE YOUR PROJECTION WITH SNOW white AC—now $99.85. Convert old low intensity lamps with our marvelous transformer, install yourself. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

POSITIONS WANTED

EXPERIENCED PROJECTIONIST, MANAGER, free trial. Invest if reliable. BOX 400, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

TECHNICAL BOOKS

"RICHARDSON'S HAND BOOKS OF PROJECtion" in three volumes. Universally accredited as the best and most practical. Aaron Nadell's "Projection Sound Pictures." Complete information on sound equipment. Both text books complete for $12.80. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, 1790 Broadway, New York.

"MIEHLINGS SOUND PROJECTION" FORMERly $6.00, now $1.49. All fundamentals of sound, profusely illustrated, wiring blue prints, charts. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

REPAIR SERVICE

ANY MAKE ARC LAMPS. CARBON JAW REplaced with nickel inserts. Write for prices. BOX 348A, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

THEATRES

FOR SALE—GOOD PAYING, MODERN THEAtre, no competition. Retiring from business. For sale only. C. SCHWARZ, Denton, Md.

FOR SALE—THEATRE IN MICHIGAN TOWN of eight thousand. Including building fifty-six by hundred and sixty. Eight years old. Two stores in building. Fully equipped stage. Takes forty thousand cash to handle, balance easy terms. Deal with owner. BOX 409, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

BRUSHES AND SUPPLIES

LOBBY ARTISTS! SIGN PAINTS! WRITE today for our 80 page free catalog and save 10 to 50 per cent on Brushes and Supplies. DICK BLICK COMPANY, Box 43, Galesburg, Ill.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

LENS BARGAINS: ROSS—SNAPLITE—CINEphor—other makes, series I and II. Trades arranged. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

BUY DIRECT—LARGEST DEALERS OF USED chairs. All accessories. Slip covers. Servastone for concrete floors. Leatherette for theatre chairs. ALLIED SEATING CO., 358 W. 44th St., New York.

MARQUEE LETTERS, SPECIAL, F. O. B.: COPper letters 10 inches for flat type glass $1; for raised glass 90c; flat sheet opal glass for letters 25c; raised opal glass, Socony type, 75c, other sizes upon application. send sample if possible. CROWN, 311 West 44th St., New York.

CODE OF COMMON SENSE SAYS—BE YOUR own boss—install famous S. O. S. Wide Fidelity sound complete, $179.70 up; soundheads, $49.50 up; portable soundfilm, $395.00; amplifiers, $55.00 up; trades taken. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York

SOUND EQUIPMENT

"BEST SOUND WE EVER HEARD!" ENTHUSIastically writes Ware, Strand Theatre, Sharon Springs, Kans. "Giving excellent satisfaction." Wide Fidelity has what it takes. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

9,000 CYCLE FILM TEST LOOP—ALL INSTRUCtions—$1.50. Wide range optical systems, fit most soundheads, $19.75. Trade yours. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

THEATRES WANTED

WANTED—TO LEASE THEATRE IN MIDDLE west. Ohio preferred. State population and complete details. BOX 403, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

IN SUMMER COMMUNITY FOR PLAY TRYouts. Small capacity with no competition. Will lease for long term with option to buy after first year. State all in first letter. BOX 500A, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

SALE OR LEASE THEATRE SOUTHERN Illinois, 2,500 population, $500 down. C. WASHMON, Trenton, Tenn.

LEASE THEATRE 10,000 OR LESS POPULATION. Write particulars. ROY WALLER, Cambridge, Ohio.

DESIROUS OF LEASING PROFITABLE THEAtre in West Virginia or adjoining state, 500 seats or more, BOX 408, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

Triple
DISTINCTION

EASTMAN Super-sensitive Panchromatic Negative has a three-fold distinction. Its introduction has led to more significant advances than any other film ...excepting only Eastman's original motion picture negative. Under the expert hands of the cameraman it has in the last three years photographed a great majority of the biggest screen hits. And...because of this record of accomplishment...it now enjoys by far the widest preference among all motion picture negative films. Eastman Kodak Co. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors, New York, Chicago, Hollywood.)

EASTMAN Super-sensitive
Panchromatic Negative

the golden
WEST
Adolph Zukor presents
MAE WEST
in
"IT AIN'T NO SIN"
with Roger Pryor
John Mack Brown
Duke Ellington and
his famous orchestra
A Paramount Picture
Directed by Leo McCarey
Paramount Pictures

JUN -1 1934 ©C18 226859

MOTION PICTURE
HERALD

Better Theatres

WITH WHICH IS COMBINED "THE SHOWMAN"

JUNE 2, 1934

forms for projection reports

building theatre organization

new european ideas in design

In 2 Sections — Section 2

A star performer

when the lights go up!

IN leading theatres from coast to coast, you'll find Bigelow carpet playing its part to make the show a success. It's beautiful to look at . . . feels luxurious underfoot . . . and keeps down maintenance costs.

Bigelow carpets thrive on the hardest kind of use. They're woven of Lively Wool that resists matting . . . that keeps its fresh beauty longer . . . that is easier to clean. In lobbies and aisles and on the stairs, Bigelow stands the grind . . . costs less in the long run.

There's a wide selection of standard Bigelow grades and patterns . . . and a staff to create special designs if you wish.

Bigelow's contract men are well qualified to serve you as expert Carpet Counsel. Why not call them in now to talk over your carpeting problems? They'll help you get exactly what you want at the price you want to pay!

BIGELOW-SANFORD CARPET CO. INC.
140 MADISON AVENUE, NEW YORK, N. Y.
BRANCH OFFICES AND SHOWROOMS IN 25 CITIES

You will want these Air Conditioning Charts to aid you this summer!

. . . And throughout the year as well. This year and in future. These charts are the standard graphs for guidance in heating, ventilating and general control of air conditioning equipment. ¶ They are the charts originally published in Better Theatres, adapted for the first time to the requirements of motion pictures, and now made available in a durable form designed for ready reference in the routine operation of the various types of theatre air conditioning systems. Each chart is easily accessible by itself, while each is also accompanied by explanations as to how to read and apply it. In addition, the explanations also give much information on how to attain the best atmospheric conditions in the theatre. ¶ This material is contained in a single sheet of card-weight paper measuring 22 inches wide and 17 inches high, so folded according to the chart divisions that it readily fits the pocket. Unfolded, the sheet may be tacked to a wall, in the manager's office or in the equipment room. These charts may be had until the supply is exhausted at 25 cents per folder. Use the coupon below, enclosing coin, stamps, money order or check.

BETTER THEATRES, 1790 Broadway, New York.

Enclosed find $———.——— in payment for Air Conditioning Chart folders at 25 cents each, to be mailed postpaid to the following:

NAME_____

ADDRESS_____

If theatre, state name _____

Better Theatres

June 2, 1934
Vol. 115, No. 10

A section of Motion Picture Herald devoted to the operation . . . design . . . maintenance . . . and equipment of the motion picture theatre

GEORGE SCHUTZ, Editor — C. B. O'NEILL, Advertising Manager — RAY GALLO, Eastern Advertising Manager

GENERAL FEATURES

The 3,000-Seat Metropole in Brussels 6
A Design for an Exclusive Community: Curzon Theatre, London 8
Building the Theatre Organization: By J. T. Knight, Jr. 9
Maintenance Tabs 11
New Lighting Forms for Today's Theatre Front 12
Patrons' Rights and Other Late Law: By Leo T. Parker 13

DEPARTMENTS

Modern Projection 15
A Basis for a System of Projection Reports 15
F. H. Richardson's Comment 19
Planning the Theatre 26

MISCELLANEOUS

Editorials 5
How I've Cut My Light Bills: By Richard L. Ross 10
Electrogram 13
The Use of Drafts and Notes: By M. Marvin Berger 14
Equipment Affairs: Equipment News and Comment 27
Index to Advertisers 32
Better Theatres Catalog Bureau 33

QUIGLEY PUBLISHING COMPANY, 1790 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

MARTIN QUIGLEY, Publisher and Editor-in-Chief — COLVIN W. BROWN, Vice-Pres. and Gen. Mgr

CHICAGO: 407 South Dearborn Street — HOLLYWOOD: Postal Union Life Bldg.

LONDON: Remo House, 310 Regent Street, W.1

CABLE ADDRESS: Quigpubco — NEW YORK TEL.: CIrcle 7-3100

Better Theatres (with which is incorporated The Showman) is published every fourth week as Section Two of Motion Picture Herald: Terry Ramsaye, editor. Member of Audit Bureau of Circulations. All editorial and general business correspondence should be addressed to the New York office. All contents copyrighted 1934 by Quigley Publishing Company and, except for properly accredited quotations, nothing appearing herein may be reproduced without written permission. Every precaution is taken to ensure the safety of unsolicited manuscripts and photographs submitted, but the publishers herewith deny all responsibility for them in case of mutilation or loss. Manager Chicago office, E. S. Clifford. Manager Hollywood Bureau, Victor M. Shapiro. London representative: Bruce Allan. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac (published annually) and The Chicagoan.

Observations

¶ How many managers are in the habit of seeking out the opinions of their patrons regarding their theatres? Not enough, we believe. And to the extent that it is done, inquiry usually concerns the program, and the method is pretty casual. We mean an organized inquiry, not only among regular patrons, but throughout the community in general, with the object not to find out reactions to a specific picture or program, but rather to ascertain what opinions your community has concerning your theatre. In giving the public what it wants, let's not forget the theatre.

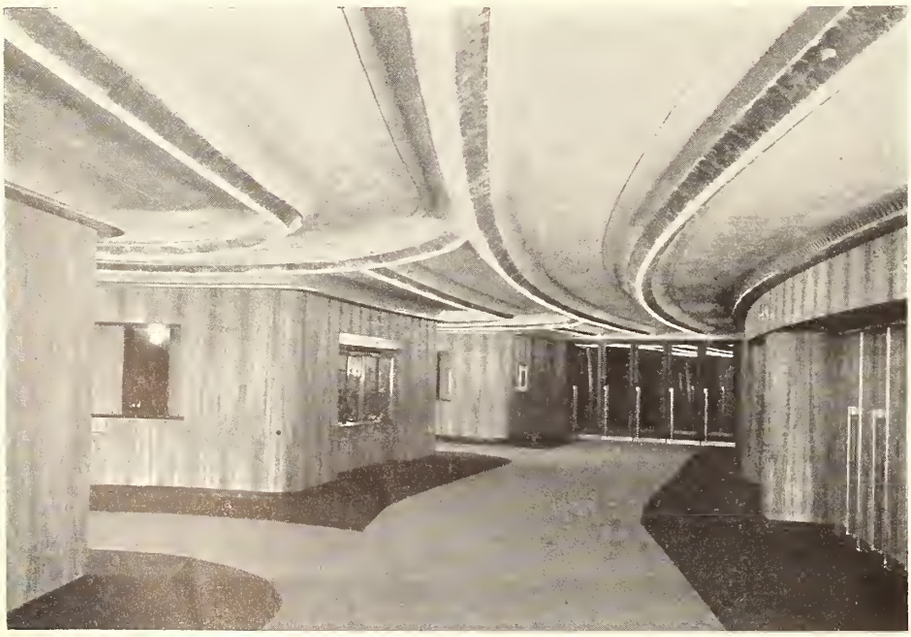
The supposition is that if the theatre is about as tidy as it usually has been, so far as the patron may be expected to observe, the only patronage factors worth bothering about are the appeal of the program, the weather and local family economics. We suspect, however, that a number of other factors operate, varying with the times and the community, and they are more than likely to be quite as important in their effect upon a year's total patronage as those more obvious.

Being very human, and for the most part not inclined to intellectualize their reactions, patrons of motion picture theatres are motivated by many a preference or aversion that usually does not become known to the manager in the ordinary course of his affairs. Some people, for example, are timid ("over-considerate," they probably put it) about disturbing others when it is necessary to pass through to centrally located chairs. There are those who violently dislike going into a dark auditorium, which always seems especially dark until the pupils of the eyes become dilated. Many a person has resented the assistance of the "militaristic" usher as officiousness, even as impudence. Are such patrons merely peculiar? Peculiar only as human nature is peculiar.

¶ Physical reactions, too, are variant. We have heard a great deal about the effect of excessive coolness in auditoriums air-conditioned for summer temperatures. Much of this response has come from health departments and may have been regarded as so much official zeal or political publicity. For that matter, we think that the number of colds actually due to overly cooled theatres to be very small. The public, however, does not have to catch cold, or listen to health officers, to decide against your theatre this summer. The amount of a patron's comfort while in the auditorium will determine his decision, and in shrewd consideration of those persons who "chill easily," it would be better to err on the side of less coolness than too much.

¶ There are other individual reactions, both physical and psychological, which play an important part in creating the motion picture audience, and of these, one may be cited which suggests a broader purpose in such inquiries as we have proposed. This one concerns vision.

A pretty large percentage of people wear glasses, many of them throughout the active day. Add to these the many, many more who should wear them and you have an enormous number of persons to whom visual conditions present rather a special problem. Glasses effect a certain amount of objective correction, but one cannot be certain just how much for all conditions. Some people do not know they need glasses, others (charmingly feminine) refuse to wear them in public, and many are not as well fitted as they might be. Regardless of who or what may be guilty, the patron's discomfort, ensuing eye fatigue or headache is likely to be blamed on some condition in the theatre—and (here's the larger point) often on the motion picture as an entertainment medium. (The motion picture being what it is, prevailing indifference toward improved vision, in both the designing and operation of theatres, is rather incomprehensible—but that's another story.)



¶ Whether he would be able to effect an immediate correction or not, in most instances the theatre operator or manager would be certain to learn of a number of factors influencing his patronage if he conducted a well thought out inquiry smartly adapted to his community. Just recently we were told by persons we never suspected of harboring such ideas, that New York's Broadway houses are "disgusting" (because of the Coney Island ballyhoo outside), that auditoriums are too dark, that motion picture theatres are unhealthful (physically), and a number of other things, most of which represented supportable criticism of conditions that could be readily corrected—with the possible exception of the Broadway "pullers," who are now a part of the street's degeneration.

¶ In the larger purpose, keeping closer tab on community reactions to the theatre might well provide, in addition to a certain amount of immediate local correction, an accumulated opinion among theatre owners which would lead to improved practices in operation generally, and higher standards in theatre designing—all this, of course, accruing to the greater glory of the goods this industry is selling.—G. S.

THE 3,000-SEAT METROPOLE IN BRUSSELS

The proscenium section of the auditorium (see detail of ceiling on opposite page).

The main, or orchestra level, foyer.

From the capital of Belgium, a design marked by economy of space and an original interpretation of the modern architectural idea

THE NEW Cinema Metropole in Brussels, the capital of Belgium, erected to the design of Adrien Blomme, is interesting from the viewpoint of site development, the manner in which space has been utilized for outside purposes, the original treatment of the exterior, and the aspect revealed of the design tendency in the interior decoration.

The cinema has been erected in the important thoroughfare of Rue Neuve. This is an extremely narrow street and it is for this reason that it has been found impossible to present an adequate photograph of the exterior.

FACADE

The site is irregular, but due to the intense land value it was decided to utilize it to its utmost advantage. The scheme shows how this awkward site was treated. The theatre requirements were for a seating capacity of 3,000. The main entrance is a large recessed curve which forms an outside foyer. This has an approximate height of two stories with the rather original treatment of having an outside balcony for public use. The recessing or concave treatment of the facade overcomes to some extent the limitations of space imposed by the narrowness of the street.

FOYERS

The outside foyer leads into two small entrance lobbies on either side. In fact, there is almost duplicate planning, for one hall leads on to the main foyer and staircases, while the other hall also leads on to subsidiary staircases. This is due to the fact that this is a two-balcony theatre, and the additional staircase is a safeguard. The main (orchestra) foyer is then thrown well back from the street in contradistinction to the usual plan of having it placed between the street and the auditorium. The orchestra foyer is amply spaced with the staircases leading from it to the first (mezzanine) balcony and second balcony.

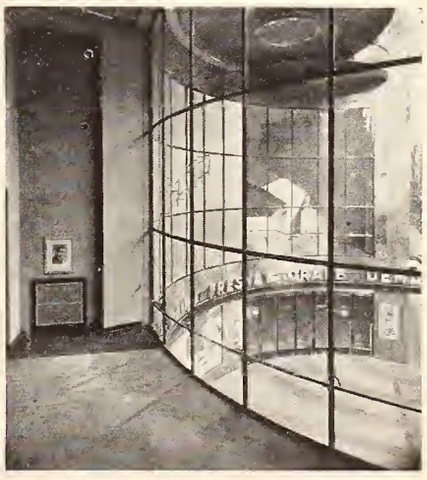
A point of interest is that while the theatre contains three floors (ground, first and second balconies) there are separate cloakrooms to each floor. In every case these cloakrooms are placed adjacent to the main staircase.

AUDITORIUM

The auditorium plan follows the accepted form and is made fan-shaped. An orchestra pit has been planned, and the stage allowance is rather larger than usually allowed for in Continental cinemas due to provision having been made for stage performances. The first floor balcony possesses no outstanding feature, although it may be observed that it has about five rows of seats flung back over the entrance foyer. But in the second balcony the space that was used as a spacious orchestra foyer has been completely used for seating capacity. This is an adaptation of the principle as exemplified by Robert Cromie in the Gaumont Palace at Hammersmith. This flinging back of balconies over the entrance foyers is the most brilliant idea of cinema planning that has been advanced in Europe during the last three years.

The site has been used not only for the cinema, but two floors have been constructed over the auditorium which are used as additional bedrooms for the Hotel Metropole, with which they are connected. The basements are divided into two parts. One half is used to provide additional restaurant accommodation for the Hotel Metropole, while the other half is used as a cafe. Thus the space above and below the cinema has been used for outside purposes.

The interior decoration of the auditorium is interesting. The large relief design forming the top of the proscenium arch is the main decorative feature. An illuminated rib treatment has been the form of decoration used for the walls. The ceiling and the overhang of the balconies, which are also illuminated produce a similar staggered effect. The orchestra foyer is simply treated, though the lighting effects have been rather overdone. The main staircase is a very clever treatment, particularly with its incorporation of the cloakrooms. The sweep of the concave front has been used for the staircase, which is covered-in with glass.



The approximate cost of the Metropole Cinema is said to have been ten million Belgian francs, which amounts to $2,300,000.—Dexter Morand.

Stairways leading to the balcony.

The foyer on the mezzanine level.

Lobby through mezzanine window.

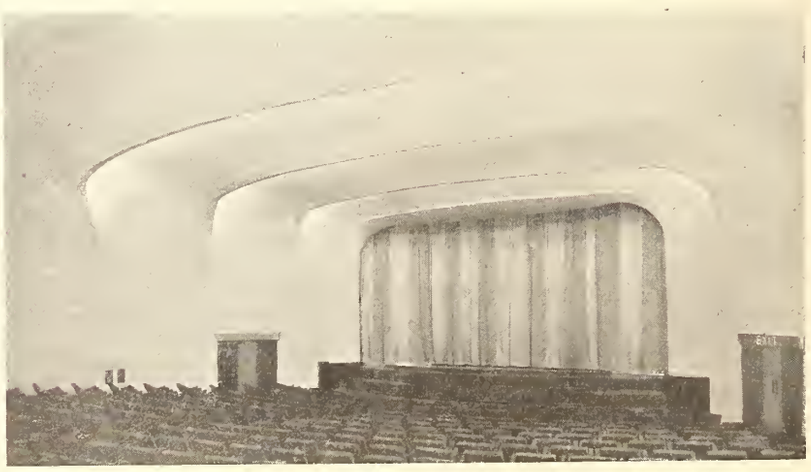
Detail of ceiling at proscenium.

A DESIGN FOR AN EXCLUSIVE COMMUNITY

MOTION PICTURE theatre design in England during the last several years has not contributed a great deal to the advancement of this specialized field of architecture, owing largely to a certain timidity that has been apparent in the work of the majority of designers, who at best have been content to imitate (and half-heartedly at that) the work of the foremost Continental architects, without revealing any desire to experiment along new lines for themselves.

Nevertheless Britain has come forward occasionally with theatre projects of unusual interest, and such a one is the Curzon in Mayfair, recently opened in the most exclusive quarter of London.

Being intended to attract a specialized audience, this theatre, it will readily be realized, had to be conceived and built along original lines. The "gilt and gingerbread" which some say appeals to the general public, would be badly misplaced here; the Curzon patrons would have curdled at the combination of garish colors and banal ornaments characteristic of so many of the purely popular motion picture houses in England.



With this fact appreciated by the sponsors of the undertaking, the problem arose as to how to replace these elements of ornamentation, and the result is a theatre virtually devoid of all decoration.

But even the more discriminating in these enlightened days are not content to sit in a bare room staring at a white screen, which is the elemental conception of the motion picture theatre, and so the architect contrived to achieve his effect by suggestion, in the handling of the essential features of the building. The severity of its design is, therefore, relieved by the thoughtful planning of doors, proscenium, lighting elements and—externally—the approaches to the projection room and other departments, such as boiler house, offices and the like.

The Curzon is an "intimate" theatre, with a capacity of less than 500 seats, all on one floor. It is a compact building, occupying a minimum of space, and is as severe in its external design as it is inside. Both facade and side elevation are of plain red brick, the unusual nature of the building being expressed by the bold vertical and horizontal masses of which the front is composed. In this respect, the cinema perhaps owes its conception to the cult of straight lines and unornamented simplicity which has been in vogue on the Continent for several years.

There was some criticism that the theatre did not harmonize with its surround-

(Continued on page 30)

Two views of the auditorium are shown on this page. The upper one looks across the rear and into a stadium section, while at right we look toward the proscenium arch. Capacity is 500.

BUILDING THE THEATRE ORGANIZATION

By J. T. KNIGHT, JR.

How loyalty and efficiency are to be created in the house staff—a second article on personnel problems

IT HAS OFTEN been said in connection with mechanical processes that if the design and specifications are controlled, the quality of the product is assured. Applying this to personnel management, if the attitude toward employes is right, as the design; and the selection of the employe is intelligent, as the specification; the efficiency and calibre, as the quality of the organization, is assured.

Organization is a growing, living, human thing—it cannot be static or impersonal. The individuals of a group must continue to grow or else they retrogress and become inferior. Training must be planned to stimulate this growth.

The manager who hesitates to promote a man because "it's too hard to fill his job," is not only committing a grave personal injustice to that individual, but he is definitely retarding the development of the entire organization.

From the company's or theatre's point of view, the prime reason for training is to provide a source from which the future man-power needs of the organization may be drawn. If promotions can't be made from "within ranks," then the employes are very definitely not being properly selected and trained.

Training, when properly carried out, definitely supplies the connection between knowledge acquired and its proper application. The mere possession of facts or details of theatre operation does not constitute a theatre operator. Such possession of facts or knowledge does not guarantee the ability to think and to act wisely or with good judgment. Whenever an instructor points out a fact it should be followed by an explanation as to how that fact may be used.

CONTACT WITH EMPLOYES

THE FAILURE to be promoted is not half so discouraging to an employe as the thought or belief that he has been completely forgotten. The man who continually has constructive contact with a superior can never feel forgotten, and should he be passed over in promotion he generally will know wherein he has fallen short. It is good business to establish this sort of contact with each employe, the manager or personnel director will then know the attitude of each individual and can sense disorganizational practices or discontent before they seriously impair efficiency. A continuous series of planned employe meetings will provide such a manager-employe contact. Frequent conversations (these don't have to be formal meetings) with employes about their particular jobs will serve to arouse their interests, check bad performances, correct failures, thereby developing the individuals.

Very often when an employe is put into a position, he throws himself into each problem with tremendous energy and enthusiasm, only too soon to find out that the manager seems to pay no attention to him whatsoever. The fine work receives no comment, but when some detail, often trivial, is omitted or done in a wrong way he is quickly jacked up for it. If a manager is going to be quick to catch mistakes he must be just as alert to commend good work.

Keep each employe alive to his job and to the possibilities of this business, especially during the slack and uneventful periods, and they will be alert, energetic and enthusiastic during the rush periods.

MERITED PRAISE

Platitudes don't generally impress theatre men. Virtue for virtue's sake is no longer sufficiently inspiring. "Virtue is its own reward" has been aptly paraphrased as "virtue is its only reward." Virtue thrives best on appreciation, particularly when the appreciation comes from a superior or some outside source. Letters complimenting employes for the performance of their duties should be publicized to the whole group, and the original of such letters turned over to the particular individual. Don't make the mistake of believing that a job well done is going to be all-satisfying. Some theatre managers don't believe in this policy because they are fearful that the employe will develop an exaggerated idea of his value to the theatre and will probably ask for a raise. Actually in practice this rarely happens.

Watch the members of the organization as a coach watches and studies the individual play of the members of a football team. Be on the alert constantly to note particular abilities or aptitudes along special lines, and be quick to take advantage of developing those abilities. Working the right man into the right job is finally the real reason for personnel management.

WRONG PSYCHOLOGY

Power over any phase of another man's life, is a tremendous responsibility for any man to have. Yet some consider it very lightly and wield it with very little consideration or discretion. Many times the failure of a manager to handle subordinates successfully can be traced to one of three reasons:

1. Managers many times are exceedingly concerned about their dignity and the dignity of their position. False dignity is a poor foundation.

2. Just as soon as some men become managers they become "big shots," they at once, over night, have overcome all human weaknesses and frailties and "know all the answers." The attitude of "the king can do no wrong," won't make a hit with anybody, least of all subordinates.

3. General inability to understand human nature. The manager must be concerned about the employes and their problems.

It is so very necessary that every one have the right starting attitude toward the problem of handling human beings. A start with the right attitude is really about 50% of the problem. Patience and good-will make up the other 50%.

In theatre operation today, the performance for good or bad originates with the manager. There is no split responsibility.

BUILDING UP INTEREST IN JOB

ANY ENDEAVOR becomes work, yes, hard work, if the element of interest is lacking. The theatre manager or personnel director are charged with the responsibility of creating this interest. A person generally becomes very interested when he or she feels that they are something more than just a cog in a machine, that they are really a definite, integral part of a worthy endeavor. This idea must be created in the mind of each employe.

There is a type of man who just has a "job," and he spends much of his time thinking that he is overworked and underpaid. The end of his period of duty is the only enjoyable moment of the day. This type of man always thinks that length of service establishes his right to promotion or increase in pay. He usually knows or thinks he knows, the "large" salaries of all of his superiors and can tell you specifically wherein they fail to earn those salaries, and with whom they have their "drag." Such individuals crop up from time to time in the very best organizations, and if they can't be quickly cured, then get rid of them, because they can tear down an organization faster than the manager can build it up.

The future of any individual lies within himself, and it should be the object of the manager or personnel director repeatedly to drive home this thought and to develop the individual so that his future may some day be realized. There are some men who apparently believe that all progress and success is the result of chance or luck, and they will even go so far as to cite specific examples of men who have arrived by this method. In reality a run of luck, either good or bad, seldom lasts a lifetime, and in the end the man with ability usually forges ahead.

ADDRESSING NEW EMPLOYES

THE FIRST step in the training of one or more employes is to have a long talk with them. Put them at their ease and allow yourself plenty of time; talk to them as if you were selling them on a big idea, with enthusiasm tell them of the motion picture industry, what it requires of them, what is expected of them and assure them that the industry is big enough to pay their price of success. Notice I have used the word "industry," I have not said any particular theatre or company. Above all things don't make any promises to them about salary increases or advancement. So few of us are truly in positions where we can live up to such promises. The first talk should be somewhat along these lines:

When a business fails, the financial statement reflects the condition at that time, but the real reason for failure seldom appears. In most cases the real reason is that the business performed no service which was useful or essentially necessary to the community or neighborhood or society in general. Even individuals must perform useful service if they are to prosper. Society refuses to maintain a man with more than bare necessities unless he is useful.

When we find an industry that has been notably prosperous over a long period of time, that industry must and does supply a real need, and provide a necessary service. Such a need and such a service is provided by motion pictures. This theatre is a part of the motion picture industry, and though we have suffered as all business has during the past four years, nevertheless the industry and this theatre represent a very worthwhile field for your efforts. Provided you learn well the lessons which are represented by the problems confronting us in this theatre, your future is not limited by the size and scope of this theatre and its operation.

The motion picture industry is the fourth ranking industry of this country. It has grown because it has filled a definite need in the lives of the people, not only of this country but of the world. Service, then, becomes our first consideration to this community and to those persons who attend this theatre. I use service here in its broadest sense to include the uninterrupted operation of the projection booth, cleverly presented vaudeville acts, courteous conduct on the part of employes, which means all of us, and a clean, well-ventilated theatre. In total, service means the highest type of performance by each one of us in our respective positions. With this attitude we shall all profit most.

The organization of this theatre is composed of carefully selected, intelligent human beings, and our only standard of measure for each other is in terms of character. A wise man has said, "Character is the sum total, worthwhile, of what a man has after he has won all, and the sole thing he has left after he has lost all." When we accept this statement we must realize then that character constitutes our safest investment and our strongest backing for a useful business career.

Character means honor, sincerity and devotion to what we know is right; self-restraint, fair and square dealing in all things, great or small, without consideration of personal gain or loss, comfort or discomfort.

This is an important part of our stock in trade.

Organizations suffer greatly from petty gossip, loose conduct, personal jealousies and lack of loyalty on the part of employes. An important requirement for continued and satisfactory service in this theatre is that you raise yourself above such practices.

We have got to produce results in this theatre. To do this requires the combined brains and brawn of every one of us on the pay roll. Producing results becomes a habit if practiced diligently. We must begin by producing the desired result in every little thing that each of us attempts—then combined, we, as a theatre organization, will produce results in a big way.

Being loyal to this organization, so long as you are a member of it, is expected of you. In reality this is only expecting that you will be fair and square with yourself. Although disloyalty in an organization saps its very lifeblood, yet the disloyal employe in the long run suffers most and ends by paying the dearer price. If you can't be loyal to this organization, then quit, get out and join an organization to which you can give your loyalty; this is the fairest thing you can do for yourself.

Courage! Yes, this business needs courage, not necessarily of the physical type, but more often of the mental and moral type. Courage is the heart of a man battling against trials, troubles and temptations and coming through, not necessarily always the conqueror, but uncracked, unbroken, unbowed and ready to try again.

Our business demands men who can think. Thinking is the mental process of applying knowledge, so the method is first to acquire the knowledge, then to apply it to the operation of this theatre. The knowledge that I have gained in this business I shall pass on to you from time to time; however, I want each of you to feel free to come and ask for information as you find need for it. Clear thinking is not always a slow process—it results from practice and improves by application, as do all other acquired qualities.

Mutual respect among fellow workers is expected in this theatre. There is no unnecessary work or job here. If there were I would not be a good manager. Then if all the work is necessary for the proper operation of the theatre, it all must be worthy. Each job is worthy, hence each person who holds one of these jobs is worthy and entitled to respect. A harmonious organization is a friendly organization, and therefore a respectful organization. Give the

HOW I'VE CUT MY LIGHT BILLS

By RICHARD L. ROSS
MANAGER UNITED ARTISTS THEATRE, LONG BEACH, CAL.

'TIS SAID, "There's more than one way to skin a cat." And in show business there's more than one way to show a profit. One way that has been found to be highly successful is to try cutting expenses. In fact, the difference between profit and loss in many theatres is the elimination of a few items of expense which are found to be easily eliminated.

One of the items in which I have usually found opportunity to reduce cost is lighting. I check the type of lamps used in the theatre and sometimes find that smaller lamps will do just as well. Sometimes turning the marquee and upright signs on a little later, and turning them off a little sooner may be done without any harm. Some theatres turn on their complete marquees from opening to closing, regardless of the weather.

On a sunny day, especially if you're on the side of the street where the sun hits, any light on the marquee is absolutely wasted. On dark days, proper front lighting sometimes means money to the box-office. But care should be taken, so as not to make the lighting of the front a routine matter, with the doorman turning on all the lights at opening, and leaving them on all day.

I have found in certain situations, that it is wise to turn on the lights at opening and leave them on for a couple of hours, and then turn them off until dusk, while in other situations, I have found that lights on during the matinee is a waste of money, as the transient traffic doesn't warrant it.

Another thing to watch is your surrounding lighting. If situated in a very brightly lighted neighborhood, it is necessary to step up the wattage in order to compete successfully, whereas in a dimly lighted neighborhood a great saving can be effected by cutting down the wattage enough to still have a very brilliant front in comparison with the surroundings.

Another way to save in this department is to use the lamps on hand rather than order new ones. By this I mean that by a little scheming one is able to substitute one type of lamp for another. For example, I was in one theatre where the previous management had stocked up with all sorts of lamps, including red, blue, yellow, etc. In order to use these lamps up, we changed the color scheme of the mezzanine, and in that way eliminated ordering any lamps for that part of the house for months. Sometimes a 60-watt amber lamp is used where a 25-watt canary will give more light and look better.

Another important thing is to find out if the theatre is on the proper consumption schedule of the power and light company. Sometimes a different schedule means a reduced cost.

Caution should be exercised by all employes in turning lights off when not in use. "Please Turn Light Out" cards are helpful in making forgetful employes remember. Needless burning of lights in offices and storerooms is a waste of money that can be easily corrected. Janitors should be cautioned about the use of night lamps.

These are some of the things I watch for in lighting. Some of these suggestions might seem picayune, but when they're added all together they mean quite a saving, and that extra twenty or thirty dollars a week sometimes is the difference between red and black.

other fellow credit for having something on the ball, and know that if he didn't he would not be in his position.

Each of you must endeavor to make yourselves more valuable each day, week, month and year. You can't stand still. You either go forward with the parade, or the parade passes you. This theatre does not pay salaries on the basis of how good you might think you are, but upon definite and recognized ability and accomplishments.

During our interview before your employment I asked you many questions, some personal and some general. I was definitely measuring you to see how closely you fitted the particular job requirements. During these interviews I learned more about you perhaps than you were able to learn about me. In fairness I should tell you about some of my background, and if possible, why I am here.

I am human, I have some weak points and some strong points. You may even discover that there are some things that you can do better than I can, but regardless of this I have [number] years of motion picture theatre experience as my background. I've swept theatre floors and taken tickets at the door, in fact done most of the jobs in and about a theatre. All that I have talked about covers only the high spots of the qualities that I strive to display in and about this theatre, in my contacts with you and with the public. They are the groundwork of a healthy organization, all of which has become apparent to me as the result of my experience.

I am telling you these things because I have selected you from a number of applicants, and I believe each of you represents good material for your particular job. All that I ask of each of you is that you do your best work, for with your best you profit most and so does the theatre. I want to be right in the selection of each one of you. I much prefer to see you succeed in your job than fail. When you succeed you will confirm my ability to pick men, and to further this I shall continually aid you by constructive criticism and shall show you how to perform your particular job.

The real object of this first talk by the manager is to arouse in each new employe enthusiasm for the theatre and theatre operation. The manager can elaborate or reduce it as he sees fit, but it must be impressive. This start-off is most important. It must be more than just a matter-of-fact statement.

CONDITIONS OF THE JOB

FOLLOWING THIS introductory period, the employes should be given information about working conditions and theatre policies. This is of importance so that there may be no future misunderstanding. Such information might conform to some outline similar to the following; however, conditions will differ in almost every theatre. Make an outline to fit your conditions, something like this:

THEATRE POLICIES

1. Program changes.
2. Admission prices.
3. Daily show routine.
4. Explain the daily program schedules.
5. Explain conduct of employes toward each other while on duty, especially between male and female.
6. Conduct toward artists or performers.
7. The privilege of employes to view shows.
8. The attitude of the management toward giving passes to employes for their friends or family.
9. Loitering about the theatre when off duty, especially when wearing the theatre uniforms.
10. Flirtatious conduct.
11. Courteous service.
12. Cleanliness and neatness of employes.

WORKING CONDITIONS

1. Schedule of working hours:
   (a) Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.
   (b) Time off.
   (c) No variation made from regular schedules to fit special conditions.
   (d) Schedules subject to change by the management.
   (e) Daily closing time only approximate subject to variations in show schedule.
2. Fire and Emergency drills held once each month, employes expected to attend.
3. Weekly, bi-monthly or monthly meeting of all employes.
4. Salaries.
5. Overtime policy.
6. When pay period starts and ends.
7. Whether paid in check or cash.
8. If paid with check, policy of cashing at the box office.
9. Absences from work with and without pay:
   (a) Sickness.
   (b) To attend to personal business.
   (c) To receive dental or medical attention.
   (d) Election days.
   (e) July Service.
   (f) Unexplained.
10. Vacation policy, if any.
11. The use of intoxicating liquor.
12. Punctuality.

After going over all of these points, and any others that apply particularly to your theatre, ask if there are any questions. Emphasize to the new employe that now is the time for him to get these details firmly in his mind.

Upon the completion of the answers on these matters, put this question squarely up

(Continued on page 30)

Title and text copyrighted 1934. Reproduction of any part without permission is expressly forbidden

BOILED OIL IN PAINT: Raw linseed oil is thin and drys very slowly. The resulting paint film is often soft. Also, raw linseed oil, due to poor color, will generally darken white paint or light-colored paint.

Boiled linseed oil costs slightly more than the raw, but this small additional expense is justifiable. It drys much faster, with a resulting harder paint film. Though the boiling does not thicken the oil much, it also does not greatly improve its color. In all cases, especially inside, use boiled linseed oil in paints.

•

AIR IS FUEL: Air is just as much a part of the fuel that you use in your boiler as the coal or oil that you pay real money for. Boiler rooms with tight-fitting doors and no windows, or windows that are kept shut, are not economical. If this condition exists in your theatre, provide some means for air to get into the boiler room, even if you must run a duct to the outside. It will pay for itself in fuel savings and result in more heat and greater efficiency.

•

MARBLE CLEANING: The ideal marble cleaner is one which will (1) actually remove dirt, grime and mud with the least amount of material and physical effort; (2) clean without scratching or otherwise disfiguring the surface; (3) be easy to remove with the mop. Does the material that you are using measure up to these standards? You might check into it.

SHELLAC FOR WOODWORK: Shellac is a very inexpensive and quick-drying means of finishing woodwork. It comes in two tones, orange and white. It lacks the permanency of the better classes of varnish-finished woodwork, therefore it requires great care in cleaning. Shellac leaves a porous finish on wood, and for this reason use as little water as possible in cleaning it. Water affects shellac very seriously, turns it a grayish white.

•

TAPESTRY: This fabric is most generally used as wall hangings, but sometimes it is used to upholster furniture. It is very beautiful, but difficult to care for properly because of its rather soft and loose weave. It seems to collect and hold a great quantity of dust and dirt. It should be brushed daily with a soft, long-bristled brush. Never use a cloth for dusting tapestry. Carefully vacuum it about once each month. Spots can be removed with naphtha, gasoline, or some other reliable commercial cleaning fluid—and plenty of carefulness.

•

YOUR OWN PROBLEMS: Whatever they may be, if they concern the physical theatre and maintenance, I will be glad to reply to your question in these columns if you write me in care of Better Theatres. Publication of the reply is desirable because it may contain information of value to many others, but only your initials will be used for identification.

NEW LIGHTING FORMS FOR TODAY'S THEATRE FRONT

DESIGNED FROM SPECIFICATIONS BY GENERAL ELECTRIC ENGINEERS.

Striking, dynamic treatment of a motion picture theatre facade, based on conditions indicated in the actual theatre shown in the small picture. The large vertical sign consists of a framework of metal structural members, glazed with a highly diffusing glass, such as flashed opal. The use of this glass in such a structure permits the employment of lamps of the more efficient wattages on wide spacings. The outer edge of the fin is of stainless steel, brushed lengthwise and indirectly lighted to produce brilliant horizontal bands of light on the steel surface. The silhouette sign letters may be changeable to announce the current feature. The marquee is of similar glass and metal construction cantilevered from the building wall. Changeable silhouetted letters are also used here. Color may be introduced by the use of colored lamps or colored flashed opal glass. Maintenance of lamps is from the marquee roof. The ticket booth, also of luminous flashed opal glass, is of modern pattern with silhouetted letters stating show times. These may be changed readily since they slide in channels at top and bottom of the panel or may be sprung into place. The corner poster boards are lighted indirectly.

PATRONS' RIGHTS AND OTHER LATE LAW

By LEO T. PARKER

Analyzing a variety of litigations and decisions of higher courts involving points of law of special interest to theatre operators

THE DECISIONS in leading higher court cases establish the law that a theatre patron who violates a rule, or is disorderly within the theatre, may without liability be ejected from the theatre, provided no greater force than is necessary is used to eject him, and that while he is being ejected he is not abused, humiliated or otherwise subjected to insult. The latest higher court case involving this point of the law is Louisville v. Gibson (64 S. W. [2d] 163, Pineville, Kentucky).

Legal Ejection of Patrons

CASE

In this case it was shown that a passenger on a passenger train did not have sufficient cash to pay his fare from one station to the other. During an argument the conductor said to the passenger, "Hell, that don't get you anywhere. I'll put you damn fellows all out here. Stop this train here until these damn fellows every one gets off."

The passenger was put off the train and later filed suit against the railroad company to recover $500 damages. During the trial the passenger introduced testimony supporting his contention that the conductor made the above mentioned statements. Therefore, the lower court held the passenger entitled to recover damages in the sum of $500. The railroad company appealed to the higher court, contending that the amount of damages allowable was excessive and that under the circumstances no damages should be allowed. However, the higher court sustained the lower court's verdict and stated the following important law:

DECISION

"There was evidence that the conductor was angry; that he said to appellee (passenger), 'That will not get you by,' or: 'Hell, that don't get you anywhere. You damn fellows will have to get off. Stop the train and put these damn fellows off.' Since, in view of this language, which was spoken by the conductor in the presence of other passengers and is clearly abusive and insulting, appellee was entitled to recover for mortification and humiliation of feeling, we cannot say that the verdict is excessive. Indeed, in Chesapeake, 148 S. W. 46, where there was no wrongful ejection, but the conductor abused the passenger, we upheld a verdict for $600."

It is, therefore, quite apparent that a theatre owner may be liable in damages where a patron is rightfully ejected from the theatre, but is cursed and abused by the theatre owner or his authorized employes. This is true notwithstanding the fact that no greater force than was necessary was used when ejecting the patron. Therefore, it is important to understand that the presently established ruling of the courts is that when ejecting a patron these rules should be followed:

LEGAL METHOD

(1) Approach the patron in an orderly and quiet manner and explain to him the reason why he is requested to leave the theatre. (2) If the patron refuses to leave, then a sufficient amount of force may be used to eject him from the theatre, bearing in mind that no liability exists unless undue and unnecessary force is used to eject the patron. (3) While the patron is being ejected he should not be cursed or otherwise abused.

LIABILITY UNDER THREAT STATUTE

ANY THEATRE owner may be liable in damages, and under certain circumstances convicted criminally under a State statute, for making threats to arrest a patron, particularly if, when such threats are made, the theatre owner does not honestly intend to arrest and convict the patron, or if the theatre owner is unable to verify by convincing evidence that the patron has committed acts which justified conviction. However, State statutes of this nature are strictly construed by the higher courts and will not be twisted or interpreted to mean something not clearly expressed in the statute itself.

CASE

For instance, in State v. Essex (250 N. W. 895, Des Moines, Ia.,) it was disclosed that a State law provides: "If any person either verbally or by any written or printed communication maliciously threaten to accuse another of a crime or offense or to do any injury to the person or property of another, with intent thereby to extort any money or pecuniary advantage whatever or to compel the person so threatened to do any act against his will, he shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not more than two years or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars."

An indictment was filed against the proprietor on the grounds that he had made malicious threats against two patrons for the purpose of extorting money and cause the patrons to perform an act against their will by threatening to forcibly arrest and place in jail these patrons.

The lower court rendered a verdict convicting the proprietor, who filed an appeal to the higher court on the contention that the above mentioned statue was not applicable. In upholding this contention and reversing the verdict, the higher court said:

DECISION

"The indictment clearly charged malicious threats to extort money and not threats to compel Dobbins, the party threatened, to do an act against his will independent of the alleged purpose to extort money."

COMPETITION OF FORMER EMPLOYE

THE LAW is well settled that a court will grant an injunction against a former theatre employe engaging in competitive theatre business or taking employment with a competitor of the former employer when such competition involves the unfair or fraudulent use of trade secrets which constitute a valuable part of

electrogram

OILING MOTORS — Many later type fractional horsepower motors used in projection rooms have the wool yarn system of lubrication. In general this type of bearing holds about twice as much oil as the ring-oiler bearing. While the wool is saturated at the factory, it is well to add enough light-grade mineral oil to bring the level to the overflow hole. Factory instructions are sometimes in cubic centimeters (cc) or teaspoonfuls. One cc. of medium engine oil at 70 degrees is about 17 drops. One teaspoonful is about 5 cc. If bearing is removed from shaft, be careful wool is lifted before replacing. Pack wool equally on each side of bearing, locating it over slot in bearing so oil-well cover will hold yarn on shaft.

Write us your electrical problem. An expert reply will be promptly Electrographed.

the good will of the former employer's business. However, various courts have held that this power of a theatre owner to prevent a former employe from freely carrying on a lawful theatre business will be exercised with great caution.

If, for example, the testimony shows that there were no trade secrets or data regarded by the employer as confidential; or that such secrets were unknown to the particular employe involved in the suit; or that no use was made of such secrets in the solicitation of business then the courts will not hold the employe liable to the employer.

However, a court will issue an injunction against continuation of unfair practices by a former employe, where it is proved that such employe had access to confidential matters relating to the former employer's business and utilized such information to his own advantage after entering into business for himself, or accepting employment with a competitor.

CASE

For illustration, in the late case of Scavengers (24 P. [2d] 489, San Francisco, Cali.), it was disclosed that an employe was engaged in the bookkeeping department of a company. Afterward this employe entered into a competing business for himself and the former employer filed suit contending that the employe had directly utilized confidential information he had obtained while in the bookkeeping department. Since the evidence indicated that a considerable part of this allegation was true, the higher court granted an injunction against the employe continuing such practices, saying:

DECISION

"There can be no doubt that the specially arranged list, developed by long experience, constituted a trade secret of value."

THE USE OF DRAFTS AND NOTES

BY M. MARVIN BERGER
MEMBER NEW YORK BAR

TO AN ALMOST universal extent, financial transactions to-day are made not by a transfer of actual money, but through the medium of what are known as "negotiable instruments"—that is, checks, drafts and notes. So widespread is the use of these negotiable instruments, that an understanding of the law governing their use is important to a businessman. As the result of the adoption by every state of the Union of a model statute, the Negotiable Instruments Law, the law of negotiable instruments is practically uniform throughout the country.

The two basic forms of negotiable instruments are notes and bills of exchange.

A note, as defined by the Negotiable Instruments Law, is an unconditional promise in writing, made by one person to another, signed by the maker of the note and promising to pay a definite sum of money on demand or at a future time to order or to bearer.

A bill of exchange, or as it is more often called, a draft, is an unconditional order addressed by one person to another, signed by the person giving it and directing the person to whom it is addressed to pay a definite sum of money on demand or at a definite future time to order or to bearer. The maker of a bill of exchange is called the drawer, the person to whom it is addressed is called the drawee, and the person to whom it directs payment is known as the payee. The most commonly used form of a bill of exchange is a check, which is a bill of exchange drawn on a bank and payable on demand.

The purpose of the Negotiable Instruments Law is to regulate the negotiability of notes and bills of exchange. Negotiability is the quality of enabling a note or draft to pass freely from hand to hand, in the same manner as money. An essential element of negotiability is that an instrument be free from any question or dispute which might be raised between the original parties to the instrument, such as the maker and payee in the case of a note. To bring about this desirable quality of being able to circulate free from any prior defenses, the law requires an instrument to conform to the following requirements:

1. It must be in writing and must be signed by the maker or drawer.

2. It must contain a definite promise or order to pay a definite sum of money. The order or promise must not be conditional. The sum payable is considered definite, even though it is to be paid (a) with interest; or (b) by stated installments; or (c) by stated installments, with a provision that upon default in the payment of any installment or of interest, the whole shall become due; or (d) in foreign exchange at a fixed rate or the current rate; or (e) with costs of collection for an attorney's fee in case payment is not made when due.

Also, the order or promise to pay is not conditional even though it indicates a particular fund or account which is to be debited with the amount, or states the transaction giving rise to the instrument. But an order or promise to pay out of a particular fund makes the order or promise conditional and the instrument non-negotiable.

For example, an order to pay money "out of my interest in the estate of John Doe" is conditional. An order to pay a certain sum "and charge my account therewith" is unconditional.

3. It must be payable on demand, or a time in the future which is definitely stated or can be ascertained. An instrument is payable at a definite future time, when it is payable (a) at a fixed period after date or sight; or (b) at a definite or determinable future time stated in the instrument; or (c) on or at a definite period after the happening of a specified event which is certain to happen, though the time of happening be uncertain. Where the happening of the event is not certain, the instrument is not negotiable. For example, a promise to pay money "when I receive it from John Doe" makes an instrument non-negotiable.

4. It must be payable to order or to bearer. When the instrument is payable to order, the payee must be named or otherwise indicated in the note with reasonable certainty. An instrument payable "to John Doe" is not payable to John Doe's order and is therefore not negotiable. An instrument is payable to the bearer (a) when it states "pay to bearer"; or (b) when it is payable to a person definitely named or bearer, for example: "Pay to John Smith or bearer"; (c) when it is payable to the order of a person known to the maker to be fictitious or non-existent.

5. When instrument is a bill of exchange or draft, it must name drawee with reasonable certainty.

EMPLOYE'S LEGAL DUTY

NUMEROUS COURTS have stated that all employes are duty-bound to perform only acts intended to prove advantageous to their employers. Moreover, all theatre employes are personally responsible to their employers for injurious or damaging acts performed in disobedience of the latters' instructions. Therefore, it is important to know that a rule has been formulated, by a thorough review of leading higher court cases, to quickly determine the circumstances under which an employe is personally liable for illegal acts performed by him while he is in his employer's service.

A review of these many higher court cases discloses that a theatre employe is personally liable (1) where he knowingly makes a false written or oral statement or representation of his authority with intent to deceive a person who transacts business with his employer; (2) where he performs unlawful acts with authority of his employer; (3) where he performs a damaging act believing he has authority, but actually has none; (4) where under all circumstances he wilfully performs an act which results in damage to any one; (5) where he performs damaging acts outside his scope of authority, although he intends to render his employer a valuable service; and (6) where he assumes an obligation for his employer.

CASE

For instance, in a leading case decided during the past few weeks, it was shown that a theatre owner ordered a quantity of goods from a salesman. The order specified that the buyer's name and address should be imprinted on each article. The salesman required a money deposit with the order and the theatre owner gave the salesman a deposit check. Both the salesman and the theatre owner signed the contract of sale which specified the date shipment should be made and distinctly stated that no cancellation would be accepted.

The salesman mailed the order immediately to the manufacturer who failed to acknowledge it. Ten days after the order was signed the theatre owner wrote to the manufacturer cancelling the order and requested that his deposit be returned. The manufacturer answered this communica-

(Continued on page 31)

MODERN PROJECTION

PROJECTION • SOUND REPRODUCTION • ACOUSTICS

A BASIS FOR A SYSTEM OF PROJECTION REPORTS

A plan to aid management in devising an efficient method for keeping check on conditions in the projection department

PROJECTION ROOM report forms that will not be a nuisance, either to the projectionist who fills them out, or to the manager who reads them, are offered in the following pages. These forms are in two parts: a daily memorandum, and a weekly report.

Daily memoranda are not used every day, but only when and as needed. Any of them can be written out in a minute or less, and read in a few seconds, but they contain all the information likely to be important to the condition for which they are used.

The weekly form should be filled out in daily allotments, in which case it will require not more than three or four minutes of the projectionist's time each day. As shown here, the report is not broken down into daily portions, because each theatre will prefer to make that division for itself according to the days different projectionists come on duty and the way in which the projection staff have divided up responsibility for their equipment among themselves. The form as it stands is easily split up between different days of the week by use of a red china marking crayon, such as is kept in most projection rooms for marking vacuum tubes, meter dials, and other glass.

The manager on receiving this report will normally not have to look above the double line. Everything that should interest him under normal circumstances will be found recorded below it. Only in cases of trouble, indicated below that line, need he go above it into the body of the report to find further details. A properly filled out report that has no entries below the double line is a report that shows no trouble of any present importance, and therefore need not be studied further.

MODIFICATIONS OF FORM

As they stand, the daily form should be found useful in almost any theatre. The weekly form should be modified according to individual needs. If only slight modification is required, the chart can be used as printed by striking out superfluous items, and adding others that may be needed under the heading of Remarks. If extensive changes are desirable, the chart should of course be re-drawn, but the printed version here given will serve as a reminder and guide in drawing up the new one.

There are several reasons for modifying the weekly form as printed.

Superfluous Item. This chart shows details of inspection for equipment that may not be found in many theatres. Storage batteries, for one example. For another, both arc generators and arc supply rectifiers are listed; most theatres will have one or the other, but not both. Again, there are many small details of inspection that the individual manager or projectionist may consider unnecessary in a weekly check-up in his own theatre. Elimination of superfluous items, and especially of such duplications as the arc generator and arc supply rectifier, will materially reduce the bulk of this report, by way of compensation for other items to be added, as listed below.

Items to Be Added. Any manager or projectionist will readily think of items of weekly inspection, not included in this form, that should be added in the case of his own theatre. Moreover, there are items necessarily omitted in a blanket chart of this kind that should be added in the case of each individual theatre. Conspicuously important among these are details of meter readings and lubrication. It is naturally impossible to chart every point of lubrication, and the correct reading of each individual meter in a general form such as this, but those details should be added, both for the information they convey, and as a guide in making the inspection, to insure against anything being overlooked.

SPECIAL NOTATIONS

There is another class of detail that should be added from time to time, as needed. For example, assume a drive gear to be worn, not so badly that it needs immediate replacement, but badly enough to be watched carefully. Until that particular gear has been replaced with a new one, a question concerning its condition should be added to every week's form, under the heading of Remarks.

While these and other additions will increase the bulk of the form, they should not increase it any more than the changes which have already been mentioned will reduce it.

DETAILS OF FORM

Some details of the inspection form may be of interest to anyone wishing to re-draw it completely for his own individual purpose. The questions are so worded that in some cases the answer, Yes, and in other cases the answer, No, indicates trouble. For example, the form asks if the projection light is white, but if the exciting light is yellow. Both should be white, of course. The choice of wording is not accidental. One who has had occasion to check many thousands of projection room reports will have noticed that more than a few of them look as if someone had just run a pencil down the paper, writing in the word yes after every question as rapidly as he could. That, of course, represents a tendency almost anyone may find in himself when he happens to be in a hurry, and one best guarded against by suitable wording of the questionnaire. The practical manager will realize that this psychology must be shrewdly met if the system is to work.

Similar considerations induced the arrangement shown where duplicate equipment is involved, as for example in the case of projectors. The two columns for answers are placed at either side of the questions, rather than side by side to the

The discussion is continued on page 18, on which appears the daily (or occasional) report form. On the following two pages (16 and 17) is presented the weekly report form explained in the text.

A.C. LINE VOLTAGE VARIATION: Maximum?..... Minimum?..... LINE VARIATIONS ABRUPT?.....

ARC POWER SUPPLY

MOTOR-GENERATOR

Commutator
- Dirty? .....
- *Grooved? .....
- *Pitted? .....
- *Mica Protruding? .....
- Mica Undercut? .....
- *Sparking Abnormally? .....

Brushes
- Seated Properly? .....
- *Renewal Needed? .....
- *Output Voltage Normal? .....
- *Vibration Normal? .....
- *Overheating? .....
- Properly Lubricated? .....
- *Lubricant Leaking? .....

RECTIFIER
- *Output Voltage Normal? .....
- *Vibration Normal? .....
- *Overheating? .....

Tubes
- Filaments Sagging? .....
- Spares on Hand? .....

LAMPHOUSES

(Under Projectors, left-hand column for No. 1 Projector lamphouse; right-hand column for No. 2 Projector lamphouse. Extreme right-hand column for spots, effect machine, etc., as indicated.)

PROJECTORS	SPOTS, ETC.
Arc Feed Contacts
..... Dirty?	.....
.....*Corroded?	.....
.....*Pitted?	.....
.....*Sparking Abnormally?	.....
Arc Feed Motor
.....*Overheat?	.....
Commutator
..... Dirty?	.....
.....*Grooved?	.....
.....*Pitted?	.....
.....*Sparking Abnormally?	.....
Brushes
..... Seated Properly?	.....
.....*Renewal Needed?	.....
Arc Carbon Contacts
.....*Worn?	.....
.....*Pitted?	.....
Light
.....*Sufficient?	.....
.....*White?	.....
.....*Steady?	.....
Arc Feed Mechanism
..... Properly Lubricated?	.....

SOUND POWER SUPPLIES

MOTOR-GENERATOR

Commutator
- Dirty? .....
- *Grooved? .....
- *Pitted? .....
- Mica Protruding? .....
- Mica Undercut? .....
- *Sparking? .....

Brushes
- Seated Properly? .....
- *Renewal Needed? .....
- *Overheating? .....
- *Vibration Normal? .....
- *Output Voltage Normal? .....
- *Hum in Sound? .....

DRY BATTERIES

"B" Batteries
- Voltage Reading? .....
- Noisy on Headphone Test? .....
- Spares on Hand? .....

"C" Batteries
- Voltage? .....
- Noisy on Headphone Test? .....
- Spares on Hand? .....

STORAGE BATTERIES

	No. 1	No. 2	No. 3	No. 4
*Average Charging Current?	.....	.....	.....	.....
*Average Hours Charging?	.....	.....	.....	.....
*Average Discharge Current?	.....	.....	.....	.....
*Average Hours Use?	.....	.....	.....	.....
Tops Wet?	.....	.....	.....	.....
Tops Dirty?	.....	.....	.....	.....
Water Level Correct?	.....	.....	.....	.....
Terminals Corroded?	.....	.....	.....	.....
Terminals Vaselined?	.....	.....	.....	.....
Average Hydrometer Readings
Full Charge?	.....	.....	.....	.....
Full Discharge?	.....	.....	.....	.....
*Hum in Sound During Charging?	.....	.....	.....	.....

SOUND RECTIFIERS

	No. 1	No. 2	No. 3	No. 4
*Output Voltage Normal?	.....	.....	.....	.....
*Vibration Normal?	.....	.....	.....	.....
*Hum Heard in Sound?	.....	.....	.....	.....
*Overheating?	.....	.....	.....	.....
Tubes
Filaments Sagging?	.....	.....	.....	.....
Spares on Hand?	.....	.....	.....	.....

DEFECTIVE FILM RUN DURING COURSE OF WEEK

Name of Film	Date Run	Nature of Defect	Producer	Exchange
.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
.....	.....	.....	.....	.....

Write here what cure was applied to any trouble found in connection

TROUBLE	CURE
.....	.....
.....	.....

Gives dates of either of the following forms reported during the course of the week

FORM	URGENT OR ROUTINE	DATES
Equipment Needed	.....	.....
	.....	.....
Trouble Report	.....	.....
	.....	.....

REMARKS:

ROOM REPORT

Date.....

D. C. LINE VOLTAGE VAIATION: Maximum?.....Minimum.....LINE VARIATIONS ABRUPT?.....

PROJECTOR AND SOUND HEADS

Mechanism

No. 1 — No. 2

..... Clean? .....
..... *Runs Smoothly? .....
..... *Condition? .....
..... *Pad Tensions Normal? .....
..... *Vibration Normal? .....

Take-up Chain

..... *Condition? .....
..... Tension Normal?.....

Lubrication

..... Properly Lubricated? .....
..... *Oil Leaking Badly? .....

Film

..... *Torn in Projector? .....
..... *Scratched in Projector? .....

Picture

..... Masking? .....
..... Focus? .....
..... Steady? .....

Exciter Lamp

..... *Meter Reads Normal? .....
..... Bulb Discolored? .....
..... Filament Sagging? .....
..... Focus OK? .....
..... *Light Yellow? .....
..... Alignment Photographs OK? .....
..... *Guides Hold Position? .....
..... *Pad Tensions Normal? .....
..... *Flutter in Sound? .....

Photocell and Amplifier

..... *Meter Reads OK? .....
..... Cell Correctly Placed? .....

Sound

..... *Volume Normal? .....
..... Volumes Equal? .....
..... *Quality Good? .....
..... *Quality Equal? .....
..... *Foreign Noises? .....

SPOT MECHANISMS

(Add in this space questions appropriate to your type of spots, effect machines, etc.)

.....
.....
.....
.....
.....
.....
.....
.....
.....
.....

PROJECTOR DRIVE

Drive Transmission

No. 1 — No. 2

..... *Starting Time Normal? .....
..... *Running Speed Normal? .....
..... *Excessive Vibration? .....
..... *Motor Overheat? .....
..... Motor Lubricated? .....

Drive Gears

..... Lubricated? .....
..... *Condition? .....

Speed Control

..... *Meter Reads Normal? .....
..... Lubricated? .....

VOLUME CONTROLS, SOUND SWITCHES, RHEOSTATS, Etc.

*Noisy?
.....
Contacts *Firm?
.....
Contacts Clean?
.....
*Overheating?
.....

DISC: SYNCHRONOUS — DISC: N. S.

..... Turntables Level? .....
..... *Vibration Present? .....
..... Lubrication OK? .....
..... *Flexible Connection OK? .....

REPRODUCER ARM: SYNCHRONOUS — ARM: N. S.

..... Level? .....
..... Zero Drift? .....
..... Needle Supply Ample? .....
..... *Volume Normal? .....
..... Volumes Equal? .....
..... *Quality Good? .....
..... Quality Equal? .....

MICROPHONE

Button No. 1 — Button No. 2

..... *Meter Reads Normal? .....
..... *Volumes Equal? .....

SIGNAL LAMPS

*All Function?
.....

AMPLIFIERS

Regular — Emergency

..... *Meters Read Normal? .....
..... *Volume Normal? .....
..... Volumes Equal? .....
..... *Quality Good? .....
..... Quality Equal? .....
..... *Foreign Noises? .....
..... Tube Contacts Clean? .....
..... *Overheating? .....

SPEAKERS

*Maintain Position? .....
*Condition Stage Cables?.....
*Volume Normal? .....
*Field Supply Correct? .....

with an item of inspection marked *. If trouble unremedied, so state.

TROUBLE	CURE
.....	.....
.....	.....

(Signed) .....
Projectionist in Charge

URGENT

(If not urgent, fold back on this dotted line and tear off)

EQUIPMENT NEEDED

QUANTITY	PART NEEDED	TYPE NO.	MAKE	VENDOR	PRICE

(This box to be used only if need for equipment is urgent)

REASON FOR URGENT NEED.....

TEMPORARY PART USED..... How Long Will Temporary Part Serve?.....

TROUBLE REPORT

TROUBLE.....

..... Has It Been Cured?.....

WHAT CURE WAS APPLIED?.....

..... Show Delayed (Duration).....

WHAT REPAIRS ARE STILL NEEDED?.....

..... How Soon?.....

(This box to be used only if need for repairs is urgent)

REPAIR NEEDED.....

.....

TEMPORARY REPAIR APPLIED.....

..... How Long Will Temporary Repair Serve?.....

Date.....

(Signed) .....
Projectionist in Charge

(Fill in either part of this form, leaving the other blank, as occasion requires)

[This form is a guide only—not to be clipped from this page.]

right of the questions, by way of helping to encourage individual answers for each machine.

The asterisks are used to save the manager trouble in checking the report. There is no good reason why his attention should be drawn to a dirty commutator. It will be cleaned in the normal course of inspection if found dirty; the item is included in the body of the report only as a reminder to the projectionist making the inspection to look at it and to clean it if necessary.

The same considerations apply to many of the other items of inspection listed, those in connection with which any trouble found will be repaired promptly in the normal course of routine. Items marked with an asterisk are those which on inspection may indicate more serious troubles, of the type (repaired or not) that the manager would wish to know about.

F. H. RICHARDSON'S COMMENT

• • AND ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES •

CALCULATING THE SPEED OF YOUR REWINDER

IN COMPILING the sixth edition of the Bluebook it was desired to tell projectionists how to calculate rewinder speed, or rather how to ascertain proper pulley diameters to attain any desired speed of rewinding (speed of motor pulley being known, of course). Applying to that very able engineer, L. A. Jones, of the physics department of the Eastman Kodak Company, I received the following advice:

"Regarding the rewinder problem, it cannot be stated accurately, for the reasons that neither belt slipping nor speed of motors commonly used for driving rewinders are constant. Probably the best information we can supply you is what changes are necessary in an existing motor-driven rewind to fulfill your requirements. [The requirements were to reduce rewinding speed to six minutes to each 1,000 feet of film.—F. H. R.]

"In our projection laboratory we have a motor-driven rewind of our own design. The motor is a ⅛-h.p., d.c., 1,725-r.p.m., the pulley of which is 1½ inches in diameter. That on the rewinder is 4½ inches. A suitable rewind tension is secured by a brake on the rewind tail spindle.

"The time for rewinding back on the shipping reel with a 2-inch core is 1,000 feet of film in 1¼ minutes. To change the rewinding time to 6 minutes, the pulley ratio would be changed as follows:

$$\frac{\text{diameter of large pulley}}{\text{diameter of small pulley}} \times \frac{\text{time desired}}{\text{existing time of rewinding}}$$ or

$$\frac{4\frac{1}{2}}{1\frac{1}{2}} \times \frac{6}{1\frac{1}{4}} = 14.5:1$$

from which we see that a motor pulley 1 inch in diameter, and one on the motor, and one 14½ inches in diameter on the rewind spindle, would give approximately 6 minutes rewinding time.

"To work this out, measure present pulley diameters and present exact time required to rewind 1,000 feet of film. Then divide diameter of rewind pulley by diameter of motor pulley. Divide 6 by time now required to rewind 1,000 feet of film and multiply the one result by the other. The final product will be the diameter of pulley required on rewinder to rewind 1,000 feet of film if the motor pulley be 1 inch in diameter."

Not quite what I wanted, but it may perhaps help, and will be quite all right if you have, or can get, a 1 inch diameter motor pulley and wish to use no countershaft.

As to the rewinding in 1¼ minutes in the laboratory, that is not in any way an excuse for doing it in a projection room. In the first place, we may reasonably assume that only perfect reels are used in the lab; also, that the rewinder elements are in perfect alignment at all times and correct tension maintained.

WANTS QUESTIONS ON PROJECTION

GEORGE A. ARTLES, of Muncy, Pa., writes, "The fact that you have not heard from me for a long while does not at all mean I have forgotten you. I read every word you write in both the HERALD and BETTER THEATRES, and hope you will keep up the good work.

"And now for the real reason for this letter. I want you to send me the questions and answers you sent to a State department of labor and industry. I want them so I may keep abreast with things. I will gladly pay the postage.

"I read about the projectionist in Texas working seventy-four hours per week. Sure hope the manager of the theatre he works in reads what you have said and takes the matter to heart. If there ever was a case of taking advantage of a man, his is a perfect one. I don't have to work such hours as he does, but do work every night and must put in time during the day to check and clean the equipment. Does seem we should all have one evening off. Don't you think so?"

Yes, that would be very desirable. But after all, Friend Artles, you must remember that if you only work evenings and a short while in daylight hours, friend manager doubtless thinks you have, after all, quite a bit of time to yourself, and while it is true it ties all your evenings up, still your daily hours of labor cannot be very strenuous. You see, I can't always side with you boys merely because I would like to, and because it would please you to have me do it. I must remember that the manager has a "side" of his own, and I must agree with him when I honestly think he has not overstepped his rights.

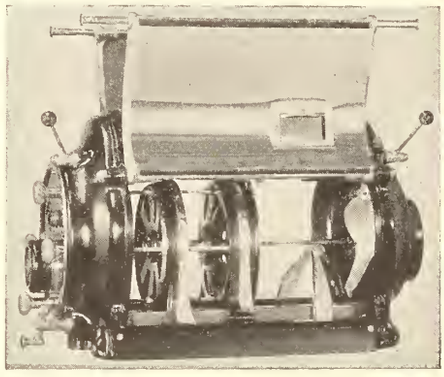
As to the questions and answers, I will ascertain what it would cost to have them copied, and if you wish to pay that cost I will send them. I have but one copy and cannot take chances of its loss.

BREAKING INTO PROJECTION

IT IS A POOR week that fails to bring to my desk from two to a dozen requests for advice from young men who have accumulated a projection bug and wish to "get in." They ask how they may best begin, plus, almost invariably, how they may join a union. Some two weeks ago a young woman down in Mississippi asked very earnestly whether or not it was

Other Articles

In addition to the material on this page, Mr. Richardson's columns of this issue also contain:



As to Union Politicians . . . . . Page 20
Changed Coils to Reduce Heat . . . . . Page 21
Three Questions Concerning Motors . . . . . Page 23
Knowledge Means Understanding . . . . . Page 24
Nature of the Eidoloscope . . . Page 25
British Guild to Continue . . . . Page 25

Those Who Have Installed the New

STRONG

A. C. MOGUL

will gladly tell you about the many advantages of this wonderful arc lamp. Operates smoothly and quietly on alternating current. Intermediate in light intensity and operating costs between the present low intensity and Hylo. Write today for circular.

For Sale by Trustworthy Independent Supply Dealers Everywhere

The Strong Electric Corporation

2501 LAGRANGE STREET TOLEDO, OHIO

Export Office: Room 301 220 West 42nd Street New York, N. Y.

For Better Projection Use

National Projector Carbons

Buy them from your supply house

NATIONAL CARBON COMPANY, INC.
Carbon Sales Division, Cleveland, Ohio
Unit of Union Carbide UCC and Carbon Corporation
Branch Sales Offices:
New York · Pittsburgh · Chicago · San Francisco

For large and small theatres—for long and short throws you can rely on National Projector Carbons to give you the brilliant screen illumination that reflects in box office returns.

Save Money On Your Jaws

Carbon arc jaws with replaceable

NICKEL INSERTS

Hi-Lo type, Hall & Connolly....$5.00
(HC Hi-Lo inserts $1.00 per set)
High-Intensity (1640) HC..... 5.50
(HC 1640 inserts $1.75 per set)
Strong type 3.00
(Strong Hi-Lo inserts 50c per set)
Peerless (non-breakable) 5.00

ORDER THROUGH YOUR DEALER OR DIRECT

Nickel inserts for any lamp.

PROJECTION ACCESSORIES CO.
434 Broome Street New York City

Super Cinephor!

the true anastigmatic projection lens which improves the image quality and gives increased angular covering power.

BAUSCH & LOMB OPTICAL COMPANY
679 St. Paul St., Rochester, N. Y.

possible for a girl to get into projection. Because of the number of these letters I am obliged to answer this particular question about every so often.

I told the young woman there was no reason in the world why a girl could not do just as good work in projection as a man, but that it would be hard to convince managers of that fact. I also told her there were right now several women, young and not-so-young, working in projection, at least one of whom belonged, or at least did belong, to a projectionists' union.

Persons desiring to become projectionists should of course first complete their school course. They then should visit one of the officers of the projectionists' local union, if any, and ascertain whether or not there is any chance to get in as projectionist apprentice. If not, then it is my advice that they get some other job in a theatre, possibly as usher. Study, use every possible opportunity to make friends with the projectionist, and to learn every possible thing about projection.

There is no royal road to projection. If you propose to be a real projectionist and finally "get somewhere" in the profession, it means hard work and plenty of it. If you are too lazy to make a real, long-extended effort, you have my hearty permission to keep, stay and remain away from projection.

Don't bother taking any course in a "projection school." I know of none whose graduates are appreciably improved in real projection knowledge over what they possessed upon entering the school. Usually, though, they are considerably lighter in pocketbook.

As is the case just now with every field I know anything about, that of projection is over-crowded. There is, however, always room for men possessed of adequate knowledge and energy. Remember this: Energy without adequate knowledge is always sadly hampered. Knowledge without sufficient energy to apply it is just about entirely useless. Knowledge plus plenty of energy is the combination that carries men to the top. The man the boss has to watch continually never gets anywhere. You always find that chap blaming "his luck" instead of himself.

AS TO UNION POLITICIANS

THE FOLLOWING letter comes from Canada, from one whose name I choose to keep confidential, for obvious reasons:

"You doubtless have more than your hands full to keep track of even a small percentage of your corresponding projectionist friends, especially those like myself who get around to dropping you a line about once a year. This, however, will probably do to refreshen your memory—I was the chap who wrote you about the end of April, 1933, suggesting that I thought there would be a market for two new books if you handled the idea—the first, a book of new and original ideas, all projectionists being requested to send in at least one of these; the second, a "Projectionists' Picture-Book," illustrating and giving the prices of the equipment sold by all manufacturers of projection equipment.

Regarding your editorial, "The Injury That is Done by Politics," which appeared in the November 18th issue of BETTER THEATRES, good work, Brother Richardson. Here's hoping that the time will come when the best jobs will go to the best projectionists, and not to the best politicians.

Going 'way back to the BETTER THEATRES' issue of September 23rd, "Seeking a Better Union Membership System," I note by the issue of December 16th that you have received both "bouquets and brickbats." Well, Brother Richardson, I think that your idea is the most constructive and sensible idea ever put forward by any one man along this line. Although I am a member of I. A., I do not think our present system of membership is at all fair to all applicants. Therefore, let me say, more power to you, and I hope that you go far in putting your idea across. Those who were nothing but abusive in their criticism of the article on union membership certainly did not show themselves off to good advantage. Their minds must be so warped that it is utterly beyond their conception to be able to give a young man a square deal—that is, unless he happens to be some relative of theirs.

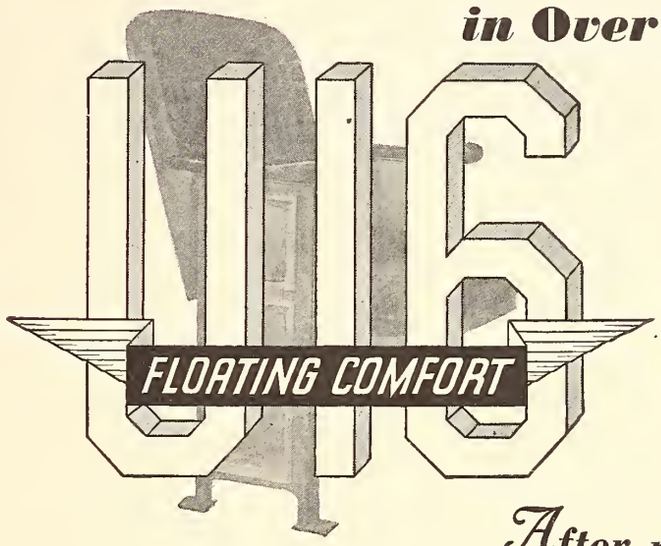
It takes a brave man, Brother Richardson, to take the bull by the horns and state bare facts the way you have been doing. If anything should ever happen to you, I wonder where the projectionists will ever get another man who will come forward and champion our cause the way that you have done?"

I did and do not expect to get far with the ideas set forth in the article in question. I set forth the idea and leave those interested, if any, to make the fight. Anyhow, now would hardly be the right time to push such a matter. We will have to wait to see where we all are at when the NRA dust finally settles down.

Yes, it does take a bit of nerve to take up such matters, for the reason that the union politician naturally wields very real power. However, feeling I am basically right, I have not the least bit of fear.

CHANGED COILS TO REDUCE HEAT

WILLIAM F. HASS, Projectionist of Pottsville, Pa., offers the following suggestion, which we pass along for your consideration. He says:



"I have made an improvement which I would like to present for your opinion and possible approval. If you think it worth while, please pass it along to the readers of your columns in BETTER THEATRES. I am a member of mixed local No. 218, employed at the Majestic, Tamaqua, a small city northeast of Pottstown a few miles.

"We use Peerless lamps at LA. C. 20 amperes SRA. Have always been annoyed at the frequent adjustment required of the arc control. At last I decided to do something about it. At starting, when

Truly the First Advance

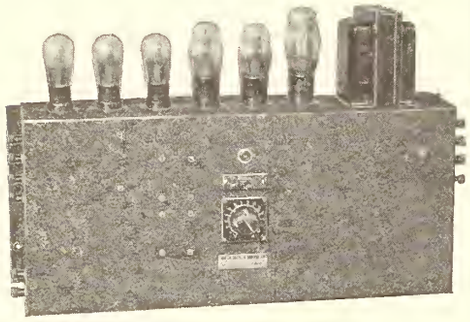
IN THEATRE SEAT DESIGN AND CONSTRUCTION

in Over 40 Years

The luxurious ease of Streamline Automobile comfort transformed into a perfectly practical theatre seat.

After most critical comparison, U16 seats have been specified and ordered by these of America's largest operators:

★ PARAMOUNT PUBLIX ★ R.K.O. ★ BALABAN & KATZ ★
★ M. E. COMERFORD ★ BRANDT ENTERPRISES ★ TONY SUDEKUM



U16 FEATURES of outstanding importance to these expert judges.

1. MAXIMUM COMFORT — Built on the identical "POSTURE ANGLE" of the automobile seat, recognized as most comfortable. 2. MINIMUM MAINTENANCE —Standard unit construction makes all parts changeable without removing chair, eliminating costly mechanical help. 3. COMPLETE FLEXIBILITY—All auto-body steel, interlocking parts without bolts, nuts, or screws, enabling speedy set-up and simple interchangeability. 4. MODERN BEAUTY—Metal process-finished gives exquisite color effects—absence of protruding parts, bolts and springs emphasizes streamline elegance. 5. PATRON PROTECTION—Rounded smooth corners on back moulding and seat edges, complete casing of center standard eliminates danger of tearing clothes. 6. SPRING CUSHION CONSTRUCTION—Auto-type springs, tied with resilient rods give cushions extreme depth and softness. 7. VERMIN CONTROL — Open-bottom construction of cushion, easy to remove from seat pan, allows complete access to inner springs and upholstery. 8. PATENTED BACK CONSTRUCTION — Patented wire-on back ties upholstery into rounded corners, affording undisturbed relaxation. 9. ELIMINATION OF HINGES—Auto-type shackle-bolt construction eliminating obsolete hinge-binding, placing stress in center of standard.

Illustrated Literature Sent on Request

INTERNATIONAL SEAT CORPORATION
PARAMOUNT BUILDING, NEW YORK, N. Y.
J. George Feinberg, Vice-President, in Charge of Sales

GATES

A REAL
Wide Range Amplifier
Not Merely a Slogan

Your theatre can have just as good an amplifier as they use in half the broadcasting stations and a large number of sound picture studios in this country. Nothing but the highest quality will do for such instruments. Only the same quality will do for you.

A Gates Amplifier can have only good effect on your performances, for it is designed by the same world-leading engineers who planned and built instruments used in Hollywood.

The Gates Amplifier that brings money into your theatre has the same frequency range as its brother in the studio that made the film you show. That means exact reproduction—every word spoken in your house as it was uttered on the sound stage.

No wonder audiences thrill to the actor's voice when they hear it through a Gates Wide Range Amplifier. It is as clear and full of emotion as if the player spoke in person. Give yourself the big advantage of having a Gates Wide Range Amplifier. Write now for our latest bulletin.

GATES
RADIO & SUPPLY CO.
MANUFACTURING ENGINEERS
QUINCY, ILLINOIS

Scientific Service

GRAF PROJECTION LENSES
GRAF OPTICAL SYSTEMS
LUMOTRON PHOTO CELLS
ARC REFLECTING MIRRORS
EXCITER LAMPS
RECONDITIONING SERVICE

PROJECTION LENSES:
Reduce Focal Lengths, Repolish, Recement

OPTICAL SYSTEMS:
Refocus, and remove oil.

ARC REFLECTING MIRRORS:
Regrind, Repolish, and Resilver

All carry our usual guarantee

Write direct for prices

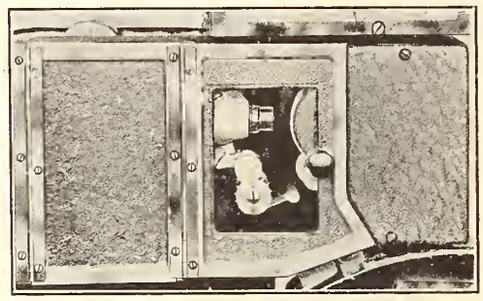
GENERAL SCIENTIFIC CORP.
4829 So. Kedzie Ave. Chicago, Ill.

everything was cold, the adjusting knob would have to be turned out several turns. When the lamp warmed up it then had to be turned in until at the end of the run it would be where it was when we first started.

"After some experimenting I decided the temperature of the lamp itself was not responsible, but instead the fault was chargeable to the changing temperature of the coils. They are composed of a great number of turns of very fine wire. As this wire warmed, its resistance changed (increased), thus permitting less current to flow at a given voltage, resulting, of course, in decreased magnetic pull.

"So I said to myself, says I, 'Why not put the coils in series with the arc, instead of in shunt therewith?' The current then must always be the same as that of the lamp, regardless of temperature. To test this idea I removed the coils from one control, replacing them with others I made myself, consisting of 27 turns of No. 12 ename'ed wire on each core. Both windings were then connected in shunt to each other, but in series with the lamp. The armature and contacts were then reversed, so that when the armature would be attracted, the contacts would be seperated.

"The result was wonderful. Once the proper adjustment is secured, it is thereafter not necessary to touch it at all.



"Do you know of any lamp on the market that uses the idea? If not, then perhaps some of them would be sufficiently interested to adopt it. None of the lamps described in the Bluebook do, but I notice the newer Brenkert a.c. lamp lays claim, in advertising, that once adjusted it requires no further attention. Perhaps you can tell me how it works. I now have both controls rebuilt as above, and believe you me, it works perfectly. It is a great satisfaction to know that when you strike the arc the current regulation will be correct, regardless of whether the lamp parts be hot or cold, without having to fool around with the adjusting knob. Should any of the boys desire further details, they have but to write me. I will be glad to help them out, as the coils must be designed for the proper amount of current."

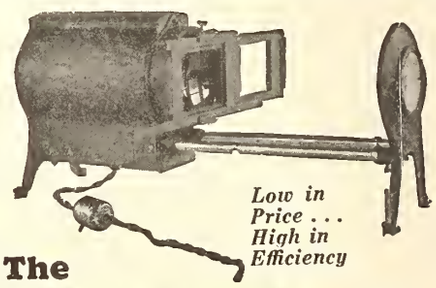
After considering the foregoing, I concluded to consult an authority in whom I have a great deal of faith in such matters. The answer reads:

"Mr. Hass is correct, both in theory and practice, with regard to the relays on his low intensity lamps. However, there is one drawback, namely, the series type relay cannot be used with a series type generator, since for it to function there must be a change in current value, and that is not presumed to occur where a series type generator is used. Moreover, the series type relay cannot be used in connection with a rectifier, since current fluctuations would cause the relay to vibrate rapidly with resultant objectionable noise.

"This projectionist should, however, be commended for his accurate reasoning. May the good Lord provide us with more men willing and able to really study the apparatus they are handling with constructive intelligence."

LET'S ALL MAKE MONEY!

Syncrofilm
SOUND EQUIPMENT



Can Do It for Us

A reputation for moneymaking has been well earned by Syncrofilm Sound Equipment. Sound heads are bought to make money. If they don't make money they fail to satisfy. Every Syncrofilm has been sold on a satisfaction or money back guaranty. Not one has been returned. They must have satisfied: they must have made money.

We are the oldest independent firm in the business. We couldn't have stayed in such a competitive business so long if Syncrofilm hadn't been right in every detail. And the biggest detail is earning power.

You make money when your sound heads deliver voices and music so clear and faithful that patrons come back often. Syncrofilm can do that for you. And when you make money we make money. Let's all make money! Write right now for the details. What projectors are you using?

WEBER MACHINE CORP.
59 Rutter St., Rochester, N. Y.
Export Office: 15 Laight Street, New York City
Cable Address: Romos, New York
Representatives in all principal cities

Low in Price . . . High in Efficiency

The Besteropticon

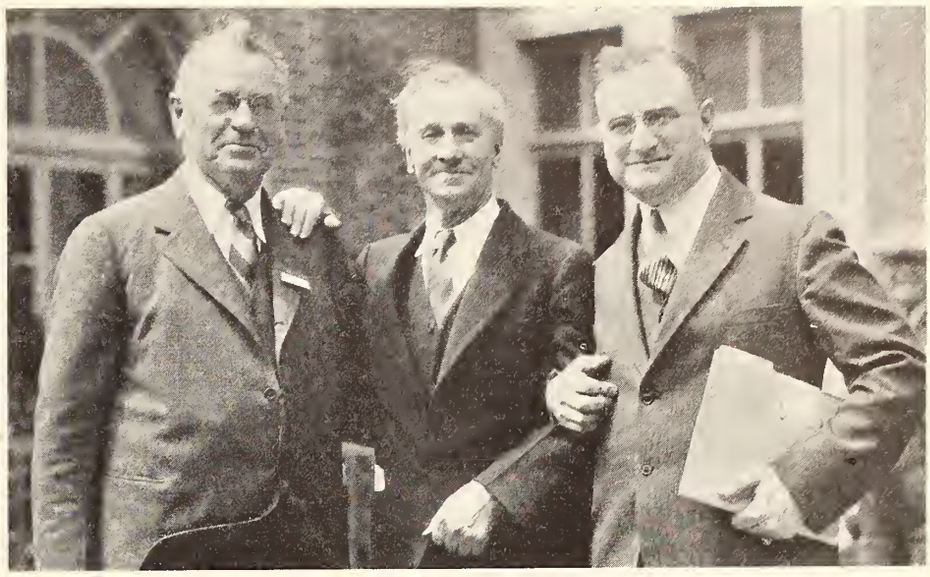
Range 75 feet or less. Cooling for 500-watt lamp. 9" to 30" focus. Price complete (less lamp) only, at your dealer $23

BEST DEVICES COMPANY
200 FILM BLDG. CLEVELAND

Personally, I am not so sure about this matter. I have therefore written the McAuley Manufacturing Company, makers of Peerless equipment, who have replied in part as follows:

"In our opinion, to generally recommend this change to projectionists using our Peerless lamps, would not be a wise thing to do. Further, we believe, that there would be a considerable question as to the actual advantages that would be derived by so doing.



"We have made this type of control for over a decade and we believe that the enviable reputation Peerless lamps have earned over this period speaks for itself and indicates conclusively that we were right in design and principle when we started.

"In so far as this concerns the question of the variation in electrical characteristics due to temperature changes, our early experiments indicated that the substitution of the type of magnet referred to for those which we use did no contribute to more satisfactory operation.

"We are of the opinion that the major cause of the difficulty Mr. Hass has had can be attributed to the possible incorrect spacing of the relay contact points and probable change in the distance of the relay armature from the magnet cores, plus the inherent voltage variation across the arc due to the gradual consumption of the carbons.

"We would advise, therefore, the use of National SRA or SO Bito carbons, which will reduce the above referred-to voltage variations to a minimum."

With which I turn the whole matter over to you for careful consideration, with thanks to Projectionist Hass for having brought it to our attention.

William Reed of Atlantic City (center), who was honored with the title of "dean of projectionists" at the spring convention of the S. M. P. E., where this picture was taken, showing him with F. H. Richardson and Dr. A. N. Goldsmith, society head.

THREE QUESTIONS CONCERNING MOTORS

CHARLES A. GARLON, of Adair, Ky., asks, "Is it possible to start a motor in either direction at will? Can small motor be connected to the line and started without limiting resistance? By what methods may a squirrel cage motor be started?"

Yes, there is such a thing as a "reversing starter." It is so made that a motor may be started in either direction at will. It really comes under the head of controllers.

LOWER OPERATING COSTS . . . FINER REPRODUCTION!

● You will enjoy materially reduced hourly operating cost with SYLVANIA Sound tubes. Scores of theatres now using them can attest to this fact. Types 242-A and 205-D employ the exclusive SYLVANIA Graphite Anode construction with its many inherent advantages. Type 264-B is a non-microphonic tube for use in head amplifiers. Rigid construction and special filament mounting eliminate the noise sources common to tubes of this type now on the market.

Sylvania Type 205D

Hygrade Sylvania Corporation also manufactures three types of phototubes for use in theatre sound equipment. These are the types 803-A, 868 and 814-A. Engineering information is available on request.

Consult your supply house or we will be glad to furnish complete technical information directly from our Clifton office.

HYGRADE SYLVANIA CORPORATION

ELECTRONICS DEPARTMENT

CLIFTON, NEW JERSEY

FACTORIES: SALEM, MASS. EMPORIUM, PA. ST. MARYS, PA. CLIFTON, N. J.

INVEST
In This
Moderate-priced
PROTECTION!

Write Dept. BT-6 For Details

Dayton Safety Ladders protect against accidents. Stand without wabbling or tipping, permit workmen to use both hands safely. Straight back allows close work in corners, against walls. Sizes 3 to 16 feet.

The DAYTON SAFETY LADDER CO.
121-123 W. Third Street, Cincinnati, Ohio

DAYTON Safety Ladder

PATENTED
Stock carried on Pacific Coast by E. D. Bullard Co., Los Angeles and San Francisco, and by 160 other distributors from coast to coast. Made and distributed in Canada by Percy Hermant, Ltd., Toronto.

SUPER-LITE LENSES
and
PRO-JEX SOUND UNITS are giving universal satisfaction
A TRYOUT WILL CONVINCE YOU
Projection Optics Co., Inc.
330 Lyell Ave., Rochester, N. Y., U. S. A.

SOUND EQUIPMENT
Rebuilt and New

Projectors, Screens, Booths, Opera Chairs, Spotlights, Stereopticons, Film Cabinets, Portable Projectors, Arc Lamps, M. P. Cameras, Carbons, Mazda Lamps, Tickets and Machines. . . .

Projection machines repaired and overhauled. Repair parts for all makes of opera chairs. Equipment bought at highest prices.

S. O. S. CORP.
1600 Broadway, New York City

Yes, small motors may be connected directly to the line. As to limit of power that may thus be connected and started without limiting resistance, you should consult the local power company. Five horsepower is about the largest motor any company will permit to be thus connected.

A squirrel cage motor, subject to power company limitations as to size, but never larger than five horsepower, may be started merely by closing the switch. No limiting resistance is required. It may be started by means of a resistance to reduce the voltage at the terminals of the primary winding. A resistance may be used in each of the phases, but ordinarily only two are employed, one to each of two of the phases. They may be started by using an autotransformer to reduce voltage applied to terminals of primary windings, or they may be started by changing the connections of the three-phase primary windings from delta to star, which operates to lower the voltage applied to each winding.

Note: The last method is applicable only when both terminals of each phase winding are brought out, and when a relatively low starting torque will serve.

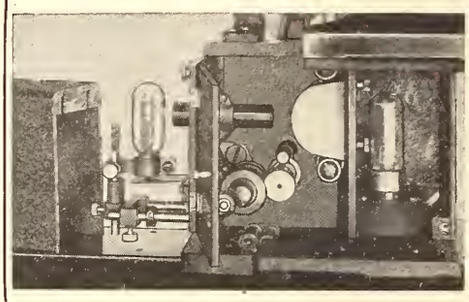
In asking such question it always is best to indicate what type of motor the questioner has in mind, as in your last query.

KNOWLEDGE MEANS UNDERSTANDING

FROM J. H. Jones, projectionist of the Carolina in Anderson, S. C., comes a letter, part of which follows:

"I want first to thank you for the help I have gained from your articles in BETTER THEATRES. I look forward to each copy to see what will be up for discussion. I am young in projection, having only been in my present position seven years. Am still well satisfied and not only willing but anxious to learn.

"The owner of the Carolina, the theatre I work in, is far ahead of the average theatre manager. He understands projection thoroughly. That, I think, is why we get along so well. I have never yet been refused anything needed in the projection room. He is always more than willing to have me get whatever may be required.



"Apparently there are so many exhibitors and managers who are unable to understand why a projection room cannot just run along for years without any outlay, except perhaps for carbons. They do somehow manage to get the idea that a carbon just won't last always.

"I could not work under such a man, unless I could see some chance to bring him to an understanding of the fact that in a theatre, not only does equipment wear out, but also it must be kept up with the trend in modern improvements.

"Well, Brother Richardson, in closing may I ask that you send me a book of the report blanks spoken of in BETTER THEATRES recently? Best regards and more power to you."

The demand for the blanks has not been sufficient as yet to justify their printing. However, this still may be done. If it is, you may rest assured you will get some.

MELLAPHONE
WIDE RANGE

BY using Mellaphone's Weekly payment plan, you can have the best Sound Equipment in your theatre NOW. Over 3,000 users in 23 countries.

Choice of the
UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

MELLAPHONE CORPORATION
ROCHESTER, NEW YORK

SOUND PROJECTING PICTURES
By AARON NADELL
For beginners and experienced projectionists
Chapters on Film Reproducing
Sound-on-disc
Sound-on-film
Amplifiers and Rectifiers
Vacuum Tubes
Acoustics
Loud Speakers
Motors and Generators
Tracing Trouble
Recording
Price.....$2.60
QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP
1790 Broadway New York

For Managers concerned about their projection

GARVER KURRENT CHANGER
Elliminates change-over troubles. Saves 20-30%, changing A.C. to D.C. Delivers 15-30 amps constant, pure white light quietly, dependably, without sound interference. Recommended by leading lamp manufacturers. $125 complete.

The NATIONAL REGULATOR
for brilliant mazda projection. Small, sturdy, simple, dependable, quiet. Ideal for highly concentrated spot or flood lighting. 110 or 220 volts. $60.

Garver Electric Company
Union City, Indiana

The exhibitor in question has adopted a sane, sensible course, and has been met half-way by Brother Jones, all of which is as it should be.

As has been set forth in this department hundreds of times through the years, projection equipment must, in many of its parts, function with enormous accuracy. Even so little as one ten-thousandth of an inch of inaccuracy in some of its parts may be visible on the screen. That should by now be known, and is known to all theatre managers worthy of the name. It therefore is plain that frequent repairs will be required and must be made if the screen image is to be right.

Moreover, Brother Jones is perfectly correct when he says that projection equipment must keep up with improvements. If it is not, slowly but surely the theatre will drop back and the box office income dwindle. My compliments to both Jones and his up-to-date employer.

NATURE OF THE EIDOLOSCOPE

JOHN L. BARRINGTON of Bellows Falls, Vt., asks, "Can you tell me just when a projector called the 'Eidoloscope' was made and what kind of a projector it was? What kind of intermittent movement did it have?"

The Eidoloscope was one of the several projectors unsuccessfully offered to the market in late 1895 and 1896, under a number of corporate names, by Otway and Grey Latham, sons of Major Woodville Latham, whose name is made familiar to motion picture history through the "Latham Loop," a great issue in early patent litigation.

The Eidoloscope was the successor to the Pantiopikon, demonstrated in late 1895 by Major Latham in New York. The Pantioptikon was a shutterless machine with a star wheel intermittent. It copied in essense projection experiments made earlier in the Edison Laboratories in West Orange, and the copying was done by Edison ex-employes employed by the Lathams. The Eidoloscope probably carried a similar movement, although the records tend to indicate experiment with beater movements, too.

The machine was never a commercial success. Enoch J. Rector, a friend of the Lathams and an employe of the original enterprise to build a projector, brought out a machine in 1897 called the Veriscope, which did achieve some limited success. With it he presented the historic pictures of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight in Nevada.

BRITISH GUILD TO CONTINUE

FOR A TIME there seemed some doubt as to whether the Guild of British Projectionists and Technicians would continue its excellent work, or would become largely inactive and possibly disintegrate, as seems largely to be the habit of projectionist organizations that are purely educational. I am glad to report that the Guild, through its official journal, very emphatically expresses determination to continue and to carry forward the excellent work so well begun and so far advanced through years of hard work by its head guild and its numerous branches.

I do believe the Guild might add materially to its usefulness did it take at least some reasonable interest in the working conditions and wages of projectionists. By that I don't mean the Guild ought to enter directly into attempts to raise wages. Of that I am not the judge. However, while education in projection is vitally important, it cannot have its maximum effect unless it be offered to men of sufficient mental ability to assimilate it fully, and men of that type most certainly cannot be had except when the remuneration is at least sufficient to attract them to the profession.

If that be accepted as reasonable and right, it then follows that education automatically ties up with remuneration and working conditions, though not necessarily in the matter of attempting to force things. Not everything, but much may be done by peaceful means. Exhibitors can be shown the effect of good working conditions and reasonable pay upon excellence in projection results, and therefore upon box office receipts.

I trust my British brothers will forgive me for this little talk. I have only spoken thus because I have many friends in England, and in the Guild, I hope, as well.

HOLLYWOOD
AT A CENTURY OF PROGRESS
228 N. LaSalle Street
CHICAGO

WRIGHT-DeCOSTER, INC.
St. Paul, Minn.

Gentlemen: Attention: Mr. D. H. Wright

I feel that you should know of the excellent performance given by three of your Model 109 theatre Reproducers in the sound theatre of the Hollywood concession at "A Century of Progress." This theatre seated 800 people, was acoustically treated and was connected with a glass enclosed stage, through which the audience could view the broadcasting of the following nationally known programs:

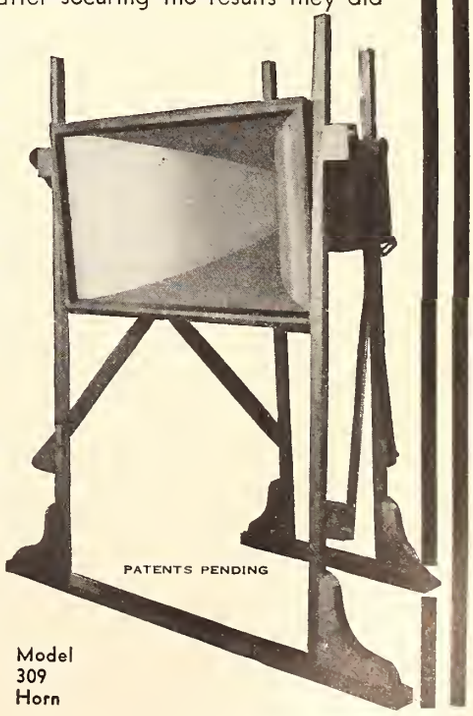
Carnation Milk Household Finance
Realsilk White Owl, with Burns and Allen

Your loud speakers were suspended over the glass enclosed stage, connected with a public address system and the regular C B S pre-amplifiers and microphones to make the broadcast audible to the audience.

The speakers performed excellently and without failure under the widely divergent conditions of temperature and humidity encountered in such an installation. Many compliments were received on the quality of the reproduction and the majority of them implied that the quality was far superior to that experienced by those who listened to the broadcast on radio receiving sets. In not a few instances, listeners insisted after the performance of a broadcast that they were entirely unaware of the presence of a glass curtain separating them from the program artists.

I hope you will feel free to refer to me anyone who wishes information about the excellent quality of Wright-DeCoster speakers.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) J. D. KEENER
Hollywood-at-the-Fair



The BEST was Required . . . Wright-DeCoster was Chosen!

The HOLLYWOOD Concession at "A Century of Progress" was ostensibly representative of the Sound and Motion Picture Industry and had to have the best there was in Sound. They chose Wright-DeCoster Reproducers . . . and the letter quoted here shows the results.

Is it any wonder that Hollywood, after securing the results they did last year, should definitely specify that nothing but the new Wright-DeCoster Model 309 Full Range Reproducers and Horns should be used at their concession this year.

Be sure to visit the Hollywood Concession at "A Century of Progress" this year. If you have never heard a Wright-DeCoster Model 309 Full Range Reproducer, it will be a revelation to you.

YOU can have the best sound at a most reasonable price. Write for full details.

Model 309 Horn

WRIGHT-DeCOSTER, INC., 2225 University Avenue, St. Paul, Minn.
Manufacturers of SOUND Reproducers for Every Purpose
Export Dept.: M. SIMONS AND SON CO., 25 Warren St., New York
Cable Address: SIMONTRICE, New York

PLANNING THE THEATRE

A SERVICE CONDUCTED BY PETER M. HULSKEN, A. I. A.

The Question:

WE HAVE purchased a theatre, including the real estate, and it does not have very much of a stage and we intend in the near future to enlarge the stage with a fly loft, orchestra pit, dressing rooms in the basement under the stage, and an engine room for the light plant. We do not expect to have large stage shows, but to fix it for small musical revues and vaudeville.

The building sets on an L-shaped lot and there is 28 feet from the back end of the theatre to the alley, and the same distance on the left side of the building to widen backstage. The theatre seats 300 and can be increased about 100 more. It is 26 feet, 7 inches wide from wall to wall and is fireproof, being built of cement blocks. I am enclosing a sketch to give you an idea of what we want to do.

We are going to change the front into an Egyptian type theatre, using spear canvas Egyptian canopy. Please tell us where we can get some ideas on Eyptian color scheme and designs. We are going to start this work at once. The interior will be changed later.—S. A.

The Answer:

LOOKING OVER your sketch, I find that the dimensions given in your letter and those indicated on the sketch are not the same, so I will use those noted on the sketch. The size of the proposed stage is all right in proportion to the auditorium, but I cannot figure out what benefit you can derive from building the rigging loft over so much larger area than the stage proper. If there is no special reason for doing so you can save a great deal of the building cost by building the walls supporting the gridiron as follows:

Build rear wall 30 feet from proscenium arch and place the side walls 36 feet apart, as these walls are at least twice as high as the auditorium walls. Outside of these walls to your lot lines there will be ample space left to build all the necessary dressing rooms and connecting corridor. You could plan the floor level of these dressing rooms on the same level with the outside grade or stage floor, whichever you may prefer. By doing this you can save the construction cost of all outside areaways as required by the State code, stairways, etc., and will provide enough space on the left wall for rigging devices, storage and stage props.

You must also provide on each side of the proscenium arch, offsets to take care of surtain slots, tormentors and side tabs, and also provide for an actors' entrance through the wings on the right side of stage. All you would need a basement for is the engine room.

This plan will cost about forty per cent less than the one you suggested, and the efficiency obtained will be equal or better.

Regarding ideas on Egyptian color scheme and designs, I suggest that you consult a local decorator. Decorators generally have color and stencil charts for the use of their customers. Follow the suggestions of your decorator. For an Egyptian scheme a lotus or sphinx motif is mostly used, and as far as colors are concerned, used blue, red, yellow and green.

NOTE:

IN THIS department Better Theatres will be glad to answer questions pertaining to the preliminary consideration involved in the planning of a new theatre or in the remodeling of an existing one. Only requests for ideas will be answered, since this department cannot assume the practical functions of an architect. All communications intended for this department should be addressed to Better Theatres, 1790 Broadway, New York.

The Question:

MY WALLS are covered with sound-proof blocks all around. These blocks measure 15 inches square. The walls look very dull due to the fact that it is just a plain gray color. Can you advise me how I may improve the walls?—J. E.

The Answer:

AS THE WALLS of your theatre are entirely covered with 15-inch square sound proof blocks, you may change the dull appearance by painting the surface with water color without destroying the efficiency of this material. I suggest you use different colors in alternating horizontal courses of these blocks, or by forming panels with vertical and horizontal courses of tile for borders, these to be painted in different tones from the field. Or you can build pilasters of plasterboard with V-cut rooves for fluting at even intervals on top of the wall surface. The width of these pilasters should be governed by the width of the tiles and the height of the ceiling. This will give a sharp contrast.

The Question:

I HAVE BEEN very much interested in BETTER THEATRES. I have noted some of the questions asked and have a problem on which I would like your opinion.

Can you tell me if I could use a room 60½ feet long, 21½ feet wide and 11 feet 4 inches high as a small theatre to seat about 200 people? Will you please give me some advice regarding above seating capacity, aisles, location of booth (as I can have same at either end of room), whether booth should be on a platform as high as possible or on floor, how little space I can have for foyer and get by with it, how far from screens chairs must be to be out of line with picture, how large a picture I can have, etc., etc. My lobby, etc., will be separated entirely from above room. The booth will have to be built in the room, so will take that much space from lentgh of it.—D. S. C.

The Answer:

A ROOM 60 feet, 6 inches long and 21 feet, 6 inches wide, is not large enough to be remodeled into a theatre with a seating capacity of 200. The ceiling height of 11 feet, 4 inches is really too low, but for such a small house it may do.

For the foyer you should not figure less than 6 feet in width, and the projection room should not have less than 10 feet in depth. Generally the distance from projection screen to first row of seats is equal to the width of the screen, so if you plan for a 12 foot screen, that distance should be the same if it is possible to attain it.

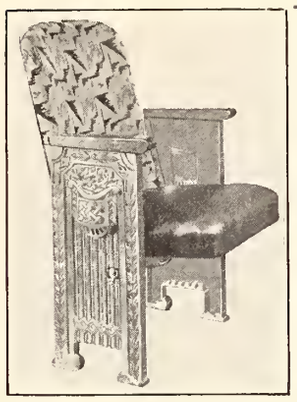
After deducting the above named dimensions, there will be left barely enough space for thirteen rows of seats. The largest amount of seats you can get across the width of the house in a center bank with a wall aisle at each side would be ten 19-inch seats, so the total capacity will be 130, unless you can spare enough space from present lobby to provide room for foyer and projection room. In that case you could gain 6 rows, giving you a total of 190 seats.

The projection room should be located in the center of the wall between foyer and auditorium, with a door on each side leading to the wall aisles. Place the port holes in the projection room wall as close to the ceilin as possible, and be sure that there is a clearance of at least 6 feet at the back of the first row of seats between the lower part of the projection beam and the floor.

EQUIPMENT AFFAIRS

Equipment News and Comment

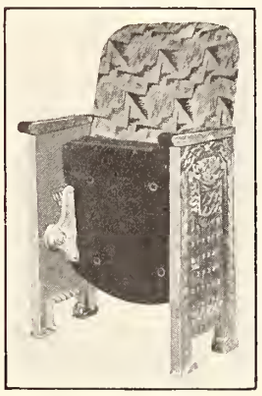
NEW LIGHT PROJECTOR



● A new model "Klieglight" for both studio and theatre use has been brought out by Kliegl Brothers Universal Electric Stage Lighting Company of New York, specifications of which indicate a number of departures from previous engineering of light projectors of this general type. According to Herbert A. Kliegl, development engineer and vice president of the company, the projector was designed to have a number of specific uses in the theatre as well as in the studio, as for example, proscenium lighting, balcony front lighting, flood- and spotlighting the stage and orchestra pit from the ceiling, etc. In general, the projector may be used wherever a sharp cut-off light of high intensity without any spill, is required.

New type "Klieglight."

It was demonstrated at the spring convention of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers in Atlantic City, where a comparative test was made with the present standard Kliegl 8-inch studio spotlight, both using 2,000-watt biplane filament lamps and being subjected to the same conditions, a 20-foot spread and a 5-foot spot, projection light a distance of 55 ft. Measurements of the lighted area were taken with a Weston foot-candle meter. Average readings indicated that the standard Kliegl spotlight projected a flood of 11 foot-candles, and a spot of 24 foot-candles, whereas the new Klieglight projected 32 foot-candles and 70-foot candles under the same condition.



In design, the reflector employs the lock, seat axle which is welded after assembly, a one-piece hinge lock, twin bearing Lowered seat view shows extreme simplicity, beauty and solidity of deeply upholstered chair.

●

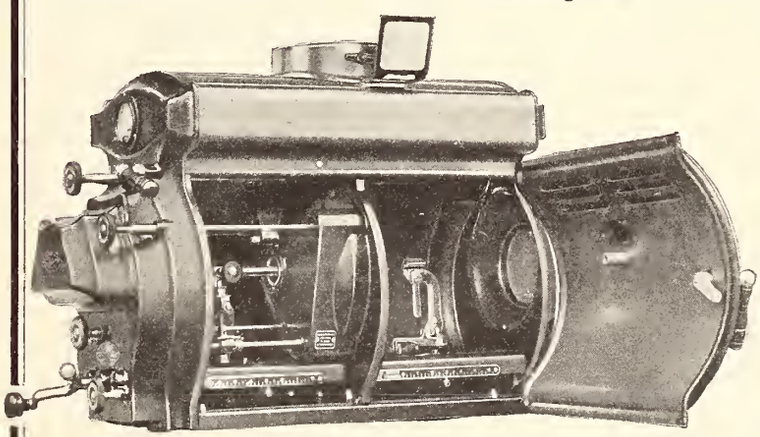
View of raised seat shows streamline construction, absence of protruding springs, bolts, etc., and ample standing space.

The New

Stream-Ease THEATRE SEAT

sets a new standard in sturdiness and real ease

Here is the highest degree of simplicity, ruggedness and comfort ever styled into one chair. Exclusive patented units such as: Twin Bearing Rollers, Concealed Seat-Lock, Welded Axle, One-piece Hinge Lock, Military-Line Back, etc., make a budge-proof, permanent chair with no maintenance cost to add. All coverings, of course.



Literature on Request.
Dealers and Agents Invited.

EASTERN Seating Company

Factory — 37 Grand Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.
Showroom—1600 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

BRENKERT

DELUXE A. C. PROJECTION LAMP

Fully automatic and extremely accurate arc feed. High efficiency optical system. All working parts protected from dirt and heat and quickly accessible for cleaning and oiling. Ruggedly constructed. Beautifully finished. Guaranteed by Brenkert whose high quality projection lamps are used in the world's finest theatres.

Sold and serviced by Brenkert distributors from coast to coast.
Write for literature and name of nearest distributor.

BRENKERT LIGHT PROJECTION CO.

Engineers and Manufacturers

7348 ST. AUBIN AVENUE DETROIT, MICH.

MAINTENANCE TABS

by J. T. Knight, Jr., offers the theatre owner and manager the help of an accredited engineer who has spent years in supervising the operation and maintenance of motion picture theatres.

Your questions are welcome. Send them in. You will be identified by only your personal initials in the reply. Merely write . . .

Better Theatres, 1790 Broadway, New York

"MAGIC-WEATHER"
REG. U. S. PATENT OFFICE
• FANS
• AIR-WASHERS
• COOLING EQUIPMENT
SCOTT BALLANTYNE CO.
TELEPHONE ATLANTIC 3345
219 NORTH 16th ST., OMAHA, NEBR.

PUT NEW LIFE INTO YOUR OLD CHAIRS

We specialize in

RE-UPHOLSTERING
RE-FINISHING
REMODELING AND REJUVENATING
THEATRE CHAIRS

LARGEST DEALERS IN USED CHAIRS AND REPAIR PARTS.

When your days work is done look over your seats and let us know what they need. No order too small or too big for us. Installations and repair service made all over.

FILL COUPON AND MAIL TODAY

ALLIED SEATING COMPANY
358 W. 44th St. New York City
We are interested in the following:
Recovered spring cushions ☐
New slip covers ☐
Servastone for cracked floors ☐
Rebuilt chairs ☐
Upholstery only ☐
Veneer seats only ☐
Complete veneer chairs ☐
Theatre..... Capacity.....
City..... State.....

ellipsoidal principle of light reflection. It is a G.R.C. rhodium metal reflector, formed by an electro-chemical process using certain proportions of gold, rhodium, and copper to product a durable, permanent reflector with an exceptionally high reflection factor and a surface that will not chip, peel or tarnish under any condition of heat or weather. The surface of the reflector has a reflection factor of about 74%.

During the period of development, certain difficulties were experienced in adapting high candle power lamps to the reflector-principally because the large filaments apparently were not sufficiently concentrated to permit precise control of the light rays, but it was found that by facing the broad side of the filament toward the sides of the reflector rather than toward the lens, a pick-up was obtained of approximately 90% of the total output of the filament, and that all the light emitted could be directed by the reflector into the lens system. Approximately 40% more light was obtained with the filament facing the sides of the reflector than by facing the lens.

Also, the original lamps were such that they had to be burned with the base down and necessitated an additional hole in the top of the reflector in order to get the lamp in and out of the socket. After experimenting, the General Electric Company developed the bipost base-up-burning biplane filament lamps for use with Klieglights, and they are now available in T24 bulb, 1,000- and 1,500-watt sizes; and T-30 bulb, 2,000-watt size.

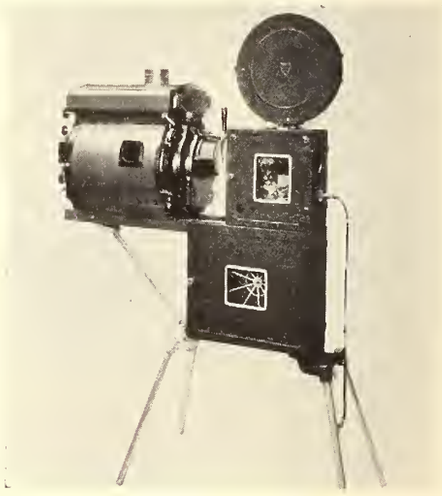
The lamp holder is removable and devised to retain the lamp in a fixed prefocused position at an angle of 45°, rotary adjustments being provided for properly setting the lamp filament in respect to the lens.

The lamps are designed to operate anywhere within a 45° tilt either side of the vertical, and by mounting it offset at a 45° tilt from the vertical in the lamp housing, it permits a full 90° down tilt of the Klieglight unit.

The lamp housing is air cooled by direct-draft system of ventilation, with vent openings top and bottom. This louvre ventilation system prevents light leakage without interference with the air circulation.

The lens system incorporates a double lens arrangement on a movable carrier in the cylindrical front housing, permitting beam adjustment and beam intensity variations. By varying the position of the two lenses in respect to each other both the intensity and the spread of the beam can be varied without use of a dimmer. The operation is independent of the framing shutters, which may be changed or remain set as desired while the lenses are varied. By using lenses of different focal lengths, different degrees of maximum beam-spreads can be obtained. The units are furnished equipped with lenses to suit individual requirements.

Both square and round (iris) adjustable shutters are a part of this unit. They are located between the lamp and the pick-up lens in the focal position directly related to the lens system and its beam control. The iris shutter regulates the circular diameter of the light beam, and a projecting handle controls its operation, opening or closing the shutter from black out to a pin point and to full-sized beam.



The framing shutters are for shaping square, rectangular, and other angular formations of the light beam (any size desired), and consist of two vertical and two horizontal independently adjustable blades with protruding handles.

Slide grooves are provided on front of housing to receive media frames for color lighting effects; or a special spread lens can be placed in the slide grooves to procure a wider horizontal or vertical spread of light, if necessary. These are now available in practically any degree spread desired, and may be had either with a circular spread of retilinear spread in a horizontal or vertical direction.

The lamp is adjustably mounted on swivel bearings, in a yoke, and swings in any direction. It sets on a telescopic pedestal stand fitted with ball-bearing rubber-tired casters.

NEW PROJECTOR

● Announcement is made by Herman A. DeVry, Inc., of Chicago, manufacturers of projection, sound and other motion picture equipment, of a new professional theatre projector. Details have been withheld for the present, but it is learned that the projector offers a number of innovations, including (as may be gleaned from the accompanying illustration) lightness, simplicity and a radical reduction in the number of parts.

New DeVry professional projector.

It is also learned that drive is entirely by silent chain, and that the mechanism incorporates a new type of framing device. Detailed specifications have been promised for the June 30th issue.

THEATRE CHAIR

● A new theatre chair, marketed under the trade name of "Stream Ease," has been brought out by the Eastern Seating Company of New York, headed by Nick Diack. Among features of the chair, which is of unit construction, are a concealed seat rollers and provision for line-up of backs eliminating a portion of the usual space between seats. The rear of backs and bottoms of seats are of pressed steel. A variety of fabrics and designs are available for covering.

Eastern Seating Company chair installation in the Traymore theatre in Brooklyn, N. Y.

REPAIR SERVICE

● A system of servicing, repairing and reconditioning of its installed equipment, is offered by Vallen, Inc., of Akron, manufacturers of curtain control apparatus, curtain tracks and other stage equipment. This service, it is announced, has been inaugurated with particular reference to seasonal reconditioning during the summer months. It provides for the substitution of small new parts and cables for Vallen tracks at cost, or in some cases, free of charge.

EMERGENCY LIGHTING

● A handsome new 10-page booklet on its system of emergency lighting and power, has been issued by the Electric Storage Battery Company (Exide) of Philadelphia. The various applications of emergency systems are described (rather dramatically, be it added) and the type of equipment available from this company, and how it operates, is comprehensively discussed and illustrated.

BY WAY OF NEWS

● New York's latest European-type restaurant, Billy Rose's Music Hall at 53rd Street and Broadway, will add motion pictures to the several forms of entertainment offered by this type of establishment, which was ushered into the Broadway scene with Repeal. The equipment for it has already been installed by the Empire State Theatre Supply Corporation of New York.

Suit has been brought by the General Register Corporation of New York, against Reuben H. Helsel, Charles J. Wolfe and Fred J. Faust, declared to be members of the Silent American Ticket Machine Company, charging patent infringement.

Arrangements for distribution of its line of tubes by the National Theatre Supply Company, has been made by the Hygrade Sylvania Corporation of Clifton, N. J. The line includes all sound tubes.

Are you acquainted with this new

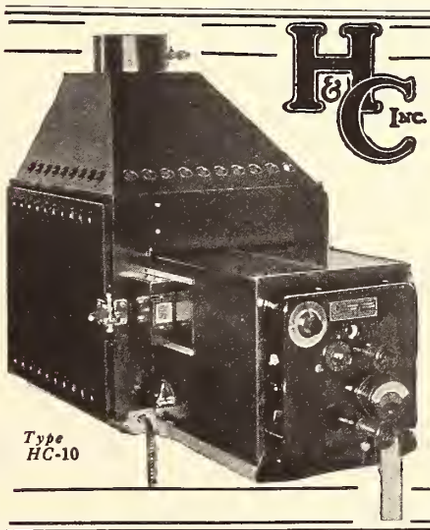
KLIEGLIGHT

IT'S entirely different from anything you have ever seen—radically new in principle and design. 300% more efficient in light output than formerly accepted standard units. Gives very brilliant, absolutely uniform field illumination—with remarkable color values—light intensity can be varied without using a dimmer. Shape of light beam may be instantly adjusted to any desired pattern—round, square, rectangular, etc. Working range, any distance up to 250 feet. Truly an amazing development, with a range, variety, and simplicity of spot-and-flood lighting controls that have never been heretofore provided. You will be surprised at its exceptional performance. Ask us to send you full details.

NEW CATALOG

Many other new theatrical lighting devices are included in our new Catalog B—copy forwarded on request.



KLIEGL BROS

UNIVERSAL ELECTRIC STAGE LIGHTING CO., INC.

321 West 50th Street New York, N. Y.

The Symbol of Perfection in Projection

H & C INC.

Type HC-10

Always Improving

THE identification of "H & C" with Perfection in Projection Lighting is the result of many years of research and the active technical skill in the manufacture of "H & C" products.

HALL & CONNOLLY, INC.

24 VAN DAM STREET NEW YORK, N. Y.

Write for Illustrated Booklet

Kooler-Aire Keeps You COOL-whatever the heat is!

Act NOW for greater receipts in hot weather—a big, successful summer! Put in KOOLER-AIRE, Nature's Refrigeration, a custom built installation, designed and planned to fit YOUR theatre, by engineers who have equipped over 4000 theatres.

This silent system gives you 100% fresh, cooled air in all parts of the house. Low initial cost—low operating costs—wonderful results. We also manufacture Arctic-Nu-Air systems and blowers, air washers, etc. Write us today or mail coupon.

U. S. Air Conditioning Corporation
2109 Kennedy St. N. E. Minneapolis, Minn.

U. S. AIR CONDITIONING CORP.
2109 Kennedy St. N. E., Minneapolis, Minn.
Send me at once by mail and without obligation, complete facts about the Kooler-Aire System.

Name .....

Address .....

City ..... State .....

"Are they jeering or cheering?"

. . . asks Balcony Bolivar

HE comes to be entertained, not to wonder what it's all about. If your SOUND is good, he'll take a lot of punishment and still come back . . . and it's the number of times he comes back that makes your theatre pay or lose.

The C. T. R. Full-Range Sound System is the answer to your sound problem. It gets everything, from the chirp to the boom. True and clear in every range. Economical to maintain. Surprisingly moderate in first cost. Send us a postcard, giving your seating capacity, make of projectors, dimensions of house, and we'll bring you complete information, promptly.

CTR FULL RANGE SOUND SYSTEM

SOUND DIVISION

The Cincinnati Time Recorder Co.

(Est. 1896)

1733 Central Avenue Cincinnati, O.

Motion Picture Patents My Specialty

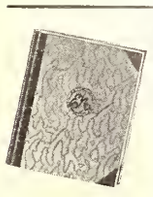
PATENTS

William N. Moore

Patent Attorney

Loan and Trust Building
Washington, D. C.

The first important step is to learn whether you can obtain a patent. Please send sketch of your invention with $10, and I will examine the pertinent U. S. patents and inform you whether you are entitled to a patent, the cost and manner of procedure. Personal attention. Established 35 years.



Copyright your play
Trade-Mark your goods or titles

Modern ADLER CAST ALUMINUM CHANGEABLE LETTERS

Write for Sample and Prices

BEN ADLER SIGNS, Inc.

190-B N. State St., Chicago Rand. 4747

Keep Your Own Books

Invented by a showman for showmen. Consisting of Ledger & Film Invoice Record, each for two years. Shows your yearly profit or loss for each exchange separately. Tells your year's, month's, week's, day's business at a glance. Half an hour a day keeps you straight. Money back if not as represented. Send $10 for full set.

EASY METHOD LEDGER SYSTEM
SEYMOUR, INDIANA

Building the Theatre Organization

(Continued from page 11)

to him: "Are you still satisfied that you want to work in this theatre with this organization, and do you feel that under the conditions I have outlined, you can give loyal, conscientious effort to this theatre, this organization and to me? If not, now is the time to say so; those who think the conditions unsatisfactory will be acting most fairly to themselves and to me by leaving now. There is no one who is dissatisfied? I assume then that we are in agreement."

INSPECTION TOUR

In order that the employes may quickly feel at ease and become accustomed to the theatre, they should be taken on a detailed inspection of the theatre itself. During this tour they should have pointed out to them all physical features and distinguishing names: stairways, designated as north or south, front or back; main floor, the number of seats, aisles, etc.; loge floor or balcony, with the number of seats, difficult steppings, etc.; drinking fountains, toilets, smoking rooms, exits, location of fire extinguisher equipment, public telephones, first-aid cabinet; how to get back stage or up to the projection room or to the boiler, fan or engine room; the proper use of house telephone system or any other buzzer, enunciator or communication system; and, during this trip, introduce them to all older employes that are met with.

FIRST FEW DAYS

After this, equip the new employes with uniforms, flashlights or work clothes and give them a few preliminary instructions for their particular jobs, then let them go to work. Let them have about a day or two before the next period of detailed training. During this first day or two give them a chance, with as little interruption as possible, to get the "feel" of the situation, their job and the atmosphere of the theatre. Throughout this time they will learn much and be guided often by the conduct of the older employes.

NEXT TWO WEEKS

After this early period, and when the newness has worn off to some degree, the new employes must receive thorough and detailed information on exactly how you expect their jobs to be performed. This information is best given them at regular intervals and periods throughout the next two weeks. The first two weeks and a half become the total period of intensive training. From here on the entire staff is checked, inspired and keyed up through personal contact with the manager at their individual posts of duty and at weekly meetings. The "follow-through" after the intensive training period is all-important.

In future articles, the details of the intensive training for some specific groups will be covered, also some suggestions for conducting employe meetings. In the meantime, give the plan thus far outlined a very thorough trial. It can and will produce highly satisfactory results. It has for me and it will for you.

A Design for an Exclusive Community

(Continued from page 8)

ings, but after all, if that argument were to be considered every time a new structure were erected, there would be no progress. And in any case, this particular building was intended to suggest a motion picture theatre and not a pseudo-18th Century town mansion. The chances are that the Curzon, with its independent modern note, may set the standard for the street in which it stands, rather than the reverse.

An incidental feature of the exterior is that, in keeping with its exclusive nature, there is no allowance for film advertising. The name of the theatre is run out in neon tubing down a vertical projecting surface, while movable transparent letter units over the entrance tell the name of the main picture. That is all.

The drastic severity which characterizes the exterior is fully maintained inside the building. In the vestibule running across the back of the hall the only decoration is in the form of large areas of plate glass mirror and neutral-tinted drapings. Odd touches of chromium steel express the modern atmosphere, the auditorium entrances being further picked up with notices in letters built up in illuminated glass.

At one end of the vestibule a stairway leads down to lounges and telephone booths.

Indicating the exclusive nature of the house, it is noted that the stalls entrances are labeled "Pullman," while further entrances lead into two small reserved enclosures at the rear of the auditorium, holding about thirty seats each, the label in this case being "Club."

The auditorium itself, as seen in the photographs, is a masterpiece in simplicity, with its plain stone-colored cement walls left completely free of ornament. Apart from the essential curtains, the only form of decoration is in the diversity of color-lighting units concealed in the ridges running across the arched ceiling.

Two vivid scarlet doors flanking the proscenium yield other relief, while at the rear, horizontal lighting elements, showing patrons the way into the house, add their quota to the effect. Again, occasional touches of chromium steel on handrails and over the doors add a further effective touch. In this way it will be noted that, as already emphasized, the whole ornamental effect is obtained in the planning of essential features.—Bernard Charman.

Patrons' Rights and Other Late Law

(Continued from page 14)

tion and refused to cancel the order or return the theatre owner's deposit. The theatre owner filed suit to recover the deposit.

DECISION

It is important to know that the court held the seller bound to cancel the order and return the deposit. This court explained that a buyer of merchandise may without liability cancel an order given a salesman if the cancellation reaches the manufacturer before the latter acknowledges receipt of it. Also, this court explained that a manufacturer may without liability refuse to accept an order, although the salesman promises the buyer positively that the contract will be fulfilled.

On the other hand, a contract for purchase of merchandise is valid and enforceable provided the agreement is made verbally or in writing by the purchaser and the manufacturer, or any other persons authorized by the parties to make valid contracts. Also, a series of letters or telegrams may constitute a valid contract, if one party finally accepts the identical proposal made by the other.

LOSS OF PROFITS

Frequently, the courts have difficulty in arriving at the amount of damages allowable a theatre owner who sustains financial losses because of a seller's failure to fulfill the terms of a contract of sale. Ordinarily, a theatre owner may sue and recover from a seller damages fully equal to his loss of profits which he sustained because the seller failed to fulfill the terms of the contract.

On the other hand, the theatre owner may purchase the same kind of goods in the open market or at auction and recover in a suit the difference between the price he paid for the goods and the price specified in the contract which the seller breached.

WHEN OWNER NEVER IS LIABLE

A THEATRE OWNER never is liable for loss or damage to a patron's property where it is shown that such loss resulted from an act of God.

An act of God is defined by the courts as the result of an irresistible physical force, such as lighting, storm, rain, earthquake, etc., not caused by the conduct or responsibility of man, and which is not preventable by human foresight, strength or care. Therefore, when damages are sought from a theatre owner by the owner of goods destroyed as a result of an act of God, the individual ordinarily has no chance of recovery.

A court recently stated that whether or not the owner of goods left in the care

(Continued on page 34)

DISTRIBUTED THROUGH INDEPENDENT THEATRE SUPPLY DEALERS ASS'N.

Supreme congratulates members of Independent Theatre Supply Dealers Association on their success in helping solve the Cooling, Ventilating, and Heating problems of the Theatre Owner, and appreciates the strong cooperation rendered by these members to our company.

SUPREME HEATER & VENTILATING CORPORATION

1915 PINE STREET ST. LOUIS, MO.

AMPEREX

Exciter Lamps—Photo Cells and Heavy Duty Tubes

are now used exclusively by all the larger Chain Motion Picture Theatres in the United States—both for Quality of reproduction and Economy, they are unequalled.

Send for our descriptive folder and price list.

An attractive proposition for Supply Dealers and Theatre Chains

AMPEREX ELECTRONIC PRODUCTS INC.
79 Washington St. Brooklyn, N. Y.

FREE BOOK ON TELEVISION with Quart 2-in-1 FILM CEMENT at $1.75
HEWES - GOTHAM CO.
520 W. 47th St. New York City

TRUSTWORTHY SERVICE
HIGH QUALITY
PERSONAL INTEREST

Group co-operation to guarantee leading equipment manufacturers nationwide distribution through member-dealers independently operated.

INDEPENDENT THEATRE SUPPLY DEALERS ASSOCIATION, Inc.

Seamless
Silver Screens

OUR continued recommending and stressing the importance of purchasing seamless silver screens is not a pet form of ballyhoo. These observations are based on actual outstanding results and comparative performance.

The seams in silver screens, regardless of the make, show as black lines in the picture. No wide-awake exhibitor will want that. Of course they cost a fraction less than the seamless screens. They should. They are worth considerably less.

That small saving in first cost is offset many times in lower quality and efficiency.

Investigate Before You Buy

DA-LITE SCREEN COMPANY, INC.
2723 N. Crawford Avenue
Chicago, Illinois

1934 MODEL W SUPERIOR PROJECTOR
MEETING ALL DEMANDS FOR IMPROVED PROJECTION
COXSACKIE MFG. CORP., Coxsackie, N. Y.

IMPROVE YOUR SOUND!
CETRON Photocells
give better performance at lower cost
Write for details
CONTINENTAL ELECTRIC CO.
ST. CHARLES, ILL.

GORDOS

G.-211 and 242

AMPLIFIER TUBES

Featuring the new carbon plate, having rigid six point support insuring maximum efficiency.

Complete line of power tubes, rectifier tubes and photocells.

Inquiries Invited

GORDOS PRODUCTS COMPANY
17 W. 60th St., N. Y. C.

INDEPENDENT QUALITY PRODUCTS NATIONWIDE

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF ADVERTISERS

A

Adler Signs, Inc., Ben 30
Allied Seating Company 28
Amperex Electronic Products, Inc 31

B

Bausch and Lomb Optical Co 20
Best Devices Company 22
Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Co .....Second Cover
Brenkert Light Projection Co 27

C

Cincinnati Time Recorder Co., The 30
Continental Electric Company 31
Coxsackie Mfg. Corp. 31

D

Da-Lite Screen Company 31
Dayton Safety Ladder Co. 24

E

Eastern Seating Company 27
Easy Method Ledger System 30
Enterprise Optical Mfg. Co.....Fourth Cover

G

Garver Electric Company 24
Gates Radio and Supply Co 22
General Scientific Corporation 22
Gordos Products Company 31

H

Hall & Connolly, Inc. 29
Hewes Gotham Company 31
Hygrade Sylvania Corp. 23

I

Internationl Projector Corporation....Third Cover
International Seat Corporation 21

K

Kleigl Brothers, Inc. 29

M

Mellaphone Corporation 24
Moore, William N. 30

N

National Carbon Company, Inc 20

P

Projection Optics Company, Inc 24
Projection Accessories Company 20

S

Scott-Ballantyne Company 28
S O S Corporation 24
Strong Electric Corporation 20
Supreme Heater & Ventilating Corp 31

U

U. S. Air Conditioning Corp 29

W

Weber Machine Corporation 22
Wright-DeCoster, Inc. 25

Among Contributors to This Issue:

¶ Two rather distinctive phases of developments in theatre architecture in Europe are on view in this issue, in The New 3,000-Seat Metropole in Brussels, and in A Design for an Exclusive Community. Material on the London theatre has been contributed by Bernard Charman, writer on architectural and motion picture affairs in England. Dexter Morand, who describes the Belgian house, is a frequent contributor to European publications on theatre architecture.

¶ J. T. Knight, Jr. (Building the Theatre Organization) contributes a feature article to each issue of Better Theatres, and also conducts the service department, Maintenance Tabs. He is an engineer who has been associated with the motion picture theatre for many years, and is in charge of maintenance for Paramount Publix.

¶ The graphic suggestions presented under the title, New Lighting Forms for Today's Theatre Front, form the last of a series worked out in cooperation with research engineers of the General Electric Company.

¶ Leo T. Parker (Patrons' Rights and Other Late Law) is a Cincinnati attorney-at-law and writer on legal subjects. He has been for many years a regular contributor to Better Theatres.

BETTER THEATRES CATALOG BUREAU

"Better Theatres" offers on this page an individual service to its readers. Detailed information and catalogs concerning any product listed herewith will be sent to any theatre owner, manager, architect or projectionist. Just fill in the coupon below and mail to "Better Theatres" Division of Motion Picture Herald. Readers will find that many of the products listed by this Bureau are advertised in this issue.

A
Accounting systems
Acoustical installations
Adapters, mazda
Advertising novelties
Advertising projectors
Air conditioning equipment
Aisle rope
Amplifiers
Arc regulators
Automatic curtain control

B Banners
Batteries
Blocks, pulleys, stage-rigging
Bolts, chair anchor
Booths, projection (portable)
Bulletin boards, changeable

C Cameras
Canopies for fronts
Carbons
Carpets
Carpet cushion
Cement, film
Cement for fastening chairs
Chairs, theatre
Change makers
Changeable letters
Changeovers
Color hoods
Condensers
Cutout machines

D
Dimmers
Disinfectants—perfumed
Doors, fireproof
Draperies
Drinking fountains

E Earphones
Effect machines
Electric measuring instruments
Electric fans
Electric motors
Electric generating plants
Electric signs
Electric signal and control systems
Emergency lighting plants

F
Film cleaning machines
Film processing machines
Film rewinders
Film shipping cases
Film splicing machines
Fireproof curtains
Fireproof doors
Flashers, electric sign
Flood lighting
Footlights
Fountains, decorative
Frames, poster, lobby display

H
Hand driers
Hardware, stage
Heating systems
Horns
Horn lifts and towers

L
Ladders, safety
Lamps, decorative
Lamp dip coloring
Lamps, general lighting
Lamps, incandescent projection
Lamps, high intensity
Lamps, reflecting arc
Lenses
Lighting systems, complete
Linoleum

M Marquees
Mats and runners
Motion picture cable
Motor generators
Music stands

O
Orchestra pit fittings, furnishings
Organs
Organ novelty slides
Organ lifts

P Perfumers
Photo-electric cells
Plastic fixtures and decorations
Pop-corn machines
Portable projectors
Portable sound equipment
Projection lamps
Projectors
Projection room equipment
Public address systems

R
Rails, brass
Rectifiers
Reflectors
Regulators, mazda
Reels
Reel end signals
Reel cases
Resonant orchestra platforms
Rheostats

S
Safes, box office
Safes, film
Schools
Screens
Screen masks and modifiers
Screen resurfacing service
Seat covers
Seat indicators
Seats, theatre
Signs, directional
Signs, marquee
Slides
Shutters, metal fire
Sound equipment, complete
Sound heads
Speakers, dynamic
Speed indicators
Spotlights
Stage lighting equipment
Stage scenery
Stage rigging
Statuary
Stereopticons
Switchboards
Switches, automatic

T
Tapestries
Telephones, inter-communicating
Tickets
Ticket booths
Ticket choppers
Ticket selling machines
Transformers

U Uniforms
Upholstery materials

V
Vacuum cleaning equipment
Ventilating systems
Vending machines

W
Wall coverings

"BETTER THEATRES" DIVISION, Motion Picture Herald,
1790 Broadway, New York

Gentlemen: I should like to receive reliable information on the following items:

(Refer to items by name, as listed above)

1 ..... 7 .....
2 ..... 8 .....
3 ..... 9 .....
4 ..... 10 .....
5 ..... 11 .....
6 ..... 12 .....

Remarks: .....

.....

Name .....Theatre .....City .....

State .....Seating Capacity .....

Patrons' Rights and Other Late Law

(Continued from page 31)

of a paid bailee may recover damages depends upon whether the loss resulted from an act of God, or the act of a human being for whose negligence the bailee is responsible, impliedly or expressly.

For illustration, if a theatre owner negligently leaves a valuable article in such location that it is ruined by rain leaking through a roof, he cannot avoid liability by pleading that an act of God caused the damage, particularly if the roof had previously leaked. This is true because a theatre owner is required to use reasonable prudence to foresee natural results which may arise. If, however, lightning strikes his theatre and it burns, he is not liable for any loss resulting to his patrons' property which may be in the building.

VALIDITY OF CHATTEL MORTGAGE

A CHATTEL mortgage is effective with respect to persons who are familiar with the transaction, and with respect to all persons who are not familiar with the transaction, providing the chattel mortgage is properly recorded. This point of the law was discussed in the recent case of Robert Morton Organ Company v. Armour (23 P. [2d] 887, Montesano, Washington).

CASE

In this case it was shown that an organ was sold to a partnership for the sum of $6,500, the purchase contract being signed as follows: "By Glen W. Armour, for Montesano Theatre Corporation, W. P. Armour, Jos. L. Kycek."

Later one of the partners died. His wife knew of prior arrangements and joined with the other partners in selling interest in the theatre to a new company. The new company was composed of all old members of the partnership who of course were informed of prior transactions of the old firm.

The original firm failed to meet the payments due on the organ and the counsel for the new theatre firm contended that, since the above mentioned contract of sale had not been properly recorded, the partners were not required to make the payments that the old firm had failed to make and, also, that the seller was not privileged to take possession of the organ although the original contract of purchase specified that on default of the purchaser in making payments according to the contract the seller could retake the organ, sell it and charge all costs and attorney's fees to the buyers.

In holding the partners of the new theatre firm bound to give possession of the organ to the seller, the court said:

DECISION

"The Armours, Kycek, M & E Theatres, Inc., and Nelson, under the facts recited above, are in no position to claim protection of the statute. The chattel mortgage was good and valid as to them; they had full knowledge of all the facts and, with knowledge, converted the property. With actual notice of the situation, the Srigleys accepted transfer of the organ to them by the M & E Theatres, Inc."

LICENSE FEE COLLECTION UPHELD

IT IS GENERALLY held by the higher courts that a state law, which authorizes collection of license fees from theatre operators, is valid and enforceable providing such law is non-discriminatory and the license fee is reasonable in consideration of the profit which may be earned by the theatre owner.

Also, the fact that a public official gives misleading information, with respect to the amount of the license fee, does not give the theatre operator a legal right to recover damages, or the amount of the license fee, from the state, county or city which the official represents.

CASE

For instance, in the recent case of Morgan v. Johnson County (61 S. W. [2d] 68, Arkansas), it was shown that a person who operated a traveling show sent his advance publicity agent to the county judge for a license and was told by the judge that the license would be issued upon the payment of $50 for the week's exhibitions. The agent accordingly "billed" the town and advertised extensively in the nearby territory. The day before the time advertised for the show to begin the county judge saw the advance agent on the street and told him that the license fee for the show would be $100 per day, and gave him no reason for his change on the question.

The owner of the show was required to pay a county license fee of $100 per day or $600 for the week, and paid in addition thereto a city license. These fees were paid under protest, as was noted on the back of the license by the sheriff.

Later the owner of the show filed suit against the county contending that he was entitled to recover the sum of $550, with six per cent interest, because the judge had agreed with the advance publicity agent that the license fee for the week would be only $50, whereas actually the owner of the show was required to pay $600.

During the trial it was shown that a state law provides: "The county court of each county shall fix the amount of county tax for each and every public exhibition given by any person or persons in any county in this State . . . and such licenses may be fixed for each exhibition, or monthly, quarterly or annually, in the discretion of the county court. . . ."

Therefore, in view of this law the higher court held the owner of the show not entitled to recover any money from the county, and said:

"The county court had the authority to fix and require the license paid, and could do so without regard to the county judge's apparent bad faith in telling the appellant's (show operator's) agent on the street what the amount of the license fee would be, and misleading him to his injury in putting him to the expense of the advertisement of the show, and later disregarding his agreement and fixing the fee at a much greater amount. . . . The fact that other courts in other counties had fixed smaller or different fees for licenses required paid for exhibitions of such nature as that of appellant affords no ground of objection to the fee fixed by the Johnson county judge; it not being a regulatory charge for a particular service rendered as in some cases requiring inspection, but a tax authorized to be levied in accordance with the statute."

DISCOUNT COMPANY FAILS TO COLLECT

VARIOUS manufacturers have adopted the rule, when selling theatre equipment on the installment payment plan, to sell the theatre owner's notes to a discount or finance company. Therefore, often the question arises whether the discount company may sue the theatre owner and recover the amount of the notes. The latest higher court case in which this law was discussed is Smith v. Discount Corporation (60 S. W. [2d] 847, Waco, Tex.).

CASE

In this case it was shown that a man named Smith signed a written contract for purchase of certain equipment. He made a cash payment and the balance was to be paid in monthly installments of $26 each. Soon afterward this contract was sold by the manufacturer to a discount corporation. Smith failed to pay the installments as they matured and the discount corporation brought suit against him to recover the balance of the unpaid installments.

However, since the contract between Smith and the manufacturer of the equipment did not state that the balance due on the purchase price should be paid "to order or bearer" the higher court held Smith not bound to pay the balance due to the discount corporation, and said:

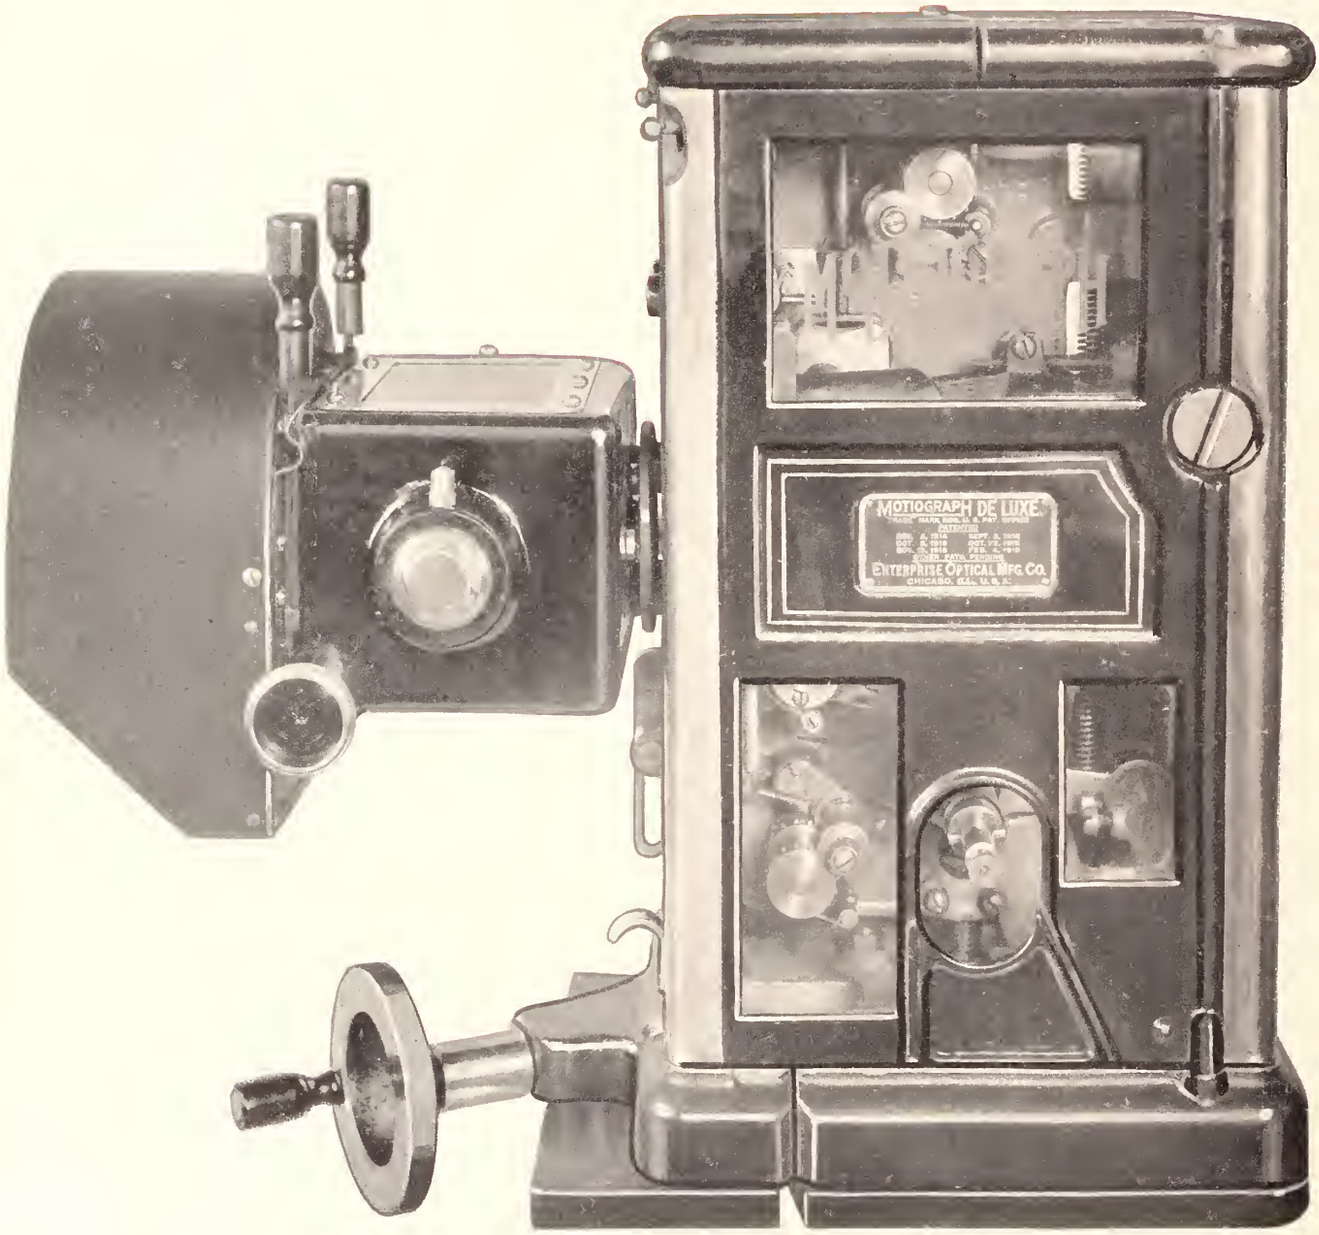
"Said contract nowhere recites that the unpaid balance of the purchase price should be paid to order or bearer. By the express terms of the uniform Negotiable Instrument Act, an instrument to be negotiable 'must be payable to order or to bearer'. . . . It is apparent, therefore, that the instrument here sued on was not negotiable."

Therefore, it is quite apparent that a theatre owner never is obligated to pay balance due on purchased equipment to a discount or finance company, unless the contract of purchase or the signed notes contain a clause or other notation which positively renders such contract or notes negotiable.

AROUND the WORLD with Simplex
TRADE MARK REG'D

The INTERNATIONAL PROJECTOR

CANADIAN PACIFIC'S GREAT FLEET



EQUIPPED with Simplex PROJECTORS
TRADE MARK REG'D

ON THE ATLANTIC { THE EMPRESS OF AUSTRALIA, AND THE DUCHESS OF BEDFORD, DUCHESS OF YORK, DUCHESS OF ATHOLL, AND DUCHESS OF RICHMOND.

ON THE PACIFIC { THE EMPRESS OF ASIA, EMPRESS OF CANADA, EMPRESS OF JAPAN, AND EMPRESS OF RUSSIA.

INTERNATIONAL PROJECTOR CORPORATION
88-96 GOLD ST. · NEW YORK, N. Y.

THE MODEL H-U
MOTIOGRAPH DE LUXE
MECHANISM

UNIVERSALLY ADAPTABLE TO ALL MODERN SOUND HEADS

The characteristic perfect projection of the MOTIOGRAPH DE LUXE MECHANISM with its low cost of upkeep is now available to you without changing your sound heads or projector stands and at no additional expense for attachments.

YOUR INDEPENDENT THEATRE SUPPLY DEALER HAS AN INTERESTING AND ECONOMICAL OFFER FOR YOU

Send for illustrated descriptive folder.

THE ENTERPRISE OPTICAL MANUFACTURING COMPANY

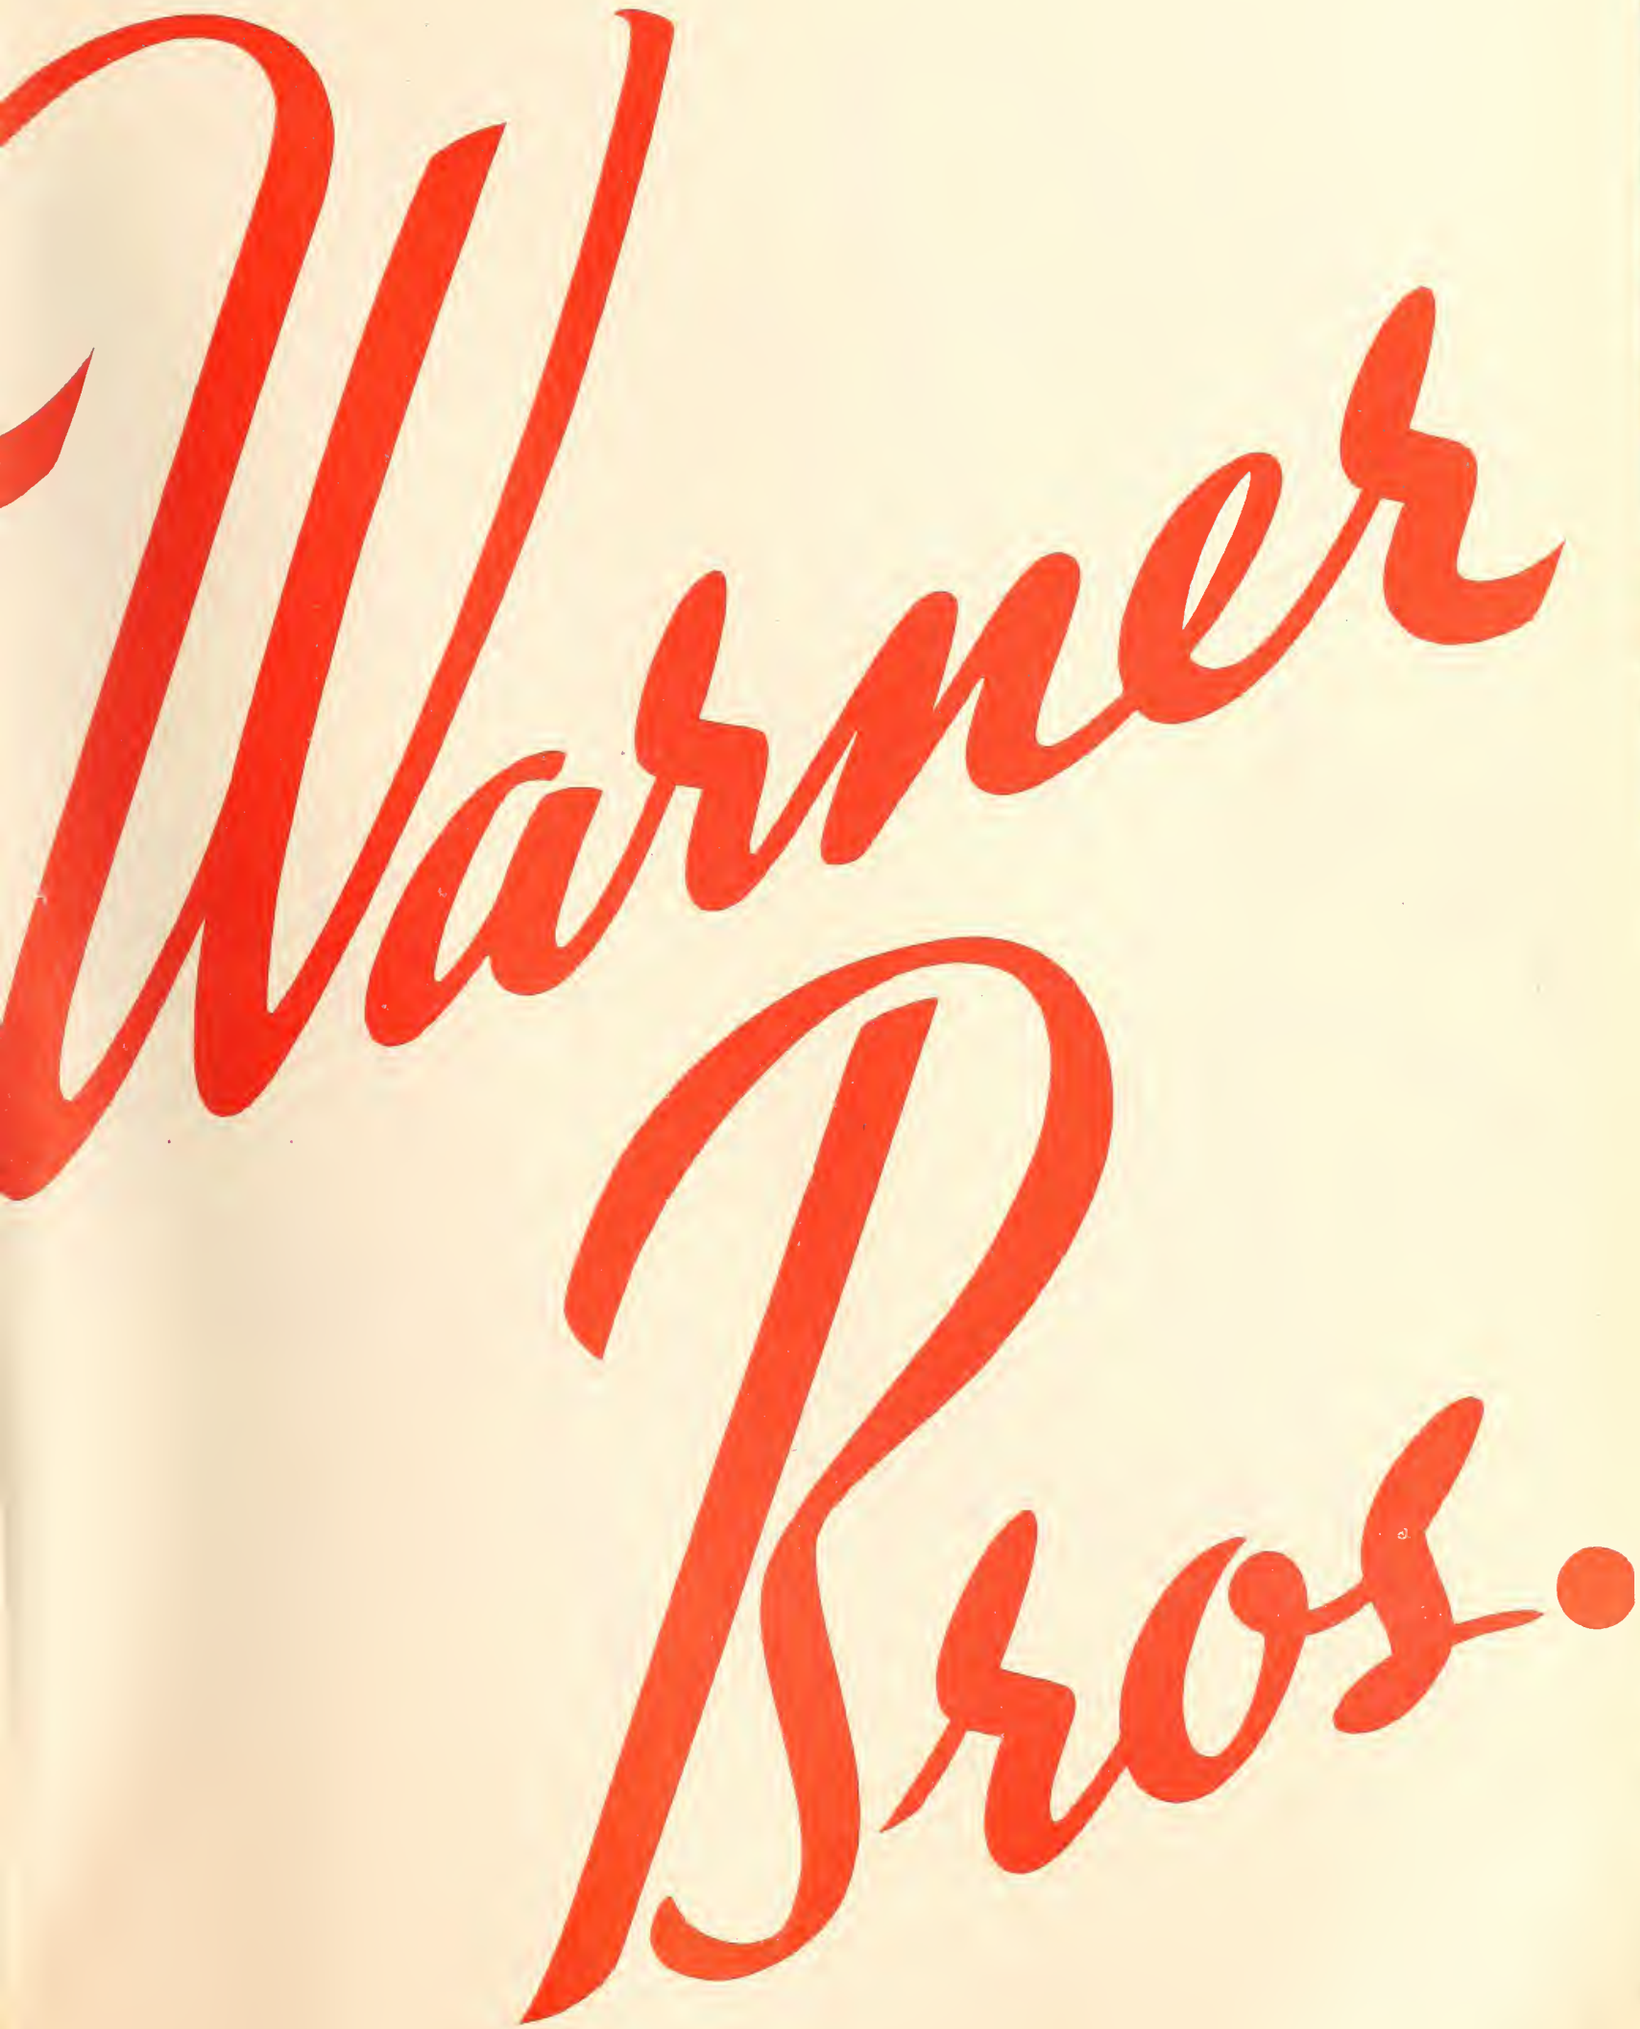
4431-41 West Lake Street, Chicago, Ill.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

A CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

FACTS FOR EXHIBITORS ON 104 FEATURES OF NEW SEASON'S PRODUCT

VOL. 115, NO. 11



Entered as second class matter, January 2, 1931, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3, 1879. Published Weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1790 Broadway, New York. Subscription, $3.00 a year. Single copies, 25 cents

JUNE 9, 1934

WHILE YOUR PUBLIC delights in the great performance of Wallace Beery in "Viva Villa!" you will delight in the news that his next rousing entertainment is also in the bag! Already from the West Coast come undercurrent flashes that M-G-M's "TREASURE ISLAND" is something to shout about! Start your shouting now and keep it up!

THE CAST: WALLACE BEERY, JACKIE COOPER, LIONEL BARRYMORE, Otto Kruger, Lewis Stone, "Chic" Sale, etc. · Directed by Victor Fleming · Produced by Hunt Stromberg

Warner
Bros.

for Nineteen Thirty-four to Nineteen Thirty-five

READ ALL ABOUT IT ON PAGE 19

The Convention is Over!

And the FOX salesman is headed your way...with the BIG Fox BOOK under his arm...and a load of good news about the BIG Fox PICTURES under his hat!...

JUN -8 1934 ©CIB 228260

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 115, No. 11 June 9, 1934

NEWSREEL REVOLUTION

THE newsreels appear about to go into the show business. This is an exciting eventuation, coming so abruptly after a career in the theatre of only some twenty-and-odd years.

Currently it is announced by Fox Movietone News that it is about to revolutionize its technique of presentation, becoming "a name newsreel," with Mr. Laurence Stallings, dramatist, as editor, and Mr. Lowell Thomas, adventurer and radio news broadcaster, as "chief commentator."

This is obviously an immediate sequel to the splitting off the Hearst Metrotone News, produced in the same plant and in September to become independently produced. It is in another sense a sequel to Universal's successful departure in the founding of a talking newsreel, mostly pictured in silence and accompanied by the corybantic ecstasies of Mr. Graham McNamee, who can get up more excitement in less time and with less provocation than any other man alive.

It is just possible that Mr. Stallings' excellent editorial performance in the dramatic captioning of "The First World War," published by Simon & Schuster this season, had a suggestion value. If he does perchance put into the reel and the voice of Mr. Thomas some part of the irony of "What Price Glory?" the newsreel may yet become a power.

It is to be hoped that more editors and more voices are not now to overwhelm the news screen with words. Mr. Stallings can, plainly enough, think in terms of pictures and it will be well if he keeps his words for the screen, as in the war book, few and pointed—oh so pointed!

Ever since the comic thrill of Mr. George Bernard Shaw's screen appearance in Movietone there have been too many words with the news and topical pictures. In the opinion of many observers the success of the Universal reel was not so much the voice of Mr. McNamee as that the return to silent camera technique brought action back to the chattering news screen.

The news reel began with the tedious function of recording the easy and obvious events from launchings to corner stone layings, and because the name was newsreel there was far too much dominance by newspaper men and far too little recognition that the theatre screen demanded showmanship. For more than twenty years the newsreels have labored with trying to present events of page one importance and but slight emotional content. The newsreel, what with the speed of the wires and the radio, can never be much of a news medium. It never was. But it can be a lot of entertainment.

Since the exhaustion of the first flurry of the novelty of sound, the status of the newsreel has declined rather than gained. Meanwhile it has suffered, too, because of selling methods in the industry.

Now that the newsreels seem headed for a career in entertainment they may once again claim a better share at the box office.

"PEN IN HAND"

AS all publicity craftsmen know, one of the ready devices for getting newspaper space and attention is by the simple process of having letters from assorted points of the compass written to the correspondence columns of the daily press. Just now one may be entertained by examination of the press of the East, preferably the Sunday issues, to discover how many letters, so kindred in pattern and thought, are being written in behalf of the attitude of the Motion Picture Research Council and its pronouncement about "block booking." One smiling fact is that so many of these correspondents expose evidence that they are not actually aware of the meaning of the term. It is just their newly discovered bugaboo. They know it is bad because they have been told it is bad. And so, a lot of "letters to the editor."

△ △ △

Another gem from Mr. DeMille: "Hollywood is a desert when you are looking for brains, because they are all under contract." That, may we inform Mr. DeMille, is an impression resulting from the chronic Hollywood habit of always looking under a contract when in quest of brains.

△ △ △

REVEALED AT LAST

"MASS entertainment had its rise with the motion picture," observed that sterling observer Mr. Will H. Hays, speaking before the alumni of Wabash College out at Crawfordsville in his beloved Indiana the other night.

"The motion picture democratized all the other arts and brought to the poorest hamlet in the land the work of the great artists, writers, directors and musicians of our time. Only in the last twenty-five years has the American family formed the habit of getting regular recreation in the theatre, and it is practically only yesterday that the best theatrical diversion became possible and comfortable for the masses."

All this is most nobly said, and felt, but one can not dismiss the disconcerting thought that by its likes and dislikes, by its mad idolatries and hysterias, this grand patriotic mass is revealed to have no taste. The motion picture gave the millions their first look at the theatre, and in turn their theatre has given us a good look at the millions.

Both the content of the screen and the confessions of the consumers by their consumptions give clear evidence that there are yet some eons of labor ahead of the civilizing forces and agencies. And one must believe of the screen and of all the other arts that they reveal rather than create.

All this, let us urge, tends to make it evident that "it's what the public wants," whether true or not, does not constitute for the producer of art merchandise an alibi as truly perfect as some of our industry spokesmen profess to believe.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Incorporating Exhibitor's Herald, founded 1915; Motion Picture News, founded 1913; Moving Picture World, founded 1907; Motography, founded 1909; The Film Index, founded 1906. Published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, 1790 Broadway, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; Chicago Bureau, 407 South Dearborn Street, Edwin S. Clifford, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building, Victor M. Shapiro, manager; London Bureau, Remo House, 310 Regent Street, London W 1, Bruce Allan, cable Quigpubco London; Berlin Bureau, Berlin-Tempelhof, Kaiserin-Augustastrasse 28, Joachim K. Rutenberg, representative; Paris Bureau, 19, Rue de la Cour-des-Noues, Paris 20e, France, Pierre Autre, representative, cable Autre-Lacifral-20 Paris; Rome Bureau, Viale Gorizia, Rome, Italy, Vittorio, Malpassuti, representative, Italcable, Malpassuti, Rome; Sydney Bureau, 102 Sussex Street, Sydney, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Mexico, James Lockhart, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1934 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Better Theatres, devoted to the construction, equipment and operation of theatres, is published every fourth week as section 2 of Motion Picture Herald. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac, published annually, and The Chicagoan.

THIS WEEK - - - -

CENSOR RELEASES

From the National Council on Freedom from Censorship, division of the American Civil Liberties Union, last week went a demand that the New York State censor board release copies of all censored sequences, dialogue in reviewed films. Said the Council: " . . . If the censors accurately reflect current standards of morality and decency they have nothing to lose by a public inspection of their work. If they do not, they should welcome correction. . . . Refusal . . . violates the rights of the taxpaying citizens of the state." . . .

CHICAGO FAIR

Hopeful are Chicago theatre operators of duplicating last year's increased business as a result of the World's Fair, just opened for its second year. Not particularly disturbed are they by the first week's letdown in business as crowds rushed to be among the first at the Fair, feeling they will get it back, and more, later. . . .

FILM CARRIERS

The standardization, improvement of methods of film delivery was the subject of discussion at the Chicago session this week of the National Film Carriers, Inc., who were agreed improvement was the prime consideration, despite rapid progress. Forty members, it was said, handle 80 per cent of deliveries. . . .

MGM IN ENGLAND

Planned by MGM is the production of pictures in England sufficiently good to warrant American distribution, last week in London declared Sam Eckman, in charge for MGM in Great Britain. . . .

BLUE LAWS

Although the Virginia state legislature thus far has refused modification, liberalization or elimination of the Sunday blue laws, many a film house in the state is open for Sunday midnight performances, apparently without molestation from the authorities.

MPTO PARTY

For its own financial benefit the MPTO of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan, in Milwaukee last week staged its annual film frolic at the Hotel Schroeder. Chairman of the affair was George Fischer. . . .

REALISTIC SCENE

Too active, realistic was the performance of Henry Wilcoxon, on the "Cleopatra" set at Paramount's Coast studio last week. He slipped during a sword fight, was severely stabbed in the left leg, requiring several stitches, several days' rest. . . .

EVANGELIZING FILMS

The screen as a medium to gain converts to the church is the plan of Dr. Benjamin Gregory, English churchman, in Kansas City as guest editor of the "Christian Advocate." To possible use of films in religious work, Dr. Gregory will devote considerable time here. With him he brought "Mastership," film he would use in modern evangelism, in churches, halls. . . .

INSIGNIFICANT "MIKE"

Demonstrating its efficiency with his rendition of the technical paper explaining it, Dr. Harry F. Olsen (jointly with Richard W. Carlisle), RCA Victor, last week introduced to the Philadelphia session of the Institute of Radio Engineers a matchbox-sized microphone, weighing three ounces, which attaches to the lapel of a public speaker and permits of adequate amplification of the voice. In sound newsreel work is expected to be found one field for the immature "mike". . . .

CENSOR DECISIONS

Into Baltimore courts have gone two cases of protest against adverse decisions of the Maryland censor. In city court the appeal of Gold Medal Film Company that the ban on "The Unknown Blonde" be set aside was denied. Bert Lewis has filed an appeal asking the banning of "Children of the Sun" (imported) be set aside. . . .

In This Issue

Facts for exhibitors on 104 features for new season	Page 9
Warner-First National product	Page 12
United Artists' Plans	Page 13
Universal's titles for 1934-35	Page 14
Educational and Fox short features	Page 13

FEATURES

Editorial	Page 7
The Camera Reports	Page 15
J. C. Jenkins—His Colyum	Page 74
The Hollywood Scene	Page 33
The Cutting Room	Page 45
Letters to the Editor	Page 64
Code Questions and Answers	Page 56

DEPARTMENTS

What the Picture Did for Me	Page 67
Showmen's Reviews	Page 47
Managers' Round Table	Page 75
Technological	Page 58
Short Features on Broadway	Page 65
Chicago Notes	Page 65
The Release Chart	Page 85
Box Office Receipts	Page 60
Classified Advertising	Page 90

THEATRE BARS BANNED

On the request of New York legitimate theatre interests that they be permitted to install bars, Chairman Edward P. Mulrooney of the Alcoholic Beverage Board turned thumbs down this week. The delegation of pleaders, headed by William A. Brady, explained such a policy "would add financial life to the legitimate theatre." Mr. Mulrooney cited the law, said it was a matter for the legislature, not for him. . . .

CHURCH HISTORY

Illustrating the history of the Protestant Episcopal Church in America is "The New World," film to be shown in October at the triennial meeting of the general convention in Atlantic City. Last week St. Luke's Episcopal Church, New York, was the set for several sequences, picturing the consolidating convention of that denomination in the New York church in 1865. . . .

"HENRY VIII" SEQUEL

From under the guiding directorial hand of Alexander Korda of London Films will come a sequel to his "The Private Life of Henry VIII," again starring Charles Laughton, and titled "The Field of Gold," announced in Chicago last week by Al Lichtman, vice-president of United Artists, which will release the film, and also the product of British & Dominions. . . .

OPERA TO FILMS

In motion pictures will appear the famous Lily Pons, French star of American opera, she declared in Buenos Aires last week, there fulfilling an engagement. Having signed film contracts, she will appear following vocal engagements in Paris, London and New York. . . .

VETERANS' FILM FARE

Awarded to Universal last week was its fourth yearly contract for features, shorts, newsreels at 70 soldiers homes and hospitals, by the United States Veterans' Administration in Washington. The contract: 16 features, 13 shorts, 52 newsreels, concluded by Herman Stern of the non-theatrical department. . . .

TICKET FRAUD BILL

Now before the state legislature of Louisiana at New Orleans is a measure providing heavy penalties for any person or persons convicted of printing and using fraudulent motion picture theatre tickets.

FUND FOR FILM NEEDY

Considerable was the fund, designed for needy film folk of North Carolina, resulting from the golf tournament, bridge matches and banquet, held last week under the auspices of the Jesters' Club. . . .

FACTS ON 104 FEATURES OF NEW SEASON ANNOUNCED

Universal, United Artists and Warner-First National Make Known Titles, Sources and Players in 1934-35 Product

The 1934-35 production and distribution season made a long stride forward this week when three more large companies, in convention assembled, made known to the motion picture industry the types and titles of their product for the new season. Universal, Warner-First National and United Artists announced a combined total of 126 feature pictures for next year—Universal with 42; United Artists 24, and Warner-First National, 60. A total of 104 titles, with sources of production material and for the most part of players to be featured, was made known by these three companies.

Fox last week set 52 features at its convention in New York and in April, in Atlantic City, Monogram announced 28 full-length pictures for 1934-35.

Conventions remaining are RKO Radio, which has set June 18 in Chicago as the date for its new season announcements; Paramount will have its national sales meeting in Los Angeles, June 18 to 20, and Columbia and MGM, while having made known no definite dates, are expected to hold sales conventions before the middle of July. Warner also has two remaining regional sessions.

Thus the 1934-35 selling season will be well under way by the end of this month —while last year, due to general economic upsets, it did not start until after July 1, as a result of agreement on the part of the major companies.

A breakdown of the new season product situation as it now stands—with final numbers of pictures and tentative figures estimated earlier in the year—as compared with the 1933-34 season, follows:

	—1934-35—		—1933-34—
Company	Features	Shorts	Features	Shorts
Columbia	52*	130†	48	130
Fox	52	112	54	168
MGM	50*	100†	48	115
Monogram	28	...	28	...
Paramount	65*	125†	65	125
RKO Radio	52*	106†	52	106
United Artists	24	18	30	18
Universal	42	88	42	111
Warner-F. N.	60	130	60	130
TOTALS	425	809	427	903

*Tentative.

†These figures on short subjects are exclusive of newsreels, of which there are 104 issues annually from Paramount, RKO-Pathe, Fox, MGM (Hearst) and Universal.

Distributors in New York have indicated from time to time that there might be appreciable reductions in short subject production in the new season, chiefly as the direct result of the current double feature situation and of the motion picture code clause which prohibits distributors from "forcing" shorts with feature pictures. A reflection of this development is seen in the table. Fox, for example, releasing for the greater part Educational comedies, has reduced its short subject output from 168 in the 1933-34 season to 112 for next year. Universal's short product drops 23, from 111 last year to 88 for the new season. While the MGM figure is only tentative it was said at the company's home office that 100 subjects for 1934-35 might easily be the maximum as against 115 currently.

News for showmen on Warner-First National features for 1934-35 appears on page 12.

Details of United Artists features on page 13.

Universal's product is described on page 14.

Educational and Fox short subjects, page 13.

Code a Factor

Sales managers have pointed out that when an exhibitor plays two features on one program an average sale of two short subjects is lost to the distributor, and, as he formerly found himself with an oversupply of short product on hand at the end of the season, the next move would be either to cut down on production or devise some means of banning double features. The code prevents him from disposing of an over-production of shorts by tying in with features.

Another phase of the motion picture code as it applies to the new season selling is the 10 per cent cancellation clause. In the uniform contract unreservedly offered in the 1933-34 season by five major companies—Paramount, RKO Radio, Universal, Fox and MGM—an elimination clause permitted cancellation of 15 per cent of the product—the first five pictures allowed without payment, the second five permitted with exhibitors paying 50 per cent of the contract price of the pictures cancelled, and the third remitted in consideration of 100 per cent payment. Under the code the exhibitor may cancel the full 10 per cent without any payment.

8 from Liberty, 12 from Mascot

Other developments in the product situation during the week included announcement that Liberty Pictures Corp. will have eight features on its 1934-35 program, six of which have been completed. Production on the remaining two is expected to get under way shortly. Those already completed are "No Ransom," "Two Heads on a Pillow," "Cheaters," "When Strangers Meet," "Take the Stand" and "Once to Every Bachelor."

Mascot Features announced its 1934-35 program will comprise 10 Mascot Master productions and two exploitation specials.

The titles are "Crimson Romance," "The Marines Have Landed," "Confidential," "One Frightened Night," "Waterfront Lady," "Headlines," "Man From Headquarters," "Streamline Express," "Along Came a Woman" and "Anything Once." The two exploitation specials are "Young and Beautiful," with the Wampas Baby Stars of 1934, and "Harmony Lane," the life story of Stephen Foster, with his best known folk songs incorporated.

Effects of Double Featuring and Code Restrictions on Tying-In Are Reflected in Reduction of Short Subjects Projected

Majestic Pictures Corp. will produce 12 features, Herman Gluckman, president, announced. Included in the group, the titles of which were not made known, will be "The Scarlet Letter."

Golden State Productions has a 1934-35 schedule calling for six features. The company also is arranging distribution on the three-reeler "Sword of the Arab," with Harry Meyers, Duncan Renaldo, George Durrell, Lucien Kaye, Frank Leigh and Paul Panzer, and the two-reel "Stars in the Making," with Freddie Albertson.

More Color Cartoons

Hugh Harman and Rudolf Ising, creators of "Bosko," "Loony Tunes" and "Merrie Melodies," have signed a contract with MGM to produce 13 one-reel cartoons and a two-reel, all in color. The two-reel subject, based on Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite," is now in production.

At the close of the second regional convention of Monogram Pictures in Cincinnati this week, W. Ray Johnston, president, declared that pictures designed primarily for family trade will be the aim of the company during the 1934-35 season. He said he hoped every story would win the endorsement of parent-teacher organizations, as well as women's clubs and religious groups. Among the pictures for the coming season are Gene Stratton Porter's "Girl of the Limberlost" and "Keeper of the Bees"; Robert Herrick's "The Healer" and Edward Eggleston's "The Hoosier Schoolmaster."

Shamrock Pictures Corp. is scheduled to make six features and 52 short subjects for the 1934-35 season. The six features are "4 O'Clock in the Morning," "Partner Wanted," "The Spirit of Perkins," "At the End of the Rope," "The Midget Races" and "The Hour is Nine."

National trade showings on all United Artists releases in exchange centers throughout the country will be continued during the coming year, Al Lichtman announced on his return to New York from the Chicago convention.

Fire Razes Cellofilm Plant

Explosion and fire wrecked the plant of the Cellofilm Corporation in Woodridge, N. J., Tuesday with loss estimated at $50,000. Cellofilm is a subsidiary of Universal Film Corporation.

still photography unusual

• From "Treasure Island," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, adapted from the classic by Robert Louis Stevenson. Director Victor Fleming. Cinematographers: Ray June, Clyde DeVinna, Harold Rosson. Art director, Cedric Gibbons. Cast: Wallace Beery, Lionel Barrymore, Jackie Cooper, Dorothy Peterson, Lewis Stone, Chic Sale, Otto Kruger, Cora Sue Collins.

PHOTOGRAPH BY BILL GRIMES

¶ Now and then Motion Picture Herald endeavors to present pieces of pictorially remarkable photographic material. This endeavor is but slightly encouraged by this photographic industry which spares no effort to get pictures on film and makes relatively no effort to get them on paper. This occasional page is dedicated to the neglected art of the still and the mostly unappreciated skill of the still photographer. ¶ The scene reproduced above records the "Hispaniola," the old three-master "Nanuk" from "Eskimo," now made over by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for the purposes of their version of "Treasure Island." ¶ There's a might o' glamour in "a ship with sails," and we shall be glad to be a-seein' of old Long John Silver and his lads again.

AMERICAN FILMS RETAINING HOLD IN FOREIGN STATES, SAYS HUMMEL

Superiority Appreciated, Declares Warner Foreign Sales Manager; Says Britons Resent Americans in British Films

American-made motion pictures have as strong a hold on the public imagination and pocketbook in foreign countries as they have had at any time, Joseph S. Hummel, general foreign sales manager for Warner Bros., said this week in New York on his return from a nine-month tour of Europe, Asia and South Africa. This is true, he said, even in Great Britain, despite the fact the British industry has made such rapid strides during the past year in quality production. In this respect, however, Mr. Hummel declared that it is more the technique of American films than the question of artistry or story values which captures the British public at present.

Mr. Hummel contended that, at the same time, British production is making what in his opinion is a grave mistake in the matter of casting too many American stars and players in British productions.

"The British public, I have found, resent this practice on the whole," he said. "They want either straightforward American plays with American casts made in Hollywood, or they want 100 per cent British product turned out at Elstree. Obviously, the British industry, through the importation of American talent for their productions, is trying to gain a foothold in the American market and the limited extent to which they have been able to accomplish that in this fashion speaks for itself. Practically every British-made picture which has met with even moderate success in this country during the past year has been notable for its all-British cast."

Mr. Hummel voiced the greatest respect for the progress being made by the British film industry, but insisted it will never get a firm foothold in the American market until its players learn to speak an English—or an "American"—which can be easily understood by American audiences. He pointed to the success of "The Private Life of Henry VIII" as a case in point.

"I never would have known that film was not made in Hollywood," he said.

Several exhibitors in the smaller communities of this country, however, reporting on product in the columns of MOTION PICTURE HERALD'S "What the Picture Did for Me" department, disagreed with Mr. Hummel about this picture. Typical were the remarks of Herman J. Brown, operating the Adelaide and Majestic theatres in Nampa, Idaho, in the March 24 issue:

"A very hard picture to unload on a farmer town. Some liked it, some didn't. I got by by forcing it over by main strength."

Nevertheless Mr. Hummel said, good pictures, whether they be American, British, French or Siamese, will always be acceptable to an audience of average intelligence.

Sam Eckman, Jr., in charge of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's London offices, who is currently in New York, agreed with the Warner foreign executive in this respect.

"Good entertainment is the only thing in which the picture-goer is interested," Mr. Eckman said. "This is behind the great progress recently made by British films."

Mr. Eckman also declared that the clever American producer welcomes the increasing popularity of the British product, first, because competition is the life of trade, and secondly, the mounting number of excellent British pictures made with Great Britain primarily in mind "must necessarily create a greater British motion picture public.

"Once this increased audience is created, it will be available for good American productions as well," Mr. Eckman said.

American Dialogue Too Fast

In spite of the fact that the British public on the whole still prefers American pictures to those made domestically, the average English audience finds American dialogue too fast and hard to follow, just as American audiences find British pictures slow, it was pointed out.

"It's the production technique of the Hollywood product they like," Mr. Hummel said. "The camera work, lighting and general direction of Hollywood's technicians are unsurpassed."

Mr. Hummel's tour took him through more than a dozen countries, including Japan, China, Manchukuo, Java, Australia, South Africa, France and England.

Chinese and Japanese exhibitors, he said, are much the same as their brethren in America, presenting the same sales arguments and obstacles in the path of the distributor.

"Furthermore, they know more about the American film industry than our own exhibitors do. I have seldom failed to find a copy of some American motion picture trade paper on their desks, and they can tell you, much quicker than I could, the name of the director of a certain picture, the author and the cameramen."

Directors' names mean considerably more on a theatre marquee in both Japan and China than do the names of stars, Mr. Hummel said. American pictures are far more popular in these two countries and their provinces than those of any other, next to their own.

700 Features Made in Japan

China's motion picture production is negligible when compared with that of Japan, which turns out an average of 700 feature pictures annually. These 700 are divided mainly among three large producing companies, with 33 small producers turning out approximately 250 of the total.

Mr. Hummel opened new offices in Shanghai, Hong Kong, Manila, P. I., Java and Singapore. In the fall he probably will go to Russia and may open new Warner offices in Turkey, Rumania, Poland and the Balkan States.

Mr. Hummel doubted there is much of an opportunity at the present time for the distribution of American films in Russia, saying:

"They are still too much wrapped up in the utilization of the motion picture as a medium for propaganda—just as in Germany today—and it will be a long time before they get out of that frame of mind."

ARE YOU READING EXHIBITOR REPORTS?

Frank A. Finger, of the New Gem theatre at Marissa, Ill., a contributor to Motion Picture Herald's "What the Picture Did For Me" department, writes:

"I usually turn to these columns first and check over 'What the Picture Did for Me,' then read the rest later."

The exhibitor-contributors do not always agree in their verdicts on pictures, but it is threshed out quite frankly when there is a difference. A third round in a duel of words between two exhibitors opens with the following haymaker from Edith M. Fordyce, Princess theatre, Selma, La., in commenting on "Tarzan And His Mate":

"This is box-office plus. Be sure to give it extra playing time and have your first aid kit ready to bind up broken legs and other casualties brought about by the rush on the box-office. Even Peter Bylsma, who thinks I am a bum critic, will agree with me when he plays it. It's your summer vacation, folks. You'll be thanking Metro for a natural like this."

Sam Eckman, Jr., of MGM's London Office, Agrees Good Picture Always Is Acceptable Regardless of Origin

St. Louis Receivership Litigation Concluded

The receivership litigation involving the St. Louis Amusement Company has been disposed of, following the surrender of 875 shares of Class A and 501 shares of Class B stock for cancellation. Stipulations by counsel have been approved by the court. The company, controlled by Warner through Skouras Brothers Enterprises, was taken out of receivership last August, and Jack Shea, his sister, Katie Shea, Harry Koplar and others were ordered to pay court costs.

Under the compromise the defendants withdrew the appeal, $22,724, turned over to the company by the receivers, was released from court jurisdiction, and the Sheas, Mr. Koplar and others surrendered various amounts of stock.

47 WARNER FEATURES ALREADY SET

Warner-FN with 60 Covers Wide Field

Total of 47 Stories Already Prepared; Roster Includes 19 Stars, 38 Featured Players, 18 Directors, 73 Writers, Meeting Told

Sixty feature pictures will be released by Warner Brothers and First National for the season of 1934-35, Major Albert Warner, vice-president in charge of distribution, told the eastern sales meeting in Atlantic City Tuesday.

To date 839 contracts for new product, totaling $2,500,000, have been sold, it was announced at the final session.

At the initial session on Monday, Harry M. Warner, president, and Joseph W. Bernhard, Warner theatre executive, had reiterated their definite opposition to the playing of company product on double feature bills, and declared they stood ready to lead the way in a general movement for their complete elimination should encouragement for such action be indicated by other theatre circuits and distributors.

Mr. Bernhard let it be understood that the company "will augment its exhibition interests wherever the company decrees the step to be necessary to insure its product proper representation."

Other speakers Monday included Major Warner; A. W. Smith, eastern and Canadian sales manager; Sam E. Morris, vice-president in charge of foreign distribution; Joseph S. Hummel, assistant to Mr. Morris; Gradwell Sears, southern and western sales manager; Norman Moray, Vitaphone sales manager, and Harold Bareford and I. Levinson of the company's legal department.

Returns from Abroad Increase

Harry M. Warner declared the production budget would be the largest in the company's history. Mr. Morris, who recently completed an extended foreign tour, told the convention that returns from abroad are on the increase.

In announcing titles of new season product at the Tuesday session, Major Warner said:

"We have never been so fully prepared in advance of a new selling season as we are this year," he said. "Already we have a total of 47 stories ready for early production, with casts that will include the strongest array of acting talent, and of names, in the annals of Warner Bros. and First National.

"We have found subjects of universal appeal. The 47 stories already prepared include published novels and stories of recognized merit, original stories written directly for the screen and based upon actual life, and the most successful plays of the international stage."

Among the outstanding productions planned are "Anthony Adverse," "Sweet Adeline," "Oil for the Lamps of China," "Firebird," "Gold Diggers of 1935," "War Lord."

The production roster currently includes 19 stars, 38 featured players, 18 directors and 73 writers.

The 47 screen stories, including originals, stage plays, novels and short stories, published and unpublished, for the 1934-35 season comprise the following:

FIREBIRD, based on the international stage success, by Lajos Zilahay.

MEN AGAINST DEATH, based on the life of Louis Pasteur.

GOLD DIGGERS OF 1935, a new musical comedy spectacle with an all-star cast.

ROADHOUSE, adapted from two stories by Arthur Somers Roche.

THE MAGNIFICENT AMBERSONS, from the American novel by Booth Tarkington.

SWEET MUSIC, a sequel to the musical, "20 Million Sweethearts."

I'M BACK IN THE CHAIN GANG, a sequel to "I Am a Fugitive From a Chain Gang."

RIDE 'EM, JOCKEY, a comedy-drama of the racetrack.

WAR LORD, the story of a Chinese war lord with a modern Oriental background.

THE CINCH, with the Boulder Dam project as the setting.

THE SIX-DAY BIKE RACE, a Joe E. Brown comedy.

HALFWAY TO HEAVEN, a comedy-drama by Lawrence Hazard, author of "Man's Castle."

BABBITT, from Sinclair Lewis' famous novel, with Guy Kibbee and Aline MacMahon.

THE LITTLE BIG SHOT, the story of a small-timer with big ambitions.

ANTHONY ADVERSE, from the novel by Hervey Allen.

SWEET ADELINE, a musical based on the Broadway stage hit.

BORDER TOWN, starring Paul Muni in a romance of the dividing line between the United States and Mexico.

FAREWELL TO SHANGHAI, co-starring Dolores Del Rio and Franchot Tone in a romance of the Far East.

EARTHWORM TRACTOR, another Joe E. Brown comedy, with Brown as Alexander Botts, familiar Saturday Evening Post character.

AIR DEVILS, an aviation thriller teaming James Cagney and Pat O'Brien.

GO INTO YOUR DANCE, from a story by Bradford Ropes, author of "42nd Street," and probably starring Al Jolson.

I'LL SELL ANYTHING, comedy-drama.

THE STORY OF A COUNTRY BOY, from the best-seller by Dawn Powell.

TRAVELING SALESLADY, described as "a spicy bit of present-day Americana."

A PRESENT FROM MARGATE, adapted from the London stage play by Ian Hay and A. E. W. Mason.

THE SKIPPER OF THE ISAPHAN, an adventure story of the China seas.

KANSAS CITY PRINCESS, a comedy now in production with Joan Blondell.

LAFAYETTE ESCADRILLE, a romance of love and warfare by the author of "The Dawn Patrol," John Monk Saunders.

KING OF THE RITZ, being the adventures of a chef and his press agent.

WINDOW PANES.

GLORIOUS, starring Jean Muir.

THE PERFECT WEEK-END, starring James Cagney.

A LADY SURRENDERS, with Jean Muir, George Brent and Verree Teasdale featured.

BIG HEARTED HERBERT, from the current Broadway success, with Guy Kibbee and Aline MacMahon.

BLACK HELL, a story of the coal mines, with Paul Muni.

CAPTAIN BLOOD, from the Rafael Sabatini sea novel.

A LOST LADY, from the novel by Willa Cather.

APPLESAUCE, a comedy.

THE CASE OF THE HOWLING DOG, from Erle Stanley Gardner's Liberty Magazine detective thriller.

THE CASE OF THE CURIOUS BRIDE, another by Mr. Gardner.

CONCEALMENT, a problem play.

JUST OUT OF COLLEGE, the adventures of five graduates.

LOST BEAUTY, an ultra-modern love story.

OIL FOR THE LAMPS OF CHINA, based on the best seller by Alice Tisdale Hobart.

CASINO DE PAREE, with Al Jolson heading an all-star cast in a musical comedy-drama.

SCHOOL DAYS, a story of youth.

The 47th title has not been made known.

57 Featured Players

There are currently 57 featured players on the Warner-First National roster, including 19 stars. The stars are:

Paul Muni	Ricardo Cortez
Joe E. Brown	Joan Blondell
Barbara Stanwyck	Franchot Tone
Ruby Keeler	Bette Davis
Warren William	Leslie Howard
Rudy Vallee	James Cagney
Kay Francis	Dick Powell
Al Jolson	Dolores Del Rio
Edward G. Robinson	Jean Muir

Claudette Colbert

New additions to the list are Miss Del Rio, who was signed to a long-term contract recently, Franchot Tone and Claudette Colbert. Joan Blondell and Jean Muir were raised to stardom in the past season.

Featured players include:

Mary Astor	Phillip Reed
Patricia Ellis	Ann Dvorak
Lyle Talbot	Donald Woods
George Brent	Mary Russell
Philip Faversham	Allen Jenkins
Helen Lowell	Enrico Caruso, Jr.
Hal LeRoy	Terry LaFranconi
Arthur Aylesworth	Josephine Hutchinson
Philip Regan	Harry Tyler
Guy Kibbee	Aline MacMahon
Frank McHugh	Claire Dodd
Virginia Pine	Ruth Donnelly
Robert Armstrong	Gordon Westcott
Verree Teasdale	Dorothy Tree
Pat O'Brien	Henry O'Neill
Hugh Herbert	John Eldredge
Margaret Lindsay	Helen Trenholme
Robert Barrat	Paul Gould
Hobart Cavanaugh	Glen Boles

Dorothy Dare

Authors of Stories and Plays

Stories and plays, both dramatic and musical, by the following authors will be included in Warner Bros.-First National releases for 1934-35:

Earl Baldwin	Rida Johnson Young
Bertram Milhauser	Niven Busch
Charles Kenyon	Edward Chodorov
Lillie Hayward	Warren Duff
F. Hugh Herbert	Gene Markey
Ben Markson	Sidney Sutherland
Pierre Collins	Erwin Gelsey
Sheridan Gibney	Lawrence Hazard

(Continued on page 14. column 3)

UNITED ARTISTS ANNOUNCES TITLES

112 Shorts from Fox Include 100 From Educational

Fox will release 112 short subjects and 104 issues of Fox Movietone News during the 1934-35 season, it was announced at the annual sales convention in New York last week. Of this number, Educational Pictures, producing exclusively for Fox distribution, will provide 100 releases, while the Fox Movietone Studios will produce Fox Movietone News, Magic Carpet of Movietone and Adventures of a Newsreel Cameraman series.

Educational will provide the entire program of 52 two-reel comedies, consisting of six new series, including Star Personality Comedies, Musical Comedies, Frolics of Youth, Coronet Comedies, Marriage Wows and Young Romance Comedies.

The Star Personality Comedies will offer 12 two-reel featurettes, six of which will star Ernest Truex.

Other two-reelers are as follows:

12 Musical Comedies described as extravaganzas "in which many novelty features will be introduced."

6 Frolics of Youth, featuring children. This is the series in which Shirley Temple made her debut.

8 Coronet Comedies with stage, film and radio casts.

8 Marriage Wows, dealing with incidents in the life of a young married couple.

6 Young Romances with boys and girls "at the laughing and loving age."

The one-reelers are as follows:

104 issues of Fox Movietone News with Laurence Stallings, newly appointed, as editor. Truman Talley now is producer of the reel, and Lowell Thomas will be the new commentator.

26 Terry Toon Cartoons, produced by Paul Terry, Frank Moses and Philip A. Scheib.

6 Magic Carpets of Movietone.

6 Adventures of a Newsreel Cameraman.

8 Treasure Chests, the first to be "Pagliacci."

10 Song Hit Stories with well known singers in "unique dramatizations of famous songs."

In addition, it is planned to re-issue four two-reel Bing Crosby comedies produced by Mack Sennett. These are "I Surrender, Dear," "Just One More Chance," "Billboard Girl" and "Dream House."

Suit Is Filed Against Importers of "Mussolini"

Abraham J. Gellinoff, in behalf of Guido Orlando, has filed suit in New York supreme court against Vincenzo Melocchi, Luigi de Giogio and Fernando Villa, who brought the film "Mussolini" to this country, for alleged breach of contract. Damages of $100,000 are asked.

United Artists Plans to Release 24 Features

One Each from Mary Pickford and Charles Chaplin Expected; Eighteen Silly Symphonies and Mickey Mouse All in Color

United Artists expects to release 24 feature pictures, produced in Hollywood and London, as well as 18 Walt Disney productions, on its 1934-35 program, it was announced in Chicago this week by Al Lichtman, vice-president and general manager, at the annual meeting of branch managers and home office executives at the Drake hotel.

At the conclusion of the two-day session, attended by members of the sales and production personnel, Mr. Lichtman disclosed that Mary Pickford and Charles Chaplin are expected to make one feature each next season, thus bringing the total to at least 24 features.

All the Walt Disney cartoons—Silly Symphonies and Mickey Mouse—will be entirely in Technicolor.

Denies Cancellation Clause Applies

The producing companies whose films will be released through United Artists include 20th Century Pictures, Samuel Goldwyn, Reliance Pictures, London Films, Viking Productions and Walt Disney.

On Sunday, Mr. Lichtman reiterated United Artists' contention that its pictures are not subject to the code 10 per cent cancellation clause because they are sold singly and on individual contracts.

"It was part of our understanding when we signed the code and also our agreement with the division administrator that we were not subject to the clause," he declared.

The Kansas City Grievance Board's secretary was notified by the United Artists' branch manager there recently that the company did not consider itself subject to the clause, when asked by the secretary for release dates for cancellation notices.

"Laboratory" for Productions

The Chicago meeting was told that a producing alliance between A. H. Woods, New York theatrical producer, and 20th Century Pictures, had been formed for the purpose of creating a "laboratory" where future screen productions first would be perfected as stage plays. Mr. Woods will stage a number of plays in New York, the first of which is to be "The Red Cat," from the European success by Rudolph Lothar and Hans Adler. This later will be made into a motion picture with Constance Bennett and Fredric March in the leading roles.

For the coming year, Walt Disney will make nine Mickey Mouse productions and nine Silly Symphonies, all in Technicolor.

20th Century Pictures, of which Joseph M. Schenck is president and Darryl F. Zanuck vice-president in charge of production, will bring forth films written by noted modern writers, as well as adaptations of classics.

Among those 20th Century productions set are:

The Affairs of Cellini, starring Fredric March and Constance Bennett, from the Broadway stage success, "The Firebrand," by Edwin Justus Mayer.

Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back, starring Ronald Colman, with Loretta Young.

The Last Gentleman, starring George Arliss, with Edna May Oliver.

Cardinal Richelieu, also starring Mr. Arliss.

The Mighty Barnum, starring Wallace Beery and Fredric March and written by Gene Fowler.

Clive of India, another starring vehicle for Ronald Colman, based on the successful London play now in its seventh month.

It Had to Happen, starring Clark Gable and Constance Bennett.

Forward March, a pageant of modern America.

Call of the Wild, from the story by Jack London, with an all-star cast.

The Red Cat, with Constance Bennett and Fredric March.

Samuel Goldwyn Productions

Samuel Goldwyn Productions will contribute the following productions to the United Artists list:

We Live Again, starring Anna Sten, based on Tolstoy's "Resurrection," with Fredric March.

The Treasure Hunt, an Eddie Cantor musical, with Ann Sothern, Ethel Merman and Block and Sully.

Barbary Coast, with Anna Sten and Gary Cooper, a panorama of the California gold rush days.

Reliance Pictures

Reliance Pictures offer the following for the 1934-35 United Artists program:

The Count of Monte Cristo, from The Alexandre Dumas immortal work, with Robert Donat, British player, and Elissa Landi heading a cast which includes O. P. Heggie, Louis Calhern, Sidney Blackmer and Irene Hervey.

Trans-Atlantic Showboat, with a cast assembled from screen, stage and radio, including Jack Benny, Nancy Carroll, Gene Raymond, Sid Silvers and Frank Parker.

Catalina, an elaborate musical to be cast shortly.

London Film Productions

London Film Productions, headed by Alexander Korda, who already has produced "The Private Life of Henry VIII" and "Catherine the Great," will present the following:

The Private Life of Don Juan, with Douglas Fairbanks, Sr.

100 Years to Come, from H. G. Wells' "The Shape of Things to Come," directed by Lewis Milestone.

The Scarlet Pimpernel, with Leslie Howard.

Viking Productions

Viking Productions will present the following:

Our Daily Bread, written, directed and produced by King Vidor, with Karen Morley and Tom Keene.

UNIVERSAL NAMES TITLES, AUTHORS

42 from Universal, Convention Is Told

Short Subjects Will Depend on Double Feature Solution; Four Serials, 26 Two-Reel Comedies, 58 Single Reels

Carl Laemmle, president of Universal Pictures, was to announce on Friday a schedule of 42 productions for the 1934-35 season, which, he said, exceeds in scope, in cast, in prestige of authorship and direction all previous Universal schedules.

Mr. Laemmle's announcement came at the company's annual sales convention at Essex House, New York.

Last year Universal added $2,000,000 to the customary production budget; the amount will be increased by $1,000,000 more for the 1934-35 season. The company also plans English production, Mr. Laemmle said.

Shorts Depend on Double Bill Solution

Among the leading pictures announced in the new season schedule are the Ziegfeld production of "Show Boat"; Blaise Cendrar's novel, "Sutter's Gold"; two roadshow productions starring Margaret Sullavan; "The Good Fairy," by Franz Molnar; "The Great Ziegfeld," starring William Powell and based on the life of the showman, from a story by Billie Burke and William Anthony McQuire.

The amount of short product Universal will make next season will be governed, it was indicated at the convention, by the unsolved question of double features, but assurance was given of four serial pictures, 26 two-reel comedies and 58 one-reel subjects, together with the customary 104 issues of Universal Newsreel with Graham McNamee, the Universal Talking Reporter.

The complete product announcement follows:

THE RAVEN, from the poem of Edgar Allen Poe.

ZEST, by Charles G. Norris, with Douglass Montgomery.

THE MAN WHO RECLAIMED HIS HEAD, from the Broadway play by Jean Bart.

TRANSIENT LADY, by Octavus Roy Cohen.

IT HAPPENED IN NEW YORK, with Heather Angel, by Ward Morehouse.

FANNY, a play by the French author, Marcel Pagnol.

CHEATING CHEATERS, from the Broadway play by Max Marcin.

A CUP OF COFFEE, by Preston Sturges, author of "Strictly Dishonorable."

STRANGE WIVES, by Edith Wharton.

SHOWBOAT, by Edna Ferber, from the play by the same author.

SUTTER'S GOLD, from the novel by Blaise Cendrar.

THE GOOD FAIRY, by Franz Molnar.

WITHIN THIS PRESENT, by Margaret Ayer Barnes.

THE GREAT ZIEGFELD, dramatized by Billie Burke and William Anthony McGuire.

GREAT EXPECTATIONS, from a Charles Dickens novel.

THE MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD, also based on a Dickens' novel.

PRINCESS O'HARA, by Damon Runyan.

RANSOM, ONE MILLION DOLLARS, also by Damon Runyon.

NIGHT LIFE OF THE GODS, by Thorne Smith.

MAGNIFICENT OBSESSION, by Lloyd C. Douglas.

THE BRIDE OF FRANKENSTEIN, a sequel to the famous horror picture.

Two road-show productions starring Margaret Sullavan.

MOON MULLINS, a picturization of the comic strip.

CASTLES IN THE AIR, the first Russ Columbo starring picture.

CONFESSIONS OF A MODERN WOMAN, by an anonymous authoress.

AT YOUR SERVICE, a tennis story.

WHAT WOMEN DREAM.

KEEP ON DANCING.

I'VE BEEN AROUND.

THE JOY OF LIVING.

GIFT OF GAB, starring Edmund Lowe and Gloria Stuart.

THE HUMAN SIDE, with Adolph Menjou and Doris Kenyon.

There will also be several adventure pictures starring Buck Jones.

Among the directors who will produce pictures for Universal next season are John M. Stahl, James Whale, Lowell Sherman, William Wyler, Stuart Walker, Richard Thorpe and Eddie Buzzell.

Buck Jones Serial First

The lead-off serial on the program of short subject material for 1934-35 will be Buck Jones in "The Red Rider"; other Buck Jones films will include a picturization of the comic strip, "Tailspin Tommy," and "Rustlers of Red Dog" and "Call of the Savage."

Among the novelties scheduled are 13 seriocomics entitled "Going Places with Lowell Thomas." Each will be complete in one reel. Another series of 13 will be called "Stranger Than Fiction," factual oddities. In addition to the 26 Oswald single reel cartoons—the same number that Universal produced for this season—Walter Lanz, creator of Oswald the Lucky Rabbit, will produce six "Cartoon Classics" in color, the lyrics and music for these being written by James Deitrich and Victor McLeod.

Among the stars who have been signed for at least one Universal production for 1934-35 are:

Margaret Sullavan	Karloff
William Powell	Jane Wyatt
Edmund Lowe	Buck Jones
Sally Eilers	Binnie Barnes
Chester Morris	Slim Summerville
Paul Lukas	Zasu Pitts
Polly Walters	Henry Hull
Roger Pryor	Frank Lawton
Douglass Montgomery	June Knight
Heather Angel	Victor Moore
Russ Columbo	Leila Hyams
Gloria Stuart	Onslow Stevens

Alice White

Universal also is now operating a stock company consisting largely of young players from the New York stage.

Warner Writers For New Season

(Continued from page 12)

John Monk Saunders	Brian Marlow
Harry Sauber	Robert T. Shannon
Harry Warren	Robert Lord
Sammy Fain	Allie Wrubel
Barry Conners	Mary McCall, Jr.
John van Druten	Leonard Ide
Ian Hay	Hervey Allen
William Hazlett Upson	Dawn Powell
Willa Cather	Sophie Kerr
Sigmund Romberg	Maxwell Anderson
Booth Tarkington	Lajos Zilahy
Ralph Block	Al Cohen
Cy Bartlett	Tom Buckingham
Laird Doyle	Brown Holmes
Carl Erickson	Robert N. Lee
Paul G. Smith	Kathryn Scola
Doris Malloy	Peter Milne
Frank McDonald	Tom Reed
Manuel Seff	Delmar Daves
Dan Templin	Jerry Wald
Abem Finkel	Al Dubin
Mort Dixon	Irving Kahal
Carroll Graham	Robert Lee Johnson
Erle Stanley Gardner	Bradford Ropes
Harrison Jacobs	Alice Tisdale Hobart
A. E. W. Mason	Frank Howard Clark
Frederick Hazlett Brenna	Rafael Sabatini
Sinclair Lewis	Arthur Somers Roche

The eighteen directors under the Warner Bros.-First National banner are:

Lloyd Bacon	William Keighley
Mervyn LeRoy	Busby Berkeley
William Dieterle	Archie Mayo
Michael Curtiz	Robert Florey
Alan Crosland	Frank McDonald
Alfred E. Green	Daniel Reed
Frank Borzage	Arthur G. Collins
Ray Enright	Stanley Logan
H. Bruce Humberstone	Edward Logan

Two More Regional Sessions

Following the Atlantic City meeting, there are to be two more regional conventions, the first at Chicago, June 11-12, and in San Francisco, June 18-19.

Among those of the home office present in Atlantic City, in addition to those already mentioned, were:

A. W. Schwalberg, A. Sachson, Stanley Shuford, Harry Rosenquest, C. Kemke, I. F. Dolid, J. Kelly, L. Tietjen and H. M. Doherty.

From the field were: Ray S. Smith, Albany; Thomas B. Spry, Boston; H. A. Seed, Buffalo; Nat Furst, New Haven; R. Mochrie, Philadelphia; Robert Smeltzer, eastern district manager with headquarters in Washington; M. White, Cincinnati; M. Mooney, Cleveland; F. E. North, Detroit; A. Shmitken, Indianapolis; Charles Rich, Pittsburgh; Roy H. Haines, district manager of New York, and Harry Decker, Harry Hummell, S. Lefkowitz, G. Solomon and P. Swift, all of the New York exchange.

A. W. Smith announced the promotions of Fred North, formerly branch manager at Detroit, to central district manager with headquarters in Detroit; Charles Rich, former salesman in Baltimore, to branch manager in Pittsburgh, and Harry Decker, who handled the Brooklyn territory, to New York and Brooklyn branch manager.

THE CAMERA REPORTS

EASTERN SALES DIVISION CONVENES. Warner Brothers division and branch managers with home office executives, including H. M. Warner, president of the company, on the boardwalk at Atlantic City, during their two-day sales convention.

IN PERSON. G. M. Wolf, manager of the RKO-Radio exchange in San Francisco, greeting Irene Dunne, co-star of RKO-Radio's "Stingaree," as she arrived to appear with that picture at the RKO Golden Gate theatre.

ITALIAN STAR. Isa Miranda, who heads cast of "The Lady of Everybody," produced by Novella Film, a new company, at Cines Studios in Rome.

TIME OFF. For Sylvia Sidney, whom the camera here has recorded coming into New York for a short vacation in the East ere work calls again.

MITEY HOSTESS. In her starriest manner did Shirley Temple thus play hostess to former Fox child player, Francis Carpenter, as he visited Fox studio during filming of "Baby Takes a Bow," which features Shirley.

MAP NEW SALES CAMPAIGN. United Artists home office executives at sales meeting at the Drake Hotel, Chicago. From left: Hal Horne, Earl Kramer, Paul Berger, Joseph Moskowitz, Al Lichtman, Harry Buckley, G. Ericksen, H. Gold, M. Streimer, C. Stern.

FROM EUROPE. (Left) Lilian Ellis, Danish actress, as she arrived recently, to appear in comedies for Hal Roach, released by MGM.

INDEPENDENT DEALERS MEET. (Below) At convention of the Independent Theatre Supply Dealers Association in Chicago:

N. Hamburger, Baltimore; E. A. Willeford, Cleveland; I. Perse, New York; Ted Karatz, Memphis; Ray Colvin, St. Louis; Ben Shearer, Seattle; Joe Robin, president of association; George Feinberg, New York. (Other convention views to appear in June 30th Better Theatres.)

BRINGS PRINT. (Right) Harold Lloyd in New York, as he arrived bearing print of "The Cat's Paw" for showing at Fox convention.

"CHILD'S GUIDE TO LOVE IN TALKIES"

In Which Beverly Nichols, Author and Editor, Records Boy's Questions and Mummy's Replies

By BEVERLY NICHOLS

The scene is any big cinema, during the performance of any big love-"talkie." The child, having been promised Mickey Mouse, is feeling somewhat restive by the minor allure of an actress who is fluttering her titanic eyelashes across the screen. Also, he does not understand what it is all about, as the following dialogue suggests.

Q. Why is the lady making those funny faces, Mummy?

A. Ssh!

Q. But, Mummy . . .

A. Do not rattle your bull's eye in the bottle. Hold them still.

Q. There she is again, Mummy. Why . . .

A. She is waiting for the man she loves.

Q. Do women always make funny faces when they are waiting for the men they love, Mummy?

A. They are not funny faces.

Q. If I made faces like that at school . . .

A. Be quiet!

Q. And why is she squirting scent on the cushions?

A. I really don't know.

Q. And on herself, too? Does the lady smell peculiar, Mummy?

A. Do not be disgusting.

Q. Then why is she squirting scent all over herself?

A. She wants to attract the man she is waiting for.

Q. Will he be attracted by all that scent?

A. Yes . . . yes!

Q. How do you know?

A. I don't know.

Q. How do you know she isn't doing it because she smel—

A. I forbid you to ask such revolting questions. Listen to the story.

(The lover now enters. She flies to his arms. She cries: "You are so str-r-rong, so str-r-rong, and I so weak, so ver-r-ry we-e-eak! That is why I lo-o-ve you, and that is why you lo-o-ve me!")

Q. Why does the lady love the gentleman because he is so str-r-ong, Mummy?

A. I really don't know.

Q. Is he going to lift her over something?

A. Do not be ridiculous.

Q. And why does the gentleman love the lady because she is so we-e-ak?

A. He wishes to protect her.

Q. Is something going to hit her?

A. No. He wants to protect her from the world.

Q. What is the world going to do to the lady?

A. It has treated her very cruelly.

Q. Then how did she get all those diamonds?

A. I did not mean money.

MR. BEVERLY NICHOLS is a whimsical, scholarly young man who lives in an English village and writes, mostly in that introversive manner of most writers, about his mental insides and his environment. He was over in the New York region for a spell in 1928-29 being the editor of the American Sketch, a publication which did not precisely "come off." Meanwhile, Mr. Nichols has written many books, among them: "Twenty-five," his autobiography, "The Star Spangled Manner," "Evensong," "Down the Garden Path" and "A Thatched Roof." Recently Mr. Nichols contributed to "The Sketch," published in London, a screed on the subject of a little boy's reactions to a typical motion picture sex drama, which we reproduce here solely because of its large educational value. If you find it amusing, that is sheer velvet.

—T. R.

Q. Then what did you mean?

A. The world has misunderstood her.

Q. And is that why she is so weak?

A. Oh—yes, yes.

Q. Well, if she is so weak, why is she biting the gentleman on the ear?

A. Ssh!

Q. And if he is so strong, why doesn't he stop her?

A. They are in love with each other.

Q. Is that why she is biting the gentleman on the—

A. Yes!

Q. Does he like being bit—

A. I don't know.

Q. Do you bite Daddy on the ear, Mummy?

A. Certainly not!

Q. Then aren't you in love with him?

A. It is quite a different thing.

Q. Suppose you went up to Daddy and bit him on—

A. Be quiet!

(The passionate intensity of the scene deepens. Suddenly there is a lull, and the Man, with the whites of his eyes gleaming in a highly significant manner, whispers a Suggestion in the Woman's ear. She instantly leaps to her feet, registering Horrified Astonishment. And she cries the words which every nice woman in the audience has been waiting for: "NOT THAT! NOT THAT!")

Q. (In tones of bell-like innocence.) Not what, Mummy?

A. Ssh!

Q. But, Mummy, not what?

A. Be quiet, and listen to the play.

Q. I am listening to the play. And all the lady does is to keep on saying "Not that."

A. Yes, yes.

Q. Not what, Mummy?

A. (Desperately.) She does not want him to go too far.

Q. Where does she want him to go to, then?

A. I mean, she does not want him to make love to her too much.

Q. Then why does she keep on biting him on the ear?

A. I do not know.

Q. How much does she want him to make love to her, Mummy?

A. Listen!

(The heroine's voice croons out, like an intoxicated saxophone: "Can't we be . . . just . . . fr-r-riends?")

Q. Isn't the lady friendly with the gentleman already, Mummy?

A. It seems not.

Q. Then why does he let her bite him on the—

A. Oh, do be quiet!

Q. I'd have to be jolly friendly with Harry Smith before I let him bite my ears.

A. I hope you will never do anything so vulgar.

Q. Is the lady being vulgar, Mummy?

A. No. She is just in love.

Q. Can't one be vulgar when one's in love?

A. Love alters everything.

Q. Then, if the lady is in love, why does she keep on saying "Not that?"

A. She is married to another man.

Q. Does she say "Not that" to her husband?

A. Oh . . . oh . . . you are insufferable!

Q. There she is again. Not what, Mummy?

A. Why can't you listen?

Q. I am. But, Mummy, not what?

A. I shall have to take you out.

Q. Not what?

(Icy voice from behind: "Some people have funny ideas! Bringing little boys to see films of this sort. Modern education, I suppose!")

(They stumble out of the darkened theatre. In the distance the child's voice can be heard querulously asking, "Not what? . . . Not what? . . . Not what?" And meanwhile the heroine is continuing to repeat "Not that! . . . Not that! . . . Not that!" But, somehow, she does not sound determined as she sounded a moment ago. So perhaps it is just as well that they went.)

DOUBLE BILLS LOSE BY 5 TO 1 IN SURVEY

Final Returns from Questionnaire of MPPDA Coast Office Show 1,182 Opposed to Practice, With Only 217 in Favor of It

A vote of five to one against double featuring is registered in the final tabulation of returns from questionnaires sent to representative organizations and individuals throughout the country, from the office of Mrs. Thomas G. Winter of the studio relations department of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America. The complete results bear out the story told by the first analysis of returns, in March.

In reply to the questionnaires, 1,399 organizations and individuals representing organizations, cast their votes—1,182 against double features and 217 in favor.

The problem, as a distribution policy issue, was brought to a head recently when discussions in New York concerning the possibility of a 1934-35 contract clause outlawing the practice became known.

A number of distributors have in their contracts clauses specifying they will not be "obliged" to service theatres playing their product on double feature programs. Last week in Philadelphia the distributors' right to ban double featuring contractually was challenged in court by Harry Perelman, independent exhibitor, asking nullification of a Warner contract prohibiting double billing. A hearing was scheduled for Friday.

See Selectivity Defeated

"Cheap short subjects have too long constituted a cheap price level for shorts," said George Zehrung, chairman of the motion picture bureau of the Y. M. C. A. in New York. "Thus, when a really good short subject comes along, the distributor will have a hard time to convince the exhibitor that an added rental may be warranted."

Balance Lost, Says Federation Chairman

Mrs. Willis P. Miner, motion picture chairman of the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs, believes that double featuring is violative of well balanced and consistent programs.

"The program of double features weakens the entertainment interest of good pictures by coupling with the latter undesirable features," Mrs. Miner said. "One does not wish even to appear to indorse the undesirable while supporting the good. Also the double feature prolongs to a wearisome degree a program, and makes it impossible to plan a program that will include the children or family group. I also believe it to be an unfair competition in business, and the defense of independents that the discontinuance of the double feature program will increase unemployment is untenable, for it takes quite as many employees to show a single feature picture with appropriate short subjects as to show double features."

Independents contend that were a legal prohibition to be placed upon double bills, the resultant curtailment of a market for their product would virtually put them out of business.

Meanwhile, further indications that distributors are planning definite action came this week at the Warner regional sales convention in Atlantic City when Harry M. Warner, president, and Joseph Bernhard, theatre executive, told the salesmen that Warner theatres stand ready to make the first move for elimination of the policy if the slightest encouragement is indicated by other circuits and distributors.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will continue to include in its contracts the clauses prohibiting duals with any one of its percentage pictures. The great majority of the company's films are sold on this basis.

Dr. James E. West, chief Scout Executive, Boy Scouts of America, said:

"So far as is possible, I believe the local exhibitor should be held responsible by local communities for the type of motion picture entertainment they want. To accomplish this, the exhibitors' selection of product should be unhampered by trade practices in so far as that is practical. I believe that with a fair system of arbitration—as through local grievance and clearance and zoning boards—this can be accomplished without sacrificing the economics for the industry and the public alike which result from the wholesaling of motion picture merchandise.

"To my mind, the playing of two pictures on a single program is a vicious practice. It violates our traditional concept of drama. It is a surfeit. It precludes intelligent selection of one's entertainment. It almost eliminates the motion picture as a feasible source of recreation for children. So far as I can learn, it satisfies no one. If the spread of the double billing practice was a result of economic necessity in the years just passed, let us hope the necessity is now at an end."

Woolf–Shanberg Claim Approved

Fox Midland and Fox Rocky Mountain creditors late Wednesday in bankruptcy court in Kansas City approved the compromise agreement settling the Herbert M. Woolf-M. B. Shanberg controversy with Fox West Coast and Fox Rocky Mountain over the balance due on the Midland purchase.

Under the agreement, major creditors recognize the Woolf-Shanberg claims as superior and secured. The old agreement with Fox West Coast and subsidiaries will be superseded by one providing for long extension payments with no definite annual payments provided.

Woolf and Shanberg are to be paid periodically a part of the net income from theatre operations until the full amount of $478,000 has been paid, by Feb. 15, 1940.

C. Francis Jenkins, Inventor, Is Dead

C. Francis Jenkins, 67, who 40 years ago invented a device which was a forerunner of the present motion picture projector, died in Washington Wednesday.

Mr. Jenkins also is credited with development of a slow motion camera and a system of television transmission.

Film Daily Holds 22nd Tournament

The 22nd Golf Tournament sponsored by Film Daily was to be held on Thursday at the Great Oaks Golf and Country Club, Great Neck, L. I. There were nearly 150 entries.

Aside from the individual play, a feature was the pitting of teams representing the Motion Picture Club of New York and the Associated Motion Picture Advertisers against each other for the Film Daily Trophy, first donated in 1921 for the lowest net score.

Quigley Publications again offered a silver statuette for low gross.

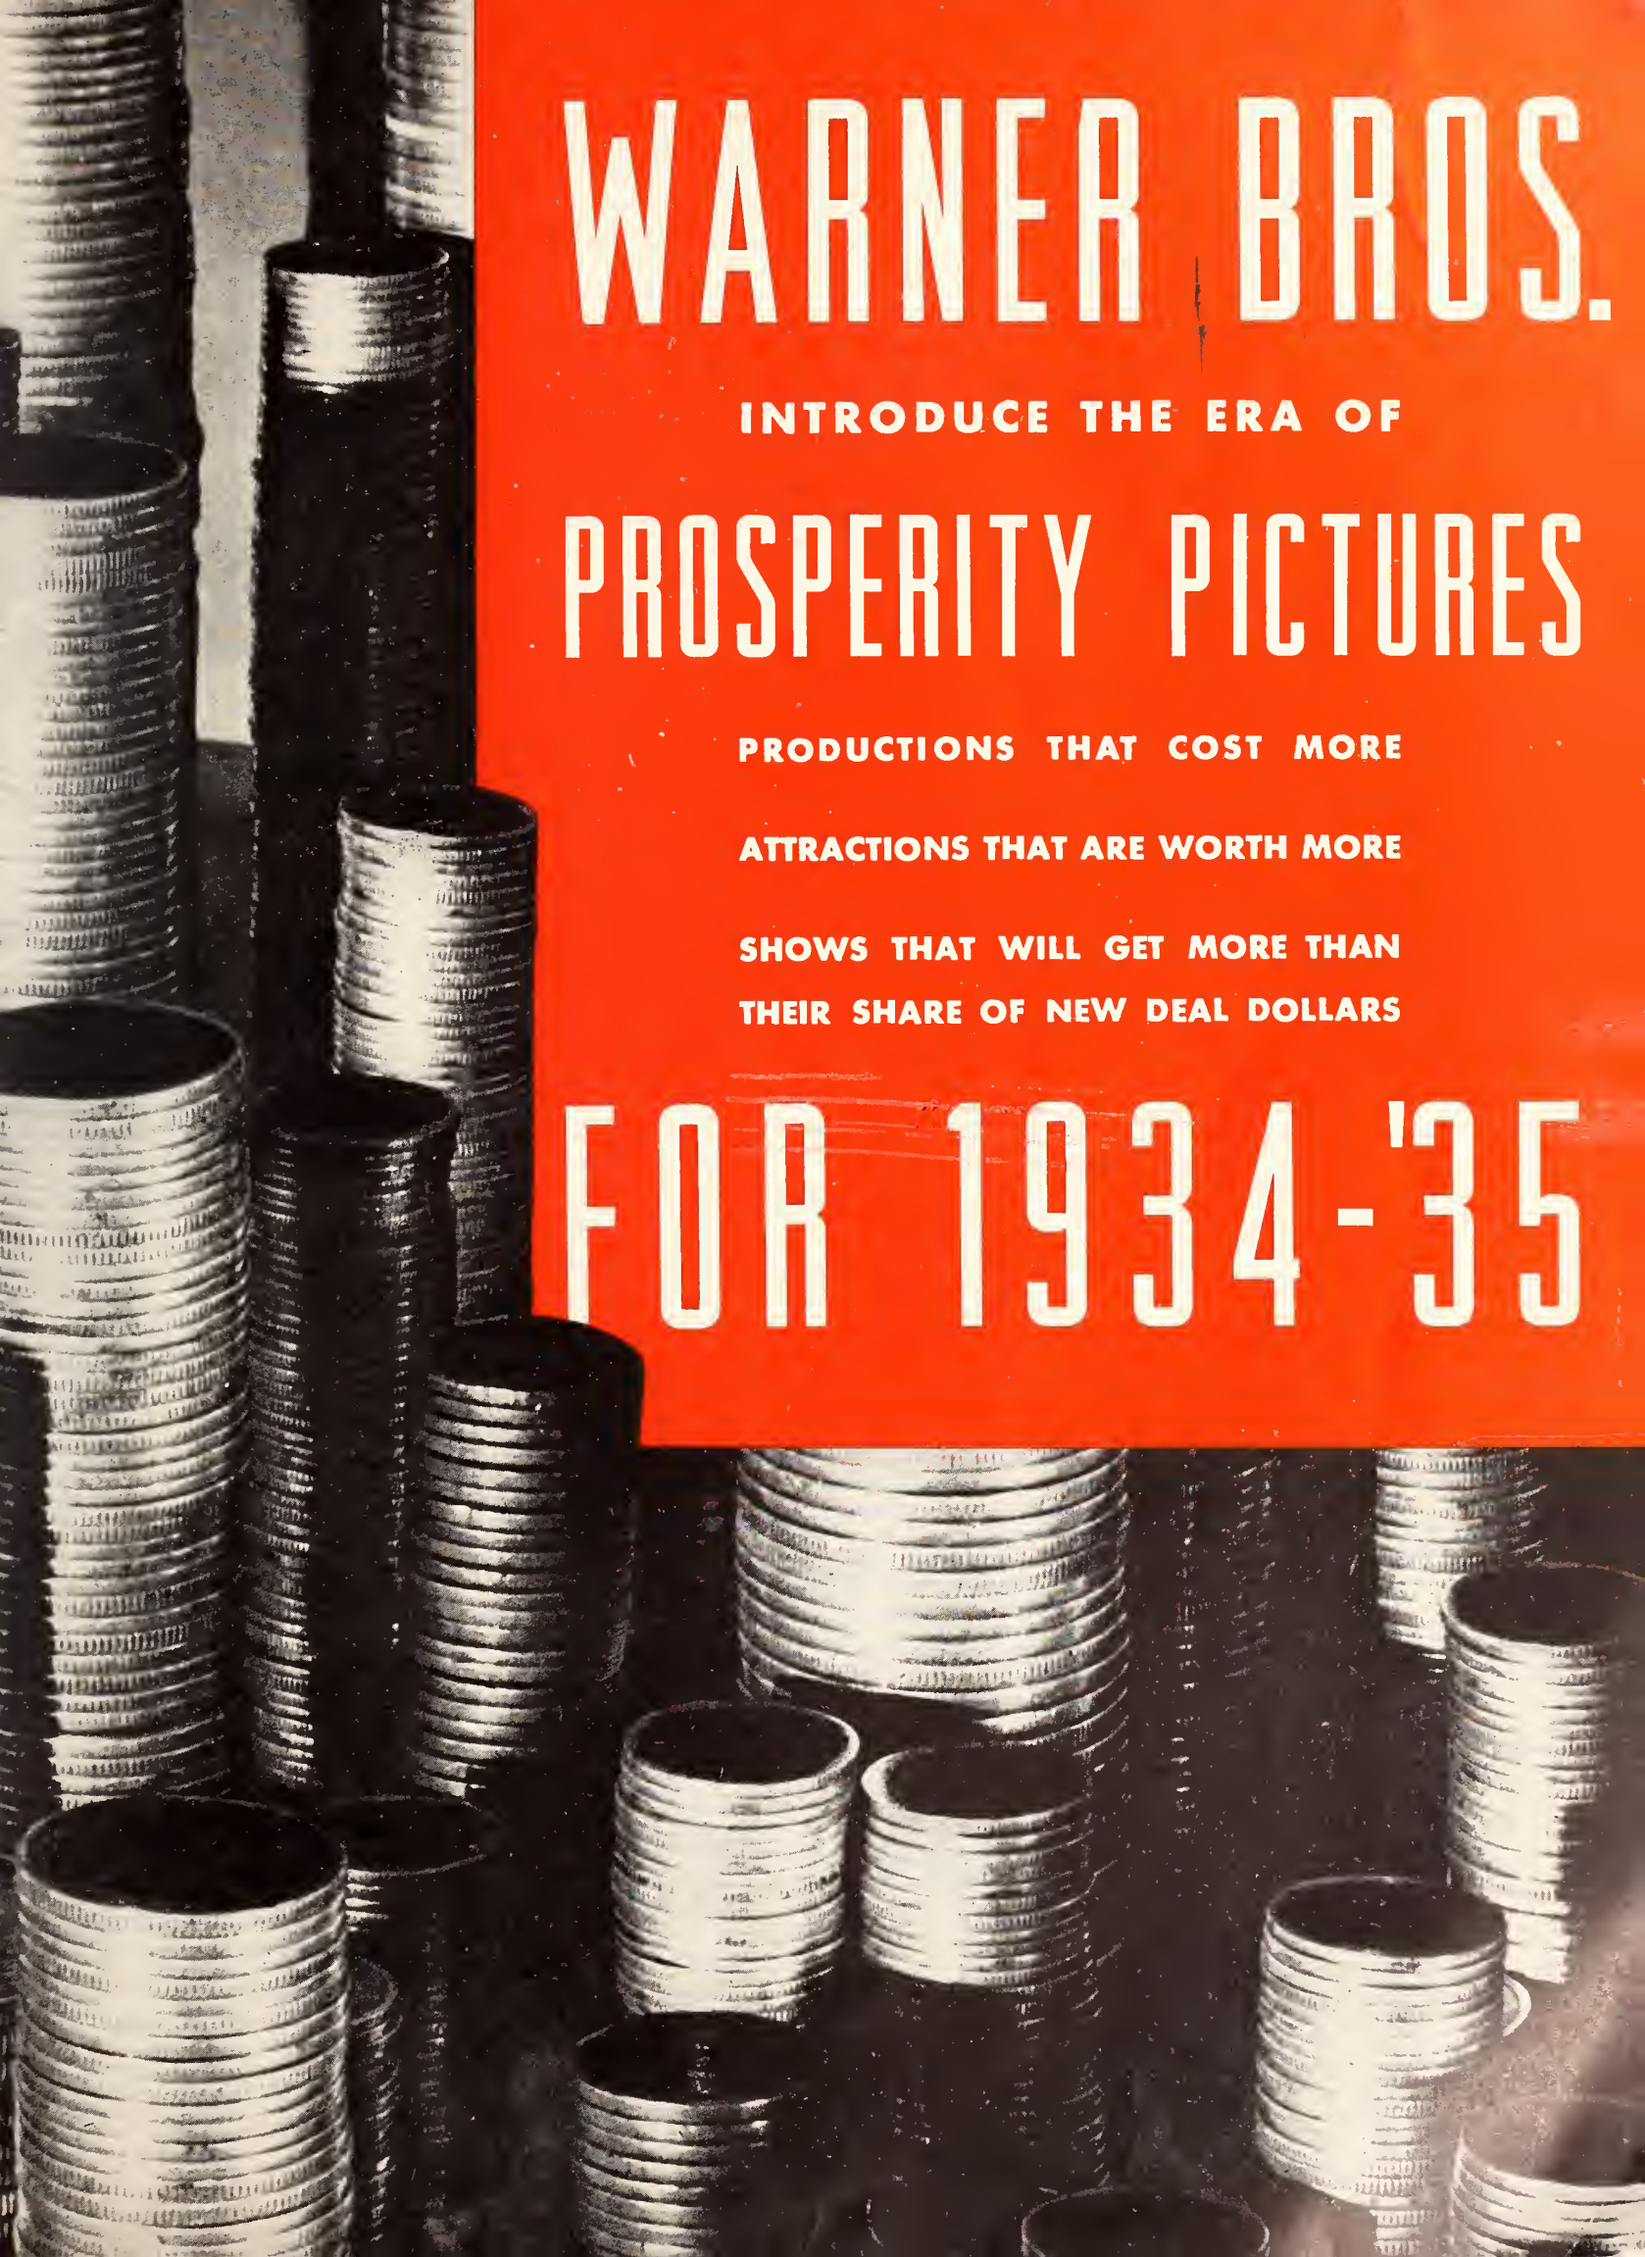
Max Fleischer contributed 200 Betty Boop dolls as souvenirs, while wine was donated by Melvin Hirsch, "Beyond Bengal" hats by Dave Mountan and surprise novelties from W. Ray Johnston and others.

New Saenger Plan Given to Referee

The Paramount Publix trustees in bankruptcy late Wednesday submitted to Referee John E. Joyce in New York a petition for hearing of a plan of reorganization for Saenger Theatres. The new company would have bondholders' support.

Under the plan Saenger is to withdraw from theatre operation in North Carolina, Florida and Texas. Thus Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama would be its field.

The plan also provides that E. V. Richards, operating receiver, will receive a 50 per cent stock dividend in the reorganized company. Paramount retains the other 50 per cent.



IATSE Convention Underway in Louisville

The International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Moving Picture Operators of the United States and Canada met in its 32nd annual convention in Louisville, Ky., on Monday of this week, (with 790 delegates present. The first session adjourned early Monday afternoon with the report of the resolutions committee set for Wednesday. Officers were to be named Thursday.

Speakers at the opening session were William C. Elliott, of New York, IATSE president; Mayor Neville Miller of Louisville, Peter Campbell, secretary of the Kentucky Federation of Labor; J. G. Woodward, president of the United Trade and Labor Assembly, and Wood F. Axton, president of the Axton-Fisher Tobacco Company.

Herrington Asks Senate Investigate Film Code

Senate investigation of the motion picture industry, including "the personalities and incidents leading to the promulgation of the code and the activities of the Darrow Recovery Review Board," was asked Wednesday of Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania by Fred Herrington, secretary of the M.P.T.O. of Western Pennsylvania.

WARNER BROS.
INTRODUCE THE ERA OF PROSPERITY PICTURES
PRODUCTIONS THAT COST MORE
ATTRACTIONS THAT ARE WORTH MORE SHOWS THAT WILL GET MORE THAN THEIR SHARE OF NEW DEAL DOLLARS
FOR 1934-'35

ALL THE WORLD'S THE STAGE FOR

"ANTHONY ADVERSE"

—BEHEMOTH OF BEST-SELLERS, WHICH WILL BE PRODUCED WITH 15 PRINCIPAL STARS AND THE LARGEST CAST OF FEATURED PLAYERS EVER USED IN ANY MOTION PICTURE.

FROM THE PRODUCERS OF "GOLD DIGGERS OF 1933"

GOLD DIGGERS OF 1935"

"I AM A FUGITIVE"
WAS A WARM-UP FOR PAUL
MUNI
IN "BLACK HELL"
THE STORY OF THE WAR
AMERICA IS IN TODAY
LEWIS DANIEL

IT'S TIME FOR ANOTHER "DAWN PATROL"–BY THE SAME AUTHOR, JOHN MONK SAUNDERS

"LAFAYETTE ESCADRILLE"

THE ADVENTURER EVERY MAN WOULD LIKE TO BE
...THE MAN EVERY WOMAN WOULD LIKE TO LOVE

"CAPTAIN BLOOD"

BY THE MOST POPULAR ROMANTIC WRITER SINCE DUMAS—THE AUTHOR OF "THE SEA HAWK"

RAFAEL SABATINI

THE BIG STAR PRO-DUCTION HE EARNED
WITH "WONDER BAR"
AL JOLSON
IN
"CASINO DE PAREE"

A RESPLENDENT MUSICAL
ALL THEIR OWN, SCIENTIFI-CALLY DESIGNED TO SHOW
OFF THE TREMENDOUSLY POPULAR PERSONALITIES OF RUBY KEELER
AND DICK POWELL

AN EXOTIC LOVE STORY SO UNUSUAL THAT IT DEMANDED THIS UNUSUAL STAR TEAM

DOLORES DEL RIO FRANCHOT TONE

"FAREWELL TO SHANGHAI"

AFTER 63 WEEKS ON BROADWAY

"SWEET ADELINE"

BY JEROME KERN AND OTTO HARBACH, AUTHORS OF A SCORE OF HIT SHOWS—A HUNDRED HIT SONGS, WILL BE BROUGHT TO THE SCREEN WITH THE SENSATIONAL SONG NUMBERS THAT MADE TORCH-SINGING A NEW ENTERTAINMENT TECHNIQUE . . . WITH ALL ITS AFFECTIONATE RECOLLECTION OF THE DAYS WHEN MOST OF US WERE YOUNG.

WARNER BROS. WILL PROVIDE YOUR BOX OFFICE WITH THE ASSURED DRAWING-POWER OF A FORTUNE IN FAMOUS BOOK BUYS

A FEW OF WHICH ARE SHOWN HERE—PLUS SUCH CELEBRATED STAGE HITS AS

BIG-HEARTED HERBERT" • "THE FIREBIRD" APPLESAUCE" • "A PRESENT FROM MARGATE"

Improving conditions invite expansion. This industry must get its rightful share of increased consumer expenditures. So in the coming season WARNER BROS. WILL TAKE THE LEAD IN ATTRACTING A DUE PROPORTION OF NEW DEAL DOLLARS TO THE THEATRES OF THE NATION . . . Pictures such as those just presented, produced on a more elaborate scale than has been attempted in the past four years, will enable show business to compete victoriously with all other luxury attractions—not by ruinous price-cutting, but on a sound financial basis of reasonable admission scales . . . We believe that these spectacular shows, and 38 others like them from this company, will lead the industry back to the great days of big-scale showmanship after years of forced economy. We know that only the most reckless of exhibitors will want to run their theatres next year without

WARNER BROS.' and FIRST NATIONAL'S

60 PICTURES FOR 1934-1935

Vitagraph, Inc., Distributors

FRENCH, WITH MARKET OVERRUN BY FOREIGN FILMS, AWAIT NEW QUOTA

Producers Consider Plan to Protect National Product Without Antagonizing Others; Three-Months Embargo Is Proposed

By PIERRE AUTRE

Paris Correspondent

With the approach of July 1, all the usual meetings and stories about "what will be the new French quota" are increasing and more frequent. The present French quota will end June 30, and everybody in the trade is arguing about the next one.

The 1933-34 quota had allowed importation of 140 dubbed pictures at a rate of 70 every six months. All foreign talkers were admitted without restriction if each was to be shown in not more than 15 French theatres, five of them in the Paris area.

Members of the "Chambre Syndicale Française de la Cinématographie" (producers) are now considering what would be the best system to protect the national production without antagonizing foreign companies—chiefly American—by such vexatious decisions as the former quota.

At this writing, I know that a meeting soon at the "Chambre Syndicale" will examine and discuss a plan which has been set up by some French independent producers as the code of the French cinema industry. It is probable that this plan will be subject to many modifications, but it is likely its structure will be retained as a basis for a full reorganization of the French industry.

The following outline has been sent to the 32 members of the board of the "Chambre Syndicale."

The plan is preceded by a statement on the status of the French industry in 1934.

Market Overrun by Foreign Films

During 1933 there were 418 new features released through the 4,600 cinema houses of France, among them 280 foreign features, or 67 per cent.

During the same year German cinemas, totaling 5,054, had only 208 pictures, among them 83 foreign pictures, or 40 per cent.

For the same period American houses had, for 12,500 theatres, 644 features, among them 137 foreign, or 21 per cent.

The 137 foreign talkers shown in the United States are of little account being exhibited only in a few theatres, and having general release very rarely.

During 1933, 685 pictures, among them 456 American and 196 British, have been shown in the 4,672 cinemas of the British Isles, or 70 per cent.

It is definitely established that French pictures can no longer recover their cost. The 138 pictures released in 1933 have cost at least 140 million francs. Of this 140 millions, receipts of French theatres allowed only a recovery of 97 millions for these productions. The total gross of all the French cinemas during 1933 was about 900 million francs, divided as follows:

Taxes (state and charities)	780 million francs
Part for the cinemas	360 million francs
Part for the Distributing Companies and print expenses	116 million francs
Short subjects	50 million francs
Part for feature producers:
French producers	97 million francs
Foreign producers	97 million francs
Total	900 million francs

The fact that 97 millions of the French receipts go to the French producers to recover 140 millions shows clearly that under these conditions French production is not operating profitably. There is a deficit of 43 millions which cannot be recovered by exportation.

It is established that in 1933 foreign companies have taken 250 million francs from the French market.

The following table shows this distribution:

Pictures		133 millions
Features (dubbings)	88 millions
Features (American and other foreign talkers)	9 millions
Short subjects	35 millions
Selling in Franch of non exposed film		83 millions
Negative	68 millions
Positive	15 millions
Booking of recording machines in the French studios		5 millions
Selling or booking of reproduction equipment in the French cinemas		10 millions
Recording royalties (sound)		5 millions
Total		235 millions

Block Booking and Blind Booking of Foreign Pictures Would Be Barred; Required Showings of Home Product To Be Increased

In France producers are paying more than anywhere in the world for recording and non-exposed film. They are obliged to book, at a price fixed by foreign companies, use of the foreign recording apparatus and to pay also a tax or royalty in regard to the footage recorded. The same producers are obliged to buy non-exposed film (negative or positive), from foreign companies.

The cost of the film used for a picture of eight reels and 20 prints is: In France, 156,000 francs; in England, 95,600 francs; in Germany, 117,750 francs; in U. S. A., 66,750 francs.

For the recording of sound, for film and 20 prints a French picture is costing nearly $6,000 more than an American picture.

High prices of film in France are due to the fact that there is no manufacturer of film in this country and because of high customs rates. These prices impose on the French producer an extra charge of about 50,000 francs for film, or about seven million francs of the whole 1933 production cost.

The French film employees, hit by the depression, are now in competition with foreign workmen, specially the German exiles.

French Exports Negligible

The depression in the French cinema industry has no connection with the world depression. The total receipts of all the French cinemas for 1933 is nearly the same as in 1932. The previous quotas have been shown as ineffectual. It has been looked upon by foreign interests as a vexatious decision and did not help the French producers.

The quota has neglected pictures under three reels, which are nearly all foreign and represent 15 per cent of the whole receipts.

The quota allows for 15 cinemas all the foreign talkers, which represent 6 per cent of the receipts.

The figure of 140 films for dubbing means very little. These pictures can make 88 million francs on the French market.

The quota protects only the printed pictures, or 27 per cent of the money received by the foreign companies in France.

Something else had to be found, and it is the following plan, which includes 10 main points. This plan asks for its application a law to be

(Continued on following page)

HOW FRENCH EXPORTS APPEAR

The following table indicates the number of pictures shown during 1933 in the various countries, with particular reference to the country of their origin:

Countries	American pictures	German pictures	British pictures	Various origins	French pictures	Totals
U. S. A.	507	60	26	34	17	644
ENGLAND	456	14	196	11	8	685
GERMANY	65	125		8	10	208
SPAIN	240	80		20	70	410
ITALY	165	53	11	31	41	270
CZECHO-SLOVAKIA	20	80	9	35	26	144
FRANCE	181	59	20	20	138	418

PERCENTAGE OF IMPORTATIONS

The following table indicates the number of pictures shown during 1933 in each of the countries listed, and the percentage of those pictures which were of foreign origin:

1933 Countries	Theatres	Pictures released in 1933	National Production	Imported Features	Percentage
ITALY	2,500	301	31	270	89%
ENGLAND*	4,672	685	196	489	70%
FRANCE	4,600	418	138	280	67%
GERMANY	5,054	208	125	83	40%
U. S. A.*	12,500	644	507	137	21%

* In these countries foreign talkers rarely have general release and are only shown in a few theatres.

FRENCH PLAN OWN CODE

voted by the parliament. It is somethig new and nearly revolutionary.

Plan for French Film Code

1. Embargo on all importation of foreign pictures during three months as soon as this plan will be effective.

2. Definitive elimination of the present quota. Distributors and exhibitors will have to sell or to book and show a percentage of French pictures. This percentage, low now, will be more stringent every year. Every new picture to be shown will be registered by an organization different from the censor. Some fines and even corporal sanctions could be taken against those who violate these provisions. No differentiation would be made between the original versions and the dubbed versions.

3. A special license will be created for producers, distributors and exhibitors. This license will be taken back in two cases:

(a) bankruptcy.

(b) infraction of the law of protection of the French industry.

4. No producer's license will be allowed to a company which has capital of less than 500,000 francs. No distributor's license for a company whose capital is less than 250,000 francs.

5. French workers will be protected by the strict application of the law on foreign employees. There will be a special quota for people working in the studios. Dubbing of foreign pictures will be done in French studios.

6. Film prices: elimination of the quota on non-exposed film. Independent producers will be able to buy film cheaper in Berlin or London.

7. Elimination of block booking and blind booking for foreign pictures. Booking will be looked upon as a real contract only after the trade show or the first public showing of every picture.

8. The "ad valorem" tax for the importation of printed films, positive or negative will be established as follows:

15 francs per meter for original positive prints in French language.

25 francs per meter for original positive prints in foreign languages.

300 francs per meter for negative prints or duplicating prints of foreign pictures in French talking version.

500 francs per meter for negative prints or duplicating prints of foreign pictures in foreign language.

9. These additional custom taxes will be paid to the French cinema industry for the cinema houses which have shown more than the number of French talkers imposed by the new quota.

10. A central distribution office for French pictures will be established in each of the chief cities of the world. These offices will get an automatic option on every picture produced in France by a company not having foreign direct agencies. These offices will be able to acquire their own theatres in the chief cities to show French pictures.

The plan does not touch the important question of limitation of the number of the pictures. But it obliges distributors and exhibitors to book and to show a quota of French pictures, similar to the English quota.

French Producers Partly at Fault

At the present time all French producers and distributors would prefer to take any kind of decision rather than to remain in their present situation.

The fault lies also with the French producers. They have never concentrated their efforts to make pictures of international appeal. The best French pictures, such as René Clair's "Under the Roofs of Paris," "The Million," and some others, have been very good money makers in all the foreign countries. French producers have made too many local pictures, which are nearly always vulgar. That is why foreign pictures, especially American talkers, have had so much success in Paris and in such cities as Lyons, Bordeaux, Nice, Marseilles.

Anybody must acknowledge that French production needs protection, just as do English, German or Italian. Until now the former quota and restriction never gave good results and always brought a fight between foreign distributors and French producers and distributors.

There must be another way. Foreign distributors and French producers and distributors must not be enemies. They must work together for the prosperity of the industry and of the exhibition which will bring them prosperity.

"Little Women" Breaks Records

The gala premier of the RKO Radio picture "Little Women" was on May 3 at the Cinema Edouard VII, Paris, for the benefit of the Charities of the Junior Guild of the American Cathedral Church of the Holy Trinity, under the patronage of American Ambassador Jesse Straus, and Mrs. Straus.

Seats had been sold at $7.30, $5.30 and $3.30 and the house was filled with all the American personalities in Paris. The picture opened for the public the next day and is doing splendidly. For the first week—May 4 to 11, receipts totaled $10,733, for a house of 600 seats with only three performances a day. The $10,733 breaks all the receipts records of this theatre.

"Little Women" is shown in the original English version, distributed directly by RKO Radio Pictures' Paris office headed by Harry W. Leasim. French journalists have been enthusiastic about "Little Women" and have written that the picture is a real masterpiece and one of the best pictures, perhaps the best, shown here for years.

'Stampede' MPTO Of Pennsylvania

The Independent Exhibitors' Protective Association in Philadelphia on Tuesday walked into a meeting of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey and Delaware and attempted to stampede the MPTO out of existence through proposals calling for withdrawal of the MPTO unit from the national body; elimination of affiliated theatres from membership in the organization; changing the name of the organization and holding a new election of officers.

Considerable disorder is reported to have ensued and when quiet was restored MPTO members gained control of the meeting and defeated all four proposals, and, in addition, passed a ruling prohibiting any one from being a member of both the MPTO and the independent group.

The new Independent Exhibitors' Protective Association came into existence with the filing of a suit last week by Harry Perelman, Philadelphia independent exhibitor, against major distributors over contractual restrictions on double bills. The new group has voted to make application for a charter.

For charter application purposes the officers are listed as: Morris Wax, president; Morris Namez, treasurer; Raymond Schwartz, secretary. Directors, beside the officers, are Columbus Stamper and Louis Berger.

Independents Aid Allied Film Plan

New support from independents for the plan of Allied States Association to sponsor a production list next season was evident following a meeting of exhibitor representatives from eight eastern states at the Hotel Astor, New York, last week, when a three-point program, looking to more advantageous terms on product, was discussed.

A committee of five, known as the Independent Film Buyers' Protective Group, will work out the details of the plan. On the committee are: Lou Blumenthal, chairman; Dr. J. B. Fishman, John Benas, Edward Ansin and David Barrist. Harry Brandt and Sidney Samuelson, Allied president, acting in an ex-officio capacity, were named to cooperate with the committee.

The committee was directed to explore all possible sources of product, with a view to lining up films that may be purchased on "fair-play" terms; to seek definite tieups with certain existing companies whereby additional product will be made available to independent theatres; to organize and formulate protective measures against unfair rentals, percentages and the like.

The meeting was held under the joint auspices of the Independent Theatre Owners' Association, New York, and the MPTO of Eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey and Delaware. Both have pledged their support to Allied in the production plan, in return for Allied support in their opposition to certain sales policies. Allied is expected to reveal details of the plan after the national directors' meeting in New York June 13 and 14.

The MPTO of Maryland, local Allied organization, has gone on record opposing any production activity by national Allied. Replying to a bid for support from Mr. Samuelson, Frank Hornig, heading the local unit, stated the organization was equally opposed to exhibitors in production and producers in exhibition.

Allied has passed a resolution opposing the entrance of the major producers into the trailer business, and urges upon exhibitors the "extreme danger of encouraging the distribution of trailers by the major producers," asking the exhibitors to refrain from purchasing trailers from producers "so far as the proper conduct of theatres will permit."

Sam Kaplan Must Serve Prison Term

Sam Kaplan, ousted president of the Motion Picture Operators' Union, Local 306, New York, and Theodore Greenberg, an organizer, must serve six-months sentences for coercion, the court of appeals in Albany ruled Tuesday in affirming their conviction.

Three others were fined $500 each and four were fined $250 each, but Kaplan and Greenberg were the only ones appealing.

Sam Kaplan headed one of two factions in the union. Acts of violence charged against Kaplan's faction and the expulsion of members of the rival group from the union were alleged to have been designed to stop court actions for an accounting, for damages and for an injunction.

The Hollywood Scene

CRAFT CONFUSED BY CIVIC ATTACKS
TEN FILM START, SEVEN FINISHED
FAMINE OF STORY MATERIAL FACED
ROTHACKER MAY BE PRODUCER AGAIN

by VICTOR M. SHAPIRO

THERE is confusion among the craft in Hollywood. The cause for the perplexity lies in the unified attacks by religious, club and parent-teacher groups.

Hollywood, a bit stunned, is trying to analyze all phases of the crisis.

The Production Code Committee has had but routine difficulty with producers during the last two months. Three official requests for changes were made. Two companies agreed to make changes, the third refused and turned the film over to a jury of three, whose decision coincided with the Code Committee's, and the changes were effected.

Scripts being turned in prior to filming are living up to the Code, with but few exceptions.

Advertising matter is in step with Code requirements. Fox West Coast recently dispatched instructions to all advertising men of the circuit to adhere to the tenets of the Code and whenever possible to use the ads prepared by the companies as already approved by the Advertising Committee.

Writers Vigilant, Too

Writers, sensing that the final onus for bad taste in scripts may fall on them, are giving careful attention to the wording of any questionable lines.

On the surface, by and large, Hollywood is complying. Underneath, however, in certain quarters, is a seething palaver. At present this dissatisfaction is "just so much talk."

One group, which always opposes anything the companies do, says, "The handwriting's been on the wall for a long time; the industry has been spoiling for just this kind of an attack for years and never did anything about it—not so far as their pictures are concerned."

Another group see in the move an attempt to make the picture industry a political football, which ultimately may vest control and authority over films in some governmental agency as a neutral body. A director suggested that "Washington will then be reading scripts, so at least we'll have something to shoot from."

Some justify crusading by a moral institution like a church, considering it within their province to obtain types of films in keeping with religious precepts. Most of Hollywood refuses to see the Research Council as justified, however.

Not many in Hollywood understand why pictures alone have been singled out for the pillory when pulp magazines, sensational newspapers and periodicals, that exploit sex in devious ways, proceed on their even tenor.

Hollywood is somewhat nonplussed in view of the fact that newspaper syndicate articles, reaching twice the number that see films, go without censure though they describe kidnaping and other crimes in detail, run photos and drawings telling how.

Some of the bigger producers are ruffled at the general attitude of the press, which, by editorial, cartoon, comment and opinion, seems to have stepped out of its way to take a slap at the industry.

What Hollywood intends doing about the whole matter is a moot question. At present it is pursuing the policy of passive non-resistance, waiting for someone to assume leadership if and when a counter offensive may be launched.

Much is heard about "the best defense is the bold attack," but, seemingly, no one wants to be the "goat" in the fight. No official meetings have been held. An unverified report has it that the industry intends using the newsreels and the radio to offset the assaults.

▽

Ten Pictures Launched

Ten pictures were started and seven were finished, in the week of May 25 to June 1. Fox put two before the cameras, as did MGM. Radio, Paramount, Reliance, Mascot, Monogram and Willis Kent Productions each began one. Of the newly finished pictures, Paramount is credited with two, the others coming from Fox, Monogram, Columbia, Mayfair and Invincible.

The new ones at Fox are "She Was a Lady," in which Helen Twelvetrees, Donald Wood and Frank Morgan will be seen, and "Marie Galante," introducing a new screen personality, Ketti Gallian, in a cast including Spencer Tracy, Ned Sparks, Leslie Fenton and Stepin Fetchit. MGM's starting pictures are "Sacred and Profane Love," teaming Joan Crawford and Clark Gable, and "Student Tour," with Charles Butterworth, Jimmy Durante and Maxine Doyle.

At Radio, "A Hat, a Coat, a Glove," with Ricardo Cortez and Barbara Robbins, finally got going. Reliance started "The Count of Monte Cristo," the Dumas classic, with Robert Donat and Elissa Landi. The Mascot contribution is "Burn 'Em Up Barnes," a serial, featuring Jack Mulhall, Frankie Darro and Lola Lane. Monogram's new picture is "Happy Landings," in which Ray Walker and Jacqueline Wells have the leading roles. A western, "Guns for Hire," was put on the stages by Willis Kent Productions. Lane Chandler and Sally Darling are featured. The new Paramount picture is "52 Weeks for Fleurette," with W. C. Fields and Helen Mack.

Of the completed pictures, Paramount's pair are "She Loves Me Not," with Bing Crosby and Miriam Hopkins, and "Shoot the Works," featuring Jack Oakie, Dorothy Dell, Roscoe Karns and the late Lew Cody. "Charlie Chan's Courage," with Warner Oland and Drue Layton, was finished at Fox. Monogram moved "Shock," co-starring Ralph Forbes and Gwenllian Gill, to the cutting room as did Mayfair with "Alice Takes a Hand," in which Buster Crabbe and Gloria Shea will be seen. Invincible completed "House of Strangers" with Erich von Stroheim, Wera Engels and Leslie Fenton. Columbia's completed feature is "The Defense Rests," Jack Holt, Jean Arthur and Nat Pendleton.

Fewer Productions

Merian Cooper's comfortable share of Radio Studio profits last year, his marriage to Dorothy Jordan, the Honolulu honeymoon and the arrival of a daughter, motivated Mr. Cooper's desire to produce fewer films for Radio, for which few he recently signed.

Other there are in the colony who also are either producing or directing fewer pictures for next year, due to the income tax stipulations which takes up forty per cent of returns, in most instances.

Enforced leisure among the higher bracket class, for whatever reason, is making room for others in the lower brackets.

▽

From Ticker to Screen

Exhibitors who became acquainted with the stock market somewhere around 1929, or sold theatres for cash plus stock, will find an interesting sidelight anent stock transactions in Will Rogers' latest film, "Handy Andy."

In the picture, Rogers receives some cash and some stock when his wife importunes him to sell his drug store. The buyer of his store tells Rogers to hold the stock, and not sell until it hits $200.

What Rogers does in the film is a leaf from the experience of Sol Wurtzel, the producer of Mr. Rogers' latest. Years before 1929, before Mr. Wurtzel knew what a broker's office looked like, a banker took him to a ticker shop to see what the market was doing. There the banker met an industrial magnate. Vociferous were their greetings. The magnate urged the banker to "buy, buy, buy" a certain stock. After the magnate left, the banker called a customer's man and "sold, sold, sold" the stock in question.

The banker explained, "Whenever they tell you to buy, that's the time to sell, because that's what that magnate is doing."

Years roll by. It is now early 1929—boom

(Continued on following page)

COAST BANDITS MISS U. A. PAYROLL

The three thugs that held up the Bank of America across the thoroughfare from the United Artists studio in Hollywood last Thursday afternoon missed a few thousand due to the holiday. The gunmen missed their guess about the United Artists pay date and showed up two days too late.

HOLLYWOOD SCENE

days. Mr. Wurtzel is busy making pictures. The telephone rings. It's the banker who first initiated him into the secret mysteries of the stock market.

"Hello, Sol," said the banker. "I thought I'd let you in on something sweet—to pay for a new car or something. Buy some ——— common, and buy plenty. It's going up ten points in a week."

"Okay," said Wurtzel, "I appreciate the tip."

To the telephone he went, called his broker and "sold, sold, sold," and made himself plenty.

In "Handy Andy" this experience, dramatically built by Will Rogers, is one of the big comedy spots, and if the banker sees the film he'll know for the first time how his advice of years ago did double duty for Sol Wurtzel, in finance and in film.

▽

Faminine of Story Material

Famine has hit the film coast, with producers crying for story material. Great is the demand for new dramas, novel romances, intriguing plots with fresh viewpoint. Writers' services are at a premium and story departments are scouring sources once they spurned—the classics.

Yet, with all this dearth, one studio turned down more than fifty stories recommended for purchase, which later were bought by other studios.

Suggestions from exhibitors, once frowned upon, are now received eagerly. Showmen's ideas are invited, but on published material only, or on trends.

Acuteness of the present story famine is due somewhat to the many limitations or restrictions, imposed by nationalistic sensitiveness of other countries, censor boards or by the self-imposed provisions of the Production Code.

Astute producers are reverting to originals, but from staff writers only, handing out assignments with attachments suggesting exactly what cannot be included in films.

▽

News Flashes

Watterson Rothacker established headquarters at General Service Studios last week. He may re-enter the production field as an independent producer.

* * *

Eddie Cantor is now making a personal appearance at the Orpheum in San Francisco, receiving 50 per cent of the gross. Asked what he was going to do with all the money, he said, "After I pay the orchestra there won't be much left."

* * *

Jefferson Davis, local attorney, recently appointed as the impartial man on the Studio Labor Board, returned from New York. All complaints now on file with the State NRA compliance board will be transferred to him.

* * *

Herman A. Wohl and C. F. Kimball have formed a new producing organization under the corporate name of California Pictures, Inc., and will make a series of eight action drama pictures for the state right market. They have acquired the exclusive rights to the California Studios for their production headquarters.

* * *

Adding impetus to the current "Better Films Movement," the local Parent-Teachers Association, representing 17 Hollywood public schools, has entered into a deal with the management of the Mirror theatre whereby they will stage Saturday matinees for children, showing programs of their own selection.

* * *

In line with encouraging new talent within their own ranks, Paramount last week promoted three assistant directors. Charles Barton and Arthur Jacobson have been promoted to directorship, co-directing the first of four westerns starring Randolph Scott. John Paul Jones, former writer and assistant director, was made assistant to William LeBaron.

* * *

Howard A. McDonnell, former general manager for General Service Studios, has been engaged by Columbia to succeed N. M. Stephenson, studio comptroller, who resigned.

* * *

Earl Sinks and Howard J. Sheehan filed suit against Fox West Coast asking for $500,000 damages on alleged breach in the operation of the Iris, Hollywood and Egyptian theatres in Hollywood. The plaintiffs charge the West Coast, by changing the policy of the Egyptian theatre without their consent, jeopardized the earning power of the Iris and Hollywood houses. Not only did West Coast, according to the charges, change the Egyptian over to double features, but also gave the house first choice of pictures.

Gillmore Reelected Equity President

Frank Gillmore was reelected president of the Actors' Equity Association for another three-year term and the other candidates of the nominating committee were likewise selected, at the annual meeting in New York last week.

By the narrow margin of one vote the liberal faction of the association carried one of its main objectives, a constitutional amendment to extend voting privileges to members one year or less in arrears on dues. The proposition still must be submitted to the paid-up membership in a referendum.

Others elected were Osgood Perkins, Florence Reed, Arthur Byron and Peggy Wood, vice-presidents; Leo Curley, recording secretary; Paul Dullzell, treasurer; George Arliss, Eddie Cantor, Katharine Cornell, A. G. Andrews, Augustin Duncan, George Heller, Victor Kilian, Philip Loeb, Louise V. Prussing, Albert Van Dekker, councillors. The councillors are elected for a five-year term.

The Actors Emergency Association was formed last week by 50 actors to work for more relief for actors, and, specifically, the increase of P. W. A. dramatic projects.

SIGNED . . .

Columbia

Hugh White, Nick Copeland and Charles Wilson complete cast of "The Hell Cat". . . . Harold Huber, Reginald Barlow and Stanley Mack engaged for "Special Agent". . . . Lambert Hillyer to direct "The Defense Rests".... "Blind Date" will be directed by R. William Neill. . . . Walter Brennan, Nick Thompson and George Humber added to "Whom the Gods Destroy". . . .

Fox

Leslie Fenton signed for "Marie Galante". . . . Ned Sparks, Walter Connolly and Louise Dresser in "Servants' Entrance". . . . Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen teamed in "Dames Is Dynamite," Raoul Walsh to direct. . . . Jack Donahue, dance director and actor, awarded contract. . . . Sam Hellman preparing script of "Lottery Lovers". . . .

Mascot

Michael L. Simmons loaned from Reliance to collaborate with Earle Snell on adaptation of "Young and Beautiful". . . .

▽

MGM

Jean Parker assigned feminine lead in "Have a Heart". . . . "Her Excellency's Tobacco Shop" will star Ramon Novarro. . . . Hale Hamilton in "One Hundred Per Cent Pure". . . . C. Henry Gordon and Lionel Atwill increase cast of "Stamboul Quest". . . . Mady Christians, Rosamond Pinchot given contracts. . . . Oscar Hammerstein, 2nd, to be associated with filming of musicals. . . . Robert Montgomery will star in "Hide-out," original by Mauri Grashin. . . . Charles Brabin will direct "Wicked Woman," with Mady Christians. . . .

▽

Monogram

Colin Clive and Joan Standing added to "Jane Eyre". . . . William Cagney and Robert Armstrong join "Flirting with Danger". . . . Betty Burbridge to do screen play of "Redhead" from the novel by Vera Brown. . . . Cast of "Shock" increased with signing of Reginald Sharland, Roy J. Pomeroy directing his original. . . .

▽

Paramount

Lee Tracy's first will be "Fifty-two Weeks for Florette" instead of "A Son Comes Home". . . . Leon Errol given part in "Notorious Sophie Lang". . . . Charles Brackett, Paul Moss, Lewis Foster, Dore Schary and Keene Thompson are additions to writing staff. . . . Ralph Murphy signs new directorial contract whereby he will direct for Charles R. Rogers and Paramount. . . . Joe Penner engaged for "The Big Broadcast of 1934". . . .

▽

RKO Radio

Dorothy Burgess cast for "A Hat, A Coat, A Glove". . . . Berton Churchill joins "Bachelor Bait". . . .

▽

United Artists

Lewis Milestone will direct "The Hundred Years to Come" (London Film). . . . Walter Walker, Ferdinand Munier and Irene Hervery in "The Count of Monte Cristo" (Reliance). . . . Marion Ballow, Harris Gordon and Bill Engel in "Our Daily Bread" (King Vidor).... Joan Gardner and Benita Hume cast for "The Private Life of Don Juan" (London Films)....

▽

Warner - First National

Alfred Green to direct Barbara Stanwyck and Ricardo Cortez in "A Lost Lady". . . . Franchot Tone opposite Dolores Del Rio in "Farewell to Shanghai". . . . Dorothy Tree replaced by Mariana Schubert in "British Agent". . . . Contracts to Gordon Westcott, Colin Clive and Helen Trenholme. . . .

FOX MOVIETONE NEWS

which first gave you talking newsreels

is first again

with another revolutionary step forward

READ ABOUT the most sensational

LAURENCE STALLINGS

1. It will be a NAME newsreel . . . with nationally known personalities. Laurence Stallings, one of America's greatest writers and dramatists, will be Editor. Lowell Thomas, outstanding ace of radio news broadcasters, will be Chief Commentator.

2. It will be DEPARTMENTALIZED. Each department will be handled by different and prominent authorities in their fields . . . names with box office . . . each in his own voice.

3. It will cover ALL news angles . . . combining the most popular features of modern newsreels, newspapers, radio and magazines.

WORLD COVERAGE Exclusive FOR THE development in newsreel history...

LOWELL THOMAS

4. It will be BIGGER . . . in every way . . . with upwards of 15 vitally interesting topics in every issue.

5. It will be DIFFERENT . . . type faces, titles, treatment of the news will be so radically changed and improved that it will bear no resemblance whatever to the present newsreel.

6. It will be EXCLUSIVE . . . from FOX and FOX alone will you get the unapproached, world-wide news-gathering from the organization that has made Movietone the envy of every other newsreel.

Producer: TRUMAN H. TALLEY

New FOX MOVIETONE NEWS

PROTECT YOURSELF now FOR NEXT SEASON!

After September 18th
you get the amazing

new FOX MOVIETONE NEWS

with exclusive world coverage!

SIGN FOR IT IMMEDIATELY

MACDONALD REFLECTS BRITAIN'S RECOGNITION OF FILM IMPORTANCE

Milliken Is Honor Guest at English Speaking Union; Exhibitors Protest Radio Competition; Moss Empires' Status Better

By BRUCE ALLAN
London Correspondent

Evidence of how fully the national importance of the cinema industry is recognized in high quarters was forthcoming this week in a message from Ramsay Macdonald, the prime minister, to a group of exhibitors in his constituency.

The theatre men wrote protesting against the absence of any provision in the Budget for reduction of the Entertainment Tax. Mr. Macdonald, replying through his secretary, makes a defense of the Chancellor of the Exchequer which sometimes reads almost like an apology. What is more important, he reiterates the Chancellor's statement in the House of Commons that the tax will come up for reconsideration if a surplus is obtained in the current financial year.

The Government attitude, as again defined by the Prime Minister, is that the restoration of unemployment benefits and salary cuts must have priority over all other claims for relief from the Exchequer. It is something to know, however, that tax revision ranks high on the list of other "claims to relief." The revision campaign, inside and outside the House of Commons, however immediately ineffective, has had a perceptible effect on the official mind.

▽

Ad Valorem Duty Move Up June 13

J. R. Remar's proposed amendment to remove the existing import duty on films as a method of introducing the suggestion of an ad valorem duty of 33 per cent, comes up in the House of Commons on June 12.

The object of this amendment is not a vote but a government statement on the principle. This is regarded as the first step in the campaign for taxation of American films with reduction of the entertainment tax as the excuse. A dozen members of Parliament are supporting Mr. Remar. Parliament cannot directly move for the new tax in the budget and the immediate aim of the amendment is thought to be propaganda.

▽

Sub-Standard Film

Sub-standard film is in the news this week. Efforts to establish agreement on uniformity of gauge throughout Europe have been renewed, with Paul Kimberley (Secretary of the British Kinematograph Society) and J. W. Brown (Secretary of the Film Institute), as British representatives. The way was cleared by the decision of the recent Rome conference against the 17.5 film.

The Permanent Executive Committee of the International Institute of Educational Cinematography insists on an agreement being reached before August 1.

At home, 16 mm. films are giving rise to some feeling among exhibitors, who see a danger of sub-standard versions of popular features being used by enterprises outside the trade to the detriment of established theatres.

At Sheffield it was asserted that local hotels and clubs had been offered copies of all films two months after the "standard" release date. For the film company concerned this was denied and a statement made that sub-standard films would be supplied only for purely private exhibition.

The doubtful point is whether a display to club-members (practically all of them potential or actual cinema patrons) is to be described as public or private and it is obvious that the point will have to be clarified.

▽

The Standard Contract

One suggestion is that a clause shall be inserted in the Standard Contract, making it a breach to hire, in sub-standard form, any film booked to play in a regular cinema

There are, however, many other disputable matters to be cleared up before the Standard Contract takes definite shape. At the moment another K.R.S.-C.E.A. conference on the problem is due and, in the background, is an exhibitors' move to appeal to the Board of Trade to appoint an arbitrator, with powers to draw up a definite form of contract. A resolution to this effect to the General Council of the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Association has been suspended until it is seen if negotiations with the renters show definite results.

▽

Protest German Plan Indorsement

Strong criticism is being made of a recent decision of the British Film Institute, acting on the advice of the British Kinematograph Society, to indorse the D. I. N. (German) system for 16 mm. sound-on-film standardization.

Protesting in a letter to Simon Rowson, president of the BKS, F. P. Culbert, managing director of RCA Photophone, said:

"The British Government in its various departments has invested considerably more money to date in both films and apparatus which follow the SMPE standard. . . . We are one of at least four British companies who are following the SMPE standard . . . there is only one British manufacturer to the standards now recommended by the BKS."

To all this, Mr. Rowson replied:

"Having listened very carefully to all the evidence that was produced in connection with the two standards (S. M. P. E. and D. I. N.) we had no difficulty in reaching a unanimous decision in favor of the continental standard."

"The Pathe machine," he said, "is based on a 17 mm. standard and no films based on any other standard could go through his machine."

▽

Milliken Honor Guest

The English Speaking Union is going to apply its objectives to motion pictures, with the aim of raising standards, declared Carl E. Milliken, secretary of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, in addressing a luncheon given him Tuesday on the eve of his sailing home.

The Duke of Sutherland, who presided, praised such pictures as "The Covered Wagon" and "Little Women," saying that these gave England a truer idea of America, as "Cavalcade" better represented England.

Lord Lee of Fareham, vice-president of Gaumont British, said he thought the proper development of British pictures was along the lines of the recently produced "Man of Arran," instead of "slavish imitation" of Hollywood. He added that Britain did not fear Hollywood's competition and that a spirit of friendly rivalry would be helpful to both countries.

▽

Protest Radio Competition

Hull branch of the CEA has protested to the General Council against any cooperation between the entertainments industry and the British Broadcasting Corporation.

This action is a sequel to the disastrous effects on box-office receipts of the recent broadcast of the Royal Command Performance. Throughout the United Kingdom people stayed at home to hear this star variety show, presented before King George, and receipts tumbled in every type of house.

▽

Moss Empires Status Improves

George Black, variety specialist to Gaumont-British, was elected a director of Moss Empires, Ltd., at the annual meeting. He has been responsible for the direction of Moss "twice nightly" policy since the tie-up with Gaumont-British.

A substantial profit had been earned to date this year, as against a loss for the corresponding period of last year.

A six months' dividend on the preference shares, which were two years in arrears at Dec. 31, 1933, will be paid on June 30.

▽

Gaumont-British Production Peak

Gaumont-British announces the early presentation of three special features, "Jew Suss," "Chu Chin Chow" and "Little Friend," which are expected to be a demonstration to the world that British production has taken another big leap forward, in technique, as well as in entertainment values.

▽

London Films Plans Own Studio

London Films will establish itself in its own studios, probably at Elstree, on the expiration of its studio lease next summer.

▽

Sliding Rental Scale Loses

The Kinematograph Renters' Society rejected the proposal of the CEA for a joint discussion of the advisability of inaugurating a sliding scale of rentals, permitting decreases in proportion to number of pictures bought.

London Films Plans Own Studio; Renters' Society Turns Down the Exhibitors' Proposal for a Sliding Scale of Rentals

Production Code Scrap of Paper Says Mundelein

Charging that those persons with whom he helped to draw up the present moral code for motion pictures regard the code as little more than a scrap of paper, George Cardinal Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago, on Tuesday issued a statement urging moral censorship of films.

In a letter addressed to Catholics in the Chicago diocese, the archbishop declared that when he helped draw up the moral code for films "we believed we were dealing with moral gentlemen."

"We were mistaken," the letter asserted. "To them it was just another scrap of paper."

Cardinal Mundelein also charged that in recent years "no other agency has exercised so debasing an effect on public morals as films." Sin is made to appear attractive and the producers treat vice as the accepted thing, he said.

At the same time the Cardinal said that many wholesome pictures are made and declared it is absurd for any one to say these wholesome films are not patronized.

"Catholic schools and spiritual leaders cannot stand supinely and see salacious films menace and destroy the souls of little children," the letter continued, "and for this reason, if for no other, the church urges a censorship in regulation from without.

"In Chicago and other large centers, work has already begun which will demonstrate the effectiveness of refusals to patronize theatres which continue to offer indecent and debasing pictures."

Cardinal Mundelein's statement was given an eight-column streamer head across the front page of the Chicago Tribune Tuesday.

Milwaukee Pupils Sign Film Boycott

As the result of a motion picture crusade inaugurated by the senior class of the Messmer High School in Milwaukee, approximately 3,300 students of the city's seven Catholic high schools this week signed a pledge to boycott motion picture theatres in the city for one week and thereafter to "attend only such movies as are approved by competent church authorities."

The movement also advocates passage of the Patman anti-block booking bill to do away with the present booking system.

A questionnaire recently distributed among 1,000 Messmer students showed that 208 attended film theatres once weekly; 182, twice a week; 38, three times, and 10 four times weekly. Twenty-five went to the pictures three times monthly; 180, twice a month, and 125, once.

Asks Federal Censorship

Bishop Thomas F. Lillis of the Kansas City diocese, expressed a hope for federal film censorship, at a district conference of Catholic priests in Springfield, Mo., last week.

Maryland U. Head Attacks Films, Radio, Cheap Literature

An attack on the screen, the radio and what he termed cheap literature was made by Dr. Raymond A. Pearson, president of the University of Maryland, last week at the commencement exercises in Baltimore.

"I think it will be admitted without argument," said Dr. Pearson, "that we have made more progress in respect to health and knowledge than in character. While science has had a profound effect in recent years on our health and material prosperity, there has been no such awakening of our character. We remember the prominence given a generation ago to three great influences upon the character of youth. They were the home, school and the church. Their teaching still continues, but it is being overshadowed by teaching of another kind, which comes from three other sources that are not so high minded and not so much interested in the best development of the youth of the nation. I refer, of course, to the lower type of radio broadcast and movies and cheap literature."

Lew Cody, Star of Films Since 1915, Dies in His Sleep

Lew Cody, man about town of Hollywood, long known as one of the screen's urbane villains, in both the era of the silent motion picture and the current talking film, died suddenly last week, discovered in his bed at his Beverly Hills home by a servant. Heart disease, was the verdict of the police surgeon hastily summoned, who concluded Mr. Cody had died peacefully in his sleep. He was 47 years old.

His last appearance on the screen of a Broadway theatre was in "Wine, Women and Song," in which, strangely enough, Lilyan Tashman also made her farewell appearance, though neither was aware of it. Three years ago Mr. Cody's wife, Mabel Normand, died of tuberculosis in a California sanitarium.

Born in Waterville, Me., Mr. Cody was variously active before he engaged in a motion picture career. Ambitious to become a doctor, he studied at McGill University, Montreal, in off hours appearing in amateur theatricals. Deciding to become an actor he attended dramatic school. One-night stands and complete obscurity were his start on the stage, then came vaudeville, stock and he became owner of five stock companies. As leading man for Bessie Barriscale in "Mating," he began his screen career, appearing in 1915 in his first success, "For Husbands Only." Stardom was his in such films as "Time the Comedian," "Exchange of Wives" and "A Slave of Fashion."

At various times under contract to MGM, Paramount, First National and other studios, Mr. Cody appeared rather infrequently in the past few years, although the advent of the talking mechanism proved no obstacle to him. Among his better known films were: "Tea for Three," "The Demi-Bride," "The Gay Deceiver," "His Secretary," "On Ze Boulevard," "Adam and Evil," "Revelation," "Shooting of Dan McGrew" and "So This Is Marriage."

Presbyterians Ask Federal Censoring Of Motion Picture

New impetus to the concentrated drive being made against salacious motion pictures developed last week when the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church, meeting in Cleveland, passed a resolution condemning certain film practices and urged passage of a law by Congress for a board of review of moral censorship.

The resolution read in part:

"We indict, as public enemies of the moral welfare and spiritual progress of the young of our land, those who are responsible for the production of the indecent and immoral pictures shown upon the screen."

The Reverend D. C. Buchanan, missionary to Japan, told the assembly: "One of the greatest detriments to missionary work is the type of motion picture exported from the United States. People in foreign lands, seeing these pictures, get the idea that every American woman is impure and that every American man carries a gun. Boys and girls attempt to copy the lives they see portrayed."

Dr. Buchanan's criticism was made during the period devoted to the report of the board of foreign missions. "I am ashamed of the films shown in Korea and Japan," he said.

Church Group Opposes Federal Film Censorship

The Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Missionary Society, meeting in Boston last week, disapproved government censorship of films, but advocated federal legislation which would prohibit block booking.

U. S. Supreme Court Rejects Paramount Creditor Review

The United States Supreme Court this week refused to take any action in the Paramount Publix trusteeship, rejecting a petition of Norman E. Bensinger, a creditor, for a review of an adverse decision in his suit to remove Charles D. Hilles, Eugene W. Leake and Charles Richardson as the company's trustees.

Mr. Bensinger's counsel told the court the trustees were disqualified by their business connections, pointing out that Mr. Leake is president of Film Securities Corp., and connected with the Chase National Bank, while Mr. Hilles is a director of the Bankers Trust Co., prominent in film financing, and that Mr. Richardson "is treasurer of Fox."

Trustee of Statewide Sues for $119,000

A suit in behalf of Statewide Theatres has been filed in federal court, Milwaukee, by the trustee in bankruptcy to recover $119,000 in cash and property from the M. L. A. Investment Company. The trustee charges the company obtained this cash and property to the detriment of Statewide creditors when it took over the Tower and Oriental theatres before Statewide was declared a bankrupt in 1933.

Certainly

FOX is proud of its new 1934-35 product...

but

FOX is just as proud of its current releases...

THE PICTURES YOU PLAY now...

Dates

that will stand out in your theatre's history!

BABY, TAKE A BOW

with

SHIRLEY TEMPLE

JAMES DUNN

CLAIRE TREVOR

Alan Dinehart

Produced by John Stone

Directed by Harry Lachman

Based on a play by James P. Judge

Screen play by Philip Klein and E. E. Paramore, Jr.

Released June 22nd

CHARLIE CHAN'S COURAGE

with

WARNER OLAND

Drue Leyton Donald Woods

Based on the novel, "The Chinese Parrot," by Earl Derr Biggers

Produced by John Stone

Directed by George Hadden

Screen play by Seton I. Miller

Released June 29th

SHE LEARNED ABOUT SAILORS

with

LEW AYRES
ALICE FAYE

HARRY GREEN

Frank MITCHELL & Jack DURANT

Produced by John Stone
Directed by George Marshall

Screen ploy by William Conselman and Henry Johnson. Based on the story by Randall H. Faye

Released July 6th

WARNER BAXTER

in

GRAND CANARY

with

MADGE EVANS

Marjorie Rambeau Zita Johann
Roger Imhof H. B. Warner

A Jesse L. Lasky Production
Directed by Irving Cummings

From the novel by A. J. Cronin
Screen ploy by Ernest Pascol

Released July 13th

SHE WAS A LADY

with

HELEN TWELVETREES

DONALD WOODS

RALPH MORGAN

Produced by Al Rockett
Directed by Hamilton MacFadden

Story by Elizobeth Cobb
Adaptotion by Gertrude Purcell

Released July 20th

WILL ROGERS

in

HANDY ANDY

with

PEGGY WOOD

Conchita Montenegro Mary Carlisle
Roger Imhof Robert Taylor

Produced by Sol M. Wurtzel

Based on "Merry Andrew" by Lewis Beach. Screen play by William Conselman and Henry Johnson. Adaptotion by Kubec Glasmon.

Directed by David Butler

Released July 27th

FOX

again . . .

FOX comes through with the winning finish

Consistently... month in, month out... FOX has delivered you pictures packed with box office wallop . . .

Now at the season's close... FOX actually tops its high, year-'round average . . .

Names like Lew Ayres, Warner Baxter, James Dunn, Madge Evans, Alice Faye, Warner Oland, Will Rogers, Shirley Temple, Claire Trevor, Helen Twelvetrees . . . lead its great casts . . .

No wonder the FOX contract is the most sought-after in this industry!

Rely on FOX

Your Most Dependable Profit Source

THE CUTTING ROOM

Advance outlines of productions nearing completion as seen by Gus McCarthy of Motion Picture Herald's Hollywood Bureau

THERE'S ALWAYS TOMORROW
(Tentative Title)

Universal

Predominant showmanship material here is to be found more readily in the story than any other factor. It's a family drama and concerns an American husband and father, unappreciated by wife and children, the situation in which he becomes involved and the moral effect its results have upon his family.

The yarn is an original by Edward Sloman, who is also directing. Continuity is by Christine Ames, who did "The Human Side" and "Today We Live," and William Hurlburt, scenarist on "Secret of the Blue Room."

Several new personalities are included in the cast. Frank Morgan, who has the lead, is currently appearing in "The Affairs of Cellini" and is familiar to theatre-goers for such recent pictures as "Bombshell," "When Ladies Meet" and "Cat and the Fiddle." Lois Wilson, heroine of "The Covered Wagon," is presented as his wife. Making her American screen debut, and possessing that charm and talent that goes with popular players, is Binnie Barnes, a young British actress, who in the stage versions of "Cavalcade" and "Private Life of Henry VIII," became one of London's sensations. Louise Latimer is also new, coming from the New York stage; as is Margaret Hamilton, product of the Cleveland, Ohio, Community Theatre and New York stage, who appeared in MGM's "Another Language." Also comparatively new is Robert Taylor, who made his real screen debut in "Handy Andy." Others in the cast are Elizabeth Young, Maurice Murphy, Dick Winslow and little Helen Parrish.

The story is laid in a typical American city. It suggests topical and related showmanship that brings its dramatic human interest entertainment right up to everybody's front door.

HAT, COAT AND GLOVE

Radio - Kenneth Macgowan

This picture story is an adaptation of a stage play by Wilhelm Speyer, which met with considerable success in its metropolitan runs. The screen play is by Francis Faragoh, who numbers "Little Caesar" and collaboration on "Frankenstein" among his accomplishments and is also credited with "The Last Man" and "Undercover Man." Direction is by Worthington Miner, whose first picture effort was Radio's soon to be released "Let's Try Again."

Fundamentally a dramatic romance, in which husband and wife decide to test in a modern manner the strength of their love, the ensuing triangle situation is given an odd twist as the yarn assumes a baffling murder mystery atmosphere. For climax there is picturization of a sensational courtroom situation, in which the husband, a great criminal lawyer, defending his wife's young lover, vividly demonstrates the unreliableness of circumstantial evidence. While convincing the court, even to the extent of almost incriminating himself, he convinces his wife that their love is deeper than any temporary affection.

Possessing the elements that often have proved their entertainment and showmanship value, the personalities interpreting the story are additional business stimulating assets. Ricardo Cortez, whose work in "Wonder Bar" and the forthcoming "Madame DuBarry" have given him a new prestige, plays the part of the lawyer husband. A newcomer, making her screen debut, is Barbara Robbins, recruited from the New York stage, in the role of the wife. John Beal, who appeared in "Another Language," is the man with whom the wife attempts her experiment in love and also the accused murderer whom Cortez defends. Others in the cast are Margaret Hamilton, Sara Hayden, Samuel Hinds and Murray Kinnell.

ONE MORE RIVER

Universal

This picture story is based on a widely read novel by John Galsworthy, the English author. It is being directed by James Whale, whose previous credits include "Journey's End," "Frankenstein," "Waterloo Bridge," "Kiss Before the Mirror" and the recent "Invisible Man." The screen play is by R. C. Sheriff, who was associated in a similar capacity with Whale on "The Invisible Man.."

In the cast are several new and many familiar old names. Diana Wynyard, remembered for her roles in "Cavalcade," "Rasputin and the Empress" and "Reunion in Vienna," has the lead. Opposite her is a newcomer, Frank Lawton, a Continental and American stage actor, who just completed an engagement in the New York stage success, "The Wind and the Rain." A third most important character is Colin Clive, a success in many pictures and currently in "The Key." Another newcomer, making her initial screen appearance, is a young American girl, Jane Wyatt, who appeared in Many Broadway shows, notably "Dinner at Eight" and "Conquest." The supporting cast includes Mrs. Patrick Campbell, now in "Riptide"; Reginald Denny, C. Aubrey Smith, Henry Stephenson, Lionel Atwill, Alan Mowbray, Kathleen Howard, Robert Greig, Tempe Piggott and E. E. Clive. In connection with the cast, and the character of the story, it is interesting to note that it is composed almost exclusively of artists of British birth.

It is a modern yarn, with vivid theme and localed in England. Dealing strongly with the peculiarities of British courts and social customs, it traces the career of a woman who fled from Ceylon to her home to escape her husband's cruelties and suspicions. A romance with another man builds into a daring triangle situation. The trials and tribulations of the trio lead to divorce courts the direct antithesis of similar American institutions. It suggests a novel line of showmanship, in which author, cast and story assets have distinct business creating functions.

OLD FASHIONED WAY

Paramount

The showmanship possibilities of this production seem to be almost unlimited. The one that probably will be used to the greatest extent is the teaming of W. C. Fields and Baby LeRoy. Secondly, it presents the entire cast of "The Drunkard" in a condensed version of the old-time melodramatic farce that has been running in Los Angeles for a solid year.

Naturally the story is a comedy, full of asides and interludes of little relation to the general theme. Although not credited, Fields wrote the original himself. The screen play is by the noted humorist, J. P. McEvoy, and Jack Cunningham. The adaptation is credited to Walter DeLeon and Garnett Weston. Music and lyrics are by Revel and Gordon, and William Beaudine, who directed "Make Me a Star" and several Rogers productions for Paramount, is the director.

Supporting the two leads are Joe Morrison, a radio broadcast star, particularly well known in the East; Judith Allen, remembered for "This Day and Age" and "Hell and High Water"; Jan Dugan, the leading woman of "The Drunkard," Jack Mulhall and Oscar Apfel, plus a dozen or 15 more.

As far as the story is concerned, and not being able to prognosticate the specialties that will remain in the finished film, it's just ridiculous comedy, tuned to the tempo of the gay nineties. Fields is the head of a weird collection of showfolk touring the sticks. He falls in love, but both his love making and professional efforts succeed only in winning a series of raspberries from Baby LeRoy. At this stage, the production looks like a carnival of fun for both exhibitor and patron.

BACHELOR BAIT

Radio - Lou Brock

Topical comedy, against which a hectic romantic story is narrated, is the essence of this yarn which has for its motivating element a hilarious expose of the mail-order marriage-bureau racket. A glance at the list of principals, all comedians, with the exception of Rochelle Hudson, who carries the romantic angle, should be sufficient to identify its basic comedy character. As Stuart Erwin, recently in "Viva Villa" and "The Party's Over," has the lead; others who have scored their greatest successes in comedy entertainment include Skeets Gallagher, Pert Kelton, Chick Chandler and Edgar Kennedy.

The modern story is by the Halperin brothers, Victor and Edward, readily remembered as producers of "White Zombie," and the screen play is by Glenn Tryon, noted as both a stage and picture actor. Direction is by George Stevens, maker of the Hal Roach "Boy Friends" series and Universal's "Cohens and Kelleys in Trouble."

Any number of both unique and topical comedy showmanship gags is suggested by the story, which concerns a young marriage license office clerk, who decides that there's a lot of money in a marriage bureau as an aid to the bashful. Set to clean up, he lands a wealthy sucker for a girl, only to find that the miss he is using for bachelor bait is pretty dear to him. Funny as this situation is, the denouement is more hilarious as it develops that the sucker is a district attorney's investigator, ready to put the screws on the bureau, only to be further victimized, as his prey and the girl escape to Europe.

Just fun seems to be the best potential audience-interesting feature in this yarn, but the kind of fun that opens the doors wide to old-fashioned showmanship.

Goldwyn Engages Felix

Seymour Felix has been engaged by Samuel Goldwyn to direct and stage the production numbers for "The Treasure Hunt," starring Eddie Cantor, and released by United Artists. The new plan of Mr. Felix is to pantomime songs and dramatize them without resorting to precision numbers.

PRICE FIXING ILLEGAL, CODE AUTHORITY RULES

Neither Authority Nor Boards May Fix Scales; Buffalo Suit Questions the Local Body's Order; 16 Appeals Are Filed

Price fixing by the Motion Picture Code Authority, or any one of the Grievance Boards throughout the country, this week was ruled illegal by the Code Authority in New York, in a decision which stipulated that any board so doing is exceeding its jurisdiction and powers under the code. As a result, the Authority reversed a decision of the Charlotte Grievance Board, following a hearing on appeal, and refused to act in a Los Angeles case which had been passed up to it. In both instances, the Code Authority maintained, prices of admission are a matter of negotiation between exhibitor and distributor.

Other developments along the Motion Picture-NRA front during the week included:

1. The filing, in New York State Supreme Court, Buffalo, of a suit to test the legality of a local code board's order.

2. Issuance, by the NRA, of regulations designed to clarify the procedure under which members of coded industries will contribute toward code administration cost.

3. Flood of appeals in hands of Code Authority with more coming in from all sections each day.

4. Announcement that the Code Authority may reopen the code assent date.

The Buffalo suit to test the legality of the local Grievance Board's order last week started an action which probably will determine the right of the Grievance Board and distributors to refuse to deliver film to a theatre charged with violation of the board's ruling. Edwin Wick of the Majestic instituted the injunction action in the supreme court against the Buffalo Grievance Board, Universal, Vitagraph, RKO, MGM and First Division.

The case is being held in abeyance for one week, pending a hearing.

Financing Plans Clarified

Financing arrangements for administration of industries operating under codes were clarified this week in a new set of regulations, superseding others announced on April 14 by the NRA.

The regulations repeat that no contributions may be solicited or demanded by any Code Authority unless the Code either specifically makes non-payment a code violation or creates a legal obligation and, unless both, an itemized budget of proposed expenditures and an equitable basis of contribution have been approved by the Administrator.

The new rules provide that Code Authorities may not institute legal proceedings to compel payment of assessments until the NRA has been officially notified of a "certificate of non-payment of contribution," that proper notice of the assessments were given and that the non-contributor was given 30 days in which to pay and did not, within 15 days after receiving notice of dues, file a protest against the assessment.

Sixteen appeals from local board rulings were on the Code Authority dockets in New York last week and more were arriving daily from all parts of the country. According to the code, all appeals must be heard by the Authority and, with 62 boards meeting weekly throughout the country, it is estimated that before long more than 100 appeals will be on file. The Code Authority said last week it would be difficult to hear more than five such cases at each session.

The Code Authority may, as the result of nearly 1,000 requests for such action, reopen the code assent date, the deadline having been March 10. Authority members, it was stated this week, are averse to reopening the compliance date for the benefit of exhibitor leaders who have taken the stand previously that independents should not sign the code because of administration antagonism. Action on this was expected to be taken at this week's meeting of the body.

The Independent Theatre Owners Association of New York on Tuesday filed suit in U. S. District Court to force the Code Authority and local code boards to accept complaints from non-assentors.

In Buffalo, the grievance board ruled against the Schine Theatrical Co. on an overbuying charge brought by Reliance Theatres. The board ordered 17 first run films turned over to Reliance.

The Cincinnati grievance board barred the State Theatre, Greenville, from issuing merchants' coupons entitling patrons to a reduction in price. Complaint was brought by R. S. Winger, Union City, Ind.

Three two-for-ones and other reduced admission cases have been decided in favor of the plaintiffs by the Denver grievance board.

Fred Meyn, owner of the Pershing, Kansas City, Kan., has signified his intention of protesting the contention of United Artists that it is not subject to the 10 per cent code cancellation clause.

Los Angeles Board Upheld

The Code Authority last week virtually upheld the Los Angeles Grievance Board in an appeal of Fox West Coast against the decision granting the Garfield, Alhambra, Cal., operated by Simon M. Lazarus, 20 pictures from the FWC bookings, but it modified the ruling to 13 pictures instead of the 20.

Police powers to enforce its rulings were exercised by the San Francisco Grievance Board this week, when it ordered exchanges to stop supplying films to the Monarch Theatre Corp., operating the Granada, and the Foothill Boulevard Amusement Co., operating the Capitol, both in Oakland. This action was taken when the theatres allegedly defied a ruling of the board to end give-aways.

All Films Cannot Be For Children Says Will Hays

"The problem of better pictures cannot be solved by refusing to permit the screen properly to mirror the life of the day or the history of the past, or to provide suitable adult entertainment," last week declared Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, speaking before the alumni of Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Ind.

"The industry fully realizes youth must be served," said Mr. Hays. "That problem presents a great study and a great duty. Of course, all pictures cannot be made for children. Nevertheless, in last week's issue of The Literary Digest, leading national publication in no way associated with the picture industry, out of 30 feature pictures of outstandingly high character recommended for the week's entertainment, 19 were specifically designated by that publication as films specially suitable for children."

Reviewing the history of the industry and the efforts of the MPPDA to enlist the aid of various community and religious groups in the development and improvement of public taste, looking to better quality in films, Mr. Hays declared:

"This is neither the time nor the place, perhaps, to discuss some of the insidious elements who are using the pretext of the screen to attack the freedom of speech, of expression and of individual initiative, upon the basis of which our country has been built."

Discussing criticism of the industry, Mr. Hays continued:

"It is expressed on the other hand by those who make a living by paid lectures denouncing the motion pictures; by jobseekers who would fasten themselves on federal or state payrolls through proposals for alleged federal regulation or political censorship; by trade chiselers who would gain from the confusion created by the destruction of certain standard trade practices. It is expressed by many who have failed to sell their services, their scenarios or their money-making schemes to the industry.

"Perhaps the severest critic of the product is the trade association which I have the honor to head. The record shows that during the past year 564 scripts, books or synopses for feature pictures and 293 for short subjects, were reviewed within the established machinery of self-regulation; that more than 1,000 conferences to ensure production code observance were held during this period; that more than 1,500 written opinions and suggestions were thus transmitted to our studio and that a total of 548 pictures were finally reviewed and passed."

He declared the industry welcomes criticism, and quoted from a recent address of President Roosevelt in which the chief executive condemned the critic who is not constructive.

Mr. Hays expressed optimism concerning the future, to which he said he expected motion pictures to make full contribution.

"It is my notion," he said, "that for many years to come, the most popular of all after-dinner speeches still will be, 'Let's go to the movies.'"

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

The Great Flirtation

(Paramount - Charles R. Rogers)

Comedy-Drama

This is good audience entertainment, provided its rib-tickling comedy and genuine heart interest romance drama are properly sold. It's smart enough to catch the fancy of the big city sophisticates, and it's hokey enough to get right down to the level which the run-o'-the-mill fans appreciate. There's salable showmanship in title, story and production values.

The title has an intriguing sound. At first glance the cast does not look impressive, but it's headed by two artists who, because of recent successful pictures, have attained a new drawing power. The story, because of the way in which Elissa Landi and Adolphe Menjou handle their roles, is actually comedy and fun. There's a laugh in almost every line of dialogue and situation, and novel if not absolutely new business and action. Still there is heart drama and romance, the resulting product evenly balanced entertainment with a direct appeal for both men and women. Though it is a mature story, it has interest for all but the youngest.

The show has two locales: Budapest and New York. In Budapest Karpath is a great actor, a continental wow, and knows it. He's jealously in love with Zita. She, in his estimation, is a bum actress, who refuses to realize it, and is very much in love with her career. Under the pretext of fabulous New York offers, Karpath persades Zita to marry him and go to America. There, his European reputation meaning nothing, he can't even get bit jobs. When a lucky break does give him a part, Zita high-pressures herself into the opposite feminine role by bluffing that she's a great Russian artiste. With a sensational performance, she reverses the position. She's the great star. Karpath is just another actor. The situation becomes more comically complicated when playwright Kenyon, not knowing Zita is married, falls in love with her and his affections are reciprocated, much to temperamental Karpath's amazement. Then he disappears and Zita goes on to greater glory. The climax is reached at the opening of the next season. Karpath and faithful Mikos are in the gallery. At the end of the show Kenyon meets him, brings him to Zita. There, again denouncing her as an impossible actress—the greatest bit of acting he ever did, as he is sacrificing the only love of his life—and making it possible for her to go to Kenyon, while he moves on to a $25 a week stock job in North Dakota.

There is plenty of material available with which to create an interest-arousing advance campaign. It's not the kind of show that will sell itself in advance. It won't click unless you let patrons know about it.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Distributed by Paramount. Produced by Charles R. Rogers. Directed by Ralph Murphy. Original by Gregory Ratoff. Screen play by Humphrey Pearson. Costumes designed by Travis Banton. Sound, Earl Hayman. Photographed by Milton Krasner. Running time, 70 minutes. Release date, June 15, 1934

CAST

Zita Marishka.....Elissa Landi
Karpath ..... Adolphe Menjou
Larry Kenyon .....David Manners
Joe Lang .....Lynne Overman
Henry Morgan .....Raymond Walburn
Mikos ..... Adrian Rosley
Herr Direktor .....Paul Porcasi
Arpad .....George Baxter
Queen ..... Judith Vosselli
Paul Wengler ..... Akim Tamiroff
Bigelow ..... Vernon Steele

The Personality Kid

(Warner)

Comedy-Drama

Although this is a prizefight picture, following the standard theatric formula, a little careful analysis will uncover other much more valuable audience interesting and salesmanship assets. Against the familiar background, once again laying bare all the trumped-up fakery of the ring sport, it tells a vivid, natural story. It is a story colored with human interest, carrying a sympathy stirring romantic angle; is sharply dramatic at times, has an adequate share of topical comedy, develops an odd triangle, and has fast, exciting action paralleling brittle, slangy dialogue.

Realizing the fate of other and more pretentious fight pictures, the human interest element that motivates this show is the most potential showmanship feature. While there is plenty knock-'em-about thrill for fight fans, experience has demonstrated that the ordinary theatregoers look for something more than a series of fistic knockouts in their screen entertainment. This being particularly true of women patrons, a little study of "The Personality Kid" shows that the things that induce them to visit the box office are just as important in this picture as are the fight sequences, which fact should guide the exhibitor in his selling.

Ritzy is an eccentric third-rate pug with plenty of "It" that enthuses the fans. His wife, Joan, is his manager, with the idea of getting enough out of the racket to buy a little grape ranch. Coming under the wing of a couple of highpowered promoters, Stephen and Gavin, Ritzy hits the big time and money, scores a series of knockouts and goes social with the blueblood, Patricia. Learning the fights have been framed for him to win and that Patricia is just amusing herself with him, Ritzy quits the ring, deserts his wife and hits the skids.

Later, as Ritzy agrees to take it on the chin to build up another fighter, Patricia proves that there is some good in her, by tricking Ritzy into visiting his wife. As she is to have a baby, he suddenly decides to be a real fighter, and in the ring he annihilates the pug whom the gang is trying to build up. Mobbed for his treachery, he arrives at the hospital and as he and his wife have made up, gets a chance to climb the championship ladder again to conclude the story.

Play up the human interest, use the fight atmosphere only as far as necessary and emphasize the straight dramatic romance as a direct bid for feminine patronage.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Warner-First National. Screen play by F. Hugh Herbert and Erwin Gelsey. Adaptation by David Boahm. Directed by Alan Crosland. Photography by Wm. Rees. Film editor, Terry Morse. Based on a story by Gene Towne and C. Graham Baker. Supervisor, Robert Presnell. Art director, John Hughes. Gowns by Orry-Kelly. Running time, 68 minutes. Release date, July 7, 1934.

CAST

Ritzy .....Pat O'Brien
Joan .....Glenda Farrell
Patricia .....Claire Dodd
Stephen .....Henry O'Neill
Gavin .....Robert Gleckler
Rankin .....Thomas Jackson
McPhail .....Arthur Vinton
Clarence .....Clarence Muse
Duncan .....Clay Clement
Tiny .....George Cooper
Ed .....George Pat Collins
Louis .....Al Hill

Twin Husbands

(Chesterfield)

Drama

There is some little entertainment value in this independently-produced picture, resulting from the unexpected complications of the meeting of a clever crook and a cleverer crook. A kidnaping plot, which is part of a secondary swindle of the funds of a large estate, is smartly nipped by the quick thinking of a big-time, suave thief.

The double identity situation, as suggested by the title, combined with the theme outlined, presents the selling angle to be taken by the exhibitor. The title itself may lead prospective patrons to the idea that it is some sort of marital drawing room drama, which implication in turn might interfere with masculine interest. The exhibitor should be alert to amplify the title so as to make the film equally attractive to men and women patrons, with the understanding that the film is rather adult material.

There is no outstanding name in the cast, though several are familiar, including John Miljan, Shirley Grey, Monroe Owsley and Hale Hamilton. This situation makes adivisable emphasis on story and title.

Miljan awakes with a headache in a strange house, and the realization that he has been kidnaped. As first Miss Grey appears, then Owsley, the situation is made clear to him. Owsley and Miss Grey are planning to use Miljan, who bears a strong resemblance to Miss Grey's missing husband, to impersonate the husband and receive from attorney Hamilton bonds representing the balance of the husband's estate. Threatened with extinction, Miljan agrees to act as the husband.

Miljan takes the bonds from Hamilton when he arrives and crosses the conspirators by placing the bonds in a wall safe, the combination of which is unknown to them. Two cracksmen come for the bonds, but find the safe empty, as the police arrive, called by Owsley. Hamilton claims Miljan is the real husband, Owsley and Miss Grey call him an imposter. The police take Miss Grey, Hamilton and Miljan. But they are actually Miljan's own henchmen, using the police impersonation to further Miljan's hastily formed plan. Miss Grey is brought to Miljan's apartment, where he learns she has planned to save the money from the extravagant hands of her husband. Hamilton admits he has tampered with the estate to a certain extent, and Miljan and Hamilton, raiding Owsley's private vault, discover that the real husband died some time before and that Owsley has been steadily mulcting the estate.

As romance develops for Miss Grey and Miljan, Owsley is revealed in his true colors, and Miljan permits him to make good an escape to South America. When the real police arrive, Miss Grey calls Miljan her husband, and the two are left, presumably to complete their romance.—Aaronson, New York.

An Invincible Picture. Distributed by Chesterfield. Story, continuity and dialogue by Anthony Coldeway and Robert Ellis. Directed by Frank Strayer. Assistant director, Melville Shyer. Art director, Edward Jewell. Sound engineer, L. E. Clark. Photographed by M. A. Anderson. Release date, February 25, 1934. Running time, 62 minutes.

CAST

Jerry Van Trevor.....John Miljan
Chloe Werrenden.....Shirley Grey
Colton Drain.....Monroe Owsley
Gordon Lewis.....Hale Hamilton
Sergeant Kerrigan.....Robert Elliott
Red .....Maurice Black
Chuck.....William Franklin
Butler .....Wilson Benge

Ann ★ HARDING in "The Vergie"

A drama of fierce love that unfolds the divine in woman . . . its exalted beauty sweeps away the little world about us . . . its story throbs to the heart-beat of a woman whose only sin was love!

IT IS ONE OF THE YEAR'S GRAND PICTURES!

PREMIERE RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL
THURSDAY, JUNE 14th, 1934

John
BOLES ★
Life of Winters"

WITH Helen Vinson

RKO
RADIO
Picture

Directed by Alfred Santell from the story by Louis Bromfield. A Pandro S. Berman production

Born to be Bad

(U. A.-20th Century)

Drama

Despite a strong dominating theme of mother love which carries through this production from Twentieth Century, the film is entirely an adult attraction, dealing as it does with the not too scrupulous activity of a young mother, battling for the protection and the recovery of her young son.

The selling drive should be directed toward the feminine patronage, relying upon the women to bring the men. The mother theme can be depended upon to a large extent. The fact that the child in the case is the result of a hasty elopement years before need not be emphasized.

For names there are Loretta Young and Cary Grant, in the leads, and more or less unknown support, with the exception of Russell Hopton, in a minor role, and Henry Travers. The youngster is played by Jackie Kelk. The title has an intriguing ring, but perhaps should not be too greatly emphasized. The idea of the young mother who will go to any length to protect and regain possession of her son is the selling angle to be taken.

Miss Young, a dress model, is found engaged in the rapid accumulation of money and an effort to impart to her unmannered youngster the precept that he must always be on his guard to fight back, never to let any one get away with anything. This despite the attempt of Henry Travers, elderly bookshop owner, who had taken her in years before, to show her the error of her ways. Trouble with truant officers is apparently an every-day occurrence. When the boy is hurt by a truck temporarily driven by Cary Grant, president of a large company, the mother, with the aid of a shady lawyer and equally unscrupulous doctor, tries to obtain damages. They are shown up, and the court causes her to lose her son to an institution. Interested, Grant assumes responsibility for the child, who is taken to his estate, and his wife, Marion Burns, mothers the boy.

Miss Young gains entrance to Grant's home, tries to entice the boy away, fails, and then plans a compromising plot, whereby, in return for her silence, Grant will release the boy to her. She compels Grant to fall in love with her, makes a phonograph record of his pleas, but reckons without the honorable manner in which he and his wife conduct themselves. Grant tells his wife the truth, which revelation "spikes" Miss Young's guns. Meanwhile the boy, under the tutelage of Grant, has learned something of the difference between right and wrong. Miss Young, after Miss Burns has saved the boy from drowning in the swimming pool, refuses to acknowledge to Grant that she really loves him, and walks out of the lives of her son and the Grants, back to Travers, from whom she asks a job. A reformation, we are left to infer, has been brought in both mother and wayward son.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced by 20th Century. Released through United Artists. Directed by Lowell Sherman. Story, dialogue and adaptation by Ralph Graves. Continuity by Harrison Jacobs. Photographed by Barney McGill. Film editor, Maurice Wright. Art directors, Richard Day and Joseph Wright. Musical director, Alfred Newman. Release date, May 18, 1934. Running time, 61 minutes.

CAST

Letty Strong.....Loretta Young
Mickey.....Jackie Kelk
Malcolm Trevor.....Cary Grant
Fuzzy.....Henry Travers
Steve Karns.....Russell Hopton
Max Lieber.....Andrew Tombes
Doctor Dropsy.....Howard Lang
Adolph.....Harry Green
Alyce Trevor.....Marion Burns
Lawyer,.....Paul Harvey
Butler.....Charles Coleman
Truant Officer.....Matt Briggs
Miss Crawford.....Geneva Mitchell

The Woman in Command

(Gaumont British)

Comedy-Drama

Cicely Courtneidge, generally acknowledged to be the most expert comedienne on the English stage and screen, here, in this Gainsborough, London-produced film, gives further evidence of her versatility, in an exacting dual role. Her support includes Anthony Bushell and Edward Everett Horton, two names completely familiar to the American screen audience, with Horton safely noted as a popular comedian.

The story, of a complicated romance and the activity of a famous English vaudeville "family," the Marvellos, presided over by a queen whose word is law, has Miss Courtneidge supplying most of the amusement, ably aided by Horton. The story, the players and the dialogue are English, with the attendant accent, but there is real amusement in the film, evidence of balanced production, and the two familiar names are something with which to work. Miss Courtneidge may well be billed as the foremost comedienne in England.

Romance, comedy and the dominance of the vaudeville troupe by "the woman in command" should be emphasized in selling.

The Marvello group is toasting the elderly retiring queen, and inducting the new queen, both roles played by Miss Courtneidge. At the same time a newcomer, Dorothy Hyson, is brought into the ranks of the players as a singer and adagio dancer. Horton is stage manager of the troupe and is in love, in his timid way, with Maisie, the new queen, who is too busy to pay much attention to him. One of the rules of the group is that romance on the part of the feminine members is taboo.

With its glimpses back stage the story becomes complicated when Miss Hyson falls in love with Bushell, an English officer, which is against his colonel's orders. It so happens that that same colonel was the object of Miss Courtneidge's own romance of years before, and though she threatens to go to Bushell's colonel to have the new affair broken off, she is afraid the colonel will exercise over her the same dominance which won her once before.

At one of the troupe's major performances, Miss Hyson, off with Bushell somewhere, fails to show up and the not-so-young Miss Courtneidge takes over her part in the adagio act, thereby affording considerable comedy. The old retired queen of the Marvellos, stunned by the exhibition from her box, totters backstage, fires Miss Hyson from the troupe and does likewise to Maisie. But Maisie goes to the colonel and insists he permit Bushell to marry Miss Hyson, as Horton, spurred by fear of losing his love, rages in, and takes command of the situation. Back at the theatre, in soldier's uniform, Miss Courtneidge sings "There's Something About a Soldier," a popular number of the day, and a general reconciliation concludes the film, as both Miss Hyson and Horton achieve their romantic goals.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced in England by Gainsborough. Distributed in the United States by Gaumont-British Picture Corporation of America. Directed by Maurice Elvey. Story by Douglas Furber. Screen play by Jack Hulburt, W. P. Lipscomb, John Orton. Release date, May 28, 1934. Running time, 70 minutes.

CAST

Jenny Marvello } .....Cicely Courtneidge
Maisie Marvello }
Sebastian Marvello.....Edward Everett Horton
Lt. Donald Jamieson.....Anthony Bushell
Judie Marvello.....Dorothy Hyson
Col. Phillip Markham.....Frank Cellier
Albert Marvello .....Rebla
Dan Marvello.....Bransby Williams

Allez Oop

(Educational)

Good

Buster Keaton, of the "dead-pan" expression, gives this comedy a "good" rating by reason of his excellent performance. Patterned largely after the mode of the old Charlie Chaplin subjects, the number ably blends pathos and comedy. Keaton, timid watch repairer, falls in love with the customer whose watch is in need of repair. After stumbling and faltering, he invites her to the circus with him. There she is taken with a member of the Flying Escalantes, aerial artists, and throws Keaton over. In good pantomime he practices trapeze work in his back yard, amusingly. When a fire breaks out in the apartment where the artist is annoying the girl, the circus performer runs away, and Keaton rescues the girl and wins her. It is good comedy material.—Running time, 21 minutes.

Paradise of the Pacific

(Educational)

Interesting

One of the Brown-Nagel Romantic Journeys, this subject takes the screen audience on board a holiday ship bound for Hawaii. There, on an automobile mounted on railroad tracks the traveler is shown the picturesque countryside and the beautiful scenic effects of the island. It ends on the famous beach of Wakiki. The use of color, done with the Cinecolor process, enhances the effectiveness of the subject.—Running time, 9 minutes.

Cracked Shots

(Radio)

Fair

Of the noisy variety, this comedy effort features Tom Kennedy, Nat Carr, Helen Brock and Will Stanton, and has a few amusing moments, but comparatively few. Kennedy, street car motorman, loses his money at the car barns in a crap game, with the assistance of Stanton, his buddy. When they reach Kennedy's home to find Carr, automobile collection agent, awaiting them, Stanton "squares" things by telling Miss Brock that Kennedy is to win lots of money at a trap shooting tournament. They arrive and Kennedy and Stanton supply the antics which result in a veritable shotgun battle, with automobiles and Carr as the objects of attack.—Running time, 20 minutes.

The Lion's Friend

(Educational)

Good

An entertaining Terry Toon cartoon subject, this finds the assorted youngsters of various animal species on their way to school. There, the German-accented teacher tells them the story of the lion and the mouse, recounting the manner in which the mouse saved the lion from the hunters after the lion had permitted the mouse to escape. As the teacher tells the story it unfolds in pen and ink. An amusing subject.—Running time, 6 minutes.

Shoein' Hosses

(Paramount)

Good

As are most of the series, this number of the Popeye the Sailor cartoons is well done and definitely entertaining. As Popeye applies for the job of assistant blacksmith at the shop of Olive Oyl, he is opposed by a huge, brawny applicant who determines to get the job. He and Popeye compete in tests of strength until the argument turns into a battle royal. Popeye, by virtue of a can of spinach, emerges the victor. It is clever and amusing material.—Running time, 7 minutes.

Half-Baked Relations

(Educational)

Some Laughs

Andy Clyde, in this subject, is in trouble again, this time with his brother-in-law. Andy, in court for striking the brother-in-law with a wrench, explains to the judge how it happened, and the film flashes back to picture the reason. In the baking business after his fortune has evaporated, Andy is beset by his wife's brother, a would-be juggler who ruins everything Andy attempts to do, finishing by wrecking the grand new automobile Andy has won in a slogan contest. When the judge hears the reason, he compliments Andy on his self-control and dismisses the case. The subject has its amusing moments.—Running time, 19 minutes.

TRAVELERS . . .

HERBERT WILCOX, production executive of British & Dominions, and HUBERT T. MARSH, president of that company, arrived in New York from England.

JOSEPH M. SCHENCK, United Artists president, arrived in New York from Hollywood.

JOSEPH MOSKOWITZ, HARRY BUCKLEY, HARRY GOLD, PAUL BURGER, CHARLES STERN, C. ERICKSON, MANNY SILVERSTONE, ETIENNE PALLOS, HAL HORNE and MORRIS HELPRIN returned to their desks at United Artists' home office from the Chicago convention.

ETHEL MERMAN, stage and screen star, left New York for Hollywood to appear in the new EDDIE CANTOR picture.

MAURICE SILVERSTONE, United Artists general manager for Great Britain, arrived in New York from England.

AL CHRISTIE returned to New York after a short Hollywood vacation.

HELEN CHANDLER sailed for a European vacation.

ROBERT FLOREY, Warner director, sailed from Shanghai for Los Angeles, accompanied by FRED JACKMAN, chief cameraman. They have been shooting scenes for "Oil For the Lamps of China."

EDWARD G. ROBINSON took a flying visit to New York.

FRANK BORZAGE, DICK POWELL and PAT O'BRIEN arrived in New York en route to West Point for work on "Flirtation Walk."

SID SILVER, stage comedian, left New York for Hollywood.

ESTHER MUIR arrived in New York from Europe.

MAURY COHEN, head of Invincible Pictures, arrived in New York from the Coast.

JOE PINCUS, Fox talent scout, arrived in New York.

VICTOR MOORE left New York to start work for Universal on "Romance in the Rain."

GEORGE JESSEL and his wife, NORMA TALMADGE, returned to New York from a fortnight's honeymoon in Florida and Nassau.

SYDNEY HOWARD, British comedian, arrived in New York from England en route to the Reliance lot in Hollywood.

HERBERT CRUIKSHANK, fan magazine writer, left New York for a European vacation.

AUSTIN C. KEOUGH, Paramount general counsel, returned to New York from a two-week's business trip to the Coast.

E. B. HATRICK left New York for Europe.

KEN ANESER, of Warner Bros.' home office advertising and publicity staff, was married last week to LUCILLE RODER. The couple are spending their honeymoon motoring through Canada.

DOLORES DEL RIO sailed for a Honolulu vacation.

DAVE BADER, CARL LAEMMLE'S representative in London, is in New York.

MERIAN C. COOPER arrived in New York en route to Italy.

GEORGE B. SEITZ arrived in Hollywood by 'plane from the South American interior where he has been shooting exteriors for MGM's "Jungle Red Man."

FRED ASTAIRE and VIOLET KEMBLE COOPER, recently signed by Radio for "The Fountain," arrived in Hollywood.

JOHN COSENTINO, special representative for Amity Pictures, arrived in New York after a three-month tour of the West Coast exchanges.

LEO CARRILLO arrived in New York from the Coast.

B. F. SHEARER, West Coast theatre supply dealer, is in New York on business.

MRS. J. F. MAGUIRE and C. E. RUTH of the Breck Photoplay Supply Co., Los Angeles, are in New York.

EARL CARROLL flew from New York to Charlotte to attend the premiere of "Murder at the Vanities."

Trem Carr Signs Herman Schlom

Trem Carr, Monogram vice-president in charge of production, has signed Herman Schlom as production manager and assistant to Robert Welsh, executive producer. Mr. Schlom was formerly head of the Universal studio leasing department.

BRITISH PICTURES SHOWN IN LONDON

SAY IT WITH FLOWERS

Twickenham production distributed by Radio Pictures, Ltd. Directed by John Baxter. Features Mary Clare, Ben Field, George Carney, Florrie Forde, Charles Coborn, Mark Daly and Marie Kendall.

The story here is little more than an excuse to stage a reproduction of an old-time London music-hall performance with famous veterans of variety singing their most popular numbers—Charles Coborn giving "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo," Florrie Forde with "Down at the Old Bull and Bush," and so on. Excellent values for those who remember and appreciate these old stagers. The plot, very sentimental and interpreted in ultra-Cockney dialogue, pictures the stars as doing their stuff at a charity performance in aid of a street flower seller who has encountered sickness and hard times.

▽

BRIDES TO BE

Produced for and distributed by Paramount. Directed by Reginald Denham. Features Betty Stockfield, Olive Sloane and Ronald Ward.

A comedy-drama of life behind the scenes in a big store, there is little showmanship value here. It is purely a "quota" booking for England.

▽

THE CHURCH MOUSE

Produced by Warner-First National Productions, Ltd. Distributed by First National Film Distributors. Directed by Monty Banks. Features Laura La Plante, Ian Hunter.

Fast moving and sparkling comedy-drama, this is from the stage play. Laura La Plante is excellent as the mouse-like secretary of a business magnate who finds sex-appeal in the office distracting. There is amusing presentation of her scramble for the job, efficiency in it, and ultimate capture of her employer. It is very well acted all through and is directed with a light touch.

▽

THE BLUE SQUADRON

Produced by Warner-First National Productions, Ltd., in conjunction with Society Anonyma Stefano Pittaluga. Directed by George King. Features Esmond Knight, John Stuart and Greta Hansen.

Remarkable aerial scenes, produced with the cooperation of the entire Italian Air Force, make this an unusually impressive production. On the thread of a quite conventional story of rivalry and jealousy between two airmen, are hung really imposing pictures of mass air-maneuvering, mock battles, parachute descents and bombardments from the air. There is propaganda for Italy's air strength, but there are excellent entertainment values.—BRUCE ALLAN, London.

BOOK REVIEW

THE TALKING EDUCATIONAL PICTURE. By Frederick L. Devereux, in collaboration with Nickolaus L. Engelhardt, Paul R. Mort, Alexander J. Stoddard, V. C. Arnspiger, Howard G. Stokes, M. R. Brunstetter, and Laura Krieger Eads. Chicago: University of Chicago Press. 8¾ x 6. 203 pp. with Appendix and Index. Price $2.

Confining themselves to the talking picture (although some others interested in visual education still see a place for the purely pictorial film in school work), the authors have attempted a thorough-going analysis of the use of motion pictures for formal instruction. Their efforts are probably somewhat ahead of the medium itself, which has been retarded in its development by a lack of proper productions, the making of which, in turn, awaits a wider use of films in education.

It is a chicken-and-the-egg situation, but with recognition of the value of instructional pictures rapidly increasing, this promises soon to be overcome. Several of the authors of this volume are associated with Erpi Picture Consultants, Inc., a department of Electrical Research Products, indicating the active interest of a commercial organization of immense resources, and perhaps this is the forerunner of similar alliances between industrial and pedagogical groups which will supply the push necessary to overcome the present inertia.

About half the book is given over to production, the remainder to application of films in study. By production here, of course, is meant the organization of subject matter and instructional materials for translation into talking picture forms. Visual education is highly specialized, and its pedagogy is pretty much of an exact science, having nothing whatever to do with the casual, incidental, instructive character of pictures made for other purposes. Treating it as such, the present authors present its pedagogical bases as experimentation has thus far determined them, describe the physical equipment necessary and its supervision, classify the material lending itself to instruction with films, and expound the teaching methods which experience and research have found best adapted to visual education, in the higher as well as secondary schools.

Pictures and charts augment the text, and there is an appendix containing checking forms to guide the instructor.—G. S.

Film Exchange Denies Action

The Film Exchange, Inc., denied this week that a judgment for $1,000 had been entered by the Music Publishers' Protective Association against it for allegedly illegal use of one song in the short subject, "Let's Go Fishing," as was reported on page 13 of the May 19 issue of MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

Named Columbia Branch Head

Oscar Ruby, Cleveland salesman, has been named Milwaukee branch manager by Columbia, succeeding L. George Ross, resigned.

LET'S TALK

Whoopee! . . . The fleet's in—and the boys are rarin' to go! . . . And THIS time they get mixed up with the society set at Newport! . . . Great gobs of Laughter! . . . Great gobs of Drama! . . . Great gobs of Action, Romance, Deviltry—and just plain Fun! . . . A picture built for entertainment, that does a swell job. And look at that Box Office cast!

Watch for ROMANCE IN THE RAIN

IT OVER

STEP OUT WITH UNIVERSAL

Starring

CHESTER MORRIS

with

MAE CLARKE

Frank Craven, Andy Devine, Russ Brown. Story by Dore Schary and Lewis Foster. Directed by Kurt Neumann. A B. F. Zeidman production. Presented by CARL LAEMMLE. A UNIVERSAL PICTURE.

CODE BOARD MEMBERS, SECRETARIES

F. E. ROLLOFF (below), Minneapolis Clearance Board, unaffiliated first run exhibitors.

BARNEY ROSENTHAL (below), St. Louis Grievance Board, unaffiliated distributors, is secretary-treasurer of Premier Pictures.

E. A. WILKIE (below), Kansas City Clearance Board, impartial member, heads Wilkie Furniture Company.

MONA O'ROURKE (below), New Orleans Boards' secretary, connected with St. Charles Theatre.

CHARLES L. WALKER (below), Salt Lake City Clearance Board, affiliated distributors, Fox manager.

DON JACOCKS (below), New Jersey Advisory Committee, affiliated first run exhibitors, is Warner manager.

FRANK GROSS (below), Cleveland Clearance Board, unaffiliated subsequent runs, owns Grand and Cedar.

JOSEPH SHURE (below), Albany Clearance Board, affiliated first runs, is RKO manager.

REPRESENTATION ON THE BOARDS

Clearance and Zoning Boards: One distributor representative with theatre affiliation; one distributor without theatre affiliation; one affiliated first-run theatre; one independent first-run theatre; two independent subsequent runs; one impartial.

Grievance Boards: One distributor representative with theatre affiliation; one distributor without theatre affiliation; one affiliated theatre; one independent exhibitor; one impartial.

M. A. ("MOE") LEVY (above), Minneapolis Grievance Board, affiliated distributors, is Fox manager.

LOUIS PATZ (above), Des Moines Grievance Board, unaffiliated distributors, is Universal Manager.

HARRY SHIFFMAN (above), New York Clearance Board, unaffiliated first run exhibitors, heads Brill Circuit.

HERMAN SUSSMAN (above), Manhattan, Bronx, Staten Island, Westchester Advisory Committee, unaffiliated first runs, exhibitor.

ROBERT BURNETT (above), St. Louis Grievance Board, impartial member, is an attorney.

MARTIN J. MULLIN (above), Boston Clearance Board, affiliated first runs, operating head, M. & P. Circuit.

IRWIN S. ROSENBAUM (below), Cincinnati Grievance Board, impartial member, is an attorney.

J. LOUIS GELLER (below), New York Grievance Board, unaffiliated exhibitors, owns several theatres.

RAYMOND RAU (below), Philadelphia Clearance Board, impartial member, assistant vice-president of Integrity Trust.

COLONEL HARRY B. SALTER (below), Philadelphia Grievance Board, impartial, on staff of Governor Moore of New Jersey.

MABEL M. DIETZ (below), Minneapolis Boards' secretary, is Film Board of Trade secretary.

E. KINNEY (below), Detroit Boards' secretary, connected with Allied Association, Michigan.

CLARENCE TURLEY (below), St. Louis Clearance Board, unaffiliated first runs, connected with operation of three theatres.

ANDREW RAHN (below), Minneapolis Clearance Board, impartial member, is official of lumber firm.

(C. Harris & Ewing)

Adolph Zukor presents MAE WEST in "IT AIN'T NO SIN" with Roger Pryor

John Mack Brown · Duke Ellington & Band · A Paramount Picture · Directed by Leo McCarey

THE CODE QUESTION BOX

By JAMES P. CUNNINGHAM

Immediate reply is being made direct to the many letters which Motion Picture Herald is receiving from exhibitors and distributors in the field, and from others, in which various questions are asked concerning certain doubtful phases of the Motion Picture Code. In addition, such code questions and the answers submitted are published as a regular service.

For obvious reasons, the letters will appear anonymously. However, the originals will remain on file.

Answers to questions about the Code are submitted only after consultation with authorities familiar with the technicalities of the document.

This service is available to everyone. Send questions to the Code Editor, Motion Picture Herald, 1790 Broadway, New York City.

No. 39—IMMORAL PICTURES AND THE FILM CODE

QUESTION—I have some pictures booked, which some of my patrons claim are immoral and should not be shown. Will you please quote from an article in the code which gives me the right to cancel such pictures. The movement from the Catholic Church and denominations of the Protestant Churches to fight demoralizing pictures seems to be growing, and I want to keep on the right side of the fence.—KENTUCKY.

ANSWER—The motion picture code has two clauses which may alleviate the situation described above: Under Part 6 of Article V-F of the code, an exhibitor is entitled to cancel 10 per cent of the features released after December 7, even though they were contracted for prior to that date; provided, however, that such pictures do not exceed an average rental of $250, and the contract is in good standing, and, furthermore, that the exhibitor under that contract purchased all of the pictures offered to him at the one time by the distributor.

The second provision is Part 9, Article B-D, which says that for good and sufficient reason the exhibitor may be relieved from his obligation to play a percentage feature upon any designated playing day or days when the exhibitor feels that the subject and character of the picture so designated are objectionable or unsuitable for exhibition at the exhibitor's theatre on such designated day or days.

When an exhibitor desires such relief from the playing of such a percentage picture on a designated day or days, the exhibitor must file an application for such relief with the Local Grievance Board in his territory within three days after receipt of the notice of availability of such picture, and the application must state that the only reason for seeking such relief is that the subject and character of the picture are unsuitable for exhibition at the exhibitor's theatre on such designated day or days of the week (for example, on Sundays or for Family Night showings and the like).

If the Local Grievance Board grants the exhibitor's application, the distributor has the right to substitute for that designated day or days another percentage picture if there still be one under contract from that distributor, and if the percentage terms are the same or similar to the terms of the picture from which relief is sought. On all flat rental pictures, the exhibitor can always pay the film rental and avoid showing the picture, and can usually pay an agreed amount in lieu of rental and avoid showing percentage pictures.

▽ ▽ ▽

No. 40—PREMIUMS FOR EACH FEMALE PATRON

QUESTION—I have a subsequent run theatre maintaining what I think is a fair admission price—in fact, the same as the B houses which show first runs. In order to maintain this admission I would like to know if I could give a premium to each lady attending my theatre on a certain day of each week.

I have a chain of theatres competing and in order for me to uphold my admissions, the premium idea struck me as the only way to compete with these chain theatres.

I don't like to drop my admissions and feel that with one change of booking each week with a premium for each lady attending I can hold my own with the competition and still maintain my regular admission throughout the week. —IOWA.

ANSWER—Under Section 2, Part 3, Article V-E of the motion picture code, an exhibitor is permitted to give premiums to all of his patrons, or to all of any one class of patrons, such as premiums given to all ladies, or to all men, or to all children. This practice can only be outlawed under the code when 75 per cent of all of the exhibitors in any territory so vote in the manner prescribed in the code, and as yet no such action has been taken in any territory.

▽ ▽ ▽

No. 41—ESTABLISHING OPERATORS' WAGE SCALES

QUESTION—According to my understanding of the code, the minimum wage for a projectionist is the prevailing scale as of August, 1933, in a particular locality.

In this town there are two theatres of about the same seating capacity, and there are four operators employed by these two theatres. The scale of wages paid last August ranged from $3 a day to $4.75 a day.

Under these conditions, what was the prevailing scale of wages for this town?—MASSACHUSETTS.

ANSWER—The code says that the minimum scale of wages for projectionists shall be the minimum which prevailed in a locality as of August 23, 1933 (Section 6-a, Part 1, Article IV). It further provides that where any dispute arises as to what was the minimum scale of wages, then the matter shall be arbitrated by the employers and the employees. For further information it is suggested that the NRA'S Regional Labor Board be contacted in the largest city nearest the locality of the theatre.

▽ ▽ ▽

No. 42—SALARY AND HOURS FOR HOUSE MANAGERS

QUESTION—As manager of a theatre I have continued to receive $25 per week salary and $5 car allowance for a 100-mile advertising trip each week.

Nothing has been said about an increase since the code came in, although I am working 50 to 60 hours a week as formerly. It is my understanding that I should be receiving $35 a week in addition to the $5 car allowance. Is this not right? Am I entitled to the difference in pay from the time the code went into effect, and how should I go about collecting this back pay? To whom should I go to see that the code is enforced?—ILLINOIS.

ANSWER—The motion picture code does not say that a theatre manager must receive $35 per week, but the clause (Section 2, Part 1, Article IV), which would involve theatre managers, does say that unless a manager is receiving $35 per week then he shall not work more than 40 hours weekly. ("No employee—in exhibition—shall work more than 40 hours in one week, except that such maximum hours shall not apply to employees in a managerial, executive or advisory capacity who now receive $35 or more per week.")

Obviously, then, the theatre has been violating this provision of the code by working the manager more than 40 hours in one week, when such manager receives less than $35 per week.

The proper medium for effecting compliance with this provision is the NRA's Regional Labor Board located in the key city nearest the locality of the theatre. The address of the Regional Labor Board may be obtained from the NRA National Labor Board at Washington.

Italian Company Builds New Plant

By VITTORIO MALPASSUTI
Rome Correspondent

The VIS is now constructing new studios at Tirrenia, a town on the Mediterranean coast near Viareggio. The area of construction will be over 200,000 square metres, including one studio covering 1,500 square metres and one studio covering 1,000 square metres, with circular walls and revolving doors, three projection rooms, one synchronizing room, rooms for 2,000 extras, 50 actors' dressing rooms, and a large building for general operations which will be equipped with sound apparatus and two tracks for exteriors.

In these studios Giovacchino Forzano has completed "Mastro Landi," a Florentine story, and is now preparing the scenarios of "Campo di Maggio" and "Julius Caesar."

—

Max Ophuls, the German director who directed "Libelei" and "On a Vole un Homme" for Fox Film in Paris, is now in Italy to complete "The Lady of Everybody" ("La Signora di Tutti") at the Cines Studios in Rome for Novella Film, a new producing company financed by Rizzoli, a newspaper editor of Milan.

The film is taken from a story by a well-known Italian writer, Samvator Gotta; the leading lady will be Isa Miranda (picture in Pictorial section), and the cast will be completed by Memo Benassi, the famous Italian actor who was allied with Eleonora Duse in her last journey to the United States; Titania Pavlova, the Russian actress, and Lamberto Picasso, both prominent figures of the Italian stage.

—

Takes Three Warner Houses

West Virginia Theatre Enterprises, Inc., has acquired three Warner houses in Wheeling, W. Va., the Court, Liberty and Victoria. R. T. Kemper has returned as city manager.

Adolph Zukor presents MAE WEST in "IT AIN'T NO SIN" with Roger Pryor
John Mack Brown · Duke Ellington & Band · A Paramount Picture · Directed by Leo McCarey

TECHNOLOGICAL

The BLUEBOOK School

By F. H. RICHARDSON

BLUEBOOK SCHOOL QUESTION NO. 227.—(A) What in your opinion should be the scope of an examining board's questions? What should they cover? (B) What is meant by Absorption of Light? By Actinic Ray? By Angle of Reflection and Angle of Projection? (C) Just what is meant by Foot Candle or Candle Foot? (D) What is a Standard Candle?

Answer to Question No. 221

Bluebook School Question No. 221 was: (A) Under what conditions will a small diameter projection lens cause loss of light? (B) Explain just why unevenness of screen illumination is set up when a portion of the light beam falls outside the projection lens?

Many made good, though many fell down on Section B, much to my surprise. The matter is rather simple, but apparently not very well understood. (William Lemke's name should have been included among those sending correct answers to Question No. 220, but somehow seems to have been omitted.) Those answering Question No. 221 were:

G. E. Doe; S. Evans and C. Rau; D. Danielson; A. F. Sprafke; R. De Totto; J. Wentworth; T. Van Vaulkenburg; R. J. Arnston; H. Edwards; D. Ferguson; L. Cimikoski; L. J. O'Melia; W. Broadbent; B. Doe; G. Thompson; B. R. Walker; Nic Granby; L. R. Doty; J. Lansing and R. D. Oberleigh; D. Breaston and D. Habor; D. Goldberg and L. Hutch; G. Johnson and L. R. Spooner; F. Simms and O. L. Daris; L. Klar and F. H. Klar; B. H. Sanders, J. Jensen, D. L. Lode and K. Y. Spencer; G. Lathrope and N. L. Tomlinson; L. N. and C. B. Traxler; F. H., S. and P. Dalbey; D. U. Granger; R. and K. Wells; J. Hendershot; H. F. Menefee; T. L. Turk and O. Davis; L. F. Evans; L. D. Richardson and G. N. Bagley; S. Carberry.

A. F. Sprafke replies to Section A as follows: "The aperture plate allows a beam of certain size to pass through to the objective lens. Naturally, any ray that is obstructed by the plate goes no farther than the plate, consequently is lost. The same holds true for the lens of small diameter where the light beams fall on the outside of the lens. Obviously, this is all lost light, since that part of the rays that would show as colors on the screen have been removed at the aperture plate if the light be properly lined-up. Therefore, the size or diameter of a lens should correspond to its material stop, which in the case of a projector happens to be the aperture plate."

W. Broadbent answers thus, "Following the suggestion of our best friend, Mr. Richardson, I painted both a converging condenser lens and a reflecting mirror, afterward removing the paint at pin points of the surface, only to discover that what he has told us is entirely true; namely, that each such point of either a mirror or lens sends a cone of light to the aperture, its diameter at the aperture varying with distance and diameter of light source.

"It then follows that there is and must be, under any possible condition, at least some divergence of the light beam between the aperture and projection lens, and if the beam be spread sufficiently to have greater diameter than the lens, there must be light loss. In a few words, there must be light loss if a projection lens of too-small diameter to admit the entire beam be used."

D. Ferguson says, "There is light loss when the working distance of the projection lens is too great (the divergence of the beam too great) for the free diameter of the lens. Also when the working distance of the converging element is short, the beam diverges between the aperture and lens more rapidly than when it is long, thus creating need for a larger diameter projection lens."

I think I will set forth how the matter seems to me: The light beam diverges between the aperture and lens under any condition. The greater the distance from aperture to lens the greater must be the lens diameter to admit the entire beam, and thus prevent light loss by overlapping of the beam.

The divergence of the beam is increased by (a) decreased distance of converging element from aperture and (b) increased diameter of the converger. Light loss must occur if the free diameter of the projection lens rear element be insufficient to admit the entire beam, and the beam diameter, where it meets the lens, is dependent upon the before named conditions.

Note: Many claim there is no divergence if a mirror or corrected converging lens be used. However, I have yet to find a mirror or lens that entirely stopped divergence. Also, since light travels in straight lines, and some of the light from the outer converger zones must and does get into the aperture, may I ask the wise ones to submit a drawing in which it can be demonstrated that there is and can be no such divergence, remembering the fact that each pin point of the converger element surface sends forward not a single ray, but a bundle of them in the form of a cone.

B. G. E. Doe says, "The matter is made very clear by Figure 47, Volume 1 of the Bluebook and its accompanying text. Summed up, either all or very nearly all the light passing through the center of the film photograph will get into the projection lens under almost any condition. It then is fully illuminated in so far as has to do with the light source in use.

"If the lens diameter be too small, so that a portion of the light does not enter, the light loss must and will all be that from the outer zones of the photograph over the aperture, hence it is evident there must and will be unevenness of illumination of the screen image."

Dale Danielson puts it thusly: "An evenly illuminated screen may be had, provided the aperture itself be evenly illuminated and the projection lens is able to transfer this condition to the screen. In this case each pin point of the film photograph being projected is evenly illuminated, and every ray except those stopped by the photographic shadings and by absorption of the film body itself goes forward to the screen, hence the screen image will be evenly illuminated.

"However, should the lens not have sufficient diameter to pick up the entire beam, a very different situation will be set up. Let us examine into it. Having an evenly illuminated aperture, but a projection lens too small in diameter to pick up the beam, we have the case of thousands of tiny cones of light, one from each pin point of the film photograph surface, going forward to the lens. We may reasonably assume that the entire cones from the central zones of the film photograph will enter the lens; also, those from the outer zones may do so as well. But if the beam overlaps the lens, then the loss will be wholly made up of portions of the cones from pin points on the outer diameters of the picture, and this of course must and will cause unevenness of screen illumination. Another thing: As we pass outward from the central zones from which all cones enter the lens, if the lens be too small to pick up the beam, the conditions grow steadily worse, since the farther out we go the less proportion of the light cone bases enter the lens. In conclusion, the screen will be evenly illuminated only when the aperture is evenly illuminated and the projection lens capable of utilizing the entire beam of light therefrom."

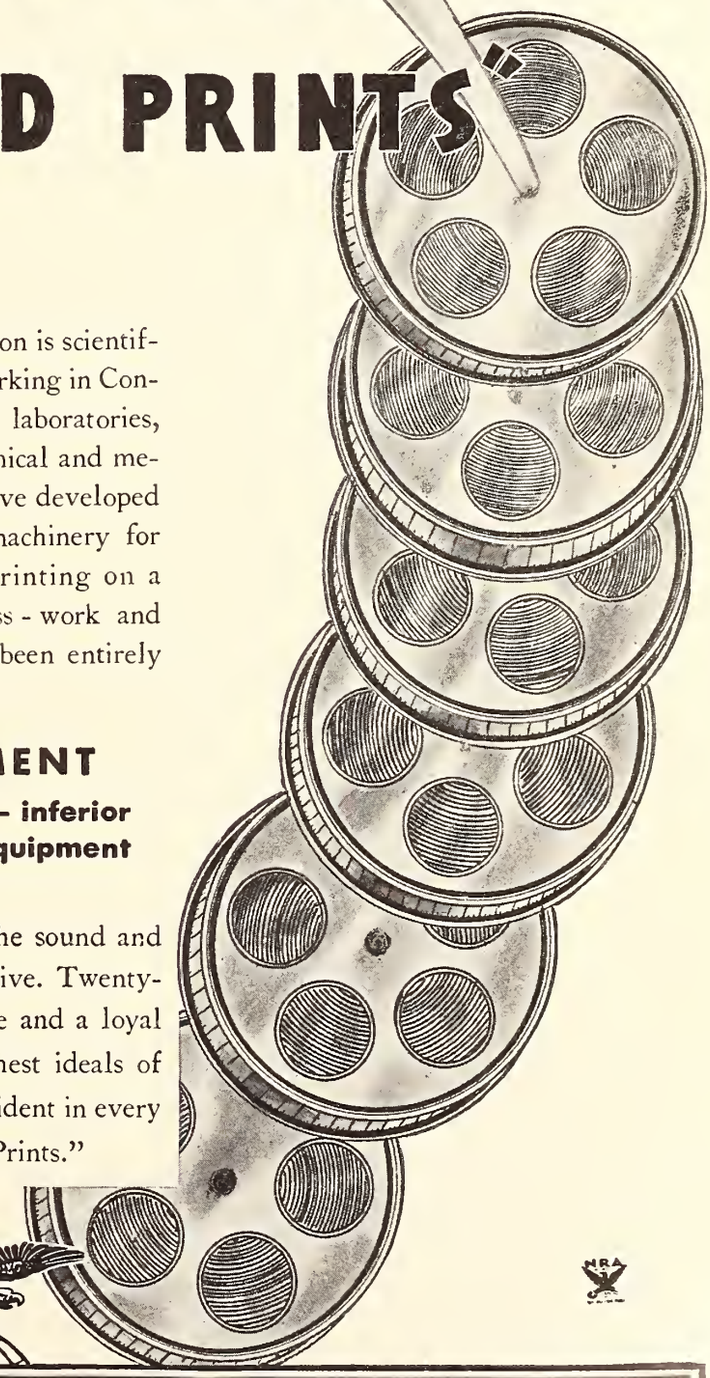
Settle Copyright Action Against Peekskill Theate

The suit of distributors against the Peekskill theatre, Peekskill, N. Y., for violation of copyright through unauthorized holdover of films, has been settled out of court in New York.

Fox, RKO Radio, RKO Pathe, RKO Distributing, Columbia and Big U Pictures were plaintiffs in the action. The theatre is operated by the estate of the late Joseph R. Singer. Charges were first filed early in 1933.

Tall, dark and handsome
Adolph Zukor presents
MAE WEST
in
"IT AIN'T NO SIN"
with Roger Pryor
John Mack Brown
Duke Ellington and
his famous orchestra
A Paramount Picture
Directed by Leo McCarey

THEATRE RECEIPTS



The theatre receipts for the calendar week ended June 2, 1934, from 107 houses in 19 major cities of the country, reached a total figure of $1,031,823, a decrease of $18,058 from the total for the preceding calendar week, ended May 26, when 109 theatres in 19 cities reported an aggregate gross of $1,049,881.

(Copyright, 1934: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to MOTION PICTURE HERALD expressly forbidden)

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Boston			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Boston	2,900	25c-50c	"I'll Tell the World" (U.) and "The Crosby Case" (U.)	19,000	"The Party's Over" (Col.) and "The Line-Up" (Col.)	18,000	High 1-13-34 "Fog"	23,500
							Low 3-11 "Topaze"	11,000
Fenway	1,800	30c-50c	"The Witching Hour" (Para.) and "A Very Honorable Guy" (F. N.)	9,000	"Such Women Are Dangerous" (Fox) and "Private Scandal" (Para.)	8,000	High 1-14 "Island of Lost Souls" and "Billion Dollar Scandal"	15,000
							Low 7-29 "She Had to Say Yes" and "Arizona to Broadway"	6,000
Keith's	3,500	30c-50c	"The Black Cat" (U.) and "Strictly Dynamite" (Radio)	19,000	"Stingaree" (Radio)	18,500	High 12-2 "Little Women"	28,000
							Low 3-11 "When Strangers Marry"	12,000
Loew's State	3,700	35c-50c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (2nd week)	17,000	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (1st week)	18,000	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	23,000
							Low 3-11 "Men Must Fight"	11,000
Metropolitan	4,350	30c-65c	"Murder at the Vanities" (Para.)	32,000	"Change of Heart" (Fox)	30,000	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	44,500
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	26,500
Paramount	1,800	30c-50c	"The Witching Hour" (Para.) and "A Very Honorable Guy" (F.N.)	9,500	"Such Women Are Dangerous" (Fox) and "Private Scandal" (Para.)	9,000	High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "Deception"	17,000
							Low 8-12 "Mary Stevens, M.D." and "Flying Devils"	8,000
Buffalo
Buffalo	3,500	30c-55c	"Change of Heart" (Fox)	16,800	"Sadie McKee" (MGM)	14,300	High 12-9 "Dancing Lady"	31,000
							Low 3-25 "Our Betters"	9,800
Century	3,000	25c	"Now I'll Tell" (Fox) and "Heat Lightning" (W. B.)	6,300	"Come On, Marines" (Para.) and "Sing and Like It" (Radio)	6,000	High 4-21-34 "The Lost Patrol" and "Three on a Honeymoon"	8,100
							Low 12-16 "Solitaire Man" and "Day of Reckoning"	3,500
Hippodrome	2,100	25c-40c	"Murder at the Vanities" (Para.)	8,000	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (2nd week)	8,500	High 5-19-34 "The House of Rothschild"	18,000
							Low 8-26 "Moonlight and Pretzels"	5,100
Hollywood	300	25c-40c	"Thunder Over Mexico" (Principal) and "You Made Me Love You" (Majestic) (3rd week-3 days)	100	"Thunder Over Mexico" (Principal) and "You Made Me Love You" (Majestic) (2nd week)	800	High 1-7 "Goona Goona"	2,600
							Low 11-25 "Night and Day"	400
Lafayette	3,300	25c	"Twentieth Century" (Col.) and "One Is Guilty" (Col.)	7,200	"Gambling Lady" (W. B.) and "Manhattan Love Song" (Monogram)	7,900	High 3-10-34 "It Happened One Night" and "Before Midnight"	16,700
							Low 12-23 "Myrt and Marge"	4,800
Chicago
Chicago	4,000	35c-68c	"Murder at the Vanities" (Para.)	25,000	"Thirty Day Princess" Para.) (5 days)	19,000	High 9-2 "Goodbye Again"	75,000
							Low 4-29 "Central Airport"	22,000
McVicker's	2,284	30c-60c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM) (3rd week)	8,000	"Viva Villa!" (MGM) (2nd week)	10,000	High 4-14-34 "Wonder Bar"	23,000
							Low 7-1 "The Woman I Stole"	5,000
Oriental	3,940	25c-40c	"The Trumpet Blows" (Para.)	12,000	"Once to Every Woman" (Col.)	12,000	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel"	50,000
							Low 12-16 "A Man's Castle"	10,000
Palace	2,509	35c-75c	"Upper World" (W. B.)	15,000	"Stingaree" (Radio)	17,000	High 9-9 "Morning Glory"	37,000
							Low 4-28-34 "Glamour"	11,500
Roosevelt	1,591	25c-50c	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM) (2nd week)	5,000	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM) (1st week)	7,500	High 10-14 "Penthouse"	16,000
							Low 3-4 "Luxury Liner"	6,200
State-Lake	2,776	20c-35c	"The Poor Rich" (U.)	11,500	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)	12,500	High 1-13-34 "Goodbye Love"	18,000
							Low 2-18 "Lucky Devils"	4,500
United Artists	1,700	30c-60c	"Sadie McKee" (MGM)	22,000	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (4th week)	9,000	High 5-5-34 "The House of Rothschild"	30,000
							Low 3-18 "Perfect Understanding"	6,800
Cleveland
Hippodrome	3,800	30c-44c	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.)	7,500	"Such Women Are Dangerous" (Fox)	3,500	High 10-21 "East of Fifth Avenue"	30,000
							Low 6-10 "Circus Queen Murder"	2,900
RKO Palace	3,100	30c-44c	"Stingaree" (Radio)	7,500	"Change of Heart" (Fox) (9 days)	13,500	High 3-3-34 "It Happened One Night"	28,000
							Low 8-19 "No Marriage Ties"	4,200
State	3,400	30c-44c	"Sadie McKee" (MGM)	17,500	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM))	13,000	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	26,000
							Low 6-24 "The Eagle and the Hawk"	5,000
Warner's Lake	800	30c-40c	"A Very Honorable Guy" (F.N.) (9 days)	5,000	"A Modern Hero" (W. B.) and "Twin Husbands" (Chesterfield) (5 days)	800	High 10-28 "Footlight Parade"	10,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Easy to Love"	1,500
Denver
Aladdin	1,500	25c-50c	"Harold Teen" (W. B.) (25c-40c)	3,000	"As the Earth Turns" (W. B.)	2,500	High 2-25 "Cavalcade"	10,000
							Low 5-26-34 "As the Earth Turns"	2,500
Denham	1,500	25c-40c	"Murder at the Vanities" (Para.)	7,500	"Thirty Day Princess" (Para.)	3,500	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	16,000
							Low 6-3 "Mussolini Speaks," "Night of Terror" and "Soldiers of the Storm"	1,950
Denver	2,500	25c-50c	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM)	6,000	"Change of Hearts" (Fox)	5,500	High 1-13-34 "Roman Scandals"	17,500
							Low 12-16 "The World Changes"	3,000
Orpheum	2,600	25c-55c	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.)	9,500	"Merry Wives of Reno" (W. B.)	7,500	High 2-17-34 "Hi, Nellie!"	19,500
							Low 6-10 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,750
Paramount	2,000	25c-40c	"All Men Are Enemies" (Fox) (1 day)	400	"The Crosby Case" (U.) and "Love Bird" (U.) (2 days)	1,200	High 4-1 "The Kid From Spain"	7,000
			"All Quiet on the Western Front" (U.) (6 days)	1,500			Low 4-7-34 "Ever Since Eve" and "Son of Kong"	1,500
			"Viva Villa!" (MGM) (1 day)	800	"Viva Villa!" (MGM) (5 days)	1,800
Detroit
Fisher	2,700	15c-40c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM) (15c-50c)	4,400	"Private Scandal" (Para.)	5,600	High 1-28 "Silver Dollar"	15,400
							Low 3-18 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	3,100
Fox	5,100	15c-50c	"Change of Heart" (Fox)	22,900	"Stingaree" (Radio)	18,600	High 9-16 "Sing, Sinner, Sing"	32,300
							Low 5-15 "After the Ball" and "Afraid to Talk"	5,400
Michigan	4,000	15c-50c	"Sadie McKee" (MGM)	21,800	"Viva Villa" (MGM)	25,000	High 4-7-34 "Mystery of Mr. X"	31,400
							Low 7-1 "College Humor"	7,300
United Artists	2,000	25c-50c	"Catherine the Great" (U.A.)	4,700	"The House of Rothschild" (U. A.) (3rd week)	7,800	High 5-12-34 "The House of Rothschild"	17,600
							Low 3-25 "The Sign of the Cross"	4,100
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	50c-$1.65	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (8th week)	14,212	"The House of Rothschild" (U. A.) (7th week)	14,039	High 9-9 "Dinner at Eight"	36,656
							Low 4-1 "King Kong"	14,600
Pantages	3,000	25c-40c	"Now I'll Tell" (Fox) and "Take the Stand" (Liberty)	2,000	"Laughing Boy" (MGM) and "Affairs of a Gentleman" (U.)	3,800	High 1-7 "Handle With Care"	13,000
							Low 3-3-34 "Fugitive Lovers" and "The Poor Rich"	1,500
W.B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-55c	"Merry Wives of Reno" (W. B.)	9,000	"Registered Nurse" (F. N.)	11,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	26,000
							Low 1-27-34 "The Big Shakedown"	7,000

"AN INSTITUTION AS GREAT AS THE INDUSTRY IT SERVES"

SCIENTIFIC CONTROL BUILDS QUALITY INTO "CERTIFIED PRINTS"

WHETHER you order a hundred or a thousand "Certified Prints," you can be certain that all will be uniform in quality, bringing your production to the screen looking and sounding its best wherever shown.

Such unfailing uniformity can be achieved only at Consolidated Park, where production is scientifically controlled. Working in Consolidated's research laboratories, our own skilled chemical and mechanical engineers have developed the formulae and machinery for establishing film printing on a scientific basis. Guess-work and chance results have been entirely eliminated.

SAFEGUARD YOUR INVESTMENT

Cut-price prints mean cut-price quality — inferior materials carelessly processed on obsolete equipment —poor screen results.

It doesn't pay to jeopardize your entire investment for the few pennies saved on cut-price prints. Make sure of good results. Send your productions to the screen on "Certified Prints." They're made by science to provide the finest possible expression of the sound and action in your negative. Twenty-one years' experience and a loyal devotion to the highest ideals of service are always evident in every frame of "Certified Prints."

CONSOLIDATED FILM INDUSTRIES, INC.

NEW YORK HOLLYWOOD

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	20c-40c	"Change of Heart" (Fox) (2nd week)	2,500	"Change of Heart" (Fox) (1st week)	5,000	High 2-18 "State Fair" Low 5-19-34 "Now I'll Tell"	7,000 2,000
Circle	2,800	20c-40c	"Murder at the Vanities" (Para.) (2nd week)	4,000	"Murder at the Vanities" (Para.) (1st week)	4,500	High 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes" Low 3-4 "The Sign of the Cross" (2nd run)	12,000 2,500
Indiana	3,100	20c-40c	"Little Miss Marker" (Para.) and "Whirlpool" (Col.) (5 days)	2,000	"Finishing School" (Radio) and... "Sisters Under the Skin" (Col.)	3,000	High 3-25 "Parachute Jumper" Low 5-19-34 "The Trumpet Blows" and "As the Earth Turns"	15,000 2,500
Lyric	2,000	20c-40c	"Smarty" (W. B.)	7,500	"The Black Cat" (U.)	6,000	High 7-22 "College Humor" Low 11-11 "Saturday's Millions"	9,500 3,000
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	"Sadie McKee" (MGM)	5,500	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM)..	5,500	High 2-3-34 "Sons of the Desert" Low 12-16 "Women in His Life"	12,500 3,500
Kansas City
Mainstreet	3,049	25c-40c	"Finishing School" (Radio) and.. "The Crime Doctor" (Radio) (5 days and Sat. late show) (25c)	4,000	"Registered Nurse" (F. N.) (7 days and Sat. late show) (25c-50c)	10,000	High 10-28 "Ace of Aces" Low 5-20 "Sweepings"	21,000 4,000
Midland	4,000	25c	"Hollywood Party" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	6,400	"Sadie McKee" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	13,400	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude" Low 4-15 "Perfect Understanding"	30,000 4,900
Newman	1,800	25c	"Murder at the Vanities" (Para.) and "All Men Are Enemies" (Fox) (7 days and Sat. late show)	7,500	"Thirty Day Princess" (Para.) and "Uncertain Lady" (U.) (7 days and Sat. late show)	4,500	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel" Low 5-27 "Picture Snatcher"	20,000 2,800
Tower	2,200	25c	"Easy to Love" (W. B.) (7 days and Sat. late show)	5,100	"Countess of Monte Cristo" (U.).. (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	5,100	High 6-2-34 "Easy to Love" Low 5-5-34 "Let's Fall in Love"	5,100 4,000
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"Change of Heart" (Fox) (2nd week-4 days) "The Black Cat" (U.) (4 days) (25c)	1,800 2,200	"Change of Heart" (Fox) (1st week)	3,400	High 1-6-34 "Mr. Skitch" Low 7-1 "Lilly Turner"	8,500 1,600
Los Angeles
Filmarte	800	40c-50c	"The Fortune Teller" (W. B.) (2nd week)	400	"The Fortune Teller" (W. B.) (1st week)	1,500	High 4-14-34 "Moon Over Morocco" Low 5-12-34 "Through the Centuries"	7,600 500
Loew's State	2,416	30c-55c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM) (2nd week-6 days) "Queen Christina" (MGM) (1 day)	14,984	"Viva Villa!" (MGM) (1st week)	26,000	High 4-7-34 "Riptide" Low 2-24-34 "Coming Out Party"	28,500 4,870
Paramount	3,596	30c-55c	"Little Miss Marker" (Para.)	21,785	"Private Scandal" (Para.)	18,000	High 1-7 "No Man of Her Own" Low 3-18 "King of the Jungle"	30,000 10,000
RKO	2,700	25c-40c	"Twentieth Century" (Col.)	6,700	"Wild Cargo" (Radio) (2nd week)	3,500	High 3-31-34 "Little Women" Low 9-30 "Brief Moment"	15,500 1,700
United Artists	2,100	25c-40c	"Murder at the Vanities" (Para.) (2nd week)	5,000	"Murder at the Vanities" (Para.) (1st week)	9,500	High 10-21 "The Bowery" Low 1-28 "Hello, Everybody"	21,000 3,900
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-55c	"Merry Wives of Reno" (W. B.).. (4 days) "Harold Teen" (W. B.) (3 days)	5,000	"Upper World" (W. B.)	9,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street" Low 6-2-34 "Merry Wives of Reno" and "Harold Teen"	19,000 5,000
Minneapolis
Century	1,650	25c-40c	"The House of Rothschild" (U. A.) (3rd week)	3,500	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (2nd week)	5,000	High 4-22 "Secrets" Low 3-11 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	5,500 2,500
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"A Modern Hero" (W. B.)	1,500	"The Trumpet Blows" (Para.)	2,000	High 4-1 "20,000 Years in Sing Sing" Low 11-11 "I Loved a Woman"	3,000 1,000
Minnesota	4,000	25c-50c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM)	8,000	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox)	8,000	High 11-11 "I'm No Angel" Low 2-3-34 "Eskimo"	10,000 7,000
RKO Orpheum	2,900	25c-50c	"Journal of a Crime" (F. N.)	6,000	"Stingaree" (Radio)	6,000	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom" Low 3-11 "Cynara"	14,000 3,000
State	2,300	25c-40c	"Bottoms Up" (Fox)	5,500	"Thirty Day Princess" (Para.)	5,500	High 4-29 "Cavalcade" Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	8,000 3,500
World	400	25c-75c	"Catherine the Great" (U. A.)	3,000	"I Was a Spy" (Fox)	2,000	High 5-5-34 "Private Life of Henry VIII" (5th week) Low 11-25 "Vi Som Gar Koksvagen"	4,300 1,000
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-60c	"Change of Heart" (Fox) and.. "I Believed in You" (Fox) (25c-65c)	9,500	"Tarzan and His Mate" (MGM) and "Private Scandal" (Para.)	9,500	High 2-24-34 "Queen Christina" Low 12-23 "Havana Widows and "Ever in My Heart"	13,500 7,500
His Majesty's	1,600	25c-75c	"All Quiet on the Western Front" (U.)	3,000	.....		High 2-18 "Cavalcade" Low 6-2-34 "All Quiet on the Western Front" (Reissue)	13,000 3,000
Loew's	3,115	25c-75c	"Jack Ahoy" (British) and..... "The Lost Chord" (British) (25c-60c)	7,000	"I'll Tell the World" (U.) and.... "Glamour" (U.)	8,500	High 1-21 "The Mask of Fu Manchu" Low 6-2-34 "Jack Ahoy" and "The Lost Chord"	14,500 7,000
Palace	2,600	25c-75c	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F. N.) and "Secrets of a Registered Nurse" (British) (25c-65c)	8,500	"As the Earth Turns" (W.B.) and "A Very Honorable Guy" (F. N.)	9,000	High 2-18 "The Sign of the Cross" Low 6-2-34 "20 Million Sweethearts" and "Secrets of a Registered Nurse"	15,500 8,500
Princess	2,272	25c-65c	"Twentieth Century" (Col.) and.. "One Is Guilty" (Col.) (25c-60c)	6,500	"Palooka" (U. A.) and..... "Social Register" (Col.)	7,500	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain" and "Speed Demon" Low 12-23 "Sing, Sinner, Sing" and "The Chief"	12,000 5,000
New York
Astor	1,012	55c-$2.20	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (11th week)	14,780	"The House of Rothschild" (U. A.) (10th week)	15,800	High 4-14-34 "The House of Rothschild" (4th week) Low 3-25 "The White Sister"	23,730 14,559
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"Sadie McKee" (MGM) (2nd week)	36,962	"Sadie McKee" (MGM) (1st week)	45,000	High 4-7-34 "Riptide" Low 2-10-34 "You Can't Buy Everything"	63,373 15,500
Mayfair	2,300	35c-85c	"Unknown Soldier Speaks" (Lincoln) (3 days)	1,250	"Murder in Trinidad" (Fox)	7,500	High 1-7 "The Half Naked Truth" Low 5-19-34 "Cheaters" (6 days)	24,750 2,700
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"Stingaree" (Radio)	10,700	"Change of Heart" (Fox)	9,500	High 2-4 "Animal Kingdom" Low 4-15 "Parole Girl"	16,150 4,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"Little Miss Marker" (Para.) (2nd week)	36,000	"Little Miss Marker" (Para.) (1st week)	35,000	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel" Low 2-4 "Hello, Everybody"	83,450 15,600
Rialto	2,200	25c-65c	"Hollywood Party" (MGM)	17,500	"Crime Doctor" (Radio) (2nd week—8 days)	8,200	High 4-7-34 "The Lost Patrol" Low 4-15 "Destination Unknown" and "The Fighting President"	32,800 5,800
Rivoli	2,200	35c-99c	"Murder at the Vanities" (Para.) (2nd week-4 days)	4,300	"Murder at the Vanities" (Para.) (1st week)	19,500	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals" Low 8-5 "The Rebel"	48,000 7,200
RKO Center	3,700	25c-55c	"Change of Heart" (Fox) (4 days) "I'll Tell the World" (U.) (3 days)	7,000	"Twentieth Century" (Col.)	7,900	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom" Low 3-17-34 "Fashion Frolics of 1934" and "Let Fall in Love"	71,267 4,800
RKO Music Hall	5,945	35c-$1.65	"Where Sinners Meet" (Radio)	67,500	"Stingaree" (Radio)	61,000	High 11-25 "Little Women" Low 6-17 "Ann Carver's Profession"	109,000 44,938
Roxy	6,200	25c-65c	"Now I'll Tell" (Fox)	26,000	"The Black Cat" (U.)	18,900	High 11-25 "The Invisible Man" Low 1-28 "Air Hostess"	42,000 9,100
Strand	3,000	25c-$1.10	"Upper World" (W. B.) (6 days)	10,100	"He Was Her Man" (W.B.)	11,742	High 10-14 "Footlight Parade" Low 12-23 "Sin of Nora Moran"	55,190 6,850

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"Such Women Are Dangerous".. (Fox)	2,000	"Thirty Day Princess" (Para.)....	2,900	High 1-6-34 "Going Hollywood"	4,100
							Low 3-11 "From Hell to Heaven".....	1,350
Criterion	1,700	10c-56c	"Sadie McKee" (MGM)	5,000	"We're Not Dressing" (Para.) ...	4,500	High 11-18 "College Coach"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "Clear All Wires"	1,800
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	"Whirlpool" (Col.) ..... (4 days)	2,700	"A Modern Hero" (W. B.)..... (4 days)	1,900	High 9-2 "Gold Diggers of 1933".....	3,900
			"Registered Nurse" F. N.) (3 days)		"Countess of Monte Cristo" (U.).. (3 days)	1,400	Low 3-18 "The Death Kiss" and "The Fourth Horseman"	1,100
Midwest	1,500	10c-56c	"Murder at the Vanities" (Para.)	4,000	"Merry Wives of Reno" (W.B.)..	2,000	High 2-25 "State Fair"	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Employees' Entrance"	1,400
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	25c-35c	"The Party's Over" (Col.) and.... "Whirlpool" (Col.) (6 days)	3,500	"Stingaree" (Radio) and..... "The Crime Doctor" (Radio) (6 days)	3,500	High 11-18 "One Man's Journey"	10,750
							Low 12-30 "The World Changes" and "Havana Widows"	3,500
Orpheum	3,000	25c-40c	"Thirty Day Princess" (Para.) and "Glamour" (U.)	7,750	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM) and "Uncertain Lady" (U.)	8,500	High 3-10-34 "Easy to Love"	17,250
							Low 4-29 "Sweepings"	5,000
Paramount	2,900	25c-40c	"Sadie McKee" (MGM) ..... (6 days)	7,000	"Viva Villa!" (MGM).....	7,200	High 7-22 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	13,250
							Low 2-24-34 "Six of a Kind" and "Good Dame"	5,250
World	2,500	25c-35c	"Merry Wives of Reno" (W. B.).. (5 days)	3,250	"I'll Tell the World" (U.) and.... "All Men Are Enemies" (Fox)	3,500	High 6-3 "Peg O' My Heart" and "Perfect Understanding"	7,500
							Low 5-19-34 "As the Earth Turns" and "Smoky"	3,250
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	40c-65c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (5th week-7 days)	8,500	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (4th week-6 days)	8,500	High 5-5-34 "The House of Rothschild"	23,000
							Low 9-30 "Bitter Sweet"	4,800
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	"The Trumpet Blows" (Para.).... (6 days)	1,500	"Wharf Angel" (Para.) ..... (5 days)	1,200	High 1-6-34 "Duck Soup" (7 days)....	6,500
							Low 6-2-34 "The Trumpet Blows".....	1,500
Boyd	2,400	40c-65c	"Thirty Day Princess" (Para.).... (6 days)	10,000	"Sadie McKee" (MGM) ..... (2nd week-5 days)	9,000	High 1-6-34 "Little Women"	30,000
							Low 12-23 "Right to Romance".....	8,000
Earle	2,000	40c-65c	"Whirlpool" (Col.) ..... (6 days)	19,000	"This Man Is Mine" (Radio)..... (6 days)	18,000	High 4-7-34 "Harold Teen"	40,000
							Low 10-21 "Saturday's Millions"	10,000
Fox	3,000	30c-60c	"Change of Heart" (Fox) ..... (6 days)	22,000	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox) ..... (2nd week-6 days)	13,000	High 4-22 "Cavalcade"	29,000
							Low 8-5 "F. P. 1"	13,000
Karlton	1,000	30c-50c	"Sisters Under the Skin" (Col.).. (6 days)	3,000	"Glamour" (U.) ..... (6 days)	2,900	High 4-8 "42nd Street"	7,700
							Low 5-19-34 "Laughing Boy"	2,500
Stanley	3,700	40c-65c	"Murder at the Vanities" (Para.).. (6 days)	12,000	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM).. (6 days)	13,000	High 11-25 "I'm No Angel"	32,500
							Low 6-10 "The Silver Cord"	9,000
Stanton	1,700	30c-55c	"Fog Over Frisco" (F. N.)..... (6 days)	6,000	"The Witching Hour" (Para.).... (5 days)	4,200	High 6-3 "The Little Giant"	10,000
							Low 7-14 "I Love That Man"	4,000
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"I'll Tell the World" (U.) and.... "Lazy River" (MGM)	5,600	"20 Million Sweethearts" (F.N.)..	5,700	High 4-7-34 "Wonder Bar"	13,000
							Low 3-11 "What! No Beer?"	3,500
Music Box	3,000	25c-40c	"This Man Is Mine" (Radio)..... (25c-50c)	7,600	"Finishing School" (Radio) and.... "Heat Lightning" (W. B.)	1,800	High 12-9 "Little Women"	14,000
							Low 5-13 "No More Orchids".....	1,600
Oriental	2,040	25c	"As the Earth Turns" (W. B.) and "She Made Her Bed" (Para.)	2,000	"Merry Wives of Reno" (W. B.).. (25c-55c)	4,800	High 10-14 "Rafter Romance".....	14,000
							Low 11-18 "College Coach"	1,600
Pantages	1,700	15c-25c	"City Limits" (Monogram).....	2,300	"Wine, Women and Song" ..... (Chadwick)	1,800	High 11-4 "Lady for a Day"	10,200
							Low 4-21-34 "Laughing at Life".....	1,500
Paramount	3,008	25c-40c	"Such Women Are Dangerous".... (Fox) and "Private Scandal" (Para.)	5,300	"Murder at the Vanities" (Para.) and "The Party's Over" (Col.) (8 days)	5,000	High 11-18 "The Way to Love"	12,000
							Low 12-2 "Walls of Gold"	3,500
United Artists	945	25c-40c	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM)..	4,700	"Viva Villa!" (MGM).....	6,000	High 4-28-34 "The House of Rothschild"	9,800
							Low 3-11 "Madame Butterfly"	1,600
San Francisco
Fox	4,600	10c-35c	"Sisters Under the Skin" (Col.) and "Money Means Nothing" (Monogram)	8,500	"When Strangers Meet" (Liberty) and "Twin Husbands" (Chesterfield)	8,000	High 4-8 "Should a Woman Tell?" and "Speed Demon"	15,500
							Low 9-9 "Important Witness" and "Sensation Hunters"	7,000
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-40c	"Finishing School" (Radio).....	16,000	"Stingaree" (Radio)	16,000	High 2-11 "The Mummy"	25,500
							Low 10-21 "My Woman".....	8,000
Orpheum	3,000	15c-50c	"Embarrassing Moments" (U.) ... (15c-35c)	12,000	"Uncertain Lady" (U.)	9,500	High 10-14 "Ladies Must Love"	15,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Search for Beauty" and "From Headquarters"	5,000
Paramount	2,670	15c-65c	"Thirty Day Princess" (Para.) and "Upper World" (W. B.)	9,000	"Tarzan and His Mate" (MGM)..	13,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	40,000
							Low 12-23 "Sitting Pretty"	7,000
St. Francis	1,400	15c-40c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM) ..... (3rd week) (25c-40c)	4,500	"Viva Villa!" (MGM) ..... (2nd week)	8,000	High 3-25 "What! No Beer?" and "Broadway Bad"	13,500
							Low 4-14-34 "Registered Nurse" and "Murder in Trinidad"	3,500
United Artists	1,200	25c-50c	"A Modern Hero" (W. B.).....	4,500	"No Greater Glory" (Col.)	4,000	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	17,000
							Low 5-26-34 "No Greater Glory"	4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-65c	"Manhattan Melodrama" (MGM)..	20,000	"Stand Up and Cheer" (Fox).....	17,000	High 1-6-34 "Dancing Lady"	26,000
							Low 5-27 "Story of Temple Drake"....	10,000
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-35c	"A Very Honorable Guy" (F. N.) and "Success at Any Price" (Radio)	3,250	"As the Earth Turns" (W. B.) and "Uncertain Lady" (U.)	3,750	High 12-9 "Little Women".....	8,500
							Low 8-19 "The Rebel"	2,500
Fifth Avenue	2,750	25c-55c	"Viva Villa!" (MGM) ..... (2nd week-5 days)	6,000	"Viva Villa!" (MGM) ..... (1st week)	10,500	High 8-5 "Tugboat Annie	19,250
							Low 5-5-34 "Tarzan and His Mate"...	5,000
Liberty	2,000	10c-25c	"Love Birds" (U.) and..... "Public Stenographer" (Showmens)	4,200	"I'll Tell the World" (U.) and.... "My Pal the King" (S.R.)	3,750	High 3-3-34 "It Happened One Night"	7,000
							Low 6-24 "Uptown New York"	3,000
Music Box	950	25c-55c	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (2nd week-5 days)	3,400	"The House of Rothschild" (U.A.) (1st week)	4,500	High 11-11 "Footlight Parade"	8,000
							Low 12-23 "If I Were Free"	3,250
Music Hall	2,275	25c-75c	"Merry Wives of Reno" (W. B.)	9,000	"Wild Cargo" (Radio)	11,500	.....
Paramount	3,050	25c-35c	"Thirty Day Princess" (Para.)..	5,300	"The Witching Hour" (Para.).....	4,500	High 1-7 "A Farewell to Arms"	9,500
							Low 1-13-34 "Dancing Lady" (2nd run)	4,000

SAYS MINORITY YELLS LOUDEST

ALL-FAMILY SHOW CALLED GREAT NEED

To the Editor of the Herald:

For twenty years I have been trying to educate myself in show business, with the major part of attention being paid to pictures from the exhibitor standpoint. It is seldom I try to "bust" into print, but the urge seems so strong among the embryo journalists at present that I am venturing forth with a few remarks in favor of the negative and some in favor of the affirmative. That will equalize matters and no one will be offended, and it is equally sure that no one will be enlightened. However, in saying what I have to say (which will in no way stir your imagination or change your views), I must first advise you that I am an Independent who does not hate the chains. In short, I wish to give you an idea or two that might appeal to the sense of fairness of common sense and brotherly love.

You will say that in show business there is no brotherly love, and yet the most of the folks engaged in this uplift movement of ours are very fine indeed. It is a wonder, though, that there is any sense of honesty left after showing so many useless pictures. We throw out our chests and strut widely when we have a splendid picture, only to hang our heads in shame when we have an indecent one, and yet we go hopelessly on.

It would seem that some standard should be set up for production that would have to measure up to the ideals set forth by some such society as the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. This standard in itself would automatically correct the troubles of the independent producer, for if nothing but good pictures are made, nothing but good pictures sold and nothing but good pictures exhibited, we will all benefit and all showmen will want the pictures of the independent just the same as from the majors.

There would be fewer of them but that is just what everybody wants, fewer and better pictures with possibilities of longer runs with a profit at the end of it. There would be no necessity for double features and this would bring the quality short up to a better standard and reopen a field that is most vital to the industry. A variety program is necessary to hold the interest of theatre goers and multiply their number. I have just been in conversation with a friend of mine who said that he had two sons just coming into manhood, that they were guided in their decisions as to what they should see by The Parents' Magazine, that almost all of their friends who have children are guided in this same way.

This is not maudlin sentimentality, friends; this is business — the greatest business on earth is being crushed before your very eyes because a few blind guides cannot see the advantage of the all-family show, without a question of doubt.

It is a tremendous responsibility we owe to our country and all other countries who play American-made films. There are only a few wicked cities in the world, and they have only wicked spots; most of them are fine home towns, just like Galesburg, and they want fine things for their children to see. But as usual the minority want the smut and dirt and raise the biggest yell for sex and more sex and crime and more crime. There is only one guide for production and that the conscience of a parent who has fine children of his own to protect. If he makes pictures fit for them to see, the whole world can see them without harming anyone. And yet I would not delete all the elements of drama. What's wrong with "It Happened One Night," "David Harum," "Little Women" and others? They all had plenty of kick in them but were clean.

Well, boys, that's my story, and I'm going to stick to it. What do you say? We do not need government interference or aid to solve our problems, but we do need an application of common sense. We must have fine pictures. If the producer's plans call for a schedule of 25, why not cut to 15 and put more brains and more money into the 15? It takes time, it takes ability. A director who is sincere will not kill time, but he should be unhampered by the element of time. He is usually a dreamer who must have time to weave his web. He lives in a world apart and should not be rushed into makeshift crudities when something fine might be lurking just ahead, and this is perhaps the greatest reason for fewer and better pictures.—Tom J. McSpadden, The Little Theatre Guild, Galesburg, Ill.

GIVING PATRONS THE LAST WORD

To the Editor of the Herald:

There is much to be said in favor of or against either continuous programs or scheduled showings and one's viewpoint is necessarily colored (or should be if one is wise) by the preference of his clientele. Personally, I never think of announcing any change in the opening hours, such as the season would seem to demand, without also announcing that these changes will not go into effect if any of our customers are inconvenienced thereby.

I have never met with any objection to such proposed changes, yet I have retained the goodwill of the patrons in announcing that they should have the last word in the matter.

Isn't this question, after all, one of "local option"? It is quite annoying to some, no doubt, to have patrons coming in or passing out during the program, thus momentarily obstructing their view of the screen. It is equally disagreeable to many others, who might arrive in the first or second reel, to be told they would have to wait another hour.

Those with opposing views on this question might line up about 50-50. Query: Should I put it to the test by letting the patrons vote on the matter, thus precipitating a merry fight where all is serene now? Of course this is a small town and we have no throng constantly passing in or out, nor do they make a practice of carrying on an audible and animated conversation on their journey either way. I also am well aware that there are some here who would much prefer the schedule arrangement, but in the 13 years I have managed this theatre no one has registered a serious complaint and I hardly care to take the initiative.

In my younger days I used to go blackberrying in Michigan. Not infrequently, black bear were bent on the same mission. They were quite peaceful, however, and so was I. Had I been foolish enough to test His Bearship's good nature, I might not be writing these lines right now. I was satisfied to go home with my pail full of berries and the bear was graciously permitted to return to his hollow log with his belly full of berries.

In other words, I never killed a bear in my life, and by the same token, no bear ever killed me. Fair enough, ain't it?

I'm aware Mr. Quigley did not even mention black bear, "nigger in the woodpile" or in the chicken coop, or melon patch, as the case may be, but they are not myths.

"Fools will rush where angels fear to tread,"
So sang a great poet long since dead.
I may be a great fool yet not even I
Will disturb the sleeping dogs who lie.

To all those who are kept waiting till the next program begins, I issue a cordial invitation to come in any old time (if you have a ticket) and stay as long as you behave yourself. If you can't behave yourself, that's where we come in and you go out.

Further the deponent sayeth not.—Peter Bylsma, Victory Theatre, Napoleonville, La.

THAT COMPETITION OF THE SCHOOLS

To the Editor of the Herald:

I note Mr. Bennett's article relative to the circus papering the town with free passes and tying up with the merchants. That is one thing that we have had to contend with —and one other, and that is the tax supported schools that bring in magicians, radio stars and what-not, which has become a common practice every few weeks, in this territory.

It is not so long ago that a projection machine was installed in a town in this neighborhood, in a high school, and was running pictures that the exhibitor did not or could not use, in competition to the exhibitor. I noted an article in the Herald that projection machines in the schools was not far off for education purposes. How long would they stay on education pictures? Not long. If this comes to pass they undoubtedly will be in direct competition.

I am for the schools all right, but a good many of us old-timers that have had experience with the scholars that come out of this modern education, who have to keep a dictionary close by them to write even a common business letter. I know because I have had a couple in the office that had to do that things. Too many frills today dramatic art, etc.

The late Thomas Marshall, vice-president that came from this town, addressed a convocation and made the statement that the average high school student was puzzled to know whether a period was a period or a fly speck. The old boy was witty.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind.

WABASH AVENUE

CHICAGO

Clyde Eckhardt, temporary chairman of the proposed Variety club here, has announced that final organization plans have been deferred until fall. There is plenty of enthusiasm for the club and arrangements will most certainly be carried through, Mr. Eckhardt says, and delay is merely due to the belief that the hot summer months would be a poor time to get the club functioning with full membership.

▽

Members of the Warner Club will hold their first annual golf tournament at Olympia Fields Wednesday, June 27. As usual, the Warner club invites its friends in the industry to join in a gala day of golf and fun. There will be luncheon, dinner and green fees covered by a charge of $3.25, which also includes, says Ben Cohn, manager of the Club, a shot at a great variety of valuable prizes for both dubs and duffers.

▽

Balaban & Katz opened the Garrick theatre Decoration Day with "Wonder Bar" as the first attraction.

▽

Offices of Chicago Trailer Company will be opened by Louis Mack at 1018 S. Wabash Avenue.

▽

Jerry Abrams has acquired distribution in this territory of the Ross-McLarnin fight film.

▽

S. J. Gregory will take over the Central theatre at LaPorte, Ind., on August 1.

▽

Lou Goldberg, formerly owner of the Rosette theatre here, is now managing the Palace theatre at Peoria for Great States.

▽

Local papers recently carried the announcement of a violin recital given at the Theatre of the Chicago Musical College by Jerome Gumbiner, 12-year-old son of Abe Gumbiner. Jerome is the winner of several violin scholarships and is considered one of Max Fischel's most brilliant pupils.

▽

Bill Weinshenker is handling the Chicago and Illinois territory on "Forgotten Men" and "Hitler's Reign of Terror."

▽

Abe Fischer, representing Gaumont British Pictures Corporation, has established offices at 831 S. Wabash Avenue, from which point he will handle the company's product for the middlewest.

▽

Hardly a week without an industry convention in this World's Fair city. Last week the Independent Theatre Supply Dealers Association and the Theatre Equipment and Supply Manufacturers Association met at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Followed the national United Artists Convention at the Drake, and on Monday the National Film Carriers gathered at the Palmer House.

▽

Jack Thoma, divisional publicity director for Columbia, is back from a three-weeks' swing through the middlewest in connection with a campaign on "Twentieth Century."

▽

Allen Usher, Paramount branch manager, has been named to succeed Charles Reagan on the local grievance board.

HOLQUIST

Leventhal Leaves Columbia

Leon G. Leventhal has resigned as head of the dramatic department of Columbia Pictures, to re-enter legitimate production.

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of June 2

ASTOR
Playful ..... United Artists

MAYFAIR
Air Maniacs..... Educational
Love on a Ladder..... RKO Radio

PARAMOUNT
This Little Piggie Went to Market ..... Paramount
Paramount Pictorial—No. 12. Paramount
Hollywood on Parade–No. 12. Paramount

RKO MUSIC HALL
Among the Nordics..... Columbia
Goldilocks and the Three Bears ..... Universal Chasing the Champions... Fox

RIALTO
Shoein' Hosses..... Paramount
Good Shape..... Paramount
Paramount Pictorial—No. 11. Paramount

RIVOLI
City of the Golden Gate... Fox
Roamin' Vandals ..... MGM

ROXY
Funny Little Bunnies..... United Artists
Ceiling Whacks ..... Universal

STRAND
Darling Enemy ..... Vitaphone
Just Concentrate ..... Vitaphone
Buddy's Garage ..... Vitaphone

The hero is killing the villain—
that's good!

He will marry the girl—
as certain he should.

Gee, what a picture—it would be a treat

If I could get set in this slithering seat!

But say, such a theatre!—how often
I'd come

To see pictures here—but I really get numb.

I miss all the thrills, for this house needs repairs

They'd double business with comfortable chairs!

Ask Us,
"How can I reseat and pay for new chairs conveniently?"

American Seating Company

Makers of Dependable Seating for Theatres and Auditoriums
General Offices: Grand Rapids, Michigan BRANCHES IN ALL PRINCIPAL CITIES

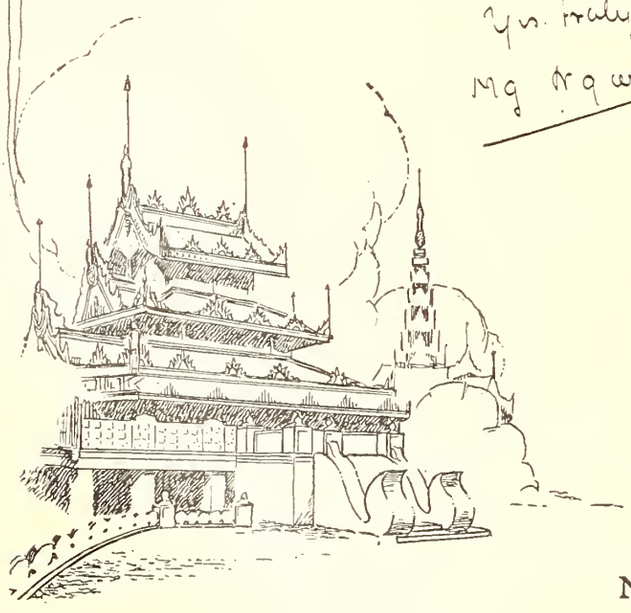
THE HERALD

မောင်ငွေထွန်း၊ ဘီ-အေ၊
ဝတ်လုံတော်ရှေ့။

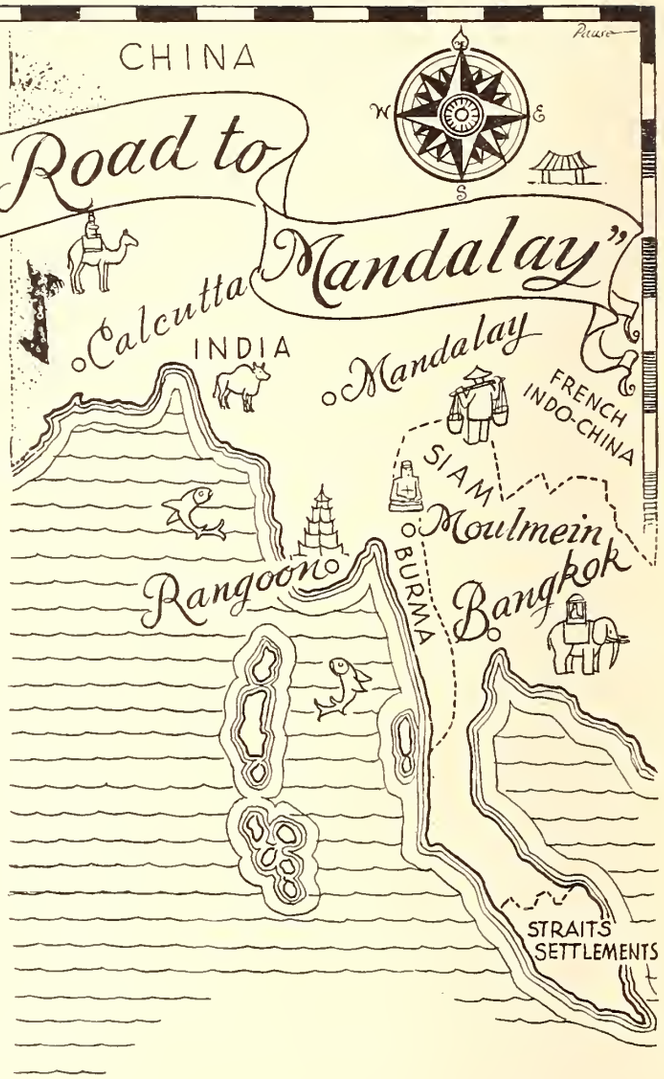
MAUNG NGWE TUN, B. A.,
BARRISTER-AT-LAW.

To.
Managers Round Table Club
1790 Broadway
New York (U S A)

Dear Sirs,



As a regular reader of the Mohon Picture Herald for the last three years I would like to take advantage to become a member of the Managers Round Table Club



I am a member of the English Bar and also holds Diploma in Theatre Management from the Motion Picture Theatre Managers Institute Elmira, N. Y.

My uncle and myself are the sole owners of two Picture Houses in Moulmein

Trusting that my case will be sympathetically considered

Yrs. truly,
Mg Ngwe Tun

¶ WHERE THE motion picture goes, there you will find MOTION PICTURE HERALD. The HERALD'S "Managers' Round Table" is a truly international institution, a real and working "League of Nations" in the common cause of the box office.

¶ THIS WEEK brings a new member from afar, MR. MAUNG NGWE TUN of the Globe and Olympic theatres in Moulmein, BURMA, famed in Kipling's song of the East as the place where "the dawn comes up like thunder out of China 'cross the bay." Truly, "Herald Square" covers the show world.

Motion Picture Herald

A Quigley Publication

NEW YORK CHICAGO HOLLYWOOD LONDON

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

IN this, the exhibitors' own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me
MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway, New York

Columbia

CALIFORNIA TRAIL, THE: Buck Jones—Got a good print on this old one and did good Saturday business. Played May 18-19.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Aheatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

CORNERED: Tim McCoy—This about like the rest of the McCoys, nothing extra. But will satisfy the western fans. Running time, 59 minutes.—L. D. Brown, Queen Theatre, Brownwood, Texas. Small town patronage.

HOLD THE PRESS: Tim McCoy, Shirley Grey—Very good Friday and Saturday picture. Running time, 60 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

IT HAPPENED ONE NIGHT: Claudette Colbert, Clark Gahle—Excellent. Swell. It's got everything. If this show won't hring them in you hetter close the place up. Business excellent. What a show! Running time, 105 minutes. Played May 4-5.—J. E. Tunstall, Nottawa Theatre, Blackstone, Va. Small town patronage.

IT HAPPENED ONE NIGHT: Clark Gable, Claudette Colhert—Here is a picture that has everything and the patrons leave saying it's the hest they have ever seen. Played seven days and hroke house records and brought it hack for a one night showing. You can't go wrong on this one or any of Columbia's. Gahle and Colbert make a wonderful team and are sure fire box-office. Here's hoping we get another one from them. Played Apr. 28-29-30-May 1-2-3-4.—L. J. Bennett, Rialto Theatre, Pekin, Ill. General patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: May Robson—A swell show that didn't do average husiness. Running time, 102 minutes. Played May 16-17.—J. E. Tunstall, Nottawa Theatre, Blackstone, Va. Small town patronage.

LET'S FALL IN LOVE: Ann Sothern, Edmund Lowe—Why so much Swedish language. No one can understand it. There was hardly anyone who liked it. Columbia certainly has a flop in this one. With the exception of a very good title, there isn't much else. Played May 23.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

LET'S FALL IN LOVE: Ann Sothern, Edmund Lowe—Delightful entertainment for every memher of the family. Some exhibitors commented that Ann Sothern could not sing, another that she could sing. On our sound equipment her singing sounded okay. It may be possible that where her voice did not sound so well it may be due to the sound system. This is meant in all friendliness. Drawing power a fair average.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre. Detroit. Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

LINE-UP, THE: William Gargan, Marion Nixon—Only a fair program picture. Running time, 66 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

MAN TRAILER, THE: Buck Jones—A great western. This old timer certainly knows how to make them interesting. He is "It" up our way.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

MAN TRAILER, THE: Buck Jones—My country patrons like Jones in anything. This is a nice little western. Running time, six reels.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

MAN'S CASTLE, A: Loretta Young, Spencer Tracy—A very good picture and Loretta Young did her part well, in spite of Tracy trying to be tough. Should satisfy 75 per cent. Running time, 71 minutes.—L. D. Brown, Queen Theatre, Brownwood, Texas. Small town patronage.

ONCE TO EVERY WOMAN: Ralph Bellamy, Fay Wray—Bellamy turns in a fine piece of acting in this one. Entertaining throughout and did ahove the average business. Running time, 68 minutes. Played May 16.—Fred M. Elkin, Carolina Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

ONCE TO EVERY WOMAN: Fay Wray—Very nice program picture. It drew good business on Saturday. Played Apr. 21.—Edith M. Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

First National

VOICE IN THE NIGHT: Tim McCoy—If you are looking for action here it is. McCoy keeps them on the edge of the seats and this little Billie Seward sure is an eyeful in any man's eye and a nice actress, too. Running time, 59 minutes. Played May 5.—Fred M. Elkin, Carolina Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

CONVENTION CITY: Joan Blondell, Dick Powell, Adolphe Menjou—100 per cent entertainment, good comedy and plenty of laughs. This picture should please everyone in any kind of a town, not a slow, draggy spot in the whole picture. It will stand your best days and all the tie-ups and plugging you can give it. We did fine husiness with this one. Played Apr. 22-23-24.—Bob Ouellette, Dixie Theatre, Brooksville. Fla. Small town patronage.

FASHIONS OF 1934: William Powell, Bette Davis—As fine a piece of musical comedy entertainment as one could ask for. Romance, comedy, elahorate stage ensembles, etc., hut for some reason a flop at our hox-office; whether the word fashion on the title is the jinx, I cannot tell.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighhorhood patronage.

FASHIONS OF 1934: William Powell, Bette Davis—This picture is very nicely gotten up but there was too much sex angle injected for a picture to he used as this one naturally would be used. Flopped for me second night on this account. Running time, 58 minutes. Played Apr. 11-12.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

FASHIONS OF 1934: William Powell, Bette Davis—Another good attraction. Different from the usual type of musicals. Full of everything it takes to make a good picture and sure to please the entire audience. Running time, 78 minutes. Played Apr. 8-9-10.—S. J. Backer,. Roxy Theatre, Browns Valley, Minn. General patronage.

JOURNAL OF A CRIME: Ruth Chatterton—Too depressing for entertainment but the ending is satisfactory. Chatterton's acting is splendid hut the story is simply too morhid to please. The draw was much helow average. Played May 8-9.—Edith M. Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

MASSACRE: Richard Barthelmess, Ann Dvorak—A mighty good picture. Story very interesting, educational and well acted. Gave fine satisfaction here. Did not draw the business it should hut no fault of the picture. I call it a poor title to advertise on, as people are fed up on murder and horror pictures. Played May 17-18.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

SON OF A SAILOR: Joe E. Brown—Many patrons said it was Brown's best picture. It pleased most everybody and stood up very nicely on a three-day run. Brown's pictures are always clean, and he does not have to turn to smut to get his laughs. Running time, 73 minutes. Played May 13-14-15.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

VERY HONORABLE GUY, A: Joe E. Brown—A pretty good comedy that will please all. Not nearly as good as "Son of a Sailor," hut they can't all he that good. Graduation exercises cut down the "take" considerahly.—Warren L. Weber, Deluxe Theatre, St. John, Kan. General patronage.

WONDER BAR: Al Jolson, Dick Powell, Ricardo Cortez, Dolores Del Rio—I call this the last thing in a musical production for entertainment. 100 per cent picture. The stars and all the cast great. Too hig for me to tell it. Buy it and run it and it will satisfy any audience that wants to he satisfied with any show. Played May 13-14-15.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

WONDER BAR: Al Jolson, Dick Powell, Kay Francis—An outstanding spectacular musical attraction. The numher "Coing to Heaven on a Mule" with Al Jolson will he the talk of the picture and that alone is worth the price of admission. We believe it's more than what Warners claim it is. Running time, 84 minutes. Played May 13-14-15.—S. J. Backer, Roxy Theatre, Browns Valley, Minn. General patronage.

WORLD CHANGES, THE: Paul Muni—A great picture perfectly directed and cast. The best piece of acting that Muni ever did hut the title did not mean anything here, neither did Muni, for we did very poor business with it. Just did not have any drawing power to it and of the few had, only about 50 per cent of them were pleased. Played May 6-7-8.—Bob Ouellette, Dixie Theatre, Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

Fox

AS HUSBANDS GO: Warner Baxter, Helen Vinson—Not so good and not so bad, just a so-so picture. It is a little slow and of a sophisticated nature. Not good for the small towns as it did not mean anything to our customers. Played May 23-24.—Boh Ouellette, Dixie Theatre, Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

BERKELEY SQUARE: Leslie Howard, Heather Angel—A small town hox-office, and any other way you take it, flop. Every time I think ahout this picture my hlood pressure goes up. Played Apr. 4-5.—Bob Ouellette, Dixie Theatre, Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

CAROLINA: Janet Gaynor—Bad weather kept this one from doing any more than average business. It should please the Gaynor fans. Played it on Sunday and it rains every Sunday. Running time, May 20-21.—Edith M. Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

CAROLINA: Janet Gaynor, Lionel Barrymore—No exhibitor could ask for a better picture than this one. Drew extremely well and seemed to please everyone. Barrymore was at his best. One of the best pictures of the year. Played May 19.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Claymont, Del. Small town patronage.

CAROLINA: Janet Gaynor, Lionel Barrymore—We still tell the world that Fox has the best films for the small town. Played to the largest gross here in the past year. Played May 19-20.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

CAROLINA: Lionel Barrymore, Janet Gaynor—Very good show. We played it a little hit old. Nevertheless it should do business. Business a little above average. Running time, 95 minutes. Played May 2-3.—J. E. Tunstall, Nottawa Theatre, Blackstone, Va. Small town patronage.

CAROLINA: Janet Gaynor, Lionel Barrymore, Rohert Young, Henrietta Crossman—The usual sweet slightly gooey picture that Gaynor always appears in. This picture has what the public wants evidently hut I wish they would jack up this Stepin Fetchit so that the public could get what he is talking ahout. Ii they are going to use him they will have to make him speak plainer than he does in this picture. None of the audience got his dialogue. I made it a point to ask some of them and they did not get it. There is some heautiful negro chorus work that helps out the picture. It is astonishing what little help and ideas there are in these big press sheets; they have six big pages and I did not find one fact that had any bite to it in this one of Carolina. Janet from the business done is not so popular as she has been. She runs too much to type, the audience knows just ahout what they can expect. Too many younger stars are stepping on her heels.—A. E. Hancock, Columhia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

CAROLINA: Janet Gaynor, Lionel Barrymore—The little Gaynor gal has what it takes to get them into your theatre. She always has been a big drawing card for me and in this one she would have hroken the high record set by "It Happened One Night" if we had had a hreak in the weather. This is a good, clean picture that will please everyone. Barrymore hetter in this than in anything he has ever done. Played May 13-14-15-16-17.—L. J. Bennett, Rialto Theatre, Pekin, Ill. General patronage.

CAROLINA: Janet Gaynor—Taking it all in all, this was nearly a 100 per cent sweet little picture; the only drawhack to it was that it was very horing and slow in several spots. Lionel Barrymore was perfect in his part. Everyone seemed very well pleased and we had a lot of them to please too, for it drew a full house each night. Play this on your best nights and plug it heavy; it will stand it. Played May 20-21-22.—Bob Ouellette, Dixie Theatre. Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

DAVID HARUM: Will Rogers—Best picture Rogers has made. Nuff sed. Running time, 80 minutes.

Played May 14-15.—J. E. Tunstall, Nottawa Theatre, Blackstone, Va. Small town patronage.

DAVID HARUM: Will Rogers—This one is a natural; step on it and you won't regret it. The best picture that Rogers ever made, it brought people to our theatre that had never been here before. What this country needs is more pictures like "David Harum." Running time, 80 minutes. Played May 17-18.—Fred M. Elkin, Carolina Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

DAVID HARUM: Will Rogers—Another one from Fox that hits the bullseye for perfect entertainment. Possibly not as good as "Mr. Skitch" but pleased everyone. Rogers well liked here. Played May 5-6-7-8-9-10.—L. J. Bennett, Rialto Theatre, Pekin, Ill. General patronage.

DEVIL TIGER: Kane Richmond—Another weak one from Fox. What few animal shots there were were very good, but the plot was terrible, the sound was absolutely bad all the way through. It will get you the business but don't plug it too heavy, just play it and say nothing and you can get by with it. Played, May 25-26.—Bob Ouellette, Dixie Theatre Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

DOCTOR BULL: Will Rogers—An ideal picture for a small town inasmuch as it is the story of a small town and true to life and Rogers playing in the best of form as he is properly cast and just has to act natural. A good picture. Played Apr. 26.—B. J. Vanderby, Palace Theatre, Doland, S. D. Small town patronage.

GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS: Rudy Vallee, Alice Faye, Jimmy Durante, George White—Don't know what kept them away from this but it may have been the weather. Musical numbers are novel and lavishly produced and there are many laughs. Of course, there is a lot of smut running through the whole picture. Played May 20-21-22-23.—L. J. Bennett, Rialto Theatre, Pekin, Ill. General patronage.

HOLD THAT GIRL: James Dunn, Claire Trevor—This a good fast moving comedy drama with Jimmy Dunn in his usual style getting the laughs and being laughed at. They will like this one. Running time, 65 minutes. Played May 9-10.—William A. Crute. Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

MR. SKITCH: Will Rogers—This picture is really not up to the Will Rogers standard, although it is very good entertainment. Without Will Rogers the picture, with some unknown person in it, would have been a total flop. We did very good business on it, as this is the kind of town where all you do is put Will Rogers' name in the front of the theatre and then dust off the S. R. O. sign. Played Apr. 1-2-3.—Bob Ouellette, Dixie Theatre, Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

SMOKY: Victor Jory—A natural for small town Friday and Saturday, crammed full of good clean entertainment that will please them from 6 to 60. You won't go wrong on this one and I fully agree with Mr. Herman J. Brown of Nampa, Idaho, that Fox should use this horse to play the leading roles in some of their dramas to improve them. Played Apr. 13-14.—Bob Oullette, Dixie Theatre, Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

STAND UP AND CHEER: Warner Baxter, Madge Evans—Excellent musical that failed to draw. It is very original and different from some of the previous musicals. This picture should please anywhere, as it is good clean entertainment. Shirley Temple, James Dunn and "Skins" Miller were the hits of the show here, although the entire cast is great. Running time, 81 minutes. Played May 17-18.—Don Kelsey, Lyric Theatre, Blacksburg, Va. College and small town patronage.

Invincible Pictures

DANCE, GIRL, DANCE: Alan Dinehart, Evalyn Knapp—They say the showmen should support independent companies and then they deliver stuff like this. It's terrible, one you'll be ashamed of regardless of the size of your theatre. Played Apr. 19-20.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

Majestic

CURTAIN AT EIGHT: Dorothy Mackaill—Fair, but nothing to brag about. Don't think any of the patrons will exactly dislike it. Running time, 68 minutes.—L. D. Brown, Queen Theatre, Brownwood, Tex. Small town patronage.

YOU MADE ME LOVE YOU: Thelma Todd—This is an English picture. Recording and dialogue are a little indistinct, but the story and action are very funny. It is a modern version of "The Taming of the Shrew." Played May 25-26.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

MGM

BEAUTY FOR SALE: Otto Kruger, Madge Evans—Fair program picture. Running time, 87 minutes. Played Apr. 11-12.—S. J. Backer, Roxy Theatre, Browns Valley, Minn. General patronage.

BOMBSHELL: Jean Harlow, Lee Tracy—Some exhibitors gave this picture a bad report. I think that there is about as much entertainment value in it as any that I have seen in a long while. My customers were well pleased, although there were some very suggestive scenes and dialogue. Business far above normal. Running time, 98 minutes. Played May 24-25.—Edward L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mt. Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

CAT AND THE FIDDLE, THE: Jeanette MacDonald, Ramon Novarro—Too long and too slow, but it was well made and might go over in the large cities but is no good for small towns. I asked one of my best customers how he liked it, and he said that he had seen worse but couldn't remember where. It did not make expenses for me. Running time, 78 minutes. Played May 21-22.—Fred M. Elkin, Carolina Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

CAT AND THE FIDDLE, THE: Jeanette MacDonald, Ramon Novarro—This is a class picture only, and despite the intriguing title and MacDonald with her wonderful voice, it is my opinion after running it that it lacks general audience appeal. There is no comedy to speak of, there are no dance scenes, only romance and that is not enough. Business nothing the second night, so it is self evident that it is not a small town picture. They clamor for clean shows; well, here it is and they give it the runaround. My reaction is that it is not and will not be a success in the smaller towns.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

DANCING LADY: Joan Crawford, Clark Gable—This is no super-special as some may think, but just the same is a very good picture and will please about 90 per cent. We did very good business with it. Gable and Crawford are both good drawing cards. We played it on our best days. Played Apr. 15-16-17.—Bob Ouellette, Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

DINNER AT EIGHT: All Star Cast—Too highbrow for the average small town. Some of the patrons are trying to figure out what it was all about. Many disappointed. However, you are forced to run it as it is so highly advertised. Running time, 113 minutes. Played Apr. 22-23-24.—S. J. Backer, Roxy Theatre, Browns Valley, Minn. General patronage.

ESKIMO: Native Cast—Received more comments on this special than "Dinner at Eight." It's a good show but Metro is asking too much rental. Running time, 117 minutes. Played May 10-11-12.—S. J. Backer, Roxy Theatre, Browns Valley, Minn. General patronage.

ESKIMO: Native Cast—A delightful change from the every-day run of smut pictures. The picture throughout shows that nothing in time or money was spared to put this wonderful picture together, and believe me, most everyone that you can get in to see it, will thank you for a dandy evening's entertainment. A few did not like it but every theatre has that certain few on every picture. Played May 13-14-15.—Bob Ouellette, Dixie Theatre, Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

FUGITIVE LOVERS: Robert Montgomery, Madge Evans—Pulled fair for midweek. Robert Montgomery is well liked here. Only objection we had was that the storm scene was too long. Played May 17-18.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

FUGITIVE LOVERS: Robert Montgomery, Madge Evans—A fairly good picture. The title does not draw very much but if you can get them in they will come out satisfied. Plenty of action but somewbat silly in spots, as the hero seems to pop up from nowhere to the scene of action every few minutes. We played this with a double bill and everyone seemed pleased. Played May 16-17.—Bob Ouellette, Dixie Theatre, Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

GOING HOLLYWOOD: Marion Davies, Bing Crosby—Good story, good dancing, good music, good songs, good sound, good photography and good for Leo, another very good one from him. Personally, I thought this as good as any of the super musicals on the market. We advertised and plugged this one heavily and reaped a reward, as they came from miles around to see it and when they came out everybody was happy. This picture should and will click in any town, regardless of size. Played Apr. 29-30.—Bob Ouellette, Dixie Theatre, Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

HER SWEETHEART (CHRISTOPHER BEAN): Marie Dressler, Lionel Barrymore—This is the first time that Marie has ever disappointed me, but she did the best she could with what she had to work with. Well, better luck next time, Marie. It was too long and drawn out; would have been much better if it had been in six reels. Running time, 87 minutes. Played May 7-8.—Fred M. Elkin, Carolina Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

LAZY RIVER: Jean Parker, Robert Young—This picture seemed to draw better than expected and a very good program picture, especially down in this part of the country close to where scenes were taken. Enough different to be a welcome change from the average film fare. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Apr. 24-25.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

MANHATTAN MELODRAMA: Clark Gable, William Powell, Myrna Loy—When you play this production make every effort to get your patrons in to see it. They will not be disappointed. It is full of entertainment, the kind that everyone enjoys. Clark Gable and William Powell are certainly liked here and in this picture their work is outstanding. The picture is marvelously produced and directed. Metro has a picture here that should draw well in any town or city and if it doesn't please, you just cannot get a picture that will. Thank you, Metro, for a great production. Running time, 93 minutes. Played May 24-25.—Don Kelsey, Lyric Theatre, Blacksburg, Va. College and small town patronage.

MEN IN WHITE: Clark Gable, Myrna Loy—During the present epidemic of medical pictures I would say that this is the best of the lot. Not good, not bad and most of the people enjoyed it. Running time, 73 minutes. Played May 3-4.—Fred M. Elkin, Carolina Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

MYSTERY OF MR. X: Robert Montgomery, Elizabeth Allan—Very good of its type. It had skilled direction and there was not the usual routine of the dumb detective that is nearly always put in to get some laughs on a mystery picture. This went direct to the solution in a logical manner without the usual by-play of reaching for comedy.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

PRIZEFIGHTER AND THE LADY, THE: Max Baer, Myrna Loy—Here's a pippin. Step on it hard and get 'em in the first night. Then you have a cinch. Played May 19.—Frank Sabin, Majestic Theatre, Eureka, Mont. Small town patronage.

QUEEN CHRISTINA: Greta Garbo, John Gilbert—Costume pictures never draw well here. The name Garbo didn't mean anything at the box-office. Played Apr. 3-4.—Edith M. Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

QUEEN CHRISTINA: Greta Garbo—A beautiful piece of work, magnificently produced and directed. Garbo at her very best. Gilbert is a little weak but Garbo's work carried him through without being noticed much. We have all heard that Garbo is back. Garbo has returned, yes, she is back, but it must be for art's sake, for it most surely is not for our box-office sake. Poorest business we have bad in six months. Be careful of this one boys, don't play it on any of your preferred dates. Played May 27-28-29.—Bob Ouellette, Dixie Theatre, Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

RIPTIDE: Norma Shearer, Robert Montgomery—Not as big as the salesman told you it would be. Too long and too much English accent. However, it was a fairly good program picture. Montgomery was good. Running time, 90 minutes. Played May 14-15.—Fred M. Elkin, Carolina Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

RIPTIDE: Norma Shearer—Not the type picture for my town. Too slow moving to suit the majority. All the cast does great work and it is a fine picture, but that does not make box-office.—Warren L. Weber, Deluxe Theatre, St. John, Kan. General patronage.

RIPTIDE: Norma Shearer, Robert Montgomery—Very good. Did average business. Pleased about 70 per cent. Little too high class for our people. Running time, 90 minutes. Played May 11-12.—J. E. Tunstall, Nottawa Theatre, Blackstone, Va. Small town patronage.

RIPTIDE: Norma Shearer—Not the roarin' big special tbey would have you believe; not up to tbe old Shearer standard. It will draw plenty criticism from the church people. It's a sbame to ruin Shearer in this kind of a story regardless of how elaborate they produce it. Running time, 92 minutes. Played Apr. 26-27.—C. A. Platt, Texas Theatre, Smitbville, Texas. Small town patronage.

RIPTIDE: Norma Shearer—Wonderful picture but it did not get the volume of business that such a fine production justifies. I believe it is tbe title. Many favorable comments. Played May 6-7.—Editb M. Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

SADIE McKEE: Joan Crawford—A very entertaining picture that was completely dominated by the marvelous characterization given by Edward Arnold. If a picture bas ever been taken completely away from the advertised stars, this is the one. Crawford was the drawing card but Arnold does the best work. It drew fairly well. Running time, 93 minutes. Played May 22-23.—Don Kelsey, Lyric Theatre, Blacksburg, Va. College and small town patronage.

SHOULD LADIES BEHAVE?: Alice Brady, Lionel Barrymore—This picture is just a little too chic for the small towns. Alice Brady's jabbering throughout the picture just about ran them all out. Barrymore, as usual, played his part very well, aside from that we got by. Played this with a double bill and ran tbis one first so that they wold have time to forget it by the time they saw the other picture. Played May 9-10.—Bob Ouellette, Dixie Theatre, Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

SHOW-OFF, THE: Spencer Tracy, Madge Evans—A very weak picture with Tracy in another smart-aleck part that became silly after the first two reels. Tracy is capable of doing better things than this. Tracy's name on the marquee used to mean something at the box-office, but this one was a total flop. Running time, 76 minutes. Played May 10-11.—Fred M. Elkin, Carolina Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

SHOW-OFF, THE: Spencer Tracy, Madge Evans—Tracy talks and talks and talks, in fact, a number of my patrons told me after seeing this and "Dinner at Eight" they didn't care if there never was another Tracy picture. Just a lot of chatter and a very poor picture especially for a Sunday program. Running time, 78 minutes. Played Apr. 22-23.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

SHOW-OFF, THE: Spencer Tracy, Madge Evans—Well, well, Bill Haines faded out so Metro thought they would try Tracy in a role such as he did, the smart alec stuff. And if Tracy gets many more like this one he will fade and we will not miss him any more than we did Bill Haines. Tracy gets away with less than did Haines and it is just another picture that could have been left in the can and not a ripple would have been made. No one would have missed it except the box-office and that missed plenty. Very poor; a cast wasted.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

SHOW-OFF, THE: Spencer Tracy, Madge Evans—This was a last minute substitute for "Louisiana," which was a bad break for me. "Louisiana" would have been a nice fat meal to the hungry box-office but "The Show-Off" meant starvation until the program changed. It is a fair picture. Played May 18-19.—Edith M. Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

SHOW-OFF, THE: Spencer Tracy—A fair picture with absolutely no drawing power. On two beautiful nights it grossed the lowest Friday and Saturday business in the history of this theatre under present management. Running time, 77 minutes. Played May 18-19.—W. J. Powell, Lonet Theatre, Wellington, Obio. Small town and rural patronage.

TARZAN AND HIS MATE: Johnny Weissmuller, Maureen O'Sullivan—This could have been the most wonderful picture of the season had they not tried to go so far with the nudist element, playing up to tbe kids and then parading a naked woman before them in a long series of scenes. It is about like giving a new born baby French-fried potatoes. Running time, 114 minutes. Played May 3-4.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

TARZAN AND HIS MATE: Johnny Weissmuller, Maureen O'Sullivan—This is box-office plus. Be sure to give it extra playing time and have your first aid kit ready to bind up broken legs and other casualties brought about by the rush on the box-office. Even Peter Bylsma, who thinks I am a bum critic, will agree with me when he plays it. It's your summer vacation, folks. You'll be thanking Metro for a natural like this. Played May 22-23-24.—Edith M. Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

TARZAN AND HIS MATE: Johnny Weismuller and Maureen O'Sullivan—Metro-Goldwyn certainly did the small towns a favor when it gave us this production. The patrons go out talking and send the rest of the family the next night. I would personally be inclined to classify it as the most thrilling talking picture ever made. The wild animal scenes, I am told, were all studio made, but I am sure they could not have been more realistic if they had been real. It puzzles one to figure out how they could be done. But most important of all, the picture does business. And how! Running time, 105 minutes. Played May 25-26.—W. J. Powell, Lonet Theatre, Wellington, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

TARZAN AND HIS MATE: Johnny Weissmuller, Maureen O'Sullivan—No use arguing over this one. It is positively the greatest jungle thriller ever released. Had it over the first Tarzan picture like a tent. Step on this one.—Warren L. Weber, Deluxe Theatre, St. John, Kan. General patronage.

THIS SIDE OF HEAVEN: Lionel Barrymore—When a picture can do average business in a small town in opposition to a high school graduation it must be good. This one did. Excellent comments. Running time, 76 minutes. Played May 22-23.—Edward L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mt. Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

VIVA VILLA!: Wallace Beery—Wallace Beery should get the Academy reward for his magnificent portrayal of Villa. It is a tremendous picture that was appreciated by the few who saw it. Perhaps it was the idea of war that ruined our business. The entire cast is marvelous and there is some beautiful photography. A credit to Metro for filming such a master production. Running time, 115 minutes. Played May 5-6.—Don Kelsey, Lyric Theatre, Blacksburg, Va. College and small town patronage.

Monogram

BLUE STEEL: John Wayne—Did the best Saturday's business in the past three weeks. This Wayne boy is going places and it is my opinion that he is already the ace of all western stars. The men like him because he gives them action. The ladies like him because he is handsome and I like him because he pays the rent. Running time, 54 minutes. Played May 19.—Fred M. Elkin, Carolina Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

DEVIL'S MATE: Preston Foster, Peggy Shannon—A very good program picture. Good mystery story and well acted. Monogram pictures give good satisfaction, seldom a poor one.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

HOUSE OF MYSTERY, THE: Verna Hille, Ed Lowry—This is fair entertainment of the mystery type and becomes rather dull and boring at times. Several murders are committed by an ape, who is so carefully hidden that no one can find him. This is entirely too silly to be appreciated by any audience and has practically no action. We made the mistake of playing this on Saturday, therefore to a very poor business. Running time, 62 minutes. Played May 26.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

LUCKY TEXAN, THE: John Wayne—A very good western which seemed to please. Played May 17.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

MANHATTAN LOVE SONG: Robert Armstrong, Dixie Lee—Here is a picture that if it had been made by one of the major producers would have been sold as a special. It's clean, wholesome and interesting from start to finish. Robert Armstrong turns in a fine performance and this little Dixie Lee sure is a honey, and how she can sing! Pleased 100 per cent and did above the average business. Running time, 72 minutes. Played May 23.—Fred M. Elkin, Carolina Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

SWEETHEART OF SIGMA CHI, THE: Mary Carlisle, Larry "Buster" Crabbe—Okay for high school trade. Film in poor physical condition; hurt the picture. Played May 4.—Frank Sabin, Majestic Theatre, Eureka, Mont. Small town patronage.

WOMAN'S MAN: John Halliday—A very good program picture, better than the average today. Good, entertaining story and cast of characters that are good in any company's picture. Played May 12.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

Paramount

BOLERO: George Raft, Carole Lombard, Sally Rand—Here is a very good picture that should draw a big business in any town. It is a romantic drama that is entirely different from anything before. It is a story of a man's faith in himself and his ambitions. The feature of this picture was the famous Fan Dance by the one and only Sally Rand, but this failed to attract the attention anticipated. Played one day to poor business. Running time, 80 minutes. Played May 24.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

BOLERO: George Raft—This was a very good picture, althougb it was a little too drawn out to suit me. Comments were favorable and business was average. Played Apr. 5-6.—Edith M. Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

DUCK SOUP: Four Marx Brothers—Poor. Not as good as many program pictures that cost only one-third as much. No more Marx Brothers for us. The only thing big about tbis was tbe rental price we had to pay. It was named right. If we had to play many of these we wouldn't have enough money left to even buy duck soup. Running time, 68 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

EAGLE AND THE HAWK, THE: Fredric March Cary Grant—One of the finest. A gripping story showing the futility of war. Played May 11.—Frank Sabin, Majestic Theatre, Eureka, Mont. Small town patronage.

EIGHT GIRLS IN A BOAT: Kay Johnson, Dorothy Wilson—This is one of the "I'm going to bave a baby" kind of picture, and as such, it bas been done in an interesting and sympathetic manner. Our patrons seemed to like it and it drew above average.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Micb. Neighborhood patronage.

GIRL WITHOUT A ROOM: Charles Farrell—This is one of the poorest Paramount has made this year. It did not draw, nor did I find anybody who liked it. Played April 10-11.—Edith M. Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

GIRL WITHOUT A ROOM: Charles Farrell, Marguerite Churchill—If we had to play this kind of a picture very long, it would not only be "Girl Without a Room," but a man without a theatre. This was just a general conglomeration of Paris art students' temperaments which didn't mean a thing here. Bum business on this. Played May 9-10.—Bob Oueliette, Dixie Theatre, Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

GOOD DAME: Sylvia Sidney, Fredric March—This one was good. A swell story, cast and direction. Someone else made one like this some time ago and, boy, was it poor. Business above normal. Running time, 72 minutes. Played May 8-9.—Edward L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mt. Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

HIS DOUBLE LIFE: Lillian Gish, Roland Young—This is only fair entertainment and very poor story material for Miss Gish to make a comeback. It is a comedy drama that is too slow and becomes rather boring at times. Too bad that such pictures as this must be made to mar the reputation of the major directors and producers. If you must play this one, play it only one day. We played one day (Bargain Day) to very poor business. Running time, 68 minutes. Played May 18.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

HIS DOUBLE LIFE: Roland Young, Lillian Gish—This one was not so hot. Played it on double bill and it got by. I remember Gish when she was a real actress, but there comes a time when everyone should quit. Running time, 60 minutes. Played May 5.—

Fred M. Elkin, Carolina Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West—No drawing card here. Too much Mae West. The men came but the ladies stayed away. This did a little better than "She Done Him Wrong," but after we paid all expenses we had nothing left. Running time, 80 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

INTERNATIONAL HOUSE: All Star—This will please the fans. Lots of unusual stuff and W. C. Fields pulls plenty fast cracks. Played Apr. 27.—Frank Sabin, Majestic Theatre, Eureka, Mont. Small town patronage.

LAST ROUND-UP, THE: Randolph Scott—Biggest Saturday business in years. This one is a natural, due to the title, of course. It should draw and please all western fans and others besides. Played Apr. 28.—Edith M. Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

MISS FANE'S BABY IS STOLEN: Dorothea Wieck—Almost a perfect type of melodrama, with a finish that will bring them up from their seats. The work of all concerned is well night perfect. Drawing power with good show, weather, above average.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

NO MORE WOMEN: Edmund Lowe, Victor McLaglen—An amusing comedy drama. Fair draw on Saturday. Not so rough as some of the boys have reported. Played May 11-12.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

ONE SUNDAY AFTERNOON: Gary Cooper—Although this one drew pretty good and the patrons seemed to like it, Gary Cooper is rated for better parts than he had in this one. We like to see him as a big shot. Running time, 67 minutes.—L. D. Brown, Queen Theatre, Brownwood, Texas. Small town patronage.

SEARCH FOR BEAUTY: Larry "Buster" Crabbe, Ida Lupino—A show that is different, with some beautiful ladies, both male and female. We did only fair business. Running time, 75 minutes. Played May 7-8.—J. E. Tunstall, Nottawa Theatre, Blackstone, Va. Small town patronage.

SEARCH FOR BEAUTY: Larry "Buster" Crabbe, Ida Lupino—Entertaining program picture. Story of the young stars who make the crooked publishers of a health magazine walk the plank and turn straight. Comedy and romance at the health farm, "Health Acres." Played May 11-12.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

SHE MADE HER BED: Sally Eilers—A fair programer. Pleased all who saw it, which was not much. Running time, 78 minutes. Played May 10-11.—Edward L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mt. Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

SHE MADE HER BED: Sally Eilers, Richard Arlen—Pretty good picture that pleased. Armstrong as a small time animal trainer, Arlen making the county fairs with a racer, old style, sulky and all. Sally, proprietor of an auto camp. Based on the story, "Baby in the Ice Box." Played May 20-21.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

SHE MADE HER BED: Sally Eilers, Richard Arlen—The title was the worst thing against this picture. It looks like the producers are just trying to make the picture hard to sell by the terrible titles and suggestive advertising on their pictures. The public seems to be getting fed up on this socalled hot stuff. Running time, 80 minutes. Played Apr. 29-30.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

SIX OF A KIND: Mary Boland, Charles Ruggles, Burns and Allen, W. C. Fields, Alison Skipworth—The best feature length comedy we have received from Paramount. It has everything to make you laugh. Not a big spectacular production, but a nice clean program picture that will send them home laughing, and will bring their friends out the next night. My only regret is that we did not use it on our three day run. Played on a Wednesday and Thursday. Running time, 65 minutes. Played May 16-17.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

SIX OF A KIND: Charles Ruggles, W. C. Fields, Burns and Allen—This is only fair entertainment of the comedy type and will not draw business. The laughs come fast and there are plenty of them, but in this town comedies do not get the business they should. This has an excellent cast for such a story and they all play their parts exceptionally well. We played this only one day at reduced prices, but failed to do any business. Running time, 65 minutes. Played May 23.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

THIS DAY AND AGE: Richard Cromwell—Best picture of its kind we have played. Has that something that makes everybody like a picture. Running time, 81 minutes.—L. D. Brown, Queen Theatre, Brownwood, Texas. Small town patronage.

THUNDERING HERD, THE: Randolph Scott—Excellent western which drew a nice Saturday business. Played Apr. 7.—Edith M. Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

THUNDERING HERD, THE: Randolph Scott—A very good western and although not the "pump the blood out of the cellar" type, it will please western fans. These Zane Grey stories are all good and after all you have to have stories even in westerns and tell the hero to reload after each six shots and miss occasionally. Played May 3.—B. J. Vanderby, Palace Theatre, Doland, S. D. Small town patronage.

TO THE LAST MAN: Randolph Scott—If we could just get them all like Zane Grey's, we would be okay. This one like the rest. The best westerns we ever had. Running time, 69 minutes.—L. D. Brown, Queen Theatre, Brownwood, Texas. Small town patronage.

WE'RE NOT DRESSING: Bing Crosby, Carole Lombard—Very good show that did a little above average business. Running time, 72 minutes. Played May 18-19.—J. E. Tunstall, Nottawa Theatre, Blackstone, Va. Small town patronage.

WHARF ANGEL: Victor McLaglen, Dorothy Dell—This is only fair entertainment and not of a likeable type. It is a drama and strictly adult fare. Practically the entire show is filmed on the waterfront except for a few scenes on a steamer. It is the same old story that has been made over and over by every producer. We played this on Saturday to the poorest business in many months. Running time, 62 minutes. Played May 19.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

WHARF ANGEL: Victor McLaglen, Dorothy Dell, Alison Skipworth—Not so hot; it misses some place. At least it missed at the box-office and I had a lot of panning after running it, so from that I take it that the audience didn't like it.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

WHARF ANGEL: Victor McLaglen, Dorothy Dell—Fairly good program picture. McLaglen not so hot in my town; others are not so well known. Running time, 64 minutes. Played Apr. 13.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

RKO

ACE OF ACES: Richard Dix, Ralph Bellamy—This is a very good action picture. Just the thing for Friday and Saturday. Running time, 72 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

ANN VICKERS: Irene Dunne, Walter Huston—This seemed to please my patrons about 75 per cent. Some said real good, others said fair. Running time, nine reels. Played May 21-22.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

ANN VICKERS: Irene Dunne—It's a shame to put a charming lady like Irene Dunne in a role like this, having illicit love affairs and illegitimate babies all over the place. This is emphatically not good, clean entertainment. Played May 20-21.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

EMERGENCY CALL: Bill Boyd—Drew average business for us with this story of the hospital racket. Played May 15-16.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO: Dolores Del Rio, Gene Raymond—One of the best we have had the pleasure of showing for some time and everyone liked it and took the trouble to tell us and their friends. Better than average business. Running time, 89 minutes. Played May 7-8.—William A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO: Dolores Del Rio, Gene Raymond, Ginger Rogers, Fred Astaire—Hats off to RKO for the greatest musical to reach the screen. There have been many good musicals in the past few months but this is the best of them all. It is entirely different from the usual musical in that it is not a backstage story. This show has everything that the public wants—beautiful girls, gorgeous costumes, new and popular songs, dancing, a wonderful love story and lots of comedy. The Carioca and Flying Down to Rio numbers are marvelous and entirely different from anything you have ever seen. Words cannot express it, you simply must see it to appreciate its beauty and magnificence. If you have not played this, boost it as the best and give a money-back guarantee. We played this late to poor business for two days, due to high school commencement. Running time, 89 minutes. Played May 21-22.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO: Dolores Del Rio, Fred Astaire—Played to the biggest crowd for three years. Seemed to be just what the people want. Plenty of music, singing, dancing and action. Drew all classes of patrons. A fine picture. Played May 5.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Claymont, Del. Small town patronage.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO: Dolores Del Rio, Fred Astaire—A good musical, although not half the picture that "Rio Rita" was. It can be classed as a good musical in the upper class and will go well with those who appreciate music. Played Apr. 29.—B. J. Vanderby, Palace Theatre, Doland, S. D. Small town patronage.

HIPS, HIPS, HOORAY!: Wheeler and Woolsey—A very funny picture by these comedians and a good

THEATRE OWNERS

KNOW YOUR EXACT PROFIT

MOTION PICTURE THEATRE ACCOUNTING

By Wm. F. Morris, C.P.A.

Details easy methods for recording receipts and expenses—allowing for every imaginable item, including taxes, insurance, depreciation, etc. Sufficient to care for twelve months records.

$3.00 A COPY—Postage Prepaid

QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP

1790 BROADWAY NEW YORK

cast. We have always before done a good business on their pictures, but not this time. They are just a little too suggestive in their funny business for country towns. They just won't take it and tell us that is the reason for not coming to see them. Good picture of the kind. Played May 20-21.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Micb. Town and country patronage.

HIPS, HIPS, HOORAY!: Wheeler and Woolsey—Drew well and kept them laughing all the way through from beginning to end. Wheeler and Woolsey always draw a good crowd for us. Played May 26.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Claymont, Del. Small town patronage.

HIPS, HIPS, HOORAY!: Wheeler and Woolsey—My patrons expected another "So This Is Africa," and were naturally disappointed. Business below average on Sunday and Monday. Running time, 68 minutes. Played May 20-21.—Edward L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mt. Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

HIPS, HIPS, HOORAY!: Wheeler and Woolsey—This is a better comedy than their two last ones. Fair Sunday biz. Played May 13-14.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Micb. Small town patronage.

LITTLE WOMEN: Katharine Hepburn—A hard picture to comment on. We tbink the majority liked it but many pronounced it too slow and draggy. All in all, a bomey natural and pleasing picture. Hepburn sbared honors with Edna May Oliver, who as rich aunt to the family was a decided hit. Played May 18-19-20.—Estes and Estes, Merry Land Tbeatre, Addison, Mich. Small town patronage.

LOST PATROL, THE: Victor McLaglen, Boris Karloff—This is a good picture of its kind but my patrons did not like it.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

MAN OF TWO WORLDS: Francis Lederer—In this case Greenland was transported to Hollywood very effectively, dog teams and all. We liked this picture very much and so did our patrons. Lederer was very happily cast for the lead and did fine work. Out of the beaten path, entertaining, clean and fine. Book it. Played May 12-13.—Estes and Estes, Merry Land Tbeatre, Addison, Mich. Small town patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore—This could be called a good offering, somewhat detracted from by the too swiftly changing scenes. It did not make clear wbether Lionel had a baby or not, but about everybody else did. Oh, well, if the producers get any pleasure out of that sort of thing perhaps the suffering public can stand it a little while longer. Played May 5-6.—Estes and Estes, Merry Land Theatre, Addison, Micb.

SCARLET RIVER: Tom Keene, Dorothy Wilson—A good western. Rather old but worth running if your patrons enioy westerns. Tom Keene is popular here. His naturalness and freedom from playing up to the camera is his chief charm. Played Apr. 28-29.—Estes and Estes, Merry Land Theatre, Addison, Mich. Small town patronage.

SON OF KONG: Robert Armstrong, Helen Mack—A good burlesque on "King Kong." People that had seen "King Kong" kidded us about this one. Good entertainment and well acted by a good cast. Great scenery. Played May 17-18.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

SON OF KONG: Robert Armstrong, Helen Mack—Business fair first night and nothing the second night. Nuff said. Running time, 69 minutes. Played May 17-18.—Edward L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mt. Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

SON OF THE BORDER: Tom Keene—A good western picture. This actor makes a good western and there is no use of kidding themselves that westerns are through. They have more drawing power in country towns today than their biggest dramas or musicals and give better satisfaction to country people that come to the picture shows.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

SUCCESS AT ANY PRICE: Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.—Only a fair story, and stars, while competent in their parts, seemed miscast. Fairbanks, sprig of a clerk, has for co-stars actresses too old., Genevieve Tobin and Colleen Moore. Played May 18-19.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

United Artists

GALLANT LADY: Ann Harding—Did not draw but it pleased all who saw it. Personally, I thought it the finest picture Ann has ever made. I'd starve to death on pictures that didn't draw better than this. Played Apr. 29-30.—Edith M. Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma. La. General patronage.

MOULIN ROUGE: Constance Bennett—Very good musical. It drew average Sunday-Monday business and pleased. Connie is popular here. Played Apr. 22-23.—Edith M. Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

NANA: Anna Sten—Bougbt this picture just to get "Roman Scandals." It gave fairly good satisfaction and drew more patronage than I expected. No children were admitted under 17 years of age and there were no complaints about the character of the production. Even the sad ending brought few unfavorable comments. On the whole, the picture did not lose me any money and gave much better satisfaction than the reports led me to expect. Running time, 85 minutes. Played May 22-23.—W. J. Powell, Lonet Theatre, Wellington, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

NANA: Anna Sten—This one ruined a good Sunday date for me. I am still wondering why on earth I bought it. Business was terrible. Played Apr. 15-16.—Edith M. Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

ROMAN SCANDALS: Eddie Cantor—I expected to make a clean up on this picture, but strange to say, it failed to draw as did former Cantor productions. It could not have been the fault of the picture as it seemed to me to be an outstanding picture of unusual entertainment value. However, the picture made me a fair profit and I should be satisfied. Running time, 85 minutes. Played May 15-16.—W. J. Powell, Lonet Theatre, Wellington, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

ROMAN SCANDALS: Eddie Cantor—I knew it was Sunday when we played this because it rained. It rains every Sunday here. The picture pleased but it did not draw. Played May 13-14.—Edith M Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

Universal

BOMBAY MAIL: Edmund Lowe, Onslow Stevens—If you have many railroad men in your town they will get a lot of laughs out of this picture. The train is supposed to be in India and it pulls into some stations with a Southern Pacific engine. We had an idea that this feature was weak, so put it on a double bill, so it got by. Would have starved on it if I had run it single. Running time, 82 minutes. Played May 18-19.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

BOMBAY MAIL: Edmund Lowe—This, like all the other Universal pictures I've played this season, very, very weak. Thought it would do for Saturday one day but they walked out on it all day. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Apr. 21.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

BY CANDLELIGHT: Paul Lukas, Elissa Landi—Some good acting in this very light society comedy. Nothing particular other than the stars to recommend this one. Running time, 65 minutes. Played May 9-10.—William A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

COUNTESS OF MONTE CRISTO: Fay Wray, Paul Lukas—Clever comedy drama of the movie extra who drives off the set wbile in costume, and when mistaken for a real countess, plays up to the part. Vienna locale. Played May 13-14.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

FIDDLIN' BUCKAROO: Ken Maynard—We can truthfully say this western is above the average. A musical western seems to be just what the patrons want. Has plenty of action and well directed. Running time, 59 minutes.—L. D. Brown, Queen Theatre, Brownwood, Tex. Small town patronage.

HONOR OF THE RANGE: Ken Maynard—Fair. Tbis not as good as the average Maynard picture. Business fair. Running time, 60 minutes. Played May 9-10.—J. E. Tunstall, Nottawa Theatre, Blackstone, Va. Small town patronage.

HORSE PLAY: Slim Summerville—First half of the picture was funny, but the last half was silly. However, it seemed to please our patrons. Played May 12.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Claymont, Del. Small town patronage.

INVISIBLE MAN, THE: Claude Rains—Played it late and the novelty of such a story was gone. My patrons didn't like it, too imaginery and will not compare with "Frankenstein." Not a family picture. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Apr. 14.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

INVISIBLE MAN, THE: Gloria Stuart—This is an extremely well made meller-thriller and did extra business on a tough night. Played May 22-23.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

LOVE BIRDS, THE: Slim Summerville, Zasu Pitts—Very good. About the best these two have made. This did real good at the box-office. Running time, 68 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

LOVE, HONOR AND OH, BABY!: Slim Summerville, Zasu Pitts—For adult audiences this is great entertainment of the sophisticated comedy type, but for young children, hardly recommendable. Running time, 61 minutes. Played May 4-5.—William A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

LOVE, HONOR AND OH, BABY!: Zazu Pitts, Slim Summerville—These two are disgusting in the roles Universal gives them. Why can't they be cast into a clean picture good for family trade? If they keep on with the nonsensical stuff like the last few they will find themselves right behind the eight ball. Running time, 63 minutes. Played May 15-16.—Edward L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mount Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

MIDNIGHT: O. P. Heggie, Sidney Fox—Used this last two days of week. It pulled average business for me but you might find this poor drawing attraction at high admission prices.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

ONLY YESTERDAY: John Boles, Margaret Sullavan—Very sophisticated. Child-born-out-of-wedlock story, but so well acted and so well put over that it is a great picture. The ladies especially will like it for the tears they will shed over it, and to tbem pathos and heartache constitutes a good story. Running time, 105 minutes. Played May 4-5.—William A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neigbborhood patronage.

ONLY YESTERDAY: Margaret Sullavan—Three cheers for Universal. They really can make a picture if they want to. Uncle Carl talks about upholding double features. How would be like to have this double featured with another one of his? Running time, 105 minutes. Played May 13-14.—Edward L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mt. Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

POOR RICH, THE: Edna May Oliver, Edward Everett Horton—Used this to double with "Bombay

Richardson's Handbooks on Projection

IN THREE VOLUMES

Universally accredited as the best and most practical treatise ever published on projection and the many problems daily confronting the man in the projection room. The remedy for hundreds of every day perplexing annoyances is explained in detail and in simple language.

●

Volume 1-2 is devoted to the general subject of projection including its allied activities, but without information on sound. Volume 3 deals exclusively with sound. All three volumes are profusely illustrated and contain over 1400 pages of information and helps. Each volume contains Richardson's famous Question and Answer Series.

●

VOLUME 1-2 (one unit)..... $ 6.20
VOLUME 3 ..... 5.10
VOLUMES 1-2 and 3..... 10.20
(complete set)

●

QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP
1790 BROADWAY NEW YORK

Mail." It is a real comedy. Pleased most of the folks and from the howls of laughter they must have thought it okay. Horton and Edna May Oliver make a good team, but Andy Devine, in our estimation, just about steals the show. Running time, 65 minutes. Played May 18-19.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

SATURDAY'S MILLIONS: Robert Young—A wow of a football picture. Patrons liked it best since "Spirit of Notre Dame." Running time, 75 minutes. L. D. Brown, Queen Theatre, Brownwood, Texas. Small town patronage.

Warner

FOOTLIGHT PARADE: James Cagney, Joan Blondell, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell—This is pretty old but it's swell entertainment with not a thing that the most captious critic could carp about. Played May 15-16. Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

GAMBLING LADY: Barbara Stanwyck—Personally, believe this Miss Stanwyck's outstanding screen achievement. Pleased our patrons very much. One of the best. Running time, 66 minutes. Played May 6-7.—S. J. Backer, Roxy Theatre, Browns Valley, Minn. General patronage.

GAMBLING LADY: Barbara Stanwyck—One of the nicest pictures I've played this year. It drew well and pleased 100 per cent. Good for any day in any theatre. Played May 15-16.—Edith M. Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

HAROLD TEEN: Hal LeRoy, Rochelle Hudson—Another super attraction from Warner. A real down-to-earth show. It will please 100 per cent. The dance number featured by Hal LeRoy is positively astonishing. Running time, 66 minutes. Played May 17-18-19. S. J. Backer, Roxy Theatre, Browns Valley, Minn. General patronage.

HAROLD TEEN: Hal LeRoy—A nifty little comedy drama that will go over okay for Sunday. LeRoy, without a doubt, the world's greatest tap dancer and the supporting cast is good, although Guy Kibbee hasn't much to do.—Warren L. Weber, Leluxe Theatre, St. John, Kan. General patronage.

HEAT LIGHTNING: Preston Foster, Aline MacMahon—It all happens at a filling station in the desert, which seems to be quite a busy place after all. Preston Foster as a gangster and Aline MacMahon as a female mechanic did a nice bit of acting. Adult entertainment, leave the children at home. Running time, 60 minutes. Played May 19.—Fred M. Elkin, Carolina Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

HEAT LIGHTNING: Aline MacMahon, Ann Dvorak—This is only fair entertainment of a different type ever presented before. The locale is in the western desert where two girls operate a filling station. Practically the entire show is taken in the desert. There is plenty of comedy in this one and it will keep your patrons laughing from start to finish. With such a splendid cast this should do a great business. Business good. Running time, 63 minutes. Played May 25.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

HEAT LIGHTNING: Aline MacMahon—This pleased about 50 per cent. It is not up to the Warner standard by any means. Played May 1-2.—Edith M. Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

HI, NELLIE!: Paul Muni—A good program picture, nothing big but a pleasing picture for all classes. Not the big special they'd have you believe. Running time, 74 minutes. Played Apr. 17-18.—A. C. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

HI, NELLIE!: Paul Muni—A rip-roaring good picture of a tough newspaper man, the type of picture that will please the men more than the women, but they will all admit that it is good. Played May 6.—B. J. Vanderby, Palace Theatre, Doland, S. D. Small town patronage.

HOUSE ON 56TH STREET, THE: Kay Francis, Gene Raymond—A very good picture which almost everyone liked. Kay Francis does some excellent acting as well as Gene Raymond, Ricardo Cortez and Margaret Lindsay. Played May 15-16. J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

I'VE GOT YOUR NUMBER: Joan Blondell, Pat O'Brien—A good comedy picture. Gave good satisfaction. Played May 16.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

I'VE GOT YOUR NUMBER: Joan Blondell—Didn't draw very well, but it was a good little picture. They were saving their quarters for "Jimmy the Gent," I guess. Played Apr. 24-25.—Edith M. Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

JIMMY THE GENT: James Cagney—Too much Cagney, story weak, no comeback business the second night. Running time, 66 minutes. Played May 15-16.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

JIMMY THE GENT: James Cagney, Bette Davis—Cagney does his stuff in this one. It's plenty good. Lots of pep. Pleased our audience okay. Running time, 67 minutes. Played Apr. 19-20-21.—S. J. Backar, Roxy Theatre, Browns Valley, Minn. General patronage.

KENNEL MURDER CASE: William Powell—For a while we were fed up with gangsters and murder mysteries, but murder mysteries are coming back, and if they are all as good as "Kennel Murder Case" why we will be satisfied. This picture was really good, plenty of action and excitement that kept them right on the ends of the seats. William Powell as the detective was perfect. An evening's entertainment good enough for any theatre. Played Apr. 18-19.—Bob Ouellette, Divis Theatre, Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

MAYOR OF HELL, THE: James Cagney, Madge Evans—A mighty fine picture which should be classed as very outstanding because it is. Words cannot express just how good it really is. James Cagney is excellent, but Frankie Darro nearly steals the show. However, the complete cast is extraordinary. Played May 18-19.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

Short Features

Columbia

DEATH ATTENDS A PARTY: Minute Mysteries—Kind of short. This does not please here. Running time, one reel.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

HOT DAZE: Smith and Dale—This funny in spots, but it isn't spotted enough.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

SCHOOL FOR ROMANCE: Lou Holtz—Another unfunny Columbia comedy. Columbia makes good single reels, but their two reelers are past the limit. Running time, 19 minutes.—Edward L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mt. Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

SCRAPPY'S ART GALLERY: Scrappy Cartoons—Okay. Running time, seven minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

SCRAPPY'S TELEVISION: Scrappy's Cartoons—Pretty good short. Running time, eight minutes.—Edward L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mt. Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

SCREEN SNAPSHOTS (No. 5): Here's one of the finest one-reel subjects we have had this season. High in entertainment value. Audience reaction was excellent. Running time, nine minutes.—W. J. Powell, Lonet Theatre, Wellington, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

STAGE KRAZY: Krazy Kat Kartoons—Too short, only about one half of a reel. These Krazy Kat Kartoons are not as good as they used to be. Running time, five minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

WINTER THRILLS: World of Sport—This is a very fine one-reel short. It will prove interesting to not only people interested in sports but to all others as well. Running time, nine minutes.—W. J. Powell, Lonet Theatre, Wellington, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

Educational

KRAKATOA: Very interesting subject. Running time, 25 minutes.—J. E. Tunstall, Nottawa Theatre, Blackstone, Va. Small town patronage.

ROAMING ROMEO, A: Harry Langdon—Whoever told this bird he was a comedian? He couldn't be funny with the help of the entire studio. Running time, 17 minutes.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

Monogram

PORT O' CALL SERIES: These singles are interesting fillers.—Frank Sabin, Majestic Theatre, Eureka, Mont. Small town patronage.

MGM

AIR FRIGHT: Todd-Kelly—A good comedy by Metro.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

BABES IN THE GOODS: Todd-Kelly—A good two-reel comedy.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

CARETAKER'S DAUGHTER: All-Star Comedies—Just another one of this series that failed to register. No comedy, no characters, no story, the best use that could be made of it is to use up some of the shelf room, but don't try to amuse the suffering public with it. Running time, 19 minutes.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

CROOK'S TOUR: All-Star Series—Good comedy and moves fast and furious toward the end. Good for a lot of laughs. Running time, 20 minutes.—William A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

DAVY JONES' LOCKER: Willie Whopper—These comedies are too silly and are only fillers if that. Running time, eight minutes.—A. C. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

DIRTY WORK: Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy—This is a great two-reel comedy with Laurel and Hardy at their best as chimney cleaners. They are different from usual and will keep you laughing from start to finish. Let us have more like this and the movie fans will laugh the depression away for good. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

FINE FEATHERS: Oddities—This is a very interesting one-reeler showing the different species of birds. If you are a bird lover, this will be very good entertainment to you. It is filmed in gorgeous color and that alone is worth the price you pay. Running time, 10 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

FOUR PARTS: Charley Chase—Here's the cleverest thing Chase has ever done and his comedies are always good, and this can be said for but so few this season. Running time, 18 minutes.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas, Small town patronage.

FOUR PARTS: Charley Chase—Very good Chase comedy. Running time, 18 minutes.—J. E. Tunstall, Nottawa Theatre, Blackstone, Va. Small town patronage.

GOOFY MOVIES (No. 1): Goofy is right but don't book too many. Got a lot of laughs.—Frank Sabin, Majestic Theatre, Eureka, Mont. Small town patronage.

GOOFY MOVIES (No. 2): Good comedy and packed with wisecracks by the explanatory remarks of the announcer. Running time, nine minutes.—William A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

I'LL TAKE VANILLA: Charles Chase—Just an average Chase Comedy. Running time, 18 minutes.—J. E. Tunstall, Nottawa Theatre, Blackstone, Va. Small town patronage.

ITALY, LAND OF INSPIRATION: FitzPatrick Travel Talks—If you had a news reel about ten weeks old you might compare this subject with it. MGM is making a mistake forcing these on the theatre goers. Running time, eight minutes.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Tex. Small town patronage.

JAIL BIRDS OF PARADISE: Musical Revues—Fair. Just another of those Metro musicals.—J. E. Tunstall, Nottawa Theatre, Blackstone, Va. Small town patronage.

MUSH AND MILK: Our Gang—This is one of the best Gang shorts in many months. They seem to improve with every short and soon will be as good as the originals. Good entertainment for both kids and grownups and will please all that see it. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

ROPING WILD BEARS: Oddities—A bedtime story that has no place on a program for grownups and but few kids, as even kids will razz the idea of catching a wild bear this way. Running time, eight minutes.——C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

SOUP AND FISH: Todd-Kelly—They play up Todd's undies and shape a little too much. As a whole these comedies are fairly good; they're at least better than Pitts-Todd were. Running time, 18 minutes.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

TWIN SCREWS: All-Star Comedies—Fair. These comedies are only fair. They just don't seem to click in this situation. Running time, 18 minutes.—J. E. Tunstall, Nottawa Theatre, Blackstone, Va. Small town patronage.

VITAL VICTUALS: Oddities—Very good. Running time, 10 minutes.——J. E. Tunstall, Nottawa Theatre, Blackstone, Va. Small town patronage.

WILD POSES: Our Gang—This kid Spanky was the whole show and he was fine. Very good. Running time, 19 minutes.—Edward L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mt. Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

Paramount

BLOW ME DOWN: Popeye the Sailor—These are the best short subjects Paramount is releasing this season. Are growing more popular with the use of each one. Running time, nine minutes.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

BUNDLE OF BLUES, A: Duke Ellington—This would be a good novelty musical reel had the producer not put the She Negroes into it for a vulgar dance, which ruins it for the South. Running time, eight minutes.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Tex. Small town patronage.

HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE (No. 2): This is the best number of this series I have seen to date. This shows some of the popular movie stars at work and play and is put over in great style. Your patrons will like to see these stars and this one should please all of your patrons. Running time, 10 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

I EATS MY SPINACH: Popeye the Sailor—Good, but too short. Running time, six minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

I HEARD: Betty Boop—This one-reeler is not so good. However, on an average, these are good singles. Running time, eight minutes.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

I LIKE MOUNTAIN MUSIC: Screen Song—This is another good Screen Song featuring those famous Eton Boys with their music making and singing. The cartoon comedy in conjunction with this music is very good and will please all of your patrons. Let's have more like this. Running time, nine minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

NEWS HOUNDS: Pallette-Catlett—A good comedy. —Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

RED HOT MAMMA: Betty Boop—It is a shame that Paramount should stoop so low as to try to make a cartoon like this one. All Betty Boop Cartoons have been good up to this one, but when an exhibitor books in a cartoon to show to children and have the music blare forth at the kids with "Hell Bells," and a trip through the lower regions, it is time to raise a kick (which won't do any good). We ran this cartoon and have been ashamed of ourselves ever since for not putting it back in the can and leaving it there. I believe that I run as many cartoons as any small town exhibitor and I note that they are all trying to get a little dirty, with Mae West imitations, pots under the bed and around the character's heads, etc. When I say I mean that they are all trying to be a little dirty, I mean all the companies. This is the first raw one from Paramount and I hope the last. It is bad enough to have to run features with girls always having babies without getting dirt and monsters to scare the kiddies in the cartoons. Running time, eight minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

RUMBA RHYTHM: Vincent Lopez—These are always good, as they have real talent and are not slow and tiresome. Running time, seven minutes.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

STUFF ON THE BALL: Grantland Rice Sportlights—Interesting single.—Frank Sabin, Majestic Theatre, Eureka, Mont. Small town patronage.

WHERE'S THAT TIGER?: Harmonica Rascals—These boys are fine.—Edward L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mt. Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

RKO

BUBBLING OVER: Ethel Waters—A harmless two-reel socalled musical comedy. Nothing much in its favor or against it. Running time, 20 minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

SHAKESPEARE WITH TIN EARS: Gribbon-Kennedy Comedies—Fairly good.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

WELL CURED HAM: Headliner Series—It's a good comedy.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. General patronage.

WHAT FUR?: Edgar Kennedy—A very funny comedy.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

United Artists

CAMPING OUT: Mickey Mouse—A very funny cartoon.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

CHINA SHOP, THE: Silly Symphonies—None better anywhere. Play it. A story of the China Shop coming to life after the storekeeper went home.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

GRASSHOPPER AND THE ANTS, THE: Silly Symphonies—Very good.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

Universal

CANDY HOUSE, THE: Oswald Cartoons—A good cartoon.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

CHICKEN REEL: Oswald Cartoons—Chalk up another good one for Oswald. Universal really puts the musical background into their cartoons. Running time, nine minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

FULL COVERAGE: Henry Armetta—This is a real good comedy. My folks sure like Armetta. Running time, two reels.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

MERRY OLD SOUL: Oswald Cartoons—This surely deserved the honorable mention in the short subject field, which goes to prove that Universal can make something good. This makes two this year so far, "Merry Old Soul" and "Only Yesterday." Running time, seven minutes.—Edward L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mt. Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

TOY SHOPPE, THE: Oswald Cartoons—An unusually sweet cartoon. Beautiful singing and the pretty story of the toys who come to life when the shoppe is closed. Of course, the idea is very old but it worked out very nicely. Worth a spot on any program. Running time, eight minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

UNIVERSAL NEWSREELS: Graham MacNamee—When better news reels are made Uncle Carl will make 'em.—Frank Sabin, Majestic Theatre, Eureka, Mont. Small town patronage.

VAUDEVILLE DAYS: Mentone No. 8—Good. Haven't run a bad one yet. They are all good. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. E. Tunstall, Nottawa Theatre, Blackstone, Va. Small town patronage.

Warner Vitaphone

AROUND THE CLOCK: Norma Terris, Eton Boys —Here's another one of those two-reels that seemed to have been conceived and produced by a crazy person and is nothing but a time killer. Running time, 17 minutes.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

AROUND THE CLOCK: Norma Terris, Eton Boys —Another good one. Two-reeler.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

BEAUTY AND THE BEAST: Merrie Melodies—A one-reel colored subject that is great. Made by Vitaphone, that knows how to make good shorts.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

BUDDY'S BEER GARDEN: Looney Tunes—Splendid subject. We have found that this series are very satisfactory. Running time, seven minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

COME TO DINNER: Broadway Brevities—If your public has seen "Dinner at Eight" they may be amused by this, but if they have not then it's out. Running time, 16 minutes.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

NOT TONIGHT, JOSEPHINE: Frank McHugh, Kitty Kelly—They made it in color, but color is all you get. Just a lot of exaggerated nonsense that the cash customers don't like. Running time, 17 minutes. —C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

OPERATOR'S OPERA: Donald Novis, Dawn O'Day —Excellent. These Broadway Brevities are all good. Running time, 21 minutes.—Edward L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mt. Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

PAUL REVERE, JR.: Gus Shy, Janet Reade—A mighty good two-reel subject.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

RADIO REEL NO. 2: Pepper Pot—Singing and more singing. Not so hot. Running time, eight minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

RUBINOFF AND BAND: Melody Masters—A perfect musical short.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

Serials

Universal

PERILS OF PAULINE: Evalyn Knapp, Robert Allen—One of the much heralded comebacks that failed to come back at the box-office. The poorest serial in years. Running time, 18 minutes each chapter.—C. A. Pratt, Texas Theatre, Smithville, Texas. Small town patronage.

PIRATE TREASURE: Richard Talmadge, Lucille Lund—This serial is getting better each week. Boy, what thrills this fellow Talmadge can put over. Business fine on Saturday. Running time, 20 minutes each chapter.—Edward L. Ornstein, Vernon Theatre, Mt. Vernon, Ky. Small town patronage.

You will want these air conditioning charts to aid you this summer!

AIR CONDITIONING CHARTS

that represent standard practice in air conditioning engineering, adapted for the first time to motion picture theatre use. Originally published in Better Theatres, these charts and their explanations are now made available to theatre managers and technicians in a durable form suited to ready reference. Each chart is readily accessible by itself, while each is accompanied by an explanation that also gives practical advice on how to attain the best atmospheric conditions for any season. These chart sheets therefore apply to operating routine for any time of year, winter or summer. They are contained in a single sheet of cardweight paper measuring 22 inches wide and 17 inches high, so folded according to chart divisions that each readily fits the pocket. Unfolded, the sheet may be tacked on the wall. The folders may be had until the supply is exhausted at 25 cents each. Send payment with order. Use the coupon below.

BETTER THEATRES
1790 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

Enclosed find $..... in payment for Air Conditioning Charts at 25 cents each, to be mailed postpaid to the following:

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

If theatre state name .....

J. C. Jenkins--His Colyum

Neligh, Nebraska

DEAR HERALD:

Well, we circulated around the country for three days just to see if we could stand it and then came back home for the week-end. Outside of our dizziness, and a few other things, we are all right.

We went to Plainview to call on Mr. and Mrs. Huffman of the Plainview theatre and found Mr. Huffman working in the garden. We wanted to get a picture of him working to send to the HERALD so that people could see that occasionally a theatreman works, but John wouldn't stand for it. He said nobody would believe it anyhow.

▽

Fritz Largen of Creighton is an energetic kind of a citizen. When he gets through running the show he goes into the shop where his father and brother Cliff make the Largen sound equipment and cooling system and he pretends to work, but the rest of the gang say that he is in the way, but he's a strong advocate for the HERALD, which makes him all right.

▽

Carl Bailey, Showman

We got a letter from Carl Bailey of Pawnee City. Carl runs the theatre there, and what we mean, he runs it, too. Carl tells us that he can't run his theatre as it should be run without the HERALD. That's just what we have been preaching for several years. Carl also says he wants clean pictures. We know at least nine thousand other exhibitors who want the same thing, but what they want and what they get is something else again. But speaking of pictures, if you want a clean picture you better get George O'Brien in "Frontier Marshal," a western, and you will get just what you want, and besides that you will see the lady who plays the part of the mondaine, one of the best played characters you ever saw; she's got Mae West beat a mile in that type of character, but excuse us, we started to talk about Carl Bailey, but we haven't time to talk any more about Carl except to say that he is a swell fellow.

▽

When Walter C. Kroll isn't greasing cars or catching catfish in the Missouri River he is running the Koster theatre at Niobrara. Niobrara is where the Indians live. The Government built them houses to live in but we are told that they keep their ponies in the houses and live in their teepees, which is treating the ponies just about right, but if we were an Indian we'd go down to Walter's show every night. Walter wanted the HERALD; he got it. Thanks, Walter, but keep away from those Squaws.

▽

A-Mike Vogel of the Round Table department writes us and says he wants us to send him about five hundred words on some subject or other, but he fails to mention the subject. We have very pronounced opinions on several subjects, none of which amount to adam, but we'd be glad to try and accommodate Mike. We supposed we had exhausted about every subject in the English language already. We have talked on everything from "So This Is Africa" to bullfrogs, and nobody has shot at us yet.

▽

Georgia Racely of the Royal theatre at O'Neill is a lot better than she has been. She has always been pretty good outside of her recent illness, and her theatre is the brightest spot in the town. They have the town all torn up putting in some paving and they have been at it a long time, just as they have been in our town. Georgia says if they don't get rain pretty soon there won't be anybody dare scratch a match for fear of blowing up the whole country. We hope nobody does, for if they do we will go up with them, for it is as dry here as it is at O'Neill or in a prohibition state where the bootleggers are all down with the measles.

▽

Miller Turns Postmaster

Art Miller, at Atkinson, has consented to turn his theatre over to his father and take a job from Uncle Sam of handing out postal cards and other matter of more or less importance. Art told Uncle Sam that he was for him first, last and all the time and of course that settled the post office question. We are glad Art got it, because he's a swell fellow, and we are glad that his father is running the theatre, because he wears the belt as champion fish liar in Holt county, and Holt county is bigger than the state of Connecticut. His father has tried to match himself up with us on several occasions but he always went home limping on two legs. He reminds us very much of Will Rogers.

▽

Burwell, Nebraska, is where they hold that famous rodeo every year. In fact, they have about the biggest rodeo that is held in the West. But that isn't what makes the town famous, it is Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Becker, who operate the Electric theatre. We have a young fellow out of Omaha driving us, and our wife went along to see that we didn't put in overtime with the exhibitors' wives, and we stayed overnight at Burwell. That evening, Becker having no show, he and his wife came down to our rooms and visited us, and did we have a good time? It is as dry around Burwell as it is around "April Showers," and Becker says that if the administration don't bring rain pretty soon he is going to be agin 'em. Yeah, but how about the grasshoppers up in South Dakota? You can't expect the administration to do everything.

▽

Isn't it rather strange that all the pretty babies and girls are named Gertrude? The only exceptions we know to that rule are Jeanette Meehan and Mildred Early of our Hollywood office.

Gertrude Merriam writes us from the Round Table department of the HERALD.

We will venture to say that in New York City are no less than five girls whose names are Gertrude. (New York City ought to turn out that many handsome ones.) Well, anyhow, we mention this letter partly to advise you that should you want any information from the Round Table department you can address A-Mike Vogel, who, being a Swede, Norwegian, Polander or Democrat, is perfectly reliable, or you can address your letter to Gertrude Merriam, who will give you the lowdown on anything you want to know.

They say that Gertrude bakes awfully nice cookies and pies, and that her biscuits are the talk of the town, and the boys say that they come in handy to throw at dogs or break windows with, but she's reliable, too, and can give you any information you want, but should you want to know anything about dogs, watermelons or blondes you should write Ernie.

▽

John Cosner runs the Sun theatre at Sargent. Sargent is where we took the fish car and planted a car of fish when we were state game warden, but we didn't recognize John in the crowd, which was probably due to the fact that we were not connected with the theatre business at that time but were more interested in catfish, bullheads, bass and crappies. John says that when they say that it is drier in any other of the states than it is in Sargent they don't know Sargent. Sargent is close to the North Loup river and the Loup always remains about the same, one of the prettiest streams in the state, and no matter if the crops do burn up, there's always catfish in the Loup, so why should John worry?

▽

We went to Genoa to see Ma Peterson and her hubby, Hop. We found Hop at home but that was because Ma was cleaning house and Hop had to help her, otherwise he would have been down on the Loup fishing. (There is no darned sense in cleaning house when the catfish are biting.) Ma said business was terrible.

▽

Jerry Verage at St. Edwards feels just like Ma Peterson does. Business is bad with him, largely due to the dry weather and the withdrawal of about two hundred government workers around St. Edwards, and he asked us what was going to become of the country when the Government stopped all of its activities. We replied by asking who was going to eventually pay the bill. And we are going to stop right here and ask you the same question and you can answer it or not, just as you please, and it will be all right with us.

COLONEL J. C. JENKINS,
The HERALD'S Vagabond Colyumnist

Seigel, Suchman Share Consolidated Film Buying

Henry Seigel and Al Suchman are dividing the buying duties for the Consolidated circuit in New York. Mr. Suchman formerly handled all film deals in addition to bookings for the entire circuit. The entrance of Mr. Seigel into the circuit may result in the acquisition of Mr. Seigel's four houses by Consolidated.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

NO "SACRED COWS"

A Round Tabler, a swell showman and a good friend, pulled into Club headquarters some days ago, and at the lunch table indicated he was not overly pleased with the slaps we had taken editorially at various phases of circuit operation and circuit operators. For many years the manager of a wisely controlled chain theatre, well treated and happy in his work, this member has every reason to be loyal to his flag.

But while we appreciated his immediate defense, we hastened to emphasize that the policy of this department is one of strict impartiality, neither criticising nor praising any system of theatre operation, as such, but committed definitely to headlining in these pages, any outstanding instance of management that advances or retards the welfare of the manager.

The Managers' Round Table Club has no axe to grind. Our supporters are as numerous from among the circuits as they are from the independents. We shall defend the practices of the chains as vigorously as we shall criticize the mistakes of the lone operator. The reverse is just as true—and will continue to be.

There are no "sacred cows" in our pasture.

▽ ▽ ▽

ANNOYING AND UNFUNNY

At a neighborhood house some evenings ago, it was our misfortune to be seated behind a group of young ladies who amused themselves hugely to the annoyance of those within earshot, by "cracking wise." The continued barrage of dubious humor discharged by these smart people succeeded in destroying whatever enjoyment the screen was giving to those in that section. And not until an outraged patron spoke up forcefully did the "act" subside.

The tendency of certain audience elements to comment audibly and stupidly upon the supposed demerits of the feature picture is a growing menace that managers must curb immediately if the box office is not to suffer.

▽ ▽ ▽

THOSE SHOWMEN

The ubiquitous Orlove, the Louie who rages up and down the highways and byways of Milwaukee in search of publicity for his Uptown Theatre, recently made the front pages by the simple expedient of donating a pint of blood in a transfusion to aid the wife of a local managing editor.

Well, we've heard of managers "sweating blood" to put over their houses and attractions, but Louis seems to be the first one to actually give it.

FALSE MODESTY

Each week the box office ideas on these pages are studied religiously and utilized by thousands of eager showmen in every part of the world, a great many of whom forward campaigns regularly for the benefit of brother managers. But unfortunately there are laggards who contribute little, if anything.

In other words, gentlemen, they are "takers" and not "givers."

Yes, we know that many members would fall in line were they allowed the necessary latitude by superiors inclined to frown upon these extra-curricular activities. But other explanations are not so final. For instance, the one given frequently in which the erring brother takes dubious refuge in false modesty by stating the publication of his campaigns might lead others to believe he would be "blowing his horn."

This attitude is hardly fair to those members whose efforts are responsible for whatever success the department has attained. No master mind need be called upon to analyze the reasons for the progress of the Managers' Round Table Club. It functions purely for the betterment of the theatreman—and by the same token, of his box office grosses. It is a clearing house of practical exploitation and advertising aids, a forum for what the showman has to say and a lone defender against the invasion of his rights.

To further these worthwhile aims, the shrinking violets may well discard their robes of modesty by doing their share if these pages are to remain truly representative.

▽ ▽ ▽

"WON'T BE—CAN'T BE"

The late Bill Roper, famous Princeton football coach, made famous a saying that will live as long as time: "A team that won't be licked, can't be licked." We use these immortal words today, gentlemen, to emphasize the endeavors of Manager Gene Curtis and Exploiteer Ken Finlay, proud and deserving winners of the May Quigley Award.

From the inception of the Quigley project, these hard hitters have given their all. Month after month they have striven mightily, and now they are justly rewarded for their efforts. We join with the Famous Players Canadian circuit and the Round Table membership in extending to these stalwarts the heartiest of congratulations.

A. Mike Vogel

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS!

Momm Creates 12-Page Tabloid on "Bar"

Dominating a very thorough campaign on "Wonder Bar" was a special 12-page tabloid issued as a regular section of his newspaper and promoted, edited and planned by Manager Robert A. Momm, Sherman Theatre, Chillicothe, Ohio.

Bob details his operations as follows. He agreed to lay out, edit and provide art in the form of mats and to sell 75 per cent of the space to merchants, the paper collecting for same. The other 25 per cent of the space was for the theatre, providing that a sufficient amount of reader interest could be contained. Newspaper then printed the section inserting same in the regular editions, the only cost to Momm being "Wonder Bar" mats.

This member states that while planning his dummy, he personally supervised the layout by selecting attractive art and writing an ad around it. He reports that it was much simpler in this manner to sell merchants on coming in, the final results indicating much thought and effort in carrying out the idea. As a further help, Bob ran an identification contest with passes given to readers identifying all the stars in the picture, sending in their names together with a list of all advertisers and the product advertised.

Though many other angles were whipped across, the tabloid idea was obviously the most effective, especially since it was the first ever run by Momm's newspaper. He did a fine piece of work and rates an extra bow for his ingenuity .

Merchants' Windows Plug "Palooka" for Harry Watts

Harry Watts, Poli Theatre, Hartford, Conn., secured several window tie-ups for "Palooka," a furrier showing scene stills of Lupe with reproductions of latest gowns she wore, also plugging the picture on his radio program. A five and ten had a special window of "Palooka" dolls; department store tied in with a Max Factor make-up boxes and several of the music stores stressed the sheet music and records of tunes.

Lobby contained four illuminated lobby displays that were reproductions of the Steig drawings done in oil and dance and night club orchestras did their share.

JULY FOURTH

Various promotional possibilities are indicated in conjunction with Independence Day celebrations. Many managers are booking appropriate patriotic shorts and stage presentations of this nature are also being arranged.

Where parades are to be held, theatre copy will stress desirability of attendance after such events, and wherever possible, showmen are promoting their attractions into the parade proper via float, banners, etc.

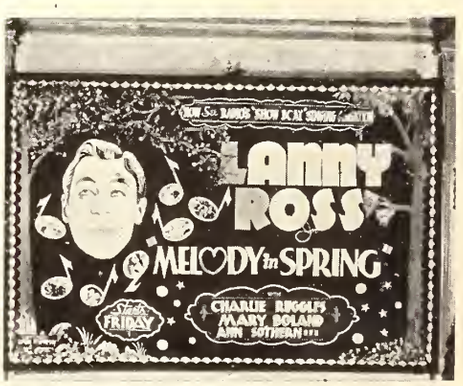
Motion pictures of important local athletic contests, picnics and other outdoor gatherings is another idea under consideration. Announcement of scores of baseball games and track meets through theatre P. A. systems is also set in many spots, as are presentation from stage by mayors and other leading citizens of trophies, medals.

Hanna Ties House Into Civic Drive

An extensive campaign on "Know Detroit," conceived by the Chamber of Commerce and supported by local manufacturers and merchants was adapted cleverly by Manager Merrill F. Hanna, Hollywood Theatre, Detroit, Mich., who stepped into the spotlight by issuing a smartly gotten up four page institutional booklet, plugging the many virtues of his house. Using the campaign head as a copy leader, Merrill detailed his coming attractions, projection, refrigeration and many services.

He carried out the idea further in a series of informative two column ads in which he again stressed the leading talking points and called attention to the fact that over one million patrons attend the Hollywood every year. Hanna claims these ads as very effective to offset the subsequent bookings at nearby theatres playing the pictures immemediately behind him at lower prices.

Another institutional idea that brings in extra admissions is the yearly donation of the theatre for the graduation ceremonies of one of the largest local high schools. This is the second year in which this event has taken place at the Hollywood and brought many front page newspaper stories and widely voiced appreciation of the courtesy by many leading citizens and educators.



The theatre being the only one in his section of the city provided with refrigeration, Merrill sells this feature even more strongly than the average house so equipped, and devotes much of his newspaper and program copy to headlining this comfort. In his case, this Round Tabler has proven that consistent institutional advertising, backed up by performance, is worth extra money.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Hamilton's Springlike Display on "Melody"

A neat lobby display was turned out recently by Al Hamilton, Empress, So. Norwalk, Conn. (see photo) when he played "Melody in Spring."

The Lanny Ross display measured eight by ten feet and was spotted in the main lobby. The background was black velour, trees were cutouts and stood away from the background, and artificial flowers used on the branches of the trees. The greater portion of the lettering was done with cut-out letters and a little flitter. The notes around Lanny Ross' head had stills inserted in them, and baby spots heightened the display affect.

Hamilton's Attractive Display

Melniker's "Girl" Street Bally

Atlantans Step On 'Hollywood' Premier

Atlanta does not have many world premieres, but the showmen in that Georgia situation are set when these rare occasions arise, as witness the campaign on "Hollywood Party," engineered by Manager E. J. Melniker and his staff for the date at Loew's Grand, in Lionel Keene's division.

On notification of the booking, Melniker contacted and secured congratulatory wires from the Governor of the State, Mayor of Atlanta, publishers of leading papers, advertising clubs, Chamber of Commerce and other prominent civic organizations. The stunt of course broke the front page and the wires themselves were used as a display.

Very effective was the Mickey Mouse tie-up made with the local paper carrying the daily comic strip of that well known rodent, in which the credit lines were carried daily in advance and during the run above and below the strip. In addition, the paper distributed by its regular newsboys 25,000 full size newspaper heralds calling attention to the premiere, and 25 circulation trucks were also bannered.

Railroads Also Cooperate

Railroads also took advantage of the opening by printing thousands of large circus heralds plugging the low cost of round trips to Atlanta to see the picture with more than half the space given over to the attraction. Eight roads participated, effectively blanketing the surrounding area, and also posted outlying stations with 14 by 36 posters.

Street ballys were many and various, outstanding being four attractive girls wearing lettered white sweaters, riding breeches and berets who rode around town in a new model supplied by auto dealer. On opening day, bannered gas balloon was sent aloft which topped the advance theatre display wherein entire seven floors of the building were decorated with buntings and flags.

Numerous of the best fashion and jewelry windows were secured, cards distributed in office buildings with messages written in short hand (guest tickets given to the first ten stenogs phoning in correct transcription), department store packages stuffed, radio and music shop tieins, and especially named sundaes at all soda fountains were some of the other fast clicking ideas that were put over by these showmen to grand returns.

Melniker was assisted by publicity director Burton Smith, Sid Smith, art head, and the entire usher personnel, all under Keene's supervision.

CURTIS AND FINLAY WIN QUIGLEY PLAQUE

Manager and Exploitation Head of Palace, Montreal, Break Through With Campaign on "Twenty Million Sweethearts"

By A-MIKE VOGEL

Canada comes through!

With a burst of exploitation speed that could not be denied, and with a brand of unexcelled showmanship, Manager Gene Curtis, Palace Theatre, Montreal, and his able colleague, exploiteer Ken Finlay, after four months of unremitting plugging during which time they came within inches of copping the Big Prize, have hurdled the last barrier splendidly.

By the majority vote of the judges, these theatremen have been awarded the May Quigley Award for their campaign on Warner Brothers' "20 Million Sweethearts," details of which, and photos of the winners, will be carried in the next issue.

Right on their heels, and finishing just a nod behind, was Manager James M. Totman, Warner Theatre, Erie, Pa., who did a whale of a job, also on "20 Million Sweethearts." Jimmy is the only entrant in the May competition winning the First Mention, and well deserved it was.

Fourteen managers and exploitation directors are honored this month with Honorable Mentions, their names and theatres appearing in the box below. These fourteen represent twelve campaigns, the extra two being Publicity Directors, Bob Deitch and Manuel Greenwald, of the Stanley, Philadelphia, and Loew's Penn, Pittsburgh, respectively, who aided the managers of these houses in the creation and execution of their winning campaigns. Certificates in recognition of these entries have been forwarded to the First Mention and Honorable Mention winners.

Gene Curtis and Ken Finlay have been in the thick of the going since the inception of the Quigley Awards project. They finished in the money in January with a First Mention, and did likewise in February. March and April saw them in the Honorable Mention column, and the May story has been told.

Totman earned Honorable Mention in February, his only previous entry until this month, and many of the other strong finishers have repeated their former triumphs. In addition to the major award, Canada is again represented in the money column by Manager H. A. Bishop, Capitol Theatre, Calgary.

△ △ △

Again we repeat our invitation to showmen everywhere to participate in the Quigley projects. Campaigns may be forwarded on any picture of any product, major or independent, domestic or foreign, with the assurance that every one will receive equal consideration from the judges. Entries from foreign lands will be considered during the month they are received.

Managers are again requested to make sure that photos, tear sheets, samples of heralds, etc., used in campaigns are forwarded, as the judges insist, wherever possible, on visual evidence.

First Mention

J. M. Totman, Manager
Warner Theatre
Erie, Pennsylvania

HONORABLE MENTIONS WERE AWARDED TO:

H. A. Bishop, Manager
Capitol, Calgary, Canada

△

Ben M. Cohen, Manager
College, New Haven, Conn.

△

M. A. Cooper, Manager
Fox, Hackensack, N. J.

△

A. L. Cowan, Exploiteer
American, Caldwell, Idaho

△

Mike Cullen, Manager
Manuel Greenwald, Exploiteer
Penn, Pittsburgh, Pa.

△

Julius Lamm, Manager
Uptown, Cleveland, O.

Don Nichols, Manager
Broadway, Charlotte, N. C.

△

Bob Paskow, Manager
Bob Deitch, Publicity Manager
Stanley, Jersey City, N. J.

△

Bob Rosen, Manager
Orpheum, New York City

△

Joe Rosenfield, Manager
Modjeska, Milwaukee, Wis.

△

David R. Sablosky
Norris, Norristown, Pa.

△

S. B. Tucker, Manager
Byrd, Richmond, Va.

URGES FAN MAGAZINE TIEIN

Massachusetts Member in Favor Of Closer Cooperation Between Theatres and Fan Publications

by CHARLES S. BASSIN

Manager, Oriental, Mattapan, Mass.

That the general opinion of showmen revolves around the theory that fan magazines are a decided menace is understandable, because not infrequently, these publications label a picture with skull and crossbones, thus forever marking the attraction as "poison." On the other hand, these cinema journals are scrivened with much that cultures the germ of entertainment and sends people scurrying hither and thither to seek in celluloid, fulfillment of the desires aroused by the printed page.

Charles S. Bassin

If we are to take action in regard to the fan mags, what course shall we pursue? Shall we be belligerent or persuasive? Certainly the motion picture industry could no more rout the movie periodicals from their present position of security than the fan journals could topple the cinema industry from the peak of its well rooted pedestal. This being the case, warlike methods will accomplish nothing. Assuming then that the flicker publications are a menace to our business as well as an asset, the only alternative that avails itself is the friendlier and saner avenue of mutual cooperation.

Favors Circulation Tieup

That the public has manifested its desire to read fan magazines is clearly indicated by the fact that these publications are enjoying an ever increasing circulation. Month after month our attractions are either sold or unsold to 16 million readers whose gamble with the box office is greatly influenced by the contents of these periodicals. If the movie magazines are partly responsible for the business we are now doing, and there is little doubt but what they are, what would happen if the circulation of these magazines doubled or tripled? We cannot help but conclude that our patronage would increase somewhere nearly proportionate to the hypothetical circulation figures.

With business at any level, high or low, the natural corollary seems to be, build the circulation of the fan magazines and you will build theatre grosses. Increase their gross coverage and there will be fewer low spots and many higher peaks in the course of a year's business.

Our present goal should be to increase fan magazine circulation from five and one-half million copies (16,000,000 readers) to ten million copies (30,000,000 readers). Such a proposition can only be beyond the scope of the individual and its consummation can only be accomplished by the concerted and unselfish effort of every man vitally interested in the progress of show business.

Showmen's Cooperation

It should be our intent to make every man, woman and child a fan magazine addict. Accomplished, this will do most of our ground work in making more people theatre minded and picture conscious. A plan of attack must be evolved and presented by a selected group of showmen to a representative committee of publishers. Some direct methods of cooperation are herein suggested.

In addition to a national circulation drive, publishers' coverage crews should contact doctors, dentists, beauty parlors, barber shops and other establishments where time weighs heavily on the customer's hands to solicit subscriptions (possibly at low rates to induce purchase). This would place many magazines in advantageous spots where innumerable people would be afforded the opportunity to peruse these publications and possibly become sufficiently interested to buy copies of their own. Each new fan magazine addict is a potential customer for your box office. Create a reader of picture literature and you have a future theatre patron in the making.

Publishers should be induced to buy radio time. In addition to their sponsoring entertaining programs, movie contests giving a year's subscription to a selection of magazines could be offered as prizes. The cooperative contest idea could be worked in the following manner: "When you go to the theatre tonight, secure your entry blank for the National Movie Magazine Contest," etc., etc.

Coupons should be distributed by each theatre which when properly filled out would entitle the bearer to a sample copy of one of a selection of magazines.

Each theatre should carry a display of fan magazines in its lobby; and wherever candy counters are a part of the operation, magazines should be offered for sale. Wherever practical, bound copies of current issues should be placed in theatre lounges and rest rooms.

Publishers should be induced to buy space selling their periodicals in all important newspaper advertising pages.

Theatres should cooperate by giving general screen notices and by otherwise fostering the increased circulation movement. A list of fan magazines should appear in theatre house organs.

Publishers should furnish each theatre with a list of magazine subscribers in the theatre's trading area, thereby enabling the playhouse to augment its mailing list.

Sees Valuable Gains

The foregoing are but a few of the many better ideas. Naturally, such a scheme will need the sanction and moral support of a majority of the country's exhibitors and the cooperation of the producers as well as the distributors will be needed.

The promotion of a better understanding between publishers and exhibitors is the first essential necessary to promulgate this movement. True, the fan magazines are more dependent on us than we are on them, but there is much to be obtained by all parties concerned through mutual cooperation.

Let's get the ball rolling. We have nothing to lose and much to gain. Certainly if larger grosses are important, the plan is worth a try.

Come on, Round Tablers. What have you to say?

Work For a Quigley Award!

IS IT ANOTHER BOMBSHELL?

Back in November of last year, Charley Bassin wrote us an article on the uses and abuses of ballyhoo which started a nationwide discussion in these pages. And now this member again comes to the fore with a plan that proposes much close harmony between theatres and publishers of fan magazines.

The subject is of course of great concern to every manager, and we therefore look forward to some spirited debate in the Round Table section by members who agree or disagree. Showmen are invited to contribute their thoughts for publication, and no "hitting in the clinches."

—MIKE

Lykes Promotes Radio "Mystery Singer"

Jack Lykes, Loew's Stillman, Cleveland, Ohio, tells us that several weeks ago a young man claiming he had a good radio voice came to his theatre and offered to sacrifice his time and contribute his services for a chance to sing over the radio.

Taking the bull by the horns, Jack trekked over to the radio station and sold the manager the idea of giving them free time to introduce their "Mystery Singer" over the air. Station finally went for the idea and the lad went on at seven in the morning. He's been clicking, and in the meantime the theatre is getting daily announcements.

WANTED Representatives

- Experienced premium distributors wanted.
- By old established premium company with offices in many cities.
- Handling sensational, exclusive direct-from-factory lines.
- Our present men earning up to $10,000 annually.

If you are an experienced motion picture livewire, write full particulars and interview will be arranged.

Box 411, Motion Picture Herald
1790 BROADWAY NEW YORK CITY
OUR MEN KNOW OF THIS AD

Fred Reeths' Lobby Flash

Showmen's Calendar

JULY

1st	Battle of San Juan Hill—1898 Battle of Gettysburg—1863 Dominion Day (Canada) First Air Mail, Chicago to New York—1919
2nd	Garfield's Assassination—1881
3rd	Idaho Admitted to Union—1890 Spanish Fleet Destroyed by American Fleet—1898 Leon Errol's Birthday Wynne Gibson's Birthday
4th	Independence Day Calvin Coolidge Born—1872 Nathaniel Hawthorne Born—1804
5th	Lewis and Clark Expedition Set Out—1804-1806
6th	Com. Sloat Took Possession of California—1846 John Paul Jones Born—1747 Ricardo Cortez's Birthday
7th	Inauguration of Rail-Air Service Known as the "Lindbergh Line," between New York and California—1929
9th	General Braddock Defeated—1755
10th	Wyoming Admitted to Union—1890 Slim Summerville's Birthday John Quincy Adams (6th President) Born—1767 John Gilbert's Birthday
11th	Sally Blane's Birthday
12th	Marjorie Rambeau's Birthday
15th	St. Swithin's Day
16th	Ginger Rogers' Birthday Barbara Stanwyck's Birthday
17th	Sherman's March to Sea—1864 Jimmy Cagney's Birthday
18th	Lupe Velez's Birthday Richard Dix's Birthday
21st	Battle of Bull Run—1861
22nd	Marjorie White's Birthday
24th	Pioneer Day (Idaho)
26th	Allison Skipworth's Birthday Lila Lee's Birthday
27th	Wireless Between Japan and U. S. Established—1915
28th	Joe E. Brown's Birthday Skeets Gallagher's Birthday
29th	Clara Bow's Birthday William Powell's Birthday
31st	Lafayette Arrived—1777

"Tarzan and Mate" Get Ace Buildups

Realistic and ticket-selling lobbies featured many recent campaigns reported on "Tarzan and His Mate" in addition to the press book safety club idea and other smart exploitation. Here are a few highlights.

In Columbus, Ohio—

Manager Russell A. Bovim, Ohio Theatre, secured for his date over 3,000 lines of gratis tieup copy in his various papers. Russell put on a classified idea with names of jungle animals scattered through ads, passes given for those submitting complete list in neatest and most novel form. Paper also ran daily strips of picture scene shots on amusement page to plug regular "Tarzan" strip on comic page.

Then to Toledo, Ohio—

Where Wally Caldwell, of the Valentine, rang the bell with a hit campaign topped with two newspaper contests, one being the "Tarzan" coloring competition tied into the daily strip run on the classified page, which carried special underline with theatre credits. The second newspaper gag was a "rambling photographer" idea in which pictures were taken on the streets of passersby without their knowledge. Many of these photos were published and those identifying themselves received passes.

In Indianapolis, Ind.—

Manager J. F. Flex, of Loew's Palace, and Fred Bartow tied in with police department on the safety club angle and received cooperation from newspaper sponsoring a similar organization. Passes were given to pupils having good ratings in safety patrol work, and "Tarzan" posters displayed at schools during weekly safety talks before student bodies. "Tarzan" club was formed at morning show to which over 4,000 children paraded under police escort.

And in Sheboygan, Wis.—

Fred Reeths, Jr., Warner's, also created a distinctive lobby flash (see photo above) which he reports cost him less than $4. Old pieces of wall board were used together with a lot of natural foliage. The lettering was unusual, the entire display illuminated with baby spots.

Back in Davenport, Iowa—

Where Manager Grove, Capitol Theatre, covered boxes on both sides of stage with giant illuminated art displays and title (see photo). Jungle street float with colored boys made up as natives and beating drums was used and tieup with dairy netted free ice cream to school children attending. Grove also addressed all boy scout troops plugging Weissmuller as original "Tarzan."

Then to Rock Island, Ill.—

Where Manager Emerson, Fort Theatre, put on a pet parade led by boy scout band, children carrying theatre banners. Prizes were given, judging held in park across street from theatre. Tieup with schoolboard allowed Emerson to distribute specially prepared card in all class rooms, and news boys showing was also arranged. Exploiteer Claud Morris assisted on the Grove and Emerson campaigns.

Grove's Giant Displays

And South to Dallas, Texas—

Here Manager Bill Taylor, of Loew's State, received splendid newspaper cooperation with participation in citywide marble contest, Taylor giving Weissmuller cup to winner, other prizes including term passes to theatre. Editor of kid page went for coloring contest, and on day after opening, the daily ran humorous feature story on a supposed preview of the picture by orang-outang, taken from zoo to theatre.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Fordham's Voice Tests

Manager Tom Fordham, Columbia Theatre, Erie, Pa., effected a neat tieup on "20 Million Sweethearts" by hooking in a local radio station to broadcast voices of patrons from theatre lobby for Hollywood tests. Contest drew a great response.

Yours—for Better Box Office Receipts

★ STAGE EQUIPMENT WITH A REPUTATION ★

Strictly Confidential

If your theatre is the "runner up," the second best theatre in your neighborhood or community, consult with us and get our ideas as to what you can do to modernize your equipment, to introduce a novel feature or two that will swing larger, more profitable audiences to your house.

* * *

Leadership is not a matter of chance. Peter Clark stage equipment is used in leading theatres throughout the country. Much of it has been originated by this organization. Check over your equipment with us. See what can be done to popularize your theatre, to convert it into a leader.

CORRESPONDENCE INVITED

PETER CLARK, INC.
ESTABLISHED 1905
542 WEST 30th ST., NEW YORK

Uses Giant Valance as Advance on "Wonder Bar"

From the Ohio Theatre, Mansfield, Ohio, details Manager Frank Harpster the highlights of his well rounded campaign on "Wonder Bar," wherein many flash lobby set pieces were used in advance, accompanying photo showing one that was greatly admired. This was planted a week ahead, previous to which overdoor signs and panels in doors were planted a month in advance. Topping these displays was a 58-foot valance hung across the foyer eight weeks prior.

Frank stuffed bread packages, laundry bundles and newspapers with heralds, inserted these in candy boxes and promoted bars of candy for distribution at children's matinee before the opening of the picture. Bottles of perfume in imprinted envelopes to all women patrons also helped to plug the date as did a sound truck covering the city and nearby areas.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Music Tieups Sell Manila Date on "Roman Scandals"

The Filipinos in Manila went for the song hits in "Roman Scandals" as eagerly as their American brothers and sisters, according to the campaign put on by Charles H. Core, United Artists' manager, for the date at the Metropolitan and Fox theatres. Sheet music was sold in the theatre lobby, music tieups were arranged and consistent broadcasting was effected.

The chariot street bally was also put on here to satisfactory results, the driver dressed in Roman costume distributing heralds at all traffic stops. The above exploitation is another indication of the speed with which foreign representatives are moving in putting over their product in the best American fashion.

Work For a Quigley Award!

"Eskimo" in Oakland, Cal.

Here Manager E. J. Sullivan, Washington Theatre, ably backed up by omniscient Hal Elias tied up with newspaper and department store in connection with cooking club. Theatre obtained three-column, 11-inch ad daily for five days from store, tieup copy being—"There is a difference between the diet of the Eskimo and the white man," with proper credits given theatre.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Charninsky Turns House Into Real Battlefield

It's been a little while since we've shown you any of the fronts (see photo) turned out by Louie Charninsky, Capitol, Dallas, Texas, so take a look at what he did with his house when they played "All Quiet."

High school boys in uniform stood at attention beside the trenches in front of theatre and picketed the sidewalk. Bugler on top of marquee sounded calls every 15 minutes and a display of all kinds of German guns, knives, swords, etc., was shown a week prior to opening.

Tie-up with American Legion resulted in their sending out postcards to all members. All Gold Star Mothers admitted free on Monday matinees and Disabled Veterans were invited as guests of the management.

On opening day ROTC boys paraded to theatre with banners. Specially built flasher lights on front display represented fire bombs and red flares on each side of the building heightened the effect. Louie even had wax dummies dressed as soldiers lying in the trenches with a dummy dressed as a Red Cross nurse standing by. The piece de resistance was the shooting off of bombs and guns from the roof of theatre on opening night. "All Quiet" is right.

Ace Display in Unused B. O.

Harpster's Flash Lobby

Garry's Illuminated Comic Strip

Not So Quiet, Louie

Bayne and Egan Plant Display in Box Office

Quite a number of the members have been creating smart displays in their unused lobby box offices and Dave Bayne reports the latest of these flashes at Pete Egan's Palace Theatre, at Calgary, Alberta on "Melody in Spring." The box office window was removed and in it was placed a background of cutout dancing girls and musical notes surrounded by green crepe paper in a half circle.

Up front, a small aquarium was placed with live gold fish and mermaid figures (see photo) above which was hung a bird cage containing a large talking parrot, attracting attention by greeting the patrons. The spring effect was carried out further with singing canaries on either side of the inside lobby.

Another interesting display was made up on "The Lost Patrol" in the form of a small platform eight feet long by two feet wide upon which were constructed desert effects with sand dunes, oasis, cutout palm trees and a water effect obtained with small mirror. Camels, Arabs, and toy soldiers mounted were shown in battle array. The background was a giant cutout of McLaglen.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Lassman Uses "Teen" Strips For Lobby Display

A Hal LeRoy tap dance contest featured Manager Garry Lassman's "Harold Teen" campaign for the Avon, Utica, N. Y., the jig idea being held each night during the run with ladies' and men's wrist watches promoted gratis by Garry, given the winners, audiences acting as judges. The stunt and the awards were announced via trailer three days ahead, and to bring it to the attention of the younger set, 22 by 28s were posted in store windows near all schools. Further "young" ideas were the press book LeRoy soda stunt and the Postal Telegraph flower tiein.

Effective was an illuminated overdoor banner made of cutout illustrated letters with tear sheets of the "Teen" comic strips pasted on these letters (see photo) on outer doors of lobby. Classified tieup, ballyhoo truck and lady and man stiltwalkers passing out gum in imprinted envelopes were other click gags used by this showman to put over his date.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Starr Distributes Advance Reprints on "Alice"

Photos of the Tenniel woodcuts, those used to illustrate the first edition of "Alice in Wonderland," aided in a nice tieup on that date arranged by Manager Herman Starr, Cove Theatre, Glen Cove, L. I. Actual scene shots from the picture resembling the original woodcuts were run in a neighborhood class paper to show how closely Paramount adhered to the famed story. Starr had many reprints of the page run-off and distributed these in advance of his date.

Herman is still getting out those snappy four-page programs, his work on "George White's Scandals" being in line with his clever copy. Front cover shows cut of Vallee and Faye with copy to the effect that they are wed, inside pages tying this into the picture and rest of the program.

Graham's Baby Contest Brings Many Entries

Another English voting contest that produced splendid results was that put over by Manager Robert Graham, Futurist Theatre, Birmingham, England, as a tiein on his showing of "A Bedtime Story." This was a baby beauty idea and was put on in conjunction with a local paper as part of a campaign sponsored by Earl St. John, Paramount Theatres' director in Great Britain, in which the theatres in Manchester, New Castle, Leeds and Cardiff also participated.

In Birmingham, as in other cities, judges chose forty entries from those of the baby pictures submitted, these being numbered and filmed and shown at the theatre. Patrons were then asked to vote, and the four children receiving the highest number of votes were given prizes and entered in the national competition.

Over $2000 in cash was awarded in the national and local contests, and many merchandise awards were also promoted. Graham's newspaper ran daily stories and many pictures of entrants also issuing a splendid four-page special section, which sold the theatre as well as the contest. A highlight of the campaign was a special film taken at a local park when over 5000 mothers with their children (see photo) assembled.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Paper Gives Passes on Madden's "Palooka" Tieup

Manager J. J. Madden, Granby Theatre, Norfolk, Va., has been putting on some smart campaigns lately, outstanding being his tieup on "Palooka" with a local paper in which theatre passes were given to those securing new one-month subscriptions to the daily. The offer was good for three days in advance of the showing, the paper coming in for a number of half-page ads stressing the idea and plugging the picture. Window in town's largest sporting goods store (see photo) brought added attention.

Madden effected a neat co-op hookup on "House of Rothschild" by tieing into a furniture ad with passes given to those finding all the misspelled words in the copy. The display was four columns full, theatre and picture copy with cut of Arliss topping.

Work For a Quigley Award!

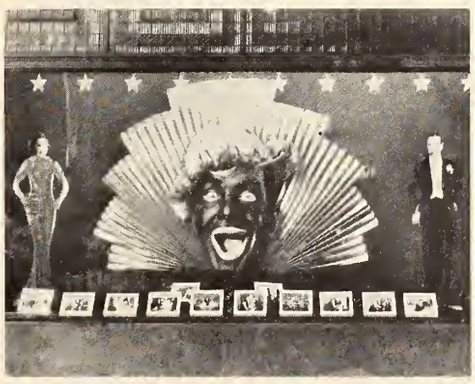
Morris Promoted Ace Windows on "Bar"

A giant sized head of Jolson in one of the city's best windows (see photo) was one of the flashes that attracted attention to Manager Walter Morris' "Wonder Bar" date, at the Stanley, Baltimore, Md., as it tied in to the personal appearance of this star who came on to do his stuff at the premiere of the picture.

As the window immediately adjoins the theatre, all necessary copy was carried on marquee, leaving all space for stills and cutouts. A "bar" window was also secured showing cutouts of other stars leaning against regular bar, fitted up with all the fixin's, and wax models dressed in cocktail costumes, made up the rest of the display.

Jolson was introduced by the Mayor, who in turn was presented by the State's Attorney, the affair being helped by a blowup of invitation telegram from the Mayor to Al, posted and displayed in lobby. Floral decorations were promoted for theatre front, radio plugged the opening, and Walter obtained railroad flares for marquee use, which with camera and other accessories, "hollywood-ed" the opening night.

On "Registered Nurse," Morris wrote to all nurses, giving a brief outline of the picture, cast, dates, and starting times, further stating he hoped the ladies could find time between hours of duty to come over and see the show.



Graham's Baby Contest

Madden's "Palooka" Window

Morris' "Little Women" Tie-up

Walter's Giant Jolson Head

Deering Welcomes "Amos and Andy" in Person

Memphis, Tenn., that hotbed of lightning showmanship, scores another ace with Manager Francis Deering's campaign on the personal appearance of "Amos and Andy," at Loew's State, in which a unique newspaper contest was put on to find the most ornate "Fresh Air" taxi in town, a cash prize given the winner. A taxi stand in keeping with that made famous by the air comics was installed in front of the theatre, and an old Ford toured the city.

Further newspaper cooperation was generous, with guest columns written by the stars, front-page pictures and interviews, and other prominently placed art. Radio pages, of course, gave the date plenty of breaks, the other headliners being interviewed over a prominent station, and otherwise publicized. Out-of-town newspapers also ran readers.

The Illinois Central plugged the attraction throughout the territory with window cards in stations, and bus lines were tied up in the same manner. In other towns within a 200-mile radius, double window cards were posted.

Drug stores and dental offices displayed tie in cards, hooking in the "see your dentist twice a year, and see Amos and Andy, etc.," copy, hotel menus carried mention of the date, and windows in well located shops with stills in many others aided in rounding out Deering's smart campaign.

Work For a Quigley Award!

Seymour Morris Sells Schools on "Little Women"

For his campaign on "Little Women" Seymour L. Morris, Schine's Hi-Art, Lockport, N. Y., wrote to the district superintendent of schools and secured a list of teachers whom he circularized advising that the picture had received the sponsorship of all educational groups.

Book marks were distributed in the Public Library, book stores and rural schools. He tied up with Sears-Roebuck for a furniture ad and window display (see photo) and promoted one hundred roses from a local florist; posies were given to first hundred women attending. Jumbo telegrams were posted in Western Union windows and the mailing list was also used to sell the picture. Lithographed posters were used strategically throughout the city.

Work For a Quigley Award!

McManus Ties In Local Election on "Riptide"

John McManus hooked in his "Riptide" campaign to a local election in Kansas City by sending out a radio flash "electing" Norma Shearer on her artistry for the date at the Midland Theatre, theatre and date being mentioned on each flash. "Funny Little Bunnies" on the same bill was also radio-plugged with an unusual dramatization by a local troupe of child actors.

Shearer co-op ads were promoted with hairdressers, photographers and shoe stores and "Riptide" roses were given to the first 500 women attending the opening show, through a florist tieup. Many of the smartest windows in town were secured, tying in the Shearer styles, jewelry, etc.

For "Men in White," McManus wrote to over 1,000 local physicians and was allowed to post notices on boards in all hospitals.

WHAT POSTER ARTISTS ARE DOING

Another new contributor to this column is C. H. Curtis, artist for the Texas Theatre in Austin, Texas. This "extra" of Jimmy Cagney was done in black and white pastel on grey board. Glad to know you like the poster series, "C.H." and hope you continue to contribute to it.

With this "Hoopla" poster we have a new contributor in the person of Miss Mary Garrett, artist for the Yale Theatre in Graesbeck, Texas. The display was 28" x 44", with a white background. The head was done in pencil and the lettering in black.

Frestle F. Chenoweth, display artist for the Robinson Theatres, Albany, Mo., sends along this "Massacre" poster. The background was turkey red with shades of green and blue; the figure, orange and copper color with the lettering in white, light green and lavender.

From E. E. Whitaker, Fox Theatre, Atlanta, Ga., comes this photo showing a shadow box that was placed practically flat on the floor of his lobby. "E.E." tells us just changing the position from upright to flat created plenty of customer-comment.

Above poster is done by Don E. Andorfer, Whitewater, Wis. Male figure: face, orange; shirt, yellow; waistband, gold metallic decoration; trousers, majenta shading into black of background; hat, violet. Female figure: flesh tones, blue; hair, brown to orange; dress, black shading into white, lightly covered with starry metallics. Panel: yellow with red lettering.

Howard Jaudon sends another Andy Beiter display at the Tampa Theatre, Tampa, Fla., in this "Riptide" poster. The two side panels of silver and metallic letters were against a burnished green background. Letters "Riptide" with indirect lighting inside to give glamour to full length Shearer, spreading glow on figure.

• personalities

AL WEST
has acquired the New Theatre, at Philadelphia, Miss.

▽

J. E. AND W. L. SIMPSON have purchased the Normal Theatre, at Memphis, Tenn. They will make extensive improvements.

▽

T. F. THOMPSON has leased the Elks Theatre at Huntsville, Ala.

▽

GLEN DICKINSON
of Kansas City, has opened the Cozy Theatre at Junction City, Kan.

▽

DUBINSKY BROS.
recently opened their new Valley Theatre, neighborhood theatre, at South St. Joseph, Mo.

▽

IRA KELLEY
recently opened the new Iola Theatre, Iola, Kan., and named BOB ROBERTSON as house manager.

▽

MRS. FLORENCE McGOON
has acquired the Elsworth Theatre, Elsworth, Wis., from H. McGOON.

▽

HOFFMAN AND BEAUDRY
have purchased the Star Theatre at Clarkfield, Minn., from A. L. Anderson, and reopened it under the new name of Clarkfield.

▽

ROBERT ANTHONY
formerly at the Liberty in Herkimer, N. Y., has been transferred to the Holland, in Bellefontaine, Ohio, succeeding MITCHELL CONERY, resigned to enter business in the East.

▽

TOM DAVIS
will manage the Mary Anderson in Louisville, Ky., for Ike Libson, who has just taken over the house.

▽

DANNIE BIENMAN
assistant at Warners' Strand, Akron, Ohio, has been promoted to manager, succeeding DICK WRIGHT, who was moved up to district manager of the northeastern section of Ohio.

▽

TIMOTHY JOHNSON
has just added the Butterfly Theatre, Sheboygan, Wis., to his other houses.

▽

IRVING P. ALEXANDER
formerly of Roxbury, Mass., is now located in Winthrop, Mass., where he is managing the Winthrop and State Theatres.

▽

LOU GOLDEN
has left the RKO Franklin in New York City and may be found at the Orpheum in St. Paul, Minn.

▽

HARRY HALL
opens the Erlanger Theatre in Atlanta, Ga.

▽

J. W. BASCOM
is again in possession of the Shastona Theatre in Mount Shasta City, Cal.

A CORRECTION

In last week's issue, commenting editorially on the source of the Memphis Cotton Carnival, credit for originating the idea was given to Howard Waugh. However, the Warner Theatres' Kentucky zone director immediately informed us he had nothing whatsoever to do with the stunt, giving full credit to Herb Jennings, formerly with Loew in Memphis, and now at the helm of the Keith Theatre, White Plains, N. Y.

So we hasten to set down the facts, thanking Howard for putting us straight, and apologizing to Herb for the unwitting error.—MIKE.

GEORGE DARANSOLL has just resigned as manager of the Warner Cameraphone, in Pittsburgh, Pa. His place is temporarily filled by Ed Segal, assistant at Warners Etna.

▽

J. H. ROTH
has been named manager of the newly reopened Retlaw Theatre in Fond du Lac, Wis.

▽

NELSON SWEENEY
is opening the Champion in Champion, Neb.

▽

ERWAY BRINER
will manage the Hippodrome in Circleville, Ohio, house will be renamed the Liberty.

▽

J. MAXWELL JOICE
press agent, has opened free lance publicity offices in New York City.

▽

LEONARD SLEPSKI
is managing the Virginia Park, Detroit, Mich., succeeding FLOYD WADLOW.

▽

H. R. BYERLY
is now at the Garden, Detroit, Mich., succeeding REX MINCKLEY. MICHAEL SCHOENHERR has taken over the Strand house formerly managed by Byerly.

▽

DEL APEL
has taken over the Dix, Detroit, from Porter and Uhl.

CLUB PIN

Managers' Round Table Club, Motion Picture Herald, 1790 Broadway, New York. • Send postpaid the number of pins noted below, for which payment is enclosed at $1.00 each (Actual pin is 3/8 of an inch in diameter.)

MEMBER _____

THEATRE _____

ADDRESS _____

CITY _____

STATE _____

HARRY E. CLIFTON
owner of the Cliftonia, Circleville, Ohio, has leased the Hippodrome in that city, which he will rechristen the Liberty. Erway Briner has been named manager.

▽

JOHN W. HUCKNALL
has opened the Kingsburg Theatre out in Kingsburg, Cal.

▽

TOM DAVIDSON
succeeds EARL PAINE at the Mary Anderson, Louisville, Ky. Paine will manage the Switow, Washington, Ind.

PUT NEW LIFE INTO YOUR OLD CHAIRS

We specialize in

RE-UPHOLSTERING
RE-FINISHING
REMODELING AND REJUVENATING
THEATRE CHAIRS

LARGEST DEALERS IN USED CHAIRS AND REPAIR PARTS.

When your days work is done look over your seats and let us know what they need. No order too small or too big for us. Installations and repair service made all over.

FILL COUPON AND MAIL TODAY

ALLIED SEATING COMPANY
358 W. 44th St. New York City
We are interested in the following:
Recovered spring cushions ..... ☐
New slip covers ..... ☐
Servastone for cracked floors..... ☐
Rebuilt chairs ..... ☐
Upholstery only ..... ☐
Veneer seats only ..... ☐
Complete veneer chairs..... ☐
Theatre..... Capacity.....
City..... State.....

COME ONE, COME ALL—YOU, TOO!

WALTER L. GOLDEN
the exploitation manager of the Riverside Theatre in Jacksonville, Fla., needs no introduction to our readers since he was the April Quigley Award winner. However, Walter, through these portals come the best showmen in the business and we have to formally welcome you in this manner. Again we congratulate you, and don't sit back on your laurels, but keep 'em coming and we'll do the rest.

▽

JOHN A. GOODNO
is the advertising manager of the Palace in Huntington, W. Va. Johnnie has already contributed to our pages, so we don't feel like he's a stranger to our midst. He's got the right spirit, because he says he derives considerable value from our section and is glad to do his share.

▽

ALBERT H. REYNOLDS
from down in Austin, Texas, manages the Queen Theatre. Al is another Interstate Circuit man coming in with us and we've got a warm spot in our heart for this live-wire bunch of boys down Texas way. Remember us to the rest of our good friends and shine up the Waterman and put it to work.

▽

ARTHUR BLOCK
manages the Park Theatre in Philadelphia, Pa., for Warner Brothers. Philly is a fast-stepping show town, as witness some of the excellent exploitation stuff that gets into our section from there. You're probably doing your share of it, Art, so let us in on the secret.

▽

FRANK WEATHERFORD
another Interstate man from Fort Worth, Texas, manages the Worth Theatre there. Frank started in showbusiness between school terms and he's been at it ever since. First job was as cashier at the Majestic, San Antonio, then went to the Majestic in Fort Worth and stayed there until he managed the house. So far as we can gather, Frank has never left the State of Texas and seems to be doing a swell job of it.

▽

RICHARD D. WALSH
is the advertising manager of the New Lafayette in Buffalo, N. Y. He was with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for three years and then went to the Lafayette. Working under George MacKenna, we're going to expect your house to be well represented, so don't disappoint us.

▽

HAIG ASSADOURIAN AND M. J. CRUZ
join the Club together. The former is the managing director and the latter the secretary and advertising manager of the Metropolitan Film Distributing Company with headquarters in Shanghai, China. We have many members in your city who are in constant communication with us and the activities of our foreign membership are always of interest.

▽

HUGH PLATH
manages the Ritz Theatre in Weslaco and the Capitol in Mercedes, Texas, for the Paschall-Texas Theatres Corp. Taking care of two houses should keep you pretty busy, Hugh, but not so busy that you won't be able to find the necessary time to write in and tell us about your recent campaigns.

▽

TOM MALLOY
in Napa, Cal., manages the Fox Theatre. Tom started as doorman at the State in Napa, then assistant at that house and was promoted to his present situation, a fifteen hundred seater, first run. You're the first member from your town to join, Tom, so there's a lot of responsibility on your shoulders so far as keeping Napa before the public eye. Are you on?

ALBERT H. POOS
comes from the same circuit as Roy and is the district manager, making his headquarters at the Lindell Theatre. Al is a long way from the profession he started in; he went to dental college, but grew to like showbusiness, and when he was offered a job ushering, grabbed at it. He has handled houses in Granite City and St. Louis and has contributed already to our pages.

▽

F. J. MILLER
manages the Modjeska Theatre in Augusta, Ga., and we've had a lot of good friends from down there. In fact, past managers of the Modjeska have been members of the Club and active ones, too. So you've got something to live up to, "F. J," and we know if you're anything like your predecessors, we'll be hearing from Augusta real often.

▽

OLIN B. SHAMLIN
is another young-timer whom we bid welcome to. He is the assistant manager of the Texas Theatre, in Memphis, Texas. Olin is the first member to join the Club from this city and that means that all the responsibility of keeping his home-town in print in our pages rests on his shoulders. Can you "take it," Olin?

▽

SAM ROSENBLATT
manages the Bright Spot Theatre, in Rensselaer, N. Y., and with as cheery a name for his house as he has, he ought to be able to tell us what he does and how he does it. Remember, Sam, summer is coming, and if you get to hiking down New York City way, be sure to stop in Club headquarters and say hello. The latch-string is always out and the welcome mat brushed up.

▽

CHARLES T. GALLOWAY
is way out in Cuero, Texas, managing the Rialto Theatre. Well, Charlie, you've got something to live up to all right, because Texas, the whole state, is full of live-wire showmen who contribute regularly to our pages, and unless you want to be put to shame, you'd better get out the old Waterman and let's know what campaigns you've put over lately.

APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Please enroll me in the Club and send me my framed certificate.

Name .....

Position .....

Theatre .....

Address .....

City .....

State .....

(Mail to Managers' Round Table Club, 1790 Broadway, New York)

ROBERT ANDREWS
has already had some of his work make its appearance in our pages, for he is the artist for the Sipe Theatres in Charlotte, N. C., doing the work for the Carolina in High Point, N. C., the Criterion in Spartanburg, S. C., and the Anderson, S. C. That ought to be enough to keep you out of mischief and pretty busy, but not too busy to send your stuff in to us.

▽

NORVAL E. PACKWOOD
manages the Florissant Theatre, in St. Louis, Mo., for the St. Louis Amusement Co. Norval seems to have done things. He studied law at the Chicago School of Law. His father owned a theatre and newspaper and he worked for both of them, getting a pretty good training in each. While Norval enjoys theatre business, we think he has a little leaning toward the Fourth Estate. What say, are we right?

▽

MERRIT PRAGG, JR.
is the assistant manager of the Grand Opera House in Wilmington, Del. We're always happy to welcome youngcomers to the business, because there is a fair way to go places. Remember, your pledge in joining is to let us know what's going on in showbusiness down your way.

▽

WILLIAM E. RIED
who manages the Lafayette Theatre in St. Louis, Mo., is another recruit from the St. Louis Amusement Company to join our ranks. Well, Bill, we have your circuit pretty well lined up and there's lively competition, so get busy and have your little say as to what you are doing to keep the cash register humming.

▽

J. D. JOHNSTONE
assists Barney Murphy at the Danforth Theatre in Toronto, Canada. John shows signs of being an active member since he isn't content to join but sends for his Club pin at the same time and wishes us "more power to our ever increasing elbow." Thanks for the kind words.

▽

FRANK K. SHAFFER
is no stranger to us. He now manages the Warner Virginia Theatre in Harrisonburg, Va., to which position he was recently promoted after having served under our old time member, Frank Boucher. Frank seems to have spent all of his time in Maryland—he was born there and has been at houses in Oakland, Hancock, and Hagerstown before moving on to Harrisonburg.

▽

D. W. ROGERS
is a little closer to Club headquarters. He manages the Coliseum Theatre in Brooklyn, N. Y., and that's near enough for you to drop in and say "hello" and give us the opportunity of knowing him personally. What do you say, "D. W.," the welcome mat is out and we'd like to know you?

▽

ARTHUR ESBERG
manages the Aztec Theatre in San Antonio, Tex., and we've heard plenty from that house before from previous members; so you'll have to keep up the good work of your predecessors, Art, and let's know what you're doing. You doubtless are aware that you and the rest of your brothers on the Interstate Circuit are pretty active contributors. Remember us to them and let's hear from you, too.

▽

SAMUEL SPOSATO
is the assistant manager of the Huntington Theatre in Huntington, N. Y. We're always happy to welcome these young bloods and potential managers. Remember, Sam, your Club dues consist of keeping us informed of theatre activities around your house; so between you and your chief we expect to be a-hearing from you.

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features now in work or completed for release later than the date of this issue are listed under "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the companies. Asterisk indicates running time as made known by West Coast studio before announcement by home office in New York. Variations also may be due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1934, unless otherwise specified.

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
City Park	Sally Blane-Henry B. Walthall-Matty Kemp	May 1	70
Murder on the Campus	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey	Dec. 27,'33	73	Feb. 17
Quitter, The	Emma Dunn-Charley Grapewin-Barbara Weeks - Wm. Bakewell	Feb. 5	65	Mar. 24
Rainbow Over Broadway	Joan Marsh-Frank Albertson	Dec. 1,'33	70
Stolen Sweets	Sally Blane-Charles Starrett	Mar. 15	75

Coming Attractions

Green Eyes	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey	June 15

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Crime of Helen Stanley, The	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey	Apr. 20	58
Fighting Code, The	Buck Jones-Diane Sinclair	Dec. 30,'33	65
Fighting Ranger, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier	Mar. 17	62	Apr. 12
Hell Bent for Love	Tim McCoy-Lillian Bond	May 20	58
It Happened One Night	Clark Gable-Claudette Colbert	Feb. 23	105	Mar. 3
Let's Fall in Love	Ann Sothern-Edmund Lowe	Dec. 26,'33	64	Jan. 13
Line-Up, The	William Gargan-Marian Nixon	Mar. 17	65	May 5
Man Trailer, The	Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker	Mar. 24	58	June 2
Most Precious Thing in Life (See "In the Cutting Room," Apr. 28.)	Jean Arthur - Donald Cook - Richard Cromwell	June 5	70
Ninth Guest, The	Donald Cook-Genevieve Tobin	Jan. 31	69	Mar. 10
No Greater Glory	Frankie Darro - Lois Wilson - George Breakston	Apr. 20	78	Mar. 10
Once to Every Woman	Fay Wray - Walter Connolly - Ralph Bellamy	Jan. 15	70	Mar. 31
One Is Guilty	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey	Mar. 31	64	May 26
Party's Over, The	Stuart Erwin-Ann Sothern	May 15	65	May 19
Shadows of Sing Sing	Bruce Cabot - Mary Brian	Dec. 3,'33	65	Mar. 3
Sisters Under the Skin	Elissa Landi-Joseph Schildkraut-Frank Morgan	Apr. 15	70	Apr. 14
Social Register	Colleen Moore-Alexander Kirkland	Mar. 10	74
Speed Wings	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Feb. 5	60	Apr. 7
Straightaway	Tim McCoy-Sue Carol	Dec. 22,'33	60	Jan. 27
Twentieth Century	John Barrymore - C. Lombard - Walter Connolly	May 11	91	Apr. 21
Voice in the Night	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward	Apr. 6	59
Whirlpool	Jack Holt-Lila Lee-Jean Arthur	Apr. 10	74	Apr. 21

Coming Attractions

Black Moon	Jack Holt-Fay Wray	June 15
Blind Date	Ann Sothern - Paul Kelly-Neil Hamilton
Broadway Bill	Warner Baxter
By Persons Unknown	Ralph Bellamy
Captain Hates the Sea, The	Fred Keating
Criminal Within, The	Richard Cromwell-Arline Judge
Defense Rests, The	Jack Holt-Jean Arthur
Hell Cat, The (See "In the Cutting Room," May 12.)	Robt. Armstrong-Ann Sothern	June 16
Lady Is Willing, The	Leslie Howard-Binnie Barnes		76	Feb. 10
Man's Game, A	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	June 21
One Night of Love	Grace Moore-Tullio Carminati
Song You Gave Me, The	Babe Daniels-Victor Varconi		84	Oct. 21,'33
Special Agent	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey
Whom the Gods Destroy	Walter Connolly-Robert Young-Doris Kenyon	June 28

DU WORLD PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beast of Borneo	John Preston - May Stuart - Borneo Joe	Apr. 14	70
Fantomes	Jean Galland	Feb. 15	59	Apr. 14
Girl in the Case	Jimmy Savo - Eddie Lambert - Dorothy Darling	Mar. 15	60
Hollywood, City of Dreams	Jose Bohr	Mar. 30	68
Romance in Budapest	Franciska Gaal	Apr. 18	93	May 19
Shame of a Nation	Gustaf Diessl	Apr. 10	75	May 5
Tell Tale Heart	Norman Dryden - John Kelt - Yolande Terrell	June 5	55

Coming Attractions

Blue Light	Leni Riefenstahl	Aug. 1	90

FIRST DIVISION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dassen		Dec. 22,'33	36	Dec. 30,'33
Eat 'Em Alive		Nov. 3,'33	56	Nov. 18,'33
Forgotten Men	War Film	Apr. 1	84	May 27,'33
Ha, King of Virtue	Fernandel-Collette Darfeuil	Dec. 20,'33	58
Road to Ruin	Helen Foster-Peul Page	May 15	58	Feb. 24
Throne of the Gods		Dec. 22,'33	55	Dec. 30,'33

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bedside	Warren William	Jan. 27	65	Mar. 17
Big Shakedown, The	Bette Davis - Charles Farrell - Ricardo Cortez	Jan. 6	64	Feb. 17
Convention City	Joan Blondell - Dick Powell - Adolphe Menjou-Mary Astor	Dec. 30,'33	69	Dec. 9,'33
Dark Hazard	Edward G. Robinson	Feb. 3	72	Nov. 25,'33
Fashions of 1934	William Powell-Bette Davis	Feb. 17	78	Jan. 13
Fog Over Frisco	Donald Woods-Bette Davis-Lyle Talbot-Margaret Lindsay	June 2	68
Journal of a Crime	Ruth Chatterton	Mar. 10	65	May 5
Mandalay	Kay Francis-Ricardo Cortez	Feb. 10	65	Feb. 24
Massacre	R. Barthelmess-Ann Dvorak	Jan. 20	69	Jan. 27
Merry Frinks, The	Alina MacMahon	May 26	67
Registered Nurse	Bebe Daniels-Lyle Talbot	Apr. 7	62
Son of a Sailor	Joe E. Brown - Johnny Mack Brown	Dec. 23,'33	73	Dec. 9,'33
Twenty Million Sweethearts (Reviewed under the title "Rhythm in the Air")	Dick Powell - Ginger Rogers - Pat O'Brien	May 26	89	Mar. 24
Very Honorable Guy, A	Joe E. Brown-Alice White	May 5	62	Mar. 24
Wonder Bar	Al Jolson-Dick Powell-Ricardo Cortez-Dolores Del Rio - Kay Francis	Mar. 31	84	Feb. 17

Coming Attractions

British Agent	Leslie Howard - Kay Francis
Circus Clown, The	Joe E. Brown	June 30	*75	May 19
Kansas City Princess	Joan Blondell - Glenda Farrell - Robert Armstrong
Man with Two Faces, The	Edward G. Robinson - Mary Astor-Ricardo Cortez		*75	June 2
Midnight Alibi	Richard Barthelmess - Ann Dvorak - Helen Lowell	July 21	59	May 26
Return of the Terror	Lyle Talbot-Mary Astor	July 7	*65	June 2
Side Streets	Aline MacMahon - Paul Kelly - Ann Dvorak	June 30
(See "A Woman in Her Thirties," "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 17.)

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
All Men Are Enemies	Hugh Williams - Helen Twelvetrees	Apr. 20	79	Apr. 7
As Husbands Go	Warner Baxter-Helen Vinson	Dec. 29,'33	80	Nov. 18,'33
Bottoms Up	"Pat" Paterson-Spencer Tracy-John Boles	Mar. 30	84	Mar. 10
Call It Luck	"Pat" Paterson-Charles Starrett	June 1	*63	June 2
Carolina	Janet Gaynor-Lionel Barrymore-Robert Young-Henrietta Crosman	Feb. 2	82	Feb. 8
Change of Heart	Janet Gaynor-Charles Farrell-Ginger Rogers-James Dunn	May 18	78	May 12
Coming Out Party	Frances Dee-Gene Raymond	Mar. 9	79	Jan. 27
Constant Nymph, The	Victoria Hopper-Brian Aherne	Mar. 23	84	Apr. 14
David Harum	Will Rogers-Evelyn Venable	Mar. 2	83	Mar. 3
Devil Tiger	Kane Richmond-Marion Burns	Feb. 16	60	Feb. 17
Ever Since Eve	George O'Brien-Mary Brian	Feb. 9	72	Apr. 7
Frontier Marshal	George O'Brien-Irene Bentley	Jan. 19	66	Feb. 18
George White's Scandals	Rudy Vallee - George White - Alice Faye-Jimmy Durante	Mar. 16	78	Mar. 17
Heart Song	Lilian Harvey-Charles Boyer	Apr. 27	81	Aug. 12,'33
Hold That Girl	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Feb. 16	65	Mar. 31
I Am Suzanne!	Lilian Harvey-Gene Raymond	Jan. 5	98	Jan. 27
I Believed in You	Victory Jory - John Boles - Rosemary Ames	Feb. 23	68	Feb. 17
I Was a Spy	Herbert Marshall - Madeleine Carroll - Conrad Veidt	Dec. 15,'33	85	Sept. 23,'33
Mr. Skitch	Will Rogers - ZaSu Pitts	Dec. 22,'33	69	Dec. 16,'33
Murder in Trinidad	Heather Angel - Victor Jory - Nigel Bruce	Apr. 6	74	May 28
New I'll Tell	Spencer Tracy-Alice Faye-Helen Twelvetrees	May 11	87	Apr. 28
Orient Express	Heather Angel-Norman Foster	Jan. 12	72	Mar. 10
Sleepers East	Wynne Gibson-Preston Foster	Jan. 26	69
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30,'33.)
Smoky	Victor Jory-Irene Bentley	Dec. 8,'33	69	Dec. 9,'33
Springtime for Henry	Otto Kruger - Nancy Carroll - Heather Angel	May 25	*83	Apr. 28
Stand Up and Cheer	(All Star Musical)	May 4	80	Apr. 28
Such Women Are Dangerous	Warner Baxter-Rosemary Ames	May 4	81
(See "Too Many Women," "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 31.)
Three on a Honeymoon	Sally Eilers-Johnny Mack Brown	Mar. 23	85
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 3.)
Wild Gold	John Boles-Claire Trevor	June 8	*73	May 26

Coming Attractions

Baby Take a Bow	James Dunn - Claire Trevor - Shirley Temple	June 22
(See "In the Cutting Room," May 26.)
Carevan	Charles Boyer-Loretta Young
Cats-Paw, The	Harold Lloyd-Una Merkel
(See "In the Cutting Room," May 12.)
Charlie Chan's Courage	Warner Oland-Drue Leyton	June 29
(See "In the Cutting Room," May 26.)
Grand Canary	Warner Baxter-Madge Evans	July 13
Handy Andy	Will Rogers-Peggy Wood	July 27	81	May 5
Marie Galante	Spencer Tracy-Kettl Gallian
Servants' Entrance	Janet Gaynor-Lew Ayres
She Learned About Sailors	Lew Ayres-Alice Faye	July 6
(See "In the Cutting Room," May 26.)
She Was a Lady	Helen Twelvetrees - Donald Woods - Ralph Morgan	July 20
Wanted	Hugh Williams-Claire Trevor
World Moves On, The	Madeleine Carroll - Franchot Tone

FREULER FILM ASSOCIATES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Lova Past Thirty	Aileen Pringle - Theodore Von Eltz	Jan. 27	73
Marriage on Approval	Donald Dillaway-Barbara Kent-Phyllis Barry	Nov. 22,'33	78	Mar. 17

GAUMONT-BRITISH

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Arson Ring, The	Lesila Banks		68
Baroud (See "Love in Morocco")
Channel Crossing	Constance Cummings - Matheson Lang	June 1	64	Apr. 7
Dick Turpin	Victor McLaglen	June 15	72
Friday the 13th	Jessie Matthews	May 1	73	May 26
Ghost Train, The	Jack Hulbert	Dec. 1,'33	69	Feb. 25,'33
Ghoul, The	Boris Karloff	Feb. 15	75	Oct. 28,'33
It's a Boy	Edward Everett Horton - Leslie Henson		80	Sept. 30,'33
Just Smith	Tom Walls		69	May 5
Love in Morocco	Rex Ingram	Dec. 1,'33	76	Dec. 15,'32
(Reviewed under the title "Baroud")
Murder Party, The	Leslie Banks		62	Mar. 10
Night and Day	Jack Hulbert-Winifred Shotter	Dec. 1,'33	77	June 10,'33
Orders Is Orders	Charlotte Greenwood - James Gleason	Apr. 15	61	Aug. 19,'33
Prince of Wales, The			57
Sleeping Car	Ivor Novello-Madelaina Carroll		83	July 8,'33
There Goes the Bride	Jessie Matthews	Dec. 1,'33	79	Mar. 11,'33
Waltz Time	Evelyn Laye	Mar. 1	76	Aug. 12,'33
Woman in Command, The	Cicely Courtnaidge - Edward Everett Horton		80

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

GOLDSMITH PRODUCTIONS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
I Hate Women	Wallace Ford-June Clyde	Apr. 15	72	Apr. 14
Woman Unafraid	Lucille Gleason - Richard "Skeets" Gallagher	Feb. 15	68

Coming Attractions

Born to Hang	All Star Cast	June 15

INVINCIBLE PICTURES

[Distributed through Chesterfield]

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cross Streets	John Mack Brown - Claire Windsor - Anita Louise - Kenneth Thomson	Jan. 22	67
Fifteen Wives	Conway Tearle-Noel Francis	June 1	68
In Love with Life	Onslow Stevens-Lila Lee-Dickie Moore	Apr. 1	68	May 19
In the Money	"Skeets" Gallagher - Lois Wilson - Warren Hymer	Nov. 7,'33	62	Jan. 13
Twin Husbands	John Miljan - Shirley Grey - Monroe Owsley	Feb. 25	62

Coming Attractions

House of Strangers	Eric Von Stroheim - Leslie Fenton - Wera Engels	June 15

(See "In the Cutting Room," June 2.)

LIBERTY PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheaters	"Bill" Boyd-Dorothy Mackaill-June Collyer	June 1	68	May 19

Coming Attractions

No Ransom	Leila Hyams-Phillips Holmes	Oct. 26	70
Dues to Every Bachelor	Marian Nixon-Neil Hamilton	Dec. 14	72	May 19
School for Girls		Mar. 22,'35
Take the Stand	Jack LaRue-Thelma Todd	Sept. 7	78
Two Heads on a Pillow	Neil Hamilton-Miriam Jordan	Feb. 1,'35
When Strangers Meet	Richard Cromwell-Arline Judge	July 20	74
Without Children		May 10,'35

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Charming Deceiver, The (Reviewed under the title, "Heads We Go")	Constance Cummings	Dec. 8,'33	87	Sept. 16,'33
Morning After, The (Reviewed under the title, "I Spy")	Ben Lyon-Sally Eilers	Jan. 1	63	Oct. 28,'33
Sin of Nora Moran, The	Zita Johann-John Miljan	Dec. 13,'33	65	Dec. 30,'33
Unknown Blonde	Edward Arnold - John Miljan - Barbara Barondess - Dorothy Revier	Apr. 23	67	May 5
You Made Me Love You	Thelma Todd-Stanley Lupino	Nov. 24,'33	74	Oct. 14,'33

Coming Attractions

Scarlet Letter, The	Colleen Moore-Hardie Albright-Henry B. Walthall

(See "In the Cutting Room," June 2.)

MAYFAIR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Badge of Honor	"Buster" Crabbe-Ruth Hall	Apr. 15	68
Fighting Rookie, The	Jack LaRue-Ada Ince	May 15	68
Secret Sinners	Sue Carol-Nick Stuart	Oct. 20,'33	70
What's Your Racket?	Regis Toomey-Noel Francis	Dec. 1,'33	70	Mar. 10

Coming Attractions

Untitled	Buster Crabbe-Gloria Shea	June 15

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cat and the Fiddle, The	Jeanette MacDonald-Ramon Novarro	Feb. 16	78	Feb. 24
Dinner at Eight	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore - Jean Harlow - Madge Evans - Karen Morley - Edmund Lowe - Lee Tracy - Jean Hersholt	Jan. 12	113	June 10,'33
Eskimo	Native Cast	Jan. 19	117	Nov. 18,'33
Fugitive Lovers	Robt. Montgomery-Madge Evans	Jan. 5	78	Dec. 30,'33
Going Hollywood	Marion Davies-Bing Crosby	Dec. 22,'33	79	Dec. 16,'33
Hollywood Party	(All Star Musical)	June 1	70	June 2
Laughing Boy	Ramon Novarre-Lupe Velez	Apr. 13	79
Lazy River	Jean Parker-Robert Young	Mar. 16	77	Mar. 10
Manhattan Melodrama	Clark Gable-Myrna Loy-William Powell	May 4	95	Apr. 28
Men In White	Clark Gable-Myrna Loy	Apr. 6	75	Feb. 17
Mystery of Mr. X	Robert Montgomery - Elizabeth Allan	Feb. 23	85	Mar. 3
Operator Thirteen (See "In the Cutting Room," May 19.)	Marion Davies-Gary Cooper	June 8	86
Queen Christina	Greta Garbo-John Gilbert	Feb. 9	103	Dec. 30,'33
Riptide	Norma Shearer - Robert Montgomery - Herbert Marshall	Mar. 30	90	Mar. 31
Sadie McKee	Joan Crawford-Franchot Tone	May 11	95	May 12
Should Ladies Behave? (Reviewed under the title, "The Vinegar Tree")	Alice Brady-Lionel Barrymore-Conway Tearle	Dec. 1,'33	78	Nov. 11,'33
Show-Off, The	Spencer Tracy-Madge Evans	Mar. 9	80	Mar. 3
Sons of the Desert	Laurel and Hardy	Dec. 29,'33	68	Jan. 20
Tarzan and His Mate	J. Weissmuller-M. O'Sullivan	Apr. 20	116	Apr. 28
Thin Man, The	William Powell-Myrna Loy	May 25	*95	May 19
This Side of Heaven	Lionel Barrymore-Fay Bainter	Feb. 2	76	Jan. 27
Women In His Life, The	Otto Kruger-Isabel Jewell-Ben Lyon	Dec. 8,'33	76	Feb. 3
You Can't Buy Everything	May Robson-Jean Parker	Jan. 26	85	Feb. 10

Coming Attractions

Barretts of Wimpole Street	Norma Shearer-Charles Laughton - Fredric March
Born to Be Kissed	Jean Harlow-Franchot Tone	July 13
Merry Widow, The	Maurice Chevalier - Jeanette MacDonald
Murder in the Private Car	Charles Ruggles-Una Merkel	June 22
Sacred and Profane Love	Joan Crawford-Clark Gable
Stamboul Quest	Myrna Loy-George Brent
Student Tour	Charles Butterworth - Jimmy Durante
Treasure Island	Wallace Beery - Jackie Cooper-Lionel Barrymore-Otto Kruger

(See "In the Cutting Room," May 19.)

Untitled	Constance Bennett - Herbert Marshall - Hugh Williams
Viva Villa!	Wallace Beery-Fay Wray		115	Apr. 7

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beggars In Ermine (See "In the Cutting Room," Apr. 14.)	Lionel Atwill	Apr. 1	70	Feb. 24
Blue Steel	John Wayne	May 10	54	May 12
Broken Dreams	Randolph Scott-Martha Sleeper	Nov. 15,'33	68	Nov. 4,'33
City Limits	Ray Walker-Sally Blane-Frank Craven	May 1	70
He Couldn't Take It	Ray Walker-Virginia Cherrill	Dec. 11,'33	67	Mar. 24
House of Mystery, The	Verna Hillie-Ed Lowry	May 30	61
Loudspeaker, The	Ray Walker-Jacqueline Wells	June 1	67	May 12
Lucky Texan, The	John Wayne	Jan. 22	55	Jan. 27
Man from Utah, The	John Wayne	May 15	55
Manhattan Love Song	Dixie Lee-Robt. Armstrong	May 1	73	Mar. 31
Monte Carlo Nights	Mary Brian-John Darrow	May 20	62
Mystery Liner	Noah Beery - Astrid Allyn - Cornelius Keefe	Mar. 15	62	Mar. 31
Sagebrush Trail	John Wayne	Dec. 15,'33	53	Dec. 23,'33
Sixteen Fathoms Deep	Sally O'Neil-Creighton Chaney	Jan. 1	59	Feb. 10
West of the Divide	John Wayne-Virginia B. Faire	Mar. 1	54	Jan. 20
Woman's Man	John Halliday-Marguerite de la Motte-Wallace Ford	Feb. 15	68	Jan. 27

Coming Attractions

Flirting With Danger	Robt. Armstrong-Wm. Cagney
Girl of the Limberlost
Happy Landings	Ray Walker-Jacqueline Wells
Jane Eyre (See "In the Cutting Room," June 2.)	Colin Clive - Virginia Bruce
King Kelly of the U. S. A.	Guy Roberston
Money Means Nothing	Wallace Ford-Gloria Shea	June 15	70	May 19
Moonstone, The
Randy Rides Alone	John Wayne	June 15	53
Shock	Ralph Forbes-Gwenllian Gill
Star Packer, The	John Wayne-Verna Hillie

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Alice In Wonderland	Charlotte Henry	Dec. 22,'33	75	Dec. 16,'33
All of Me	Fredric March-Miriam Hopkins-George Raft	Jan. 19	71	Jan. 13
Bolero	George Raft-Carole Lombard	Feb. 23	80	Feb. 17
Come On, Marines	Richard Arlen-Ida Lupino	Mar. 23	68	Mar. 10
Death Takes a Holiday (Reviewed under the title, "Strange Holiday")	Fredric March - Evelyn Venable	Mar. 30	78	Jan. 20
Design for Living	Miriam Hopkins-Fredric March-Gary Cooper	Dec. 29,'33	88	Nov. 25,'33
Double Door	Evelyn Venable-Kent Taylor	May 4	75	Apr. 28
Eight Girls In a Boat	Kay Johnson - Dorothy Wilson - Doug. Montgomery	Jan. 5	78	Dec. 30,'33
Four Frightened People	C. Colbert - H. Marshall - Wm. Gargan - M. Boland	Jan. 26	95	Feb. 3
Girl Without a Room	M. Churchill-Charles Farrell	Dec. 8,'33	75	Dec. 9,'33
Good Dame	Sylvia Sidney-Fredric March	Feb. 16	72	Feb. 10
His Double Life	Roland Young-Lillian Gish	Jan. 12	68	Dec. 30,'33
Last Round-Up, The	Randolph Scott-Barbara Fritchie	Jan. 26	65	Jan. 6
Little Miss Marker	Adolphe Menjou-Dorothy Dell-Shirley Temple	June 1	80	May 5
Lone Cowboy	Jackie Cooper	Dec. 1,'33	68	Nov. 25,'33
Many Happy Returns	Guy Lombardo-Burns and Allen	June 8	*65	May 12
Melody In Spring	Charlie Ruggles-Mary Boland-Lanny Ross-Ann Sothern	Apr. 20	76	Mar. 24
Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen	Dorothea Wieck-Baby Le Roy	Jan. 12	68	Dec. 23,'33
Murder at the Vanities	Carl Brisson - Kitty Carlisle - Victor McLaglen-Jack Dakle	May 25	89	May 12
No More Women	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen	Feb. 23	72	Feb. 17
Private Scandal	Mary Brian-Phillips Holmes	May 11	65	May 5
Search for Beauty	Larry ("Buster") Crabbe - Ida Lupino	Feb. 2	75	Jan. 20
She Made Her Bed	Sally Eilers-Richard Arlen	Mar. 9	78	Feb. 24
Six of a Kind	C. Ruggles-M. Boland-W. C. Fields - A. Skipworth - Burns and Allen	Feb. 9	65	Jan. 27
Thirty Day Princess	Sylvia Sidney-Cary Grant	May 18	*73	May 5
Trumpet Blows, The	George Raft - Adolphe Menjou-Frances Drake	Apr. 13	72	Apr. 7
We're Not Dressing	Bing Crosby - Carole Lombard - Ethel Merman-Leon Errol	Apr. 27	74	May 5
Wharf Angel	Victor McLaglen-Dorothy Dell-Preston Foster	Mar. 16	62½	Apr. 28
Witching Hour, The	Judith Allen-Tom Brown	Apr. 27	64	Apr. 28
You're Telling Me	W. C. Fields-Joan Marsh-Larry ("Buster") Crabbe	Apr. 6	70	Mar. 31

Coming Attractions

Cleopatra	Claudette Colbert - Henry Wilcoxon - Warren William
Crime Without Passion	Claude Rains
Fifty-two Weeks for Florette	Lee Tracy-Helen Mack	July 27
Great Flirtation, The (See "In the Cutting Room," May 26.)	Elissa Landi-Adolphe Menjou-David Manners	June 15	*70
Here Comes the Groom	Jack Haley	June 22
It Ain't No Sin	Mae West	June 29
(See "In the Cutting Room," May 12.)
Kiss and Make Up (See "In the Cutting Room," May 12.)	Cary Grant Genevieve Tobin	July 13
Ladies First	Geo. Bancroft-Frances Fuller	July 27
Ladies Should Listen	Cary Grant-Frances Drake
Notorious Sophie Lang	Gertrude Michael - Paul Cavanagh	July 20
Now and Forever	Gary Cooper-Carole Lombard
Old-Fashioned Way, The	W. C. Fields	July 6
Scarlet Empress, The	Marlene Dietrich-John Lodge		*100	Apr. 28
She Loves Me Not	Bing Crosby-Miriam Hopkins
Shoot the Works	Jack Dakie-Ben Bernie-Dorothy Dell	June 29

PINNACLE PRODUCTIONS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Chloe	Olive Borden-Reed Howes	Apr. 1	64
Hired Wife	Greta Nissen-Weldon Heyburn	Mar. 1	65	Mar. 24
Playthings of Desire	Linda Watkins-James Kirkwood	Mar. 15	58

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ferocious Pal, The	Kazan - Ruth Sullivan - Robert Manning	Feb. 2	55
Fighting to Live	Captain-Lady-Marion Shilling-Gaylord Pendleton	May 6	54
Jaws of Justice	Kazan-Teddy and Richard Terry	Dec. 4,'33	58
Russia Today		Nov. 8,'33	42	Oct. 28,'33
Thunder Over Mexico	Native Cast	Nov. 15,'33	70	May 20,'33

Coming Attractions

Little Damozel	Anna Neagle-James Rennie
Peck's Bad Boy	Jackie Cooper

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Crime Doctor	Otto Kruger-Karen Morley	Apr. 27	74	Mar. 17
Finishing School	Ginger Rogers - Frances Dee - Bruce Cabot	May 4	73	Apr. 7
Flying Down to Rio	Dolores Del Rio - Gene Raymond - Raul Roulien	Dec. 29,'33	89	Dec. 16,'33
Hips, Hips, Hooray!	Wheeler and Woolsey	Feb. 2	68	Jan. 27
If I Were Free!	Irene Dunne-Nils Asther-Clive Brook	Dec. 1,'33	66	Dec. 23,'33
Keep 'Em Rolling	Walter Huston-Frances Dee	Mar. 2	69½	Feb. 10
Let's Try Again	Diana Wynyard-Clive Brook	June 8
(See "Sour Grapes," "In the Cutting Room," June 2.)
Little Women	K. Hepburn - Joan Bennett - Frances Dee - Paul Lukas	Nov. 24,'33	115	Nov. 11,'33
Long Lost Father	John Barrymore-Helen Chandler	Jan. 19	63	Feb. 24

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHOWMENS PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beyond Bengal	Harry Schenck	May	2 72	Apr. 28
Big Race, The	Boots Mallory-John Darrow	Dec.	1,'33 71
Moth, The	Sally O'Neil-Paul Page	Jan.	15 63
Public Stenographer	Lola Lane-Wm. Collier, Jr.	Nov.	1,'33 62	Feb. 10
St. Louis Woman	John Mack Brown-Jeanette Loff	Apr.	15 68

Coming Attractions

Golden Head
Souls In Pawn
Special Duty
Unlimited
Within the Rock	Lila Lee - Creighton Chaney

STATE RIGHTS

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ariane	Elizabeth Bergner-Percy Marmont	Blue Ribbon Photoplays	Mar. 6	69	Apr. 7
Big Time or Bust	Regis Toomey-Gloria Shea	Tower	Nov. 10,'33	62	Mar. 10
Criminal at Large	Emlyn Williams-Cathleen Nesbitt	Helber Prods.	Dec. 15,'33	67	Jan. 6
Cougar, the King Killer	Edwin C. Hill - Jay Bruce	Master Art	Nov.	1,'33 60
Death Parade, The	(War Film)	Henry Zapp		77	Feb. 3
Enlighten Thy Daughter	Beth Barton-Miriem Battista	Exploitation Plcts.	Jan. 15	80	Dec. 30,'33
Farewell to Love	Jan Kiepura-Heather Angel	Madison Plcts.	Nov. 24,'33	60	Dec. 2,'33
Film Parade		General Plcts.	Jan. 12	55
Found Alive	Barbara Bedford	Ideal	Feb. 10	58	Feb. 24
Get That Venus	Ernest Truex - Jean Arthur	Regent Plcts.
Gow		Film Exchange	Nov. 29,'33	65	Dec. 9,'33
Hell on Earth	All Star	Aeolian Plcts.	Jan. 27	70	Feb. 10
Her Splendid Folly	Lilian Bond - T. Von Eltz	Progressive	Oct. 7,'33	59	Nov. 4,'33
Hitler's Reign of Terror		Jewel Prods.	Apr. 30	67	May 12
Le Gong (Dance of the Virgins)		Bennett Plcts.		55	Jan. 20
Lost Jungle, The	Clyde Beatty	Mascot	May 1	7 rls.
No Funny Business	Gertrude Lawrence - Laurence Olivier	Ferrone Prods.	Mar. 7	60
Sweden, Land of the Vikings		Associated Cinemas	Jan. 3	70	Jan. 13
Through the Centuries		Beacon Films	Dec. 1,'33	70	Dec. 16,'33
Unknown Soldier Speaks, The		Lincoln Prods.		67	June 2
War's End		Capital		28	May 26
Wine, Women and Song	Lilyan Tashman-Lew Cody	I. E. Chadwick		70	Dec. 23,'33
Woman Condemned	Claudia Dell	Marcy Plcts.	Apr. 4	66

UNITED ARTISTS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Advice to the Lovelorn	Lee Tracy-Sally Blane	Dec.	1,'33 62	Dec. 9,'33
Blood Money	George Bancroft-Frances Dee-Chick Chandler-Judith Anderson	Nov.	17,'33 65	Nov. 18,'33
Born to Be Bad	Loretta Young-Cary Grant	May	18 61
Catherine the Great	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. - Elizabeth Bergner	Apr.	13 93	Feb. 10
Gallant Lady	Ann Harding-Clive Brook	Jan.	5 82	Dec. 9,'33
House of Rothschild, The	George Arliss	Apr.	6 86	Mar. 10
Looking for Trouble	Spencer Tracy - Jack Oakie - Constance Cummings	Mar.	9 77	Feb. 3
Moulin Rouge	Constance Bennett - Franchot Tone	T. Carminati	Jan. 19	70	Dec. 23,'33
Nana	Anna Sten-Lionel Atwill-Phillips Holmes		Mar. 2	88	Jan. 13
Palooka	Jimmy Durante-Stuart Erwin-Lupe Velez		Feb. 16	86	Jan. 27
Private Life of Henry, VIII, The	Charles Laughton		Nov. 3,'33	93	Sept. 23,'33
Roman Scandals	Eddie Cantor - Gloria Stuart - David Manners-Ruth Etting		Dec. 29,'33	91	Dec. 9,'33
Sorrell and Son	H. B. Warner		Apr. 20	85	Jan. 6

Coming Attractions

Affairs of Cellini, The	Fredric March-Constance Bennett-Frank Morgan-Fay Wray		*85	Apr. 21
(Reviewed under the title "The Firebrand")
Barbary Coast	Anna Sten-Gary Cooper
Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back	Ronald Colman-Loretta Young		*80	May 19
Count of Monte Cristo, The	Robert Donat-Elissa Landi
Last Gentleman, The	George Arliss		*80	May 12
Nell Gwynn	Anna Neagle-Cedric Hardwicke
Our Daily Bread	Karen Morley-Tom Keene
(See "In the Cutting Room," May 19.)
Private Life of Don Juan, The	Douglas Fairbanks, Sr.
Transatlantic Showboat (Tent.)	Jack Benny-Nancy Carroll-Gene Raymond
Treasure Hunt, The (Tent.)	Eddie Cantor - Ann Sothern - Ethel Merman
We Live Again	Anna Sten-Fredric March

UNIVERSAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Affairs of a Gentleman	Paul Lukas - Leila Hyams - Patricia Ellis	May	14 66	May 12
All Quiet on the Western Front. (Reissue)	Lew Ayres	Apr.	2 84	Apr. 28,'30
Beloved	John Boles-Gloria Stuart	Jan.	22 82	Dec. 23,'33
Black Cat, The	Boris Karloff-Bela Lugosi-David Manners	May	7 65	May 26
Bombay Mail	Edmund Lowe-Onslow Stevens-Shirley Grey	Jan.	1 68	Jan. 13
By Candlelight	Elissa Landi-Paul Lukas	Dec.	18,'33 70	Dec. 23,'33
Countess of Monte Cristo	Fay Wray-Paul Lukas	Mar.	19 78	Mar. 3
Crosby Case, The	Wynne Gibson-Onslow Stevens-Alan Dinehart	Mar.	5 60	Apr. 7
Cross Country Cruise	Lew Ayres - Alice White - June Knight	Jan.	15 77	Jan. 27
Counsellor-at-Law	John Barrymore-Bebe Daniels	Dec.	25,'33 78	Nov. 25,'33
Glamour	Constance Cummings - Paul Lukas	Apr.	9 74	Apr. 7
Gun Justice	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Dec.	11,'33 60	Mar. 31
Half a Sinner	Joel McCrea-Sally Blane	Apr.	30 ..... 78½	Apr. 28
Honor of the Range	Ken Maynard	Apr.	18 61	May 5
I Like It That Way	Gloria Stuart-Roger Pryor	Feb.	12 67	Apr. 28
I'll Tell the World	Lee Tracy-Gloria Stuart	Apr.	16 76	Apr. 14
Let's Be Ritzy	Lew Ayres-Patricia Ellis	Mar.	28 68	Mar. 17
Let's Talk It Over. (See "Funny Thing Called Love," "In the Cutting Room," May 19.)	Chester Morris - Mae Clarke	June	11
Little Man, What Now?	Margaret Sullavan - Douglass Montgomery	June	4 98	May 26
Love Birds, The	Summerville-Pitts	Mar.	12 62	Apr. 21
Love Captive, The	Nils Asther-Gloria Stuart	May	21 61
Madame Spy	Fay Wray-Nils Asther	Jan.	8 70	Jan. 6
Midnight	O. P. Heggie-Sidney Fox	Jan.	29 80	Mar. 17
Myrt and Marge	Myrtle Dale - Donna Damerell - Ted Healy	Dec.	4,'33 68	Sept. 9,'33
Poor Rich, The	Edna May Oliver-Edward Everett Horton	Feb.	26 65	Jan. 6
Smoking Guns (Reviewed under the title "Doomed to Die.")	Ken Maynard-Gloria Shea	June	11 65	Apr. 21
Uncertain Lady	Genevieve Tobin-Edward Everett Horton	Apr.	23 65
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 17.)
Wheels of Destiny	Ken Maynard	Feb.	19 64	Apr. 14

Coming Attractions

Embarrassing Moments	Chester Morris-Marian Nixon	July	9
I Give My Love	Wynne Gibson-Paul Lukas	June	25 ..... *70	June 2
Imitation of Life	Claudette Colbert
Million Dollar Ransom	Joan Bennett-Edward Arnold
One More River	Diana Wynyard - Colin Clive - Frank Lawton - Mary Astor - Reginald Denny
Romance in the Rain	Roger Pryor - Heather Angel - June Knight-Victor Moore
There's Always Tomorrow (T.)	Frank Morgan-Elizabeth Young-Lois Wilson-Binnie Barnes

WARNER BROS.

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
As the Earth Turns	Jean Muir-Donald Woods	Apr.	14 73	Feb. 10
Disraeli (Reissue)	George Arliss	Dec.	16,'33 88	Dec. 14,'29
Easy to Love	Adolphe Menjou - Mary Astor - Genevieve Tobin	Jan.	13 61	Jan. 20
From Headquarters	Geo. Brent-Margaret Lindsay	Dec.	2,'33 63	Dec. 2,'33
Gambling Lady	Barbara Stanwyck	Mar.	31 66	Mar. 10
Harold Teen	Hal LeRoy - Rochelle Hudson - Patricia Ellis	Apr.	7 66	Feb. 24
Heat Lightning	Aline MacMahon-Preston Foster-Ann Dvorak-Lyle Talbot	Mar.	3 63	Mar. 17
Hi, Nellie!	Paul Muni	Jan.	20 75	Feb. 3
House on 56th Street, The	Kay Francis - Ricardo Cortez - Gene Raymond	Dec.	23,'33 68	Dec. 9,'33
I've Got Your Number	Joan Blondell-Pat O'Brien	Feb.	24 68	Feb. 10
Jimmy the Gent	James Cagney-Bette Davis	Mar.	17 67	Mar. 31
Key, The	Edna Best - William Powell - Colin Clive	June	9 71	May 26
Lady Killer	James Cagney	Dec.	9,'33 76	Dec. 2,'33
Merry Wives of Reno	Glenda Farrell-Margaret Lindsay - Donald Woods	May	12 64	May 19
Modern Hero, A	Richard Barthelmess	Apr.	21 71	Apr. 28
Smarty	Joan Blondell-Warren William	May	19 64	May 26
Upper World	Warren William - Mary Astor - Ginger Rogers	Apr.	28 72	Apr. 7

Coming Attractions

Dames	Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Joan Blondell
Dr. Monica	Kay Francis-Warren William	June	23 65	May 26
Dragon Murder Case, The	Warren William
Friends of Mr. Sweeney	Charlie Ruggles-Ann Dvorak	July	28
(See "In the Cutting Room," May 5.)
He Was Her Man	James Cagney-Joan Blondell	June	16 70	May 26
Here Comes the Navy	James Cagney - Pat O'Brien - Gloria Stuart	July	21
Housewife	George Brent-Bette Davis
Lost Lady, A	Barbara Stanwyck
Madame Du Barry	Dolores Del Rio-Victory Jory	July	14
Personality Kid, The	Pat O'Brien-Glenda Farrell	July	7 ..... *68

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Adieu Les Beaux Jours	Brigitte Helm - Jean Gabin	Ufa	Apr. 21	100	May 19
Autumn Crocus	Ivor Novello-Fay Compton	Associated Talking Pictures			Apr. 14
Cities of the Desert		L. M. B. Films			May 26
End of the World, The	Victor Francen-Colette Darfeuil	Harold Auten	Apr. 12	54	Apr. 28
Girl from Maxim's, The	Frances Day	London Film			Oct. 14,'33
Lash, The	Lyn Harding-John Mills	Radio			May 19
Mam'zelle Nitouche	Jamie Marese-Raimu	Protex	Nov. 18,'33	90	Dec. 2,'33
Passing Shadows	Edmund Gwenn-Barry Mackay	Fox			May 19
Passion of Joan of Arc, The	Maria Falconnetti	Capital	Sept. 7,'33	57	Sept. 18,'33
Petterson and Bendel	Adolf Jahr-Sammy Friedmann	Scandinavian Talking Plcts.	Jan. 1	148	Mar. 10
Pledge, The	Line Noro - Jean Galland	Protex	Mar. 13	96	Mar. 24
Prince of Arcadia	Carl Brisson	Saumont-British		80	Oct. 28,'33
Red Wagon	Charles Bickford - Raquel Torres - Greta Nissen	British Int'l
Saint Anthony of Padua	Carlo Pinzauti	Integrity Film	Feb. 8	90	Feb. 17
This Week of Grace	Gracie Fields	Radio		92	Oct. 28,'33
Turkey Time	Tom Walls - Ralph Lynn	Gaumont-British		71	Mar. 24
Two Orphans, The	Yvette Guilbert - Rosine Derean - Renee Saint-Cyr	Blue Ribbon Photoplays	Feb. 6	92	Feb. 24
Volga Volga	H. A. Shilleton	Kinematrade	Dec. 14,'33	76	Jan. 6
Wandering Jew, The	Jacob Ben-Ami	JAFA	Oct. 20,'33	90	Oct. 28,'33
Wild Boy	Mick the Miller	Gaumont-British			May 19

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1934 unless otherwise stated]

CELEBRITY PROD'TIONS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
COMICOLOR CARTOONS
Jack and the Beanstalk	Dec. 23,'33	8
The Little Red Hen	Feb. 16	7
The Brave Tin Soldier	Apr. 7	7
Puss in Boots	Mey 17	1 rl.
The Queen of Hearts	June 25	1 rl.
Aladdin	July 30	1 rl.

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BROADWAY COMEDIES
Elmer Steps Out — Walter Catlett	Feb. 28	20
Fishing for Trouble	May 4	2 rls.
Get Along Little Hubby	June 15	2 rls.
Hold Your Temper — Leon Errol	Dec. 15,'33	20
Hot Deze — Smith and Dale	Oct. 20,'33	2 rls.
Plumbing for Gold — Sidney and Murray		2 rls.
Radio-dough — Sidney and Murray	Feb. 5	2 rls.
Stable Mates	Apr. 8	2 rls.
When Do We Eat?	Mar. 19	2 rls.
Ten Baby Fingers — Sidney and Murray	Jen. 26	2 rls.
KRAZY KAT KARTOONS
Autograph Hunter	Jan. 5	1 rl.
Bill Poster, The	Nov. 24,'33	1 rl.
Busy Bus	Apr. 20	1 rl.
Bowery Daze	Mar. 30	1 rl.
Cinder Alley	Mar. 9	1 rl.
Curio Shop, The	Dec. 15,'33	7
Krazy Spooks	Oct. 13,'33	1 rl.
Masquerade Party	May 11	1 rl.
Southern Exposure	Feb. 5	1 rl.
Stage Krazy	Nov. 13,'33	1 rl.
Tom Thumb	Feb. 16	1 rl.
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY
2—In the Orient	Oct. 25,'33	10
3—In South America	Dec. 22,'33	1 rl.
4—Among the Nordics	Feb. 20	1 rl.
5—In India	Apr. 20	1 rl.
6—In Ethiopia		1 rl.
MARCH OF THE YEARS
No. 2—	Oct. 6,'33	1 rl.
No. 3—Famous Crippen Casa	Oct. 20,'33	10
No. 4—Commander Perry Opens Japan	Nov. 3,'33	11
No. 5—	Jan. 24	1 rl.
No. 6—	Jan. 24	1 rl.
No. 7—	Feb. 24	1 rl.
No. 8—	Mar. 23	1 rl.
No. 9—	Mey 15	1 rl.
MICKEY McGUIRE COMEDIES
1—Mickay's Touchdown	Oct. 14,'33	18
2—Mickey's Tent Show	Oct. 27,'33	18
3—Mickey's Covered Wagon	Nov. 30,'33	18
4—Mickey's Minstrels	Jan. 11	18
5—Mickey's Rescue	Mar. 23	2 rls.
6—Mickey's Medicine Man	May 18	2 rls.
MINUTE MYSTERIES
No. 1—Death Attends a Party	Oct. 6,'33	9
No. 2—Fast Fangs	Oct. 13,'33	1 rl.
No. 3—The Clown Dies	Dec. 14,'33	1 rl.
No. 4—When the Lights Went Out	Dec. 15,'33	1 rl.
No. 5—The Missing Clue	Jen. 22	1 rl.
No. 6—Hidden Evidence
MUSICALS
No. 1—Roamin' Through the Roses — Art Jarrett	Nov. 16,'33	2 rls.
No. 2—Um-Pa — Jack Ostermen	Nov. 24,'33	2 rls.
No. 3—School for Romance — Lou Holtz	Jan. 31	2 rls.
No. 4—Love Detective — Frank Albertson	Feb. 28	2 rls.
No. 5—Women Haters	May 5	2 rls.
No. 6—Susie's Affair	June 1	2 rls.
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
Auto Show	Dec. 8,'33	1 rl.
Aw, Nurse	Mar. 9	7
Hollywood Babes	Nov. 10,'33	1 rl.
Sandmen Tales	Oct. 6,'33	1 rl.
Scrappy's Art Gallery	Jan. 12	1 rl.
Scrappy's Dog Show	May 18	1 rl.
Scrappy's Television	Jan. 29	1 rl.
Scrappy's Theme Song	June 15	1 rl.
Scrappy's Toy Shop	Apr. 13	1 rl.
SCREEN SNAPSHOTS
No. 1	Nov. 30,'33	1 rl.
No. 2	Dec. 14,'33	1 rl.
No. 3	Jan. 18	1 rl.
No. 4	Feb. 7	1 rl.
No. 5	Feb. 18	1 rl.
No. 6	Mar. 16	1 rl.
No. 7	Apr. 24	1 rl.
No. 8	May 18	1 rl.
No. 9	June 8	1 rl.
WORLD OF SPORT
Cyclomenie	May 30	1 rl.
Dumb Champe	Apr. 20	1 rl.
Harnessed Lightning	May 17	1 rl.
It's Sport In Any Language	Dec. 30,'33	1 rl.
Wa Want a Touchdown	Oct. 23,'33	1 rl.
What Price Speed	Dec. 2,'33	1 rl.
What the Scotch Storted	Dec. 8,'33	1 rl.
Winter Thrills	Feb. 4	1 rl.

DU WORLD PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
SEMI-FEATURES AND SHORTS
Brida of Samoa	Mar. 1	26
Dawn ta Dawn — Julie Hayden-O. M. Ness	Dec. 25,'33	35
Frenkia and Johnny — Charles Laughton	Apr. 15	8
Let In Sodom — Fredarle Haak	Dec. 25,'33	26
Ne Women's Land — (Travelogua)	Apr. 15	34

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Dete	Min.
ANDY CLYDE COMEDIES
An Old Gypsy Custom	Jen. 12	18
Frozen Assets	Nov. 17,'33	19
Helf Beked Reletions	June 1	2 rls.
Hello Prosperity	Apr. 20	18
His Week Moment	Oct. 13,'33	19
Super Snooper, The	Feb. 9	20
BABY BURLESKS
Gimme My Quarterbeck	Jen. 26	9
Kid 'N Africa	Oct. 6,'33	8
BATTLE FOR LIFE
Born to Die	Mar. 16	8
City of Wax	Feb. 9	9
Nature's Gengsters	June 15	1 rl.
Spotted Wings	June 8	1 rl.
CORONET COMEDIES
Git Along Little Wife	Nov. 3,'33	19
Good Bad Man, The	Dec. 8,'33	22
Hotel Anchovy	Apr. 13	18
Inventors, The	Feb. 2	20
North of Zero	Jen. 19	17
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Meneged Money	Feb. 23	20
Merrily Yours	Oct. 8,'33	21
Pardon My Pups	Jan. 26	19
Whet's to Do	Nov. 24,'33	18
MERMAID COMEDIES (Harry Langdon)
Leave It to Ded	Oct. 20,'33	19
No Sleep on the Deep	Apr. 8	21
Pop's Pal	Dec. 29,'33	18
Trimmed in Furs	Jen. 5	18
MORAN AND MACK COMEDIES
Farmers' Fatal Folly	Sept. 15,'33	19
Freeze-Out, The	Dec. 22,'33	19
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Elopement	June 29	2 rls.
Going Spenish	Mar. 2	21
Million Dollar Melody	Oct. 27,'33	21
Poppin' the Cork	Dec. 15,'33	25
ROMANTIC JOURNEYS
Across the Sea	Oct. 20,'33	11
Canyon of Romance	Dec. 8,'33	10
Lost Race, The	Apr. 13	8
Mediterrenean Blues	Feb. 23	9
Peradise of the Pacific	June 1	1 rl.
SONG HIT STORIES
Doctor, The	Feb. 23	8
Last Dogie, The	Nov. 17,'33	11
Manhattan Lullaby — Helen Morgan	Nov. 24,'33	9
Trev'lling the Road — Alexander Gray	Feb. 9	9
STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
Allez Oop	May 25	21
Expectant Father, The	Feb. 18	21
Gold Ghost, The	Mar. 16	21
Love and Bebies	June 29	2 rls.
Mr. Adam	Nov. 17,'33	19
TERRY-TOONS
Beanstalk Jack	Oct. 20,'33	6
Busted Blossoms	Aug. 10	1 rl.
Gypsy Fiddler, A	Oct. 6,'33	6
Holland Days	Jan. 12	6
In Venice	Dec. 15,'33	6
Irish Sweepstakes	July 27	1 rl.
Joe's Lunchwagon	Apr. 8	6
Just a Clown	Apr. 20	6
King's Daughter, The	May 4	6
Last Straw, The	Feb. 23	8
Lion's Friend, The	May 18	6
Little Boy Blue	Nov. 30,'33	6
Mad House, A	Mar. 23	6
My Lady's Garden	July 13	1 rl.
Owl and tha Pussycat, The	Mar. 9	6
Pendora	June 1	6
Rip Van Winkle	Feb. 9	6
Robinson Crusoe	Nov. 17,'33	6
See the World	June 29	1 rl.
Shipwrecked Brethers	Nov. 17,'33	8
Slow But Sure	June 15	6
Sunny South, The	Dec. 29,'33	8
Three Beers, The	Jan. 26	8
Village Blacksmith, The	Nov. 6,'33	6
TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
Big Meow, The	Mar. 9	19
Divorce Sweets	Nov. 30,'33	18
Good Scout, A	Apr. 27	18
TREASURE CHEST
Air Maniacs	Dec. 15,'33	11
Bosom Friends	Mar. 30	8
Day Dreams	Dec. 8,'33	11
Hula Honeymoon	Mar. 2	7
Pagliacci	Apr. 6	11
Shorts	Nov. 10,'33	10
Song of Vienna	Nov. 3,'33	10
What Does 1934 Hold?	Dec. 22,'33	11

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Scouring the Seven Seas	Oct. 20,'33	9
Filming the Feshions	Nov. 10,'33	9
Conquest of the Air	Nov. 30,'33	9
Answering the Riot Call	Dec. 22,'33	9
Outdoing the Doredevils	Mar. 2	9
With the Navies of the World	Mar. 23	9
On Western Trails	Apr. 13	9
Chasing the Champions	May 18	9
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
Playground of Pan	Oct. 13,'33	9
Elephant Trails	Oct. 27,'33	10
The Island of Malta	Nov. 3,'33	10
A Day In Tokyo	Nov. 10,'33	9
Byways in Bangkok	Nov. 24,'33	9
Around the Acropolis	Nov. 30,'34	9
Gem of the Sea	Dec. 15,'33	9
Rural England	Dec. 22,'33	9
London Medley	Dec. 29,'33	9
Flemish Folk	Jan. 5	9
Tunisian Travels	Jan. 19	9
Sentinels of the Sea	Jan. 26	9
Roaming the Netherlands	Feb. 9	9
Under Moroccan Skies	Feb. 16	9
A Journey in Flanders	Feb. 23	9
Fortunate Isles	Apr. 13	9
In Java See	Apr. 27	9
The Land of Bengal	May 11	9
The Rock of Gibraltar	May 25	9
City of the Golden Gate	June 8	9
A Journey to Guatemale	June 22	9
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
Twin Dukes and a Duchess	Oct. 6,'33	10
The Great Train Robbery	Oct. 27,'33	10
A Moment of Madness	Nov. 4,'33	10
Helen of the Chorus	Dec. 10,'33	10
The Extravagent Wife	Jen. 5	10
The Girl from the Country	Jen. 19	10
Emma's Dilemma	Feb. 2	10
Love's Old Sweet Song	Feb. 16	10
The Heart of Valeska	Mer. 9	10

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
HUMAN SIDE OF THE NEWS (EDWIN C. HILL)	(Veriable)
1. Roosevelt Family in America		11
2. A Visit to West Point		10
3. Carrie Jacobs Bond		9
MELODY MAKERS
Sammy Fain — With Eton Boys, N. Brokenshire and Evelyn Hoey		7
Cliff Friend — With Peggy Heely, Jack Fulton and Pickens Sisters		9
Benny Devis — With Roy Atwell, Charles Carlile, Martha Ray and Jackie Green		8
Gus Edwards — With Ralph Kirbery, Four Minute Men and John S. Young		9
Stephen Foster—With John Hundley, Nancy McCord and Kelvin Keech		10
Fields and McHugh—With Jack Osterman and Pickens Sisters		9
Carrie Jacobs Bond — With Edwin C. Hill, Ralph Kirbery and Lew White		9
ORGANLOGUES
Songs of the Hills — Radio Rubes		8
Sally — Singin' Sam-Don Wallace		7
Night of Romance — Donald Novis-Ann Leaf-John Young		7
Tongue Twisters — Irving Kaufman-Lew White		7
Ship of Dreams — Ralph Kirbery-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		7
Melody on Parade — Irving Kaufmen-Lew White		7
Home Again — Nick Lucas-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		8
Tintypes — Irving Kaufman-Lew White		6
Oriental Phentasy — Charles Carille-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		8
Organ Festival — Lew White-Ann Leaf-Dick Liebert-Jesse Crawford		9
Melody Tour — Sylvia Froos-Dick Liebert-John S. Young		8
Organlogue-ing the Hits — Nick Lucas-Law White		8
Melodies of Love — Carille-Rawlinson-White		8
Songs of the Range — Art Dickinson-Lew White		8
Rhapsody in Black — Gary-Rawlinson-White		1 rl.
Wine, Woman and Song — Tommy McLaughlin-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		1 rl.
Eili Eili — Charles Carille-Lew White		1 rl.
PET SUPERSTITIONS
1. Spilled Salt — Phyllis Berry-Geo. Lewis-J. Carrol Naish		10
SPECIAL
She Whoops to Conquer — Zasu Pitts-Billy Bevan-Daphne Pollard		2 rls.

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR COMEDIES
Careteker's Daughter	Mar. 10	10
Mixed Nuts	Feb. 17	19
Movie Daza		19
Mrs. Barnacle Bill	Apr. 21	20
Next Week-End	Feb. 24	16
Twin Screws	Dec. 23,'33	19
CHARLEY CHASE
Another Wild Idea	June 16	19
Crecked Iceman	Jen. 27	19
Four Parts	Mar. 17	19
I'll Take Vanilla	May 6	19
It Happened One Day	July 7	19
Lunchaon at Twelve	Dec. 9,'33	21
Midsummer Mush	Oct. 21,'33	21
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
British Guiana	Dec. 18,'33	9
Colorful Ports of Cell	Jan. 13	9
Dey In Venice	Dec. 2,'33	9
Egypt, Kingdom af the Nile	Mey 19	10
Glimpses of Erin		1 rl.
Italy, Land of Inspiration	Feb. 24	9
Scotland, the Bonnie	Nov. 25,'33	9
Temple of Love, The		10
Tibet, Land of Isolation	Mar. 17	9
GOOFY MOVIES
No. 1	Dec. 23,'33	9
No. 2	Feb. 24	10
No. 3	Mar. 24	10
No. 4	May 5	9
No. 5
LAUREL & HARDY
Busy Bodies	Oct. 7,'33	20
Dirty Work	Nov. 25,'33	20
Oliver the Eighth	Jan. 13	28
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Apples to You	Apr. 7	20
Benny from Panema	May 26	19
Duke for a Day, A	May 12	20
Music in Your Hair	June 2	17
Roamin' Vandels	Apr. 28	19
MUSICAL REVUES
Big Idea, The	May 12	20
Jail Birds of Paradise (Color)	Mar. 10	18
Plane Nuts	Oct. 14,'33	20
Roast Beef and Movies	Dec. 2,'33	17
What Price Jazz?		18
ODDITIES
Attention, Suekers!	June 9	10
Fine Feathers (Color)	Nov. 18,'33	9
Flying Hunters	May 12	7
Happy Warriors	Oct. 21,'33	9
Little Feller	May 26	8
Nipuns	Apr. 28	9
Old Shep	Juna 23	9
Pichianni Troupa		1 rl.
Pro Footbell		1 rl.
Roping Wild Bears	Fab. 10	9
Trick Golf	Mar. 24	8
Vital Victuals (Color)	Mar. 3	10
OUR GANG
First Reundup, The	May 5	19
For Pete's Saka	Apr. 14	18
Hi, Neighbor	Mer. 3	18
Honky-Donkey	June 2	17
Wild Posas	Oct. 28,'33	19
TODD-KELLY
Air Fright	Dec. 23,'33	19
Babes in tha Goods	Feb. 10	19
Backs to Nature	Nov. 14,'33	20
Maid in Hollywood	Mey 19	20
Soup and Fish	Mer. 31	18
WILLIE WHOPPER
Davy Jones' Locker	Jan. 13	7
Heli's Fira (Color)	Feb. 17	7
Insultin' the Sultan	Apr. 14	8
Play Ball	Oct. 28,'33	7
Rasslin' Round
Reducing Crema	May 19	8
Robin Hood, Jr. (Color)	Mar. 10	8
Spite Flight	Dec. 2,'33	8
Stretos-Fear	Dec. 16,'33	8

MONOGRAM

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
PORT O' CALL SERIES
1. The Seventh Wonder	Dec. 1,'33	10
2. City of the Sun	Jen. 1	10
3. Love's Memorial	Feb. 1	10
4. Children af the Nile	Mar. 1	10
5. The Peacock Throne	Apr. 1	10
6. Jungle Bound	May 1	10
7. The Last Resort	June 1	10
8. Mother Ganges	July 1	10
9. The First Paradise	Aug. 1	10
10. Drevidian Glamor	Sept. 1	10
11. Adventure Isla	Oct. 1	10
12. Queen of the Indias	Nov. 1	10
13. A Mediterrenean Mecca	Dec. 1	10

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BETTY BOOP CARTOONS
Betty Boop's Hellowe'en Perty	Nov. 3,'33	7
Betty Boop's Life Guard	July 13	1 rl.
Betty Boop's Risa to Fame	May 18	7
Betty Boop's Trial	June 15	7
Betty In Blunderland	Mar. 2	7
Dancing on the Moon	July 13	1 rl.
Hal Hal Hal	Mar. 2	7
Morning, Noon and Night — Rubinoff	Oct. 6,'33	7
Parade of Wooden Soldiers	Dec. 1,'33	9
Red Hot Mamma	Feb. 2	8
Sha Wronged Him Right	Jen. 5	7
HEADLINERS
All an Deck	Mar. 30	9
Broadway Knights — Yacht Club Boys	Feb. 23	10
Little Breadcast, The — Donald Novis - Arthur Tracy - Mills Bros. - Vincent Lopez-Roy Atwell	Oct. 27,'33	11
Little Jack Little Revua — Little Jack Little and Orchestra - Gypsy Nina - Do Re Mi Trio	May 11	10
Mr. W's Little Game — Alexander Woolcott	June 8	10
New Deal Rhythm — "Buddy" Rogers	Apr. 13	8
Radio Roundup, A — Molasses 'n' January - Mary Small - The Poet Prince-Vaughn De Leath-Three X Sisters	Nov. 24,'33	11
Station T.O.T.	Jan. 19	10
Underneath the Broadway Meon — Isham Jones and Orchestra-Eton Boys	June 29	1 rl.
Where's That Tiger? — Borrah Minnevitch	Dec. 22,'33	10
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE
No. 3	Oct. 13,'33	11
No. 4	Nov. 10,'33	11
No. 5	Dec. 8,'33	11
No. 6	Jan. 5	11
No. 7	Feb. 2	11
No. 8	Mar. 2	11
No. 9	Mar. 30	11
No. 10	Apr. 27	11
No. 11	May 25	1 rl.
No. 12	Juna 22	1 rl.
No. 13	July 20	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL
No. 3—Dr. Roy Chapmon Andrews — September Morn—Harry Armstrong	Oct. 6,'33	10
No. 4—Let's Go Crebbing — Manhattan Nocturne — Irvin S. Cobb	Nov. 3,'33	11
No. 5 — The Old Mill — Jack Frost, Master Decoretor—Song Makers of the Nation	Dec. 1,'33	11
No. 8 — Southward Ho — Trees — Gilda Grey	Dec. 29,'33	10
No. 7—Quaer Fish—Liquid Air—Lenny Ross	Jan. 28	10
No. 8—Sponging on Old Nassau — Whet Next, Ladies?—Song Mekers of the Nation, Gordon and Revel	Feb. 23	10
No. 9—Song Makers of the Nation, Lewis and Sherman — Winter — Meshle, Child af a Chimpanzee	Mer. 23	10
No. 10 — Here's How — A House for a Song — Song Mekers of the Nation, Con Conrad	Apr. 20	10
No. 11—More or Less—The Eyes of Science — Song Makers of the Nation, Ralph Reinger	May 18	1 rl.
No. 12—	June 15	1 rl.
No. 13—	July 13	1 rl.

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
POPEYE THE SAILOR
Can You Take It	Apr. 27	7
I Eats My Spinach	Nov. 17,'33	7
Let's You and Him Fight	Feb. 16	7
Man on the Flying Trapoze, The	Mar. 30	7
Seasin's Greetinks	Dec. 8,'33	6
Shoein' Hosses	June 1	1 rl.
Sock-a-Bye Baby	Jan. 19	7
Strong to the Finich	June 29	1 rl.
Wild Elephinks	Dec. 29,'33	7
SCREEN SONGS
I Like Mountain Music (Eton Boys)	Nov. 10,'33	18
Keeps Rainin' All the Time (Gertrude Niesen)	Jan. 12	10
Lazybones (Borrah Minnevitch)	Apr. 13	7
Let's All Sing Like the Birdies Sing	Feb. 9	8
Sing, Babies, Sing (Baby Rose Marie)	Dec. 15,'33	9
This Little Piggie Went to Market	May 25	1 rl.
Singin' Sam
Tune Up and Sing (Lanny Ross)	Mar. 9	1 rl.
SCREEN SOUVENIRS
No. 4	Nov. 17,'33	10
No. 5	Dec. 15,'33	10
No. 8	Jan. 12	10
No. 7	Feb. 9	10
No. 8	Mar. 9	10
No. 9	Apr. 6	10
No. 10	May 4	10
No. 11	June 1	10
No. 12	June 29	1 rl.
No. 13	July 27	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Two Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS
No. 5—Kennel Kings	Nov. 24,'33	10
No. 6—Around the Calendar	Dec. 22,'33	10
No. 7—Jumping Giants	Jan. 26	11
No. 8—Horsepower	Feb. 16	11
No. 9—Flying Bodies	Mar. 23	10
No. 10—Animal Antics	Apr. 13	10
No. 11—Marine Marvels	May 11	1 rl.
No. 12—Lucky Anglers	June 8	1 rl.
No. 13—Good Shape	July 6	10
TWO-REEL COMEDIES
Circus Hoodoo (Harry Langdon)	Feb. 16	21
Cold Turkey (Joseph Cawthorn)	Dec. 1,'33	19
Gold Nuggets (Walter Catlett)	Feb. 2	18
Just an Echo (Bing Crosby)	Jan. 19	20
Making the Reunds (Pallette-Catlett)	July 6	2 rls.
New Dealsrs, The (Pallette-Catlett)	Apr. 6	20
News Hounds (Pallette-Catlett)	June 1	2 rls.
No More Bridge (Leon Errol)	Mar. 16	21
Oil's Well (Chic Sale)	May 4	2 rls.
Old Bugler, The (Chis Sale)	Jan. 5	20
Pattling Proferrod (Bing Crosby)	Apr. 27	19
Please (Bing Crosby)	Dec. 15,'33	22
Reaming Remee, A (Harry Langden)	Dec. 29,'33	21
Three Little Swigs (Leon Errol)	Nov. 10,'33	21
Up and Down (Franklin Pangborn)	Mar. 2	21

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
City of Contrasts	Nov. 22,'33	19
Kick-Off, The	Oct. 11,'33	27
Newslaugh—No. 2	Dec. 20,'33	9
Wonders of the Tropics	Dec. 13,'33	32
CONFLICTS OF NATURE SERIES
Circle of Life of the Ant Lion, The	Feb. 14	7
Farmer's Friend, The	Oct. 4,'33	7
From Cocoon to Butterfly	Jan. 10	7
Her Majesty, the Queen Bee	Dec. 1,'33	6
Insect Clowns	Mar. 4	7
Queen of the Underworld	Dec. 8,'33	7

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMOS 'N' ANDY CARTOONS
Lion Tamer, The	Feb. 2	9
Rassilin' Match, The	Jan. 5	11
BLONDE and RED HEAD SERIES
Bridal Ball	Feb. 9	21
Rough Necking	Apr. 27	20
Undie World, The	June 15	21
Walking Back Home	Dec. 8,'33	19
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SERIES (Relssues)
The Count	Nov. 17,'33	21
The Immigrant	Jan. 19	21
One A.M.	Mar. 23	18
Behind the Sareen	May 25	2 rls.
CLARK & McCULLOUGH SERIES
Bedlam of Beards	Apr. 13	18
Hey Nanny, Nanny	Jan. 12	21
In the Devil Dog House	Feb. 2	21
Love and Hisses	June 8	17½
Oder in the Court	Aug. 2	21½
Snug in a Jug	Nov. 2,'33	20
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTOONS
Creen Crazy	Dec. 29,'33	7
Cubby's Stratosphere Flight	Apr. 20	7
Galloping Fanny	Dec. 1,'33	6½
Gay Gauche, The	Nov. 3,'33	7½
Good Knight	Feb. 23	7½
Hew's Crops	Mar. 23	7½
Mild Cargo	May 18	7½
Sinister Stuff	Jan. 26	6½
GRIBON-KENNEDY-STANTON COMEDIES
Cracked Shots	May 4	19½
Strictly Fresh Yeggs	Apr. 8	21½
Suits to Nuts	Dec. 1,'33	19
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 1—Preferrod List	Oct. 8,'33	20
No. 2—Air Tonic	Dec. 22,'33	21
No. 3—On Approval	Jan. 5	17
No. 4—Autobuyography	Mar. 16	20
No. 5—The Old Maid's Mistake	May 11	20
No. 6—Well Cured Ham	June 23	20
MR. AVERAGE MAN COMEDIES (EDGAR KENNEDY)
Grin and Bear It	Dec. 29,'33	20½
In-Laws Are Out	June 29	19
Love on a Ladder	Mar. 2	18
What Fur?	Nov. 3,'33	21
Wrong Direction	May 18	21
MUSICALS
Bubbling Over (Ethel Waters)	Jan. 5	20
Everybody Likes Music	Mar. 9	19½
Henry the Ape (Bert Lahr)	Jan. 26	2 rls.
Hizzoner (Bert Lahr)	Nov. 17,'33	21½
Knife of the Party (Lillian Miles)	Feb. 16	20
No More West (Bert Lahr)	Mar. 30	19
Sea Sore	Apr. 20	2 rls.
Strange Case of Hennossy (Cliff Edwards)	Dec. 8,'33	21½
MUSICOMEDIES SERIES (Ruth Etting)
California Weather	Dec. 15,'33	20½
Derby Decade	July 12	22
Torch Tango	Feb. 23	21
MY BRIDGE EXPERIENCES (Ely Culbertson)
What Not to Do In Bridge	Oct. 13,'33	15
Trans-Atlantic Bridge Tricks	Oct. 27,'33	21
Three Knaves and a Queen	Nov. 10,'33	20
PATHE NEWS
Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEW
Released once a month
SOGLDW'S "THE KING" CARTOONS
Art for Art's Sake	May 11	6
Cactus King	June 8	1 rl.
Jest of Honor	Jan. 19	7
Jolly Good Felons	Feb. 16	7
On the Pan	Nov. 24,'33	7
Pals	Dec. 22,'33	7½
Royal Good Time, A	Apr. 13	7
Sultan Pepper	Mar. 16	7
SPECIALS
Grand National Irish Sweepstake Race, 1934	Apr. 2	10
So This Is Harris	Jan. 19	28
VAGABOND ADVENTURE SERIES
Cuba	Nov. 10,'33	10½
Gibraltar, Guardian of the Mediterranean	May 4	8
Holy Land	Feb. 16	10
Madeira, Land of Wine	Mar. 30	9
Moorish Spain	Jan. 12	10

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
15. Mickey's Gala Premiere	June 30,'33	7
16. Puppy Love	Aug. 14,'33	8
17. Steeple Chase	Sept. 1,'33	7
18. The Pet Shop	Sept. 22,'33	8
(NEW SERIES)
1. Giant Land	Nov. 15,'33	7
2. Mickey Shanghaled	Jan. 15	7
3. Camping Out	Feb. 16	7
4. Playful Pluto	Mar. 16	7
5. Gulliver Mickey	May 19	9
6. Mickey's Steamroller		1 rl.
SILLY SYMPHONIES
12. Lullaby Land	Aug. 18,'33	7
13. Pied Piper	Oct. 6,'33	7
(NEW SERIES)
1. The Night Before Christmas	Dec. 15,'33	8
2. The China Shop	Jan. 15	8
3. Grasshopper and the Ant, The	Feb. 23	8
4. Funny Little Bunnies	Mar. 30	9
5. The Big Bad Wolf	Apr. 20	9
6. The Wise Little Hen		1 rl.

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
GOOFYTONE NEWS
No. 3	Dec. 25,'33	10
No. 4	Jan. 29	9
No. 5	Mar. 5	8
No. 6	Mar. 19	9
No. 7	Apr. 30	9
OSWALD CARTOONS
Annie Moved Away	May 28	7
Candy House, The	Jan. 15	9
Chicken Reel	Jan. 1	8½
County Fair	Feb. 5	7
Gingerbread Boy	Apr. 16	6
Goldilocks and the Three Bears	May 14	8
In the Zoo	Nov. 6,'33	7
Kings Up	Mar. 12	7
Merry Old Soul	Nov. 27,'33	8
Parking Space	Dec. 18,'33	7
Toy Shoppe, The	Feb. 19	7
Wax Works, The	July 23	1 rl.
William Tell	July 7	1 rl.
Wolf, Wolf	Apr. 2	8
RADIO STAR REELS
Boswell Sisters, The—No. 4 (Nick Kenny)	Dec. 6,'33	21
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS SERIES
No. 34—Novelty	Nov. 20,'33	9
No. 35—Novelty	Dec. 18,'33	10
No. 36—Novelty	Jan. 22	11
No. 37—Novelty	Feb. 28	10
No. 38—Novelty	Apr. 23	9
No. 39—Novelty	May 21	10
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES
Beau Bashful (Herbert Corthell)	June 8	2 rls.
Big Casino, The (Mentone No. 4)	Nov. 29,'33	21
Born April First (Sterling Holloway)	Mar. 14	21
Broadway Varieties (Mentone No. 7)	Feb. 14	20
Ceiling Whacks (Henry Armetta)	Mar. 28	20
Ed Sullivan's Headliners (Mentone No. 10)	May 2	20
Full Coverage (Henry Armetta)	Feb. 28	21
Good Time Henry (Henry Armetta)	May 3	20
Heartburn (Sterling Holloway)	Apr. 11	20
Meeting Mazie (Sterling Holloway)	Dec. 20,'33	20
Mountain Music (Louise Fazenda)	Jan. 3	18
Not the Marrying Kind (Sterling Holloway)	Nov. 22,'33	20
Out of Gas (Louise Fazenda)	Nov. 8,'33	21
Palsie Walsie (Henry Armetta)	Jan. 31	20
Pest, The (Mentone No. 9)	Apr. 18	19
Pie for Two (James Gleason)	Dec. 13,'33	21
Pleasing Grandpa (Sterling Holloway)	June 20	20
Running Backward (Eddie Nugent-Grady Sutton)	July 3	2 rls.
Soup for Nuts (Mentone No. 11)	June 27	2 rls.
Supper at Six (Mentone No. 5)	Dec. 27,'33	18
There Ain't No Justice (Corthell and Hurst)	May 23	2 rls.
Trifle Backward, A (Vince Barnett)	Jan. 17	19½
Vaudeville Days (Mentone No. 8)	Mar. 21	21
Vaudeville on Parade (Mentone No. 6)	Jan. 24	20
Where's Elmer? (Vince Barnett)	Feb. 7	20

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V COMEDIES
No. 4—Turkey In the Raw (Gus Shy)	Nov. 4,'33	21
No. 5—In the Dough (Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Nov. 25,'33	22
No. 6—Here Comes Flossie (Ben Blue	Dec. 9,'33	18
No. 7—Tomallo (Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Dec. 30,'33	21
No. 8—How D'Ya Like That? (George Givot-Chas. Judels	Jan. 13	18
No. 9—Nervous Hands (Ben Blue	Feb. 3	21
No. 10—Pugs and Kisses (Charles Judels	Mar. 10	21
No. 11—Mushrooms (Harry Gribbon	Feb. 17	20
No. 12—Foiled Again (Ben Blue	Mar. 24	20
No. 13—Very Close Veins (Ben Blue	Apr. 14	20
No. 14—Corn on the Cop (Harry Gribbon	Apr. 28	20
No. 15—I Scream (Gus Shy	May 19	20
No. 16—Salted Seanuts (Chas. Judels-George Givot	June 2	20
No. 17—The Prize Sap (Ben Blue	June 23	20
No. 18—Art Trouble (Harry Gribbon	June 23	20
No. 19—My Mummy's Arms (Harry Gribbon	July 28	19
No. 20—Daredevil O'Dare (Ben Blue	Aug. 11	19
BROADWAY BREVITIES
No. 7—Yeast Is Yeast (Tom Patricola	Nov. 11,'33	20
No. 8—The Mild West (Janet Reade-Olive Borden	Nov. 18,'33	23
No. 9—Girl Trouble (Mitchell and Durant	Dec. 2,'33	20
No. 10—Around the Clock (Norma Terris-Four Eton Boys	Jan. 16	21
No. 11—Plane Crazy (Dorothy Lee-Arthur and Morton Havel	Dec. 23,'33	20
No. 12—Kissing Time (Jane Froman-Georges Metaxa	Dec. 16,'33	22
No. 13—A Little Girl With Big Ideas (Molly Picon	Jan. 20	29
No. 14—Not Tonight, Josephine (Frank McHugh-Kitty Kelly (Technicolor)	Jan. 27	21
No. 15—Picture Palace (Hal LeRoy	Feb. 10	21
No. 16—Come to Dinner	Feb. 24	21
No. 17—Business Is a Pleasure (Technicolor)	Mar. 3	17
No. 18—Look for the Silver Lining (Dorothy Stone	Mar. 17	30
No. 19—Let's Play Post Office (Jean Sargent	Mar. 31	21
No. 20—Story Conference (Lillian Roth	Apr. 7	20
No. 21—Morocco Nights (Technicolor)	Apr. 21	18
No. 22—Private Lessons (Hal LeRoy	May 5	22
No. 23—Masks and Memories (Lillian Roth	May 12	30
No 24—Murder In Your Eyes	May 26	20
No. 25—Service with a Smile (Leen Errol (Technicolor)	July 28	21
No. 26—Darling Enemy (Gertrude Niesen	June 9	19
No. 27—Who Is That Girl? (Bernice Claire-J. Harold Murray	June 16	20
No. 28—King for a Day (Bill Robinson	June 30	19
No. 29—The Song of Fame (Ruth Etting	July 7	19
No. 30—The Winnah (Arthur and Florence Lake	July 21	20
No. 31—The Mysterious Kiss (Jeanne Aubert	Aug. 4	19
No. 32—Untitled (Mitzi Mayfair-Roscoe Ates	Aug. 11	20
LOONEY TUNES
No. 2—Buddy's Beer Garden	Nov. 11,'33	7
No. 3—Buddy's Show Boat	Dec. 9,'33	7
No. 4—Buddy the Gob	Jan. 13	7
No. 5—Buddy and Towser	Feb. 24	7
No. 6—Buddy's Garage	Apr. 14	7
No. 7—Buddy's Trolley Troubles	May 5	7
No. 8—Buddy of the Apes	May 26	7
No. 9—Buddy's Bearcats	June 23	7
No. 10—Buddy the Woodsman		1 rl.
MELODY MASTERS
Eddie Duchin and Band	Nov. 25,'33	10
Borrah Minnevitch and His Harmonica Rascals	Dec. 23,'33	10
Jack Denny and Band	Jan. 20	10
Mills Blue Rhythm Band	Feb. 17	10
Vincent Lopez	Mar. 17	10
A Big City Fantasy (Phil Spitalny	Apr. 14	9
Isham Jones	May 12	10
Tin Hat Harmony (Abe Lyman		10
A Jolly Good Fellow (B. A. Rolfe	July 9	10
Ben Pollock and Band	Aug. 4	10
MERRIE MELODIES
Sitting on a Back Yard Fence	Dec. 16,'33	7
Pettin' In the Park	Jan. 27	7
Honeymoon Hotel (Cinecolor)	Feb. 17	7
Beauty and the Beast (Cinecolor)	Apr. 14	7
Those Were Wonderful Days	Apr. 28	7
Goin' to Heaven on a Mule		7
How Do I Know It's Sunday?	June 9	7
Why Do I Dream Those Dreams?	June 30	7
MUSICAL WORLD JOURNEYS E. M. NEWMAN
Heart of Paris	Nov. 11,'33	9
Italy, the Old and the New	Dec. 9,'33	11
Cannibal Islands	Jan. 6	10
Spanish America	Feb. 3	10
Jerusalem, the Holy City	Mar. 3	10
Picturesque Siam	Mar. 31	10
Slackers of the Jungle	Apr. 28	10
East Indies	May 26	10
Central America	June 23	10
Dark Africa	Aug. 11	10
A Visit to the South Sea Islands	July 21	10
JOE PENNER COMEDIES (Relssues)
Gangway	Apr. 14	2 rls.
Making Good	Apr. 21	1 rl.
You Nasty Man (formerly "Here Prince")	Apr. 28	2 rls.
Service Stripes	May 5	1 rl.
Where Men Are Men	May 12	2 rls.
A Stuttering Romance	May 19	1 rl.
Toreador	May 26	2 rls.
PEPPER POT
No. 5—Notre Dame Glee Club	Nov. 4,'33	8
No. 6—Harry Warren	Nov. 18,'33	10
No. 7—Easy Aces	Dec. 2,'33	10
No. 8—Little Miss Mischief	Dec. 6,'33	10
No. 9—Movie Memories	Dec. 30,'33	9
No. 10—The Tune Detective	Jan. 13	9
Sigmund Spaeth
No. 11—Mississippi Suite	Jan. 27	9
No. 12—The Wrong Wrong Trail	Feb. 10	10
Block and Sully
No. 13—Song Hits, with Roy Turk	Feb. 24	11
No. 14—Easy Aces, No. 2	Mar. 10	10
No. 15—Pure Feud (Edgar Bergen	Apr. 21	10
No. 16—A Cabinet Meeting (Radio Ramblers	Apr. 7	10
No. 17—Just Concentrate (Lulu McConnell	June 2	10
No. 18—Those Were the Days	May 5	10
No. 19—Radio Reel No. 1 (Jessel-Van	May 19	10
No. 20—Penny A Peep	June 30	9
No. 21—Hollywood Newsreel	Mar. 24	9
No. 22—Radio Reel No. 2	June 16	10
No. 23—Dad Minds the Baby	July 14	9
No. 24—Bergen In at the Races	July 21	10
No. 25—The Stolen Melody	July 28	10
No. 26—Camera Speaks	Aug. 11	9

SERIALS

(EACH SERIAL 12 EPISODES OF 2 RLS.)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
FIRST DIVISION
Young Eagles (Boy Scouts)	July 1	2 rls. (each)
MASCOT
Burn 'Em Up Barnes (Jack Mulhall - Lola Lane
Fighting with Kit Carson (Johnny Mack Brown-Noah Beery	July 6,'33	20 (each)
Lost Jungle, The (Clyde Beatty	Apr. 1	20 (each)
Mystery Squadron, The (Bob Steele	Dec. 23,'33	20 (each)
Wolf Dog, The (Rin Tin Tin, Jr.-Frankie Darro-Boots Mallory	Sept. 30,'33	2 rls. (each)
PRINCIPAL
Chandu		2 rls. (each)
Tarzan, the Fearless (Buster Crabbe	Aug. 11,'33	20 (each)
UNIVERSAL
Gordon of Ghost City (Buck Jones-Madge Bellamy	Aug. 14,'33	20 (each)
Perils of Pauline (Evalyn Knapp-Robt. Allen	Nov. 6,'33	20 (each)
Pirate Treasure (Richard Talmadge-Lucille Lund	Jan. 29	20 (each)
Red Rider, The (Buck Jones (15 episodes)	July 16	20 (each)
Vanishing Shadow, The (Onslow Stevens-Ada Ince	Apr. 23	20 (each)

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA chairs, Sound Equipment. Moving Picture Machines, Screens, Spotlights, Stereopticons, etc. Projection Machines Repaired. Catalogue H free. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, Ltd., 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

BARGAINS RECONDITIONED ARCTIC NU-AIR blowers; noiseless drives; hydraulic variable speed pullies; air washers. Catalogue mailed. SOUTHERN FAN CO., Box 440, Atlanta, Ga.

LARGE ASSORTMENT RECONDITIONED UPholstered and veneer theatre chairs at reasonable prices. ILLINOIS THEATRE EQUIPMENT COMPANY, 1018 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.

BARGAIN EXTRAORDINARY—TWO GUARANteed rebuilt Simplex projectors with Peerless reflector lamps and Garver rectifiers. Equipment like new. Free theatre record sheets. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

REMOVAL SALE — THOUSANDS OF BARgains — standard items — Simplex, Peerless, Strong, Brenkert, Forest, Hertner, Operadio. Sacrifice prices. Lists mailed. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

REBUILT HI-LOW AND LOW INTENSITY lamps. Also Simplex projectors and generator sets. We do expert repairing on projection machines. JOE GOLDBERG, INC., 823 S. Wabash Avenue, Chicago.

CLEARANCE SALE—SIMPLEX PROJECTORS, mechanisms, pedestals, magazines, soundheads, film splicers, reflecting arc lamps, rectifiers, film cabinets, portable projectors, Powers mechanisms. THEATRE SUPPLY CO., 603 West 43rd St., New York.

WANTED TO BUY

SPOT CASH FOR SIMPLEX AND POWERS projectors—mechanisms—reflector arc lamps—generators—Mazda lamphouses and regulators—lenses—rectifiers—portables—All booth equipment. Give all details. BOX 389, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

POWERS BASES, HEADS, LAMPS, AND ALL kinds of odd Powers parts. THEATRE SOUND SERVICE, Rochester, N. Y.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT and theatre advertising. Big opportunities for trained men. Catalog free. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, N. Y.

NEW EQUIPMENT

PRECISION PARTS FOR SIMPLEX—POWERS —Motiograph at big discounts. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

CURRENT SAVING BRILLIANT AC PROJECtion—only $99.85—our special transformer plus your low intensity does it. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

POSITIONS WANTED

VETERAN PROJECTIONIST AND MANAGER of small town theatre needs any kind of a job. Can do anything around a theatre from buying of film to servicing sound equipment. Address BOX 412, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

THEATRES

FOR SALE—THEATRE IN MICHIGAN TOWN of eight thousand. Including building fifty-six by hundred and sixty. Eight years old. Two stores in building. Fully equipped stage. Takes forty thousand cash to handle, balance easy terms. Deal with owner. BOX 409, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

FOR SALE — PAYING THEATRE, CENTRAL Wisconsin, 1,000 population, draws from five other towns, seats 250—two shows every night, new equipment, RCA sound—priced right. H. R. KNOWER, Hillsboro, Wis.

FOR SALE — MODERN THEATRE. POPULAtion 6,500. Nearest theatre 16 miles. Seats 550. Stage handles any stage-show. Nets $10,000 annually. Payroll town. Seaport, shingle, lumber, pulp mills, canneries, farming. Sell equity $10,000, half cash, balance like rent. Must sell. California business requires personal attention. BUD BENSON, Empire Theatre, Anacortes, Washington.

FINE UP-TO-DATE THEATRE, FIREPROOF, with washed air system, Western Electric sound 8 years old. Located in suburb of Cincinnati having about 10,000 population and still growing. Building has two stores and two doctors' offices. Capacity of theatre 750 seats. Original cost $162,000. Will sell for $125,000. Owner now in real estate business. BOX 38, STATION K, Cincinnati, O.

BRUSHES AND SUPPLIES

LOBBY ARTISTS! SIGN PAINTS! WRITE today for our 80 page free catalog and save 10 to 50 per cent on Brushes and Supplies. DICK BLICK COMPANY, Box 43, Galesburg, Ill.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

BUY DIRECT—LARGEST DEALERS OF USED chairs. All accessories. Slip covers. Servastone for concrete floors. Leatherette for theatre chairs. ALLIED SEATING CO., 358 W. 44th St., New York.

MARQUEE LETTERS, SPECIAL, F. O. B.: COPper letters 10 inches for flat type glass $1; for raised glass 90c; flat sheet opal glass for letters 25c; raised opal glass, Socony type, 75c, other sizes upon application, send sample if possible. CROWN, 311 West 44th St., New York.

SOUND EQUIPMENT

"BETTER THAN ANY EXPENSIVE OUTFIT!" says Gordon Hudson, Oakland, Calif. "S. O. S. receiving much favorable comment." Wide Fidelity costs little. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

SOUND RAGGED? RESET OPTICALS WITH our 9,000-cycle test loop, all instructions, $1.50. Trade old opticals for Wide Range, $19.75, liberal allowances. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

THEATRES WANTED

WANTED—TO LEASE THEATRE IN MIDDLE west, Ohio preferred. State population and complete details. BOX 403, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

WANTED—TO LEASE OR BUY MOTION PICture theatre in city of five thousand or over, state seating, opposition, etc. BOX 413, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

WANTED — TO LEASE THEATRE SMALL town Virginia or North Carolina. BOX 410, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

SALE OR LEASE THEATRE SOUTHERN Illinois, 2,500 population, $500 down. C. WASHMON, Trenton, Tenn.

DESIROUS OF LEASING PROFITABLE THEAtre in West Virginia or adjoining state, 500 seats or more, BOX 408, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

EQUIPMENT EXCHANGE

ANY FOCUS HALF SIZE LENSES, $30.00; quarter size, $10.00. Will trade. THEATRE SOUND SERVICE, Rochester N. Y.

REPRESENTATIVES

WANT LIVE WIRE AGENTS ANYWHERE TO sell nationally advertised sound projection equipment, portable and permanent supplies, parts, etc. BOX 414, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

Triple
DISTINCTION

EASTMAN Super-sensitive Panchromatic Negative has a three-fold distinction. Its introduction has led to more significant advances than any other film ...excepting only Eastman's original motion picture negative. Under the expert hands of the cameraman it has in the last three years photographed a great majority of the biggest screen hits. And...because of this record of accomplishment...it now enjoys by far the widest preference among all motion picture negative films. Eastman Kodak Co. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors, New York, Chicago, Hollywood.)

EASTMAN Super-sensitive
Panchromatic Negative

THEY ARE GIVING THIS LITTLE GIRL A BIG HAND!

"LITTLE MISS MARKER" held over by enthusiastic audiences for a third week* at the New York Paramount

Adolph Zukor presents
DAMON RUNYON'S
"LITTLE MISS MARKER"
with
Adolphe Menjou • Dorothy Dell
Charles Bickford • Shirley Temple
Directed by Alexander Hall
a B.P. SCHULBERG Production
A Paramount Picture

* Only two other pictures have been held this long at the NEW YORK PARAMOUNT, and both of these have been Mae West pictures

Paramount Pictures

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

A CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

NEIGHBORHOODS GETTING THE NEW THEATRE BUSINESS

VOL. 115, NO. 12 Entered as second-class matter January 12, 1931, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., under the Act of March 3, 1879. Published Weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1790 Broadway, New York. Subscription, $3.00 a year. Single copies, 25 cents JUNE 16, 1934

EDWIN C. HILL

On May 22nd, the trade press printed the announcement that Edwin C. Hill, the Magic Voice, was signed by Hearst Metrotone News

"I only said... BOO!"

. . . . . and such excitement in newsreel circles!.. Of course with EDWIN C. HILL as news commentator of HEARST METROTONE NEWS... and further developments to be announced ... it's not surprising that competitors are urging you to sign up quick . . . it's good advice to sign up . . . but you know with whom!

(By the way, SEE OPPOSITE PAGE 62)

FEMALE EARTHQU

CRITICS WRITE SCREAMING AD LINES FOR YOU

BROADWAY & 47TH ST., June 7 (WB). —Awarding it 3½ Stars and pronouncing it "filled with thrills", the N. Y. Daily News today led a resounding chorus of journalistic praise which should convince picture patrons everywhere that "Fog Over Frisco" is sure-fire entertainment. Other comments were:

"Year's best melodrama"—World Telegram.

"Newest and fastest thriller"—Sun.

"Breathless pace and . . . action"—Times.

"Crowded with speed and excitement"—Journal of Commerce.

"Keeps audience on edge throughout"—Film Daily.

"Sure box-office success"—Post.

◆ Queen Cobra of the Golden Gate ◆

Straight and hot from "south of the slot" come Bette Davis, Margaret Lindsay, Hugh Herbert, Donald Woods in First National's new melodramatic sensation directed by Wm. Dieterle.

AKE ROCKS N. Y.

'Fog Over Frisco" Proves Overnight Sensation

WARNER BROS. SHOW SURPASSES ALL EXPECTATIONS AT STRAND

Duplicates Surprise Success of "Bureau of Missing Persons" and "Convention City"

HELD OVER SECOND WEEK

Year's Best Melodrama" Confirms Warner Promise of 1935-Quality Summer Shows!

The BIG news

in this issue

begins opposite,

Page 18

JUN 15 1934 ©CIB 230228

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 115, No. 12 June 16, 1934

DIVERSITY

WITH the new season's titles, casts, synopses and promises spread out across a desk, one must be impressed this day in the middle of June, with the notion that the picture makers of Hollywood have shot the copy-cat and set out to do some considerable original production here and there.

A greater diversification of product is in sight for the new show year than has previously been offered since the coming of sound pictures, and before that, too.

If this is to be taken as meaning that the picture builders have made up their own, individual and independent minds on what they think will be entertainment and box office, it gives promise of an interesting, exciting and probably profitable show year.

No better array of material-for-the-making has ever been assembled for a motion picture season's efforts. The product on paper is handsome. Nothing now remains but to make the pictures and deliver, in quality, character and merit according to the American taste.

Because of the vast diversity of materials and sources it is immediately evident that selling to both exhibitor and patron will be more essential than ever before—picture by picture.

△ △ △

BUSINESS ON THE WING

ALMOST convincing up-turn item comes along from the Air Express division of the Railway Express Agency in the recently completed statistics for April showing an increase of 188 per cent over the same month a year ago. Also the number of shipments handled this April totaled more than half of the whole air express movement of 1932. Motion picture film is a considerable part of the air cargoes, but present increases record but 16 per cent from Los Angeles, and 38 per cent from New York, while in the interior, concerned with general merchandise rather than film, the increases range from 52 per cent in Kansas City to 98 per cent in Toledo.

△ △ △

OR WHY WRITE?

PRINCETON students, by ruling of Robert K. Root, dean of the faculty, are to be required to learn to write English. In view of our large editorial experience with the product and by-product of American universities this is to be considered a radical step. Also, considering some of the current brain trusting, may we not suggest that the course include training in the process of waiting for something to say before writing at all?

INDUSTRIES BUY SPACE

EXAMINING the reports on forty-two industrial and trade papers, concerned with as many branches of business, one discovers that advertisers in the month of May, 1934, used 3,098 pages of space, while last year in the same month they used but 2,122 pages. The gain, a total of 976 pages, is an increase of 45.9 per cent. Analysis of figures for the earlier months of the year show that the pace has been steadily quickening as the year has unfolded. The most conspicuous increases in the issue of business paper space have been in the metallurgical and paper industries, both basically indicative of widespread manufacturing and merchandising activity.

△ △ △

IN WAYNE COUNTY, TOO!

THE country editors of America are a sage and salty lot. They have time to think and frequently the courage to set down their convictions. We got a grin out of a cutting sent along by Mr. John Goodno of the Palace Theatre in Huntington, in which Herman P. Dean, editor of the Wayne, West Virginia, County News remarks: "If a considerably higher type art and moral tone is desired in pictures it will first be necessary to grow up a public that will appreciate and respond to such a change. . . . I grant that public taste is apparently badly in need of such education. . . ."

△ △ △

RADIO CITY TYPOGRAPHY

AN adventurer in the black desert of show advertising in the amusement sections of the New York daily papers of recent weeks must have discovered a growing oasis of tasteful typography displayed with proportionate white space in the new advertising of the Radio City Music Hall.

Generally speaking, theatre advertising is written, like patent medicine copy, to please someone who knows nothing about it and is controlled by "what they all do." In consequence from the beginning of show advertising it has been cursed with reverse etchings, cockeyed lettering and postage stamp pictures. In this, as in too many other practices, movements for good taste are rebuffed usually with remarks about "showmanship." A lot that is called showmanship, like salesmanship, is really just plain bad manners.

The current Radio City Music Hall copy gains its special opportunity through the contrast created by the large areas of old time convention bound crowded black copy around it. The general shouting for attention is self destructive, and makes background for the better mannered appeal. Radio City's great theatre may by example encourage a trend toward better show copy in the newspapers.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD — MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Incorporating Exhibitor's Herald, founded 1915; Motion Picture News, founded 1913; Moving Picture World, founded 1907; Motography, founded 1909; The Film Index, founded 1906. Published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, 1790 Broadway, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; Chicago Bureau, 407 South Dearborn Street, Edwin S. Clifford, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building, Victor M. Shapiro, manager; London Bureau, Remo House, 310 Regent Street, London W 1, Bruce Allan, cable Quigpubco London; Berlin Bureau, Berlin-Tempelhof, Kaiserin-Augustastrasse 28, Joachim K. Rutenberg, representative; Paris Bureau, 19, Rue de la Cour-des-Noues, Paris 20e, France, Pierre Autre, representative, cable Autre-Lacifral-20 Paris; Rome Bureau, Viale Gorizia, Rome, Italy, Vittorio, Malpassuti, representative, Italcable, Malpassuti, Rome; Sydney Bureau, 102 Sussex Street, Sydney, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Mexico, James Lockhart, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations.

All contents copyright 1934 by Quigley Publishing Company.

Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Better Theatres, devoted to the construction, equipment and operation of theatres, is published every fourth week as section 2 of Motion Picture Herald. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac, published annually, and The Chicagoan.

THIS WEEK - - - -

FREE STAGE SHOWS

Some cause for reflection on the part of motion picture theatremen lies in the plan of Congress to provide additional relief money to permit the CWA to carry entertainment to 1,750 CCC units throughout the country, thus providing entertainment, aiding unemployed performers. Considered probable is the extension of the plan to communities, now served only by film theatres. Such shows would be free, complicating the exhibitors' situation. . . .

MRS. WALKER, STAR

Patiently the once dynamic mayor of New York, James J. Walker, sat all day Monday of this week at the Warner Teddington studio in London, as his wife, former actress Betty Compton, started work as the lead of "The Richest Girl in the World." Signed for only one film, Miss Compton may make more "if all goes well." Mr. and Mrs. Walker seemed vastly pleased at the idea. Jimmy has renounced politics—and his wife is working. . . .

PROTEST NAZI FILMS

Determined to oppose "by all possible means" any use of the screen to advance the Nazi dogma in this country are the New York Film and Photo League and the Anti-Nazi Federation of Greater New York, acting jointly. "S. A. Mann Brand," Nazi film released here by Bavarian Films, was a named target of attack. . . .

AUDIENCE POLLED

An audience poll at the Regent, Fairbanks and State theatres, Springfield, Ohio, indicating an overwhelming (14 to 1) preference for stage shows plus films, the management of those associated houses has instituted a vaudeville program as an adjunct to pictures. . . .

BANS ADS IN SCHOOL

Banned by Dr. Beverly O. Skinner, Ohio education director and state censor chief, is all advertising in the public schools of the state as "ill-advised." His particular reference is to films and slides bearing advertising messages. . . .

ERPI JUDGMENT

Marking the first action of its kind in the Philadelphia territory, Electrical Research Products has been awarded a judgment for $792.48 and interest against the Norris Amusement Company, operating the Susquehanna, Philadelphia, for delinquencies and liquidated damages on a W. E. installation. . . .

ST. LOUIS THEATRES

By a proposed leasing deal with Allen L. Snyder, engineer, the bondholders' protective committee of the Ambassador, Missouri, Grand Central theatres in St. Louis would receive 15 per cent of the gross, a weekly guarantee of $3,350 from the three houses. A Warner bid for the houses was overcalled by the committee, Warner planning opposition when approval of the sale is asked of the court. Fanchon & Marco will manage the houses. . . .

EXPRESS RATES

Extended for another year is the 25 per cent reduction in film shipment express rates, last year granted by the Railway Express Agency, last week declared the general agent in Kansas City. The Interstate Commerce Commission has approved the extension. Gradual increase in shipments has resulted, it is said. National Film Carriers' complaint, charging discrimination, is still pending before the ICC.

COAST AIR PROGRAM

In charge of a new feature to be broadcast from Hollywood Station KMTR will be Frederick Lane, radio writer. Unusual news of the stars, studio activity will be the program's backbone, with the addition of interviews with players and writers of the screen. . . .

In This Issue

Neighborhood theatres are getting most of the new business — Page 9
Manpower — an editorial by Martin Quigley — Page 12
Hollywood is finally hearing voice of the exhibitor, says Edwin Schallert — Page 17
Paramount appeals Tri-Ergon ruling — Page 46
Box Office Champions for May — Page 44

FEATURES

Editorial — Page 7
The Camera Reports — Page 13
J. C. Jenkins—His Colyum — Page 96
The Hollywood Scene — Page 73
The Cutting Room — Page 87
Letters to the Editor — Page 74
Code Questions and Answers — Page 94

DEPARTMENTS

What the Picture Did for Me — Page 99
Showmen's Reviews — Page 78
Managers' Round Table — Page 107
Technological — Page 95
Chicago's Wabash Avenue — Page 90
The Release Chart — Page 117
Box Office Receipts — Page 104
Classified Advertising — Page 122

FOREIGN PREFERENCE

Tapping foreign countries for their American film star preferences, a survey indicates the top rankers as Marlene Dietrich, Lilian Harvey, Greta Garbo, Maurice Chevalier, in that order. Europe, Asia, South America were reached in the study, which found honors going to such typically American players as Joan Crawford, Clark Gable, Janet Gaynor, Norma Shearer.

LOUISIANA BILLS

Among the heaviest flood of bills to reach the Louisiana state legislature at Baton Rouge last week were two affecting motion pictures. One would levy a 10 per cent tax on theatre grosses, the other would authorize the state to operate lotteries. A third, perhaps taking screen toll, would legalize operation of slot machines.

MISSISSIPPI GROUP

Gathered in Starkville, Miss., this week were theatre owners from 15 north Mississippi cities, to formulate plans for a statewide independent motion picture association. R. J. and A. L. Goodman were hosts and Earl Elkins presided. . . .

CENSORS INCREASED

Passed last week by the Seattle council was a charter amendment increasing the censor board from five to nine, giving the board the right to see all theatrical newspaper advertising before publication, if the board wishes. Vetoed but probably to be reconsidered is the latter phase. . . .

MOORING TO COAST

His resignation as publicity director of British International Pictures in London effective July 6, William H. Mooring will come permanently to Hollywood, acting as correspondent for British press interests, including English Newspapers, Ltd., publishers of "Film Weekly," fan magazine. . . .

BRITISH CINEMA CLOSED

Opened four months ago with fanfare and trumpets as the home of British pictures exclusively, the Carlton in Toronto closed last week. Patriotic organizations and representative government officials hailed the arrival of the local cinema, but there apparently were not enough of them.

WEEKS' PLAN

Abandoning his plan for a return to independent production in association with Harry Frazer, George Weeks, in Hollywood, will devote his time to western representation of Gaumont British. . . .

NEIGHBORHOOD THEATRES ARE GETTING MOST OF THE NEW BUSINESS

The Situation In Large Cities

ATLANTA
Suburban theatres' business up 40 per per cent, downtown less definite.

▽

CHICAGO
Trend away from downtown and to the many outlying de luxe theatres. Downtown business largely shoppers.

▽

DES MOINES
Tendency toward downtown patronage, with greater matinee business. Downtown attendance gains 30 per cent.

▽

HOUSTON
Neighborhood box offices improve nearly 40 per cent. Downtown falls off.

▽

LOS ANGELES
Neighborhoods' average business up 15 per cent, downtown up 5 per cent.

▽

MILWAUKEE
Evening business tending toward neighborhoods, matinee to downtown.

▽

MINNEAPOLIS AND ST. PAUL
Neighborhoods' business improves 30 per cent.

▽

NEW ORLEANS
Downtown business declines with inauguration of star rating in newspaper and dropping of vaudeville. Neighborhoods' patronage rises 30 per cent.

▽

NEW YORK CITY
Neighborhood business grows 25 per cent. Downtown improvement slight in same period.

▽

OKLAHOMA CITY
Trend here is toward downtown theatres, 70 per cent of total business.

▽

SALT LAKE CITY
Neighborhoods' total business up 15 per cent for matinees.

▽

TAMPA
Total business downtown and suburban was 20 per cent higher.

By FRED AYER

Details, city by city, of the patronage trends in the larger communities, appear on the following pages.

The motion picture exhibitor who is established in operation of the socalled neighborhood theatre appears to be getting a "break" at last. The trend of patronage is definitely toward the neighborhood house and away from the glorified de luxe first run downtown theatres, a survey by MOTION PICTURE HERALD correspondents showing box office gains for the country's neighborhood houses ranging from 5 to 40 per cent.

The analysis, based on comparative figures for the same weeks in April of 1934 and of 1933, revealed improved patronage as a general condition, the outlying theatres getting the larger share of the new business.

Several more or less general factors enter into the cause and effect of the current movement, chief among them being the fact that the average patron still hesitates to spend 85 cents to see a picture in a downtown house when he can view it around the corner, for only 40 cents or less, despite the fact he may have to wait three or four weeks for it to arrive there.

TIME AND COST OF TRANSPORTATION DOWNTOWN ALSO FOUND A FACTOR

Then, too, there was reflected, in New York and in the field, a consideration of the time and cost of travel to and from the downtown house, with parking fees and garage charges, or other transportation fares, particularly in cities where surface car rates are higher.

Admission prices in the neighborhood theatre where, prior to the motion picture code, the exhibitor was unrestricted in Bargain Nights of various kinds as well as in the giving of premiums to attract further patronage, have come down in the past few months, and reports from the field indicate that admissions in general have increased appreciably as a result.

In some instances downtown houses too have lowered their price scales and in many of these situations these first runs have maintained a level of box office performance comparable with the same period of the previous year.

According to the survey, however, the majority of first runs have not maintained this performance level compared with the outlying theatres. Their admission prices have not been reduced proportionately as have the neighborhoods. Many have eliminated their stage shows in order to cut down on overhead.

Theatre circuit executives with New York headquarters who are operating neighborhood houses in other cities, expressed the opinion that more than ever before the public is shopping for entertainment and that it no longer cares to take a chance on a high-priced show simply because it happens to be framed in an expensive setting.

GROSSES FOR FIRST QUARTER FOUND 5 PER CENT HIGHER THAN LAST OF 1933

Motion picture grosses for the first quarter of 1934 have been reported as 5 per cent higher than for the last quarter of 1933, which was 20 per cent higher than the third quarter of 1933. On this basis, many circuit executives in New York are discussing the pros and cons of raising admissions at this time. Many are in favor of the move, but, it is said, many more are averse to it because of the conviction that the trend is away from the first runs and that the lifting of prices before the country is completely recovered from a business retrogression which has lasted nearly five years would be damaging to first run business.

In the city-by-city resume, on the following pages, all figures unless otherwise specified are for the last weeks in April of 1934 and 1933.

THE TREND OF PATRONAGE

ATLANTA

According to reports from this Southern city, conditions are chaotic and have been so for the last year. A little more than 12 months ago, the four large downtown theatres—Paramount, Fox, Georgia, Capitol—were operated by Valatenga Theatres, Inc., headed by R. B. Wilby, while today the same houses are operated by Lucas & Jenkins.

In general, there was a decided spurt in the business of suburban houses showing the better type of product, while only one downtown theatre was reported to be consistently staying in the black.

The neighborhoods are said to be showing an increase in patronage of about 40 per cent over a year ago, with prices ranging from 10 to 25 cents top.

General conditions are credited with this trend of business to the Atlanta suburbans. For example, carfare in this city is 10 cents, or four tickets for 30 cents, this being considered a real item to the family trade at theatres, while those who do use automobiles must take into consideration garage and parking fees when they attend the downtown theatre.

Most Atlanta downtown houses have a top price of 40 cents, with a 25-cent scale up to 6 P. M.

Emphasizing the trend away from the downtown houses to the suburbans, was the recent decision of Lucas & Jenkins to close its deluxe 2,000-seat Georgia on June 1.

▽

COLUMBUS

Unquestionably the patronage trend is away from the downtown theatre in Columbus. However, it is not to the neighborhood theatre, but rather it is falling. Every indication of improved theatre business was apparent in Columbus up to April, 1934. For the preceding six months business had been definitely on the upturn, with exceptional attractions in downtown houses doing capacity business. The neighborhoods also were doing good business every day in the week and in many instances better business than ever before as a result of the citywide elimination of dual bills.

The better conditions were attributed chiefly to Mayor Henry Worley's work relief plan which he had inaugurated late last autumn in substitution for the "dole" system. This plan gave to about 10,000 family heads five days of work weekly and wages that not only allowed for the necessities of life but for inexpensive amusement as provided by the motion picture theatre.

Two months ago, the state and county took over the relief work and instituted a grocery order system, or work for one or two days. These 10,000 family heads now receive an average of $5 weekly in cash or a similar amount of grocery orders for their 40,000 dependents. In the city of Columbus, this group constitutes at least 30 per cent of theatre patronage.

The competition of other amusement and sports enterprises, such as baseball at a 44-cent admission with two "free ladies' days" weekly, was another factor.

Twenty-four neighborhood theatres sought to fight the depression and the competition of "keno" and other games offering attractive prizes, by cutting their admissions from 22 and 28 cents to 10, 15 and 20 cents. The experiment was said to be a success only in that it added a few more patrons each week, but "a dismal failure as regards adding $1 more to the box-office."

To church groups also were attributed the blame for the slump in business, with their various campaigns to "stay away from the movies," in order to elevate the standard of product.

Figures available on the Columbus situation are as follows:

Admissions from January 1, 1934, to April 1. 1934, in two downtown theatres—44 to 66 cents, including 10 per cent tax. These two houses show a 20 per cent increase in business over the same period of 1933, but during that period only motion pictures were shown with a 50-cent top admission and no tax. Currently these two houses have stage shows every other week.

Matinees in these two downtown theatres from January 1, 1934, to April 1, showed a 10 per cent increase over the same period in 1933.

Combined, matinee and evening, business for the two houses, however, is estimated at 40 per cent under the 1933 period.

In two other downtown circuit theatres, for the same January to April periods, business was 25 per cent under the 1933 period. Prices are approximately the same as at the first two theatres. Matinees for these two showed a 12 per cent increase this year over the same period in 1933.

The average admission prices for all Columbus downtown theatres is 30 cents for matinees and 44 cents in the evening.

Since April 1, 1934, prices have been reduced in all neighborhoods to 10, 15 and 20 cents, and business since that date is from 15 to 18 per cent under the same period in 1933.

▽

DES MOINES

The trend toward a bigger matinee business in Des Moines downtown theatres indicates the drawing in of new patronage through a reduction of admission prices, rather than a tendency on the part of the neighborhoods to pull from the first runs. Until six months ago, there was no neighborhood showing a matinee during the week, although the matinee business over the weekends was 50 per cent of the business done by three neighborhoods. Business at the first run downtown theatres and second run downtown houses shows a 15 per cent gain in the box office over last year, with all downtown houses reporting at least a 30 per cent gain in attendance.

The Des Moines figures follow:

	1934	1933
Total business downtown and neighborhoods combined	$12,460	$10,800
Downtowns' business day and night (incl. 2nd run downtown theatres)	11,080	9,600
Neighborhoods' total business night and day	1,380	800
Downtown and suburbans' total business up to 6 P. M.	35%	25%
Downtowns' business to 6 P. M.	35%	25%
Neighborhoods' business to 6 P. M.:
weekdays	3%	none
weekends	50%	50%
Business downtown and neighborhoods combined after 6 P. M.	65%	75%
Neighborhoods' total business after 6 P. M.: weekdays	90%	100%
weekends	50%	50%
Av. admission price downtown and neighborhoods' day and night combined	.27	.37
Av. price for both to 6 P. M.	.18	.27
Downtowns' price to 6 P. M.	.26	.36
Neighborhoods' price to 6 P. M.	.10	.15
Av. price for both combined after 6 P. M.	.36	.46
Downtown theatres' av. price after 6 P. M.	.36	.46
Neighborhoods' av. price after 6 P. M.	.10	.20

HOUSTON, TEXAS

Houston's neighborhood theatres show a marked improvement in business during April of 1934 over the same month of 1933, with an increase in business of nearly 40 per cent. Downtown theatres dropped off approximately 15 per cent for the same period. No change has been made in the average admission prices of either first run or neighborhoods in Houston during the year.

A breakdown of the situation in the Texas city follows:

	1934	1933
Total business downtown and neighborhoods combined	$43,000	$38,000
Downtowns' business day and night combined	36,000	31,000
Neighborhoods' total business day and night	7,000	5,000
Downtowns' and neighborhoods' total business up to 6 P. M.	17,200	not given
Downtowns' business to 6 P. M.	15,200	not given
Neighborhoods' business to 6 P. M.	2,000	not given
Business downtown and neighborhoods combined after 6 P. M.	25,800	not given
Downtowns' business after 6 P. M.	20,800	not given
Neighborhoods' business after 6 P. M.	5,000	not given
Av. admission price downtown and neighborhoods day and night combined	.20	.20
Av. admission price for both up to 6 P. M.	.16	.16
Downtowns' price to 6 P. M.	.19	.19
Neighborhoods' price to 6 P.M.	.10	.10
Av. price for both combined after 6 P. M.	.25	.25
Downtowns' av. price after 6 P. M.	.30	.30
Neighborhoods' av. price after 6 P. M.	.15	.15

Neighborhoods' competition in Houston generally is considered weak as there are only four small subsequent runs in operation. These, however, are reported doing a large business most of the time.

▽

LOS ANGELES

Figures on the Los Angeles situation indicate that there is a very definite trend away from the downtown theatres to the neighborhoods, the neighborhoods' average business appearing to have improved about 18 per cent in a week in April, 1934, as against the same week in 1933. At the same time, the downtown theatres' business increased in the same week 5 per cent.

Admission prices in the Los Angeles sector remained at about the same level during the year, with slight increases noted for the neighborhoods.

	1934	1933
Total business downtown and neighborhoods combined	$124,440	$115,397
Downtowns' business day and night combined	79,800	76,697
Neighborhoods' total business day and night	44,640	38,700
Downtown's and neighborhoods' total business up to 6 P. M. (neighborhoods do not run matinees except on weekends)	47,788	42,183
Downtown theatres business to 6 P. M.	47,788	42,183
Business downtowns and neighborhoods combined after 6 P. M.	124,440	115,397
Av. admission for both up to 6 P. M.	31,912	34,514

BARRING OF PREMIUMS FOUND FACTOR

	1934	1933
Neighborhoods' business after 6 P. M.	44,640	38,700
Av. admission price downtown and neighborhoods day and night combined	.45	.45
Av. admission for both up to 6 P. M.	.25-.35	.25-.35
Downtowns' price to 6 P. M.	.30	.30
Neighborhoods' price to 6 P. M. (Sat. and Sun.)	.25	.25
Av. price for both combined after 6 P. M.	.48	.40
Downtowns' av. price after 6 P. M.	.55	.50
Neighborhoods' av. price after 6 P. M.	.40	.30

▽

MILWAUKEE

Statistics garnered from Milwaukee exhibitors tend to bear out the opinion that evening business is going the way of the neighborhood houses with the downtown theatres pulling in the shoppers for their matinees.

The week of April 22 of this year showed a slight dip from the same period of 1933, with a rating of 75 per cent as against 80 per cent for total business of downtown and neighborhood houses together, night and day combined, with 100 per cent representing average business.

One of the reasons reported for the decline was the suspension of CWA activities, which has been keenly felt at many box offices in this territory.

The same comparative percentages held for the downtown theatres' total business night and day combined for the same period both weeks. For the same period in both years, the neighborhoods, however, practically all of which do not open their doors until 6:30 P. M. and play no matinees except Saturdays and Sundays, saw their business jump from 70 per cent in 1933 to 90 per cent in 1934.

With the majority of the neighborhoods dark in the afternoons, the downtown houses do from 60 to 75 per cent of their business before the 6 P. M. deadline, when the admission price is raised.

The average admission price for downtown and neighborhoods together, day and night combined, is between 25 and 30 cents, while the average admission for downtown theatres up to 6 P. M. is 25 cents, and figures to slightly less than 45 cents after that hour. The average price for downtown and neighborhoods together after 6 P. M. is 30 cents, while the neighborhoods' average price after 6 P. M. is 20 cents.

Reasons given by Milwaukee theatre men for the trend to the neighborhoods are price and parking.

▽

MINNEAPOLIS AND ST. PAUL

There is a distinct tendency of business to shift to the Twin Cities' neighborhood theatres. Neighborhoods' business during a week in April of 1934 jumped nearly 30 per cent over the same week in 1933. So strong is this movement that several theatre men have applied for new theatre licenses in the outlying districts and several new theatre construction projects are in view in the neighborhood districts. Related to this is the strong consistent business being done by low-priced second and subsequent run theatres that serve the downtown sections much as the neighborhoods serve their districts.

Parallel conditions were noted for both Minneapolis and St. Paul, which are separated only by the river and thus have practically identical neighborhood patronage situations. The same is largely true of downtown exhibition as well.

Figures on the situation for this territory are as follows:

	1934	1933
Total business downtown and neighborhoods combined	$53,150	$45,500
Downtowns' total business day and night combined	31,600	28,000
Neighborhoods' business day and night combined	21,550	17,500
Downtowns' and neighborhoods' total business combined up to 6 P.M.	14,300	12,850
Downtowns' business to 6 P.M.	10,000	9,350
Neighborhoods' business to 6 P.M.	4,300	3,500
Downtowns' and neighborhoods' business combined after 6 P.M.	38,850	32,750
Downtowns' business after 6 P.M.	21,600	18,750
Neighborhoods' business after 6 P.M.	17,250	14,000
Av. admission price downtown and neighborhoods day and night combined	.30	.35
Av. admission price for both up to 6 P.M.	.20	.25
Downtowns' price to 6 P.M.	.25	.30
Neighborhoods' price to 6 P.M.	.15	.20
Av. price downtown and neighborhoods combined after 6 P.M.	.25	.30
Downtowns' average price after 6 P.M.	.35	.40
Neighborhoods' price after 6 P.M.	.20	.25

▽

NEW ORLEANS

Grosses at New Orleans downtown theatres are said to have declined steadily since one of the local newspapers inaugurated the star rating system for pictures, with a corresponding increase in neighborhoods' patronage. In addition, there was a considerable loss in the business of downtown houses when vaudeville was dropped. New Orleans, being a "vaudeville-loving town," no longer evinced the same enthusiasm for travel into the downtown sector, the attitude being that if they could get only pictures on a theatre bill, they might as well get them near home. Downtown houses in New Orleans have their largest attendance before 6 P. M.

The following figures will show that neighborhoods' business increased 30 per cent in the week ending April 22, 1934, over the same week in 1933, while the first runs increased only 10 per cent:

	1934	1933
Total business downtown and neighborhoods combined	165%	125%
Downtowns' total business day and night combined	75%	65%
Neighborhoods' business day and night combined	90%	60%
Downtowns' and neighborhoods' business combined up to 6 P.M.	62%	77%
Neighborhoods' business to 6 P.M.	2%	2%
Downtowns' business to 6 P.M.	60%	75%
Downtown and neighborhoods' business combined after 6 P.M.	138%	146%
Downtowns' business after 6 P.M.	52%	48%
Neighborhoods' business after 6 P.M.	98%	98%
Av. admission price downtown and neighborhoods combined day and night	.27	.27
Av. admission price for both combined up to 6 P.M.	.18	.20
Downtowns' price to 6 P.M.	.20	.20
Neighborhoods' price to 6 P.M.	.15	.15
Av. price downtown and neighborhoods combined after 6 P.M.	.45	.45
Downtowns' av. price after 6 P.M.	.29	.29
Neighborhoods' av. price after 6 P.M.	.18	.18

▽

NEW YORK CITY

A comprehensive survey of the New York City situation—in which there are more than 250 motion picture theatres in the Metropolitan area which may be classified as neighborhood houses—shows definitely that in this territory the trend is increasingly toward the neighborhood theatre.

Using the last week in April of 1934 and comparing it with the last week of April in 1933, on the basis of 100 per cent business for the 1933 period, it is established that the week in 1934 saw an increase of 25 per cent in total daily neighborhood business. Furthermore, neighborhood business in the daytime, that is, prior to 6 P. M., increased 33 per cent over the same period of 1933.

New York's de luxe downtown theatres, centered in Times Square, showed but slight improvement for the week in question.

Total business, downtown and neighborhoods combined, was reported 35 per cent ahead of the same period a year ago.

While average admission prices for the combined neighborhood and downtown houses showed a marked increase, the top prices of the downtown theatres dropped, on the whole, and those of the neighborhoods increased.

The New York survey was not conducted on the basis of all the neighborhood theatres in the area, but more than 150 theatres served as the foundation for the comparison.

	1934	1933
Total business downtown and neighborhoods combined	135%	100%
Downtowns' total business day and night combined	98%	100%
Neighborhoods' total business day and night combined	125%	100%
Downtown and neighborhoods' business to 6 P.M. combined	115%	100%
Neighborhoods' business to 6 P.M.	133%	100%
Downtowns' business to 6 P.M.	105%	100%
Downtown and neighborhoods' business combined after 6 P.M.	115%	100%
Downtowns' business after 6 P.M.	108%	100%
Neighborhoods' business after 6 P.M.	117%	100%
Av. admission price downtown and neighborhoods combined day and night	.62	.59
Av. admission price downtown and neighborhoods combined up to 6 P.M.	.35	.33
Downtowns' av. price to 6 P.M.	.45	.45
Neighborhoods' av. price to 6 P.M.	.25	.20
Av. admission price downtown and neighborhoods combined after 6 P.M.	.69	.73
Downtowns' av. price after 6 P.M.	1.01	1.15
Neighborhoods' av. price after 6 P.M.	.36	.30

(Continued on page 18)

Manpower

In connection with the reorganization of the Paramount corporations, which is now receiving attention from interested parties, there is one requirement which rises insistently and demands consideration, first and foremost: It is that the directing executive personnel of the reorganized corporations shall be of a character and calibre that will enable the enterprise to avail itself of its opportunities and to discharge its responsibilities.

It is a commonly admitted fact that many of the grievous problems affecting the industry are here, worrisome and unsolved, because of the lack of sufficient character and calibre in high executive councils of the industry. The profitableness of the business of motion pictures and the degree of service to the public are limited only by the ability, integrity and commonsense of the industry's executive personnel. The public's demand for motion picture entertainment is there, waiting to be served and served at a price which will allow substantial profit. The business needs only executives of adequate capacity, who think straight and play fair.

In the period just ahead, during which comprehensive plans will be perfected for corporate reorganization of the Paramount enterprises, those who are in a position to influence these matters must not lose sight of the fact that no new order will endure or be worth the while unless it rests securely on the firm foundation of executives of character and calibre.

—MARTIN QUIGLEY

Stanley Waite of Paramount Dies

Stanley B. Waite, divisional sales manager of Paramount Pictures Distributing Corp., dropped dead in his office in the Paramount Building, New York, on Wednesday noon following an attack of acute indigestion. He was 44 years of age.

Mr. Waite began his career with Paramount in 1927, as sales manager of short subjects and Paramount Sound news. Upon the realignment of the Paramount sales organization into its present three-division form he was promoted to the divisional sales managership of the territory which included Boston, New Haven, Maine, Atlanta, Memphis, Charlotte, Jacksonville, New Orleans, Dallas and San Antonio.

Prior to joining Paramount Mr. Waite had been Boston branch manager of Pathe for two years, then advanced to central division manager and to home office sales representative.

Born in Menominee, Mich., he studied at Yale and the University of Michigan. He served overseas in the World War as a first lieutenant in the Second Division.

Mr. Waite was to have left for the Paramount national sales convention in Los Angeles on Wednesday night.

His home was in Bronxville. He is survived by his wife and a 9-year-old daughter.

Paramount Trustees Ask for Operating Agreement Change

A plan of altering an operating agreement between Paramount Publix Corp. and Southern Enterprises, Inc., of Texas, in order to comply with the new Federal tax laws on the filing of consolidated returns, was proposed last week in a petition filed with John E. Joyce, referee in bankruptcy, by the Paramount trustees.

Under the plan, Famous Theatres Corp., the new Paramount theatre holding company, releases $1,075,437 of its $1,690,636 claim against Southern Enterprises, and receives Southern Enterprises' claim against Publix Theatres Corp. for an amount equal to the release. The result makes possible a separation of the income reports of Famous and Southern Enterprises made necessary by the new Federal law. The petition will be heard June 21.

British Films Gain In Australian Market

A report to the Department of Commerce from W. C. Flake, assistant trade commissioner in Sydney, indicates clearly that the British film industry is strengthening its position in the Australian market. The annual report of the Australian censor shows that 1,479 films were imported during 1933, of which the United States accounted for 66.3 per cent and Great Britain 25.7 per cent. This compares with 1930, when the United States supplied 86.5 per cent of the total and Great Britain only 8.2 per cent.

Hamrick Shifts Policy

John Hanrick's Blue Mouse theatre in Seattle has returned to a double feature policy after one week on a single film policy. Matinee prices have been dropped 15 cents, with evening prices remaining at 25 cents.

Depinet on MPPDA Directorate

Ned E. Depinet, president of RKO Distributing Corporation, was elected to the directorate of the MPPDA at the quarterly meeting Wednesday.

RKO, Paramount Ask Reorganizing

Radio-Keith-Orpheum last week filed a petition in U. S. District Court, New York, seeking to qualify for purposes of reorganization under the new bankruptcy laws which went into effect immediately upon their signing by President Roosevelt at noon on June 7.

In its efforts to qualify under the new statutes for reorganization of embarrassed corporations, RKO sets forth in its petition its liabilities aggregating about $16,240,000 in gold notes and debenture issues and about $35,400,000 in claims, as against assets of approximately $25,000,000, comprising for the most part stock and notes receivable of subsidiaries and affiliated companies.

The petition also states that RKO "has no means of borrowing or otherwise securing funds sufficient to pay and discharge such amounts, so that a reorganization of the company is clearly necessary. On information and belief, the debtor (RKO) alleges that there is no prospect that improved earnings in recent months will be sufficient to enable the debtor to pay the amounts due and payable."

The petition was signed by M. H. Aylesworth, and was drawn by Cravath, De Gersdorff, Swaine & Wood in conjunction with William Mallard, RKO attorney.

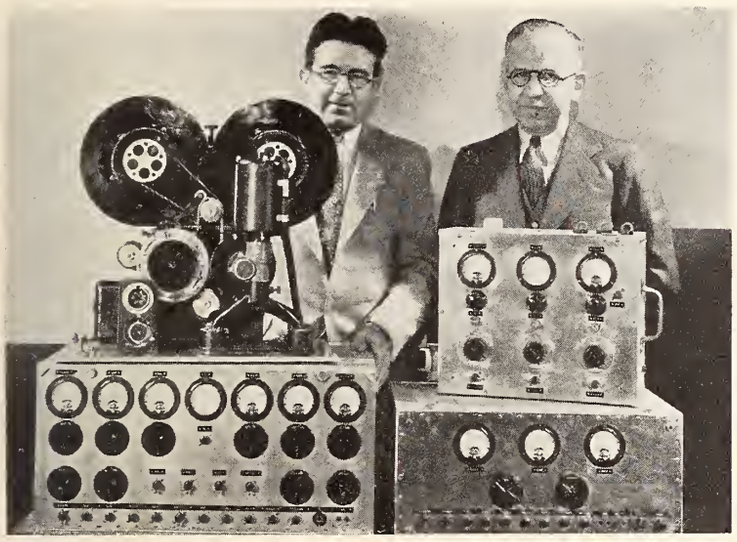
The stockholders' protective committee of Paramount Publix also filed a similar petition in the Federal court to bring Paramount within the provisions of the Bankruptcy Act, for the purpose of effectuating a reorganization thereunder.

Paramount and Capitol In Pooling Arrangement

The Paramount Theatre and the Capitol (Loew's) in New York after June 29 will pool operations under a deal consummated Wednesday, according to Motion Picture Daily. The theatres will be individually maintained, the plan covering a profit and loss arrangement arising out of new policies determined for each house. Major Edward Bowes continues in charge of the Capitol, which will drop stage shows, and Boris Morros in charge of the Paramount. The first Paramount picture to play the Capitol under the new plan will be Mae West's "It Ain't No Sin." It will continue to show MGM product.

Butcher Fox Producer

E. W. Butcher, Fox Coast production manager, has been named associate producer. His first production will be "Angel Face," starring Shirley Temple, and he will also produce several Will Rogers films.



Theatre Declares Dividend

The State Theatre Company, Boston, has declared the regular quarterly dividend of $2 on the preferred stock, payable July 2 to stockholders of record on June 23.

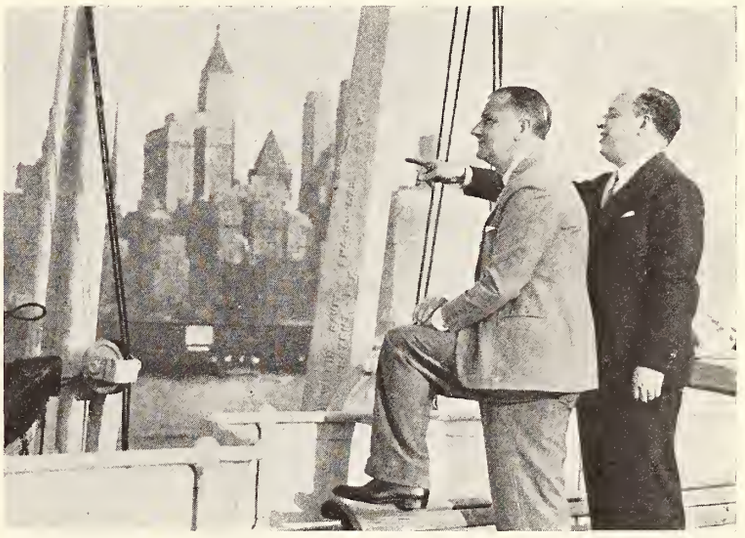
Little Theatre Burned

The Monmouth College Little Theatre, at Monmouth, Ill., recently was damaged by fire to the extent of $11,000. Much stage property was lost.

THE CAMERA REPORTS

NEW RECORDING EQUIPMENT. Major Nathan Levinson (right), head of Warner studio sound department, and William Mueller, chief engineer, with portable recording apparatus they have developed. At left the sound camera is shown on top of the recording cabinet. At right are mixing cabinet and amplifier.

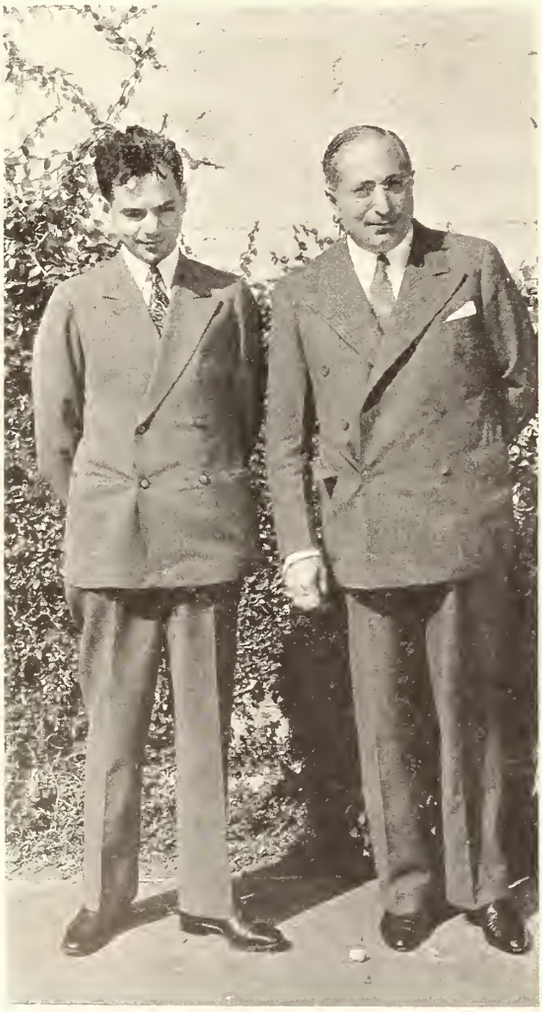
SIGNED. John Bradford, who has been added by Fox to that producer's roster of players working under exclusive contract.



RETURNING. Virginia Bruce, absent for a time from the screen, who has the title role in Monogram's special, "Jane Eyre," now nearing completion.

GETS CONTRACT. Terry La Franconi, popular tenor on West Coast radio programs, who has been signed by Warner Brothers for screen roles.

ADDED TO CAST. Dave Chasen, who has been signed by Fox and will appear in a production, as yet untitled, starring Joe Cook.



SIGHTLINING. Maurice Silverstone (right), general manager of United Artists in Europe, and Herbert Wilcox, head of British & Dominions Pictures, view New York's ever-changing skyline as the SS. Olympic draws into port, bringing them to America for conferences with United Artists home office executives.

TWO WORLDS ON A SINGLE SET. Shooting a scene for RKO Radio's "Down to Their Last Yacht," on two combined studio stages. South Sea Islanders are herding society merrymakers ashore. At lower right Director Paul Sloan is shown signalling to "cut."

HOLD THIRD REGIONAL MEETING. Warner executives and members of central sales organization as they convened in Chicago. H. M. Warner, company head; Major Albert Warner, vice president; Gradwell Sears, Western and Southern sales manager; and Sam Sax, Vitaphone studio chief, are pictured in first row, center.

RECEIVES SOVIET CONSUL. Louis B. Mayer, MGM production chief, with M. G. Galkovitch, Russian consul general for the far-western section of the United States, upon the latter's arrival in the capital of film production.

SIGNED FOR REVUE. (Right) Charlotte Russell, University of Los Angeles co-ed, as she was given contract by Samuel Goldwyn to appear in Eddie Cantor's forthcoming United Artists production, "The Treasure Hunt." At school she is probably the "most envied girl."

FROM FAR EAST. As MGM played host to Julius Fisher of Amalgamated Theatres, Singapore, and Mrs. Fisher, and also the Sultan and Sultana of Jahore. Shown with them are the MGM players Jean Hersholt, Florine McKinney and Jeannette MacDonald.

REMEMBER? Madge Bellamy? A name player of the silent days, she's returning to the screen in Fox productions.

EASTERN SALES FORCES CONVENE. Members of the Monogram organization in New York for sessions under the direction of W. Ray Johnston, president; Edward Golden, general sales manager, and other department heads. The convention, held at the Park Central Hotel, was one of several regional metings.

CARTOON CRAFTERS. U. B. Iwerks (exact center of group) with members of his staff of artists, animators and color experts who make the P. A. Powers Comi-Color Cartoons, released through Celebrity Productions. Thirteen cartoons are scheduled next season.

SERIAL SET. Buck Jones, who will follow his current "The Red Rider" with another adventure series for Universal.

FASHION NOTE. Jean Parker, comely MGM featured player, inside. Outside: Floating ruffles to give a new silhouette to a moded frock of mousseline de soie, with twin shoulder corsages by way of dessert. And do you care?

CELEBRATING THE ROTHSCHILDS. (Left) From right to left, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony de Rothschild, Ambassador Bingham of the United States, and Mrs. Bingham, at gala premiere of United Artists' "The House of Rothschild" in London. George Arliss is the star.

END OF SCORE CHARGE SEEN AS POSSIBILITY

Long Term Contracts Provide for Cancellation; Universal Ends Sales Meet, Paramount Set, Radio Date Is June 18

Provisions in long-term contracts of major distributors for cancellation of score charges in the event the charge should be eliminated in the future has given rise to the indication that such schedules may be dropped at some not distant date.

The inclusion in contracts extending for more than one season and for franchises brings to the leading exhibitor organizations, long agitating for the elimination of score charges, the first definite sign that their battle may one day be won. The MPTOA in particular has fought over a long period with that object in view, adopting a resolution at its recent annual convention calling for no cessation of the effort toward elimination.

The provision inserted in contracts immediately follows the listed schedule of score charges. The contracts also provide, however, for re-assessment of the charges in the event they are reinstated after a period of suspension.

Universal Concludes Meet

As Universal concluded its sales convention in New York with a declaration by President Carl Laemmle that, "I am for clean pictures; I have always been for clean pictures," other companies prepared to go into session, setting policies and announcing product for the new season.

Paramount will hold its four-day meeting at the Ambassador Hotel, Los Angeles, beginning June 18. Warner home office executives moved to Chicago for the third of its series of four regional meetings at the Drake Hotel next Monday and Tuesday, and RKO Radio announced its intention of holding its annual session at the same Chicago hotel on June 18, 19 and 20.

